THINGS MADE IN TEXAS MAKES TEXAS

From the cradle to the grave, in business, industry, the home, the school, the office—you can find Texas-made products to fill your need.

A check-list of products turned out by Texas factories compiled by the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research—the fourth Directory of Texas Manufacturers, just off the press—reveals 5,326 types of articles, produced by more than 9,000 firms.

Your children can play with Texas-made toys, use Texas-manufactured school supplies—and at the other end of the life span, when your loved ones die, you can obtain Texas-made caskets, undertakers' supplies and, unknown to most Texans, monuments made from Texas granites and marbles.

After all, you can't buy things "made in Texas" unless you know what the articles or trade marks are. In fact the most important item—advertising—has been left out. For this reason, Iowa honey gets the same break in the grocery as does Texas honey. The same applies to other articles, says a well known business man.

AS TO PRICE FIXING

It is odd coincidence that while a committee of the Texas Senate, headed by W. C. Graves of Dallas, is holding a hearing this week on the ill-advised bill to enact a price-fixing bill under their allegation that it is a Fair Trade Act, the Federal Congress will consider a request filed on March 8 by the United States Attorney General's Department for repeal of the national so-called Fair Trade Act. Texas is one of the few states which have wisely so far refused to pass the price-fixing law which the Miller-Tydings Amendment to the Sherman Antitrust Act allows to operate. It is this amendment which Thurman Arnold, the Assistant United States Attorney General in charge of enforcing the antitrust laws, asks to be repealed.

Thurman Arnold bases the need for repeal on the fact that the Miller-Tydings Amendment prevents prosecution of numerous instances of price-rigging and exploitation of the consumer. These have occurred in every state where the so-called fair trade acts are passed, permitting price-fixing. Instances will occur in Texas if the two bills under consideration, the fair trade act and the antitrust-leader act, are given an OK by the Legislature.

Quite honest retailers, especially in the drug business, contend that the fair trade act is not a price-fixing law because it fixes only a minimum price. Yet what other price do you have to fix to have the consumer at your mercy and to stop artificially the consumer's benefit from the ordinarily competitive working of the laws of supply and demand? Small retailers aim at one type of competition in the proposed law but the actual target is the Texas consumer.—Dallas News.

Dr. Webb's medical kit stolen at Hedley Saturday night was found beside the highway near Pampa Monday. Continuing on to Pampa, the doctor went to a wrecking yard and asked to purchase a casing for his auto to replace one that had been stolen from him at the same time the kit was taken. Imagine his surprise when he was offered his own casing, with every assurance that "it would fit his make of car." He asked where they had gotten it. Two men in the yard were pointed out to the doctor who immediately called the sheriff who arrested the men. They confessed the theft at once.

In the issue of March 31, 1931 from which these notes are taken, your Leader "scooped the world" on the death of Knute Rockne, famous football coach. The day was Tuesday, the Leader being published on Tuesdays for the first few years. W. C. Stewart heard the broadcast of Rockne's death, came to the Leader office and stated that "Knute Rockne, pilot Bob Frey and five others had just fallen near Cottonwood Falls, Kansas. All were killed. The article was commented upon by the daily press over the nation as a "story that first appeared in the Donley County Leader, a Panhandle Texas weekly.

As the champion "stayer-out-late" husband, your attention is called to the item below culled from the Lavonia, Georgia weekly.

Ben F. Fagan, living four miles north of Lavonia, has recently made a trip to Benton, Ark., where he saw his father, Wm. T. Fagan, for the first time. The father left Georgia and his Georgia wife about 50 years ago, three months before his son, Ben was born. He had never been back and the son learning of his whereabouts arranged a trip to see him.

A very talented lady hands in this idea of "national home life". The wife is the "secretary of the treasury." The mother-in-law is the "secretary of war." The cook is merely the "secretary of the interior." Where does the husband come in? Why, that poor cuss is just the "public" who pays the taxes!

Marriage is like a poker game. He shows a diamond, she shows a flush and they end up with a full house.

Did you know that we have musical talent in old Donley, and lots of it? Did you know that we have those who have the talent to write real verse? Poetry is the music of the soul, some great writer tells us. Below we give you a beautiful thought penned by the talented Mrs. S. G. Adamson of Hedley.

A PATCHWORK QUILT
The snow has spread a patchwork quilt
Upon the distant hills.
This masterpiece of nature's hand
The quest for beauty fills.

The patchwork quilt is done in hues
So very soft and mellow.
The colors run from white and brown
To cornfield-stubble yellow.

The patchwork quilt so softly folds
The hills in its embrace
That of the barren waste-lands
We can not find a trace.

A border for the patchwork quilt
That's draped across the hills
Appears on the horizon,
A mass of purple frills.

I especially like "cornfield-stubble yellow."

Mrs. Adamson has her choice of colors, and drew her inspiration in writing the above from the recent snow.

The gossip in a small town is about the same as in a big town, except that it is more unanimous.

Frankly, we can't sympathize with John R. Brinkley too much. He has had a fortune teller lambasting the public over his radio station for ten years or so. Why in heck didn't Mel Roy or Rose Dawn do something about wising up old John?

LOOKING AHEAD . . . .

Today our American ideals are threatened with destruction. Clear thinking and decisive action are necessary. Ordinary business operations must be sacrificed for the requirements of the army and navy. Speed—speed in aid to Britain, speed in defense construction, speed in fitting ourselves for self-denial—is necessary that the struggle of our forefathers be not in vain.

Northwest Texas is getting ready. This bank is anxious to provide every possible assistance to the defense program.

Did you ever hear anything so perfectly stunning?" exclaimed the daughter of the house as she tuned the radio on to a new jazz tune.
"No," replied her father. "The nearest thing I ever heard to it was when a truck loaded with empty milk cans had a collision with another truck that was loaded with hogs."
A local lady had spent the morning watching some new folks move into the neighborhood. Her husband came home to lunch and she was still at the window, and remarked: "They don't have a radio, a dog, an ice box, any kids or a car. I wonder what they do have?" Her husband grunted, sarcastically. "They probably have a bank account, then."

One of the most entrancing Arizona drives is through "The Dells," Yavapai county playground on U. S. Highway 89 a few miles north of Prescott. Here nature has spread with a lavish hand a myriad of wild flowers, beautiful shrubs and trees surrounded by imposing and fantastic formations of towering granite. Carveth Wells, famed world traveler once said, "You could lose the Garden of the Gods in The Dells and never miss it." Sunset and sunrise at The Dells present a vista of indescribable splendor as shafts of pure gold caress to glistening granite structures.

Donley County's Water Survey

The Federal Government has authorized the expenditure of $2,741.00 and the Sponsors, the Texas State Board of Water Engineers and Donley County, $378.00 for the operation of an Under-ground Water Survey of this county. The main portion of these monies will be expended on laborers. At the present time there are 10 men assigned to the project exclusive of the project supervisor.

The Donley County Commissioners Court is furnishing a truck for transporting the workers to the field. We might add here that the truck currently furnished is one of the best transportation trucks furnished this or any other project in the State.

Except for delay caused by inclement weather the project should be completed by the last of June or early in July.

To date the following information has been gathered; data on 200 water wells; 17 springs; and 75 earthen tanks. 25 test wells have been drilled and careful logs made of each. The depth of certain of the wells exceeds 75 feet.

Records are now complete on the City of Clarendon's water consumption during the past 13 years. During that time over 700 million gallons of water have been pumped by the two city wells alone.

WATCHES MANY YEARS OLD.

The recent prizes offering of a Lubbock jeweler, seeking to locate the oldest watches in this part of the west, recently brought to light two watches in Floydada that ought to have long chin whiskers. One of these is the property of Fred N. Clark. He inherited the heirloom from an uncle who died a few years ago. The watch has been in the family connectoin for 118 years. It was made in Geneva, Switzerland and is set with a key and also wound with a key. With black Roman numerals, it has a conventional design carved on the face.

However, the watch that takes the cake is one belonging to Mrs. L. H. Newell. This has an established age of 145 years—made in Liverpool, England. It was owned by one of Mrs. Newell's grandfathers and has been in the family ever since. A notation on the watch indicates that it was cleaned and repaired in 1815, seventeen years after it was made. Mrs. Newell's watch was awarded second place in the prize offering, the first prize watch being one with an established age of 250 years.

SIDE GLANCES ON TEXAS HISTORY

By Charles O. Hucker
University of Texas Library

"If you kill me it will be like a spark in the prairie—make big fire! burn heap!"

A jury of Texas frontiersmen once sat in court at the little town of Jacksboro and deliberated the fate of an Indian who threw that threat in their faces, University of Texas Library records show.

It was in 1871, when Jacksboro was still a frontier town. The Indian was Satanta, veteran council chief of the Kiowas, who with another chief, Big Tree, had led a raid in which seven Americans were massacred. These were the first Indian chieftains ever tried in an American civil court—and Satanta dared the white men to convict him.

It was perhaps the most dramatic trial in the history of Texas—and so significant that finally the president of the United States had to step in to settle the case.

According to the principles of justice, there was no question about it. For two years the Kiowas had preserved a peace which Satanta himself had made with the United States government; and now Satanta and Big Tree with 150 warriors had attacked a wagon train, killed and scalped six drivers outright, tied a seventh to a wheel of a burning wagon—and had come to Fort Sill to boast of it.

Immediately General W. T. Sherman, who was then in the territory, had clapped them in irons. And there he kept them, despite the pleas and threats of Kicking Bird, the greatest of the Kiowa chiefs, who personally came to demand their release.

So early in July Satanta and Big Tree were shipped down to Jacksboro for trial. On the fifth it got under way before an audience which included directly a packed court room and indirectly the rest of the nation. Two Indian chiefs on trial was a curiosity in itself; and when that trial might presumably touch off a general Indian uprising, it was of significance to everyone in the country.

With the formal evidence presented—Satanta himself had admitted his guilt at Fort Sill—the jury was ready to retire.

But then, dramatically, Satanta rose to have his say. Still handcuffed, he spoke in the Comanche language, common among the plains Indians, and thundered his threat into the face of the court.

"I am a big chief, among my people," he said, "and I have great influence among the warriors of my tribe. They know my voice and will hear my word. If you will let me go back to my people, I will withdraw my warriors from Tehanna. I will take them all across the Red River, and that shall be the line between us and the pale faces. I will wash out the spots of blood and make it a white land; there shall be peace, and the Tehannas may plow and drive their oxen to the banks of the river."

That was his bargain, and this was his challenge:

"But if you kill me it will be like a spark in the prairie—make big fire! burn heap!"

It was with that threat in their minds that these frontiersmen retired to reach a decision. They knew—and the nation knew—what responsibility was upon them. Their deliberation was short. And when the foreman gave their verdict to the court it was—murder in the first degree, punishable by death!

It is said that, after a deep, wondering silence of several minutes, joy broke forth in that court room. However, subsequent pressure and the danger of shaky Indian relations brought commutation to life imprisonment from Governor E. J. Davis, then an outright parole from U. S. President Grant. Satanta and Big Tree were released.

Thus the possibility of outright war between the Indians and the white men was apparently averted for the time.

To end the story, however—it happened that Satanta so flagrantly violated his parole that in 1874 he had to be taken to the Texas state penitentiary; and there shortly afterward he either committed suicide or broke his neck trying to escape.

100 Years Ago in Texas
The Congress of the Republic of Texas had just passed a bill providing for a postal service throughout the nation. Thirty-four mail routes were planned, each to be run weekly by the lowest bidder for the particular job.

4-H Club Boys Have Big Job

The enrollment of 4-H club boys in Texas in 1940 was 34,038, the peak in the history of the work, with 19,703 completing their demonstrations. L. L. Johnson and J. W. Potts, state boys' club agents, report the number of 4-H clubs in the state as 2,068 with 2,511 adult leaders and 421 older boys helping with the guidance of the clubs.

County agricultural agents trained 312 judging teams and 259 demonstration teams. Moreover, 307 4-H achievement days were held with 47,576 attending; 277 4-H camps held with 16,996 boys attending; 85 counties had 4-H county councils; 46 counties used a county 4-H handbook; 1,056 boys attended the short course, and 2,489 attended district encampments.

The state agents report that 27,137 boys were enrolled in livestock demonstrations, including 2,338 in dairy cattle; 5,242 beef cattle; 1,463 sheep; 11,049 swine and 4,995 in poultry.

In 1940, 190 4-H livestock shows were held with 16,552 animals exhibited, and total premiums of $32,035.05 were earned. Beef cattle, with $15,797.46, took the major share of the premiums, with other demonstrations in this order: Swine, $6,075.61; sheep, $4,157.48; dairy cattle, $4,090.30 and poultry, $1,914.20.

Sales resulting from the shows brought a total of $362,015.20, with beef animals again leading. Classified, the sales were: 4,505 beef calves weighing 2,679,149 pounds, brought $286,832.43; 3,430 sheep, weighing 241,684 pounds, $29,172.50; 5,721 swine, weighing 688,684 pounds, $39,934.43; 1,686 dairy cattle, $2,917.65, and 10,203 poultry $3,258.19.

These figures, other than for beef calves, include only the livestock which was sold after the shows, and the small sales and weights per animal in several of the different classes of livestock were due to all breeding animals retained by the boys.

Other demonstrations include 2,647 boys enrolled in cotton club work, with 4,623 acres producing 2,806,358 pounds of seed cotton of improved varieties; 3,397 boys conducted corn demonstrations of 4,252 acres and produced 100,511 bushels of corn, and 1,072 conducted grain sorghum demonstrations on 3,207 acres with 64,803 bushels of grain produced.

Two boys attended the National 4-H club camp at Washington; six attended the National Dairy show at Harrisburg, Pa., and 35, the Club Congress at Chicago.

Three motion pictures made in the state by the 4-H club agents in 1940 dealt with commercial feeding and marketing of 4-H club livestock, the trip to the National 4-H club camp, and with 4-H activities in district seven.

Lawmakers Hit False Labor Racketeers

There was a loud acclaim of approval of the Gov. O'Daniel emergency labor bill by the Senate state affairs committee Tuesday. The bill already had the approval of the House. No other bill in years has aroused such enthusiastic support.

The action followed an appeal by Brig. Gen. Preston A. Weathered of the Texas National guard to pass the bill as an aid to the nation's defense program and objections by organized labor representatives who said it was not needed in Texas and was too far-reaching.

A House committee is already investigating just why a worker must pay a racketeer a fee to cite him to a job in the defense camps of the state. They also want to know why labor racketeers exact fees of fifty to two hundred dollars of workers for membership in the CIO before they are permitted to go on a job.

Rep. Lester Boone of Ft. Worth stated that there had been "a great deal of criticism recently with reference to certain actions of the state labor commissioner's office." A committee was appointed to investigate that department, "either to spike the rumors or, if true, to do something about it," Boone said.

This instrument, the Radioclast, is the means by which disease in any part of the body is detected. Scientifically, it is one of the greatest discoveries of the day, and is the finest and latest instrument of its kind on the market. In making an examination with this instrument no question will be asked, but you will be told what your trouble is, where it is, its intensity and the procedure for correction.

If you or any member of your family are ill, or feel that you have some unknown cause for suffering, it will pay you to attend this clinic regardless of any examination you may have had in the past. A nominal fee will be charged for each examination. IF YOU ARE NOT SATISFIED WITH THE EXAMINATION, YOUR MONEY WILL BE REFUNDED.

James Stewart and Hedy Lamarr Co-Star in "Come Live With Me"

One of Hollywood's best all-around casts, coupled with Hollywood's ablest director, contribute the talent on view in "Come Live with Me," co-starring James Stewart and Hedy Lamarr, directed by Clarence Brown and opening at The Pastime Theatre's Saturday night Prevue for an engagement of three days.

The amusing story deals with the plight of a beautiful Austrian refugee who is forced to make a choice between marrying some American citizen, thus obtaining a quota number, or being deported to her native Austria. She chooses the former, proposes to a penniless young author portrayed by James Stewart, and then proceeds to become involved in too many romantic entanglements.

Stewart proves an ideal choice for the young author who decides to throw upon real life experience and rely upon real life experience for his plots. It is Stewart's first picture since completing a leading role opposite Katharine Hepburn in "The Philadelphia Story."

Miss Lamarr, as the refugee, displays a new side to her glamorous personality in a role which requires the utmost of her talent. Of particular interest to women will be her elaborate but practical wardrobe, comprising fifteen changes in all, designed by Adrian.

The strong supporting cast includes Ian Hunter, seen recently in "Gallant Sons," as the publisher. As his wife is Verree Teasdale, remembered for her work in "I Take This Woman," starring Spencer Tracy and Miss Lamarr.

Others include Donald Meek, Barton MacLane, Edward Ashley, Ann Codee, King Baggot and Mrs. Adeline de Walt Reynolds, eighty years old, who makes her screen debut as Stewart's grandmother.

Harve Wilson, Hedy's druggist, was in town Wednesday.

Facts About Texas Wildlife And Its Conservation

(Issued by Game, Fish and Oyster Commission, Austin, Texas.)

Texas wildlife resources are valued at approximately $93,000,000 annually.

Texas sportsmen each year spend $25,000,000 for guns, ammunition, fishing equipment, clothing, automobiles, gasoline, food, hotel accommodations, and other goods and services necessary to hunting and fishing trips.

Texas hunters shoot more shotgun shells than those of any other state—almost one-tenth of the total shot in the entire Nation.

Texas is among the first five Deer and Wild Turkey States of the Union. Last year approximately 30,000 bucks and thousands of Turkey Gobblers were killed, with no damage to the seed stock.

Texas has more landowners in the business of producing game for profit than any other State. Nearly 2,000 landowners operated licensed Shooting Preserves covering 6,815,509 acres during the last fiscal year. And this is only a fraction of the acreage devoted to the production of game each year.

Texas has a greater variety of climate and environment than any other State, and as a result has more species of bird and animal life. The song and ornamental birds of Texas are worth $40,000,000 annually to agriculture, because of their destruction of insects and other pests.

The Game, Fish and Oyster Commission operates 10 State Fish Hatcheries, which last year produced 7,454,962 fish for distribution, an increase of 36½ per cent over 1939, when 5,115,761 fish were distributed. Improved methods of fish production along scientific lines were responsible for the increase. No less than 85 per cent of the fish produced at the Hatcheries are distributed each year to public lakes and streams of the State.

The Texas coast is 400 miles long as the Crow flies, but counting islands, bays and inlets it has a 2,000-mile shoreline—a wonderful feeding ground for fish and waterfowl.

Shrimp is the major marine crop of Texas. Approximately 12,000,000 pounds are taken annually.

Texas was among the first States in the Nation to qualify for Federal aid in game management work, the Federal government furnishing a maximum of $150,000 annually which was to be matched by the State in the ratio of 1 to 3. Work was started in 1938, when the Department launched a five-year research and demonstration program dealing with game, the first of its kind attempted in the United States with these Federal funds, which were made available by the passage of the Pittman-Robertson Act. The program is still in progress, with 26 technically trained biologists in the field studying the life habits of Texas wildlife and recommending and putting into effect measures that will increase the supply of game birds and game animals.

With the cooperation of landowners, sportsmen and other nature-lovers, Game Managers and biologists of the Department are now improving habitats and in other ways bettering the condition of quail, antelope, deer, wild turkey, Desert big-horn mountain sheep, and other species on 292 separate areas which have a grand total of 3,536,832 acres of land. These projects also are being financed chiefly by Pittman-Robertson funds. The Texas game management program, only three years old and just now taking shape, promises to reward the years to come.

Much more could be accomplished if funds were available. Texas is first in wildlife resources, first in area, and fifth in population, but ranks 23rd among the States in the amount of money provided for wildlife conservation. Conservation funds come mainly from hunting and fishing licenses. Under the present law, resident hunting and fishing licenses are required in only 21 of the 254 Counties in the State.

Distribution of game from regions having a surplus to other parts of the State where the supply has been depleted, is one of the major functions of the Game Department. Last year 20,400 bobwhite quail, 420 white-tailed deer, 551 wild turkeys and 40 beaver were thus distributed. In addition, many antelope were trapped in West Texas—in fact a total of 775 of these animals have been trapped and removed to better ranges over West Texas in the last three years. If these operations continue to be successful, the day may come within a few years when it will be possible to have a restricted open season on antelope.

OLD BOSS EVER FAITHFUL TO HER TEXAS MASTER

AUSTIN—Texas farmers sent the equivalent of 1,142,402,000 (billion) pounds of Texas-produced milk to dairy plants last year to be converted into creamery butter, ice cream and American cheese.

This consumption of raw milk—estimated by the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research—was almost two billion pounds larger than during the preceding year.

Milk destined to be consumed as butter, ice cream and cheese totaled 69,575,000 pounds during February, up almost 3,000,000 pounds over February, 1940.

Production of these dairy products during February totaled 2,450,000 pounds of butter, 583,000 gallons of ice cream and 793,000 pounds of cheese. This output represented a 21.5 per cent gain in ice cream, 3.9 per cent gain in butter, but an 11 per cent decline in cheese.

MM Simplicity Is a Money Making Factor

Cultivator Facts for Your Benefit

Simplicity of Assembly—Only three slip pins are needed to mount each gang. A 2-row cultivator can be made into a 4-row cultivator by merely adding two outside gangs.

Simplicity of Construction—The individual cultivator gangs are supported through the parallel links by a heavy 2½" square pipe which is attached flexibly to the tractor. Note the wide use of steel construction.

Quick Action—Power lift raises or lowers gangs quickly at row ends. 2 and 4-row power lift cultivator and 2-row hand lift cultivator are available.

Easy Row Spacing Adjustment is accomplished by merely sliding gangs along gang frame pipe as desired.

Giles Day Is Play Day

April first may be "all fools day" in history, but it was "play day" for three rural schools at Giles Tuesday. The pupils of the McKnight, Jericho and Martin schools joined with the Giles school at their building to observe the day.

Each pupil took a lunch, for what is more important to a growing boy or girl than something to eat? During the forenoon, they played school games including soft ball. In the afternoon, the greater portion of the pupils joined in singing.

In addition to the games, a program was rendered in the forenoon.

Approximately three hundred pupils and adults joined in the festivities. With such good results, the "consolidation for a day" may be tried again. The Giles school invited the other rural schools of the county to join them for the first try-out.

O'Daniel Warns Bogus Labor Leaders

AUSTIN, April 2—Cotton picking on Texas' 75,000 acres of state prison farms was the prospect held out by Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel today to "wild-eyed labor-leader agitators."

A warning that they would find themselves working there if they attempted to "take charge of Texas" was part of a radio broadcast delivered by the governor.

He read his proposed anti-strike bill and said predictions in Hitler's "Mein Kampf" and Communist instructions to take charge of industries were being carried out.

The anti-strike law, he said, protects the individual's right to work and to quit when he wants to do so.

"We have plenty of idle hands in Texas anxious for jobs," O'Daniel said. "Enough of those idle hands to keep all the wheels of industry turning 24 hours per day and seven days per week, if necessary, and we intend to keep the wheels turning, and if any of these wild-eyed labor-leader agitators drifting into Texas are going to take charge of Texas and stop our industries from running, they have another guess coming."

"They had better conduct their activities in some other state because we are not going to stand for their foolishness here in Texas."

"We have 75,000 acres of state prison farms, and that will take care of a lot of that kind of racketeers, and that is where they will find themselves—picking cotton if they come down here and violate our laws."

O'Daniel read a soldier's letter praising the bill. It said: "All of us in the regular army reserve had jobs better than those men (strikers) have and we took an awful cut in pay, and if we were even to mention quitting or going on a strike we would be called traitors and be thrown in the guard house. There is no reason why those men should not be treated the same as us. In fact every man who strikes should be made to join the army at $21 per month with no chance of advancement and made to stay there until it is all over."

O'Daniel praised the House for its passage of the bill last week and predicted that the Senate will pass it "with an overwhelming majority."

The Senate state affairs committee unanimously approved the measure Tuesday. The Bill is expected to be ready, and get, the Governor's signature any moment. The Senate is expected to act upon the measure at once.
