FIRST NORTHER OF THE SEASON

Friday night about 12 o'clock a Norther hit Baird with full force. By morning the mercury had dropped to 50 and was real cold. Fires and over coats were comfortable. Sunday, Monday and Tuesday were all cold; snow fell over seven states of the north-west. Thursday and Friday had been real hot and this howling norther came so unexpected. THE REPORT OF THE SPIES

LESSON TEXT—Numbers 13:17-14:45. GOLDEN TEXT—We are well able to overcome it.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Two Brave Spies. JUNIOR TOPIC—Two Against Ten. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—The Brave and the Cowardly Scouts.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Courage of Faith.

I. The Spies Sent Out (13:17-20). Less than two years have passed since the Israelites were delivered from Egyptian bondage. They are now at Kadesh-Barnea within sight of the promised land. Moses urged them to go in and take immediate possession (Deut. 1:21).

The record in Deuteronomy 1:19-25 shows that God did not take the initiative in sending out the spies, but that the people because of lack of faith made the request. There was a threefold purpose in sending out the spies.

1. To see whether the land was as God had told them (v. 18).

2. To see whether the people who dwell there were strong or weak, few or many (v. 18).

3. And to see whether the cities were made up of strongholds or of tents (v. 19).

II. The Commission Executed (13:21-25).

They entered the land from the south and traversed it to its northern limits. On their return from the north they gathered some specimens of the fruit of the land.

III. The Spies Rendered a Report (13:26-33).

1. The majority report (vv. 26-29). (1) The land floweth with milk and honey (v. 27).

As a proof of it they displayed the fruit.

(2) The people who live there are strong (v. 28).

(3) The people lived in walled cities (v. 28).

(4) The land is inhabited by giants (v. 28, cf. 33).

In comparison with the inhabitants of the land they saw themselves as grasshoppers. Furthermore, they saw the people so distributed—the Amalekites in the south country, the Hittites, Jebusites and Amorites in the mountains, and the Canaanites along the seacoast—that it was impossible to conquer them.

2. The minority report (vv. 30-33).

In part this report agreed with the first. It did not ignore the difficulties, nor dispute the facts, but it did deny the conclusion of the majority. They did not minimize the task before them, but asserted with God's help that they were well able to get possession of the land, and urged immediate action.

IV. The Rebellion of the People (14:1-45).

This rebellion began by crying (vv. 1-3). They lifted up their voices and cried, and the people wept that night. They even wished that they had died in the wilderness or in Egypt. God took them back to wander in the wilderness for thirty-eight years.

2. Proposition to return to Egypt. (vv. 4-10).

Their crying was followed by a proposal to organize for the return to Egypt. They purposed to select a captain as their leader. Joshua and Caleb protested against this, which so exasperated the people that they were about to stone them. At this point God interposed in their behalf.

3. God's wrath upon the people (vv. 11-12).

Because of their unbelief He proposed to smite them with pestilence and to disinherit them, supplanting them with a nation mightier than they.

4. Moses' intercession in behalf of the people (vv. 13-19).

Moses plead with God against this judgment because the Egyptians would hear of it and blaspheme and this they would pass on to the other nations, saying that God was not able to bring them into the land.

5. The Lord's response to Moses' plea (v. 20-39).

He assured Moses that He had granted pardon according to his intercession, but told him that although He would bring them into the land according to His promise, yet with the exception of Joshua and Caleb the men of that generation should be debarred.

6. The presumption of the people (vv. 40-45).

Having in unbelief refused to go up at the command of Moses, now in presumption they go. Moses advised them against such presumption, saying "The Lord will not be with you."

Calls European Pagans

Worse Than the African

London—Missionaries to combat "the paganism of Europe" are as urgently needed as for converting the heathen, declared G. F. Byron, general treasurer of the Wesleyan Missionary society, at a church conference in York.

"The paganism of Western Europe is worse than anything in Africa, and the anti-Christian feeling in Eastern Europe is the worst in the world," he asserted.

MODERN CLOTHES ADD TO COP'S WOES

Make Curfew Law Enforcement Difficult.

Chicago.—Time turned back a generation or two as Chicago, a sophisticated city of 3,000,000, revived the curfew law of its innocent village days, but policemen, bemused by the styles of the reigning generation, found enforcement a matter of considerable difficulty.

All boys and girls sixteen years old or under must be off the streets at ten o'clock, the city fathers had ruled in an effort to end a long record of attacks and kidnappings, and 3,000 bluecoats were sent forth to enforce the edict.

Then their troubles began, for they claimed that with the prevailing modes of short skirts, rolled hose and bobbed hair they were unable to distinguish children from grownups. Several married women, well past twenty, were taken into custody as "children," while bewildered policemen who stopped "kids" were indignantly informed that their ages were above the curfew limit.

One suggestion that the age limit be raised to eighteen was made by juvenile authorities, but the youth-searching coppers maintained that that did not make much difference.

Although the order of the city police did not go into effect until recently, the county curfew, which applies to girls under sixteen after 10:30 p. m., was sounded the previous night. More than a score of girls were caught and warned that the next time they will go to the juvenile detention home. Their parents were notified.

The orders to the city police were to question any children found unescorted after the forbidden hour and send them home. On a second offense, under the city ordinance, the parents will face a fine of $5 to $100 and the child the juvenile court.

Parks were ordered cleared at 10 p. m., and county highway officers patrolled country roads and lovers' lanes.

"Youngsters must do their courting hereafter in the parlor at home," said Chief of Police Collins. "Not that we want to be old-fashioned and violate personal liberty, but simply as a common-sense measure to check dangers to themselves."

"The worst of the moron crimes are committed against young girls. It is too late to save them after they have been picked up or kidnaped."

Will Seek for Dragons

Aviator Says He Saw

New York.—Dragons that blow smoke from their noses and eat a small pony for Sunday dinner, reported to exist on the island of Komodo, off the coast of Australia, will be sought by a party of unnamed Americans, according to word received here from London.

The dragons were reported by Alan Cobham, the British aviator, on his airplane flight from London to Australia.

They were described as terrible creatures, built like giant lizards, some 12 feet long, with long claws and long red tongues, which they flourished in the air just like the ones which St. George killed. They emitted a vapor, according to description, like legendary dragons are supposed to have done.

Saves Life of Man in

Coils of Giant Python

Los Angeles, Calif.—Wrapped in the coils of a giant python that was slowly crushing the life out of his body, Wilbur Westlake, forty, veteran animal trainer, was saved from death by the presence of mind of a small boy recently.

As the enraged reptile wound its body tighter around Westlake, the youth sprang from a group of fear-paralyzed onlookers and thrust a stick of wood down the snake's throat.

The struggle took place at the winter quarters of the Al G. Barnes circus near Culver City.

And That's That

New York.—A woman can be just as attractive at forty-five as at twenty-five, in the view of Mrs. Theodore Parsons, author. And no girl should marry before twenty-five.

Bank Bandits Kind to

"Grandma" in Holdup

Covington, Okla.—Four bandits who looted two banks here, maintained a high standard of etiquette toward the aged.

As they forced depositors to the rear of the Covington State bank and scooped up nearly $5,000 in currency, one of the robbers noticed Mrs. Lucy Leroy, seventy, among the victims.

"Did we take any of your money, grandma?" the bandit asked.

Informed he had picked up about $70, representing checks she had cashed, the cashier was ordered to return the checks and honor them later. "Grandma" Leroy was then escorted to a rocking chair in the rear of the bank and told if she kept quiet she would not be locked in the vault with the other customers. She complied.

IN OUR NEW QUARTERS

The rapid expansion of business, in all lines, in Dallas has made it almost impossible for the Byrne Commercial College to meet the demands made upon it for its thoroughly trained men and young women. This demand is largely responsible for the rapid growth of the school, making it necessary for them to move into more spacious quarters. They are now located at 1708 1/2 Commerce St. just across from the Post Office where they have fourteen well arranged, well lighted and ventilated rooms, including a large assembly hall.

The Byrne Commercial College is not merely a school of bookkeeping and shorthand, it gives ten complete business training courses, covering the wide range of training in demand and in keeping with the business growth of Dallas.

Prosperous is not "just around the corner" for those who are prepared but it is for those who are not prepared.

NOTED TRAMPS PLY ROADS IN SCOTLAND

Aged Woman Says She Never Slept in Bed.

Rannoch Moor, Scotland.—The most picturesque tramps of the United Kingdom are Scotsmen who ply the broad high road which runs along Loch Lomond and across the wild and desolate Rannoch moor to Inverness.

Probably the best known is "Long Jock." For half a century this totally blind mendicant has fiddled his way along the Perthshire roads, accompanied by two dogs. He shares all his meals with the dogs and at night wraps his six-foot tartan plaid about them and himself and sleeps out under a tree.

"Old Johnson" is another. He's a genial fellow in a Balmoral bonnet and tattered frock coat. He has a wealth of humor and is known to be a master of repartee. He has been on the road for 80 years.

Highland tramps, or "tinkers," as they are called around Rannoch moor, speak the Gaelic language. They move in clans and are known by the family names, which often go back for centuries. The oldest member of the clan is the chief and his word is law. They are strict Sabbatharians and will not even blow their bagpipes for aims on Sunday.

One old woman who has been on the tramp in the western highlands for 75 years boasts that she has never slept in a bed. She has brought up a family on the king's highway and wears a wedding ring that has been handed down from mother to daughter in her clan for 300 years.

They have a jolly life. Every five or six miles along the road is a "tramp's hotel"—a barn or hut where they can rest for the night or find shelter from the storms. The highland farmers and shepherds know them by name and exchange greetings whenever they meet.

Taxes and bank failures never worry them and at the end there is a tramp cemetery in Stirlingshire called "No Man's Land."

U. S. SET TO FIGHT MATERNAL MORTALITY

High Death Rate Speeds Bureau's Plans.

Washington.—A national program for the prevention of maternal mortality and morbidity throughout the United States is outlined by the children's bureau of the United States Department of Labor in a report on maternal mortality.

This report, the work of Dr. Robert Morse Woodbury, formerly director of statistical research for the children's bureau, brings together and analyzes all available material, both American and foreign, on deaths of mothers during childbirth, and is considered one of the most important pieces of recent research in the field of the bureau's work. Children's bureau officials feel that it indicates the necessary emphasis during the coming decade in the effort to reduce deaths among both babies and mothers.

Mortality Rate High.

Maternal mortality rates in the United States are today among the highest in the civilized world, and but a slight decrease in these rates has occurred since the beginning of the present century, Doctor Woodbury's report states. The significance of these facts from a national point of view is found not only in the loss which this means of the lives of women presumably at their prime, but also in the far-reaching effect of maternal mortality on the infant death rate.

"A very considerable proportion of all deaths of infants under one year of age," Doctor Woodbury points out, "occurs during the first month of life from causes which have their origin in the care and condition of mothers during pregnancy and confinement. In the United States as a whole it may be estimated that approximately 100,000 deaths of infants under one month of age occur every year. Reduction in the mortality from these causes depends upon improvement and extension of facilities for prenatal, confinement and postnatal care. It may also be estimated that at least 100,000 stillbirths occur each year. The same measures which will safeguard the lives and health of mothers during pregnancy and labor will also tend to reduce the stillbirth and neonatal mortality rates."

Doctor Woodbury estimates the total annual number of maternal deaths in the United States on the basis of 1921 birth-registration area statistics to be 18,281. However, a careful survey of sources of error in certificates of death throughout the area leads him to the conclusion that the true number of maternal deaths is probably as much as 12 per cent in excess of those reported, making an estimated yearly death toll of more than 20,000 women. The maternal mortality rate in 1921 was 6.8 per 1,000 live births. The provisional 1924 rate was 6.5.

Poverty Proves Obstacle.

As with infant mortality also, poverty is found to be an important factor in maternal death rates, these increasing as the husband's earnings fall, probably because of lack of proper facilities and adequate care for the poor mother. Color and nationality are also important factors in maternal mortality. In the birth-registration area for 1921 the negro maternal death rate was 67 per cent higher than the white rate. On the other hand, the rate for foreign-born white mothers was slightly lower than for native white mothers.

Among the nationalities included in the foreign-born white group the rate was lowest for mothers born in Russia, and next to lowest for mothers born in Italy. At the other extreme were the rates for mothers born in Ireland, Great Britain, Canada, Hungary and Germany. The racial stocks represented in the nationalities for which the rates were highest are, it is pointed out, those which principally compose the native white population.

NOW, at last, you can have your car washed cleaner and quicker than ever before without injuring its finish in any way. The CURTIS Air-Mist atomizes every drop of water into tiny particles and cushions it with air. It doesn't drive in the grit and dirt.

It soaks hard mud, grease and grime out of nooks and crannies that could never be reached by hand washing. It will not do the slightest damage to even the most delicate finish, like high water pressure washing systems that blast off the dirt before it is thoroughly soaked, taking the finish with it.

DRIVE IN TO-DAY and let us show you how the CURTIS Air-Mist will wash your car cleaner than could possibly be done by hand and in a fraction of the time. When you see for yourself the way the Air-Mist cleans, you will never want your car washed any other way again.
