The action in hiking the salary was bolstered by a petition, generously signed by Brownwood taxpayers, asking that such action be taken. Petitioners pointed out that at one time the city paid $400 a month for similar services. The petition also reviewed the splendid financial condition of the city at the present time.

No action was taken by the council on a request presented by Dr. Clara Achor that the city pay the salary of a city band master for the summer months. The salary of L. J. Johnson, caretaker at Coggin park, was raised from $40 to $50 a month.

Extensive plans are being made for bringing the 1936 convention to Brownwood. Stories about Brownwood will appear in the May issue of West Texas Today, official magazine of the regional organization, and an advertisement will be carried asking for the convention.

Chester Harrison, secretary, made a report on the annual meeting of U. S. Highway 67 Association which was held at Cleburne Tuesday. MAGNOLIA MAPS SHOW LAKE AND PARK SITE

The new 1935 road maps, soon to be distributed through Magnolia Petroleum Company's stations over the southwest, show Lake Brownwood and the State Park. This is the first map to indicate the lake and park. Attention of this and other companies was called to the omission last year by the Brownwood chamber of commerce, and some, including Magnolia, agreed to change their new maps so as to include the lake.

In addition to showing the lake and park, and indicating routes to them from Brownwood, the Magnolia map gives a short write-up of Brownwood as a resort city. "Brownwood," says the folder, "is a vacation resort in the pecan region. Nearby Lake Brownwood, with its 500-acre state park, offers excellent black bass and crappie fishing, camping, boating, swimming, and duck hunting. Camp, or hotel accommodations."

Maybe Gassaway Will Toss This at Huey

A cowboy of renown, it appears as if Rep. Percy L. Gassaway of Oklahoma may be ruminating over taking up bullfighting as a serious occupation. But it's a capital joke that the southwestern merrymonger keeps the bull on hand to weight down a copy of "Every Man a King," literary masterpiece of Huey Long, with whom Gassaway has a feud, ridiculing the Kingfish's share the wealth idea.

Finish Of Fiscal Year Finds City On Sound Basis

All Interest On Bonds Paid, and Cash Balance Shows $85,000 Improvement Over Last Year.

Although an extensive program of improvement has been carried out and much additional equipment has been bought during the past year the city of Brownwood had a cash balance as of April 1 of $85,000 more than it had on hand the same date a year ago. All interest has been met on city bonds and warrants and all notes and bills made by the city have been paid. No new indebtedness has been created.

Mayor W. H. Thompson said this week that he attributed the excellent condition of the city's finances as shown by a preliminary report on the year's work to the loyal support and work of the city council and the harmonious work of all departments of the city government.

Some of the work done by the present administration during the past year is listed as follows:

The trouble caused by escaping gas in Memorial Hall has been eliminated. Gas escaping through cracks and holes in the concrete floor made the building unsafe for occupancy a year ago. Holes were drilled along the outside wall of the building and the gas was given an outlet. Representatives of the state health department and railroad commission who have inspected the building since the completion of the work declared that the trouble has been entirely eliminated and that the building is perfectly safe.

Paving Work.

Coggin avenue has been paved from the end of the state paving to connect with city paving, a distance of 2,000 feet, eliminating an almost impassable gap in street pavement. Flisk avenue has been paved to connect with highway 23.

Five thousand feet of 6-inch water pipe has been put down in the business section of the city to comply with requirements of the state fire department. Many thousand feet of pipe of various sizes has been placed in different parts of the city to give better water service. Many streets have been built or repaired. A six inch main has been extended to the brick plant west of town to replace a three-fourths inch pipe and a fire plug has been installed at the plant.

The city rock crusher, which has been out of operation for several years, was repaired at a cost of $150 and put in operation crushing rock for repairing and building streets. The city had been paying $2.40 a yard for rock but can now crush its own rock for 75 cents per yard and the city saves $100 every day the crusher runs on the difference of cost, officials said.

The police department, the street department and the water department have been provided with new automobiles for carrying out their work. The engines at the water pumping plant have been overhauled and placed in good condition. Additional equipment has been purchased for the fire department.

Tax rendition on property in the city has been greatly reduced and the tax rate has been lowered five cents.

New Policemen.

Three men have been added to the police department. This increased force, officials believe, has been the main factor which has kept down the number of burglaries here to a minimum at a time when surrounding towns were

According to what we consider accurate information, gamblers are making plans to establish dog race tracks in every principal city of Texas, which likely would include Brownwood, in event the present legislature fails to pass a bill now pending which would outlaw parimutuel gambling at the dog tracks.

Let's Not Have It

For some time dog racing has been permitted in Texas under doubtful legality. The doubt was removed last week when the court of civil appeals at San Antonio held that the pari-mutuel laws of Texas, designed to permit supervised gambling on horse races, also held out the same privilege to those who follow the dog races. And so, unless the supreme court should hold otherwise, gambling on dog races is legal within the state.

There are many disadvantages to dog racing, even without the gambling feature. From a humanitarian standpoint, the game is revolting. True, it appears a harmless amusement to watch sleek greyhounds pursue a mechanical rabbit around a circular track. The cruelty comes in the training period, not watched by cash customers. In this, live rabbits are strapped to the mechanical device, and the race run under conditions similar to the mechanical process seen by the spectators. The dogs are permitted to lunge on, destroy and eat the helpless rabbit, strapped on the mechanical device in place of the synthetic rabbit they chase during the money races. The dogs then are starved for a day or two, released on the track, and instead of merely engaging in harmless fun, think they are in pursuit of a real meal of rabbit.

But to the gambling feature of the race. A track can be set up for comparatively little money. It can be moved easily. Dog races are run at night, under the lights. The price of admission is low, usually twenty-five or fifty cents. Bets are placed for as low as fifty cents. The result is that dog track gambling sucks the life blood of any community in which it operates, taking small bets from working people who cannot afford, at present low wage schedules especially, to be deprived of necessary funds. No city can stand the drain of gambling on the dog races long; no small city such as Brownwood could afford it at all, and certainly communities such as this are entitled to protection from the legislature.

A bill outlawing dog track gambling has passed the senate, and now is before the house of representatives: It should not be allowed to get clogged in the last minute rush, nor should the legislators heed the strong gamblers' lobby. The people should be afforded such protection without the necessity of expenditure of money for lobbying for the bill, for a legislator's first duty is to look after the interests of his people.

There can be no question but that the people of this country expect some form of social security legislation to come out of the present session of Congress. The bill recently passed by the house by such an overwhelming majority seems to offer the same middle ground between the fantastic dreams of idealists and the stern negative attitude of strict economists. While it does not hold the hope of satisfying the millions who have been encouraged to dream of $200 a month for life, it possibly does come within the bounds of reason, and is a measure that will not bankrupt the country in an effort to do the impossible.

Social Security

The chief objection to the present bill is that it makes provision for state participation; in fact, makes such participation mandatory. But in reality, such provision is the best safeguard thrown around the expenditure authorized. The care of the aged is not the sole responsibility of the federal government. Part of this load should be carried by the states in which the money would be spent. The provision that the federal government match state appropriations, up to a reasonable limit of $15 a month, throws the responsibility back to the states, where it belongs.

It is to be hoped that the bill will pass the senate during the present session.

Those who believe that the eventual solution of the railroad problem must be government ownership of the lines, would do well to take a look across the Canadian border, says the Industrial News Review. Canada, the Review points out, is served by two large railroad systems, each of which provides good service, operates modern equipment and charge the same rates for freight and passenger transport.

A Thought For Taxpayers

One system, the Canadian Pacific, is privately owned, privately financed, and privately managed, and has generally earned a reasonable profit for its investors. During bad times, when profits have been small or temporarily non-existent, the owners have had to pay their own way—they have no public treasury behind them to foot the bill for losses.

The other system, the Canadian National, is publicly owned. It was financed by a great bond issue guaranteed by the Canadian government. In all the years of its existence, it has continuously created deficits to be paid out of the public's tax money. Its total deficit runs into hundreds of millions of dollars—and is the direct cause of a substantial percentage of the total tax bill paid by the Canadian people.

There is no reason to believe that the American people would experience better fortune with government ownership of the railroads. The Canadian National system has apparently been freer from political influence than is the usual government venture in this country; its managers have been men of integrity, ability and position. In the United States, the chances are that the deficit would amount to many times that of Canada, due to political buccaneering, and to the fact that much more railroad mileage would be involved.

If the people are persuaded into believing that government ownership is the only way out of the vexatious railroad issue, heaven help the taxpayers!

True Ghost Stories By Famous People

By MADAME SCHUMANN-HEINK Mme. Schumann-Heink's great spirit will not be daunted, just as her great voice still rings forth strong and clear. At the age of seventy, she again meeting the caprices and demands of a daily song engagement before the public.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS: ONE GLADYS PARKER

Every girl wants a ring even if it's only a phony. "Tell you a ghost story?" she replied in her deep, resonant voice. "Ach, I will tell you why Schumann-Heink spends Christmas Eve alone."

She arose to her feet. The bare, cold walls of her theater dressing room were flooded with the richness of her warm personality. "Eight years ago this Christmas Eve I was in Chicago. When I returned to my hotel room, overlooking the lake, night had come. The room was dark. I sat by the window. From my chair I could look out over Michigan avenue into a park beyond. In the park I saw a great Christmas tree. It was beautiful, a giant evergreen, a hundred feet or more. Out of the night it brought me memories of other days when my children were young."

"As I looked at it, I began to pray, and I cried. I prayed to God to take care of my children who could not be with me this night. "I prayed to Him to do just one thing for me this night. To let me see, once again, the faces of my two boys who were gone, of my little Hans who died in my arms; of my dear, sweet August, who served as an officer on a submarine for Germany during the war and whose submarine went down and never was heard from. If he would only let me see those two dear boys—once again. "As I prayed there came a cold wind against my cheek, just as though some one had opened an outside door. Quick, I wiped away my tears because I thought some one was coming into the room. "I looked up. Before me were the faces of my boys, my Hans and my August! I stood up. I screamed for joy—and the faces went away. Call this the imagination of a poor old woman, if you will, but I saw my boys! I saw my sweet boys! "Every year now I will not go out on Christmas Eve. I will not allow anyone to come near my room. I wait, I pray, I hope for the return of those faces. Not since that day, eight years ago, have I seen them. I know, Schumann-Heink knows, that they will come again."

OPPOSES THOMAS BILL (Houston Post.)

One of many congressional leaders who have become convinced that the oil producing States should be given a chance to administer their own affairs without further interference by the Federal government is Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas. After hearing testimony before a senate committee by witnesses opposed to increasing the Federal government's authority over oil, including Governor James V. Allred, Attorney General William McCraw and Chairman Ernest O. Thompson of the railroad commission, Senator Sheppard sent this telegram to former Governor W. P. Hobby, president of The Post:

"After hearing testimony and arguments this week, I have reached the conclusion that Texas should be given further opportunity under the present setup, State and Federal, to handle the oil situation, and, therefore, will not favor the Thomas bill."

All members of the Texas congressional delegation can perform a service for their State by adopting the views of Senator Sheppard. The people of Texas are opposed to a Federal oil dictatorship. Oil is one of this State's principal sources of wealth and employment. It affects vitally the economic destinies of thousands of families and indirectly it influences every line of business and industry. To surrender the right to control this valuable natural resource to a Washington bureau would be a dangerous and unconstitutional delegation of authority which belongs to the duly elected authorities of Texas.

The Texas oil industry is united in its opposition to the Thomas bill. Major companies, independent operators and land and royalty owners all agree that the oil industry would be injured by increasing the regulatory powers of the Federal government.

Members of congress from this State who want to carry out the wishes of the people they represent will join Senator Sheppard in opposition to the Thomas bill.

J. C. Holton, Mississippi's commissioner of agriculture, estimates that state's agricultural crops will be valued at $150,000,000 this season, 50 per cent more than last year.

Midland—More than 100 garments valued at $127.65 were made in the past year by eight Midland county wardrobe demonstrators at a cost of $26.85, according to Miss Myrtle Miller, county home demonstration agent. The average expenditure for each of these first year demonstrators from August 1, 1934, to April 1, 1935, was $27.31. The largest expenditure for any one kind of clothing was $9.91 for footwear. The lowest item of expenditure was 89 cents for headwear.

Crockett—Not only does Lorene Coyle, wardrobe demonstrator in Houston county, make her clothes by a foundation pattern, but she also adds a stylish touch by trimming them with hand carved wooden buttons which she makes from native woods, according to Miss Orene McClellan, home demonstration agent. With a few simple tools including a coping saw, a small drill, a pocket knife and a razor-blade she has developed several different designs in buttons and buckles. To date she has used walnut, gum and cedar, but she will experiment with other woods such as holly and pecan as soon as she can get some seasoned wood.

Bonham—At a cost of $2 for paint and labor, Mrs. A. E. Campbell of Fannin county has provided storage space for the 88 varieties of canned food in her pantry by repairing an old handmade walnut cupboard belonging to her grandmother, according to Miss Minnie Eldridge, home demonstration agent. Mrs. Campbell rearranged the shelves, added new doors, and painted the cupboard apple green. As it was not large enough, she built other shelves on top of it. Each section is stocked with required products according to her food budget plan and saves her many trips to the smokehouse where her food was formerly stored.

Dallas—Because green feed was added to the ration for his hens, C. A. Luper of Dallas county gathered an average of five and one-half eggs more per hen in March, 1935, than in March, 1933, according to Dale Merwin, county agricultural agent. During the winter of 1933, Luper had no green feed for his hens but fed three and one-half pounds of mash and three and one-half pounds of grain per hen. He received an average of 19.4 eggs per hen.

Luper planted alfalfa and in March, 1935, he fed his hens three and one-half pounds of grain and four and one-third pounds of mash with green alfalfa. His flock averaged 25 eggs per hen.

San Marcos—"Hays county's self liquidating terracing project is moving forward with unexpected speed, 625 acres having been terraced since January 4 when the new equipment was put into use," says Jack Williams, county agricultural agent. More than 500 acres had been terraced prior to that time with the old equipment, giving a total of 1,125 acres having been worked since the project was begun. Lines have been run on approximately 400 acres and this land will be terraced in the next few weeks.

Good sheets last four times as long as cheap ones, said Miss Mayesie Malone, county home demonstration agent, at a club meeting at Mrs. J. W. Phillips' home April 12.

She also said each bed should have six sheets sixx108 inches long thereby giving two for the bed, two in the wash and two for reserve. Pillow cases should be durable and soft and fit the pillows. Nine to ten inches longer than the pillow to allow for furness and to cover the end of the pillow completely when placed on the bed. This does not include the amount turned back for the hem.

The hem should be 2 1/2 inches for medium pillows and 3 inches for large pillows. A well constructed straight, even hem that may be put in by hand using the hemming stitch or put in by the machine, is all the decoration needed.

The club will meet April 26 with Mrs. W. A. Gee. Refreshments of coffee and macaroons were passed to the guests.

In addition to their attractiveness, candle-wick bed spreads are very practical for they are inexpensive and easy to make. It is a simple matter to keep them clean and they grow more beautiful with laundering and use, Miss Mayesie Malone, county home demonstration agent, told members of the Zephyr home demonstration club Wednesday afternoon, April 17, at the home of Mrs. J. N. Quirl. The next meeting will be May 1st at the home of Miss Esther Underwood. A demonstration of candlewick bed spreads will be given at this time.

Goodyear Perfects Blow-Out Proof Tire For Motorists

The last word in safety in event of a blowout while driving at high speed is now available to motorists in Brownwood, according to D. C. Pratt, local dealer for the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co.

The new development is a tube for automobile tires that eliminates the danger of serious accident following a blowout by changing the sudden blowout into a slow leak.

"It is a known fact that a blowout at 60 miles per hour is twice as dangerous as one at 40 miles per hour, and at 80 miles per hour is four times as dangerous," Mr. Pratt explained. "With new cars having extremely high top speeds being placed on the market the need for such a tube is increasingly apparent."

"Goodyear engineers have been working on this 'safety insurance' problem for several years and the new Goodyear Life Guard tube is the result. It is in reality a double tube, one inside the other and joined together at the base. The two air chambers are connected only by a single small vent hole which allows the air to pass from the inner chamber to the outer chamber."

"The outer tube is similar in appearance and function to an ordinary tube and fits the inside of the casing," Mr. Pratt continued. "The inside carcass is built up of two piles of fabric and when in service floats free without chafing. When a blowout occurs, air escapes from the outer chamber instantly, but can escape from the inner carcass only through the single small vent hole, which allows it to seep out slowly."

"The tire then drops down slightly to ride on the inner carcass, allowing the driver to bring the car to a stop under perfect control. He can pull off to the side of the road without endangering himself, his car or the lives of other motorists."

"Police and fire department officials and heads of safety organizations who have seen the tube demonstrated are unanimous in the opinion it is one of the most important contributions to the safety of motoring that has been made in a decade," Mr. Pratt concluded.

having many burglaries and robberies.

All the improvement listed have been paid for and the cash balance on hand as of April 1 is $144,000. Brownwood's credit rating is A-1, officials declare. The city's bonds which some time ago could be bought for 75 and 85 cents now command a premium.

A preliminary review of the record of the city of Brownwood for the past fiscal year obtained from figures completed thus far in the annual audit by A. N. Thomason shows that the city has collected a total of $78,955.75 more the past year than was collected the preceding year. Total collected by the city for the past fiscal year, April 1, 1934, to April 1, 1935, was $283,848.23, as compared to $205,792.47 collected from April 1, 1933, to April 1, 1934.

"There will be an organized and persistent effort made to have sufficient funds allocated from the public works relief appropriation to take care of National Guard armories throughout the county. A meeting of members of the Senate and House Military Affairs Committee is being held today (Wednesday), at which time this question will be gone into rather thoroughly. I have discussed this matter pretty generally, and do not find any real opposition to it."

If the allocation is made efforts will be made to secure $80,000 for construction of an armory for the two local National Guard units.

JUDGE SOUTH FAVORS SOCIAL SECURITY BILL IN ADDRESS

Judge Charles L. South, congressman from the 21st district, made an address in Congress last week favoring the social security bill, which later was passed in the house by an overwhelming majority. Judge South was one of the few congressmen selected to speak in favor of the bill by the party leaders having it in charge.

Judge South's address, as recorded in the Congressional Record of April 16, is as follows:

Mr. Chairman, someone has correctly said that a statesman is one who is thinking about the next generation, while a politician is one who is thinking about the next election. If that statement is true, I do not believe there is any scarcity of either in this country, as has been clearly demonstrated in the consideration of the Economic Security Act, and more particularly that part of the proposed law which deals with old-age pensions. I have spent a good deal of time, as I presume most members of Congress have, studying the provision of the bill now under consideration and studying the hearings before the Committee on Ways and Means. This legislation, in my opinion, is one of the most forward-looking steps which has been taken by our Government during its entire existence. There is no doubt but that our problems are social as well as economic. There is no doubt but that our country as a whole has become decidedly old-age pension minded. This has resulted in part, I am sure, from agitation of measures, some of which are unquestionably unreasonable and unworkable. If such agitation and propaganda was necessary, however, to sell this country on the question of old-age pensions, it has, in my opinion, been fully justified.

I want to commend the able chairman of this committee, Mr. Doughton, and his associates, for the very splendid and statesman-like work on their part in giving us the bill which we are now considering. I do not think it is a perfect bill, but I do think it is a reasonably constructive one when considered in its entirety.

I hope to have the opportunity of voting for an amendment which will eliminate Item No. 7, in section 2, page 3, providing that, "if the State or any of its political subdivisions collects from the estate of any recipient of old-age assistance any amount with respect to old-age assistance furnished him under the plan, one-half of the net amount so collected shall be promptly paid to the United States," since such provisions will result in practically no benefit to the Government and could be the source of much annoyance and trouble on the part of those receiving such benefits. It is my belief also that this relief should be administered uniformly throughout the country without regard to what the various States may do, and without requiring any participation by such States. To attempt to administer it otherwise will mean that thousands of deserving individuals, who are just as much entitled to relief on the part of the Federal Government as are those in the States who qualify under this act, will be forced to suffer from poverty and want, just as they are doing now. I want to stress the fact right here, Mr. Chairman, that we are not granting relief to States; but that we are attempting to grant relief to individuals, and a suffering individual in Arkansas, Mississippi, or Texas is just as much entitled to this help as is an individual similarly situated in Pennsylvania, New York, or California. It is not justice to the individual to penalize him because his State is either unwilling or unable to meet the requirements imposed by this bill, and every member of this House knows that this is what will be done unless that provision is eliminated. If $15 is the maximum amount which the Federal Government is able to pay each person, then let the Federal Government pay not to exceed $15; and if the States want to pay an equal amount a smaller amount, or a greater amount, they will, of course, have this privilege. I believe, too, that the age limit should be 60 rather than 65. If these changes are made, the appropriation for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1936, which is approximately $30,000,000, should be some $150,000,000 because it is admitted that less than one-half of the needy and deserving can qualify during the first year as to State requirements; and, of course, lowering the age limit will call for additional money. It is infinitely more desirable that such people actually receive $15 per month than that they be promised $30, $50, or even $200, which they can never receive. It may be correctly argued that the Federal Government will save money by imposing this provision. This cannot be disputed. It may likewise be said that the Federal Government will save still more money by not passing any social-security law at all, but we are not enacting this law for the purpose of saving money; we are enacting it for the purpose of granting relief, a thing which should have been done generations ago.

Mr. Chairman, as I indicated at the beginning of my remarks, the consideration and discussion of social legislation offers the most fertile field imaginable for play politics. How easy and natural it is in discussing this bill on the floor of the House, or in writing interested constituents, to say that the amount stipulated herein is wholly inadequate. Yet we who have studied this proposed law know that it is about as much as our Government will be able to stand. We know too that $15 is a great deal better than nothing, and that the amount can be increased from time to time by subsequent Congresses when we are able to provide the money for paying more. A great deal has been said and written during recent months to the effect that each recipient should be paid $200 per month, and members of Congress have been told in no uncertain terms that their political future depended upon their supporting such a so-called "plan." The so-called Townsend plan is not a plan at all; it is simply a utopian dream. The various sponsors of the bill are not in agreement with each other. Each sponsor's plan is different today to what it was yesterday.

Many people who signed petitions were misinformed; were told that a straight 2-percent sales tax would raise sufficient money to pay each person over 60 years of age $200. The chairman of the Townsend Club for Rannels County, Mr. Key, a splendid and intelligent man, who presented a petition to me containing more than 3,000 names secured in his county, assured me positively that a straight 2-percent sales tax would raise enough money to pay $200 to each person over 60 years of age. But the revised McGroarty bill, H. R. 7154, which is the bill the Townsend advocates are now supporting, provides, in section 2, as follows:

Sec. 2. (a) There is hereby levied a tax of 2 percent upon the fair gross dollar value of each transaction done within the United States and Territories; also, in addition to all other taxes, a tax equal to one-tenth of the tax levied upon all incomes under the provisions of the Revenue Act of 1934, or any amendment thereto; also, in addition to all other taxes, a tax of 2 percent upon the fair dollar value of all transfers of property by devise, bequest, or other testamentary disposition or legal descent and distribution of property, as now hereafter taxable under the provisions of the Revenue Act of 1934, or any amendment thereto; and also, in addition to all other taxes, a tax of 2 percent upon the fair gross dollar value of every gift in excess of the fair value of $500.

It is an admitted fact that the transaction tax will, in many cases, amount to more than 10 percent. Even with all the taxes above provided for in such bill, it is admitted by most of the proponents of the measure that it will fall far short of producing sufficient money to pay $200 per month as originally proposed. Therefore it becomes quite evident that this proposal has not materialized to the point that it may correctly be called a plan.

Members of Congress have been threatened with defeat unless they support the Townsend plan. As for me, I owe no sacred and binding obligations to the people who sent me to Congress to be reelected, but I am under a solemn and sacred obligation to such people to contend for the things which I believe to be to the best interest of our country as a whole, and to oppose such measures as I believe detrimental to its welfare, and this I propose to do.

As Members of Congress we should ever be mindful of the fact that for every member who shirks his responsibility, who plays politics, who fails to meet every issue squarely and honestly, an additional obligation is placed upon those stalwart and honorable members who are not willing to sacrifice their honor and integrity to make their political fortunes more

SHERIFF'S SALE

The State of Texas, County of Brown. Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a certain Order of Sale, issued out of the Honorable District Court of Brown County on the 2nd day of April, 1935, by L. strip the country so bare of grass as to deprive their horses of plentiful subsistence. The Indian always retire to the south with confidence and do not require any advance, because their enemies are to the north and east. In spring when the buffaloes start north, vegetation is growing and is so abundant that the horses of the Kimanchies find a sufficiency untouched by the buffaloes while they have passed on, and serve as an advanced guard to the Indians, indicating by their alarm, many times, the advance of an enemy to the wild Indians from the north and east.

"I am induced to think that the intercourse between the Kimanchies and Pawnees and the Indians of the northwest, if any, is but very partial. I am assured that some knives, guns and blankets, such as the Northwest Fur Company furnish, have been seen among the Pawnees and Kimanchies, but to no considerable extent—that would sanction the belief of anything like general intercourse between the Pawnees of the south and those of the north. This is one point upon which the Department of War instructed me and upon which the Secretary of War may be very anxious to obtain information. To reach the wild Indians at this season will be difficult and only practicable by way of St. Antonio. I wish to set out for that point in six days and proceed as directly as possible. It is probable at this time or by the time I can reach there, that the Kimanchies may be within few hundred miles of that place; if so I will endeavor to see them. It will probably be the best plan, as they are friendly with the citizens of Texas, and trade with the American population of that province. Should I be enabled to meet with the Pawnees or Kimanchies, if nothing else can be effected, I will concert signals with them, by which they can be approached with safety, next spring, on the Red River, or in its neighborhood.

"I hope you will be so kind as to forward a copy of this communication to the Secretary of War. It will lay before him all the information in my possession, and supercede the necessity of a direct report from me at this time. Whatever can be done to forward the views of the commissioners, or promote the humane wishes of our government, in relation to the Indians, you may rest assured shall receive my hearty concurrence and the aid of my best exertions.

"I have the honor to be Your most obedient servant,
SAM HOUSTON."

SCHOOL OF ORATORY HAS ANNUAL BANQUET

The annual banquet and Alumni Association meeting of the Central Texas School of Oratory was held at Hotel Brownwood Saturday night, April 20. About 35 alumni were present for the meeting of the alumni association held before the banquet, at which time officers for the ensuing year were elected. Definite plans were made for the establishment of a library for the school and for an annual alumni banquet to be held separate from the regular student banquet.
The banquet was held at the roof garden of the hotel. The main feature of the program was a pageant presented by members of the junior class. A varied list of readings, songs, speeches and novelty numbers were also included. Miss Kathleen Kunckel was toast-mistress.
In the entire territory of Alaska only two destitute families were reported as being sustained by government relief.

Why your neighbors are saying...
"Put back my Telephone"

Every day former users of telephone service ask us to re-connect their telephones. Here are some of the reasons they give:

- "My husband is working again . . . we missed the telephone more than anything else."
- "We thought we would save money, but found it false economy to be without a telephone."
- " . . . I found that running my household required at least three more hours a day."
- "Frankly, we were beginning to be 'back-numbers.' Our friends couldn't call us, nor we them."
- " . . . I didn't like to think of my wife and youngsters at home without a telephone. I kept worrying about fires, hoboos, accidents . . . they had no protection."

THESE people have realized how much they missed the convenience, pleasure and security that a telephone gives.
Do you miss your telephone? Call the telephone business office, now. Say, "I want a telephone."
