Les Beaux Arts Show Sunday

Art of quality and variety from a number of area artists will be featured in an art show sponsored by the Les Beaux Arts Club, Sunday, April 5th from 1:30-5 p.m. in the new Gabie Betts Burton Memorial Library on Kearney St. in Clarendon.

The public is cordially invited to view the work of the artists who are listed with their specialty in this article.

Admission is free and refreshments will be served. All items will be for sale except where noted. Browsers welcome.

Mr. Edwards will be available for consultation.

Nationally known for his portrayal of the cowboy and other western subjects, working primarily in oil and bronze, Ward's art has been shown and accepted by a large number of collectors and art patrons all over the country. He has had covers or feature stories on his art in many western and livestock magazines including The Quarter Horse Journal, The Cattleman, Ranchman, The Cutting Horse Journal, Grain Producers News, Accent West and the The Paint Horse Journal.

Ward paintings and bronzes were used as the basis for western decor by Ron McVean of Amarillo for his Canyon and Western Street McDonald Hamburger restaurants with both stores winning national McDonald decor awards.

In 1976, Ward was appointed an official cultural representative of Texas by Gov.

Briscoe and along with four other Texas artists traveled to Philadelphia and participated in the show.

Ward has had his art studio and home on an acreage south of Canyon, Texas, since 1965. He keeps a few horses for models and pleasure. He and his wife, Jackie, have three grown children. The coffee pot is always on and the welcome mat out so drop in and see them sometime.

Carol McDonald was reared in Amarillo and graduated from Caprock High School. She also attended Amarillo College and Boise State University in Idaho. For the past several years she has pursued a career in glass design and is presently with NM, etc., Stained Glass Consultants, in Amarillo and will be one of the exhibitors in the Spring Art Show at the Gabie Betts Burton Library Building Sunday, April 5, sponsored by Les Beaux Arts Club.

Glass design was a fading art until its rebirth a few years ago. It is now becoming more and more popular as people recognize stained glass as an investment in addition to being functional works of art.

Stained glass can play a vital role in the remodeling or redecoration of a home, especially during these times when new homes are more difficult to obtain.

The incorporation of stained glass into new homes can provide a very special touch at the same time it appreciates the real estate considerably.

ated on Texas Day at the Bicentennial with a show of Texas cowboy art in the Hall of States.

Don Ray is a native of the Texas Panhandle, born in Clarendon in 1937, and presently living in Channing. He is a member of Westerners International, a prestigious group of writers, historians, and artists, and is a life member of the Panhandle Plains Historical Society, Canyon, Texas and the XIT Museum in Dalhart.

His work in both painting and sculpture is in many collections nationwide, with over 40 major works in one private collection.

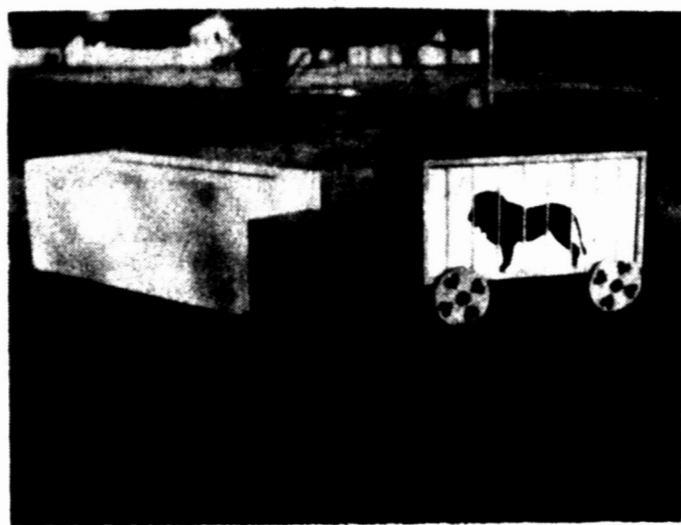

His painting "Heritage" appeared on ABC IV's "The American Cowboys", in 1979. That program featured representative art work from the opening of the West up to the present. His work has been published in the National Cowboy Hall of Fame's Persimmon Hill Magazine, Southwest Art, Western Horseman, Quarter Horse Journal, and other regional publications.

Lloyd Waters, Pampa will display his water colors. Waters was formally with Clarendon College.

Another exhibitor which has been added is QUILTS, etc., from Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Adams who make miniatures from horseshoe nails - from Claude - have a new line of miniatures which fit in printer's drawers.

Jimmy Duke was born in Lakeview and attended Clarendon College. He now lives in Claude and has Palo Duro Bronze where he does any kind of casting. He is also a painter and sculptor.

WOODEN TOY BOXES

Cleo Russell—wood worker

Now a resident of Clarendon after some years away Russell has come full circle back to the place where he grew up, attended school and later visited his father's home.

From school he went into the Army Air Corps and served in the South Pacific during World War II. After the war he was offered a job as a sheet metal apprentice in Ohio and accepted the position.

Russell married in Ohio and after four years apprenticeship reached the level of Master Sheetmetal Mechanic and worked as a superintendent.

Life changed drastically for Cleo when his wife died and he was later forced into early retirement because of an injury. He had quit the sheetmetal work and began working with wood. Over the years he had collected an assortment of wood working tools which he put to use sooner than anticipated.

Today he works with wood as a hobby. "My daughter is going to have to build a bigger house to put all the boys toys in," he said of his handcrafted toys for his grandchildren. He went on to say two toy chests, one a train and the other a truck, were far too large to ship. He plans to take them to his grandsons on a trip back to Ohio.

Fine, exotic wood is difficult to come by and Russell works with what he can get which is usually basswood, ash and pine. If given the choice of woods he likes oak, birch, maple and walnut. Red cedar, though hard to work with turns out well. He made an occasional table from red cedar wood grown from a tree his mother planted years ago and which blew down four years ago. He saved the wood and made a lovely piece of furniture from it.

Taking woodwork to do is almost out of the question for Russell. Limited as to his physical activity because of a leg injury he can only take jobs which fit his requirements. He needs all the time he wants, small jobs and none of those which have to be finished at any set time. However he will assist a 'do-it-yourselfer' with instructions and access to his shop perhaps.

Returning to Clarendon Russell left his daughter and husband and two grandsons, John and Joe in Carrollton, Ohio, about 30 miles from Pittsburg, Pa. He keeps in close touch however.

He makes his home in a chicken house (so he says) which he calls Saints Roost. Saints Roost is in his fathers yard, measures 20' x 80' and really is a converted chicken house. With carpet and ducted heat and air it bears little resemblance to any chicken house.

Cleo is one of the exhibitors which will be viewed at the Les Beaux Arts Club Art Show in the new library building, Sunday, April 5, from 1-5 p.m.

Foreign owners of Texas farms

Jim Rankin is a farmer near Hornsby Bend, Texas. You wouldn't think he has much in common with His Serene Highness, Prince Franz Josef II of Liechtenstein. But he does. Both are Texas farmers.

Back in 1978, His Highness bought a 16,916 acre spread up in Northeast Texas. He is only one of dozens of foreign investors and multinational corporations buying into Texas farmland - already, some 400,000 acres of farms and ranches are reported to be in the hands of Japanese, Arab, Italian, Dutch and other foreign interests, and the federal government estimates that at least one out of every five farmland sales today is made to foreign nationals.

So what? After all, Texas was settled by immigrant seamen who busted the sod and built our great farm economy. Jim Rankin himself is of Scandinavian heritage, so how's that any different than what is happening now?

The difference is that Rankin is a farmer - he lives in Texas, gets out into the fields every morning and works the land in order to produce a crop. But His Serene Highness is no farmer or rancher; he's a prince, and Wall Street Cowboys like him are back home clipping coupons instead of bustin' sod next door to farmers like Rankin. These buyers are wealthy speculators, cash-rich oil companies and other absentee landlords who have more money in their Swiss bank accounts than Rankin has got cow manure in his barn.

Such investors are buying our farmland as a hedge against inflation, as a tax shelter for their nine-figure incomes, and because somebody might come down the road soon and build a shopping center on the land, putting them in tall cotton for good. In the process, though, they drive up the price of Texas agricultural land so high that our farmers can't afford to bid for it, paying $1,000 an acre for land that couldn't produce $300 worth of crops.

What to do? Rep. Pete Patterson of Brookston thinks he has an answer in HB 112. His bill would directly prohibit this kind of shopping spree by foreign speculators. And it affects only the speculators. Foreign immigrants and resident aliens who want to buy Texas land and become genuine farmers, would not be affected in any way by Patterson's bill.

HB 112 has the necessary number of votes committed to pass the House, but the Agriculture Committee has it bottled up. That is because a couple of foreign-owned oil companies (Shell Oil, 69% owned by Dutch investors, and American Petrofina, 70% owned by Belgians) have an interest in coming down on the farm, so they have persuaded the House leadership to stall the bill.

The companies argue that Patterson's measure would prevent them from buying land for refinery sites, oil drilling, strip mining, office buildings and even service stations. A Shell Oil executive testified against "any type of prohibitions or restrictions on alien land ownership," claiming that the bill "poses a serious threat to a corporation which has established a good reputation in Texas." Nonsense, says Patterson, who says he has offered to accept any reasonable amendment from the companies to make sure their legitimate energy pursuits are protected. "The truth of the matter," Patterson says, "is that companies like Shell want to continue to invest in agricultural properties and develop them into shopping centers, etc. in order to spend excess profits that should be used for oil and gas exploration."

How do you read it? Should HB 112 be released from the committee for a House vote? Express yourself by writing to Rep. Leroy Wieting, Chairman, House Agricultural & Livestock Committee / State Capitol, Austin, Texas 78711.

It is hoped that all cattle brands of this immediate area can be secured for this exhibit.

Individual items to be auctioned during the evening include: a painting by James Ivey Edwards, a painting by Mary Martin, and pottery by James Ivey Edwards.

Four different festive parties will be auctioned to a person or group of persons with one spokesman doing the bidding for the group.

The first party is a 3 day weekend in Hilltop Lakes Texas for 3 couples or a family. The accommodations include a 2 story, 3 bedroom vacation home with a deck overlooking the lake. Features for your fun and entertainment are: an 18 hole golf course, swimming pool, tennis, archery, clubhouse and fine restaurant.

The second party is a summer hayride for 10 couples. The ride will take you to a beautiful running stream on a large cattle ranch for a cookout.

Last but by no means least is a lovely 5 course, candlelight dinner for 6 held in another of our gracious local homes.

All of the parties auctioned will be held on a date satisfactory to the buyer. The buyer will make the guest list for each affair.

This dance party for the benefit of our library, promises to be a memorable one, so don't forget the date and make plans to attend. All proceeds from the party will be used to buy shelving and furniture for the new library facility. See you there.

James Edwards

Although Donna had been interested in art in high school the talent lay dormant until stimulated by the work of her artist husband James Ivey Edwards. About eight years ago she began painting first in acrylics and then oils, which she uses now.

Observation certainly paid off in her case for Donna and James Edwards have had combined shows at the First National Bank of Canyon, Webb Gallery, Amarillo and the Farmers State Bank in Clarendon.

Lanscapes are Donna's favorite subjects. Some of her paintings have been done on location but of necessity she works from slides which they have made for her subject matter.

Currently work is in progress on another painting, but there is not time enough available to devote constantly to painting. Most of her time aside from her employment as a secretary in the City of Clarendon offices is directed toward her three children, Scott, 10; Andrea 8 and Kells, 7. The working mother of a son and two daughters has no spare time.

Much pleasure and satisfaction comes from sharing the same talent and interests as her husband and as time permits more will be devoted to this common interest.

James Ivey Edwards
Edwards has been sculpting as long as he has been painting and makes pottery too, using his ability in varied aspects of art. He had a part interest in a foundry in Canyon and at the present time has an interest in Palo Duro Foundry, owned by Joe Lovell and Jimmy Duke.

His bronzes and painting reflect his particular interest in wildlife and western subjects. Both have enjoyed wide distribution as purchasers have been from across the country.

Senior Citizens Plan Dance

Tuesday, April 7, the Senior Citizens will have a dance at the center from 8-11 p.m. Live music will be provided by the Mundens.

Lelia Lake

Lelia Lake Community Center will meet on Saturday, April 4, at 7 p.m. for a covered dish supper.

Everyone is urged to be present at the meeting as this is the time for election of officers.

A 10 hour battle on the floor of the House ended in the final passage of House Bill 1228 on Thursday, March 26.

To give you some idea of all the confusion caused by the National Federal Reserve Policy of runaway interest rates, no two lending institutions have the same ceiling on the amount of interest they can charge. Corporate borrowers of over $5,000.00 can pay up to 18 percent. Federal Credit Unions can get up to 21 percent. A bank consumer loan has a 14.5 percent ceiling. A Productions Credit Association can legally charge up to 16.46 percent today, a State Chartered Credit Union can charge no more than 12 percent. As an individual, a person can charge no more than 10 percent. Many decades ago a 10 percent usury rate was written into the constitution, with the stipulation that the Legislature could raise the rate later. House Bill 1228 raises this ceiling on a formula based on what United States Treasury bills are selling for. Under existing conditions the present ceiling on interest would be 24 percent.

Because of the present declining rate of Treasury bills, it is predicted the rate ceiling will drop to 18 percent before summer.

House Bill 197 mandating compulsory liability insurance for certain vehicles easily passed the House last week.

We have had a lot of calls about the Governor's master teacher plan. This is a merit pay plan. I have been advised the plan has little chance of passage.

The past week has been the busiest of this session. One of our days started at 6:30 a.m. and ended shortly after midnight. We anticipate an increasing number of similar days as we progress into this session which will end June 1.

Presently Edwards is instructor of Art in the art department at Clarendon College in Clarendon and supervises the art classes taught at the Pampa Center of Clarendon College.

His formal education was at WTSU, Canyon and University of Texas, at Austin. He received private instruction under Stefan Kramer. Currently he is working on his MFA from WTSU.

James Ivey Edwards diversified talent includes a lot of wildlife photography along with his painting, sculpting and pottery work. In addition to his college classes and personal work he teaches private lessons too. Several former students are now painting professionally.

Shown in galleries and at the important area shows Edwards work now receives national recognition.

Since he was six weeks old when he moved to Clarendon from McLean with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Russell, Cleo admits he is not a Clarendon native, but he almost is.

Richard Thompson

Wildlife sculptor and painter, Richard Thompson, has lived most of his life in the Panhandle of Texas. Deciding on a career in art seemed only natural as Thompson had spent his youth studying and drawing animals. He started receiving formal art instruction at the age of fourteen. Upon graduation from West Texas State University he worked for four years in the field of Commercial Art. In 1972 he began devoting his full attention to the portrayal in sculpture and paintings of North American wildlife.

Thompson has had several one man shows and has participated in a large number of group shows. Recently, one of his bronzes was chosen by the National Sculpture Society in New York City to be included in the Society's annual sculpture show.

His work is found in many private and corporate collections.

The standard of high quality he sets for his work is reflected by the steadily growing demand for it.

Having recently moved from Pampa, Thompson is currently living and working in Channing.

Sculptor Gerald L. (Sandy) Sanders of Pampa, Texas, had quite a sudden start as an artist.

To become a sculptor never entered his mind until about three years ago after carving a set of knife handles from a piece of stag horn, he decided that he could carve whole scenes out of the horns. The bone marrow served as the shadows he needed to create each piece. His first piece was from the tip of the horn, and he carved a beautiful heron that stands about six inches tall. This led to even larger scenes, one of which consists of a mountain lion and her two cubs. He now has a total collection of about 12 pieces, each an original work of art. These carvings were seen by an artist friend who suggested that Sandy take up bronze sculpturing.

He entered his first open competition on September 8, 1977, at the National Juried Artist Studio Exhibition in Amarillo, Texas, where he walked away with three top awards. His success from this show eventually led to an invitation to appear as Guest Artist at an art show in Pagosa Springs, Colorado. And so began his career as a sculptor.

Not having any formal art training, Sanders says, "It comes easy to me, it is a God given talent." As a boy growing up in East Texas, he could always be found whittling at something. He would carve small horses, boots, saddles, and even once a whole 20 mule team, which he would give away to friends and relatives. He grew up around ranches, and worked with an uncle that helped gather the last of the longhorn steers from the Matador ranch.

He is an avid sportsman and has always loved the lore of the west. His love of nature, and the knowledge he has of the old west clearly shows up in each piece that he does.

Makes National Deans List

Brenda Shields has been selected to be included in the 1980-81 edition of the National Dean's List. She was selected for this honor by Jerry Miller, Dean of the School of Business at West Texas State University.

The National Dean's List is the largest, most prestigious publication recognizing academically gifted students selected by their college dean. On a national basis, only one half of one percent of the nation's college students are included in the National Dean's List each year.

Mrs. Shields is a senior at West Texas majoring in accounting and business. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ritchie of Clarendon.

Tax Qs - As

Q and A
Q: What if I disagree with the value the tax assessor places on my property?

A: If you have rendered your property, and if the assessor has disagreed with you by raising the value you rendered, he must notify you of the time and place of the board of equalization (BOE) meetings for the taxing jurisdiction he represents. You then may appear before the board of equalization and explain why you believe the value assigned by the assessor is incorrect.

Q: Under what circumstances will the BOE make an adjustment in my taxable value?

A: First, if you can find and submit evidence to the BOE which indicates that the value assigned to your property exceeds local market values, then you would be entitled to a reduction in valuation. Second, if you can show that your property is being valued higher than similar properties in the jurisdiction, you should be entitled to a reduction in the value assigned even though the assessor's estimate did not exceed the actual market value.

INFLATION-FIGHTING HOME MAINTENANCE

With heating costs on the rise, do-it-yourselfers are not satisfied just to decorate a room so it "looks" warm and inviting. Now the object is to combine beauty with practicality. Today's wood or coal burning space units not only add to the warm appearance of a room, but also help keep it warm at reasonable cost. They're featured by hardware stores which, today, sell a lot more than the nuts and bolts of home repair.

Senator Bill Sarpalius Reports

"There are problems with the pesticide law as it is now. We think this bill will take care of those problems," Sarpalius said.

One problem is that many commercial applicators of pesticides have had their customers apply for "private applicator" status. This means that many applicators of pesticides, who should be registered as commercial applicators, are not registered at all. The "private applicator" license was intended as a convenience for the farmer or homeowner applying his own pesticide on his own land, but was not meant to be a way to avoid registration of commercial pesticide applicators, Sarpalius explained.

The bill requires all who apply pesticide for another, except for regular employees of the landowners, to register. The bill also requires applicators from another state to register with the state in case they become involved in a lawsuit here.

"We do not want to make it hard for farmers and homeowners to protect their crops and plants from insects. But we have had problems with fly-by-night operators in our district, many of them from out of state. We want to be able to keep up with who is applying large amounts of pesticides, and this bill gives us the means to do so," Sarpalius said.

Sarpalius said the bill will not change the registration requirements for people who apply their own pesticides on their own land.

Both bills make violation of either of the new laws a misdemeanor. The pesticides bill also provides for strict civil penalties for violations, including giving the state the power to seek a court order to stop violators from applying pesticides.

POOR MAN'S LOBSTER

3 qt. water
1 med onion
3 pieces celery, cut into 2-in. segments
salt to taste
2 pounds small pieces fish
oleo
Put water, onion, celery and salt into 4-qt. saucepan; bring to boil. Add bite sized pieces of fish, reduce heat. Simmer 25 min. Melt oleo in saucepan, serve with fish. You may even use Crab Boil instead of seasonings. Dip in oleo to eat.
Some of you fishermen who hate to waste the head of the fish, here is a great taste idea you may not get the wife to try. It is considered a great and desirable delicacy in Scandinavian countries.

FISH TONGUES SCANDINAVIAN

Use the tongues from catfish, bluegill, walleye, pike, or even bullheads. Boil in slightly salted water for 15 minutes. Drain. Serve with mustard or sauce made from catsup and horseradish. Or you can french fry them in a few minutes.

FISH EGGS A LA ST. PATRICK

Take the eggs from a crappie, bluegill, perch, walleye, northern pike, striped bass, bullhead, carp or catfish. Cut the egg sack so that the eggs can be squeezed out of it. Squeeze the eggs into a pot of boiling water and boil for 6 minutes. Remove the eggs by pouring the water through a strainer or cloth. Put eggs in large bowl. Add an equal amount of cottage cheese and one level tsp mustard for every cup of eggs. Mix until smooth and creamy. Salt and pepper to taste. Spread heavily on buttered bread.

Since I will be down on the coast at Corpus Christi for two weeks, I'd like to give you some great seafood and fish ideas to live up to the old menu planning ideas. I will be eating fresh crab and sea bass, but you can get good fish from the local markets and the Old Fisherman who comes through town periodically. You might even be lucky enough to catch some fresh bass yourself. While I bask in the sunshine, you can try these great fish and seafood ideas.

SOUTH COAST BUTTERFLY SHRIMP

Batter
1 beaten egg
1/4 C cornstarch
1/4 C flour
1/4 C chicken broth
1/2 tsp salt
oil for deep frying
Sauce
1 large green pepper, diced
1 C thinly sliced carrot
1 clove garlic, minced
2 TBS cooking oil
1 C chicken broth
1/2 C sugar
1/2 C cider vinegar
2 tsp soy sauce
1/4 C water
2 TBS cornstarch

Shell and devein shrimp, leaving tails on. Combine eggs, 1/4 C cornstarch, flour, 1/4 C chicken broth and salt, beat until smooth. Dip shrimp in batter and fry in deep hot fat (375) until golden brown, about 5 minutes. Drain and keep warm. In skillet, saute green pepper, carrot and garlic in cooking oil until tender but still crisp. Add to vegetables, broth, sugar, vinegar and soy sauce. Bring to boil 1 minute, blend water slowly into remaining cornstarch and stir into vegetables. Cook and stir until thickened and bubbling. To serve, arrange hot shrimp over rice and pour sauce over shrimp and rice. Serves 4.

1/2 C chopped onion
1/2 C chopped green pepper
1/4 C minced celery
2 cloves garlic, minced
1 TBS flour
1 pound can sliced stewed tomatoes
1/8 tsp dried thyme
1 bay leaf
1/2 tsp sugar
dash hot pepper sauce
1 tsp Worcestershire sauce several whole allspice
salt and pepper
minced parsley
hot, freshly cooked rice
Cook shrimp, remove shells. To make creole sauce, saute onion, green pepper, garlic and celery in oleo until limp; add flour and cook and stir until flour is light tan. Add all other ingredients except parsley and rice and cook until sauce is thickened. Taste for salt and pepper and add more if needed. Stir in parsley. Serve over hot rice. Serves 4.
Here is a favorite when you get really big fish such as walleye or giant bass or even big old catfish. The meat tends to taste a little fishy to me, so this is the recipe of choice when and if we ever get big fish to cook.

Hello, Land Lubber!

It's been great here—nice weather. I've got a cold from too much beach air. I thought I could get a good fish tales for you, but...the best I can do is...

Many of us believe that Breedlove, the Mooring Clansmen, Watson or McCombs were born grasping a rod in one fist and a bait bucket in the other. That may sound a little fishy, but I recently met a young fisherman who has been fishing since he was two. The astonishing thing about 6 year old Reagan Henson of Corpus Christi, is that HE doesn't have to lie about the size of his fish—they all are as long as he is and weigh as much as a Dvorak tackle box.

When I was at the Naval Air Station, I asked who was the youngest, best fisherman and Reagan came out winner. He can name a dozen or so kinds of fish off the top of his head. What makes that note worthy is that he's caught that many variety of fish in his 4 years of hard fishing.

Reagan likes to "land fish best" but he has wet his line in lakes, rivers and the ocean. He began his career in Florida where the fishing is good year round. His biggest fish is from Corpus Christi where he landed a 8 lb. flounder all by himself.

using a Zebco 202, a 5' rod, and 10 lb. test line. His daddy, Tom Henson, will soon be losing the contest of skill as Reagan grows up. On one trip, Reagan and his mother, Skip caught a boat full of croakers while dad had to look on.

Reagan used "dead bait, but fish'll eat live ones too," shrimp is the bait of choice. If you don't catch fish, you can eat shrimp. If you want to know how to get shrimp, "first you borrow a net, then walk out in the water for a long time then take it (the net) to the shore and dump it out and pick out the shrimp". If you get other things besides shrimp, you can keep them too.

Reagan likes to eat mango snapper best when his daddy cooks it because daddy's fish doesn't have bones. One dish the family cooks together is fish patties. You boil the "belly bones", then add green pepper, onion, white sauce, roll it in egg and fry it.

When I asked Reagan what he'd like to do most; watch TV, eat his favorite dessert, or fish, he finished putting his fish hooks neatly inside his Christmas tackle box, put the roll of line in and said with a toothless grin "fish!"

There is a type of fishing here called "sail boating" where you send out a light weight frame with a cloth stretched across to catch the wind on the end of a line. The wind pulls it out dragging a string of hooks. After awhile, you pull it in and collect crab or whatever you've caught "trolling". The fisherman sits on a lawn chair, feet propped up, cool drink at hand and lets the wind and waves troll. The hard work is reeling in all that heavy fish. Most use a wench for that task.

Ah! The ease and delight the coast offers even the most inexperienced fisherman! What a delightful change of scenery. If you want any coastal fishing tips, just as Reagan Henson!

The Speaker Reports

by Bill Clayton

AUSTIN—There has been an overwhelmingly favorable response by the people of Texas to the Texas War on Drugs proposed legislation. To me this proves that the majority of parents, teachers, teenagers, and concerned citizens of our state are ready to take a defensive stance against the unprecedented drug abuse that is now occurring.

Each of the five proposed drug bills has merit and will aid in the fight against illegal drugs, but there are three bills which I particularly support. First, House Bill 730 is a comprehensive, hard-hitting bill that is a direct attack on big-time drug dealers. This bill provides stiff penalties for preparatory drug felony offenses, prohibits probation for aggravated or preparatory drug offenses, and provides for forfeiture of cars and money confiscated in drug cases. This piece of legislation will provide the greatest penalties for those persons who are involved with the greatest quantities of drugs. Thus, it severely punishes the persons who reap the greatest profits from feeding our children with poisonous, illegal drugs.

Secondly, I favor House bill 733 which sets penalties for the manufacture and delivery of drug paraphernalia. I believe it is hypocritical to outlaw illegal drugs and yet allow headshops to flagrantly sell apparatus designed and marketed for use with illegal drugs.

And, finally, I support House Bill 729 which makes it a first degree felony to deliver a controlled substance to a minor. It is a sad fact that even elementary children are exposed to drugs by unconscionable adults.

The Legislature must represent the sentiments of the people, and the people of Texas have clearly shown that they favor the War on Drugs legislation. I am confident that your legislators will pass this needed legislation, for many of them have expressed to me that they are concerned, not only for their own children, but for all the children of our state.

There must be a victory in this War on Drugs, and the winners must be a healthy generation of children who will not have to suffer the many harmful effects of drug addiction.

BEAUTY TIPS & TACTICS

A Lovelier Complexion

Making the most of your complexion may be much less complex than you think, say renowned beauty experts.

Regular exercise, good diet and a simple daily routine are the "secret" according to Jan Day, co-founder of Jafrá Cosmetics, which offers complete skin care counseling and products through independent consultants.

Day A light cleansing cream will lift soil and dissolve make-up from the pores. Choose a formulation right for your skin—dry, normal or oily. Without thorough cleansing, no skin care routine is worth the effort.

The right kind of mask—one that won't dry or stretch delicate skin tissues—will stimulate the skin and can help provide a healthy glow.

Moisturizing is a "must" these days, and these nights. During the day, a light moisturizing protects the skin against the elements. A night cream should be light and readily absorbed into the pores—an eight-hour beauty treatment even you won't know you're wearing.

In addition to blending perfectly with your skin tones, a good foundation can also provide needed oils and moisturizing, protecting your face from the elements.

The Lions Tale

By GENE ALDERSON

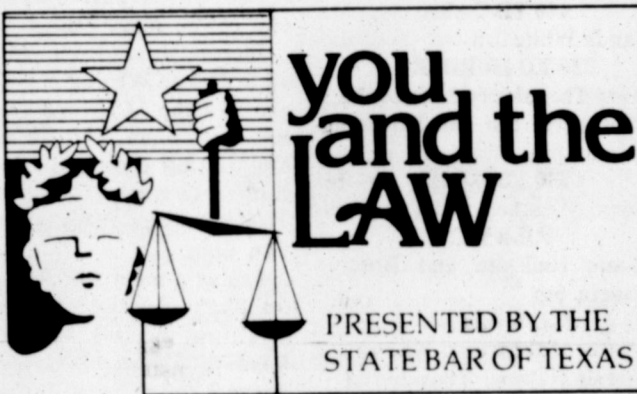

The Clarendon Lions Club held its regular meeting at noon on Tuesday with 22 members. Lion Sweetheart Viola Graham, and two guests present.

Howard Richard, a Memphis building contractor was the guest of Lion Courtney. Clarence Ayers, a Clarendon stock farmer was the guest of Lion Johnston. The singing was led by Lion Johnston followed by the Pledge to the Flag led by the Boss Lion, and prayer by Lion Messer in which President Reagan and those injured with him were remembered.

Boss Lion Davidson then called on Lion Alderson who brought the program on the new passive restraint systems which will be showing up on cars in the next few years and on computer command control, a system used on 1981 model G.M. cars to meet federal regulations on exhaust emissions and fuel economy.

YOU and the LAW

PRESENTED BY THE STATE BAR OF TEXAS

Q: We're planning to sell our home. If we find a buyer who wants to "assume" our loan, could our mortgage company come back to us for the monthly payments?

A: Yes, any time you sell your home by having someone assume the balance of your loan, the mortgage company retains the right to look to you for the monthly payments if the buyer fails to meet them. To protect yourself in a sale of this type, the contract between you and the buyer should be written to include provisions allowing you to have title to the home returned to you in the event the buyer defaults. You would then resume responsibility for paying off the mortgage.

Q: Is there a law requiring a person to have a license to peddle goods or services from door to door in Texas?

A: There is no state law in Texas requiring such a license. However, any retailer should make provisions to collect and pay state sales tax if he is required to do so. Contact the nearest field office of the State Comptroller for details. Some municipalities attempt to prohibit, limit or license door-to-door salesmen. Check with your local City Hall on this matter.

Q: I own a mobile home. Is it against the law for me to pull off to the side of the road at night or must I pay to rent space at a trailer park? Can I park overnight at a rest stop?

A: The Texas law prohibits parking a vehicle on the paved portion of any highway. Because many shoulders of highways are paved, parking on the shoulder would probably be illegal. There is a provision for emergency parking, but police officers are authorized to move any vehicle that is in violation of this law. However, you may park overnight at a rest stop or roadside park.

Q: While I was renting my apartment, the building was sold to a new owner. Now that I gave notice, paid my rent in full, and moved out, the new landlord has refused to return my security deposit. What are my rights?

A: Both the new and old owners may be liable for the return of your security deposit.

You should write both owners asking for a refund or a written accounting of all deductions. Send the letters certified mail, return receipt requested, and, at the same time, send the same letters to the same people by first class mail. If the answers are unsatisfactory to you, take the lease and the letters to a lawyer to determine whether you might sue for three times damages and other penalties.

Q: I have heard that in Texas a person does not have to will his children any of his real estate, money, or possessions. Is this true?

A: Yes, it is true that in Texas a person does not have to leave anything by will to his children. The Probate Code does, however, provide for a family allowance to give minor children of the deceased parent an amount sufficient for care and maintenance for one year from the parent's death. This allowance is only available in cases where the minor children would not have sufficient property of their own to provide for their support.

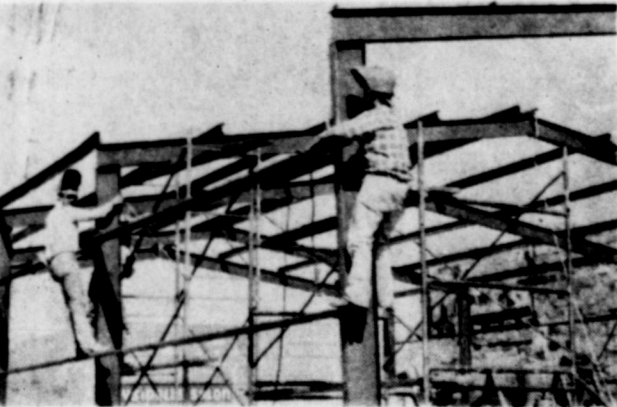

Q: I have heard that first-time offenders can have their criminal record wiped clean if they commit no further crimes during a specified time period. Is this true? Also, if a person has committed a crime, are there any limits as to what kind of work a person can obtain?

A: Following guilty pleas and successful completion of probation, an offender can ask that the proceedings be dismissed. Under these special requirements for only certain crimes, the record will show no finding of guilt. Convictions of felony or misdemeanor involving moral turpitude, such as theft or perjury, will prevent employment as a policeman, fireman, or private investigator, and will prohibit the practice of dentistry or law. Service in the military and in other government agencies will be restricted, and the offender may not serve as Executor or Administrator of an estate.

Send your questions to "You and the Law," State Bar of Texas, P. O. Box 12487, Austin, 78711. Answers may appear in columns in hypothetical terms; personal answers not possible.

AVOIDING BATTLE OF THE SEXES

The battle of the sexes is waged daily in homes all across America. But when the battle ground is the bathroom, the results aren't always clear cut.

The battle used to focus on a man's razor. No matter where he hid it, his wife found it—and used it! The advent of razors designed for women has helped to solve part of that problem. Now, shave cream is the disputed grooming article, and once again, women want their fair share.

Since women have discovered that using shave cream, instead of soap can produce a close, smooth shave, they have incorporated their husband's shave cream into their regular grooming routine. The delightful fragrance of prod-

Varsity track team

The Clarendon Broncho Varsity Boys Track Team extended their victory string to three with an exciting win at the Cyclone Relays in Memphis. The Bronchos scored 141 pts to 121 pts for runner-up Paducah. Once again the Bronchos claimed the championship using team effort, the same formula that has been a Broncho trademark all season. Team effort and depth proved to be the deciding factors as it took all team members to gather enough points for the victory. High winds and a wet track hampered the times and distances but weather conditions couldn't stop the Bronchos from giving their usual outstanding effort as they

Those Crazy Episcopalians

just the one that's right for them

Are they just "religion shoppers?" In many areas, you find very few "native-born" Episcopalians. Often, they're folks who shopped around till they found a church that satisfied some longing for something missing in their own religious experience. Maybe that's why the Episcopal Church, along with its reputation for peculiarities, has long been known as sort of a "thinking-man's religion." It embraces so many members who made up their own minds...then stopped shopping. They lay no claims to having the "only religion" or even the right one. It's just the one that's right for them. At St. John the Baptist Episcopal Church, 3rd and Park St., we have room for anybody. During Lent, (the 40 days before Easter) services and a meditation will be held at 5:00 p.m. every Wednesday. This would be a great time to meet the Vicar, the Rev. J.Scott Turner and ask that burning question you've always wanted to.

Students select a poem and read it aloud to give it proper interpretation and expression. Jay Gage, Shanna Cole, Trisha Clifford, alt. Brigett Spier make up the 5th and 6th team. The 7th and 8th team includes Mary K. Hayes, Tim Cole, Janet Risley and alt. Annette Watson.

In Number Sense, students are given math problems of increasing difficulty which they have to solve mentally. Pam Harguess, Stephen Eklund, Sheri Chamberlain, and alt. Christina Leathers make up the 5th and 6th team while Leland Howell, Shawn Studer, Tim Cole and alt. Brent Hayworth, represent Clarendon in the 7th and 8th division.

Picture Memory is a contest for fourth and fifth graders. Contestants are shown a series of pictures for which they have to record the name of the picture, the name of the artist, and the name of the country in which the artist lived. All this information has to be spelled and punctuated correctly. Team members from Clarendon are Jennifer Davis, Jennifer Gourley, Tina Alexander, Laura Copelin, Marcy Helms, and alt. Kristi Deen.

Story Telling is a contest for second and third graders. Contestants listen to a story and then tell the story to a panel of judges who have not heard the story. Entered from Clarendon are Rogina Gray, Wayne Mays, Althena Bell, and alt. Kasey Allen. Good luck to all these students.

Clarendon students entered in Ready Writing 5 and 6 are Trisha Clifford and Kyndle Longan. The 7th and 8th team includes Mary Katherine Hayes, Kay Bell, Tish Robinson, and alternate Tim Cole.

Friday's meet will feature Spelling 5 and 6, and Spelling 7 and 8, Oral Reading 5 and 6, Number Sense 7 and 8, Story Telling, and Picture Memory. The spelling contests are also a contest of plain handwriting, and students are required to spell 90 (120 for 7 and 8) words within a twenty minute time period. Spellers for Clarendon in Division 5 and 6 are Christina Leathers, Rodora Gray, Pam Harguess and alternate Debbie Terry. Those in Division 7 and 8 are Judy Hightower, Mary K. Mr. John Sarich, Manager Chamber of Commerce Clarendon, Tex. 79226
Dear Mr. Sarich:
I was informed by Mr. Jeff Walker, Superintendent of Clarendon Schools, of a donation of $50.00 given by the Chamber of Commerce to the high school. The administration felt applying this donation to the production cost of "The Bronco Annual" would certainly benefit more students at Clarendon High School. This gift is greatly appreciated. Thank you.

U.I.L. rules change

By RICK HAYES

The University Interscholastic League, the governing body of all interscholastic competition in Texas Public Schools, passed a series of referendum rules changes a while back which make some pretty broad adjustments in the athletic division of the league network. The U.I.L. has come under a lot of fire in previous years for the "one-year transfer rule" which prohibits transfer students (except seniors) to compete in varsity sports for one full year. The rule was originally designed to stop "recruiting" of outstanding athletes by high schools. After countless court battles, the League has abolished the controversial rule in favor of a more comprehensive rule which would allow transfer students to compete in varsity athletics, if the parents of the athlete and the school submit statements saying that the move was not made for athletic purposes. The parents must establish bona fide residence in the school district. The new rule covers all athletics, whereas the old rule regulated only football and basketball.

Another big change in the rules includes allowing the second place team in a district to advance to the state playoffs in football, basketball, volleyball, and baseball beginning in 1982-83. For instance, in 1980 both district 2-AA Champion Clarendon and runner-up Canadian would have advanced to the playoffs in football. An extra week will be needed to complete the season, and many teams will have 10 weeks to play 10 football games with the open date omitted. UIL athletic director Bill Farney remarked that "some schools may have problems filling a late open date". In yet another highly discussed move, basketball games played will be reduced to 22 plus three invitational tournaments. U.I.L. Executive Director Dr. Bailey Marshall cited the rationale behind this ruling as being a need to "reduce travel cost and loss of school time for students and school staff members". Overall, the rule changes are numerous and complex. The rules mentioned here are those which will be felt the most locally. The changes should benefit this school system and school systems all over the state tremendously.

We are living in an amazing age. Of all the human beings who ever lived, 25% are still alive. 90% of all scientists are still living. A few hundred years ago few people were alive at 40. Now the average person lives more than seventy years. With new discoveries future generations will live longer.
Seven out of ten of the ingredients in today's prescriptions were unknown 30 years ago. Every day adds better drugs. As soon as they are released for safe use we stock them. Keep in touch with your physician. With modern medicines he can add years to your life.

May mental health month

Mrs. Johnny Davis of Clarendon will lead Bellingher workers in a house-to-house drive during May, Mental Health Month.

Mrs. Davis will be calling on others in the community to assist with the organization and working of the drive. All citizens are called upon to aid in this drive to benefit the fight against mental illness and the improved care for the mentally ill.

"Proceeds will benefit the Mental Health Association in Texas" said Al St. Peter, state President of the voluntary citizens' association.

As a non-governmental agency, the association can and does speak for the consumer -- the person who needs professional help for an emotional disturbance.

The number one goal of the association for 1981 is to improve the care for discharged long term mentally disabled persons. The association is promoting self-help groups for families of patients and for former mental health clients.

"The association is a moving force to get services established where there are none. It also serves as a monitoring agency to see that treatment services are doing what they were set up to do," said President St. Peter.

The Mental Health Association strongly promotes more community-based care as well as more research into the causes of mental illness.

Seeking to prevent mental health problems through education, the association, in cooperation with the Governor's Office of Volunteer Services, sends out the newsletter series "Pierre the elican" to first-time parents in the state.

Additionally, the association offers literature to the public on a variety of topics including depression, alcoholism, and positive mental health concepts. For free information, write to the Mental Health Association in Texas, 103 Lantern Lane, Austin, Texas 78731, (512-459-6584).

Good neighbors

A good deed was performed by the farmers of Lelia Lake and other communities Thursday, March 26 putting Treflon on the J.W. Helms farm at Lelia Lake. It was a busy time with tractors going all day.

J.W. is recuperating from a heart attack in the High Plains Baptist Hospital in Amarillo at this time.

Those helping were: H.C. Shaw, B.T. Spier, Lacy Lee Noble, Dan Hall, Dane Perdue, J.B. McDaniel, Leo Smith, Earl Shields, Tom Hardin, Jerry Koontz, R.O. Nelson, Joe Lucerio, Eddie Helms, Roy Lee Helms, and Roddy Klinnert.

The Tuscan dialect of Dante's Divine Comedy became the language of literary Italy.

Affairs of Life

Wheat is the staff-of-life for man. Oats for the horses; barley for swine, and packaged foods with preservatives apparently for the humans.

Limit processed foods and resort to natural foods. Some people eat the worst and throw away the best.

Daze of Our Lives

By JEAN BURCHETT

Nothing makes you feel lousier than to have someone thank you for a nice thing you didn't do. Unless... you take the credit for it.

I went into the bookstore to buy a copy of Blood and Money. Though the clerk had two other customers she smiled at me with such open warmth that I thought I might have my shirt on backward.

Comfortably hunkered down, I was examining the hardbacks when a shadow fell across the floor and I looked up into the beaming face of the clerk. "I want to tell you how much I appreciated the card," she said. "It helped so much."

I didn't know her from Adam's aunt. My mouth opened and closed like a wooden dummy whose string was at the mercy of a 4-year-old. No amount of fetch messages to my brain would produce recall.

"Uh," I stammered, stood up, stalled for time and finally managed, "Are you sure you know me?"

"I do now," she crooned. "It is rare for someone who hardly knows you to be so thoughtful. It just restores my faith in humanity."

Well, what would you have done? Wrecked her faith in humanity? Of course not. I asked to see her greeting cards.

The truth is that however good my intentions may be if I remembered to send my closest friend a card I would be so proud of myself that I would probably hide behind a bush the day the postman was to deliver, and then pop to the door to shout excitedly, "Did you get it?"

But, I thought, I'll do better from here out. "I'll take six 'Thinking Of You'" I smiled, "four Sunshine Thoughts, three 'Pleasant Hours', and two Marjorie Holmes' booklets."

She said, "I loved him so."

Oh no, I sympathized, her husband died. "And four 'Get Wells'" I added quickly.

She followed me to the door, patted my arm and said, "Thank you again. You really pulled me from a slump."

"I'm glad," the semi-lie rolled off my syrupy sweet tongue. "I'm sorry about your loss."

"Oh," she said, "I guess it's just as well. He was getting old and couldn't do anything but just lay in a wad. I'm probably better off not having to mess with him."

That turn of conversation sent me back into the dummy act.

"Can you imagine," I said to my sister-in-law over coffee, "how inhuman that dark-haired woman at the bookstore was over the death of her husband?"

"Her husband didn't die," she said. "It was her cat. She was so upset over it one day when I was in there that I sent her a little card. Funny, I've been in the store twice since then and she's never mentioned getting it."

"That's gratitude for you," I said wryly. "More coffee?"

Has anybody out there got a used copy of Blood and Money?

A Moment for Meditation

By INEZ G. LAWRENCE
"God said, 'Let the earth bring forth grass.'" Gen. 1:11

When God called forth life on the earth, He began with springtime. What a beautiful time of year to call forth the grass which was the first plant life so far as we know. It is still the first thing we see in the spring. About the same time God called forth the herb which yields seed then the fruit trees with their fragrant blossoms and their promise of a bountiful harvest. Ever since that first command, the earth has responded every spring. The grass comes out and we know winter is past again. The sap begins to rise and we have an urge to start dropping seeds into the fresh earth, from the smallest garden plot to the largest field.

It is a time of renewal, a time of hope and a time for action. Life is springing from the ground in its age old fashion. There is hope and expectation. But along with these natural forces of new life there is a spiritual reality.

It was in the spring that Jesus came forth from the grave to prove His victory over death. The Bible says that just as surely as Jesus arose from the grave, even so shall we. This knowledge conquers our fear of the grave. It also comforts us when we lose a loved one. It sustains us when lonely times come afterward. It helps us take up the business of living again.

Only God could have thought up Springtime with its myriad beauty and expectancy. We look for better and lovelier things to come along later. In like manner only God could have taken the apparent defeat of the cross and turned it into victory with the Resurrection.

Mr. and Mrs. B.B. Osburn and Dorcas visited in Amarillo Sunday with his son Mr. and Mrs. Benny Osburn and got acquainted with his grandson Blake. Also visiting were Mr. and Mrs. Herman Cross of Memphis and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lindley and Todd of Clarendon.

Ralph and Floetta Sutton of Sweetwater spent the weekend with Lena Mae Graham.

Xi Lambda Xi Met

The Xi Lambda Xi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met in the home of Charlene Mays March 23, 1980.

The meeting was called to order by Betty Veach, pres. All members repeated the opening ritual together. Genella Eads called the roll and read the minutes. Treasurer report was given by Gloria Gage. The Chapter has donated their part of the 1981-82 scholarship money for the scholarship fund, to be presented to a Senior girl in May who plans to attend Clarendon College.

Peggy Anderson read from the Golden moments.

The Golden activities check list chart was discussed and things the chapter needed to do to complete the list.

Our upcoming Founder's Day Banquet which is April 30, at Memphis, Tx., is to be held with other chapters in our area.

The Clarendon Chapters are responsible for making the favors.

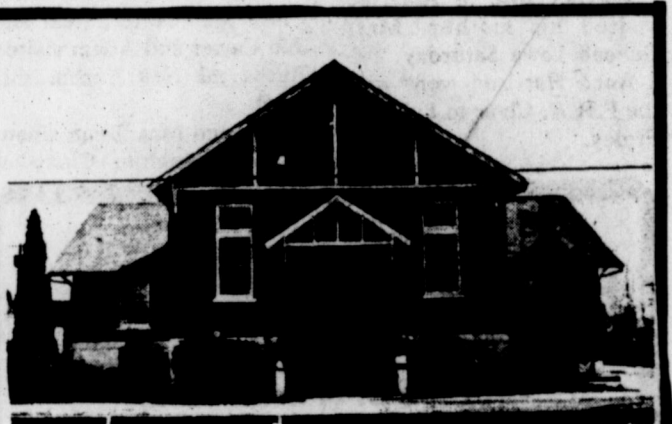

The Chapter voted to pay for Betty Veach's and one other members tickets for the "Outstanding Women of the Year" banquet which will be at Canyon in April.

Charlene had a guest, Janet Geisler, from Amarillo. She is studying interior Design at TSTL. She gave a very informative and interesting program on "Interior Design".

All joined hands for the closing ritual and mospah.

Those attending were: Peggy Anderson, Genella Eads, Sandra Mooring, Ann Harper, Beth Walker, Francis Johnston, Betty Veach, Frankie Henson, Gloria Gage, Maurine Butts, Betty Veach, Carol Bryant, Donna Mann, Geneva Summers, Pat McCombs, Donna Edwards, Priscilla Green, Glenda McCombs, Janie Finch, and guests Deanna Mayes and Janet Geisler.

Trends in Diagnosis and Treatment of cancer

Cancer management today is becoming increasingly individualized both with respect to diagnostic procedures and treatment. Early detection is followed by a precise staging of the disease, and the use of more than one kind of therapy, often in combination.

The following 14 cancers a few decades ago had very poor prognoses — today they are being cured in many cases, predominantly because of chemotherapy advances: acute lymphocytic leukemia, adult myelogenous leukemia, Hodgkin's disease, histiocytic lymphoma, Burkitt's lymphoma, nodular mixed lymphoma, Ewing's sarcoma, Wilms' tumor, rhabdomyosarcoma, choriocarcinoma, testicular cancer, ovarian cancer, breast cancer, osteogenic sarcoma. Other cancers are being more effectively controlled than in the past.

An outstanding example of progress is the improvement in the management of Hodgkin's disease (a cancer of lymph glands in predominantly young adults). Better disease staging in certain cases, more precise application of new and improved x-ray therapy and/or a combination of four cancer drugs has resulted in remarkably improved survival. In less than 10 years, the five-year survival rate for early cases rose from 65 to 85%, and from 19 to 75% for advanced cancer.

The following developments indicate the directions of current and future research:

*Interferon, a natural body substance known to combat viruses, has shown promise in preliminary research on advanced human cancers of the bone, breast and lymphatic system.

*Retinoids, synthetic "cousins" of Vitamin A, have prevented bladder and breast cancers in mice and rats, and may also work against cancers of the lung, esophagus and pancreas in humans.

*About fifty drugs have been found effective against certain cancers, and others that are still being tested hold promise.

*Surgery now is more precise than in the past because of improved diagnostic equipment and laser instruments, and rehabilitation is improved through advances in plastic surgery.

*Experiments have been conducted with simple, inexpensive blood tests, based on unique chemical substances, to determine whether an individual has cancer and where it is. Good preliminary results have been obtained in selected cases by using the procedures to detect cancers of the breast, pancreas and other sites.

*Intense drug therapy before surgery has been successful in the treatment of children with bone tumors and is being adapted to help fight some of the more common cancers in adults.

*A series of chemical injections near the spine can act as a nerve block, relieving certain cancer patients of debilitating pain.

*Common denominator approaches to cancer prevention may include the study and manipulation of "oncogenes" — cancer-causing genes which normally are dormant but which may be activated by radiation, chemicals and viruses. Researchers have learned how to suppress oncogenes in some animals, and are determining whether the same thing can be done in humans.

*A new technique makes high and potentially lethal doses of the cancer drug, methotrexate, safe and effective for the treatment of some cancers.

*Many patients with bone cancer now are treated successfully by removing and replacing a section of bone rather than by amputating the leg or arm. Drugs and radiation therapy also are being used effectively following surgery, resulting in dramatic improvement in survival.

*High-frequency sound waves (ultrasound), instead of X rays, are being used to locate tumors deep in the body. For patients undergoing radiation therapy, ultrasound may enable the therapist to pinpoint the tumor more precisely in order to provide more accurate radiation dosage and location of the tumor.

*Immunotherapy holds hope of harnessing the body's own disease-fighting systems to combat cancer with essentially no overt toxicity. In laboratory animals, substances such as BCG can stimulate immune mechanisms. These substances now are being used in humans alone or with other forms of treatment.

*Because environment factors have been found for virtually every major cancer, it is becoming possible to "profile" individuals according to their cancer risk factors, and therefore select the most appropriate time for diagnostic tests.

*The transfusion of blood components is becoming increasingly available and effective for cancer therapy. Platelets are used to prevent hemorrhaging and white cells to treat infection as well as the cancer itself.

*Computerized tomography uses X rays to examine the brain and other parts of the body. Cross-section pictures are constructed which show a tumor's shape and location more accurately than is possible with conventional x ray techniques.
