February 6 deadline to file for county office

February 6 at 6:00 p.m. is the deadline to file for a county office. A person must file with his or her county political chairman. The Democratic County Chairman is Mary Cooke and the Republican County Chairman is James F. Hayes.

A filing fee of $300 is required for the following offices that are up for election: County Judge, District and County Clerk, County Treasurer and County Commissioners of Precincts 2 and 4. The filing fee for Justice of the Peace places Clarendon and Hedley is $200.00.

The filing fee for candidates seeking county offices is set by the state. Filing fees are set at a rate high enough to actually cover the cost of two elections should the need for a run-off election occur. Any monies on hand at the close of the primary is to be sent to the State of Texas or may be retained in a bank fund to accrue interest.

To run for office in Donley County, a person must be a citizen, be mentally competent, not have been convicted of a felon (unless full rights of citizenship have been restored), be eighteen by the time one starts his term in office and have resided in the county six months prior to the election.

have been a resident of Texas for one year and have a good knowledge of county government.

There are no special requirements for any of the elective offices, such as specialized schooling or college credits, at the time of election. Some special training may be necessary after assuming the duties of the office, in which case, a person would generally have one year to meet those requirements.

The first primary will be held Saturday, May 6. From February until May will be a time of campaigning for candidates and decision-making for qualified voters as to who will hold these important county offices for the next four years.

In the election for city officials, three places are vacant for City Alderman. The terms of Charles E. Deyhle, Bob Kidd and Duane Nichols each expire this year. As of present no one has filed for any of these positions. March 1 is deadline for filing for these places. No filing fee is required for the city election.

The first day to vote absentee is March 13 and the deadline for absentee balloting will be March 28.

"At home local farmers relate AAM actions in Washington"

Local farmers have returned home who traveled to Washington, D.C. last week to voice their requests for government action to put profit back into farming. Farmers who participated from the Donley County area were: Max Johnson and wife, Larry Watson, Paul Bell, Nolan Salmon and wife.

Thursday and Friday area farmers attended meetings presented by various agriculture experts regarding a variety of agriculturally related subjects i.e. foreign market development, imports, economics for different agriculture products etc.

Senators Tower, Mahon, and Hightower met with many from the Texas delegation. Max Johnson.

County American Agriculture representative, visited with Senators Lloyd Benson and Jim Wright of Dallas, and with the legislative assistant for Farm Bureau. During the two day meetings a large number of congressional aides received the flooded Capitol Hill with telegrams last Friday. Postal authorities handled 6 to 10 tons of mail on that one day which is far above normal.

Saturday the Texas delegation met and planned their strategy for future efforts of the farm movement. Presently new delegations of farmers are journeying to Washington to continue to meet with Congressmen and some to testify before the Senate Agriculture Committee. An area spokesman said farmers from Groom and Dalhart would be leaving for Washington in the next day or two. Plans are for farmer groups to continue in Washington until a bill is passed farmers can live with.

Max Johnson, when discussing the possibilities for gaining support for the movement among Congressmen, stated, "Urban Democrats representing small farm areas have their hand in the cookie jar presently. Our best hope for support of a new farm bill lies in Congressmen up for re-election."

Jack Hightower announces for re-election to Congress

Congressman Jack Hightower today announced that he has filed for re-election to Congress. His statement follows:

"Today I am announcing my candidacy for re-election to Congress from the 13th District.

"It has been a high honor to have served this area of Texas for the past three years. I will continue to do my best to represent each of you with diligence, determination and plain hard work.

"I will continue to communicate closely with citizens in all parts of this large district, to be constantly aware of your interests.

"I will continue to communicate closely with other members of Congress, to try to make them aware that our interests, and the national interest, are one. Members of Congress from urban areas, who are the majority, must be made aware that agricultural and energy producers from our area and the consumers of our products from their areas are dependent upon one another. They must be made aware that the costs of producing the food we eat, the fiber for the clothes we wear and the energy to sustain all production must be paid, and must be shared.

"Throughout the past three years much of my time and effort has been devoted to the House Agriculture Committee. No more serious problem faces our country than the plight of agriculture. The cost-price squeeze on farmers and ranchers threatens to grow steadily worse. The problem demands the full attention of the Congress and the Administration. A strong national economy is impossible without a strong agricultural economy.

During the past three years I have spoken and voted for energy proposals that would increase our energy supplies and thereby protect the interests of producers and consumers. I have spoken and voted against programs that would increase federal involvement in energy production and that would promote energy conservation through the artificial means of taxation.

"I will continue to consider myself a steward of taxpayers' money, to support expenditures only when I believe there will be a positive return on the investment. I will continue to press for greater accountability by those agencies and departments that absorb the federal budget and to curtail or eliminate those who have outlived their usefulness.

"I appreciate the support you have given me. I will try to merit your continuing support in the future."

DR. RICHARD THOMAS, Speaker

Price sworn in as State Senator

Bob Price, Republican from Pampa, was sworn in as state senator in a ceremony held at the courthouse in Amarillo January 18. Judge George Dowlen of the 181st District Court for Randall and Potter Counties administered the oath to Price.

Following the ceremony, Senator Price thanked his supervisors for their help, and then spoke about his plans.

"I intend to do my best to represent the conservative viewpoint held by the large majority of Panhandle citizens," Price said. "We want less state spending and less government interference in our daily lives, and I plan to take an active part in bringing about these results."

Senator Price, who was elected in a special election in December, announced he will have district offices in both Amarillo and Pampa.

"I welcome the advice and assistance of all citizens in my job as state senator. I invite anyone to write or stop by in person if he or she has suggestions on how to improve our state government."

Since the first "GI Bill" became effective in 1944, over 17 million veterans have taken training under some form of the VA program.

Beef production short course to be Feb. 13

A beef production short course for adult farmers will be held Feb. 13-16 under the sponsorship of the Hedley High School Vocational Agriculture Department according to Mr. Vernon Scott, Superintendent, and Mr. Doyle Messer, Teacher of Vocational Agriculture.

Dr. Richard C. Thomas, Beef Production Specialist with the Vocational Agriculture Division of the Texas Education Agency and the Department of Animal Science at Texas A&M University, will be the instructor for the course. He is headquartered at Texas A&M University.

Dr. Thomas has a strong background in animal production and genetics. He received his B.S. and M.S. degrees from Texas A&M University and his Ph.D. degree from Iowa State University. His graduate thesis was a detailed study of growth and size of cow and their affect on weaning weight of the calf.

For the past seven years Dr. Thomas was in charge of the Beef Cattle Research at the Experiment Station at McGregor. His responsibilities there included the direction of record keeping and management of an 850-cow herd that was bred totally by A.I. and of a 500-head feed lot. This entailed direct supervision of the nutrition, health and reproduction programs employed there.

The short course at Hedley is scheduled to begin Feb. 13, 1978 at 7 p.m. in the Hedley Lions Den. Other meetings in the series of 4 will be held 2-14, 15, and 16. During the dates the short course is in progress, Dr. Thomas will be available to assist cattlemen with individual problems and to provide on-the-farm instruction, according to Doyle Messer.

Cattlemen interested in attending the short course should write or call the superintendent of schools, Vernon Scott, or the teacher of agriculture, Doyle Messer. An entry fee of $5 will be charged.

Beef Production Short

enrolled. Course certificates will be presented to each cattleman who attends all the training sessions.

Dr. Thomas states that the beef cattle producers of today must take a close look at efficiency of production. Production costs such as land, feed, labor and taxes are rising without a relative increase in market values. The specialist also states that in order to deal with this type of situation, the producer must look at the costs and returns of the different types of production systems. Dr. Thomas states that considerable time will be spent during the short course looking at the potential costs and returns of some of the production systems. Selection of important characteristics such as fertility, ease of calving, size and growth will be discussed along with topics such as pregnancy diagnosis, range management, supplemental feeding and herd health. The course can be changed to meet the needs of the producers

"Short courses in beef production, as well as in other areas, are now available to farmers and ranchers throughout the state under a cooperative program between the Texas Education Agency and Texas A&M University," states Bob Jaska, associate professor, Department of Agricultural Education at Texas A&M University, who coordinates the program for Texas A&M.

"This cooperative program," states Jaska, "is designed to make the services of specialists available to conduct short courses under the supervision of public schools. Such a program will enable teachers of vocational agriculture to provide improved educational services to farm and ranch people."

Specialists are now available in the fields of beef production, farm electric wiring and safety, farm electric motors, arc welding, swine production, tractor maintenance, pasture, and oxy-acetylene welding.

Clarendon Town Meeting held

Jann Barr, from Amarillo, and Jose Griego, from Hereford, led a Town Meeting with over sixty Clarendon and Donley County citizens last Monday night in which they celebrated Clarendon's past with a story of Clarendon, and a song about Clarendon, and made plans to prepare for Clarendon's future. Clarendon Mayor, Tex Selvidge, opened the meeting with a warm welcome for all.

At the Town Meeting, held at the Lions' Club Hall from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m., a song for Clarendon was written, and proposals were made for another Town Meeting to be held on February 27, and a medical committee was established to aid the opening of the Medical Center Hospital, with a doctor.

Concerns for Clarendon's future and prosperity were voiced by the entire group. Participants were concerned primarily with the opening of the hospital, but also with the paving of Clarendon's streets, the establishment of a youth recreational center, and the seemingly poor cooperation among the town's people in civic events. All the participants left the meeting with a new pride in the town and new hope for the future of the community.

THE SONG WORKSHOP group at the Town Meeting wrote a song about Clarendon. The text follows:

OH CLARENDON TOWN TUNE: OH TANNENBAUN

Oh Clarendon town, Oh Clarendon town, the watering hole of the rolling plains. The cowboys came and prayed for rain, in churches and upon the range. The railroads came to Clarendon town and tumbleweeds were blowing 'round. Oh Clarendon town, Oh Clarendon town, the watering hole of the rolling plains.

Oh Clarendon town, Oh Clarendon town, the Athens of the rolling plains. Our water's sweet, our golf course's neat, we have a strip for airplanes.

Our Greenbelt Lake is a delight, we fish by day and fish by night. Oh Clarendon town, Oh Clarendon town, the Athens of the rolling plains.

Oh Clarendon town, Oh Clarendon town, the city with a future. We'll pave your streets, use solar heat; and paint a brighter picture. We'll keep clean air-improve your health, our well-schooled youth are our real wealth. Oh Clarendon town, Oh Clarendon town, the city with a future.

Jack Hightower announces for re-election to Congress

Congressman Jack Hightower today announced that he has filed for re-election to Congress. His statement follows:

"Today I am announcing my candidacy for re-election to Congress from the 13th District.

"It has been a high honor to have served this area of Texas for the past three years. I will continue to do my best to represent each of you with diligence, determination and plain hard work.

"I will continue to communicate closely with citizens in all parts of this large district, to be constantly aware of your interests.

"I will continue to communicate closely with other members of Congress, to try to make them aware that our interests, and the national interest, are one. Members of Congress from urban areas, who are the majority, must be made aware that agricultural and energy producers from our area and the consumers of our products from their areas are dependent upon one another. They must be made aware that the costs of producing the food we eat, the fiber for the clothes we wear and the energy to sustain all production must be paid, and must be shared.

"Throughout the past three years much of my time and effort has been devoted to the House Agriculture Committee. No more serious problem faces our country than the plight of agriculture. The cost-price squeeze on farmers and ranchers threatens to grow steadily worse. The problem demands the full attention of the Congress and the Administration. A strong national economy is impossible without a strong agricultural economy.

During the past three years I have spoken and voted for energy proposals that would increase our energy supplies and thereby protect the interests of producers and consumers. I have spoken and voted against programs that would increase federal involvement in energy production and that would promote energy conservation through the artificial means of taxation.

"I will continue to consider myself a steward of taxpayers' money, to support expenditures only when I believe there will be a positive return on the investment. I will continue to press for greater accountability by those agencies and departments that absorb the federal budget and to curtail or eliminate those who have outlived their usefulness.

"I appreciate the support you have given me. I will try to merit your continuing support in the future."

Since the first "GI Bill" became effective in 1944, over 17 million veterans have taken training under some form of the VA program.

Price sworn in as State Senator

Bob Price, Republican from Pampa, was sworn in as state senator in a ceremony held at the courthouse in Amarillo January 18. Judge George Dowlen of the 181st District Court for Randall and Potter Counties administered the oath to Price.

Following the ceremony, Senator Price thanked his supervisors for their help, and then spoke about his plans.

"I intend to do my best to represent the conservative viewpoint held by the large majority of Panhandle citizens," Price said. "We want less state spending and less government interference in our daily lives, and I plan to take an active part in bringing about these results."

Senator Price, who was elected in a special election in December, announced he will have district offices in both Amarillo and Pampa. "I welcome the advice and assistance of all citizens in my job as state senator. I invite anyone to write or stop by in person if he or she has suggestions on how to improve our state government."

Beef production short course to be Feb. 13

A beef production short course for adult farmers will be held Feb. 13-16 under the sponsorship of the Hedley High School Vocational Agriculture Department according to Mr. Vernon Scott, Superintendent, and Mr. Doyle Messer, Teacher of Vocational Agriculture.

Dr. Richard C. Thomas, Beef Production Specialist with the Vocational Agriculture Division of the Texas Education Agency and the Department of Animal Science at Texas A&M University, will be the instructor for the course. He is headquartered at Texas A&M University.

Dr. Thomas has a strong background in animal production and genetics. He received his B.S. and M.S. degrees from Texas A&M University and his Ph.D. degree from Iowa State University. His graduate thesis was a detailed study of growth and size of cow and their affect on weaning weight of the calf.

For the past seven years Dr. Thomas was in charge of the Beef Cattle Research at the Experiment Station at McGregor. His responsibilities there included the direction of record keeping and management of an 850-cow herd that was bred totally by A.I. and of a 500-head feed lot. This entailed direct supervision of the nutrition, health and reproduction programs employed there.

The short course at Hedley is scheduled to begin Feb. 13, 1978 at 7 p.m. in the Hedley Lions Den. Other meetings in the series of 4 will be held 2-14, 15, and 16. During the dates the short course is in progress, Dr. Thomas will be available to assist cattlemen with individual problems and to provide on-the-farm instruction, according to Doyle Messer.

Cattlemen interested in attending the short course should write or call the superintendent of schools, Vernon Scott, or the teacher of agriculture, Doyle Messer. An entry fee of $5 will be charged.

Beef Production Short Course certificates will be presented to each cattleman who attends all the training sessions.

Dr. Thomas states that the beef cattle producers of today must take a close look at efficiency of production. Production costs such as land, feed, labor and taxes are rising without a relative increase in market values. The specialist also states that in order to deal with this type of situation, the producer must look at the costs and returns of the different types of production systems. Dr. Thomas states that considerable time will be spent during the short course looking at the potential costs and returns of some of the production systems. Selection of important characteristics such as fertility, ease of calving, size and growth will be discussed along with topics such as pregnancy diagnosis, range management, supplemental feeding and herd health. The course can be changed to meet the needs of the producers enrolled.

"Short courses in beef production, as well as in other areas, are now available to farmers and ranchers throughout the state under a cooperative program between the Texas Education Agency and Texas A&M University," states Bob Jaska, associate professor, Department of Agricultural Education at Texas A&M University, who coordinates the program for Texas A&M.

"This cooperative program," states Jaska, "is designed to make the services of specialists available to conduct short courses under the supervision of public schools. Such a program will enable teachers of vocational agriculture to provide improved educational services to farm and ranch people."

Specialists are now available in the fields of beef production, farm electric wiring and safety, farm electric motors, arc welding, swine production, tractor maintenance, pasture, and oxy-acetylene welding.

The Calvary Baptist Church is at present in their second building program. They built a new auditorium in 1973, and converted their present place of worship into an educational building. They have grown in their Sunday School until it is necessary to erect a new educational building. The building will be constructed of concrete, steel and brick that will be just like their new auditorium. When it is finished the Calvary Baptist Church will accommodate about 300 in their services. The new structure is about fifty percent finished. The work is being held up by the cold weather. The steel structure is ninety percent finished while the brick work is about fifty percent complete. S.B. Estes and Son are contractors of the structural steel work and Earl Morrow is erecting the foundation and brick work. The new building will be centrally heated and air conditioned. Also, it will be carpeted from wall to wall and equipped to accommodate a children's church and other educational facilities. Roy W. Sullivan, Pastor

F T A has regular meeting

DEAN OVERCAST
FTA Teacher of the Month

On January 4, 1978, the Clarendon F.T.A. had their regular meeting, starting out the new year of 1978. Bubba Newhouse was in charge. All committees were set up and all members were put on a committee of their choice. Plans were made for the upcoming "Custodian Appreciation Day" for the custodians of Clarendon High School. Ellen Green and Corky Patterson were put in charge of this upcoming event. Several students are to help them with this event. They will receive 500 points for working with this event. Plans were also discussed of the upcoming campaign for Chris Ford as candidate for Vice President of FTFA. The convention is coming up in February, so plans have to be made now. A meeting of the campaign committee was called for January 9 at Bubba Newhouse's home to formulate plans for the skit and campaign material to be used. The F.T.A.'er of the month of January is Jeanna Stephens. The F.T.A. Teacher of January selected was Dean Overcast.

F.T.A. COMMITTEE MAKES CAMPAIGN PLANS

Monday night, January 9, 1978, the campaign committee consisting of Bubba Newhouse, chairman, Coleen Cockerham, Medina McAnear, Chris Ford, Randy White, Rick Hayes, Jackie Phillips, Connie McAnear, Charlie Dauster, Paula Helms, Ellen Green, Jeanna Stephens, John Hall, Renee Cosper, Theresa Shields, and Miss Betty Veach, advisor, met to plan the campaign for Chris Ford, who is running for a state office in F.T.A. All other F.T.A. members who are interested in working on the campaign are invited to come to the next campaign meeting, which will be held Wednesday, January 11, at 8:45 at Bubba Newhouse's home. Plans went nicely, but the help of all is needed. Also at this meeting, the membership decided to set a time aside Thursday, January 12 around 6:30 p.m. to come and sell candles and candy of F.T.A. This money is to be used for the state convention, and it has to be sold or we can't go to Dallas. So, if any member can come, please be there at 6:30 at Bubba Newhouse's home. It will be a door to door campaign.

Agri - Facts

The 59th Annual Meeting of the American Farm Bureau was held recently in Houston. A wide range of topics were discussed and many resolutions were presented and eventually passed by the delegates. One of the amendments that many cattlemen around the Texas panhandle were interested in, concerned the Beef Referendum. The AFBF delegates voted 122-106 to amend their policy to support a Beef Referendum requiring approval by a majority. This changes their policy, which required a two-thirds majority. In the 1977 Beef Referendum, 56.5% of the producers' voting, approved the program but fell short of the two-thirds vote.

According to JoAnn Smith, chairman of the NCA Beef Research and Promotion Committee, "This is great news for cattlemen." JoAnn said, "With Farm Bureau support, chances are good that we can get Congress to amend the Beef Research and Information Act and conduct another referendum. No plans have been made, however, and another referendum probably could not be held until 1979 or 1980."

There were a few representatives from the American Agriculture Movement at the convention and they said that the Farm Bureau did not represent the farmer. Concerning the strike, Allen Grant, President of the AFBF said that the Farm Bureau was in sympathy with the plight of farmers who call for a strike but that "A strike is not practical because you cannot strike a biological industry like agriculture." Grant went on to say that "A strike is self defeating. A farmer can strike and go broke but that is no solution."

January being the month for conventions, it was on to Dallas and the 1978 Beltwide Cotton Production Conference at the Sheraton Dallas. The Meeting is conducted every year by the National Cotton Council and the Cotton Board. It looks like the experts are saying less cotton in 1978. The 1977 crop has been estimated at 14.6 million bales but 1978 is looking more like 11.5 million bales. Only time will tell.

This time of the year always brings about the National Association of Wheat Growers and their annual convention. This time it was in Wichita, Kansas. Don Howe, President of the National Association, said the wheat industry needs to create a higher export price for wheat. Howe said that Canada and Australia have already committed their wheat for 1978, but the wheat market looks a lot better than it did a year ago.

By Ernie Houdashell

It looks like the market place and energy were the big items on the agenda that were discussed at the wheat convention.

1978 has started off with a bang. Agriculture has lost another good man to politics and I'm talking about John White. It's usually the story when a President beckons, one answers, and this seems to be the story. There is speculation that Secretary Bob Bergland might fill the post of Senator Hubert Humphrey, and this would leave two very important agriculture posts up for grabs. Let's hope Carol Foreman stays put.

St Andrews Ministry Council meets

The St. Andrews Area Ministry Council, composed of the Clarendon and Memphis Presbyterian Churches, met in regular session in the Memphis church Jan. 15 at 2:30 p.m.

Those present were the Rev. Owen McGarity, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Shaller, Mrs. Fred Chamberlain, Mike

McCully, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Montgomery and Mrs. Bill Leslie.

Plowin' Out The Corners By Uncle Zeb

Thank You My Readers, and My Friends for the letters we receive. Almost every day one comes that brings joy to our heart... As we look forward to putting most all of our time into some form of helpful work in 1978 our letters will remain a very important part... So many that write are perplexed with some problem, and just to share it with another brings so often the help they need... Uncle Zeb and I do not know the answers to many of these worries, but we do know a way to find help... Visiting in the hospitals will be number one in our plans for the year... It has been from the inside of these rooms that we have been so deeply impressed to go more, do more and even more for those that so desperately need someone... So few in this old world are willing to stop and listen, even for a few moments... 1977 was a great year for Uncle Zeb and I... We didn't make any money, and there was a time when that would have seemed such a crime. But now, as I think back at all the good things that did happen, money seems so unimportant... It, of course, is necessary to our life, and we all need to work hard and to save, especially when we are young. It is thrilling when as young people we begin to make "Our Start". But, later in life there are many other things that become to cherished, like friends, and letters, and kind words, visits, someone to love us... These and many more things become valuable to our heart... If we look for the bad in this world we can find it... As I read about FBI Director Hoover, a man I had thought was an example, how he was being discredited, I thought was there an honest man left in our government... Then, I turned to think of the good that we had seen this year in the hearts of those who lay helpless in the Therapy sections of our hospitals-six months in a stretch. Seen them reaching out to God for help, and getting it... I said YES, there is still GOOD in this Old World.

Tips from Cynthia "Diet and Arthritis"

Contrary to what some people believe, there is no such thing as an "arthritis diet". No special diet or specific food will cure arthritis. Food has nothing to do with causing it, and food is not effective in treating or curing it. Arthritis is a chronic inflammatory process of unknown origin which causes discomfort and pain in the joints. In an attempt to alleviate this pain, many arthritics become the victims of food faddists, quacks or self-appointed "arthritis experts" who advocate quick and miraculous cures with bizarre diet plans. One survey revealed that approximately 2.5 million people in the United States have tried special diets or miracle foods to relieve this kind of ailment although medical authorities say such diets and foods are ineffective. Americans reportedly spend more than $250 million a year on quick remedies for arthritis! Extensive research has failed to show that the absence or presence of any food or vitamin causes or cures any form of arthritis. Careful medical examination of people who claimed they were cured by fad diets revealed that most were self-diagnosed arthritics who really had no disease to be cured. Many people believe arthritis is caused by vitamin and mineral deficiencies. By accepting the fact that no special diet or vitamin will cure arthritis, one will save disappointment, frustration and money. You can avoid expensive "arthritis foods," health foods or other food essential nutrients and energy. Research has shown that nutritionally balanced meals eaten daily benefit anyone's overall health, muscle tone and - of special importance to the arthritic - build ability to resist the wear and tear of the disease. A good diet for anyone whether you have arthritis or not, is based on a selection from the basic four food substitutes labeled for people with arthritis. Patients with arthritis - particularly the rheumatoid type-like patients with many other chronic diseases, often have decreased plasma levels of vitamins. Vitamin supplements correct this plasma deficiency but have no effect on the disease itself. Many experiments of this nature have been performed, especially with vitamins A, B-complex, C, D and E. The studies revealed that these vitamins do not alter the symptoms or cause of the disease. The only vitamins necessary for the arthritic patient are those obtained by eating a nutritionally balanced diet. The importance of a nutritionally balanced diet cannot be over-emphasized. For more information about a good balanced diet, call the extension office and ask for the Fact Sheet L-1379, Diet & Arthritis.

Lelia Lake 4-H Club has regular meeting

By June Asher

The Lelia Lake 4-H Club met on January 16th. Those attending were Richard and Denise Richardson, June and Bobby Asher, and Tami Deen. Richard led us in the pledge and motto.

The meeting was very short but we did accomplish something. The club's name was decided on which will be "The Clover Patch". It was suggested by Bobby Asher.

We also discussed "The Method of Demonstration" which will be coming up in June.

Henrietta Richardson served Rice Krispie snacks and tea for refreshments, which were very good.

The next meeting will be held in February.

Low prices, high costs put pressure on agriculture

The combination of low farm prices, high energy costs, and decreasing water supplies in some areas could substantially reduce Texas agricultural production, contends an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Sixty percent of Texas crop production comes from irrigated land, notes Dr. Ron Knutson. Studies indicate that unit costs of production from irrigated land for major Texas crops such as cotton, wheat, milo and corn are substantially higher than lower yielding dryland costs and above current market as well as farm program target prices.

For example, the economist indicates that total irrigated cotton costs on the High Plains average 63 cents per pound and dryland cotton costs average 46 cents per pound while the target price for cotton is 52 cents per pound. Irrigated wheat costs average $4.72 per bushel; dryland, $3.39, and the target price is $3. Milo costs in the Rio Grande Valley on irrigated land are estimated at $5.26 per hundred-weight; dryland costs are $4.04. The target price for milo has not yet been announced but is expected to be about $4.

Knutson explains that under the 1977 Food and Agriculture Act, the government pays producers the difference between the target price and the average market prices whenever the average market price falls below the target price. Market prices are currently substantially below target prices for all major Texas crops except rice. Target prices are based on the U.S. average cost of production. These costs consider out-of-pocket costs, machinery costs, overhead costs, a return to management and family labor, and a 3.5 percent return to land.

"These cost figures indicate there is trouble ahead for many Texas producers," says Knutson. "While Texas production cost estimates cited here are not strictly comparable—and substantial cost variation exists among producers—a comparison of target prices and average costs clearly indicates serious pressures exist on many producers to make ends meet financially."

A continuation of producer prices in the neighborhood of U.S. target prices over a period of years could result in a realignment of land values, increased risk of financial failure, increased consolidation of farm operations, conversion from irrigated to dryland production, and even a reversion from crop to ranching and cattle production in some areas of the state. The result could be an absolute reduction in Texas crop output, contends the economist. The magnitude of these effects is not known and must await further study. What is known is that a further increase in energy costs, wasteful use of water supplies, and continued low prices will increase the severity of the problem.

Research has shown that through the use of new crop production systems, it is often possible to produce crops at lower cost using less energy, water, fertilizer and chemicals. Some drought and disease resistant varieties are also available. However, this research is just beginning and has not yet been applied on an extensive basis.

Are there any current solutions to the farmers' dilemma?

Knutson suggests that potential policy solutions to the problem might lie in higher target prices for higher cost production areas, subsidies on input prices used in agriculture, or substantially increased research and extension support for discovery and implementation of cost-reducing production techniques.

1926 Book Club news

The 1926 Book Club met on Tuesday, January 17, 1978, at the Patching Club House for their regular meeting. The hostesses, Pauline Morris and Inez Blankenship, served delicious refreshments to the 20 members present: Ethelyn Grady, Jean Stavenhagen, Inez Blankenship, Pauline Morris, Frieda Tucker, Verdie Herrington, Gladys Blackburn, Elizabeth Ellersbrook, Mary Thornberry, Virgie Johnson, Rachael Butler, Thelma Bairfield, Joy Martin (guest), Billie Clinton, Dessa Day, Pauline Heath, Dorothy White, Mary Hazel VanZandt, Betty Veach, Alice and Jerry Courtney, guests.

The president called the meeting to order, but before any business was taken care of, Mr. Jerry Courtney, a lawyer of Clarendon, spoke to the club on "Copyright Law." The talk was very interesting and enjoyed by all present. Later the meeting was brought to order and the minutes were read and approved. It was noted that the club received acknowledgement from Wichita Falls Hospital of the gift sent to the hospital at Christmas time.

It was brought to the attention of the club that the Band of CHS was going to sell a calendar and the time and place of the club meeting could be put on this calendar for 25 cents (for each time the information appeared on the calendar). The calendars would sell for $1.00. It was decided to participate in this event. Discussion followed on entering the "Outstanding Woman Contest" at W.T. It was decided to enter this contest. A committee of Dorothy White, Mrs. Fred Chamberlain, and Rachael Butler was formed to find out other information on this contest.

A new member was voted on and it was unanimous for Joy Martin to become a member of the 1926 Book Club. The reading of the "Collect" preceeded the adjournment.
