Allred Wins Over Panhandle District

Northwest Texas Expresses Appreciation to First Man to Find It

It has been truthfully said that Governor James V. Allred was the first governor to "discover" the Panhandle after he was elected to that office. Of the more than thirty thousand majority given him over all his opponents over the state, the 26 counties of the Panhandle gave him more than six thousand of that majority vote as an expression of appreciation.

Of the 26 counties, he was given a majority over all his opponents in every county except Briscoe, Childress, Hall and Ochiltree. Allred carried every county in the district.

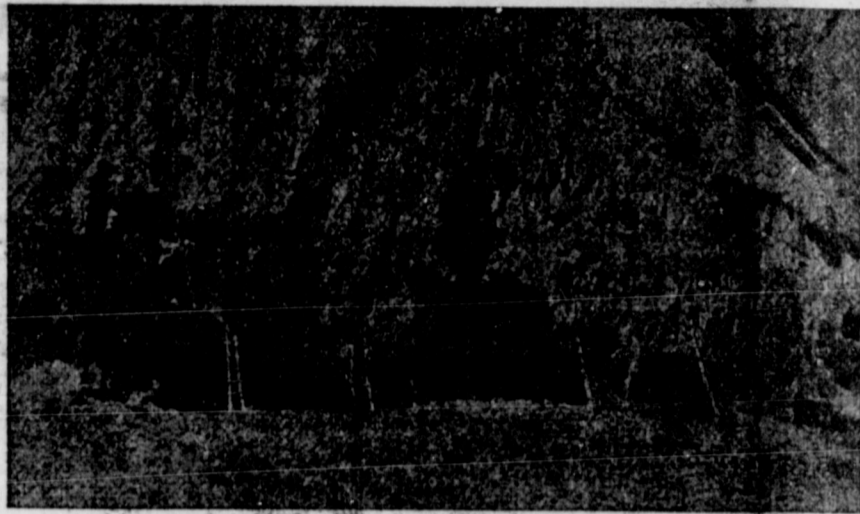

Moore county led the list giving Allred 544 and a combined vote for his opponents of 156.

Donley county has given Allred a majority in every race he has made, for the office of attorney general or the governorship.

The totals for the 26 counties are: Allred, 29,694; Brooks, 1,530; Fischer, 8,770; Hunter, 11,227; Saardorf, 1,564.

Machinery Reads Criminal Record

Sorts Card Records With No Chance to Falsely Accuse Any One

Dallas, Texas, August 6.—Crime doesn't pay.

Neither can crime be perfect. If you think otherwise examine some of the machines and the systems exhibited at the Texas Centennial Exposition which the federal and state governments use in crime detection and solution.

There is an electrical machine, capable of sorting 24,000 cards per hour, siftings from as many as 760 different combinations, which is used in the larger identification bureaus, among them the United States Department of Justice.

Thus investigators may pour through this machine the record cards of thousands of criminals and leave it to the machine to ferret out the type they seek.

If the criminal has blue eyes, brown hair, stands five feet nine and limps, the machine will pick out the cards of criminals answering such a description. Then it is but a matter of minutes before the list in a crime is narrowed down to a few suspects.

There's the state's scientific crime detection laboratory which shows the rapid stride of Texas in the past 18 months toward solving its crime problems. The exhibit is in charge of M. T. Gonzaulas, former Texas Ranger, now head of the state's Bureau of Intelligence. In this exhibit are hundreds of guns, ranging from machine guns to tiny pistols, all of which were taken from criminals. There is a complete file of data on firearms, bullets and fired cartridges, dictaphone sets, ultraviolet lights, fingerprint cameras, enlarging cameras and a nice display of fingerprints.

Directing youths activities to keep him away from crime is another feature to be found in this connection at the Centennial Exposition. The Civilian Construction Corps and the Boy Scouts, both of which have exhibits at the Exposition, are examples. In each organization the activities of the youth are directed to make better citizens of the youths in their ranks.

The Centennial Exposition's free exhibits explaining the ceaseless warfare on crime are worth a separate trip to the Exposition in themselves.

A zoological display containing more than 1200 specimen of insects, many of them native to Texas, is on display at the University Centennial Exposition at the University of Texas in Austin. The display will go into the Texas Memorial Museum when the first unit is completed late in the fall, as will all other displays on exhibit in the University Centennial Exposition.

Ed F. Bulls Jr. of Newport, and more recently of Hereford where he has been employed for several months, is visiting his uncle, Jim R. Bulls and family north of town.

Won't our great grandchildren have a swell time cussing us for the good time that we did not have while they help pay the bill?

Corn is being brought up rapidly in Argentina as the prospects for a short crop in America develops. This corn now selling down there at 27 cents will be the dollar-plus corn that we will buy up here this winter.

During the present grasshopper epidemic in Nebraska, a man slapping hoppers out of his face as he ran across a street, heard a woman scream. He found out that he had slapped an Austin and two women at the same time.

If you want information about your old age pension, which is really not a pension but old age assistance instead, write to—Orville S. Carpenter Texas Old-Age Assistance Com. Austin, Texas —and you will likely get all the information you want right back. Mr. Carpenter is the "big boy" on the Commission, and is Executive Director, if you care to know his title.

Daily headlines Sunday heralded the news that a storm killed nine people in Florida during the week. Likely more than that number were killed on the highways of that state during the same length of time, and nothing said about it. Texas often beats that record—on the highways.

That young couple up in New Jersey did not like her maw so they just up and hacked her to pieces with a hatchet. That's rather a crude way to kill women. Down in Texas they are beaten with a hammer, shot and kicked down and run over with the family auto as the husband of the victim laughingly drives away as another hero of the county where such fellows have been turned loose in the past. Texas continues to regard calf stealing as a great crime, but killing women is generally regarded as a past time of some sort.

Mrs. Curtis E. Thompson made the entire campaign in her old car and never had so much as a single flat tire. She received the largest vote for county treasurer, and yet some folks don't believe in luck.

Did you know that Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Green had left the Centennial grounds in Dallas just a few moments before the cyclone struck? Somebody else ought to believe in luck.

While the matter is fresh, you might be interested in knowing that you can buy your admittance ticket to the Centennial at Dallas from D. F. Wadsworth at the depot. The only difference in buying the ticket here is, that you get a free ticket to your choice of any of the shows on the inside. If you wait until you get to Dallas, you don't get the free show ticket.

While Emil Benesch was in town a few days ago, we fell to talking about relics and things along that line. The conversation naturally drifted back to experiences of our childhood days. We found out that we were born the same year within 11 miles of each other, he at Denver and I at Littleton. Each of our fathers were among the first settlers in Colorado, each of them did scout duty for the U. S. army, and each saw Denver before it became Denver—just the foundation. More than that, each of our ancestors came from Alsace-Lorraine, a province adjoining Belgium, some three generations back. Funny how things can happen along parallel lines such as this. Just thought you might be interested. Mr. Benesch represents the Amarillo Paper company, visits Clarendon frequently and is well known all over the southwest.

Science is a wonderful thing. In the construction of the engineering shop on the University of Kentucky campus, glass brick capable of transmitting 87.5 percent light, are to be used in the walls. Then out in Washington state where they are constructing the great Coulee dam, a giant refrigeration plant is being built capable of producing 100 tons of ice daily for the families of the workmen and other necessary uses. In addition, the plant will supply the low temperature to "freeze" approximately one million cubic yards of sand that is constantly slipping down in the way. While the sand is "frozen," concrete walls will be built to hold it in check. A series of three-inch pipes will be pushed down through the sand body. Two ammonia pipes will be run inside the larger pipes to carry the earth heat to a mammoth cooling unit.

Fifty years ago this week, most all of Texas was in the throes of the worst drouth ever to be experienced by the white race in the grand old Lone Star state. Not only that, the drouth lasted through two years—1886 and '87, though '87 was some improvement over the first year of the dry spell. A few days ago, the following appeared in the "50 years ago in Texas" column of the Dallas News: According to word received at Decatur, there are ten organized squads of armed men in the Chico country determined to resist the encroachment of the reported cattle drift. The drift has been caused by lack of water and grass. At that time, cattle and sheep men in Archer and Baylor counties were attempting to drift their stock east to find water and anything the starving stock might eat. Brush and even trees were being cut down in the cross timbers belt that the cattle might eat the leaves. Most of the stock died, especially that west of the Jack and Clay county lines. Up here in the Panhandle it was worse, if such could be the case. It was along about then that the story originated that a cowpuncher dying in the Panhandle, for some reason landed in hell. Three days later, he returned for his blanket. Sure it was hot in the Panhandle in 1886.

Cuts Operating Costs In Half Gets 17 Miles Per Gallon June 19, 1936 Ford Motor Company, Oklahoma City, Okla. We are having such satisfactory service out of our Ford V-8 car and truck I would like for you to know about it. We used another make of cars and trucks for more than two years, but the cost of operation was too great. After talking with several of our friends and observing the operation of their V-8 Fords we decided to try them. To say we are pleased is putting it mildly, for the operating cost is only about half as much, to say nothing of the ease of handling and that feeling of safety. We get about 17 miles per gallon of gasoline with the new V-8 truck loaded and 18 to 20 with the car. Have never added a drop of oil between charges. The truck has been driven 12,000 miles and only 65¢ has been spent for repairs on it. HOOPER BROTHERS By: S. A. HOOPER, SINCLAIR AGENT Thomas, Okla. TEXAS X-RANGERS TO HOLD REUNION

Dallas, Texas, August 4.—Relics of the determined band of hard-riding, straight-shooting men who extended the reign of law and order through the No Man's Land of the Texas Frontier in the 1870's and 80's are going to meet again in colorful reunion.

Members of the Texas X-Rangers Association will be guests of honor at the Texas Centennial Exposition from August 20 to 22, inclusive. They are to be "bedded" in the rustic State Ranger building on the grounds. Their meals will be served by the Exposition management.

Wives of the members also have been invited, although they cannot be cared for on the Exposition grounds.

On August 20 members of the Association will register at the Ranger building, which is in charge of Major George Black, president of the organization.

From 10 a. m. to noon, August 21, there will be a business session, and election of officers. From 2 to 4 p. m. there will be an informal reception for visitors.

At 6:30 p. m. there will be a reception for Governor James V. Allred and other visiting notables, including King Vidor, Miss Jean Parker and other members of the cast of the historical picture, "The Texas Rangers."

At 7 p. m., in front of the Ranger building a statue of The Texas Ranger will be unveiled by Governor Allred. It is the work of Erasmo Albert Silva, Spanish artist. Capt. William E. McMurray, famous Ranger, went to Hollywood. The artist used him in creating the statue as typifying the Texas Ranger. In it the Rangers are expressed on their own terms as men of action.

At 8:15 p. m. there will be a theatre party at the Majestic Theatre for the world premier showing of "The Texas Rangers." High officials of Paramount and members of the cast will fly to the Exposition from Hollywood for this occasion.

On Saturday, August 22 reports of various committees of the Association will be heard, unfinished business will be dispatched, and the membership will be free to make a detailed inspection of the Exposition grounds as honor guests.

J. R. Buls spent the week end at New Port Texas, Jack County, visiting his brother Edd Buls.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Burton of Dallas spent Thursday with his mother Mrs. C. A. Burton.

Cow Man Is Featured In Ft. Worth's Show

Texas and the Southwest as it was 100 years ago is pictured in a highly exciting spectacle known as "The Last Frontier," at the Fort Worth Frontier Centennial that opened recently. This western saga set to music expresses the heritage of Texas and the Southwest. It is not a rodeo, not a pageant but a rip roaring dramatization that every Westerner will love as a part of the background which he lives, it is also a show that thrills the Easterner.

This cowman about whom much of the show revolves, was given an unexpected opportunity to demonstrate his resourcefulness at the opening performance when Sunday, one of the horses in the broncho-busting episode, bucked himself and Chuck Williams into the pool at the foot of the waterfall. The crowd got back in its seats only after the rider crawled out of the pool and the cowboys in the arena roped the horse, dragged him from the water and helped him to his feet. Neither was hurt.

The show is notable for its sequence of western pictures alone. The show is winding down out of the mountains, for the breath-taking lightning on the longhorn herd as it disappears up the trail. The sonorous voice of Capt. Irving O'Hay gives the background!

"Many, many moons ago, the smile of the Great Spirit beamed upon the land of that red man. Great herds of shaggy buffalo thundered westward - -"

And as the spectacle unfolds, the audience experiences the beauty of its water fall, of the lithe young square dancers forming a wagon wheel and a star, of the indescribably appealing music that Producer Billy Rose and his staff have added to the songs of the West.

FLOWERS

(Aline Michaelis)
When some one gives you flowers,
He gives a host of things;
Bright vistas of gay gardens,
The flash of bluebirds' wings!

The rosy sky of morning,
The golden glow of noon,
The tranquil glow of twilight,
The magic of the moon!

When some one brings you flowers
He lends a fleeting sense
Of long-forgotten garlands
And childhood's innocence.

For, ever, fresh as dawning
And sweet as dusk and dew,
The flowers bear a message
Of days all gold and blue!

When some one gives you flowers
He gives you rare delight
Of trees where bithe winds whisper
And birds in joyous flight!"

LAVISH PRODUCTION, "SAN FRANCISCO" FEATURES NINE MUSICAL NUMBERS

"San Francisco" brings Clark Gable and Jeanette MacDonald together as a co-starring team for the first time. The musical romance gives Miss MacDonald her widest scope in vocal numbers in her screen career—a total of nine presentations ranging from a solemn hymn to the most beautiful operatic arias. Clark Gable returns to the vigorous type of role that first elevated him to stardom as a blustery Barbary Coast gambling baron who has no faith in anything but his own power and his charm over women. Co-starring with Miss MacDonald and Gable is Spencer Tracy in his most unusual role, that of a priest; a distinguished supporting cast includes Jack Holt, Jessie Ralph, Ted Healy, Shirley Ross, Margaret Irving, Harold Huber, Al Shean, William Ricciardi and Kenneth Harlan. "San Francisco" is laid in the colorful period of 1905-06, its life of gaiety and song, its Barbary Coast prior to and through the disaster that leveled the famous Golden Gate city thirty years ago. Among Miss Mac Donald's vocal numbers are: The "Jewel Song" from "Faust"; musical excerpts throughout the

"Faust" opera; the "Prison Trio" with Mephistopheles and Faust; an aria from "La Traviata"; "Love Me and the World Is Mine"; "My Heart Is Free"; Ground's "Ave Maria"; "Nearer My God to Thee"; "Battle Hymn of the Republic" and "San Francisco." Other rollicking musical features of the period are contributed by Shirley Ross and Ted Healy in the quaint setting of a Barbary Coast resort.

The picture follows closely in the wake of the tremendous successes scored by "Naughty Marietta" and "Rose Marie," and comes to the screen as the third of Miss MacDonald's films directed by W. S. Van Dyke.

The story deals with a homeless girl who finds herself in the boisterous atmosphere of the Barbary Coast and who rises from an entertainer in Clark Gable's gambling resort and cafe to great heights as a famous opera star in San Francisco's historic grand opera house.

Elaborate settings are typical of the period and reproduce many of the famous structures destroyed in the 1906 disaster. The catastrophe scenes showing the destruction of the city by fire and earthquake are said to be the most thrilling shots of their kind ever recorded in motion pictures.

Produced by Bernard Hyman and John Emerson, "San Francisco" was adapted by Anita Loos from Robert Hopkin's original story.

TEXAS FIRST LADY POLITICAL BOSS

Woman Who Ruled Political Roost Based Actions On Love and Romance

Two hundred and twenty-two years ago in the presidio of Fort St. John, on the Rio Grande where the town of Eagle Pass now stands, a fiery and beautiful Spanish senorita stood up and called the governor of Coahuila a fat fool to his face, and dared him to do his worst.

The governor, being a man of action, took the lady, whose name was Maria de Villescias, at her word, and threw her lover, the Frenchman, Louis St. Denis, into the dungeons of Monclova. His Excellency's parting remark just before the heavy iron door clanged shut, was that St. Denis could rot there, unless he was willing to release the Senorita de Villescias from her vows of love. And St. Denis shouted back that he'd rot then.

Out of this Spanish brawl of love, intrigue, and treachery, arose the first woman politician in the Land of the Tejas. Maria, seeing that her Uncle, Don Ramon, commander of the presidio, dared do nothing to aid Louis St. Denis, herself took horse and coach and made the overland journey to Mexico City through hundreds of miles of infested jungles and over mountain passes, to plead with the Viceroy for the life of her beloved.

So well did Maria speak for the Frenchman that the Viceroy released him from the dungeons of Monclova, granted him permission to establish a trade route between the French and Spanish colonies, and was host to Maria and Louis on their honeymoon.

The Franciscan Friars, who were desirous of establishing missions in East Texas, were needing a guide. Louis St. Denis and his wife rode with the monks out of Mexico City down to the Rio Grande and over the route which St. Denis had blazed when he came into the Land of the Tejas Indians out of Louisiana.

Thus, the Old San Antonio Road, now in use for two and a quarter centuries, had its beginning in Texas's first love affair in the patio of Fort St. John one August evening in 1716. Smooth pavements now cover the highway that once

VINE MESQUITE CHECKS EROSION IN SOUTHWEST Vine mesquite, an important Southwestern grass in revegetating range land, also is sufficient in holding soil against such thieves as racing winds and run-off water, says Leaflet Number 114, Vine Mesquite for Erosion Control on Southwestern Ranges, just issued by the United States Forest Service.

Vine Mesquite, a tufted perennial, produces a matlike covering with its widely creeping stolons—some of them 8 and 10 feet long. It spreads so rapidly, even under adverse conditions, that a few transplants soon cover nearby areas. It is one of the first local plants to reoccupy gullies and other eroded areas. Its natural range includes Arizona, southern Colorado, Kansas, western Missouri, Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico and Mexico.

When tender and green, the leaves and stems of the vine mesquite make good pasture for livestock. On overgrazed ranges, animals eat the dry stock and even the stolens, destroying new plants starting at the nodes. For this reason vine mesquite should be encouraged by protecting the range from overgrazing. Well managed grazing is a cheaper way to obtain new growth than by seeding or transplanting, for seed germination is low and transplanting costly.

SOD, NOT SEED, BEST WAY TO GROW BUFFALO GRASS

Requests for Buffalo-grass seed to establish the natural vegetative cover in the Western Plains country are in tons while the supply is only in pounds, says H. H. Bennett, Chief of the Soil Conservation Service.

It was only yesterday, he says, that short grasses on the Plains were being destroyed by the plow, overgrazing and occasional devastating fires. Today, men are using their wits to bring back the grasses which through centuries have demonstrated their value as a protection against wind and water erosion.

Seven years ago a farmer in western Kansas wished to re-establish Buffalo grass on a small field that had been in cultivation for a long time. He cut strips of Buffalo grass sod from along the highway. These strips were planted in furrows in the field. Today despite four years of subnormal rainfall, the field is almost completely covered with buffalo grass.

Sources such as this and fence rows and other patches, agronomists believe, offer a suggestion to farmers wishing to establish small areas of Buffalo grass.

HOOVER SAYS 'G-MEN' CONVICT 3,905 IN YEAR

The Federal Bureau of Investigation estimated July 24 that "recoveries effected and savings to the government" in cases its agents investigated totaled $34,708,815 during the year ended June 30.

With expenses of the Bureau placed at about $5,000,000 for the year, J. Edgar Hoover, director, said that "for every dollar which was spent for the operating costs of the Bureau during the year, approximately seven dollars was secured for the Government or individual citizens in property recovered or savings effected."

Mr. Hoover said 3905 persons were convicted in cases investigated by his agents and convictions were obtained in 94.35 per cent of the cases which went to trial. The director added that "the Bureau has solved every kidnaping case in which it has performed investigative work," with 31 life sentences, four sentences to capital punishment and other sentences totaling 2113 years being given the offenders.

"Due to the activities of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in investigating bank robberies," he said, "insurance companies recently reduced bank insurance rates 20 per cent in 35 states." He said 73 persons were convicted for bank robbery during the year.

In addition, the Bureau's agents located 1089 federal fugitives from justice and 5731 fugitives were located through the work of the fingerprint division of the Bureau. More than 1,000,000 new fingerprints were filed with the Bureau during the year, bringing the total to 6,094,916 on July 1. The 2496 stolen cars recovered through the federal agents' work were valued at $1,025,206.

Dallas, Texas, August 4.—The $200,000 Texas Natural Resources exhibit at the Texas Centennial Exposition will be made permanent.

This was made certain Saturday when a meeting of industrialists, educators and business men in session here voted unanimously in favor of the project.

The plan contemplates that the exhibit will be housed permanently in the $1,200,000 Hall of State on the Exposition grounds. Its maintenance is to be financed by contributions from industries and individuals interested in the development of natural resources. The principal theme will be the attraction of manufacturing and processing plants to the scene of the resource.

Fred Buntin and Father P. A. Buntin are visiting in Kentucky.

Donley Group Puts On Varied Program

County Resources Stressed By Several Speakers

August 1st a group from Donley county put on the first of a series of Farm and Home Hour programs sponsored by the Extension Service over Station KGNC at Amarillo.

The group left the county agent's office at 5:30 a. m. and arrived at the station in time to rest a few minutes and listen to another program before going on the air at 7:00.

County Agent H. M. Breedlove acted as announcer and introduced each part of the program.

A short talk on 4-H club activities in Donley county by D. W. Tomlinson was first on the program. He stressed the growth of club work in the last two years, benefits gotten from club work and plans of club members for this year.

A group of singers from the Donley county Singing Convention composed of Les Hawkins, L. H. Earthman, Newt Waldron, Clyde Hudson and Bub Hefner and accompanied by Miss Julia Earthman was next on the program, singing "Home on the Range" and "Old Faithful."

A talk by Mr. W. H. Patrick, President of the First National Bank of Clarendon, followed the songs. Mr. Patrick gave some interesting information on crop diversification in Donley county.

Miss Rosalind Bass, sweetheart of Clarendon, then sang "Where the River Shannon Flows" and "Cowboys Dream", playing her own guitar accompaniment.

These songs were followed by a violin solo "La Paloma" by E. F. Redding, accompanied on the piano by Miss Julia Earthman.

County Judge S. W. Lowe then talked on the horse and mule industry of Donley county. He brought out the fact that although horse and mule growing was not as well known as some other types of farming that it was a very profitable one for farmers who raise horses and mules for their own use or for market.

A song, "My Lord, Oh No", by the group of singers from the county singing convention was next.

The program was closed by Miss Rosalyn Bass singing "The Little Sod Shanty on My Claim."

Old Settlers Will Serve Old-Time Feed

Attendance Limited to Those Who Have Resided in This County Twenty Years

August 14th is the date designated for the gathering of the old-timers who blazed the way into Donley county, many of them more than forty years ago. Yes, a very few more than fifty years ago.

The Clarendon band will supply music of that nature. There will be two string bands. One from Hedley and one from Lella Lake. The old-time music that the boys and girls danced after in the long ago, will recall old days when antelope roamed this section and travel was only by wagon, buggy or horseback.

There will be something doing all day long as announced in the program published in the Leader last week. Tate Grove northeast of Hedley is the place.

Then at the noon hour, there will be barbecue. You are advised to bring well-filled baskets, but not any meat. Experienced hands will see that the meats are cooked just right, and only in the way or manner known to the westerner.

Visiting hour is the noon hour. Supping black coffee along with a variety of eats and talking to your neighbors all at the same time is a feast of time never more profitably spent.

Those who have resided in the county twenty years are eligible, it has been announced. If you formerly resided in this county for that length of time, and want to enjoy this meeting, come right on, we are advised by President Bill Rains.

Clifford-Ray Firm Moves To New Quarters Friday

Thanks Public for Aiding In Fire Loss

"You can tell the folks that we will be open for business Friday morning in our new quarters," stated Bill Ray Wednesday.

After doing business in their present quarters for three years, the firm purchased the Ozler building next door to the First National bank. The building has been remodeled and repainted inside. A complete new front with more glass display space is an attractive feature.

In addition to being a modern front, the surface was given a white coating that adds much to the appearance.

The firm has installed a modern meat market fixture. Cap Lane will be in charge of this department. The firm has an advertisement in this issue of the Leader in order to acquaint the public with what they have to offer in the new location. Read it. Walter Clifford and W. E. "Bill" Ray compose the members of the firm.

Broken-Arm Fisherman Gets Committee O. K.

When T. M. Shaver returned here last week exhibiting a broken wrist as a result of a fishing experience on the Conejos creek near Antonito, Colorado, it caused a stir among local nimrods—yeah, even consternation.

Two members of the "veracity committee" in the persons of Bert Smith and Coleman Huffman accompanied Milt Shaver, he of the broken wrist, back to the said fishing grounds for an 'acute' inspection. Milt promptly showed them the rock where he sat on Conejos, and they were satisfied.

The trio of experts captured more than sixty of the finny tribe of rainbow coloring. Rain prevented fishing more than one day. In fact these men came in muddy of car and person stating that the rain followed them as far as Clayton.

Milton Shaver is to continue in full fellowship as the champion fisherman of the town unless some one breaks more bones than he has to date.
