SUPPORT OUR HOME TOWN

SWEET N' SOUR

By A. Dill

If Tuesday was any indication of what the month is going to be weatherwise, then "October's bright blue weather" will certainly be an apt description of the season. No where could it have been brighter or bluer than here in the home town.

Regardless of how the remaining football season turns out this year will be chalked up as a success where Bairdites are concerned. The score of the grudge game with Clyde was 22-13 with the Bears on the high end of the see-saw, so Baird football fans and just plain old ye citizen, whether he particularly care for the game or not, is in perfect accord with the world in general, and Coach Jefferies and the Bears in particular.

And while we are on the subject of football 'n stuff like that, the word that's going 'round is that E. B. Posey's High School Band gave their best performance of the year and that the half-time skit was about the cleverest bit of work anyone had seen anywhere. The timing was good, and it was staged well, too. Congratulations to all concerned.

Here are some more September birthdays that were also misplaced in the shuffle, and (wouldn't you know it?) they are the birthdays of two people we've waited all year to send best wishes to - Anne Catherine Ross and Charla Kay Ford, two of September's nicest folks. Best wishes from all of us to you.

Saturday morning Glen Green and his Callahan County 4-H Club boys and girls will hop a chartered bus and be off to Dallas and the State Fair of Texas. Mr. Green is a live-wire club director and he has some equally enthusiastic youngsters so the Fair pilgrimage is just one of a number of activities his youngsters take part in through the year. It's our firm opinion that a county, community, and neighborhood benefits from a lively 4H Club, and we're proud of these young folks and their accomplishments.

We are indebted to Eula Mae Murphy for this information. Mrs. Gains, of Abilene, won 14 awards for culinary entries at the West Texas Fair in Abilene last month. Mrs. Gains is the former Pearl Berry and one of our good Baird gals. One thing that makes Mrs. Gains' wins amazing is that she produces all her own vegetables and fruits in a home garden and orchard. Our congratulations to a champion in her field.

Autumn is doing some lovely things to the Ellis Warren yard - those magnificent Mexican daisies are in bloom now and they are truly beautiful.

Mr. and Mrs. "Red" Meadows are just the happiest folks in the wide world as they proudly announce that they are now grandparents - Mr. and Mrs. Kyle Meadows of Big Spring have a beautiful baby boy born Monday, September 30. The young man is James Grant Meadows.

We hope your plans to attend Homecoming are just about complete. You won't want to miss the fun of mixing and mingling with your old school gang. Homecoming is only a few years old for this community but it's an idea that catches on with more exes each year and this year's gathering should be the best ever.

Here is a whole slew of folks with October birthdays and here at the Baird Star we want to wish the best of everything to Sammy DeLara, Bryan Lee Reese, Ronnie Roberts, Laura Schaffrina and Wayne Wilson, to Frank Robbins, Vivian White, Ofelia Pacheco and Ricky Joy; to R. L. Griggs, Larry Towler, John Wingo, Jimmy Trowbridge, Larry Monroe, Jane Ann Gardner, Joyce Morrow and James Barron; to Pan Steaky, Gary Abernathy, Mike Hart, and Barbara Bruce; to Paula Kay Corn, Gilbert Kanady, and Carol Lynn McGowan; to David Sutphen, Calvin Barnes and Charlene Shelton; to Norman McWilliams, Odie Gieshohn, Melba Foy, Margaret Green, Claire Estes, Frank Estes, Luella Hall, Nadine Smith; Debby Hass, Marianne Estes, Maurine Cook, Evette Meadows and Bo Ault. Did we miss any this round? Remember - please call us if you think of an October birthday - puhleeze?

Baird Gains 22-13 Win Over Clyde

The Baird Bears smashed to a 16-point lead and then coasted to a 22-13 non-conference victory over the Clyde Bulldogs at Clyde last Friday night.

The Bears opened the scoring when Danny Smith plunged six yards and Jimmy Barnes converted. Baird got two more points when the Clyde punter attempted to kick from his own end zone and stepped out of bounds.

In the second half Jimmy Barnes took a pass from Norman Smith for 12 yards for the Bears second touchdown and he added the extra point. Clyde's Harold Hicks went over from the three to give the Bulldog's their first scoring play, and Billy Ray Cullen converted.

Baird went into the fourth quarter leading by a 16-7 count and back Norman Smith went over from the five to give the Bears an extra lead. Hicks plunged for five yards for Clyde's last touchdown and the point was missed.

The Bears were credited with 14 first down to the Bulldog's 9; 232 yards rushing to Clyde's 166; 2 pass completions out of 5 attempts to Clyde 2 completions out of 3 attempts. Baird lost the ball on one fumble and Clyde 3 times.

Malcolm Strole, of Abilene, Elected Dist. FFA President at Clyde Meet

Malcolm Strole, 17, son of Dr. and Mrs. D. G. Strole of Abilene, was elected president of the Abilene FFA District last Wednesday afternoon at the group's first meeting of the school year at Clyde High School.

Voting delegates of the 14 chapters in the district selected Strole to head the district membership of about 550 FFA boys. Each chapter had one vote in the election.

Other new district officers include Owen Noble of Breckenridge, vice-president; Eddy Martin of Breckenridge, secretary; Ronald Downing of Eula, treasurer; Jim Lanning of Trent, reporter, and Bill Harris of Eula sentinel.

The election of Strole as president automatically made Bill Coalsion and Bill Scott, Abilene vocational agriculture teachers, district advisors.

New district officers were installed by officers of the John Tarleton State College Collegiate FFA Chapter at Stephenville. Royce Bodiford of Millsop, president of the Tarleton Collegiate Chapter and a past state president, presided.

Conducting the installation ceremony were Bodiford; Wayman Thurman of Colorado City, vice-president of the Tarleton Chapter; Billy Caddell of Godley, treasurer; John Pelham of Whitney, secretary; James Pettit of Comanche, reporter, and Bill Waters of Pecos, sentinel.

W. Doyle Graves, head of the poultry department at John Tarleton, advisor of the collegiate chapter, assisted with the program.

The John Tarleton students also conducted a training school for the new district officers following the election and installation ceremony.

Five chapters were named by the new officers to work out plans for the district's annual banquet to be held in the McMurry College dining hall. No definite date for the banquet was set.

Chapters in charge of the banquet will be Eula, program; Baird, entertainment; Breckenridge, sweetheart; Trent, menu; and Abilene, arrangements.

In a separate meeting, VA teachers set Nov. 23 as the date for the annual district leadership contests. They agreed to hold the contests at Clyde High School. Jake Payne of Stephenville, Area IV vocational agriculture supervisor, led a discussion on various phases of VA teaching. District VA officers, elected at an earlier meeting, are: Oran Egger of Jim Ned School, president and J. E. Moore of Wylie, secretary.

The next district meeting is scheduled for Oct. 23 at Merkel High School. Results of work at the Texas Research Foundation and Experiment Sub-Station at Merkel will be discussed.

THE STATE OF TEXAS OFFICIAL MEMORANDUM By PRICE DANIEL Governor of Texas

GREETINGS:

Our Constitutional guarantee of freedom of the press is a guarantee of an individual's right to own and to control a printing press without subservience to the government. That guarantee established the fact that a free government of free men does not need to live in fear of the thoughts and words of its free citizens.

Today, the freedom of America depends on the freedom of the press. The free flow of information to the public is essential to the preservation of our American way of life, and we must be continually vigilant against any efforts to impede this freedom of information.

Texas newspapers and newspapermen have consistently shown recognition of the great obligations and responsibilities which go with freedom of the press.

THEREFORE, I, as Governor of Texas do hereby designate the period of October 1-8, 1957, as in Texas, and urge due recognition of the contributions of a free press.

In official recognition whereof, I hereby affix my signature this 18th day of Sept. 1957.

(SEAL)

PRICE DANIEL, Governor of Texas

She was a member of the Central Presbyterian Church.

Press Head Urges You To Visit Newspaper

Jimmie Gillentine, president of the Texas Press Association urges all Texans to visit their hometown newspapers sometime this week in the 18th annual observance of National Newspaper Week.

"We want all newspaper readers to have an opportunity to witness the actual operation of a newspaper plant during the week of October 1-8," emphasized Gillentine, who is also publisher of the Hereford Brand.

"Texas newspaper men and women, who devote a great deal of their time and talents each year to the success of special weeks, will be reflecting, in their columns and news stories, thoughts on the Constitutional guarantee of freedom of the press and the threats to it.

"Many will remind their readers of the first threat which ended in the classic trial of John Peter Zenger in 1735, and firmly established freedom of the press," the TPA president pointed out, "and others will review present day threats, represented by secret or closed-door meetings of public bodies."

Gov. Price Daniel, in an official proclamation honoring the Texas Press Association, succinctly summarizes the importance of this basic freedom:

"Our Constitutional guarantee of freedom of the press as a guarantee of an individual's right to own and to control a printing press without subservience to the government. That guarantee establishes the fact that a free government of free men does not need to live in fear of the thoughts and words of its free citizens."

Thomas Jefferson once said: "Were it left for me to decide whether we should have a government without newspapers or newspapers without government, I should not hesitate to prefer the latter."

Governor Daniel seems to concur when he says: "the freedom of America depends on the freedom of the press. The free flow of information to the public is essential to the preservation of our American way of life, and we must be continually vigilant against any efforts to impede this freedom of information."

Theme for the week is "Your Newspaper Serves," and both the Newspaper Association Managers Inc., and Texas Press Association, which jointly sponsor National Newspaper Week in Texas, invites newspaper readers everywhere to join in the observance this week.

The Baird Star joins in this invitation to visit us during this week and we will do our utmost to explain the procedures involved in publishing your news each week.

He had been in the real estate business and owned and operated a 187-acre stock farm at Roanoke since going into semi-retirement.

After graduating from Baird High School, he went on to H-SU, where he received his bachelor of arts degree in 1918. He paid his way through by handling school newspaper and magazine assignments. He founded the H-SU Brand, campus newspaper, in 1916.

He also studied in France, and was a student member of A.S.D. University of Montpellier, Herault, France. Dr. Foy was awarded an honorary LL.D. degree by H-SU in 1942.

His activities for the H-SU board included heading an endowment and building drive in 1945 and heading extension and enlargement program in 1951.

He left the Dallas News in 1929 to be regional advertising manager for Buick Motor Co. in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Arizona. He held other positions with General Motors Co. before returning to the News as local advertising director in 1933. He became sales and research manager for the newspaper in 1949.

OUTDOORS-In Texas

An outdoorsman, as you would expect, is more sensitive to the weather than other folks. And that doesn't merely mean that he is interested in whether it's hot or cold, wet or dry.

He watches the fishing calendar, the solunar tables, the barometer, and the weather predictions. He is aware of water temperatures at various depths, and he looks for the signs of nature.

All this goes for the hunter as well as the fisherman. As the dove hunter contemplates the season opening in the South Zone, Oct. 1, for example, he recalled heavy rains in the area late in September, and he thought about cooler weather.

His conclusions were that dove hunting around tanks would not likely be productive because there's water everywhere for the birds. And he figures that doves would be migrating southward in search of warmth.

Weather Signs

Old timers were keen about the weather. Far more so than moderns who live in conditioned air and don't depend directly on agriculture for their livelihood.

The old folks didn't depend on gadgets to know whether the fish were biting. The understood that there is a rhythm in nature, and they watched for signs that they knew were reliable.

If the old cow rested quietly under a shady tree, if the dog slept by the front steps, if there were no birds singing or flying, if all nature seemed at a standstill, that was no time to go fishing.

But when the cow got up and started grazing, the dog stretched himself and dug up a bone, and the birds suddenly appeared in the sky -- that was fishing time.

The system still works. One friend of mine keeps a bowl of goldfish and can tell by their action - or inaction - whether to head for the creek or not.

Solunar Tables

Another fellow tells me that by watching the solunar tables he can tell when the workers in his office are going to be the most alert, active, and industrious. These time coincide with the best fishing hours as indicated by the tables.

It has long been known that the weather affects the way we feel. Benjamin Franklin advised that we "do business with men when the wind is out of the northwest." That's because a northwest wind is a sign of fine weather.

Thus it's not surprising that anglers say: fish bite the best when the wind's from the west."

Barometer Readings

Many salesmen refuse to call on customers when the barometer is low. They know that the prospect is likely to be feeling depressed at such a time. Likewise, old fishermen know that the fishing is best when the barometer is high or rising.

September rains were good for the angling situation. They washed food from surrounding land into the lake and streams for the fish to eat.

Some big fat bass are going to be caught in Texas during the next two months.

Incidentally, the better the land along the shore line, the more good washed into the water by rains. No lake surrounded by poor land can be rich in fish. Consequently, your earnest angler is a booster of soil conservation.

System For Bass

Getting back to black bass fishing for a minute... there's a fellow around here who catches them regularly from the Colorado River lakes. He gave me his system the other day, and I'll pass it on for you to try:

He gets in a boat at daybreak and moves slowly along, casting a surface lure to the edge of the weed beds, and into pockets among the weeds. He gives the lure plenty of time, twitching it ever so slightly at long intervals.

Recently he has scored one 5 1/2 and two 4 pounders. His favorite bait is a Heddon SOB Silver Flash, a wounded minnow type with a spinner front and back. He ties on a red and

Secularism versus The Church

By T. G. CRAFT, Pastor Baird Methodist Church

Before discussing the relationship of Secularism to the church, let us define secularism. Secularism consists of all institutions, clubs, lodges, and organizations which are not under the control of the church or any religious authority or organization. Since all secular organizations are not products of the church or religious bodies, they are not responsible to the church for the type of work they do, neither has the church any control over them. Secular institutions and organizations are creations of non-ecclesiastical powers, and are separated in function, responsibility, authority and government from that of any and all church bodies or ecclesiastical control. All institutions organized by the church are under the control and supervision of the church and are responsible to the church for its functions and conduct.

Let us consider some of the many institutions and organizations which are under secular control, and not under (sacred) or religious control. There are the lodges: Masonic, Odd Fellows, Star and Garter; Clubs, Lions, Rotary, Kiwanis, Elks for men. Then there are two semi-religious organizations divorced from the church: the Y.M.C.A. and Y.W.C.A. The Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts are non-ecclesiastical organizations. The Red Cross and United Charities are two other organizations which are purely secular, but which serve mankind locally and nationally. There are many lesser secular institutions and organizations which serve the community life of our nation. No one among us would condemn a good thing which serves a good cause.

May we ask here how it happened that all these secular organizations were created? Why were they created? The answer is simple and brief. They were created to serve a need which the church was not serving and which, according to many people, should have served. Because there was this existing need for the church to serve mankind, but refused to meet the need, certain laymen gave themselves to the organization of these several institutions that would render a specific service to mankind outside the jurisdiction and authority of the church or any religious body. There are many church people who condemn Secularism because it seems to interfere with the work of the church. But obviously, had the church done her full duties down the ages, there would not had been an occasion for the rise of secularism and the ministry of this non-religious institution.

The church may lament the power of secularism in our day, but the neglect of the church to do her full social duties to the unfortunate in her midst challenged the kind and altruistic members in society to do something about righting the wrongs. Now the church must face her own sins of neglect. The church at one time preached that its business was to save the souls of men, and not to feed the hungry, clothe the naked, minister to the sick, visit the strangers, and redeem the prisoners. Secularism was born in the matrix of a social need which the church ignored and refuse to admit existed.

The church has never fully accepted the idea of the tithes as a standard of minimum giving to God. Had the church accepted and practiced tithing she would have had ample money to do the full work and ministry of the church of God. With her tithes dedicated to God, all good causes could have been supported. But the church refused to tithe, and claimed poverty instead. Her poverty kept her from doing the good things which God expected her to do. God saw it that His work would not fall. So He raised up men and women outside the church to do His work. We call it Secularism.

It is interesting to note that most of the members of all secular organizations and institutions are church members. In the end they give something near a tithe to their church and to the many charitable causes which their institutions support. Had the church been wise and tithed her income to the church itself, all the many causes could have been done under the supervision of the church instead of secularism. Secularism is a rebuke to the church for having failed God and man.

Yet we must realize that Secularism does not take the place of the church and religion. Secularism has no God, confesses no sin, supports no church, pretends no responsibility to God, ignores eternal justice, confesses no Christ, admits no future life, and disregards a belief in the immortality of the soul. It is a religion without a God. It has no creed and believes in one life at a time. Secularism builds no churches, writes no hymns, says no prayers, preaches no sermons, claims no God.

If the world continues to turn secular, the time is drawing near when our churches will be empty. They are nearly so even now. Many churches have no prayer meetings because they do not believe that prayer has any sort of efficacy with God or man. Many churches in the metropolitan areas of our nation have no Sunday evening services any more. Attendance a morning worship represents a small percent of the total membership even with those church that have two morning services.

God is the least popular of all the gods in America. The most popular god of the West is "MONEY." The next in order are "LIQUOR and BEER"-Bacchus; then "PLEASURE"-MINERVA; "SEX LOVE"-APHRODITE.

The total money given to God and His church by the American people is about two billion dollars annually; to the god BACCHUS about ten billion dollars; to PLEASURES many billions; to SPORTS more than two billions, and to APHRODITE, who knows? One can judge a man's god by the way he donates his money to his god or gods.

There would be some hope for the future in a religious recovery were it not for the fact that of the 28 million young people from 10 years to 21 years, 20 million of them are growing up pagans. They have not received any kind of religious training, neither do they attend any church. We can write off the millions of adults who are not Christians in our nation as religious losses. Not much hope for the future with the youth of our nation.

Where are our church members on Sunday nights when the protestant churches are having worship services? I do not know. I do know that about forty members out of three hundred Methodists are present in my own local Methodist church on Sunday nights. The minister knows that these church members made a choice between going to their church, and going somewhere else or seeing some sort of program on T.V. It gives any sincere minister a certain uneasy feeling about his people. He knows also that he cannot do one thing about changing the thinking of these people. The minister is left helpless with a feeling that the whole thing is futile. Do our people not see that they have one brief life to live, and after death the judgment of God? Where do they hope to spend eternity? What do they think God is going to do with them when they sin away their days of grace on earth? Many people seem satisfied with salvation without redemption. We all believe that they do believe on the Lord Jesus Christ are saved, but these same people are saved through the grace and forgiveness of Christ and not of any merits of their own. But most Christians who are saved are not redeemed. They are still full of sins. Sins are eliminated one by one. No Christian will ever be totally free from all his sins in this life, but he can, by the grace of God, be freed from more and more of them. Going to church certainly does help any good person realize how sinful he really is and how much he needs redemption.

The most pitiful thing we minister face in this day is to be called on to conduct a funeral service for one of these black-slidden church members. Many of them have long since quit the church and obviously care nothing about it. But when they die, they and their friends want a Christian funeral service. Who performs this rite? The preacher, of course. Do we like to do this ministry? No. Absolutely, no. There you have the picture of a nation that has turned to Secularism. Why have a funeral service for any person who does not believe in God? It certainly will not change anything for good or bad.

What will bring people to their sense of duty to God and themselves? Nothing. They aren't going to be changed. That is the history of black-slidden nations and individuals. When a man backslides, it is hard to bring him back to God and the church.

How would you like to be a preacher for a day? I wish that every layman could enjoy this great responsibility for just one day, provided that day will be Sunday. May God have mercy on our souls.

Visited the Burette Ramseys, the George Browns and Jim and I. Bro. Hall filled the pulpit Sunday at the Baptist Church in Putnam. The Halls live in Abilene where he is a student in Hardin-Simmons.

The cotton is opening slowly since the rain we had a week ago. The nights are real cool. John McIntyre started the cotton pulling rolling last Saturday. Think they got over twelve hundred out.

The Burette Ramseys are putting a new roof and siding on their house. It will look real nice when finished.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Ellis and children, of Gallup, N. M., flew in Friday to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jewel Ellis and her father, Dary Edwards of Mohan. Saturday afternoon Dale took his father-in-law, Mr. Edwards up for a ride. They crashed in a forced landing northwest of Albany. Dale escaped with a few scratches, but Mr. Edwards was badly hurt, both shoulders broken and other injuries. The plane was a total wreck. From the looks of the picture in the paper of the wrecked plane, I don't see how either escaped alive, but thank goodness, they did.

Jim and D. A. Yarbrough went to Eastland Sale. Jim and D. A. pulled a little cotton Monday, just getting limbered up so they may pull a hundred. Don't know whether I will tackle the cotton pulling or not, but bet I do. I must get busy, so be good and I'll be seen 'you next week

Bayonets Do Not Help
By BOB TAYLOR

It should be the prayer of every American, north and south, black and white, that the White House meeting of President Eisenhower and the five Southern Governors is productive; and that, in spite of the President's desire to broaden the discussion to cover "problems of school integration," the conferees bear down on the subject urged by the Governors' Conference, "withdrawal of Federal troops from Arkansas at the earliest possible moment."

Whether or not President Eisenhower acted within the law in sending regulars into Little Rock to enforce integration at Central High School, will doubtless be argued at great length by sundry authorities. But the fact of the paratroopers presence, which Governor Faubus called "the military occupation of Arkansas," the fact of their herding school children with naked bayonets, and with what Senator Richard B. Russell has called "Hitler-like conduct," supersedes theories of Constitutional law to compound an error that can not be soon erased. Yet it is only one of a series of errors that began with a Federal reversion to the spirit of the reconstruction days in sending a northern judge to rule on the most explosive problem of our time.

There is at least the suspicion that Washington may be coming to a realization of its error in the announcement of Army Secretary Brucker that he had revoked order to commanders in Atlanta and San Antonio for riot-training of their troops.

It is all very well to affirm piously that there must be a law or there will be anarchy. But where interpretation of the law causes such an upheaval in the traditional life and customs of the community, as has the desegregation during in the South, there must be patience and understanding. From the Southern viewpoint, great progress has been made, even in Arkansas and in Little Rock. But bayonets do not help.

It has been reported that when a paratroop officer was asked how long the regulars would stay, he replied: "Indefinitely. We stayed in Germany for years."

The Southern Governors have a right to know if their is to be "occupied territory."

Humble To Air 6 Football Games

Radio coverage of six Southwest Conference football games will be furnished by Humble Oil & Refining Company next Saturday as the 1957 football season goes into the third week of play.

The Texas Aggies travel to Columbia, Missouri, to do battle with the University of Missouri, the only day game. Eddie Barker will broadcast the play-by-play action and Mike Mistovich will describe the colorful highlights beginning at 1:15 p. m.

In the first game of the season pitting two Southwest Conference teams, Arkansas challenges TCU in Memorial Stadium in Little Rock. Kern Tips and Alec Chesser will be at ringside to describe all the action and color starting at 7:45 p. m.

Baylor travels to Miami, Florida to play the University of Miami. Bob Walker and Jim Wiggins will broadcast this one beginning at 7 p. m.

Rice Institute entertains the Stanford Indians at Rice Stadium in Houston. Dave Russell and John Smith will describe the play-by-play and color highlights beginning at 7:45 p. m.

The University of Texas Longhorns will be at home for their game with the Gamecocks of South Carolina. Broadcast time is 7:45 p. m. with Ves Box and Dave Smith on hand to describe the game.

At Lubbock, the Texas Tech Red Raiders go against the LSU Tigers in another inter-sectional game. Eddie Hill and Jack Dale will describe the contest for radion fans beginning at 7:45 p. m.

AUSTIN — How much will Texas' drought-shocked farm economy be able to come back, thanks to 1957 rains?

U. S. Bureau of Crop Estimates says Texas' 1957 cash income, from all farm and ranch products, may be as much as $200,000,000 higher than last year.

Actual statistics now in are not so rosy. Reports from the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research show that cash income, as of July, down 13 per cent from July of last year. Farm income for July is 70 per cent of the 1947-49 average.

"Farm income," says a BBR analyst, "is still the most depressed sector of the Texas economy, although rising prices and a better outlook for crops give some grounds for optimism."

Some attribute the poor cash showing in reports thus far to lateness of crops in areas where continued spring rains delayed planting.

Whatever final statistics show, most farmers and farm observers seem to regard 1957 as the beginning of better things. It rained. And though the rains may have washed out cotton, rotted melons and mildewed grain, it "put a season in the ground."

Little Rock Repercussions — News from Little Rock, Ark., brought expressions of concern and disapproval from the Texas Capitol.

Gov. Price Daniel, on hearing the President had sent in federal troops to enforce school integration, fired off a telegram to the White House. Such action, said Daniel, was "reminiscent of the tactics of Reconstruction Days."

"Does this mean you will occupy with troops every nonintegrated school in the South?" the Governor asked. "If so, your action will destroy the public school systems and good will among the races which most of us in the South have labored so hard to preserve."

U. S. Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, who was in the State Capitol at the time, for a Democratic women's gathering, said he was "concerned and disturbed."

"I think there should be no troops from either side patrolling our school campuses," said Johnson.

News Laws Suggested — Speculators of the ICT investigations are no longer interested in what BenJack Cage did or didn't do. Or in what he says or doesn't say. They are more interested in the effect the ICT matter will have on future insurance regulations.

Cage answered a few general questions for the Senate investigating committee. But he refused to answer 90 others on grounds of possible self incrimination.

However, officials of the State Insurance Department spoke to the committee specifically and without hesitation. Commissioner William A. Harrison suggested need for possible legislation in four areas:

1. Board authority to determine the competence of management and to pass on management contracts. (Jack Cage Co. had a management contract with ICT.)

2. More board control over financial record keeping by companies.

3. Change in the minimum capital requirements for organizing a company (presumably to require more capital).

4. Changes in insurance investment restrictions.

Flu Furor Fades — After the shock of the first flare-up, most Texans seemed resigned to living with the Asian flu threat for a while.

Although cases tripled (to 9-151) in a week, health officials in some areas reported a decline. Some said they felt they were "over the hump."

Shoemaker's Polly Dropped — An Austin district judge has ordered the state receiver to stop paying premiums on A. B. Shoemaker's giant insurance policy. Value of the gradually diminishing policy was down to $719,000.

At one time the policy would have been worth $1,000,000 on Shoemaker's death. Money would have been added to the assets of the bankrupt US Trust and Guaranty Co.

Shoemaker attempted to kill himself after his company collapsed. His death seemed imminent, and the $20,000 a year premiums were kept paid. Now, doctors say Shoemaker may live another 15 years.

Tug O' Water — Water contests are back in the news.

City of San Antonio has been trying for more than three years to get permission to take 100,000 acre feet of water annually from Canyon Dam to be built near

New Braunfels. Guadalupe-Blanco River Authority opposed the request, and last July the State Water Board turned down San Antonio's application.

San Antonio has now filed suit in an Austin court to get the board's decision nullified.

Fort Worth had better luck with the Water Board. It gained permission to take 385,000 acre feet a year from tributaries of the Trinity. Enough, presumably to care for the city's needs until the year 2,000.

But there were protests, both from within and without Fort Worth. Board said permit is a new type which will protect the supply of downstream users.

School Panel — House Speaker Waggoner Carr added three more to the committee which is to study means for handling Texas' growing school population. They are Mrs. Will Miller of Corsicana, Nat Williams of Lubbock and Stone Wells of Houston.

Appointment of six persons by Governor Daniel will complete the 24-member committee.

School Bus Law — There still are people who don't observe Texas school bus law, say state officials. Seven were killed in school bus collisions last year.

Wide publicity on the provisions of the law are urged by Education, Highway and Safety Department officials. Basically, the law says:

1. A driver meeting or overtaking a school bus that has stopped to load or discharge passengers must stop immediately. He may then proceed cautiously at not more than 10 miles per hour.

2. Law does not apply in city limits or on a divided highway where the bus is on a different roadway from the other vehicle.
