Temperature Continues To Soar As Mercury Tops 106 Tuesday

As the Leader goes to press Wednesday afternoon, we are unable to say whether the mercury climbed an extra degree for Wednesday or not, but it has been on the increase the past several days, hitting a hot and humid 106 Tuesday.

Last Thursday, we experienced a mild 99 degrees. Friday, the mercury, climbed over the 100 degree mark to a nice 101, jumped to 104 Saturday and Sunday, picked up a degree Monday for a high of 105 and then the 106 Tuesday.

About the only thing that has felt in most rain gauges was more hot sunshine. A few showers have visited isolated areas in the county the last several days with some spots receiving beneficial amounts. Here in town we received .03 inch Saturday and .20 inch was recorded 2 miles south of town Tuesday afternoon.

A good shower was reported from the Windy Valley community the first of the week and beneficial moisture covered a part of the Brice area Tuesday afternoon. Crops in general are standing up under the heat reasonably well but small grain will go fast if moisture is not received soon. Grass land is parched and damaging grass fires are beginning to pop up. Everyone should be extremely careful and take precaution to help prevent grass fires when out in the open range or riding along the highways.

In games played Thursday evening in Little League play, Childress defeated Clarendon 6 to 4, Childress racked up 7 hits and Clarendon only 5. Both teams recorded one error each. In Senior League play Amarillo Air Force Base was defeated by Carson County 7 to 4. Carson County came up with 7 hits and AAFB had 3. Carson recorded one error and AAFB none.

Friday night was Little League play both games with Memphis defeating Carson County 5 to 2. Memphis had 5 hits and Carson County 8 hits and 3 errors. Memphis had no errors. In the finals Saturday night, Amarillo Air Force Base defeated Memphis 11 to 2 with AAFB getting 11 hits and 3 errors and Memphis 5 hits and one error.

The Senior League final game Saturday night was the thriller with both Clarendon and Carson County putting up a stiff battle before the game was stopped due to the curfew law at ten o'clock. At this time, at the end of six innings, the game was tied 8-3. A call was made to Williamsport, Penn., national Little League headquarters, and they denied a permit to finish the game Saturday night so the time of the final inning was set for 3 p. m. Sunday afternoon. In the last inning Sunday afternoon a Clarendon throwing error let a Carson County run cross the plate to win the game 9-8. Carson County racked up 10 hits and 7 errors to Clarendon's 7 hits and one error.

Billy Jack Land, president of the Little League association stated that he would like to express his appreciation along with other officers and directors to all who helped make the entire season a great success and also to the tournery play here last week end. UHF Translator Tower Being Erected To Serve Local Area

A 250 ft. UHF Translator Tower is being erected this week four and one-half miles southwest of Clarendon on the farm of Mrs. Lois Robinson and is being designed to serve TV viewers of the Clarendon, Lelia Lake and Hedley areas.

The translator system will be known as the Donley County Translator System and is owned by Joe Durham of Lakeview and W. M. Colvin of Canadian.

Mr. Durham stated that they expected to have the tower in operation within the next week and would operate the system two or three weeks on a trial basis to work out all the kinks for top quality TV reception in the area mentioned above. The system will be operated on an honor system. If you use it, we will naturally expect to receive pay for same at rate of $2 per month, Mr. Durham added.

He said that demonstrators would be set up at Household Supply Co., Thompson Bros. and other business places, and that people who did not have TV sets equipped to handle the UHF signal could contact local TV service dealers for information as to what they would need for the change-over. For further details, read their advertisement in this issue of the Leader.

C.J.C. Has Dormitory "Package Plan"

The Board of Regents of Clarendon Junior College has recognized an obligation to all out-of-town students and their parents to provide reasonable housing facilities. Since cost is an important factor in almost every facet of our lives today, the college also recognizes that many times a definite statement of cost permits a family to plan its finances for a student's school year.

In the face of these needs, Clarendon Junior College offers dormitory facilities for boys and girls in a "Package Plan" which provides for a student room and board, all books, tuition, and fees for a total low cost of only $397.72 per semester. The entire sum may be paid on enrollment day or in monthly payments on an installment plan. Room reservations are now available.

"We expect some news-and good news to be reported within the next two weeks".

The above statement was made Tuesday morning by Dr. S. H. Townsend, president of the Greenbelt Municipal and Industrial Water Authority, who returned Monday night from a meeting in Austin with the Texas Water Commission and the Texas Water Development Board.

State Senator Andy Rogers took Dr. Townsend to Austin and also attended the meetings.

The news is expected to be that there be Greenbelt water available for Childress and Quanah next summer. The dam project will cost $10,300,000 and it will take two to three years to complete the entire set up.

"When the five towns involved in the project voted for it by overwhelming majorities, the first really big step had then been taken but we are finding that there are many, many more steps necessary before the project can finally be realized," Dr. Townsend said.

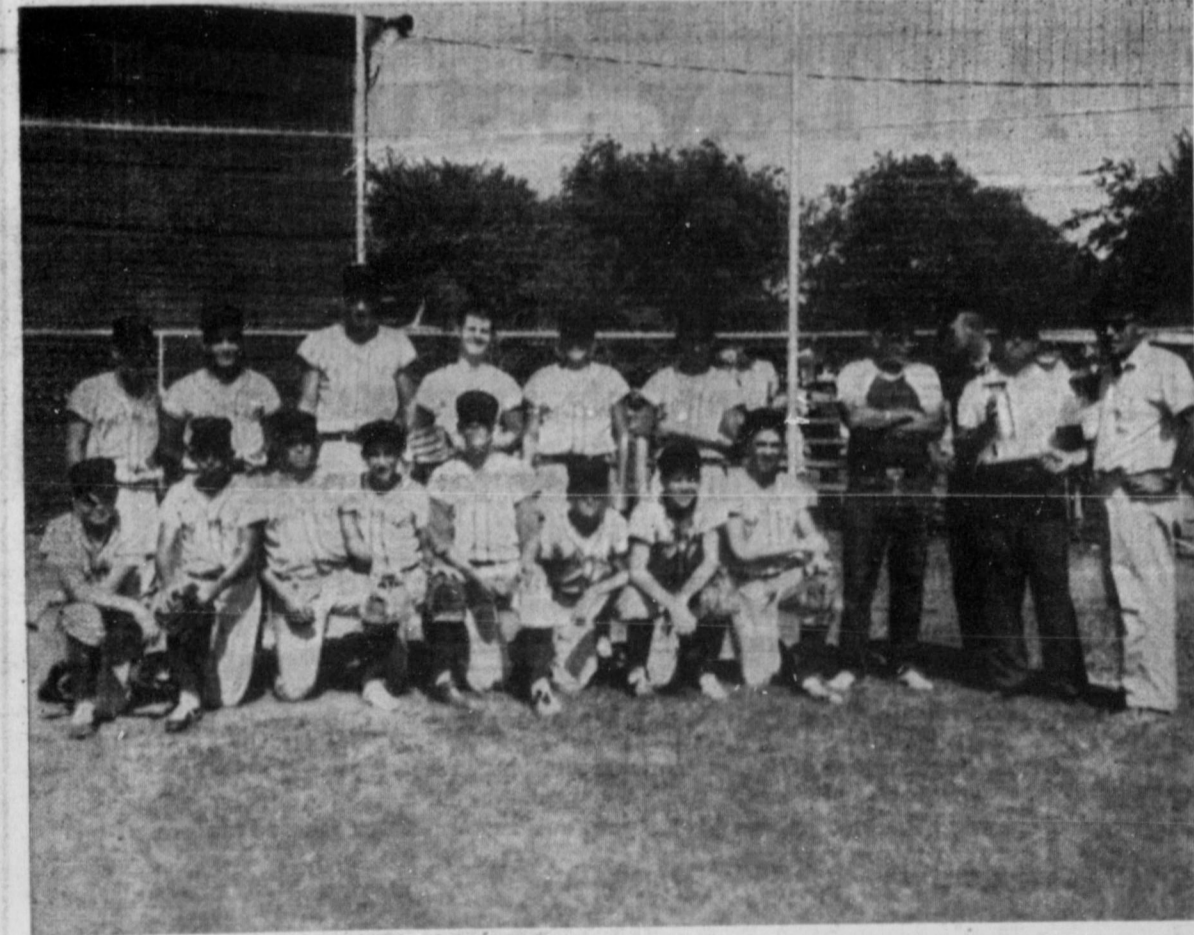

The first portion of the project, it is hoped, and this is what Dr. Townsend and Sen. Rogers have been working on, will be the laying of the pipeline from the damsite area north of Clarendon to Childress and Quanah which would provide enough water for the two towns to last until the entire project is completed.

Both towns now have serious water problems; Quanah with a shortage of water and Childress with not enough water available at the city limits.

"We now feel certain that the line will be laid first and the engineers believe that enough water can be secured from the watershed without a dam to provide around four and a half million gallons of water a day which should be enough to take care of Quanah and Childress", Dr. Townsend said.

"The water will not be filtered but will be much softer and taste better than the water we now have", he added.

According to W. Carroll Knorpp, local director of the Authority, Dr. Townsend has called a meeting of the group for next Tuesday night at Childress at which time more pertinent information is expected to be revealed regarding the entire project and clarify rumors which have been circulated for quite some time.

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18th DISTRICT

By Congressman Walter Rogers

State Sovereignty Further Diminished

We say it so often -- "United States" -- that some citizens tend to overlook the true meaning. The United States consists of just that -- united States -- separate political entities joined together in common purpose, forming one Nation in a complex "federal" relationship ordained by the Constitution. Our system is one of dual sovereignty. Our people stand a twofold relationship to sovereign authority, as citizens of the national government and as citizens of their particular States. We are all familiar with the indisputable fact that the sovereign authority of the national government has become increasingly more powerful while that of the States has been diminished. It is a trend many of us are doing our best to reverse.

A near-mortal blow to this system was struck one month ago by the United States Supreme Court. On June 15, the Court held that legislatures of six States are apportioned in ways that violate the Federal Constitution, specifically the so-called "Equal Protection Clause" of the Fourteenth Amendment.

The effect of the court decision is this: States must structure their legislatures so that all the members of each house represent substantially the same number of people. While cases involving six States were before the court, the decision undoubtedly means that legislatures in all but a few of the other 44 States are apportioned in ways contrary to the Court's interpretation of the Constitution.

The June 15 decision has touched off a furor in Congress, which went back into Session this week after a two-week recess. More than 80 proposals have been introduced in the House of Representatives in an effort to overturn the effect of the court decision.

Most of the proposals call for an amendment to the Constitution to permit States to apportion at least one house of their bicameral (two house) legislatures on a basis other than population. Typical of these proposals is that introduced by Honorable Wright Patman of Texas, the dean of the Texas delegation in the House, whose resolution is supported by the Texas Members, including me. The wording of Congressman Patman's proposed amendment is simple and to the point: "Nothing in the Constitution of the United States shall prohibit a State, having a bicameral legislature, from apportioning of the small States that a proportional system in both houses of Congress would fail to provide proper representation of their interests. Therefore, it was determined that the House should be apportioned by equal representation of population. The U. S. Senate was to have two members from each State, regardless of the size of its population or extent of its territory.

Justice Harlan, issuing a strong dissent from the majority opinion of the Court, said these decisions "have the effect of placing basic aspects of state political systems under the pervasive overlordship of the federal judiciary." Why? Because if the State legislatures refuse to correct apportionment, the Federal courts unconscionable with Federal-State relationships as determined by the Constitution, law, and custom.

Singly, on by one, the Supreme Court settles the question of constitutionality. Thomas Jefferson advocated that the Court be stripped of the right to determine constitutionality of acts of Congress or State legislatures. Until the people of this Nation demand that the Constitution be amended to permit Congress to override decisions of the Court

Most fisherman spend too much time changing baits.

Drawbacks to the try-one-now, a different-one-later, system are many. But the primary objection is that the lure doesn't get a fair enough test to actually tell whether or not it will produce. It is much better to stick with one or two lures, letting them have the time to make a true test. But what lures? That's the perplexing problem. Today there are so many artificial baits in different sizes, shapes and types that it confuses the average fisherman. Most of the better anglers

The causes of racial prejudice are laid out to be an examined: Greed, myth and pathological obsessions. But if the causes are evident by now, the needs of black or brown or red Americans are not.

"Sanctimonious proclamations of the churches and their offer to help came too late to comfort the Negroes. The white liberals who says he wants to help the Negroes isn't needed. The Negroes, as Stringfellow makes clear, are in a battle for the freedom of all Americans and the times favor their cause. For the white people who will have to learn Christian humility or see the nation in chaos — and Stringfellow makes it clear that these are the choices — this is a book that must be read."

Another memorial gift has been given to the library to be dedicated to the memory of Mrs. Carroll Hudson.

Forty percent of the 155,000 acres irrigated from Arizona's Elephant Butte Reservoir lie in Texas.

Probably the one big exception is small bait fish like minnows and sunfish. But a hungry bass usually will come to the top to take a frog-looking popper or a worm crawled along the bottom, as readily as he will a perch-type lure.

A lure that operates either right on top or right on the bottom has an advantage over the other lures in that it can be worked at the ultra-slow speed needed to tempt big bass.

Most lures which show up in sporting goods stores have a definite place in fishing. But they are specialized tools and work only in certain situations. Knowing how to recognize these situations requires much experience.

Most week end anglers simply haven't encountered enough situations to pinpoint clues which will tell them which lures to use.

In this respect water depth is very important. Lures with metal lips are designed to run at certain depth. A lure built to run 10 feet beneath the surface will, for example, be half-way down in 20 foot water, near bottom in 12-foot water, but close to the surface in 40-foot water.

Unless the angler knows the depth of water he's fishing, this type lure will be practically useless.

But if he sticks with the top water bait or the bottom-bumper, the water depth is not as important. He'll still have his bait in the vicinity where bass hang out.

Only within the past few years have fishermen been able to apply this formula successfully.

It used to be that the only baits which dug deep down, where the big bass are most apt to be found, were those with long metal lips. These baits require a fast retrieve to make them dig deep, too fast to make them really effective on a lazy old bass.

Also they are not too effective at depths exceeding 30 feet, and often the truly big bass are found at extreme depths of 40 to 50 feet.

Lifelike lures made of limp plastic can be worked very slowly, crawled right along the bottom, yet they have enough action to tempt bass.

Many anglers carry two rigged outfits in their boats, one equipped with a top-water lure, the other with a bottom-bumping bait. They try one for 25 to 30 casts, and if by then they haven't inveigled a strike, they switch to the other outfit.

Often it pays off to try the topwater baits for the first couple of hours after daybreak when bass migrate into the shallows to feed on things found along the surface; then use the bottom-bumping baits during the remainder of the day when the fish have drifted back into deeper water.

As to the color of a lure it has been proven that the color shading is more important than the actual color itself. If a person stays with two basic type lures — topwater and bottom-bumping — and two basic colors, light and dark, he'll be right 99 times out of 100.

And in the unpredictable sport of bass fishing, those are pretty good odds, indeed.

Senate Weighs, House Votes Fallout Shelters

The Nation's military leaders gave strong support to an expanded fallout shelter program in recent testimony before a special subcommittee of the Senate Armed Services Committee.

Speaking for the Joint Chiefs of Staff, General Earle G. Wheeler, Army Chief of Staff, backed a House-passed bill authorizing Federal support for 11 million more fallout shelter spaces. He told the subcommittee, headed by Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington:

"A FALLOUT PROTECTION-oriented civil defense is clearly a necessary element of the total United States national security effort. Our potential enemies have a clear capability for nuclear warfare, and we cannot discount the possibility that such a war may occur. . . . An adequate program of civil defense should give our population a reasonable degree of protection as well as increasing the credibility of our military deterrent posture."

General Thomas S. Power, Commander-in-Chief of the Air Force's Strategic Air Command, sent a statement to the subcommittee, describing civil defense as "one of the most important aspects of our overall deterrent posture."

The Senate subcommittee's hearing on the pros and cons of the fallout shelter bill was completed in December, 1963. If committee and Senate action to authorize the program is favorable, as it was in the House, Stewart L. Pittman, Assistant Secretary of Defense for Civil Defense, has indicated that he will seek a supplemental appropriation from Congress to get the program underway.

THE BILL would amend the Federal Civil Defense Act of 1950 to:

1. Enable the Federal Government to contribute up to $25 per individual shelter space to incorporate public fallout shelters for about 10 million persons in buildings owned by nonprofit institutions, such as schools, hospitals, and state and local government facilities. It authorizes, but does not appropriate, $175 million in this fiscal year toward the program.

2. Require incorporation of public fallout shelters in most new and existing Federal structures. The bill authorizes $15.8 million in this fiscal year to shelter about a million persons.

3. Remove Federal legal restrictions on the use of state and local civil defense personnel and equipment, established with Federal financial aid, in meeting natural disasters.

The bill was passed by a voice vote in the House after a move to send the measure back to committee was defeated 172 to 87. Its passage came after the House Armed Services Committee had approved the bill by a 32-4 vote, with nearly all members reversing their stand on fallout shelters after comprehensive testimony last summer from 108 witnesses.

In floor debate, the bill was widely backed, including speeches by Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts and Rep. Carl Vinson of Georgia, Chairman of the House Armed Services Committee.

FIRST SUPPLIES for fallout shelter areas in Puerto Rico are loaded aboard a van at Brooklyn, N. Y., Army Terminal for shipment to San Juan. The civil defense food, water, medical and sanitation supplies, and radiation detection kits, when over 200 vansloads are placed in shelter areas, will be enough for about 260,000 persons for 14 days in fallout shelters. STATE CAPITAL
Highlights
AND Sidelights
by Vern Sanford
 TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — A costly plan for "catching up" with other states in the field of higher education has been outlined to Texans by the Governor's Committee on Education Beyond the High School.

It will take considerable money to accomplish just one of the major tests of excellence in education — bringing Texas faculty salaries up to the national average. More is needed for libraries and research facilities.

To help achieve goals in those three fields, the Committee recommended that further college construction be delayed. By using present class rooms and laboratories more hours a day and more days a year, this saving can be accomplished, the committee felt.

Gov. John Connally conceded that it will take new taxes to finance the program which he has termed his No. 1 interest. Neither he nor the committee recommended a financing plan. Committee did say the Legislature should double college tuition, so students and their parents would share more of the cost of education.

Plan calls for expansion of the junior college system, and wide use of vocational training to prepare students for skilled and semi-skilled technical jobs in industry.

Coordination, to eliminate duplication between state colleges, would be placed in the hands of an 18-member board appointed by the governor. Board would take over duties of the present junior college division of the Texas Education Agency and the Commission on Higher Education. This would put junior and senior college and university supervision in a single group.

Goal would be to make junior college training available to all, and to raise its level of excellence so all junior college credits would be immediately transferrable to senior colleges.

Committee, headed by H. B. Zachry, San Antonio construction executive, is taking its case to the public in a series of meetings with business leaders in their communities.

CUT AGAIN — Another 28,602-barrel cut in daily oil allowables was ordered by the Texas Railroad Commission as it held August production to 26.5 percent of the capability of the wells. Two large purchasers complained they are over-supplied with oil and unable to sell it.

A POPULAR PLACE — Texas' State Capitol is being invaded daily by both Texans and out of state tourists who come here to pay tribute to the history of the state. Men, women and children — about three times as many children as parents, it seems — literally crowd the Capitol's halls, their numbers reaching as many as 1,200 a day.

One of the most popular stops on the informal tour (there are no guides) of State buildings is the State Archives and Library, just across a walkway from the Capitol.

There, renowned artists Peter Hurd and his son-in-law, Peter Rogers, are executing a mural of Texas' history, featuring remarkable likenesses of Stephen F. Austin, Sam Houston and Anson Jones, as well as Davy Crockett and William B. Travis. The mural depicts the conquistador as well as the cowboy.

Visitors are invited to pull up a chair and watch the artists at work, and they do. They are also treated to a newly-arranged recreation of a room from Gov. Eliha Pease's (1853-57, 1867-69) mansion. Furniture was donated to the archives when former Gov. Allan Shivers bought the venerable mansion.

MAKING WAY FOR 1990 — A large number of Texas cities with populations of less than 50,000 are planning now for the year 1990 by developing a blueprint for progress under a Federal-local program being administered by the State Health Department.

Under this program, a city can obtain studies of current facilities and projections of future needs in every area from economic and sociological needs to budgeting for capital improvements. The Housing and Home Finance agency makes grants for the master plans and the city pays one-third the cost, while the Federal agency pays two-thirds.

A typical town under study is the West Texas city of Winters, which has a population of 3,200 and will spend $4,845 toward a $13,365 master plan.

So far, 109 cities have enrolled in the planning project to see where they can go and how they can get there over the next 25 years.

PUBLIC PIER — Parks and Wildlife Department will advertise a second time for bids for concession rights on the new State fishing pier at Port Lavaca. Only one person submitted a bid July 1 after 13 said they were interested.

The 3,200-foot-long pier, which replaced one destroyed by Hurricane Carla, is said to be the world's longest fishing pier. Access to it will be free to the public, but the department is trying to provide a source of bait, soft drinks and fishing gear via a concessionaire contract.

ANIMAL HEALTH HEAD CHANGE DUE — Texas Animal Health Commission will decide on July 27 on a new commission director to replace Dr. R. G. Garrett of Taylor who plans to resign.

Decision will be made at a meeting to be hosted by Chairman Ed Knolle of Sandia at his Knolle Jersey Farm in Jim Wells County. Knolle said there have been several "well-qualified" applicants for the post, but declined to list them. However, it has been rumored that a staff veterinarian with the commission, Dr. S. B. Walker, will be favored.

BRUCELLOSIS PROGRAM BLOCKED — Animal Health Commission postponed to September a decision on whether to let a Type II brucellosis control program be set up in one part of Brooks County.

Commission has been informed that many Brooks County producers want to organize a program, but the King Ranch which has 3,991 of the 16,000 head of cattle on county tax rolls does not. Approval of the owners of 75 percent of the cattle in a county is necessary so the proponents want to organize a program in just the soil conservation district which covers all of the county except King Ranch property.

Commission said it lacked sufficient information for a decision at this time.

BLAST OFF—An HONEST JOHN rocket streaks toward a target at Ieicle Range in Korea. The weapon belongs to the 1st Missile Battalion, 31st Artillery, 7th Infantry Division, which is undergoing annual Army Training Tests (ATT). The ATT measures the capability of the unit to perform its combat mission—providing rocket artillery support for the division. Douglas/Emerson Electric is prime contractor for the HONEST JOHN.

WEST TEXAS SCHOOL — West Texas cities that want to be home to a new West Texas School for the mentally retarded will have to wait until at least September 14 to learn which will be chosen.

Chairman of the Board for State Hospitals and Special Schools' site selections committee, C. E. Bentley of Abilene, said his committee will report to the board on that date. However, Bentley did not say that the committee will make a definite recommendation on a single site at that time.

INDUSTRIAL DEVELOPMENT — Texas Industrial Commission is boasting in the July issue of Texas Parade Magazine that 27 new plants were announced in Texas in May. Map used to illustrate the new industry points out quite prominently the fact that while the Dallas-Fort Worth area gained 12 of these new plants, seven were located in Panhandle towns and six others were in other small towns. Commission announced that Patrick J. Ryan of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce and Sylvan R. Lange of Greater Marshall Industries have been approved for the first year class at the Industrial Development Institute in Norman, Oklahoma.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULINGS — Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr ruled that a county election board must furnish voting booths for all polling places within each city of 10,000 or more inhabitants.

Carr also ruled that a county clerk does not have authority to charge the fee for releasing of a chattel mortgage or lien on personal property at the time such mortgage is filed.

VETERANS' COMMISSION — State Auditor C. H. Cavness reports that the Veterans' Affairs Commission helped Texas Veterans and their dependents and survivors obtain $93,591,000 in benefits during the year which ended August 31, 1963. Commissioners are John E.

McKelvey of Electra; Justin M. Morrow, Rotan; J. Walter Janko, Somerville; Joe F. Ramsey, Jr., Houston; and Charles C. Ford, Longview.

For snacks that are high in nutrition and taste — and low in calories — munch on carrot strips, celery, cauliflower or melba toast, say Extension Service food and nutrition specialists. Those who crave something sweet may want to try fresh fruits in season — a strip of watermelon or cantaloupe, pears, peaches and strawberries.

FARM NEWS

from County ASCS Committee

County and Committee Elections

The Community Committee Election will be held on September 8, 1964, by mail. Ballots will be sent to each producer in the county. Petitions signed by six or more eligible voters nominating persons for membership on the community committee will be received at the county office any time before August 18, 1964. These names will be included in the ballot if found eligible and willing to serve. Anyone nominated by petition found ineligible will be notified prior to completion of the state of nominees. The county and community committees may make additional nominations as it considers desirable.

Farmers nominated should be farmers who will be representative of various sections and types of agriculture in the community. The slate of nominees will be published when nominations are completed.

Wheat Payments

We will begin making payments for the certificates and diverted acres under the 1964 wheat program on farms not in the feed grain program within the next few days. Payments to producers participating in both programs will be withheld until after all final measurements are made.

The theory ties in with other scientific reports linking heart disease to certain personality types, especially the hard-driving, overly competitive person.
