

Saturday Is Deadline For Farm Sign-Up

Farmers Who Do Not Sign Work Sheet By May 16 Will Be Barred From Benefits

Brown county farmers who have not yet signed their work sheets for the new federal soil conservation farm program may do so at County Agent C. W. Lehmburg's office this week. Mr. Lehmburg urges all farmers to come to his office before the deadline, Saturday night, as those who do not sign a work sheet before that time cannot participate in the program.

"A farmer may sign a work sheet now even if he is not sure he wants to cooperate in the program. Later, if he decides he does not want to cooperate he may withdraw without obligation of any kind."

"A farmer who does not sign a work sheet now cannot get in on the program, however, if he later decides he wants to cooperate," Mr. Lehmburg said.

Field meetings, conducted by the county agent and his assistants, have been held in all communities of the county during the past two weeks, and many Brown county farmers have already signed their work sheets. Mr. Lehmburg estimates that between 75 and 85 per cent of the farmers in this section will sign up for work under the program, which was designed to replace the invalidated AAA.

CENTENNIAL CLEAN-UP PLAN GETTING UNDER WAY TO MAKE CITY CLEANEST IN THE STATE

PLANS for the Centennial Clean-Up Campaign, being conducted in Brownwood by the Centennial Clean-Up and Beautification Committee, were being perfected this week and announcement was made that work will start in the various sections of the city Monday. The support of city officials, public school children, civic organizations and many interested individuals has been secured, according to Mrs. Carl Blasig, general chairman, and committees are now contacting property owners and securing their pledges to support the campaign.

The work is to be finished by May 30, and every effort will be made to win for Brownwood the title of "The Cleanest City in Texas" by that time.

The Business and Professional Women's Club has assumed charge of the campaign in the business section. At a meeting of the organization Tuesday night, Dr. Mollie W. Every business man and property owner will be asked to cooperate in cleaning up the stores. All vacant buildings will be cleaned and merchants will be asked to place displays in the windows of vacant buildings.

Zone captains named are as follows: Zone 1, Miss Willie Lee Box; Zone 2, Mrs. Hubert Leveridge; Zone 3, Mrs. Emmett Evans; Zone 4, Miss Estelle Duren; Zone 5, Mrs. Tex Worsham; Zone 6, Mrs. William Benedetti; Zone 7, Mrs. W. Trigg.

Principals and teachers will be asked to secure the interest of their students in the campaign so that they may carry to their homes a full understanding of its methods and purposes, and assist in securing city-wide support for the project.

Mr. Woodward also promised the support of the Rotary club, of which he is president, to the beautification work.

Mrs. D. L. Connally, president of the Brownwood Garden Club, urges that every citizen take part in the campaign. She said that every citizen of Brownwood should make premises of his home as beautiful as possible. She also urged that a concerted effort be made to remove weeds from vacant lots.

"A clean and beautiful city will not only give a lasting impression to thousands of Centennial visitors but will draw residents to our city, therefore aiding in the development of Brownwood," she concluded.

Mayor W. H. Thompson and members of the city's official staff have pledged full cooperation in the campaign. A committee which contacted city officials was promised that the ordinance prohibiting sweeping of trash into the streets and alleys will be strictly enforced.

An extra truck for hauling trash has been added to the equipment of the city sanitary department to aid in the work. The city street sweeper will sweep the streets in the business district every night. Every citizen of Brownwood whether he is a property owner or

ACTIVITY AT LAKE BROWNWOOD MAKES SPOT ONE OF BUSIEST PLACES IN STATE OF TEXAS

WITH summer rapidly approaching, every day sees increased activity at Lake Brownwood. Boat owners, owners and prospective owners of cabin sites, sightseers and fishing enthusiasts out to make a pre-season survey of the lake make the big body of water and its shores one of the busiest spots in this part of the state. Building at the lake, which made steady progress all during the winter months, is expected to increase greatly within the next few months.

Lead suitable for cabin sites is reported selling at $250 and $300 per acre. Two tracts, one immediately west of the District Park and another still further west, are now being sold, according to reports. Both are being bought by groups of citizens who will divide the tracts into lots and build cabins. There are already about 12 cabins completed on the lake shores and many more will be constructed during the summer.

The number of boats on the lake is increasing almost daily. This week a 25 foot, 9 1/2 inch boat, "Chica on Lake Brownwood", the largest ever placed on the lake, was launched by the owner, Marion Fowler, Austin attorney. Mr. Fowler, who is a nephew of Dr. B. A. Fowler of Brownwood, visited the lake recently and immediately began plans to bring his boat here. The boat has seen much service in the Gulf of Mexico, at one time making an 800 mile trip. It was built by Mr. Fowler in 1930 and 1931 and carries an 85 horsepower motor.

Ed Hall, superintendent at Lake Brownwood for Brown County Water Improvement District Number One, has been named boat inspector at the lake. Recently adopted regulations which require the licensing of all boats on the lake will go into effect May 29. Mr. Hall can issue inspection certificates and licenses, water board officials announced this week.

Fishermen in all parts of the country are eagerly awaiting the opening of the lake fishing season, May 29, according to reports. The lake, when opened, will be the best fishing place in the state of Texas, members of the Izaak Walton League declare. In anticipation of future seasons a rearing pond is being constructed at the lake where stock fish will be placed. The first fish to be received for the rearing pond, a large stock of bass fry, arrived from the government hatcheries at Cisco this week and are being held in the Smith minnow pond pending completion of the rearing pond at the lake.

Reservations for the camp cabins at Lake Brownwood State Park, for the month of June are already in excess of 100, according to Tom Kellum, recently elected park keeper. In a report to directors of the Brownwood Park Association Tuesday night Mr. Kellum stated that reservation requests have come from San Antonio, Lampasas, Littlefield, Comanche, Fort Worth, San Angelo, Sweetwater, and many other places. The board is completing plans for opening of the park, which will probably be sometime in June. Rates for the cabins were announced last week.

CHANDLER SENTENCED IN FEDERAL COURT

M. L. Chandler, Brownwood auto parts dealer, was assessed a fine of $250 or a 30 day jail sentence in the federal court at Dallas this week on charges of making false renunciations for radio and automobile supplies. Chandler's case was recently transferred from the San Angelo court where he was taken for trial. He announced he would pay the fine.

B. H. Hutton of Coleman, charged with Chandler in connection with the case, was tried before the San Angelo court last week. He was freed after advising the court that he was his first offense and that he had served five months in jail while awaiting trial.

EARLY HIGH SCHOOL 1935-36 TERM ENDS

The 1935-36 school term at Early High School was brought to a close with the commencement program and presentation of diplomas to the graduates Wednesday evening. Graduation exercises for those completing the seventh grade were held Tuesday night.

Rev. J. M. Cooper delivered the baccalaureate sermon for the 1935 seniors Sunday night in the school auditorium. Special music on the program was given by Mrs. Ira Funderberg, Miss Norang Teel, Mrs. Everett Teel and a trio which included Miss Dyrde Cox, and Elva Scott and Mr. Buford Forrester.

MCDONALD CANDIDACY DRAWS PRAISE FROM WEST TEXAS EDITOR

Charles A. Guy, one of the outstanding newspaper editors of Texas, made an interesting comment in his column, "The Plainsman," which is a feature of the Lubbock Journal. He was discussing the candidacy of W. H. (Bill) McDonald of Eastland, who is running for State Land Commissioner.

Written in humorous style, Guy said: "Old Boyce House, who knows a lot of people out in West Texas, came through here yesterday on a vacation. Now Boyce would be the last one to call his present duty one of a vacation nature but the fact that he has left active newspaper work for the Fort Worth Star-Telegram to travel the hot and dusty political highways and byways with a guy named McDonald, who is running for State Land Commissioner.

"Everybody who has ever worked on a newspaper has a secret yen to 'go out' with a candidate because it not only gives travel but you get away from deadlines, last-minute rushes and bawlings-out from the city desk.

"Boyce, who has been coming out to West Texas for the Star-Telegram so long that most of his friends forget that he lives only 30 miles west of Dallas, is very enthusiastic over McDonald's candidacy. It seems that Boyce and Bill—which is the handle to McDonald's name—used to be neighbors down at Eastland where Boyce served a sentence as editor of the Telegram and Mc two sentences as district clerk.

"So enthusiastic is our friend that he has just about convinced us that Bill McDonald ought to get the vote of everybody living west of the 90th Meridian on the basis that he is the only West Texas seeking the Land Commissioner-ship, that most of the state land is located in West Texas, that McDonald is a high class citizen in every respect and few enough West Texans are ever elected to anything in state races."

Four-H Club News

The Clio home demonstration club met Tuesday afternoon, May 6, at the home of Mrs. H. S. Pedigo. Twelve members, 2 new members and 2 visitors were present.

Plans were made to have an ice cream supper May 27 to raise funds for the club.

The next meeting will be held Tuesday, May 19, at the home of Mrs. O. L. Pierce.

Highway Beautification
Seeds have been given to most of the clubs in Brown County, especially those on the highways and many trumpet vines that were secured from people in various communities, have been planted along the fence rows.

The Union Grove, May and Clio Clubs have given much time and work to the planting of their highways.

The May club had a crew of ten women, 2 cars and two trailers (for hauling water), that worked in each direction from May on the highway plantings. The Elm community cooperated and seeds have been given. The seed were secured through Mrs. Will Roberts and Mr. Tolleson.

The May Club sponsored a clean up campaign. One day was given to the town and many truck loads of rubbish were hauled off. This was done before any planting was started. It was the plan to have a continued planting from Brownwood to county line on highway 23.

Three club members have donated way-side parks. Mrs. G. G. Goss and Mrs. Edna Hancock in the Angel community between May and Rising Star, and Mrs. Lee Crane, of Early school on the Zephyr road. Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Petty are also contestants in the Highway Beautification contest.

The club women have also stressed cleaning up their own homes and planting flowers and vines as a part of their Centennial work.

The tallest mammal, the giraffe, reaches 18 feet, 7 inches in height. It is almost entirely voiceless.

EROSION CONTROL MEASURES ADAPTED TO PASTURE LAND URGED BY SCS REPRESENTATIVE

Probably no measures advocated by the Soil Conservation Service for this area brings greater returns per dollar of work investment than those which have to do with pasture improvement, according to C. L. Hagood, member of the technical staff of local soil conservation camp. Mr. Hagood said that although most of the work done by the local camp has been done on small farms having a large percent of land in cultivation, the treatment of pasture land is of great importance and is economically feasible.

Soil conservation measures most adapted to this area are gully treatment (including permanent dams, temporary dams, bank sloping and sodding), diversion terraces and contour ridges. The presence of heavy brush in some sections of this area offers a natural obstacle to the construction of ridges, but the cost of clearing and grubbing sufficient brush is not prohibitive and certainly not disproportionate to the returns in more and better grazing, Mr. Hagood added.

Proof that these methods have been given thorough trial and have been found practical is offered in excerpts from an article by R. M. Milhollen, project manager, and H. M. Bell, range examiner, both of the Soil Conservation Service at San Angelo. The article, in part, follows:

"The practical and efficient use of runoff water is the one factor that is contributing most to the success of pasture improvement.

The different ways in which these principles may be put into effect are being established by research in our experiment stations and by research applied on a large scale by the Soil Conservation Service co-operated with many individual landowners of Tom Green County and elsewhere.

"The experiment station at Spur, Texas, has proved the value of listing native sod on the water level. Water is held where it falls in the listed furrows, increasing the moisture content of the soil, reducing runoff and soil erosion to a very minimum, and greatly increasing the yield of grass.

"In 1935, which was the fifth year of the experiment, the grass was harvested, cured like hay, and weighed on a per acre basis against grass hay from land with the same slope, soil type and other factors except listing equal. The unlisted area produced only 857 pounds per acre while the listed area produced 2,423 pounds per acre, or almost three times as much cured feed with a much higher nutritive value, according to analysis."

In this area the SCS is advocating the construction of contour ridges instead of the listing referred to in the article by Mr. Milhollen and Mr. Bell, according to Mr. Hagood, who explained that it is felt that ridges are more advantageous in that a greater amount of runoff water is retained on the steeper slopes.

In co-operation with the SCS this type of pasture improvement has been made by 24 Brown county farmers. These demonstrations are located in almost every community where soil conservation work has been done. Interested farmers and ranchers are invited to inspect work and call upon the technical staff at the local camp for information regarding pasture and range improvement.

UMBRELLA WANTED!
A 15-year-old Buick touring car and a hearty deluge of property rain came within an ace of drowning Walter Brennan during the filming of Samuel Goldwyn's "These Three," which brings Miriam Hopkins, Merle Oberon and Joel McCrea to the Lyric Theatre Sunday and Monday.

Brennan, who scored as "Old Atrocious" in "Barbary Coast," was cast as a crochety old taxi driver, in a blinding rain storm. Having unloaded his fare, Catherine Douceff, he was to throw back his head and guffaw at the extortionate rate he had charged her. He did—and some ten gallons of water plopped squarely into his face! The "rain" had piled up in a sag of the delapidated canvas top of the car and had broken through of its own weight. "These Three" is released through United Artists.

BYRDS WOMEN SERVE GOOD WILL VISITORS

Dinner was served to 118 men by the Home Demonstration Club of Byrds at the school house there Tuesday night when a group of Brownwood business men made the regular monthly good will trip sponsored by the Brownwood Lions Club. In addition to the Brownwood citizens who were their guests, six business men from Blanket attended the affair.

Will Talbot, representative of the Brownwood club was toastmaster. James W. Phillips, Byrds, made the welcoming address to which response was made by O. E. Winebrenner, Brownwood. "Friendship and Fellowship" was the subject of the principal address, made by Robert R. Holloway, of Brownwood.

A chorus of Byrds women and girls sang a group of songs, and two soloists gave numbers. Short talks were made by County Agent C. W. Lehmberg and several other of the Brownwood visitors.

BASS FISHING DERBY TO BE HELD AT LAKE

Plans for a bass fishing derby, to be held at Lake Brownwood on Sunday, May 31, the first Sunday of the fishing season at the lake, are being worked out this week by officials of the Pecan Valley Chapter, Izak Walton League. Bill Moore is to be in charge of the event, it was announced by Taylor Hanna, president of the chapter.

Present plans call for entries in groups of three to a boat. Boats must check out any time after 5 a. m. from the boat docks, and can check in any time during the day up to 7 p. m. Prizes will be offered for the largest catch, in pounds; the first team to catch the limit, and numerous other prizes. An entrance fee of $1 will be charged, and the money will go toward the expense of the rearing ponds being built below the dam by the chapter.

It is planned to advertise the event extensively, and many out-of-town anglers are expected to participate.

American dance records are losing their popularity in Germany to records of the classics. Germans are buying more folk song records, too.

remains were brought to Brownwood for burial and funeral services were held Saturday morning in the Mitcham Funeral Chapel. Rev. Karl H. Moore officiated, and interment followed in Greenleaf Cemetery.

Mrs. Killough lived in Brownwood for many years. She was an active member of the First Baptist Church and was at one time teacher of the Sunday School class now known as the Bernice Neel class. She was instrumental in organizing the Coggin Avenue Baptist Church although she retained her membership in the First Baptist Church.

Survivors include two nieces and several cousins, one of whom is W. R. Chambers of Brownwood.

MAKING Smart CLOTHES

At the very smart winter resorts this year, culottes (divided skirts) were worn by everybody, young and old alike. They were smarter than shorts for beach and country year. They were seen more on the golf courses than were skirts. (As a matter of fact, it was a professional golfer who first designed the culotte skirt.) Young married women wore them for shopping and housework. And every person who bicycled adored them.

For this reason, we think—in fact, we know—that the culotte is going to be the fashion riot of the Summer. Whether you are a smart sixty or a dashing sixteen, you will want to wear it. And I have sketched for you here an excellent version of this smart culotte that you can make yourself, of pastel linen, or flannel (smartest of all for golf) of heavy cotton, or of silk. In fact, if you are an ultra-chic woman, I feel sure that you will make this culotte up in several materials. The design is Butterick 6791, available in sizes 12 to 20, 30 to 40 bust, priced at 45c and may be purchased at the pattern counter of your favorite department store.

One suggestion—it is smartest to wear your culotte an inch or two shorter than you usually wear skirts, 14 inches from the floor or even shorter. As for underwear—we think that you will find that panties are enough. And won't it be a joy to discard slips occasionally!

Army engineers have recommended the immediate expenditure of $17,000,000 for deepening and widening the New York State Barge Canal. This would not cover the cost of all proposed work, but would simply mark a start in creating a 14-foot depth from Troy to Three Rivers, and thence to Lake Ontario. Other towns, not in this area, also want the channel improved to include them, and if that is done many more millions will be required.

Drowned Dollars

In commenting on the situation, the Rochester, New York, Times-Union said: "Why all this extra money should be expended on the Barge Canal is hard to understand. . . Neither shallow inland canals nor shallow rivers are worth their cost as waterways. The freight offered might better be handled by the railroads, which pay taxes instead of eating up tax money. . ."

The whole history of inland waterway navigation in this country in recent years has been marked by waste, by costly and useless spending of the taxpayers' money, and by the development of projects which are as futile as they are visionary. Every citizen must chip in to pay for freight moved on a government-owned waterway—toll charges do not equal operating and upkeep cost. And survey after survey has demonstrated that if all costs are considered, railroads provide cheaper, as well as much more efficient and certain transportation of goods.

Canals were necessary once, before rail transport reached its present high standards of efficiency and service. Today canals serve few useful purposes, and constitute a political extravagance for which the taxpayers must pay through the nose.

The extremely conservative "Annalist" forecasts that business improvement will continue throughout the second quarter, and in this is seconded by other financial and industrial periodicals. The Annalist adds that "on the basis of economic factors alone the logical expectations would be two or three years of generally active conditions. But the presence of artificial elements suggests the likelihood of intervening peaks and valleys, the timing of which cannot be readily foreseen."

Improving Business

One of the artificial elements is the veterans' bonus, which is believed to have had a strong influence in stimulating business, particularly businesses whose products are sold on the time-payment plan—automobiles, kitchen appliances, real estate, etc. Concerns throughout the country have widely advertised plans whereby veterans can buy now, pay later when they get their Baby Bonds.

Irrespective of that, basic conditions seem favorable to continuance of business betterment. Wholesale prices have long held to a stable level. There is a vast unutilized market for all manner of goods and services. Heavy industry is reviving. Interest rates are very low, and show no signs of rising. And the purchaser of goods, whether a vacuum cleaner, a car or a home, can get what he wants on much easier terms than ever before.

Spring is here! And to millions of us, the lure of the open road will soon become irresistible. Then off we'll go, for fishing trips, picnics, sight-seeing drives. Last year, 36,000 bloody corpses dotted the streets and highways of the United States. This year, if the ten per cent of the drivers who cause 90 per cent of the accidents aren't curbed, the record will be worse.

Motor Bloodshed

Do you belong to that 10 per cent? You'll undoubtedly say you don't—and it's a rare driver who will admit to carelessness, or recklessness or incompetence. And here's hoping you really don't. But I won't do you any harm to think over your driving practices.

Do you ever pass on curves or hills? If so, you have been guilty of an act that has caused thousands of fatalities and millions of injuries.

Do you ever drive on the wrong side of the road, or weave in and out of traffic, impatient to save a few minutes to be spent later telling your friends what a hot-shot driver you are? If so, you are a potential killer.

Do you regard speed restrictions as something for the other fellow—who, naturally isn't in your class as a driver—to obey, and for you to break at will? Excessive speed is the principal single cause of motor bloodshed.

Do you drink and drive. Alcohol and gasoline mix into a fuel that has taken a legion of people on the longest journey of all—to the Great Beyond.

Do you put off repairs to your car until a tomorrow that may never come? Bad brakes, defective lights, uncertain steering are friends of the casket maker.

Spring is here—make sure that it isn't the last Spring you'll enjoy on this earth.

Graduation Alta Heacock By the Light of the Years

Graduation time is here, Oh yes, my darling darter. With your A. B. B. A., and such Your M. A. is much smarter. For she can buy your banquet dress All white, so long and flowing And underneath put—ah, sh . . . sh . . . And no one will be knowing.

Graduation days are here again. It seems so fitting that the springtime of the year, the springtime of life, should go hand in hand with graduation. This applies not only to the colleges all over our land, but to our high schools not to mention those little sub-debs who feel very important as they graduate from the Junior High Schools. Many never quite make the ripple to college, so whether it be college, high school or Junior High, it is a most important event in the life of the graduate. The mother sits back and sees herself in her child which is graduating, or the child she would like to have been. For every mother wants her child to have an education. Her eyes are bright with unshed tears as she sees the long line file past. She is passing through a definite period with her daughter that means much to them both. A shy smile comes over the heads of the others to Mother a proud smile flashes back, but such a world of meaning is in that smile. The little girl is a baby again, then she is a little school girl, leaving each step of life up to this shining minute. Does mother remember the sacrifices she has made? Does she remember the wearisome nights she has walked the floor? Does she think of how she has quietly and prayerfully guided each step from the first little toddling one to this proud high-heeled one who is marching past in the long line? No . . . she is only remembering how short a while ago she was so tiny and coddly . . . how the blue bow sat so jauntily on her flaxen curls that first day of school . . . how lucky she was to have had her all these years, just for herself . . . such a darling always . . . Look at her now—different from all the rest even though she has on that simple little organdie . . . your little girl graduate . . . Yes, she knows what your heart is telling her, she has caught the entire message in that one smile, and only Mother has interpreted the meaning of that shy, hurried return smile of the dainty little miss in the high heels. A bond of understanding and love has been welded between Mother and Daughter that has perhaps never been talked about, never been looked upon by the curious, but tonight its golden threads have been reburnished into something too lovely for expression.

Speaking of graduating, I know a little graduate who is to be married soon. She is of moderate means, so she has hit upon a very a very wise and sensible plan. I think, in her dress for the two most important events of her life. She is to wear a dress of white chiffon. It is made girlishly simple, that it may be used for both occasions. It is tip-toe length and made on Grecian lines. The gold cord which makes the raised waistline is wrapped around twice and is the only color on the dress. She is to wear gold sandals, too.

Gals, you'll be happy, I know, to hear that Alta Heacock, that lady of the "Oklahoma Club Woman" and columnist who perhaps gets more reprints than any other in Oklahoma, is off galavanting again. Having attended the convention in Miami, Florida, one naturally expected she would come on home and get to scribbling all the high lights, but not her. A card comes from Havana, Cuba, from the old dear. Well, how I envy that dame, just having something like six thousand club women to please. Here's one columnist that has a whole flock of weekly editors to please to say nothing of the big boss, a husband who throws his voice on Thursday while the paper goes to press and throws fits on Friday for things that did go to press or did not go to press . . . Ah, woe is me . . . life is like that.

ON TEXAS FARMS

Texas farmers and ranchmen are now engaged making out work sheets and planning their 1936 cropping under the new Soil Conservation program. Stretch your imagination as to what kind of conversations are going on around the farm home tables of Texas. Don't you think they are something like this?

"Papa," the mother of the family is saying, "don't forget when you make out that sheet on the cropping plan for 1936 that the Extension Service says we will need 20 bushels of corn per person to feed the chickens and pigs and other critters we use for food—I mean 20 bushel allowed for every person in this family that has to be fed. Now don't forget that. You have to figure out how many acres it will take to give us that."

"And we need an acre of garden for the whole family, too. We never have had an acre of garden, but we could have. And you know we never have had enough potatoes about books and their authors that one has to be calm and collected about their previews. But one of the happiest privileges I can think of is to review a book by one of the most loved women in the nation. Grace Noll Crowell's new book, the first in several years, is so named that it gives one an insight to the book, "By the Light of the Years." It reflects a maturity of thought that we feel is Mrs. Crowell. It has been said that there is always a place for every poem she writes. She simply writes them, mails them out and they are published in whatever publication receives them, and the next day after they are published, scissors, and paste pots are putting them into scrap books all over the land. They are everywhere, quoted everywhere, and loved everywhere. Mrs. Crowell was named Poet Laureate of Texas this year. She lives in Dallas, but her home is a mecca for writers and those who have come under the spell of her kindness. Perhaps her lyrics are her best, though how I enjoyed her children's verse when I lay sick and a dear friend brought them in. She writes of little things, everyday things, the things with which we are most familiar. It is the greatness of little things that she shows us so vividly in her singing lines.

Mr. Bigelow, editor of Good Housekeeping, writes: "Of all the poets whose work I have used in the last 15 years, Mrs. Crowell has had the widest appeal. Her little songs seem to go straight to the hearts of her readers, who find in them encouragement and hope. She comes near to having universal appeal."

It is published by Harper and Brothers, New York, and sells for $1.50. "Light of the Years" is typographically interesting, being hand-set in foundry Garamond by Arthur and Edna Rushmore at the Golden Hind Press, at Madison, N. J., and printed and bound by the Haddon Craftsmen.

other vegetable growers will be able to earn payments under the Soil Conservation program," A. L. Smith, state agent assigned to conservation work in Texas, announced.

Smith pointed out that land that has been in vegetable crops will be counted in acreage used in determining the soil-building allowance if planted to winter cover and green manure crops, provided that such crops are turned under as green manure. However, the crops must have been growing at least two months, before being turned under. "This classification of acreage," Smith said, "will be used only for the purpose of determining soil-building allowances. The number of dollars for soil-building payments cannot exceed the number of acres in soil-conserving crops on the farm in 1936.

"In regard to fruit growers," Smith said, "land devoted to orchards, vineyards, small fruits and nut trees is included as crop land under the program." If such land is clean cultivated, it is classified as neutral. If it was used in 1935 to produce an interplanted soil-depleting crop, the actual acreage so used is classified as soil-depleting. If it is interplanted with a soil-conserving crop, the actual acreage is classified as soil-conserving.

The provisions governing rates of payments and qualifications are the same as on the interplanted part of all land devoted to orchards, small fruits and nut trees as on the other crop land.

er Improvement District No. 1. Introduction of the resolution occasioned much discussion, but it was unanimously adopted. The resolution follows: "In pursuance of our long time and repeated activity in conserving the waters of our streams upon the upper reaches and in regulating prior use of these waters, we urge completion of the Brown County Water Improvement District No. 1 project and any other practical and feasible project and we respectfully request that the proper federal agencies give speedy and favorable consideration and approval to the Brown County Water Improvement District No. 1 application for financing and construction of the irrigation system."

Goes to Washington

Copies of the resolution were sized by all officials of the WTCC and will be sent to Harry Hopkins, WPA administrator; Secretary of Commerce Tdio, Misses Genevieve McLuoro, Beverly Taylor and Marguerite Wilson. After they gave their first program their talents were constantly in demand and they appeared on many programs and presented the outstanding musical numbers of the convention.

"The Chamber of Commerce is proud, indeed, of the band composed of high school and college students. Many were the compliments heard about the performances and appearance of this band under the leadership of Mr. W. R. Parker, who was one of the popular band directors of the convention. The Brownwood band was outstanding also because of the quiet genteel conduct of the boys at all times. They were a credit to Brownwood."

PARK ON ISLAND

Plans are being made for the development of Padre Island, off the coast of Texas, as a park which would be one of the most unusual parks in the world. The island stretches along the Texas coast from a point near Corpus Christi to near the mouth of the Rio Grande. Feature attraction would be a scenic highway which would permit motorists to drive the length of the island only a few yards from the gulf surf. The island is well known for its deep sea and bay fishing.
