Farmers Urged To Study Cotton Referendum

What is involved in this referendum or question on which you are to be voting between December 5 and December 9? How much do you know about the issue? Are you willing to sign away more of the little freedom left you? All of this is up to you, MR. COTTON FARMER!

Bill P.L. 89-502 passed Congress earlier this year and authorizes the establishment of a marketing order which would force handlers under penalty of law to collect $1 per bale from the cotton producer to finance cotton research and promotion.

The need for research and promotion is not the issue. The issue is whether funds should be collected on a voluntary basis controlled by the producers or collected on a compulsory basis controlled and supervised by the Secretary of Agriculture.

If passed in the coming balloting, the bill, having been amended, would give the Secretary of Agriculture complete control of the program. Cotton Board members could be appointed by the Secretary and he could decide what organizations are eligible to offer Board nominations. Further all plans and projects developed by the Cotton Board must have his approval; he would have complete control of the (See Cotton Referendum, Page 8)

THANKSGIVING

Thanksgiving is traditionally American. Over three hundred years ago the Pilgrim Fathers turned their backs on a world of entrenched selfishness to build a nation under God. They met on that first Thanksgiving Day to express their thanks to God for His many blessings. Their earnest and sincere efforts were based on a faith founded in the God of the universe. Thus, they reaped their reward which later resulted in a representative form of constitutional democracy, and brought us freedom. For these efforts we can be truly thankful.

One of the finest features of Thanksgiving in this land is the privilege of living in a country where each individual may unite to share in the protection and defense of the American principle of life. Our way of living has more regard for the sanctity of the individual than any other system of government devised by the mind of man.

As a people we are rich in heritage. Our founding fathers were men of vision. They were individuals of tremendous faith. We are their descendants. May we now be like them in giving thanks. May we pattern our future after their vision. May we in possessing their intimate faith in God behold a vision more glorious.

Surely we can with sincerity join the Psalmist in saying, "O Give Thanks unto the Lord; for he is good: For His Mercy endureth forever!"

COTTON HARVESTING PICKS UP THE PAST WEEK

Grades were lower, staple length slightly longer and mike readings about the same as a week earlier. The predominant grade in color was Middling Light Spotted with 43%. Grade was reduced at least three percent due to bark.

Average prices paid growers during the week ranged from 17.55 to 18.90. Cottonseed brought $65 per ton at most gin points.

FEARFUL REPORTS

Fearful has fully recovered from his chain of accidents since last week. He was informed by the Sheriff's office that his suspect last week was Carol Cornell. Monday morning Fearful received a call from a teacher at C.H.S. who said there was a certain student in their class that wasn't very alert. The suspect was described as tall with short hair and green eyes. Fearful told the teacher he would help him if he could. Fearful ate his helping of Wheat Germ and got to C.H.S. just as the tardy bell rang. As he walked up and down the hall looking into class rooms trying to find an unalert person, he ran into a locker door someone forgot to shut and bloodie dhis nose. Fearful got his nose to stop bleeding and was so weak he had to go home and rest.

Tuesday he went downtown shopping for his mother, so it was late when he got to CHS. At 1:00 he was on the verge of discovering his suspect when he was trampled by some late students rushing to beat the tardy bell. Fearful went home to his mother.

Wednesday, trying to get an early start, Fearful nicked himself shaving. Since he is very sensitive to pain, Fearful fainted and remained in bed the rest of the day.

After all these stupid mistakes,

Fearful is very depressed and if anyone can help him discover his suspect he will surely appreciate it.

THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK
Only the educated can decide their destiny; only the wise can follow it; only the good can attain it.

It has been a long time since we have mentioned our brother-in-laws. But, last week we were visiting in Shamrock with the one we used to refer to as the one with the recent operation. Even that event has long since passed into the long ago... Anyway, after lunch we all decided to drive out into the country where we spent several of our boyhood years, and after a long and tedious task finally made it to the ripe old age of 21.

We drove along the the same old sandy road over which we used to drive the mules with a bale of cotton some ten miles to the gin. Over these roads we helped drive hogs to the railroad for shopping, and the fattened cattle as well. Here we finally qualified for our first pair of long pants and finally got up the courage to face the ridicule of the neighborhood when we wore them for the first time, in public.

It was along these same sandy lanes that we just happened to get to the road at the appropriate time to meet face to face with the new school teachers as they high-heeled it through the sandy lanes to the home of one of our neighbors where they were staying out the year. It took some effort not to ask to see them home on this chance meeting, if watching the clock and hurrying to the road can be called chance, but it seemed wise to wait for the second meeting. Someday we would tell you all what this chance meeting led us into. It would be a long happy story.

The old school house has long since gone the way of country schools, something we have often wondered if it was for the best. Even the church house that took its place is gone now. But the narrow sandy roads are still there, and here and there a house that bears some resemblance to that age. The distances between any two given points looks much shorter than we remembered it to be. And the houses that still remain that once seemed so large seem almost like cabins in this day. Some housed a family of ten or more in those days.

At least half of the farm homes were gone, and the farms consolidated into larger units. The small mountain near the school that was such a challenge to us then to climb looked only like a small hill.

The cotton fields were still there as in our boyhood, but now the machine strippers take care of the harvest in a hurry. Of all the jobs of work which we disliked as a boy dragging a cotton sack was the least acceptable to us. We remembered the time after World War I when a bale of cotton wouldn't bring enough to pay for the pulling or picking. Our desire to move west as a young man was largely spurred by the toil of raising cotton in that day.

Perhaps it was good to think back over the days gone by. It should make us appreciate all the more the many conveniences of our modern day. But, there were many good things that happened along the way that made even those days a joyous thing to remember. How we would have loved to visit each one of our old neighbors again. It seems so sad that hardly even one still lived along the route. May our Gracious Lord Bless them wherever they are today.

A HAPPY THANKSGIVING TO ALL!

Give Thanks . . .

Is Thanksgiving only a holiday from work, only a family gathering, only a dinner of roasted Turkey? We don't think so. Join with us in giving thanks for peace, for security, for a free enterprise-democracy and all the other wonderful things which are a part of our American way of life. We give thanks for the thousands of neighbors and friends whom it is a privilege to serve in a variety of ways.

The National Cotton Council has been financed through a system of voluntary contributions by the seven segments of the industry represented by the membership. Producers, representing one of the segments, contribute approximately 65 percent of the Council's annual budget. Other cotton industry groups contribute 35 percent of the total.
 The Cotton Producers Institute, an associated organization, is financed through voluntary contributions by producers at the rate of $1.00 per bale.
 A great deal has been accomplished under voluntary programs, but more could be accomplished through an all-out effort by all groups in the industry to make the voluntary approach succeed.

 About 30 University of Texas students this year are participating in a unique non-credit seminar on problems in higher education, with special emphasis on their own University. The seminar is a joint undertaking of the Students' Association, Dean of Students and the Hogg Foundation for Mental Health.

Cotton Check-Off—
What's The Real Issue?
 What's the real issue in the cotton check-off referendum? It's not a question of whether or not research and promotion are needed. We all agree that they are needed.
 The real issue is whether we use the power of the federal government to collect funds from producers for a program of research and promotion which is to be dominated by the Secretary of Agriculture.
 It's the basic question of whether cotton producers want a farmer-controlled and farmer-directed program or a government-centralized and federally controlled program.
 A government-controlled program cannot possibly have the continuing interest and loyal support of producers necessary to insure the most effective use of the producer's promotion dollar.
 What then is the alternative to the proposed check-off program?
 The best alternative is a voluntary program controlled by the people who pay the bill.
 The machinery for such a program is already available in the National Cotton Council and the Cotton Producers Institute.

Monahans, Loveland, Colo. and Mr. and Mrs. Bud Chapmond, Iowa Park.
 This is Thanksgiving time again, and we should all appreciate the fact that we can really give thanks and put a true meaning to the word. Regardless of boll weevils, worms, late plantings, etc. our crops are mostly better than anticipated. Other localities are not so lucky. Anyway, Happy Thanksgiving, to one and all.

The West Texas Buffaloes swept to a smashing victory over Western Michigan by a score of 30-7 Saturday at Buffalo Bowl. Washington hit 15 out of 20 short to medium range passes. He had three passes intercepted and was out of the game for most of the second half due to a reinjury of his arm.

The Buffs closed their season with a 7-3 record matching the record of the losers who were co-champions of the Mid-American Conference, Washington closed the season Saturday with a career record of 3,579 yards passing, a record accomplished in only two years since his transfer from Los Angeles Junior College.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Addition of kindergartens to the public schools will be a major school proposal in the 1967 session of the Legislature.

State Board of Education has recommended it. Texas State Teachers Association feels it is vital to public education, and will support the board's position.

Expanding the public school system to 13 grades is advocated by educators on the ground that children learn more quickly at age 5, and simply because more education is needed for this complicated world. It would, of course, increase the cost of public schools by one-twelfth, at both state and local levels.

School teachers will press for a pay raise to lift Texas salary levels to the national average, but will let the Board of Education carry the ball on the kindergarten proposal.

SCHOOL COST RECORD — Last year's price of $647,516,534 for the minimum operation of Texas public schools set a record, but State Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar says the "minimum foundation fund" will be even greater this year—$667,857,000.

Fund, which is distributed according to the needs of the school district and its average daily attendance, draws its resources from two state sources; the available school fund, including a fourth of all occupation taxes by the state, and other state revenues.

Of last year's total, $123,439,886 was furnished by the school districts themselves, and the rest by the state. Figures do not include federal aid.

EAST TEXAS OIL — Railroad Commission has been given proposals by five oil companies for changing the method of allocating oil allowances in the East Texas Field to eliminate what the companies said was discrimination.

Atlantic, Richfield, Mobil, Sun, Cities Service and Superior oil companies all put forth widely different plans to eliminate both inequities within the field between marginal and proratable wells and inequities between the East Texas Field and other fields in the state.

City of Kilgore, Kilgore Chamber of Commerce and other local governmental bodies oppose all changes.

HIGHWAY BEAUTIFICATION — "Texas faces the prospect of losing about $20,000,000 a year in federal highway funds," Lt. Gov. Preston Smith said, if it does not conform fully with the federal Highway Beautification Act of 1965.

Smith pointed out that in writing the Act, the federal government included a 10 per cent penalty in federal aids to states that do not cooperate fully with the provisions of the new law.

State must fulfill its part by seeing that billboards and other outdoor advertising are moved back 600 feet from interstate and federal-state highways. Garbage dumps and junkpiles can be no closer than 1,000 feet. This would involve approximately 17,500 miles of Texas highways.

TOURIST DEVELOPMENT TALKS — "Imagination: Dare to Use It" will be the theme of the second annual Governor's Tourist Development Conference November 22 in Austin. Gov. John Connally will head the participants.

Experts in various fields of tourist development and tourist promotion will meet with delegates to the conference, along with administrators of Six Flags Over Texas and San Antonio's HemisFair '68.

SCREW-WORMS DECLINE — Screw-worm epidemic in Texas appears headed for an end. Only 97 cases were confirmed to the Animal Health Commission during the week of October 22-28, compared to 197 three weeks before, at the height of the infestation.

Dr. S. B. Walker, executive director of the commission, said the geographic area of the epidemic seems to be narrowing, too. Most serious areas are in Dimmitt, Val Verde and Maverick Counties. At the crest of the infestation, the southwest one-third of the state was involved.

BUILDING PERMIT DECREASE — Estimated value of building permits issued in Texas during September showed a sizable decrease from August's, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports.

Declines both in residential and non-residential permits accounted for the fall of a seasonally adjusted 23 per cent from August and 11 per cent from September, 1965, the bureau said.

Of Texas' six largest cities, Fort Worth showed the most total, non-farm construction during September, $17,060,277, but Houston was right behind at $16,978,031. Austin, El Paso and San Antonio were far behind.

EQUAL VALUES ASKED — State Board of Education will urge the Legislature to take action toward equalizing land values among all 254 Texas Counties for property tax purposes.

Values now vary from five to 100 per cent of what the property actually sells for, according to Board member Paul Greenwood of Harlingen. Greenwood had unsuccessfully sought to substitute assessed valuations for the complex "economic index" used to figure local fund assignments of minimum foundation school program costs.

In separate action with implications for many districts, the board held that the Rio Hondo schools cannot withhold report cards and transcripts from students who do not pay special fees.

Board ordered Texas Education Agency to make a study to find out what fees districts are charging students for such things as locker services, towels and soap in physical training classes.

SHORT SNORTS — Texas will receive $724,557 in federal funds to assist in the improvement of Stephen F. Austin State Park in Austin County, Bastrop State Park in Bastrop County and Palo Duro State Park near Amarillo in Randall County.

State Ear of Texas has produced a bill for the 60th Legislature which will clarify and expand the rights of married women. Revisions are part of a project to change and codify all the family laws of Texas into an organized Family Code.

GOOD BULL MAY BE WORTH MORE INCOME

A beef herd bull that increases the weaning weight of your calves by 15 pounds may be worth much more in increased income than you realize.

Over a 7-year period, with calves selling at 24 cents per pound, he could up income by $445. With calves selling at 21 cents, a select sire could add $389 to the beef income, says County Agent Ronald Gooch.

Let's assume that 20 offspring from the selected sire are sold each year and that five daughters are kept for replacements each of the three years the bull is used. Each of the 15 daughters produce five offspring before they are in turn replaced.

The average weaning weight of the daughter's offspring, beginning when they are three years of age and producing for five more years, should average about 12 3/4 pounds. Add to this the increased weight of the calves sold and you come up with the $389 or $445 increase for the 7-year period, explains the county agent.

Gooch said this information is Agricultural Extension Service contained in a very recent Texas publication, L-681, "Pay more for Beef Herd Bull." The leaflet was written by Tom Prater, farm management specialist and L. A. Maddox, animal husbandman.

Copies of the publication are available, Gooch said, at his office.

HEAVY MILKERS RAISE BIGGER CALVES

Cows that give more milk, wean bigger calves.

Agricultural researchers at Texas A&M University report their findings show the amount of milk produced by a cow has the single most important effect on weaning weight of the calf.

Recent tests at Texas A&M's agricultural experiment stations give some insight into milk production of various breeds and crossbred cattle, according to J. K. Riggs, professor in the Department of Animal Science at A&M.

In the A&M tests, Hereford cows bred by Hereford bulls, gave just over 7 pounds of milk a day and weaned calves 408 pounds. Brahman cows bred to Brahman bulls gave nearly 9 pounds of milk a day and weaned calves at 370 pounds.

Santa Gertrudis cows bred to a Santa Gertrudis bull gave over 13 pounds of milk a day and weaned calves at over 500 pounds—and Riggs points out these calves were slightly younger than the other calves at weaning.

On the crossbred side of the fence, when Hereford-Brahman cows were bred to a Brahman bull, the cows gave over 13 pounds of milk and weaned calves at 422 pounds.

When Hereford-Brahman cows were bred to Hereford bulls, the cows gave nearly 13 pounds of milk and weaned calves that averaged 489 pounds.

According to Riggs, research has brought out the following: Milk yield is significantly affected by breed or cross of cow, age of cow, and sex of the calf nursing the cow.

Mature cows produce the most milk and wean the heaviest calves. First-calf heifers produce the least milk and wean the lightest calves.

Cows with bull calves produce more milk than cows with heifer calves. Bull and steer calves are heavier than heifer calves at weaning time.

Arthur J. Edwards, Sr., of The University of Texas Industrial and Business Training Bureau, is on leave this year to go to Saudi Arabia, where he will introduce modern supervisory training concepts in the Arabian petroleum industry.

To all of you who remembered me with cards and flowers and expressed their kindness and thoughtfulness in so many ways, I extend my sincere thanks. Words can not express my deep appreciation for all that has been done for me.

Locals Attend State Farm Bureau Meeting

Pete Land and Jay Gould returned November 17th from Corpus Christi where they attended the State Convention of the Texas Farm Bureau November 13th thru the 16th as voting delegates from Donley County.

Neither Pete nor Jay had been in Corpus Christi before, and they were quite impressed with the city, as well as the convention. Pete has a cousin, Bob Walker living there, and he and his wife made their stay more interesting by showing them the sights and treating them to a fine sea food dinner at a swanky restaurant overlooking the bay.

According to Jay and Pete though, their time was so fully occupied by a convention that there was just about time to eat and sleep, and not much time to do anything else without missing some of the events. There were about 2000 delegates there, over 800 of which were voting delegates from more than 150 counties. Jay says that anyone who doesn't think that the Farm Bureau isn't a democratic organization run by farmers and ranchers would have their ideas changed by attending one of these conventions. It is here that all of the policies and resolutions are adopted or rejected by a majority vote of the voting delegates. To qualify as a voting delegate, one must derive over 50% of his income from agricultural pursuits. To be considered at the convention, all resolutions have to be sent in to the Resolutions Committee by the county Farm Bureaus before the State Convention. There they are grouped and printed so that each voting delegate has a copy to study before and during the business sessions.

Pete and Jay agreed that the most controversial resolution that came up during this convention was: "We endorse and support a voluntary check-off program on research and promotion for cotton. We believe that the COTTON RESEARCH AND PROMOTION ORDER to be voted on Dec. 5th-9th by cotton producers provides for a compulsory check-off on cotton and is directly contrary to Farm Bureau Philosophy and Policy." They said there was a well organized group who tried to substitute the word "Voluntary" for "Compulsory" and put a "not" between "is" and "directly", which would have reversed the meat of this resolution. Jay said that it took from about 10:00 a.m. until almost 1:00 p.m. to bring this amendment to a vote. It was voted down by about a 5 to 1 margin, and the original resolution passed. The issue was not the $1.00 per bale check-off, but this law would make the Secretary of Agriculture all powerful, and this is what the majority were afraid of, and thus want the Cotton Producers to vote "No" on the referendum December 5th to 9th.

Another important piece of business transacted, Jay said, was the election of Dee Coleman from Wellington as Director for District One to replace the late Moody Womble. Dee is both a farmer and a rancher and should be able to represent this District well on the State Board.

TO THE PEOPLE OF THE 18TH DISTRICT

By Congressman Walter Rogers

FARM EXPORTS HIT A NEW HIGH

Dear Fellow Texan: An increasing volume of American food fiber is being sold abroad. The amount is truly astonishing. Latest figures, for the fiscal year ended June 30, show that the export market accounted for nearly two-thirds of U. S. wheat and of hides and skins, nearly half the rice sales, nearly half the grain sorghum sales, about two fifths of soybean and tallow production, nearly one third of the corn sales, about a quarter of tobacco and barley sales, and one-fifth of the sales of cotton.

The strength of our agricultural exports is good news for American farmers and for the economy generally. The value of farm exports reached a new record high in the last fiscal year—$6.7 billion, up 10 percent from the previous year's total.

Texas and California, with agricultural exports totaling $495 million each, ranked among the fifty States behind only Illinois, which accounted for $666 million in sales abroad. Other leading States and their totals are Iowa, $426 million; Kansas, $392 million; Indiana, $317 million; and North Carolina, $306 million.

U. S. and world exports of wheat and flour reached a record volume in the last fiscal year. Exports had a total value of $1.4 billion. In bushels, 859 million were sent abroad—a new record. Japan was the leading dollar buyer of U. S. wheat, $114 million worth. India, where famine threatened, received 262 million bushels value that $430 million. Exports of feed grains totaled $1,351,000,000, more than 40 percent higher than the previous year. Dollar exports accounted for more than 90 percent of this total. The primary factor in the rise of feed grain exports has been a continuing expansion in livestock feeding, especially in Western Europe and Japan. As in wheat sales, Japan was the largest dollar purchaser of feed grains—$233 million worth. Shipments to countries under government programs were higher than in the previous year but were only 8 percent of total feed grain exports, and half the total shipped under food-aid programs went to India.

Unfortunately, the export market for cotton—another crop in which Panhandle farmers have a vital interest—continued to decline. Cotton exports totaled 3,065,000 bales, with a value of $386 million. The volume was one-third less than in the previous fiscal year and the lowest total since the fiscal year of 1955-56. According to the Agriculture Department, the decline reflects primarily a reduction of foreign Free World stocks in anticipation of lower world prices next season. Man-made fibers continue to give cotton severe competition in developed countries. Japan, again, was the largest dollar buyer of U. S. cotton, but the total declined to $92 million from $123 million a year earlier.

It is obvious that the export market is of major importance to U. S. farmers, who now supply Philippine Republic, Australia, Canada, Mexico, New Zealand, and Denmark. Primarily, however, the imported items are competitive with those produced by the American farmers. While I recognize the need to import in order to export, I would very much like to see a reduction of imports in such foodstuffs as sugar and beef and meat—commodities our American farmers and ranchers are fully able to produce in abundance to their benefit and the country's.

With rising populations and growing famine threats in the world, America's vast agricultural productive capacity is going to supply increasing proportions of the world's needs as well as our own.

Bulldogs Drop Two; Out For First Win

Coach's Comments
by Coach Lawrence Overcast

The Clarendon College Bulldogs dropped game number two Monday night, losing to highly-rated Dallas Baptist 69-59. Game jitters and failure to pull off the big play has cost the Bulldogs two consecutive defeats to two powerful ball clubs.

In the Dallas ballgame, the Bulldogs were victimized by the All-American Dave "The Rave" Nash, their 6'10", 250 pound jumping jack. Nash is known as the Bill Russell of junior college basketball. He scored 23 points, pulled down 23 rebounds, blocked 15 shots, and held our post men, Tom Byrd and Leslie City to a combined total of 8 points.

The key which allowed the Bulldogs to play as well as they did was their outstanding defense. This was one of the best defensive games the Bulldogs have ever played, with every boy giving a terrific performance. We were three points down at the half and again toward the end of the game, with only two minutes to play, when the boys began to falter. The pressure of playing against so much height began to take its toll in fouls. We lost some key personnel when it was time to bid for victory.

Rick Vidauri was outstanding on both offense and defense. Roy Holloway and David Kendrick were superb in their handling of Dallas' All-American guard, Wendell Hart. Leslie City and Tom Byrd had the toughest work of all trying to contain Big Dave Nash, and they did a superb job.

The Bulldogs may jump out of the frying pan into the fire when they travel to Lamar, Colorado, for a Thanksgiving holiday double-header. We will be taking on two more top-rated teams in the nation when we play Lamar College and Trinidad. Both teams are as large as the two we just played.

On December 30, we play another nationally top-rated team when Murray State from Tishomingo, Oklahoma will invade Bulldog territory. This is a Wednesday night ballgame which has been set for 8:30 so that it will not interfere with church meetings.

We leave the following morning for South Plains College at Levelland for a three-day tournament. We will play a 2:00 game against Hill County Jr. College from Hillsboro. The outcome of that game will determine against whom we will compete. We will return on December 5 to play the West Texas State Frosh in Bulldog Fieldhouse and then travel to Lawton the following day to play Cameron Jr. College, the tallest junior college in the nation—6'11", 6'10" and 6'9". So our fans have some idea of the gruelling days that are ahead for our Bulldogs.

Donley County Farm Bureau Wins Award

Donley was the lucky county of the Texas State Convention by being the County drawn to receive $350.00 expense money towards a trip for one or more delegates to the National Farm Bureau Federation Convention in Las Vegas, Nevada, starting Dec. 4th.

This drawing was to reward those counties making at least 25 gain in membership during 1966, and was done this way. In the District Caucuses, each County had its name in a capsule, and one capsule for each 25 member gain was placed in a jar. Thus those counties making the most gain in membership had the greater chance of winning. For example, Hall County had 173 gain in membership and had six capsules in the jar, and Donley County had 43 gain and had only one capsule in the jar. At the first drawing, Gray County was drawn, but since they did not have a delegate at the convention, Gray County was not eligible and a second name was drawn. Donley was the lucky one. This meant that Donley County would win one of three prizes, as thirteen prizes were to be given away. First prize, a $350.00 trip to Las Vegas to the National Convention; Two second prizes of $150.00 savings bond each; and a set of SafeMark tires for each of the other Districts not winning the first three prizes. District one was drawn for the Las Vegas trip, making Donley County winner of that trip.

FIVE RURAL ACCIDENTS IN COUNTY DURING OCTOBER

The Texas Highway Patrol investigated 5 accidents on rural highways in Donley County during the month of October, according to Sergeant J. W. Wilson, Highway Patrol Supervisor of this area.

These crashes resulted in two persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $3,810.00.

The rural accident summary for this county during the first ten months of 1966, shows a total of 59 accidents resulting in 9 persons killed, 32 persons injured, and an estimated property damage of $45,145.00.

Get the jump on the winter month by having your vehicle safety inspected by an authorized garage to assure its safe mechanical performance. Then have your car "winterized" by checking the following items: anti-freeze in radiator, battery, an engine tune-up, brakes, exhaust system, tires, windshield wipers, lights, turn signals, horn and defrosters. For an extra measure be sure you have ice scrapers, snow tires or tire chains.

The Sergeant said "Today's inspection is tomorrow's protection."

TRANSFER OF 1967 COTTON ALLOTMENT

The final date to file application for the transfer of 1967 cotton allotments is December 31, 1966. A cotton producer may transfer his allotment by sale or lease from one farm within the county, transfer by sale or lease from other counties to Donley County.

FARM OPERATOR AND OWNERSHIP CHANGES

Because of the ASCS definition of a farm, it is very important that this office is promptly notified of any change in operation of your farm. This includes sale of land, purchase of land, change of operator, etc. It is your responsibility to keep us informed of these changes as failure to do so could seriously affect your eligibility to participate in the farm programs.

NEW AERIAL PHOTOGRAPHS

New aerial photographs are scheduled to be flown for the Texas Panhandle in the immediate future. Terraces, fences, and other boundaries can be better detected if they are outlined by fresh plowed strips.

allocation of funds; he would have control over the content of promotional materials developed, thus giving him power to censor any advertising or promotional materials developed under the cotton program.

The question has been asked:

"Why has the proposal been amended to shift control of the program from the producer to the Secretary of Agriculture?" If the power of the federal government is used to raise money to finance a program, it is obvious that the government will insist on the right to control the program.

The law prohibits the use of funds collected under the check-off program from being used for public policy, legislative or political activities but as a practical matter it would be most difficult to keep the program from becoming entangled in political and legislative matters in appointments, etc.

A successful program is now being handled by the Cotton Producers Institute in regard to research and promotion; however, a more concentrated effort on the part of all cotton producers would do much to further efforts now being made.

For added information read Cotton Check-Off in another section of this issue of the paper. Consider the question well before giving up more of your freedoms. Balloting will be by mail through county ASCS offices beginning December 5 and continuing through December 9. Should one man have all of this power given him? ?
