SUCCESS OF 4-H, HOME DEMONSTRATION CAMPS AT LAKE BROWNWOOD LAST WEEK REFLECTED IN ACCOUNTS BY MISS EOFF AND MRS. MATHEWS

By Mrs. Roy Mathews
HDC Camp Reporter

The best and most successful camp ever held by Brown County Home Demonstration Clubs closed at Lake Brownwood State Park at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon of last week.

More women attended this camp, better programs and stunts were presented, better reports were given and more and better food was served, all of which contributed to the success of the camp. The club motto, "To make the best better," was indeed carried out in the camp.

A number of women met with Miss Mayesie Malone, Brown county home demonstration agent, at the camp site Monday night and helped prepare for the expected crowd Tuesday. Monday night the women had a party with riddles, stunts, stories and songs. Prizes were given to the person attending who had the longest distance to come, the tallest, the slimmest, the one singing the best solo, the best story teller, the best riddle and the best extemporaneous speaker.

By Joyce Eoff
4-H Club Camp Reporter

Following a successful Home Demonstration Club camp, the Brown county 4-H Club Girl's Encampment proved to be very satisfactory and helpful to the many girls who were present for the two days. The camp ended Friday afternoon.

New officers were named in the first business session of the camp, held Thursday morning with Edith Kimmons, Zephyr, retiring president of the camp, presiding. The following officers were named: Gertrude Fry, president; Betty Jo Chastain, secretary; and Joyce Eoff, reporter.

Thursday afternoon's program included a vegetable exhibit. Eighteen varieties were exhibited by eleven club girls. Winners in the exhibit were: Susie Counts, Zephyr, first; Hazel Moore, Grosvenor, second; and Bonnie Bess Coffey, Zephyr, third.

AUGUST 31 IS LAST DATE FOR OBTAINING INSURANCE ON WHEAT

By J. H. Shows

Assistant Brown County Agent

Midnight, August 31, is the deadline. At that hour will close, for this season, the opportunity to obtain the new, all-risk insurance on wheat to be harvested in 1939.

Because seeding (especially in localities which use wheat partly for winter pasture) will be starting soon and the policies of this new insurance become effective as soon as the seed is in the ground, this limit seemed necessary to give the service office at Kansas City time to send out the premium notices, get back the payments and put out the policies before seeding begins. Accordingly, August 31, was fixed as the last day on which County Crop Insurance Supervisors may receive these applications. The announcement was made August 5, by the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, which administers this service.

Mr. T. N. Simmons, the Crop Insurance Supervisor for our county, in giving the foregoing information to this paper, tells us that he will keep open, until midnight, Wednesday, August 31, if necessary, his office at the County Asst. office in Brownwood. His telephone number is 1017. Mr. Simmons tells us that up to August 11, "about 75,000 applications had reached the county supervisors in the winter wheat states. How fast applications have come in since then, I do not know," he says, "but the gain in ratio has been quite rapid."

Fire Aids Ravages of War Along Yangtze

On the outskirts of Kiukiang, Japanese artillery continued to pour a rain of shells into the city while flames already licked at the suburbs of the doomed town. This remarkable picture was made under fire by a Japanese photographer just behind the advancing front line of the Japanese troops. Kiukiang was regarded as a vital success in the rejuvenated Japanese drive on Hankow.

"Singing Camp"

The camp officially opened Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock with every club except one represented. Mrs. J. W. Phillips, council chairman and county recreational director, was in charge. It was indeed a singing camp, with Mrs. Phillips leading the songs.

Reports from delegates attending the short course at A. & M. College in July were given. Much time was spent fishing, swimming and resting.

Tuesday night, the meeting was called to order by the chairman, and songs were led by Mrs. Phillips. Stunts were given by the clubs as follows: "A Model Club Meeting," Bangs; "A Discovery," Byrds; "A Divorce Suit," Cottonwood; "Song," Grosvenor; "Pantomime," May; and "Yankee Doodle Domestic," Zephyr. While the judges were making their decisions, Mrs. Gorman and Mrs. Phillips gave a skit, "Rocking Chair Blues."

Skit Presented

Delegates to the short course presented the garden skit which attracted much attention at A. & M. College when presented there during the short course. Following the skit, Miss Myrtle Brick of Brownwood presented "Evenings the Whole Family Can Enjoy."

Thursday night's program included many songs, led by the camp song leaders and Mrs. Phillips. The following stunts were presented: "Burlesque on a Sermon," Early High; "Old Maid's Quartet," Grosvenor; "Lover's Errand," Indian Creek; "Operation," Mukewater; "Newspaper Medley," Woodland Heights; and "The Kidnaper," Zephyr, Zephyr and Grosvenor tied for first place.

We were proud to have visiting us at our camp Miss Onah Jacks, College Station, state club agent; Miss Maurine Hearne, College Station, district agent; and Miss Beverly Jo Jacks, Austin.

Scholarships Awarded

Delegates to the short course gave reports Friday morning. Following the oratory contest, Misses Bonnie Bess Coffey of Zephyr and Dorothy Thompson of Indian Creek were awarded scholarships to the Central Texas School of Oratory. Miss Onah Jacks, Mrs. D. E. Howard and Mrs. M. J. McPherson served as judges for the contest.

Over 75 members of clubs in this county registered at the camp and there were many who did not register. Several Brownwood and Brown county officials visited both the 4-H camp and the HDC camp. Miss Mayesie Malone, Brown county home demonstration agent, was in charge of both camps.

Concession Bids For Regatta Will Be Opened Friday

Brownwood Regatta Association officials Friday will open bids for concessions at Lake Brownwood for the Southern Division outdoor racing meet to be held Sunday, September 4. Concessions for which separate bids will be accepted are bottled drinks, ice cream, peanuts and popcorn, hamburgers and sandwiches, and novelties.

The association has ruled that all sales must be made from the stands and that no stands will be allowed nearer than thirty feet to shoreline or bluffs. Stands will not be permitted within ninety feet of the permanent concession building. The location of the concessions will be subject to final approval of the concessions committee with regard to obstruction of traffic or to view.

Fungus Plants Partners

Certain fungus growths consist of two separate plants living together in partnership.

160 EAST TEXAS BOY SCOUTS TO ENCAP SATURDAY AT PARK

Swimming, boating, campfire activities and a watermelon feast await 160 East Texas Boy Scouts when they stop overnight at Lake Brownwood State Park Saturday en route back to Tyler, their starting point on a trip which will cover more than 2,000 miles when completed.

The city, Chamber of Commerce and Comanche Trail Council, BSA, will be official hosts to the Scouts for their visit here. Rev. Karl H. Moore, pastor of First Baptist church, will direct a sunrise religious service for the Scouts and their leaders at the park Sunday morning. The Catholic troop in the caravan will attend mass at St. Mary's Catholic church.

President Russell B. Jones, head of the Comanche Trail Council will participate in the welcoming program, according to Guy N. Quirl, Scout Executive.

The Scouts started on their trip, travelling in buses, last week. After visiting in Austin, their first stop, they went to San Antonio, Uvalde, where they were guests of Vice President John Nance Garner, the Chisos Mountains, and last weekend visited the Davis Mountains and Carlsbad Cavern. They will come to Brownwood directly from San Angelo.

Progress Noted in Farm-Market Road Project in County

Satisfactory progress in the construction of farm-to-market roads in precincts 2 and 4 in Brown county is being made, according to reports from county officials. Both construction jobs are WPA projects.

In precinct 2, 150 workers are clearing, grubbing, fencing, draining and grading roads. The cost will be approximately $99,877.

Construction of 36.27 miles of farm-to-market roads in precinct 4 was started early last week. The roads are being cleared, grubbed, drained and graded by 87 men. Total cost of the project is $55,509.

Most roads in the flood areas have been reopened, according to Highway Engineer Leo Ehlinger. Traffic from Brownwood to San Saba is routed on Highway 23 to Rochelle, and from there over Highway 74 to Richland Springs and San Saba.

The Brownwood-Brady highway is open, with a temporary crossing at Brady Creek.

600,000 Pilgrims A Year

Lourdes, the shrine of the young shepherdess Bernadette, since 1870 has attracted 600,000 a year. It is no uncommon thing for the French bishops to order fifty or more trains to transport the pilgrims each summer.

July 15 Issue

"The first policy was issued July 15. For the two weeks following July 15, the ratio at which applications reached the Kansas City branch, that serves this territory, was over two and one half times as fast as for the week ending July 15. For the third week, it was almost four times as fast, and for the fourth week, ending August 12, it was 7.8 times as fast. At that time Ohio was far in the lead in number of applications, with Nebraska, Michigan and Kansas following, in that order. For number of acres of the 1939 wheat crop actually insured, the Texas wheat region (which obtained the first FCIC policy issued and farms in a big way) was close to the top.

"While this new, all-risk crop insurance is, in a big way, a part of the general program in which the farmers of this county, are co-operating, through the services of our ACP committee of farmers. This is not, in any sense, mutual insurance. The full cost of a policy is definitely figured beforehand and there can be no additional charges or assessments. When an applicant gets his premium notice, it tells the exact amount of ordinary No. 2 Hard Winter Wheat necessary to pay for his policy. It also gives the equivalent in two other grades and in cash, so that he has four options—can pay in cash, or in his choice three grades of wheat. He can even pay now, in wheat, his premium for insurance on the 1940 crop.

"This is the only crop insurance," our supervisor explains, "the cost of which is based on actual production and loss information compiled by counties and by farms. Thus, through a period of better seasons, better farming and use of better seed, it is possible for a community to lower its risk rate. By a nation-wide system of handling the wheat which represents premium paid, and constitutes its reserve, from which indemnity payments will be made, the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation affects economies in the cost to the grower of this insurance, prevents much local business hardship in communities subject to crop failures and exerts a stabilizing influence on prices.

"A number of large insurance companies, to which the plan of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation was submitted, approved it as sound and an improvement over other services. These companies own many farms and are financially able to carry their own insurance, but several of them are buying Federal Crop Insurance Corporation policies on their 1939 wheat and are urging their tenants to do the same."

BANGS GROWER HAS FIRST COTTON BALE GINNED THIS YEAR

Brown county's first bale of 1938 cotton was ginned last Thursday afternoon by the Bangs Ginning Company for J. H. Buse, a resident of the Concord community. Mr. Buse brought in the first bale of last year on August 12 and the first bale in 1931 on August 14.

Grown from 16 acres on the Buse farm, six miles south of Bangs, the 590-pound bale was ginned from 1,550 pounds of seed cotton. The lint graded strict middling.

The bale was auctioned to Peyton Dick of the Modern Way Grocery of Bangs on a 11.40-cent bid, the bale bringing $67.26. Bangs business men donated $38.25 as a premium for the first bale. Seed from the cotton was sold at the gin on the basis of $20 per ton, bringing $5.50. Receipts from the first bale, including premium and seed, totaled $114.11.

Ginners in this section are expecting several bales of cotton within the near future from farmers who were striving for the first bale record. During the past 48 years, almost all first bales have been ginned during the month of August. The earliest first bale ever ginned in Brown county, according to available records, was ginned July 29, 1896. August 31 is the latest date that cotton has been ginned in the county for the first bale. On this date in 1926, T. O. Sybert brought in cotton that sold for 25 cents.

WHITESIDES COMES IN FOR 25 BARRELS; NEW WELLS STARTED

Twenty-five barrels or more of daily production was added to the Thrifty field in the closing days of last week with the completion of the J. A. Whiteside and C. A. Rosers well on the A. J. Newton tract, a mile west of Thrifty, which was in the top of the sand with a good show of oil when last week's summary of the Brown county oil news was given.

Following the bringing in of the 25-barrel producer, the past week has been featureless so far as completions in the Brown county fields are concerned, but has seen the starting of several new tests and finds at this time at least two wells at stages that give prospects of additional production before the week ends.

Gilcrease Oil Company's No. 5 J. M. Perry, in the Thrifty area, drilling Thursday morning at 1,125 feet, is expected to reach the pay sometime Friday.

W. D. Cunningham's No. 1 on the Harris and Pittman tract, in the Salt Creek area eight miles northeast of Brownwood, is in the lower part of the Ranger lime, below 1,875 feet, with a show of oil, and should give its verdict within the next day or two. It is 1,260 feet northeast of the producing well on the J. L. Horton farm.

Work is starting on the Whiteside and Rogers No. 1 Newton. (This is their second well on the lease, their No. 2 location having been drilled first). This is 300 feet west of their new producer, in the southwest corner of the 243-acre lease.

FSA SUPERVISORS TO GIVE DEMONSTRATION IN FRAME GARDENING

Frame gardens and sub-irrigation of small plots were the subjects of a demonstration and lecture given by Assistant FSA County Supervisor E. T. Hughes, and FSA County Home Supervisor Cricket B. Shankle at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Will T. Vernon of the Union Grove community on Wednesday. Mr. Hughes gave a demonstration on the types of materials to be used for sub-irrigating gardens, and explained their construction. With the use of pictures and charts, Mrs. Shankle discussed food requirements for family needs, and the advantages and economy of the frame and sub-irrigated gardens as an aid in providing green leafy and yellow vegetables throughout the year for table use. Those attending were: Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Goss, J. T. Hamlett, William O. Morgan, Mannas Yearbrough, and Mr. J. C. Sharrack, Will T. Vernon and N. N. Clark.

A demonstration will be held at the home of A. O. McHorse, Route 4, Brownwood, on Friday, August 26, at 2:30, showing the construction of frame gardens, and a discussion of sub-irrigation for small gardens will be held. A demonstration is planned to show at this time the molding of concrete tile to be used for sub-irrigation. All interested persons are invited to attend.

1938 Crop Damaged

What threatens to be the most serious bollworm damage in recent history has begun in Brown county cotton fields, following the abnormal midsummer rains which fell over a wide area of West Central Texas.

While state agricultural experts viewed with alarm an invasion of pink bollworms in South Texas areas, farmers here watched growing damage from the ordinary type of pest known here in previous seasons. Some producers in this county applied calcium arsenate poisoning to their plants, but severe damage has been fairly general over the entire county, the county agent's office has reported.

Cursor surveys made in fields in the Brownwood area show that in some instances more than half the bolls have been attacked, and in others the damage is expected to attain that percentage, at least.

Rumors that the pink bollworm invasion has reached Brown county are discredited by authorities here. It is possibly true that some fields have the more active, and more dangerous pink worm, but the threat is not general, so far as examinations thus far have indicated, experts say.

While the damage from bollworm has increased seriously in this county due to the unusual rains, a boll weevil loss is considered about average. The July rains came a little late for the crops to suffer a greatly increased amount of harm from the weevils.

Mitcham Site

Rig is being moved in for a well by G. P. Mitcham on a 6 1/4-acre Newton lease, immediately west of the Whiteside lease. Location is 300 feet west of the Whitesides and Rogers well now starting.

Sam Weiner No. 1 Mrs. M. Beck, in the W. D. Gully block between Owens and Holder, is drilling below 1,700 feet. The well struck a flow of gas estimated at around a million feet, with slight show of oil, in the sand at 1,114-28 feet.

W. W. Lininger No. 1 Coomer, three miles northeast of Brownwood, was spudded Tuesday. This takes the place of the Lininger well spudded in on the Dr. D. R. Scott tract a few weeks ago with small rig. The Coomer tract contract is for a Ranger lime test. Ward Preston is contractor.

LEW BRAY WILL BE MOVED TO DALLAS

Effective September 6, Lew Bray, for the past year and a half manager of the Lyric Theatre in Brownwood will be transferred to Dallas and promoted to a better position. Bray's successor here has not yet been announced by the Interstate circuit, owner of the local theatre.

Bray will have charge of the picture bookings for about forty theatres of the Interstate circuit when he assumes his duties in Dallas.

"I regret the necessity of moving from Brownwood," he said, "but Dallas is a home, this is a nice promotion for me and of course I am happy to accept it."

There is a light visible in southern latitudes called the Aurora Australis.

TO THE VOTERS OF COMMISSIONER'S PRECINCT NO. 1 WHICH INCLUDES WARD NO. 4, BROWNWOOD

On account of much road repairs in my precinct made necessary by recent heavy rains and washouts, I have not been able to contact all the voters personally to solicit their support in the run-off for commissioner. However, I believe that most of the voters of the precinct know the character of service that I have rendered in the past, and from this they may form a correct idea of what character of service they may expect, if they elect me for another term. I have always stood for economy in county government. The roads that I have built and improved in my precinct, and those I am now building and improving, show my interest in that line of service. This work has been done at a minimum of cost to the taxpayers. Furthermore, the records will show that I have not only conserved my precinct funds, but have practically all the time had a substantial cash balance to the credit of my precinct in the bank.

On the basis of my record as your County Commissioner, I solicit your support in the election on August 27th. I believe that you will agree with me in the statement that experience in this office is a tremendous asset. It requires years of study and experience to be able to grasp and solve the problems which constantly arise in the office. With efficiency, I have tried to combine courtesy and a square deal to all.

I shall greatly appreciate your continued confidence and support.

Yours very truly,
E. S. THOMPSON,
Commissioner of Precinct No. 1

Home Folks Protest
3000 Voters of Tom Green County continue to oppose their home candidate . . . Why?
PENROSE METCALFE

The following letter is self-explanatory:
San Angelo, Texas, August 20th, 1933

TO MR. AND MRS. COMMON CITIZEN:

We would like to have a heart to heart talk with you regarding this matter, but this being impossible, we take this means of conveying our thoughts. Practically every time Mr. Metcalfe has run for office from Tom Green County there have been approximately 3000 votes cast against him. Certainly there are reasons for such opposition from the voters of Tom Green County. Below we cite several of these reasons:

1. He has been against the old people in getting their old age assistance.
2. He has favored the wealthy class of which he is a member.
3. The common man cannot get hearing from him, but must work through some influential person.
4. He does not know the common man.
5. He opposed or failed to support rural schools.
6. He helped pass a law interfering with the rights of ordinary men in their hunting and fishing.

We have no malice towards Mr. Metcalfe, but believe that the best interests of this District will be served by the election of Ross Prescott of Brown County whom we believe is a fine, upright and capable young man.

New Delicacy Is Yielded By Old Garden Favorite

That old garden favorite, the pumpkin, is providing epicures with a new vegetable delicacy. The fried pumpkin blossom makes a very tasty dish.

Great care in picking a mess of blossoms is advised, however, lest the gardener beat himself out of his pumpkin crop. Female blossoms, those with the little node on the stem which develops into the pumpkin proper, must not be disturbed. The other blossoms, the male, mature no fruit. In the normal course of events they just shrivel and die and may as well be plucked and fried.

To prepare blossoms for eating, the epicures dip them in a batter such as is used for frying egg plant or squash. They may be fried in rich fat in a skillet, or better, French fried in deep fat. Many pumpkin blossom fans insist on having them served with maple syrup.

Regular picking of Cucumbers Important
When cucumbers begin to bear, they should be picked two times a week, even though they cannot be immediately disposed of.

Records show that regular picking contributes to an increased yield over the season, the picking of fruits serving to stimulate additional production. In this respect cucumbers are like many of the popular annual flowers. They should have their blossoms cut regularly to promote blooming over a long season.

Can Pineapples

The pineapple is credited with being an aid to the digestion and a better source of protective food than most fruits, according to Miss Grace I. Neely, food preservation specialist of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service. "Pineapple is not only a good food, but when we consider that it may be bought and canned for one-half or one-third of the price we pay for a good grade of canned pineapple, it also a good investment," she said.

"Home canning of pineapple is a regular practice with many home demonstration club members, according to the foods specialist. She pointed to the cooperative purchase of a truck load of pineapples by home demonstration women of Parker county recently.

A committee there made arrangements to bring 100 dozen fresh pineapples, averaging 7 pounds in weight, to Weatherford at a price of $1.50 a dozen. The fruit, which was grown in Mexico, was gathered direct from the field and loaded in the truck. The entire load was disposed of between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m.

The women who canned the pineapple reported an average of 40 pint containers from each dozen fruits.

A similar procedure was used in McCulloch county, where club girls bought 100 dozen pineapples and canned them for a total expense of 7 1/2 cents a pint.

All over the state 4-H club girls and home demonstration club members have been realizing savings and adding to the variety of their families' diet by canning this fruit. Directions on canning may be obtained from county home demonstration agents, Miss Neeley said.

SHEEP SENSE

By T. C. Richardson, Secretary Breeder-Feeder Association

Present conditions in the wool market are favorable for starting a farm flock with a comparatively small investment. Many people enter a new enterprise only when it is booming, pays high initial costs, and fight a losing battle against inexperience and high investment. The smart ones buy when others are anxious to sell and ride the cycle on the upward swing instead of downward, getting experience at low cost. Sheep husbandry is no exception to the rule calling for both good judgment and experience.

Farms with ample feed and small grains for winter pasture need only fences, water and shelter to handle a farm flock. Some have found aged bred ewes preferable as a beginning, since they offer a quick return in both early lambs and a wool clip. Aged ewes will thrive on the farm where feed is ample and better care can be given after they have ceased to be profitable on the open range, hence they are often a better "buy" for the beginner than the yearlings and two which the range sheepman prefers, and which he holds at a proportionally higher price.

If open ewes are bought off the range and placed on comparatively luxuriant feed on the farm they will usually breed readily in a few weeks, and the ram should be on hand. The change from short feed to good feed is equivalent to "flushing" to encourage breeding, a practice as old as the modern sheep industry. If ewes are already on good pasture it is common to give them a small amount of grain for the same purpose.

"We understand that the deposit is not the same as a premium payment, although the advantages to the wheat grower are about the same," George Slaughter, chairman of the committee, said in commenting on the information.

The corporation is not permitted to sell crop insurance policies for more than the current year and can enter a contract with a wheat grower for only one year. However, it may accept deposits of wheat for 1940 premiums. The corporation will pay storage costs on such deposits as in the case of wheat premiums paid in for 1939 insurance.

"When a wheat grower pays above his premium for 1939 crop insurance, an additional amount of wheat as deposit with the corporation, he will be issued a receipt. He cannot deposit more wheat than the number of bushels he pays as premium for 1939 insurance. This amount of wheat may be more or less than his 1940 premium, which will not be determined until next year, but it is expected that it will approximate the amount of the 1940 premium," Slaughter explained.

Saturday is election day. The second Democratic primary, in which nominees will be selected in those contests in which no nomination was made in July, is to be held this week. Apparently, from the lack of general interest in the event, as contrasted to the fever heat of the July primary, few realize the day is close at hand. Hence, this timely warning may be needed.

Election Day

In spite of the fact that a number of important state, district, county and precinct offices are to be filled this week, voters generally have showed no great interest in the election. This is due to the fact that in the state, there is no contest in the Governor's race; in the county most of the offices were filled last month, and there are fewer precinct contests than usual.

Those offices to be filled are important. Saturday Texas will select a Lieutenant Governor, an Attorney General, a Railroad Commissioner, a Commissioner of the General Land Office and two judges of the highest courts in civil and criminal jurisdiction. There are but two candidates for each office; but each office is of such importance to all of the people that care should be exercised in the selection of candidates. Six of these candidates bear the endorsement of W. Lee O'Daniel, nominated in July for Governor. This endorsement has been the cause of much discussion during the past few weeks; but even this discussion is not expected to be enough to bring out a big vote in Texas.

In the 25th Senatorial District, a warm contest is being waged for State Senator. Ross Prescott of Brownwood and Penrose Metcalfe of San Angelo, both present members of the Legislature, are the opposing candidates. The Banner previously has given endorsement to the candidacy of Mr. Prescott. We feel that the best interests of the district, and particularly this immediate part of the district, will be served through his election. We feel that everyone in Brown and surrounding counties should make it a point to go to the polls on election day, if for no other reason, then to vote in this race. Your State Senator and your Representative in the Legislature are the only direct representatives in making the laws. You are liable to need to call on them frequently during the next few years.

Only one county contest will be decided Saturday, that of County Superintendent. Two commissioners will be nominated, in precincts 1 and 2, and a constable will be selected in precinct 1.

Regardless of how you intend to vote, be sure to go to the polls Saturday and cast your ballot.

There is something fine and dramatic about the action of the parishoners of St. Barbara's church in Vulcan, Michigan, whose protest against the transfer of their priest, Father Simon Borkowski, has made news throughout the world during the past week. The priest has been kept a prisoner in his own rectory for several days by members of his church who are picketing the grounds in a determined effort to prevent the action.

Picketing the Priest

It is hard to picture the keen disappointment of the miners and farmers who make up most of the flock of the beloved priest at the prospect of losing the companionship and guidance of Father Simon. For seventeen years he has been "loaned" to the church; so long that his services have ceased to be those of the evangelist or the stranger in the midst. His presence has become accepted as a part of the regular order of things; his spiritual guidance has become something vital and important and necessary to those who throughout the years have sought and received his aid. Children whom he christened when he first came into the parish have grown to young manhood and young womanhood under the benefit of his spiritual counsel.

Probably few had realized his value to the community until the time came for him to leave. But when that time came, those who knew and loved him and had benefited greatly from his life among them were quick to speak out in no uncertain terms.

There are many Father Simons in many parts of the world, but few have such parishoners. As this is written, there is no later news, but we hope that the parishoners win their point—and keep their priest.

This year, if past precedent holds, some 1,500 people will be cremated in burning buildings. Six thousand more will die as the results of burns and scalds.

When an airplane crashes and a dozen people burn to death, the news makes international headlines and the world is horrified. Yet the public at large is callous to the fact that our annual total of deaths from fires is greater than the toll would be from 600 airplanes carrying to flaming doom 12 persons each.

Practically every one of those thousands of fire deaths could easily be prevented. Due to the carelessness of adults, children are among the principal sufferers. Unprotected stoves, matches left about, steam and hot water—these are major causes of death and suffering among the very young. Death takes no holiday when those things which may cause fires and scalds are within reach of a child's untaught, exploring fingers.

Equally dangerous, particularly in the case of adults, is the practice of starting stoves and furnaces with kerosene, gasoline or other inflammable liquids. You may get away with it a thousand times. But the thousandth and first time may mean a job for the undertaker—with you and possibly others as the objects of interest.

Next time you read of a spectacular disaster, reflect that something equally horrible can occur in your home. Think of this before you stir up a balky fire with kerosene. Think of it again when children are about. It is easy to prevent a fire—but it is impossible to ever make up for the consequences of a fire that takes a life.

I am bigger than anything that can happen to me. All these things—sorrow, misfortune, and suffering are outside my door. I am in the house and I have the Key.—Charles Lummis.

Behavior is a mirror in which everyone shows his image.—Goethe.

The habitual struggle to be always good is unceasing prayer.—Mary Baker Eddy.

What we think or what we know or what we believe is in the end, of little consequence—the only thing of consequence is what we do.—Ruskin.

The MARCH OF TIME

A BANNER Feature by the Editors of TIME, The Weekly Newsmagazine

Head Examined . . .

DETROIT, Michigan—Added to the host of Third Termites busily boring into the frame of U. S. politics last week was the biggest and best to date—Democratic National Chairman James Aloysius Farley. At Mackinac Island, where he went to exhort Michigan Democrats to elect Rooseveltians to Congress, he was asked about his own Presidential ambitions for 1940. Bluntly Jim Farley replied: "Anybody who indicates his candidacy for the Presidency before Roosevelt makes up his mind whether to run again ought to have his head examined."

Wonderful Law . . .

WASHINGTON—To the farmers of the South, President Roosevelt last week addressed an apology for the slow and imperfect functioning of the new Agricultural Adjustment Act. Trouble was, he explained, it was passed too late (February) to organize its administration properly in time to help with this year's cotton, tobacco and peanut crops. The President said he would get Secretary Wallace busy about it at once. In Washington, Secretary Wallace, worried about slumping farm prices of all kinds, sounded off to 200 AAA state committeemen: "The law is wonderful as drawn . . . Make it work!"

Richard and WPA . . .

SMITHFIELD, Pennsylvania—Richard Malone of Smithfield received a letter last month identifying him as WPA Worker No. 44756-3832 and assigned him to work on a local road project. His parents, on relief, did nothing about it; obviously it was a clerical error. When Richard received another letter, firing him from the job for failure to report, his brother Albert, 20, went to WPA headquarters, explained that Richard aged 7, was in the second grade. WPA headquarters then cut the Malone family off relief. At length Brother Albert got himself certified as the "priority worker" of the family and was awarded the job originally assigned to Richard. Richard Malone last week received a WPA check for $6.54 for 13 hours of manual labor. Father Malone returned the check, but this time the story got into the newspapers. Suspended under suspicion of collusion were two WPA time-keepers, Gilbert Colley and Max Wheeler, and Richard Malone actually got a job posting for photographers, sitting down, with pick and shovel beside him.

Three Candles . . .

WASHINGTON—In August 1935, Franklin Roosevelt signed the Social Security Act. Last weekend the third anniversary of Social Security was celebrated with speeches by Franklin Roosevelt, John L. Lewis of C.I.O., William Green of A. F. of L. and a statement by Chairman Arthur J. Altmeyer of the Social Security Board. Franklin Roosevelt said: "If the people had chosen a reactionary administration or a 'do nothing' Congress, Social Security would still be in the conversational stage . . ." John Lewis said: "We shall press for future advances. Much remains to insure an adequate program." Chairman Altmeyer said: "No legislation in our time has so taken hold of America. In three years we have made astounding headway. He forecast extension of Social Security benefits to agricultural labor and domestic servants."

increased benefits for persons already covered, perhaps health protection.

The provisions of the Act requiring keeping track of the earnings of nearly 40,000,000 persons. For this, the world's biggest accounting job the Social Security Board has 10,000 employees. As part of Social Security's third birthday party a three-year summary of facts and figures was issued.

Total of Social Security taxes collected: $588,000,000. About 1,000,000 unemployed now received insurance benefits, averaging around $10 a week.

Amount of unemployment benefits distributed in the first six months of 1935: $180,000,000.

Regular monthly payments under old-age insurance do not start until 1942 but beginning in 1937 lump-sum payments have been made to persons reaching the age of 65. Total sum of such payments to date: $5,000,000.

Pensions (outside the insurance system and paid for half-and-half by the Federal Government and the States) are now being made to 1,700,000 aged poor people (average $19.26 a month), to 29,000 needy blind (average $23.18), to 243,000 families with dependent children (average $31.30).

Interest collected to date by the Social Security fund on its investment of old-age reserves in Government Securities: $18,000,000.

International Affection . . .

BRUSSELS, Belgium—Newspapers in Brussels last week secured a photostatic copy of the memo on White House stationery which the President sent to new U. S. Ambassador to Belgium Joseph E. Davies when he was about to present his credentials last month to Leopold III, King of the Belgians: "Dear Joe: Give my really affectionate regards to the King—FDR."

Million Mobilized . . .

BERLIN, Germany—French war games staged last week brought 20,000 men into action and the U. S. staged maneuvers with about an equal number. Meanwhile, Adolf Hitler ordered to the swastika colors no less than 1,000,000 men, the most up-to-date, although far from the largest, army in Europe.

For the first time since the World War, Germany called up for maneuvers not only army units but also reservists—the newly trained classes of 1934, 1935 and 1936, plus units of the Landwehr including men in their late 30s and early 40s, some World War veterans.

German citizens got scores of reminders that, as during the last war, their needs are still wholly subordinate to the army's. In Munich and in most German cities near the Eastern border, people waited on street corners for the motor busses which usually take them to work, then were told they had better walk, since the army had commandeered the busses. Even mail trucks of the German Post office stopped delivering letters, began delivering soldiers' reservists and supplies. As men called to the colors left their jobs all over Germany, none knowing how soon he could return, German women were sent to fill many of the vacancies.

The number of workers conscripted throughout Germany for rush work digging trenches, stringing barbed wire and erecting cement pillboxes rose to 200,000. Road contractors in southern Germany were also busy on rush orders to improve the surfacing of roads leading to the Czechoslovak frontier "to withstand more heavy traffic."

Many physicians in Munich received orders to leave their private practice and report for "50 days' service" with the army medical corps, each doctor to bring with him food for two days and two changes of linen. The army bought foodstuffs at such a rate that private German grocers reported they could not get many staples.

Meanwhile, German householders in the eastern frontier regions were advised that troops would be billeted in their homes. Farmers throughout Germany were ordered to rush their harvesting, complete it by the first of this week if possible, and be ready to have their horses requisitioned by the army.

Since there had been no army mobilization on this scale in Germany since 1914, the reactions of the German people last week were marked nervousness and alarm. It was plain that Adolf Hitler wanted all Europe to hear about and be frightened by his mobilization.

Europe stood by watchfully but refused to be seriously alarmed. Military experts reported that the German Army probably needed exercise because its march into Austria last spring revealed several technical weaknesses in its service of supply, etc., and its reservists—following post-war disarmament—are just now beginning to reach significant numbers and need training. Last week Europe was in a mood to let Adolf Hitler exercise his boys and put on a show.

Safety Anomalies . . .

ANN ARBOR, Michigan—Some people professionally preoccupied with the traffic problem went last week to Ann Arbor for the two-week National Institute for Traffic Safety Training, held at the University of Michigan. There they paid $10, got a room at the Michigan Union, signed up for classes, learned several things that might have surprised many a U. S. motorist: "That a 'high grade moron' makes a better driver than an intelligent man, because intelligent people are apt to think of other things while driving."

"That people with bad eyes and slightly deaf ears drive better than people who can hear (and worry about) every body squeak and can see a pretty girl two blocks off."

"That after a blowout, as after a skid it is dangerous to put on the brakes until the car has slowed down and come under control. But the biggest anomaly on the curriculum was a demonstration to disprove the popular notion that driving would be made safer if governors were put on cars to limit their top speed. The students must pile up when a car with a governor, overtaking another found itself with inadequate emergency power to pass quickly as another car came in the opposite direction."

Game of Chance . . .

PHILADELPHIA, Pennsylvania—In a Philadelphia court, Isaac Thomas last week admitted having participated in a crap game. The judge handed him the evidence—a pair of dice—and commanded him to roll them. Thomas threw a five, a three. Sentence: eight days.

Figures and Stamps . . .

NEW YORK—Figures on the cinema industry compiled in the current edition of Martin Quigley's annual "International Motion Picture Almanac," published this week.

Weekly U. S. attendance, $3,000,000 to $8,000,000; weekly world attendance 220,000,000; cost of U. S. 1937-38 production, $125,000,000; average U. S. admission price, 22c; Hollywood payroll, $86,000,000; total U. S. theatres, 17,541; total U. S. investment, $2,000,000,000.

To Postmaster General James A. Farley, cinema Director John M. Stahl last week addressed a request for a series of U. S. postage stamps exhibiting the likenesses of movie actors. Said Director Stahl: "I am convinced that the plan presents exceptional economic and artistic possibilities. Certainly the post office business would increase with stamps bearing replicas of Shirley Temple, Norma Shearer, Irene Dunne, Deanna Durbin, Clark Gable, Charlie Chaplin and even Charlie McCarthy and Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs."

More Men . . .

NEW YORK—In colonial days the typical U. S. teacher was a man. As late as 60 years ago two of every five U. S. public school teachers were men. Then the proportion of masters to ma'ams dropped rapidly, until by 1930 more than five-sixths of the teachers were women, and many a critic cried that the nation's children were apron-tethered. But New York City's school system last week published some figures that pleased these critics. Driven into teaching from law, medicine and business by Depression, men now constitute nearly 18% of the city's teaching staff, against 14% ten years ago. In the high schools, one of every two new teachers appointed is a man.

Corrizan is one of those lucky Irish who started somewhere and landed somewhere else, but he's not the only one I know. I heard of a guy who started out to sit up with a sick friend and landed up in the divorce court . . . and another who started out in the Masonic Lodge and landed in the hospital. These other guys may not have had the luck of the Irish in that their landings didn't pay quite so well, but they got in the headlines.

Hoary and seven hi-yi-yigles . . . for the good horse sense those west Texas Newspaper folks are still displaying. Upon recommendation of Sheriff Jack Hallmark, Lee Guthrie of Brownwood was made a deputy sheriff by Brown County Commissioners Court at the regular session Monday morning.

The court also approved a bid of $4,390, made by Nicholson Equipment Co. of San Angelo, for the purchase of a wagon scraper to be used on roads and in construction work in precinct 4.

A discussion of conditions in the county and approving of bids occupied the court's attention for the session. All commissioners were present.

With the Runoff Candidates

Giles Points to 17 Years' Experience Land Office Work

Bascom Giles, run-off candidate for State land commissioner, is winding up his aggressive campaign to bring Texas a change in the administration of the land office in a final hard drive this week.

His candidacy has been pushed to the forefront with Governor-elect W. Lee O'Daniel saying he favors Giles for land commissioner during his administration.

Giles, 37, with 17 years working experience in the Texas land office under former Commissioners J. T.

Robinson and J. H. Walker, who endorsed him, is seeking election to office for the first time.

Giles is pledged to stop vacancy racketeering, clouding of land titles, outside business dominating the land office, gambling with millions of dollars in school funds and favoritism in awarding leases on State lands. His platform is aimed "to restore confidence in the land office."

Citizens in Home County Endorsing James A. Stephens

Editors, public officials, and fellow bar members of his home county have endorsed the candidacy of Judge James A. Stephens of Knox county for the office of Judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals.

The Bar Association issued the following statement:

"We unanimously endorse Judge James A. Stephens, who has been a member of the Knox County Bar for 40 years, as a clean, courteous Christian gentleman who is qualified in every respect to fill the office which he seeks. (Signed) D. J. Brookerson, president, J. C. Patterson, secretary.

Judge Stephens was praised by the officials of the county in the following letter:

"We, the elected public officials of Knox county, unreservedly endorse and recommend Judge Stephens to the voters of Texas as being one who is in every way qualified to make Texas a great Judge; L. O. Newton, District Judge; L. M. Williams, district attorney; E. L. Covey, county judge; Edze Jones, Wm. Griffith, O. L. Patterson, O. W. Welch, commissioners; J. C. Patterson, county attorney; M. T. Chamberlain, county clerk; Lee Coffman, district clerk; Louis Cartwright, sheriff; Mrs. J. T. House, treasurer; E. B. Sims, assessor-collector; and J. L. Hughes, county superintendent."

Editors endorsed Judge Stephens in the following letter:

"We, the newspaper editors of Knox county, hereby recommend Judge James A. Stephens to the people of Texas as being one of the outstanding attorneys of West Texas and well qualified for the position of Judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals. W. L. Garner, Knox City Herald; Grady Roberts, Munday Times; H. E. Covey, Goree Advocate.

Woodul summed up the "indisputable facts" as follows:

"1. The attorney general, as the chief lawyer, should be a seasoned attorney of outstanding ability and integrity.

"2. I am qualified by 20 years' successful law practice and the experience of nine years' faithful honorable public service as senator and lieutenant governor.

"3. My candidacy is endorsed and my legal ability and moral character attested, by the seven district judges of my home county, by four former attorneys general and many other reputable lawyers and legislative colleagues.

"4. Governor-nominate W. Lee O'Daniel has endorsed my candidacy, believing me best fitted to give him legal advice and assistance in carrying out his program. I have pledged him my full cooperation, and a vigorous enforcement of the laws.

"5. My opponent's professional experience since finishing his law course at Harvard in 1934 has been almost entirely that of a professional politician—making his living at full-time, full-pay political jobs, without approval of the voters. He served six weeks as assistant attorney general, and seven months as secretary of state, both under Alfred's appointment, and then was on Alfred's state planning board until the money ran out. As far as I can learn he never has tried a district court lawsuit, and has no real legal experience."

Two of Texas' outstanding district judges last week joined judges of the appellate courts in endorsing the candidacy of Associate Justice Richard Critz for re-election to a first full term on the Supreme Court.

Judge Sarah T. Hughes of Dallas, only woman district judge in the state, and Judge Few Brewster of Temple, president of the District Judges Association, made talks for Judge Critz. Both talks were broadcast over statewide hookups.

All members and former members of the Supreme Court and Supreme Court Commission previously had endorsed Judge Critz's candidacy. More than three-fourths of the state's lawyers have urged his re-election.

Judge Critz himself spent a busy week last week, touring the Panhandle, South Plains and West Texas.

His schedule this week called for visits in Lonview, Tyler, Henderson, Carthage, Nacozoches, Lufkin, Crockett, Palestine, Jacksontonville, Athens, Corsicana, Groesbeck, Mexia and Marlin.

Judge Critz is now serving the unexpired portion of the term of Judge William Pierson, who was slain in 1935.

Talks in behalf of his candidacy are scheduled this week by Dr. C. S. Potts, dean of the Southern Methodist University law school, who formerly headed the University of Texas law school; and by District Judge T. L. McCullough of Dallas.

C. V. Terrell, railroad commission chairman, was drawing to a close in this area Friday a long, hard campaign for reelection which has sent him scooting some 25,000 miles over the state.

The veteran commissioner, favored by a landslide of endorsements from state, sectional and religious leaders and by all of the state's leading newspapers, played "hopscoth" over Texas this week, travelling by soundcar in the daytime, by train to a new section overnight. In this fashion, he actually concluded his campaign thru last-week appearances in Southwest Texas, Northeast Texas, Central Texas and Northwest Texas with his final appearance being at a big rally in Fort Worth on election eve.

Mr. Terrell summed up his campaign and its issues simply.

"Either the best informed people in the state about our business affairs know what they are talking about—or they don't," he said. "Either my reelection is of paramount importance to the continued progress and prosperity of our state, and will be of aid in paying pensions and other government obligations, or all my endorsees are wrong.

"Abraham Lincoln's expression about fooling all of the people part of the time, and part of the people all of the time applies here. You just can't fool all of the people all of the time—and my opponent is finding that out.

"I expect to win on August 27 by a sizeable majority."

M'DONALD ANSWERS OPPONENT'S CHARGE OF INCOMPETENCY

Firm in the belief that Texas voters, who gave him a lead of 206,000 votes in the first primary, will return him to office for a second term on Aug. 27, Land Commissioner William H. McDonald of Eastland county this week wound up his campaign with a series of speeches in several parts of the state.

For the past two weeks McDonald has been speaking daily in behalf of his candidacy.

"It may have occurred to many of the voters," he said, "that the 1938 campaign for land commissioner is but a continuation of the campaign made against me when I was first elected in 1936.

"The same selfish and monopolistic interests opposed me then. In spite of their opposition and because the people of Texas want their land commissioner to represent the people of Texas rather than the soulless corporations William H. McDonald was elected in 1936 by an overwhelming majority."

McDonald stated that he has insisted on serving the people during his first term in office, rather than the big interests, and for that very reason a bitter campaign is being waged again by certain corporations.

"These monopolistic companies and the political tricksters hired by them have continued to make their false charges against me, but the voters will not be deceived," the commissioner predicted.

"The voters know that I have served them well—that I have increased revenues to the school fund by $3,000,000 more in a single year than was ever previously received by the land office."

That $3,000,000, placed in the state treasury for the benefit of the school fund, was McDonald's answer to charges of his opponent that the land office has not been properly administered.

Jerry Sadler Choice Of "Plain People," Candidate Declares

Despite the "gang of professional politicians" opposing him, G. A. Jerry Sadler, 39-year old Longview attorney, predicted that the plain people of Texas would rally to a man to defeat "machine politics" and elect him to the Texas Railroad Commission August 27th.

Sadler made this prediction after completing a whirlwind campaign tour which took him into practically every part of the state. He pointed out that all of the ex-candidates who were rejected in the July primary were supporting his opponent, besides the governor's cohorts, a three-time repudiated gubernatorial candidate and most of the big newspapers in the state.

"Why are they ganging up on me?" Sadler asked. "I'll tell you why. They don't want the plain people of Texas to have a voice in the government. They want to save this last stronghold of the professional politicians, and they are trying to perpetuate this dean of them all—my opponent, who has feasted off public funds for more than half a century, and that's a mighty long time for one man to have his head in the taxpayers' trough. We must defeat their challenge.

"They say I'm an 'unknown quantity.' But let me remind you that by the same token George Washington at Valley Forge was an 'unknown quantity,' Woodrow Wilson was an 'unknown quantity' when he was elected president, and Sam Houston was an 'unknown quantity' in the mudflats of Buffalo Bayou. I am humbly proud that my opposition has been so gracious as to place me in the same classification with these immortals."

Sadler reaffirmed his pledge never to betray the trust and confidence of the Average Man and the Average Woman.

Stevenson Charges Brooks As Being "Unsportsmanlike"

Coke Stevenson's opponent received only 33,000 votes out of 1,053,000 as a candidate for governor two years ago and the same man survived the first primary this year in the lieutenant governor's race only because of direct misrepresentations made to the people, Stevenson has declared.

State Senator Doss Hardin of Limestone county speaking in Mr. Stevenson's behalf said that "the alleged Dallas business man is waging a campaign of falsehoods and slander over Mexican radio stations through the medium of recorded speeches." "This man has stooped so low in the field of political sportsmanship," Hardin said "that he has employed radio stations in a foreign country where he is not subject to the rules of fair play and decency."

"Both before and since the first primary," Stevenson said, "my opponent deliberately sought to fool the people into believing that he was the running mate of W. Lee O'Daniel. He has imported high pressure salesmen from his out-of-state real estate promotional enterprises and these men are going about the state making misrepresentations."

Stevenson said that the office of lieutenant governor is one that requires training. He declared that his opponent knows little or nothing about the processes of legislation and for the people to select such a person to preside over the Senate would be as reckless as for the Texas baseball league to employ an umpire who had never seen a baseball game.

Wishes to state that he is giving his complete and undivided time to the office of Constable and has been doing so for some five months. He also invites you to examine the records and see the work that has been done while he has had this office and if this record merits the next term your vote and influence will be appreciated.

Fellow Members of Legal Profession Endorsing Woodul

"Fight Won," Says Candidate Woodul

"A surely as Texas voters are fair-minded, reasonable people who want the best government they can get, the fight is won."

So declared Walter Woodul, who punched a typewriter and washed dishes to gain his law education, in a speech at Rockwall Thursday anticipating the near end of his campaign to become attorney general, the No. 1 lawyer of the state government.

"I have conducted a clean campaign," he declared. "I've taken no slush funds from oil or other interests seeking valuable favors in an attempt to buy the office. I've thrown no mud, raised no false issues to camouflage a lack of fitness. With the help of friends I've taken my case to all Texas, and after weighing the indisputable facts I've submitted, I know the voters will raise the 340,453 votes with which I led the field in the first primary, to an overwhelming majority Saturday."

Business Manager Of Clinic Will Be Commander in CCC

A senior lieutenant in the naval reserve, a rank corresponding with that of captain in the army, O. L. Billingsley, business manager of Medical Arts Clinic, last week received orders from the War Department to report September 1 at Fort McClellan, Alabama, for a two-weeks training course, after which he will be placed in command of a CCC camp in the area served by the fort. Billingsley will leave for Alabama Sunday.

Since attending the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis from 1916 through 1919, Billingsley has been in the investment and finance business in Brownwood, and was manager of the Standard Investment Co. of Dallas. Business manager of the local clinic for the past four years, he has served as a member of Brown County Volunteer Parade Board and has acted as secretary of the Brownwood Lions club for the past several years.

His successor in the Clinic position has not yet been named.

TRAIN INJURIES ARE FATAL TO MAN HERE

Herman D. Wayne, 28, died at 6:30 Wednesday afternoon of injuries received about noon when he attempted to board a moving Santa Fe train near the Fisk Avenue crossing. He was taken to Medical Arts Hospital where efforts to save his life failed. The lower part of his body and both legs were crushed under the train. Surgeons amputated both legs near the knees.

Identification was made by hospital authorities from a social security card found on his body, and from brief information the injured man gave witnesses of the accident before he lapsed into unconsciousness.

Wayne's body was taken to Lubbock Thursday night for burial.

BISHOP FIRM IS GIVEN UNIT THREE CONTRACT

Cage Brothers and L. A. Turner, Bishop, Texas, submitted a low bid of $447,879.72 to Brown County Water Improvement District on unit three of the district's Pecan Valley irrigation and water distribution project. The unit, when completed, will round out the two-million dollar project which began with the construction of a dam across Pecan Bayou just below the point of conjunction with Jim Ned Creek nine miles north of Brownwood.

Incidental to the supply of irrigation water to approximately 100 agricultural property owners in 9000-acre block of fertile Bayou farmlands, in the total program is the establishment of a filtration plant and storage equipment for the city of Brownwood, atop Round Mountain, and the creation of Lake Brownwood State Park. The lake and park have made Brownwood a sportsman's mecca.

Provides Distribution
 Unit three will provide for the construction of steel and concrete pipes for a lateral distribution system for irrigation within the district; the construction of relief pump stations, with incidental equipment; and the construction of individual irrigation systems in the district.

Recommendation will be made to the Fort Worth PWA offices that the Cage Brothers bid be approved, and that the contract be awarded without delay. Water district officials said this morning. This will be the fourth major contract let since the water program began. The Briggs-Darby Company, Pharr, was awarded unit one contract, and the unit two work was split between Falbo and Siders, San Antonio, and Carrouthers and Crouch, Kansas City.

Mortality Rate of Infants, Mothers In County Shown

"In Texas during 1937, 698 mothers lost their lives through childbirth and associated conditions. Fatality struck 8618 babies under one year of age and 3,372 infants were stillborn. These facts become particularly distressing when it is realized that at least two-thirds of this motherhood mortality could have been avoided," states Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer.

Brown county had 462 total live births, of which 447 were white, 9 were negro, and 6 Mexican; 229 of the infants were male and 233 female. Physicians attended 476 births of 453 infants and midwives attended 4 births; 139 of the total births were in hospitals and 323 were at home; 13 children were stillborn, giving the county a rate of 2.8 per 100 live births; 23 children died under one year of age, a rate of 49.8 per 1000 live births, and 2 mothers died in childbirth, a rate of 43.3 per cent per 10,000 live births.

The city of Brownwood had 391 total births, and physicians attended the births of 259 of this total; 139 of the total infants were delivered in hospitals, and 162 at home.

"The State Health Department wishes to call attention to the fact that Texas is at last approaching the national average of infant and maternal mortality. In 1933 the nation as a whole had a maternal mortality of 62 while Texas' rate was 77; in 1934 the U. S. had a rate of 58 and Texas 73; in 1935 the nation came down to 58 and Texas stayed at the previous year's 73; in 1936 the nation had an average of 58 and Texas' was 69. The national average for 1937 is as yet unavailable but Texas has come down to 59. The infant mortality table presents a similar comparison. Advancing public health practices, better pre-natal and post-natal care, and better hygienic conditions contribute to this steadily diminishing percentage of Texas mothers and children lost in childbirth.

"Never before in the history of obstetrics have scientific precautions against complications been so advanced and so available as they are today. However, in spite of the improvement in the techniques involved and the further development of antiseptic control, the maternal mortality figures pathetically indicate that medical knowledge alone cannot solve the problem," Dr. Cox further stated.

"Generally speaking, innocent or wilful neglect is largely responsible for the preventable maternal deaths. It is to be emphasized that the proper time for expectant mothers to seek medical attention is when the expectancy is first realized.

"Indeed, prenatal care is the great defense against any of the conditions that cause tragedy at birth. Consequently, expectant mothers should place themselves under the supervision of a physician at the beginning of the term. If this fundamental safety rule would be adopted more generally, the present maternal mortality toll would be markedly diminished.

"As one authority aptly states: 'To cut the appalling maternity death rate, thoughtful and cooperative initiative must originate in the home.' In other words, science had done its part, now the prospective mothers must do theirs."

Pastures Almost As Valuable as Cultivated Land

Over two-thirds of the Brownwood SCS camp area is permanent pasture. This camp is emphasizing proper pasture management as a means of increasing the value of this pasture land and of checking erosion. Pastures are nearly as valuable as cultivated land when they enable the farmer to utilize the grain feed crops, pasture and crop residues of his cultivated acreage.

Grass is the cheapest and best feed for livestock, and experiment stations point out that beef and mutton can seldom be produced at a profit when other feeds have to be used to replace grasses except in the final finishing. The cost of feeding during the winter is more than offset by pasturing of small grains, sudan and good native pasture in spring and summer. Of these native pasture is by far the cheapest. Without good native pasture the profitability of livestock production is greatly reduced, says M. E. Mahan Agronomist with the Soil Conservation Camp.

It is a common practice for farms short on pasture to overgraze and reduce the returns on available pasture. The following graph illustrates what happens when over stocking is practiced.

In this experiment no other feeds were fed. This was done in order to find the amount of production the pasture would furnish. To have fed other feeds would not have been profitable, therefore this case would require the planting of supplemental pasture or a reduction in livestock.

BROWNWOOD SUFFERS TWO MAJOR LOSSES BY FIRE THIS WEEK

Fire went on what was practically a rampage in Brownwood this week. Several thousand dollars' damage was done by a fire which broke out in the prescription office of Renfro-McMinn drug store at 5:30 a. m. Monday, and less than 24 hours later a blaze of undetermined origin destroyed practically all the stock and fixtures of the Arcadia News Agency, 211 Center.

The Renfro blaze evidently started in a cabinet drawer in the balcony office located at the rear of the store, although there was no definite indication of the source.

The blaze spread from the office room through air conditioning vents through the roof to a 500-gallon water tank. Connections to the tank were melted and the water flowed out into a large part of the store below, damaging drugs and other stock. The air conditioning equipment, valued at $2,000 was completely destroyed.

Source of the Arcadia fire is believed to have been a pile of discarded paper and cardboard advertising matter in the rear of the store. Lon L. Smith, owner and manager of the business, estimated the loss to be more than $7,000, of which amount about half was insured.

The city's first insured fire loss since May 5 occurred at 10 p. m. Saturday when a small fire broke out in the living room of Dr. W. E. Corbin's home, 1009 Avenue G. Damage estimated at $250 was done by the blaze, which started from a cigarette. An upholstered chair was destroyed, and incidental damage was done to the rug, walls and ceiling of the room.

THIS TAVERN OBSERVES THE LAWS

When you drink Beer in a tavern... choose your tavern

WHEN YOU restrict your patronage to legal, respectable retail outlets, you not only encourage those better outlets but you've made a start toward driving out the bad spots in your community.

And that is exactly the aim of the great body of honest retailers of beer who, along with the brewers, recognize that Beer's only problem is to remove the anti-social conditions that sometimes surround its sale.

Existing laws can curb these evils. Help us by demanding their strict enforcement! Sales to minors, or after legal hours... or use of a beer license as a screen, for selling illicit liquor or for operating an illicit resort... all these are violations of the law and should be stopped. Public opinion, once aroused, can see that such practices are stopped!

Ft. Worth Attorney To Speak Here for Candidate Friday

Marvin Simpson Jr., Fort Worth attorney, will speak here Friday, August 26th, in behalf of the candidacy of Pierce Brooks, candidate for Lieutenant Governor, who led in the first primary, polling over 306,990 votes.

Brooks' platform includes payment in full of the old age pensions to those entitled to them under the Constitution. He shows this can be done without additional taxes. He would save $10,990,990 yearly in the operation of the State government, without impairing its efficiency; he would abolish the Liquor Control Board, vest control in local officers and save a million; he would abolish the Old Age Assistance Commission, vest the authority in County Judges, and save another million.

In addition, Brooks advocates abolishing the auto license law charging a nominal registration fee and retaining the driver's license. He points out the Highway Commission is well ahead with its program, has a large cash reserve, and this would not hamper its program.

In nine speeches Thursday and Friday, Mann is bringing to a close his vicious campaign against political racketeers which he began last February. His final speech will be at a home-coming celebration in Dallas Friday night.

Newsletters Receive Graves' Thanks for Support in Runoff

Having completed a campaign tour which carried him to 64 counties, Judge Harry N. Graves of the Court of Criminal Appeals returned to his Williamson County home to vote there Saturday.

Judge Graves' campaign for the unexpired term on the Court of Criminal Appeals carried him from the Panhandle to South Texas and from the Red River to the Gulf. He closed his tour Thursday at Houston, where before he received virtually a majority over his two opponents, one of whom, Judge Charles A. Phippen of Dallas, is actively supporting Judge Graves in the runoff. Appreciation for the kindness of Texas voters to him in the first primary and for the large majority they have indicated they will give him in the second primary Saturday was expressed by Judge Graves. The Judge, a former newspaperman, also expressed his special thanks to Texas newspapermen for their many courtesies during the campaign. "On the eve of the second primary, I want to take this opportunity to express my appreciation to the many friends who supported me in both campaigns," Judge Graves said. "Due to their fine efforts I go into the runoff Saturday confident of a large majority in all sections of the state. I would also like especially to thank the members of my former profession, newspaper work, for the friendly welcome which they gave me all over Texas. I never met a finer group of men."

Student to Graduate

J. T. Jones of Brownwood will receive a bachelor of science degree in agriculture from Texas A. & M. College at the close of the summer school session August 27. The college is not holding a formal graduation exercise.

American Boy Magazine Companion to Thousands

Teachers, librarians, parents, leaders of boys' clubs and hundreds of thousands of boys, themselves, enthusiastically recommend THE AMERICAN BOY Magazine for all boys over twelve.

"It's more like a companion than a magazine," remarked one high school student. "It gives advice and entertainment on every subject in which a young fellow is interested. I made our school basketball team solely because of playing tips I read in THE AMERICAN BOY."

Trained writers and artists, famous coaches and athletes, explorers, scientists, and men successful in business and industry join with an experienced staff to produce, in THE AMERICAN BOY, just the sort of stories and articles boys like best. THE AMERICAN BOY sells on all newsstands at 15c a copy. Subscription prices are $4.50 for one year or $8.00 for three years. To subscribe, simply send your name, address and remittance direct to THE AMERICAN BOY, 7430 Second Blvd., Detroit, Mich.

To the People of Precinct 2:

I want to convey my gratitude to the public for the nice vote I received in the first primary in which I received a substantial lead over two good men. I also wish to express deepest gratitude for every effort on the part of my friends which they have made in assisting me. I shall be grateful as long as I live for their many kindnesses.

I am seeking the office solely on experience and qualifications, because my family and my creditors need for me to secure this position. I ask you to kindly investigate my character, my qualifications and my experience. I pledge you to represent the masses in Precinct 2, and befriend them in every way possible as proof of my sincere gratitude for their kindness in giving me their support in the runoff primary.

Candidates Enter Final Stretch as Runoff Nears End

Politics entered the home stretch this week, with candidates busy and voters awaiting Saturday when the final 1938 decision on nominees will be made by the Democratic party in Texas. It has been a hectic campaign, and candidates and voters alike are ready for the verdict.

For the first time in many years, five weeks elapsed between the first and second Democratic primaries, due to the fact that July showed up with five Saturdays giving the effect of an added week between the fourth Saturday in July and the fourth Saturday in August.

In many respects, the second primary has been like the first; in many respects it has differed greatly. Like the July primary, there was little interest in the election as the candidates squared off for the run-off a few weeks ago. And like the earlier primary, the second jumped to life in a hurry when W. Lee O'Daniel entered the picture, nominated in July, will not be on the ticket in August, but he remains the issue, far overshadowing the actual candidates. His endorsement of a slate of six candidates some two weeks ago started a controversy which bids fair to bring out a sizeable vote on Saturday, in spite of the short ballot and an otherwise uninteresting campaign.

Prompt Reaction

Reaction to O'Daniel's endorsement of the six candidates was prompt and rather decisive. For a few days, there was decided opposition to his entering the second primary with a slate of candidates for offices which do not directly affect the governor's office. But Mr. O'Daniel went on the radio with a series of talks in favor of his ticket which has all but eliminated serious opposition to his stand.

Opposition to the six endorsed candidates has not died down, to be sure. Most observers have found decided opposition to some of those on the favored list, but the criticism of O'Daniel for taking such a stand has noticeably quieted down in the past few days, and very likely will not be outspoken again.

The candidates who did not win O'Daniel's favor have not spoken out against him, leaving that to their friends and supporters. With- out exception, the unendorsed candidates have gone about their campaigns with renewed vigor, and have confined their criticism to their individual opponents. Only candidates who have directly entered into any controversy with the nominee are the two endorsed for the higher court positions, and they have questioned what sort of "cooperation" Mr. O'Daniel expected or demanded from the courts. Most of the unendorsed candidates have pledged their cooperation with Mr. O'Daniel should they be elected, and all have pledged assistance to his old age pension program.

The six candidates whom O'Daniel endorsed have expressed appreciation for that action, and have pledged cooperation in public speeches since that date. Aside from that, and the radio talks made by the gubernatorial nominee, there has been no obvious effort to tie their candidacies together in a "machine ticket" as is being charged in some quarters.

Regardless of the outcome of the election, Mr. O'Daniel's entry into the run-off campaign has picked up interest throughout the State and has given rise to the prediction that a fairly heavy vote will be cast, although no one expects the State total to reach a million. Most observers expect about 600,000 votes to be cast.

Short Ballot

The ballot is short. In addition to the six state offices to be filled, there is only one county contest on the Brown county ballot. That is for County Superintendent, with Leslie Griffin and Olive Pierce as the contestants. Not a great deal of interest is being shown by the voters in this county contest, as the office, important though it is, is not one with which the average resident comes in frequent contact.

The opposite is true of the one district contest: for State Senator, Ross Prescott of Brownwood and Penrose Metcalfe of San Angelo are the opponents, and both are waging vigorous campaigns. The district is made up of sixteen West Texas counties, and campaigning over such a territory is arduous and expensive. Prescott has had to do it on very little money, but plenty of enthusiasm and help from Brown county friends. Both the candidates are members of the Legislature; both are experienced in campaigning; both amply able to take care of themselves on the stump. Such a situation delights the Texas voter, and this contest may bring out a heavier vote in this district than otherwise would be cast.

There are only two commissioner's contests this election, in precincts one and two. In precinct one, E. S. Thompson, veteran commissioner, is opposed by G. M. (Monroe) Allen. In the second precinct, H. I. Stapp, present commissioner, is facing Mayfield Gibbs who led the ticket in the first primary.

A lively contest is being waged for constable of Precinct 1, which includes Brownwood, W. O. (Wayne) Weems and W. B. Kilgore are the contestants. Both are well known peace officers, Weems having been appointed to the position upon the death of his father and Kilgore being a former member of the city police force and present nightwatchman in Brownwood.

Public Warned Not To Use So-Called "Harmless" Drugs

"Thirty-five years ago, a German scientist produced a derivative of barbituric acid possessing hypnotic qualities. For years it was considered as non-habit forming and harmless, and the type of drug was sold freely over the counter without a doctor's prescription. But more recently the medical profession has realized that barbiturates such as alonal, amycol, luminal, vironal, neonal et cetra are far from harmless and definitely habit forming when used indiscriminately," warns Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer.

"It is true that these slumber-producing drugs play an important part in certain insomnia conditions, as well as in the promotion of sleep when pain makes it impossible to obtain it otherwise. However, it is one thing to have this type of drug prescribed by a physician and administered under his supervision and quite another to employ it regularly without professional sanction.

"It cannot be too strongly stated that the prolonged use of these sleep-inducers can produce serious reactions including skin affections, impairment of speech and gait, paralysis of the eye muscles, and in extreme cases have been known to cause death. Plainly, any drug that possesses such possibilities should not be self-administered by the general public.

"Moreover, it should be understood that insomnia is a symptom of an underlying condition which may be due to any one of a variety of psychological or mental causes. The absurdity of habitual self-administration of any hypnotic to remove insomnia becomes apparent. "Consequently, if the temptation arises to use a sleep-producing drug on the say-so of a friend, it should be avoided. And if already relying on sleep-producing medication, the brakes should be applied at once with the assistance of your family physician," Dr. Cox further advised.

"To quote a recent author on this subject: 'The only safe rule regarding sleeping pills or potions is to realize that if anything of that kind is needed, one definitely needs a physician's advice first.'
