Around the Supper Table

THE BIGGEST surprise of the general election last week was registered in the home precinct of this apostle to the Democrats, and it presents a real problem in sociology. The unanimity with which Fourth Warders almost invariably register their opinions on public questions has been shattered, and the impeccable reputation of the precinct is jeopardized because, in spite of our own flawless example and our prolonged campaign for pure and unadulterated democracy in the neighborhood, there is still a wee bit of original sin in our midst.

The situation came to light in the returns of the general election. One hundred and thirty-one undismayed Democrats marched to the polling place and cast their ballots for the party's nominees; and at some hour of the day, probably during the lunch period when the election officials were chiefly concerned with the satisfaction of the inner man's demands, a lone Republican sneaked a vote into the ballot box.

OF COURSE, it is all right for a Republican to live in a Fourth Ward, on account of the Bill of Rights which permits every citizen to seek the highest of associates in his pursuit of life, liberty and happiness. The steps should be taken at once to identify him, not with an idea of ejecting him from the community but to facilitate the task of watching him. May, in fact, in the course of time, the united efforts of the enlightened democracy of the precinct might bring about a reformation, and something could be salvaged for the Democrats.

"I can't get along without it, so here's my dollar," said J. M. Perry the other day when he came into the office of this great home and fireside journal. "Your paper may not be worth the money, but you'll be convenient when I feel like quarreling with somebody." Uncle Jess has been quarreling with us for a quarter of a century and nobody has been hurt so far, so another year of it is welcomed.

HE HAS LIVED here many years, and no man has ever served the community more faithfully than has he. His family is tied in with the Mullinses and Crosses and Shores and Bakers, pioneers all, and for many decades this group has been a constant source of development and progress for the Promised Land. And here is another Brownwood boy who is making good. Tommy Vaughn, son of Mrs. Tom Vaughn, 1516 Fourth Street, has been given a great deal of attention by the sports writers because of his prowess as a football player at A. & M. where he is a sophomore along with Jimmie Thomason, son of A. N. Thomason, and it is a pleasure to point out that he is also a star in the classroom and active in all student affairs.

While on the subject, it is also pertinent to direct attention to the fine work being done by Roy Fox, ex-California boy who is now editor of the Howard Payne Yellow Jacket, student publication. He is a junior student, and in our judgment is turning out one of the finest college weeklies to be found anywhere. It is a pleasure to have him as a part-

President Thomas H. Taylor Of HPC To Be Honored Here

TO BE HONORED

PRESIDENT TAYLOR

Commemorating thirty years of devout and unselfish service to Howard Payne College and Central West Texas, President Thomas H. Taylor of the local Baptist Institution, will be honored in services to be held during chapel Wednesday in the Mims auditorium. Just as has been his life, touching all phases of Christian and scholarly life, so will be the simplicity of this program in his honor.

Principal speaker on the program will be Rev. Harry Lee Spencer, pastor of the College Avenue Baptist Church of Fort Worth.

Speakers Eulogize Life
Representing the Howard Payne College board of trustees, E. J. Miller, judge of the 35th District court, will speak on the morning program. Rev. Karl H. Moore, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Brownwood, will tell of Dr. Taylor as a Rotarian. Rev. J. M. Bradford, pastor of the Coggin Avenue Baptist Church of this city and Dr. Taylor's pastor, will deliver a brief eulogy as will Judge C. L. McCartney, representing the county democratic committee, and O. E. Winebrenner, who will speak on behalf of the faculty. Dr. Taylor is chairman of the Brown county democratic executive committee.

L. A. Woods, state superintendent of public instruction, has been invited to attend the special program in Brownwood, as have the presidents of several Texas colleges.

Becomes President
A product of Howard Payne since he passed through the portals of the institution in 1905 while it was still a junior college, Dr. Taylor has developed his unique and religious character around and for the Brownwood Baptist institution. After serving as secretary to the late B. H. Carroll, Dr. Taylor returned to the college in 1907 to devote his time as a teacher and secretary of the faculty. In 1913, he was made registrar of Howard Payne College. For four years, Dr. Taylor served in this capacity until his greatest advancement was made.

October 1, 1929, the official capacity of President was bestowed upon this layman from May, Texas. From that eventful day when the future of the college was so overshadowed with doubt and uncertainty, Dr. Taylor has led Howard Payne through a period of building and progress that has made it the only senior, coeducational Baptist college in the state of Texas, the medium of Christian influence and knowledge that it is today.

The Howard Payne president is one of the few people in this section listed in "Who's Who of America." Known as the "Cowboy Philosopher from Pecan Bayou" and the "Will Rogers of Texas," Dr. Taylor is much in demand thru the state and the southwest as a speaker.

110 Per Cent

The Banner organization registered 110 per cent membership in the Red Cross, when the campaign for the new year came around Wednesday morning.
All employees became members, and the extra percentage was added by Leonard Hensley, representative of the San Antonio Paper Company, who bought a membership button while in the office.

President Taylor Presents Baptist Education Report

Attending the convention from Howard Payne were Dr. Taylor, Dean Z. T. Huff and Mrs. Huff, Rev. Ben M. David and Rev. M. E. Davis and several ministerial students.

City Council Votes To Submit Charter Changes to Public

The Brownwood city council, in session Monday night, voted to submit to the public, proposed changes in the municipal charter, including provisions for changing the tax limit to $2.15 on the $100 valuation as a "safe margin" for school and bond purposes.

The tax limit change necessitates a delay in the election, previously scheduled for December 6. Alderman E. B. Henley, Jr., stressed the importance that the charter amendments are being submitted on petition of about 600 citizens and the school board.

Other charter change proposals previously slated will be submitted without change.

BABY BEEF SHOW HERE TO ATTRACT EAST TEXAS MEN

Mr. Mauldin reported that the East Texas men were especially interested in the project and would probably come to the Brownwood Baby Beef Show.

This Is Not A Gamble

The publisher of The Banner wishes to emphasize the fact that the subscription contest campaign now under way for this newspaper is not in any sense a gambling venture.

There is not to be a drawing for prizes of any kind, but every contestant will be rewarded for the work done, the compensation depending directly upon the volume of subscriptions secured. The contestant securing the largest number of subscription credits will be rewarded with the first prize; but every worker, whether a prize winner or not, will receive a liberal commission, payable at the end of each week, upon all subscriptions secured.

Nor does the subscriber "take a chance" when he pays his dollar for a year's subscription to this newspaper. He is guaranteed a full dollar's worth, delivered in fifty-two weekly installments. It is upon this basis that we are seeking to place "A Banner in every rural mail box."

Workers Profit In Wages, Chances For Big Prizes

This is entry week in the Brownwood Banner's big weekly pay check subscription drive in which participants will share in awards which include a new 1939 four-door, Dodge Luxury Liner Sedan, selling at $1095, a cash award of $300, and five other attractive cash prizes, having an estimated value of from $25 to $50 to $150.00.

In addition to the awards, every participant in the Banner campaign, every Saturday night, draws a weekly check equal to one-fifth of the total business he or she turned in during the week. No one works for nothing. Every one has an opportunity to turn spare time into cash and draw a fair weekly wage while, at the same time, they are accumulating credits that determine their participation in the awards at the close of the five week drive, December 22.

Several Enter Drive
Much interest was aroused by the announcement of this campaign in the Banner a week ago, and already a number of people have already entered the drive.
But still more workers are needed. A number of the communities in the county are still without representation, and there is still room for additional participants in this city.

Opportunities to make money and do it easily, such as the Banner campaign now offers responsible people in this area are few and far between. This is the week to send in your entry and participate in this campaign in which there are no losers. The sooner you enter the easier it will be for you to become the owner of the new Dodge sedan or one of the handsome sums of cash, when the distribution is made on December 22.

All you need to do is sign and mail or bring the entry coupon found in the advertisement on the last page to the Banner office, and you will be furnished, free, all needed working materials and full instructions as to how to work.

List of Entrants
Here are the participants who have entered the campaign at the time of going to press, given in alphabetical order. Each participant is given 5,000 credits upon entering, so every one gets an equal start. Pick out your candidate now and give her your support. Next week the standing of the candidates at the end of their first week will be given. Your support now will help your favorite to get in the lead and stay there. If you do not see her bring your subscription to the office, indicate whom you want to receive the credits, and Mrs. O. S. Bradley, Brownwood, 5,000.

to return a trailer he had used during the day. He was unable to return home, and was too sick to be taken to town to the doctor.

Soon after dark, Ralph Wilmett went to Brownwood and brought out Dr. Locker. After easing him, Dr. Locker said it was a stomach ulcer, and there was no place for him but the hospital. They at once took him to Stump Hospital where he was operated on at 2 o'clock that night. He stood the operation fine and has been doing well ever since.

It was the good pleasure of Mrs. Nellie Malone and the writer to visit Miss Dolly Reynolds Tuesday afternoon. Miss Dolly is one of the busiest and sunniest persons in all Ebony. Her little two-room cottage, which she salvaged from the tornado which wrecked her house a few years ago, is one of the coziest we know of. A trumpet vine drapes the east porch, and sweet, old-fashioned flowers, such as lilacs, petunias, and bachelor buttons, grow riotously all over the yard.

She showed us some of her quilts. Beautiful things they are. A triumph of the needle artist. Then she showed us a quilt her mother made. A Rose of Sharon pattern made of red and green against a white background. It is clean and white, in a wonderful state of preservation, and made with the finest stitches we ever saw. She says her mother was born 103 years ago last February. She married when she was 19, and the quilt was made before her marriage. Miss Dolly hopes to will the quilt to some one who will take care of it and keep it another 100 years.

Don't forget that Bro. Green expects to preach for us the fourth Sunday.

Remember the cemetery working scheduled for Thanksgiving Day. Bring your lunch and tools. Let's make the cemetery look more respectable, and we will enjoy being together.

FROM CENTRAL TEXAS NEWSPAPERS— NEWS OF NEIGHBORING COUNTIES

BRADY—After thirty-one years of active employment in the railroad and express service, A. L. Lang has applied for retirement under the present pension plan of the Railway Express Agency being effective as of November 1.

GOLDTHWAITE—After opening at thirteen cents, the Turkey market here during the latter part of the past week jumped to fifteen cents. The quality of birds here this season is the best in the last five or six years.

BLAKE—A singing association has been formed here with D. G. Large as president. The society is to meet each first and third Sunday afternoon at the Blake Baptist Church. All persons interested are invited to attend.

as we can remember, many scenes flashed across the screen of memory. One in particular, at Christmas time it had been snowing for days. It looked as if we were not to get to go to town. But a day or two in advance of the long looked for day, the sun came out and it was decided we'd try. All that distinctly remains of that trip is seeing the horses get such stiffs of packed snow that we'd have to stop and knock it off, and the hot rocks that we had put in the wagon to put our feet on—don't even remember if we saw Santa Claus.

Dublin and Canon's was then A. P. Jones. To us it was a fairytale. If someone had given us one of those dolls with open and shut eyes, these lines would never have been written—the joy would literally have been fatal. What a gap from then to now. No wonder our children are sometimes at a loss to understand us. We've had to make such a jump all at one fell swoop that of course we're often silly as can be. Things have happened so fast and furiously that we catch only the swish as they go by.

Mr. Doss and son, Robert Lee, have harvested a fine potato crop.

Mr. Easterling and John Strickland of Blanket were in this community this week looking after church business before conference met in Waco. They report a good year with most of the collections made.

Sheep-Dogs Stop, Look, and Listen—Sheep-dogs in northwestern England are trained to keep a special lookout for trains wherever pastures run near railroads, and to keep the sheep away from the tracks when they hear an approaching locomotive.

RISING STAR—Out of 236 votes cast in the general election here last week, only two were registered as Republican. Both were in the east side precinct. The west side reported one-hundred per cent Democrat.

HICO—Dissatisfied with an opening price of twelve cents for No. 1 turkeys, Hico growers held birds from the market. With a rise to fourteen cents, birds were rushed on the market.

DE LEON—Settlement with the growers for the 500 tons of peanuts held in the De Leon bonded warehouse brought local farmers a cash income of $30,000.

COLEMAN—Even with the price increased two cents per pound—to fifteen cents—the turkey market in Coleman is slow. The crop this year is reported to be about the same in quality as well as quantity.

COLEMAN—Coleman County Rural Electric Co-operative officials received news from the Rural Electrification Administration in Washington of the approval of an extension line to Oplin. The REA will advance $145,000 for the construction of the line. The extension is about 157 miles in length and will serve approximately 300 customers.

The top price of $350 was paid by John Strubling of Hoops for Junior Advankie, an animal calved February, 1937.

DEER SEASON OPENED WEDNESDAY; LAWS OF STATE REMAIN SAME

Migratory waterfowl became legal game Nov. 15 and deer and wild turkey Nov. 16.

The men who man the blinds may shoot at ducks and geese for 45 days, 15 days more than last year because of increasing supplies, while those in quest of deer and turkey may hunt legally through Dec. 31.

Ducks and geese, their numbers increasing by virtue of a widespread rehabilitation program, offer more sport to hunters this year.

The bag limit remains at 10, but possession limit has been doubled to 20 in the aggregate. Canvasbacks, redheads, buffleheads or ruddy ducks become legal game this year. Three each or an aggregate of three birds of different species may be taken. Bag limit on geese and brant is five in the aggregate of all kinds and the possession limit 10 of all kinds.

Not more than two days' bag limit of ducks and geese may be transported in one calendar week.

Use of live decoys is barred and a three-shell limit for repeating or automatic shotguns, in effect the last three years, is continued.

Deer and turkey laws remain unchanged, but the game department warns hunters to familiarize themselves with special laws in various counties.

The bag limit on deer is two a season, except mule deer, only one of which may be taken west of the Pecos.

Three turkeys is the season's limit.

Suggestions for Thanksgiving

It is recommended that these two recipes be tried during the Thanksgiving season:

Sweet Potato Souffle
2 cups mashed sweet potato
1/4 cup hot milk
6 tbs. butter or margarine
1/2 tsp. grated lemon rind
1/4 tsp. salt
Few grains pepper
3 egg whites

To mashed sweet potatoes gradually beat in hot milk to which butter has been added. Add grated lemon rind, salt and pepper and beat well. Beat egg whites stiff and fold into potato mixture. Pile into greased baking dish, bake in a hot oven for 30 to 35 minutes or until potato puffs slightly and is well browned on top.

Jellied Cranberry Salad

1 qt. cranberries
2 cups water
1 1/2 cups granulated sugar
2 1/2 tbs. granulated gelatin
1/2 cup cold water
1 cup chopped celery
2 tbs. lemon juice
1 cup chopped walnut kernels
Mayonnaise

Cook cranberries in 2 cups water until they start to pop, strain. Add sugar and the gelatin, which has been sprinkled on the cold water. Still till gelatin is dissolved. FIVE SETS OF TWINS AT DBC

Twins have formed a very distinctive organization on the Daniel Baker College campus this year—distinctive in view of the fact that all members of the group are musically talented. The Twins' Club began its activities recently when it presented a chapel program termed the outstanding one of the season.

W. S. McNutt, head of the education department, father of twins, a boy and girl, is faculty sponsor of the organization.

The club is composed of five sets of twins, two sets of girls and three of boys.

Frank and Bob Latta, George and Bill McBrayer, compose a very effective quartet of musical artists. The Harper brothers of Star are members of the Hill Billy Band and play the piano. The four girl members of the club are all musically talented. Bill McBrayer is president of the club.

Included in the membership, organized from the freshman class, are the Coffey Twins of Zephyr, the Talley Twins of Bangs, the Harper Twins of Star, the McBrayer Twins of Brownwood and the Latta Twins from Tuscola.

SAFETY TAX LIMIT CHANGE PROPOSED BY CIVIC ADVISORY

An amendment, a redraft of a former proposal, recorded and approved by the Brownwood Civic Advisory Council at a meeting Thursday, would have a general effect of setting the outside limit of combined possible levies at $2.15 on the $100 valuation and should voters approve at a special election to be held soon, would be incorporated in charter amendments.

Such an adoption of the amendment would not affect the school maintenance tax rate, but would establish a "margin of safety" which would permit the taxpayers, in the event of an unforeseen emergency in the future, to vote on school bonds for buildings, and would allow the schools the possible tax rate now provided by State law.

Members of the council were of the opinion that the present draft is more easily understood than a former draft. The practical effect of the amendment, R. R. Holloway, chairman of the city school board said, is to give a leeway of 14.1 cents to the school bonds limit to meet any future emergency, which could then be authorized only by a vote of the people.

The city bond fund would have an increased leeway of 6 of a cent, bringing them to 30 cents, if the present city maintenance tax rate remain the same. Except to that extent, the tax permitted for other purposes than school bonds would not be changed from that permitted under the present charter provision. The present city tax limit, including schools is $2 on the $100 valuation.

The amendment would fix the limit of city maintenance and bonds at not to exceed $1.15. At any time the limit should be exceeded, the bond tax would operate to reduce the maintenance or general tax fund rate.

The council approved unanimously the change on motion of J. Edward Johnson, Kiwanis Club representative. A committee composed of Mr. Johnson, James C. White and Ernest Jones, was appointed to represent the Advisory Council in matters pertaining to the amendment.

A committee to present an agenda of new projects for the council consideration was appointed by Chairman B. P. Bludworth. The committee is composed of Dr. Ben Shelton, Rotary; J. Edward Johnson, Kiwanis; Mrs. Chester Evans, City Federation, and LeRoy Preston, Young Democrats.

On motion of James C. White, a resolution of condolence in the death of W. M. Baugh was approved and a committee was appointed to draft such a resolution.

Migratory Waterfowl Regulations

Under new federal migratory waterfowl regulations announced recently Texas duck hunters will have a 45-day open season compared to a 30-day open season in 1937; and in addition may shoot a limited number of species hitherto protected. The open season on ducks, geese, Wilson's snipe and coot is from November 15 at 7 a.m. to 4 p.m. on December 29. Shooting hours each day are from 7 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Hunting Methods

Hunters may shoot ducks and geese and other waterfowl in season with a shotgun only, not larger than a No. 10 gauge, fired from the shoulder; a doz. a blind or floating device other than a sink box, may be used. The following are not permitted: shooting from an automobile, airplane, motor boat, power boat of any kind, sail boat or any boat or device under tow. Sink-boxes (battery) are not permitted. One may not shoot waterfowl with a gun that is automatic or repeating shot guns that are capable of holding more than three shells, including the chamber and magazine combined. Live ducks or geese decoys are prohibited. It will be against the law to place any feed, grains, such as wheat, oats, corn or like substance out for the purpose of attracting the birds regardless of the distance between the shooter and the feed.

Daily Bag Limits and Possession Limits

One may kill ten ducks in the aggregate of all species, except that he must not have in his daily bag limit more than three of any one or three in the aggregate of canvas backs, redheads, buffleheads, or ruddy ducks. Geese, including brant, five in the aggregate of all species, except no open season on snow geese. Ross geese, wood ducks, cranes, swans, brant and all shore birds. Not more than two days' bag limit of other migratory game birds may be possessed at one time. Ducks and geese may not be kept on cold storage more than ten days after the season closes. All other migratory birds' storage rules are the same as on ducks and geese.

Federal Migratory Bird Hunting Stamp

It is unlawful in the United States for a person over the age of 15 years to take ducks, geese or brant unless he carries on his person an unexpired federal migratory-bird hunting stamp, validated by his signature written in ink across the face. These stamps cost $1 and are issued by postmasters, not by state game wardens. These stamps are not valid after June 30 following the date of issue.

Dove Season

Dove season in this section of Texas closed at sunset on November 15. One may not keep doves on cold storage more than 10 days after the season closes.

Quail Season

Quail season does not open in Texas until December 1. Many think that quail season opens on November 16 at the time when deer and turkey season open, but it does not.

Eight Children Survive

Dr. Ragsdale's family was a large one, six sons and two daughters surviving. All the children were present at the time of his death...

Dr. Ragsdale was born December 29, 1852, in Spartanburg, South Carolina, the son of Dr. Edward Carter Ragsdale and Elizabeth Sarah Calhoun Ragsdale.

In 1868, "shortly after the Yankees had come through and raided everything in South Carolina," the Ragsdales headed for Texas...

time he has kept himself busy in that practice. For many years he covered 20 of 30 adjoining counties by horse and buggy...

Taught Class 60 Years

Dr. Ragsdale was a charter member of the Methodist (now the First Methodist) church in Brownwood and served in every official capacity.

Dr. Ragsdale's wife was Maggie Baggett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Silas Baggett of Bell county whom he married in 1880.

Baugh

site of the old Baugh home, occupied by W. M. Baugh and family for half a century or more, is now under forty or fifty feet of Lake Brownwood water.

Mr. Baugh in his youth and early manhood joined with others in the herding of cattle all over Central and West Texas.

The period of Mr. Baugh's youth was the two decades during which the early settlers here had constant trouble with the Indians.

Mr. Baugh married Miss Cazade Burnett, native of Wayne county, Kentucky, in this county December 29, 1876.

He came to Brownwood in 1880. In 1879-80 he taught school in Temple and in September of 1880 he came to Brownwood to take over the public schools here.

During these years he was helpful in furthering the education of hundreds of young Texans who have since spread out and settled over the length and breadth of the land.

Even after he entered the jewelry business here in 1892, he continued his teaching, utilizing a spare room in the rear of his store and gathering classes in bookkeeping and penmanship around him at night.

His interest in education continued up until the time of his death and on many occasions the local colleges and others elsewhere used him as a special speaker.

Brown County Pioneers Association, formed here in 1935, and a leader in the annual meetings except that of this year, which he was unable to attend because of illness.

Although he grew up in an era when violence was current, and men were compelled to fight for their very lives and for the maintenance of their homes, Mr. Baugh was essentially a man of peace.

The following was written in tribute to Mr. Baugh by one of his sons, Judge J. Harvey Baugh, of the Third Court of Civil Appeals, Austin, and is an admirable expression not only of filial affection but of the estimate placed upon Mr. Baugh's life by the people of this community.

"In the passing of Uncle Morg, as he was affectionately known to his legion of friends, Brown County has lost one of its most valued and most beloved citizens. It is the privilege of few men indeed to spend eighty years in one community and help build it from a frontier wilderness to what it is today.

"Those pioneers of whom he was truly typical, came, as did he, not endowed with worldly goods, nor blessed with fortune's favors. They came with the fear of God, a vision of the future, indomitable courage, and a determination to face squarely the hardships they knew they must meet and to overcome them.

"Five bands, the three local National Guard Companies, veterans of the Civil War, Spanish-American War and World War, college and high school pep squads, floats entered by Brownwood business firms, colored schools, fire department equipment and other representatives of Brownwood organizations followed the colors in the parade.

"Uncle Morg was of that type—one that is rapidly disappearing. We shall not look upon their like again, and in his passing we are reminded that it would serve us well to evaluate and try to exemplify the fine attributes of him and his type that cause us now to honor and respect them."

B&PW CLUB SPONSORS BOOK REVIEW MONDAY

RECORD CROWD SEES ARMISTICE PROGRAM

Thousands from Brownwood and Brown county lined the main thoroughfares of Brownwood last Friday morning to join the nation in observance of Armistice Day and in commemoration of the soldiers of the United States who lost their lives in the World War brought to an end November 11, 1918.

The celebration was one of the largest programs ever held in Brownwood on an Armistice Day. And for the first time in history, Brownwood business houses were closed the entire day in honor of the national legal holiday "dedicated to the cause of world peace."

The program was sponsored by four veteran bodies of Brownwood—the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Spanish-American War Veterans and disabled veterans of the World War. The citizens of Brownwood and Brown county offered its whole-hearted support in commemoration of "twenty years of peace."

Five bands, the three local National Guard Companies, veterans of the Civil War, Spanish-American War and World War, college and high school pep squads, floats entered by Brownwood business firms, colored schools, fire department equipment and other representatives of Brownwood organizations followed the colors in the parade.

Besides the program at the Lyric, which included patriotic addresses, musical numbers and commemoration for the World War dead, the two colleges had special Armistice Day programs during chapel exercises.

In the afternoon record crowds saw two conference football games here. The Brownwood-Breckenridge High School game drew an estimated crowd of 3,500 while approximately 5,000 saw the Howard Payne-St. Edward's game.

Approved Property Valuations Total $9,402,263 Here

The city tax rolls for the year were approved Monday night by the city council of Brownwood. They showed total property values of $9,402,263.

This total compared with $9,574,856 for 1937. Although the values are down $172,593, collection of taxes for October for only $61.18 less than for the same month last year.

The lower valuations, with the city tax rate unchanged, means lower tax cost to the citizenship, it was pointed out. City Tax Collector H. H. Gresham announced that split payments will again be accepted for city taxes. Under this plan, first half payments may be made at any time before January 31, 1939, and second half payments are due on July 31, 1939.

The water department took in a total of $8,241.26 and the municipal system collections totalled $694.93. Municipal expenditures were listed at $13,238.39 for all purposes.

A. B. SHIELD NO. 2 SET FOR DRILLING

Operators reduced hole at 532 feet depth and prepared Wednesday afternoon to drill in the No. 2 A. B. Shield of Delmarva Oil Corporation of Texas in a new Brown county shallow producing area five miles west of Brownwood.

E. F. "Rusty" Estergren, geologist for the firm, said the well was checking level with the No. 1 producer, which he estimated would pump 25 to 30 barrels daily with good pumping equipment.

The No. 2 Shield is located 750 feet east and 450 feet south of the northwest corner of the 50 acre tract and about 1 1/2 miles east of the Clear Creek pool.

The company will continue drilling until all of its acreage in the area is developed. Mr. Estergren said, estimating there is room for 15 to 20 wells on the acreage.

Oil is expected to be sold to a Coleman refinery. Sand was expected to be topped at 535 to 40 feet in the No. 2 prospect.

Two Fires Damage Palace Recreation Hall Friday Night

Two fires of unknown origin, occurring within one and a half hours of each other Friday night, damaged the Palace Recreation hall on Center avenue and Ninth street. Amount of the loss was not estimated.

The first blaze was quickly brought under control but when the firemen had returned to the station, another call took them back to the recreation hall, caught on fire again. The fire gained quick headway and had done considerable damage before it was brought under control.

The hall was the subject of an injunction suit in district court here recently. Judge E. J. Miller granted two property owners a temporary injunction restraining owners of the establishment from holding dances there. Notice of appeal had been given.

Local Business Man Proposes Markers For Street Corners

J. E. Henkel, local business man, presented Monday night to the city council a proposal for erecting street markers of an entirely new type designed by himself.

The markers would be placed on posts set at street corners and would be about four feet high, with names and street block designations printed on a yellow background of durable material fronting two ways at intersections.

Mr. Henkel said the markers were in line with the state highway markers, set low as to not require a motorist to raise his eyes from traffic.

He said 300 markers would be required and that they would cost approximately $600. Definite figures on cost would be furnished after a detailed survey.

JACKETS IDLE IN LOOP LEAD

The only Brownwood team to see Texas Conference football action this weekend will be the Hill Billy aggregation of Daniel Baker College when it travels Friday to Georgetown to meet the Pirates of Southwestern University who are in second position in the championship race.

Howard Payne's gridiron aggregation will rest this week, still holding down the No. 1 seat in the title throne room. Only one more circuit contest confronts the Brownwood Baptists, that being a contest Thanksgiving Day with Southwestern Pirates. Should the Billies win from Southwestern, the Jackets could take the title undisputed even though they lose the Pirate game.

The Thanksgiving Day game, however, does not close the grid program of the Yellow Jackets. December 3 will see the Howard Payne squad doing battle with its traditional rivals, the Cowboys of Hardin-Simmons in a homecoming skirmish in Brownwood.

Stepping outside the bounds of the conference last week, three Texas Conference juggernauts dropped games. Trinity lost to St. Mary's by a score of 21 to 0; Sam Houston overpowered the Rams of Texas Wesleyan 28 to 7, while Austin College was left out in the cold 32 to 0 by the strong North Texas Eagles.

1939 SEASON TO SEE CHANGES IN FOOTBALL CHAMPIONSHIP RACES

Changes have been sent to member schools by the Texas Inter-scholastic League which will reduce for the 1939 season the number of competing schools in the state championship races.

The changes are a result of applications made by the schools themselves and have been made completely on an enrollment basis. No consideration was made on team strength.

Under the new ruling, schools of 500 or more scholastics will play for the state championship. These schools will be listed as conference "AA." Schools having between 450 and 499 students might be admitted to the district by favorable vote of three-fourths of the members.

Conference "A" competition will comprise schools having between 150 and 199 may join by vote of three-fourths of the members.

Schools having less than 200 enrollment will compete for bi-district titles. They will be in conference "B."

BROWNWOOD HIGH HAS RECORD OF 15 YEARS

"This record is one of which Brownwood High School should be proud," said J. R. Staleup, principal, in connection with the record of meeting for fifteen years the requirements of the Southern Association of High Schools and Colleges.

The Southern Association is an organization consisting of most affiliated schools and colleges in the South. To become a member of this organization, requirements must be met as to training of teachers, laboratory and classroom equipment, contents and management of the library, number of students in the class, and quality of student work in high school and in college.

The report of May, 1938, shows that sixty-five per cent of Brownwood High School graduates were enrolled in colleges.

All high school teachers have the requisite degrees and experience, and the classroom and laboratory equipment meets the standard. Schools of Brownwood's enrollment have a library from 2,500 to 5,000 books, the high school boasting 4,500 catalogued editions.

Six and three-tenths per cent of semester hours carried is the low failure record of Brownwood extension students enrolled in colleges. Quality student work is estimated by the detailed account of the state inspector. The percentage of failures in high school is approximately seven.

Oldest History Book
The world's oldest history "book" is an ancient stone tablet in the National Museum of Palermo, Sicily, which records the years from 3400 to 2700 B. C. not by dates but by mention of important events and personalities.

BROWNWOOD HAS FIRE LOSSES TOTALLING $18,651 FOR YEAR

Fire losses to date for the year 1938 total $18,651, according to Fire Marshal Seaborn Jones who in making the statement urged citizens to use utmost care during the remainder of the year to prevent an increase in the fire insurance rate here. So far this year, the record compares favorably with losses for 1937, he said.

Brownwood at the present time is one of the Texas cities receiving the maximum twenty-five per cent credit for a low loss record. A saving of $40,000 per year in insurance premiums was effected through a reduction in the rates, Marshal Jones said.

Month-by-month reports of fire losses in Brownwood for 1938 follow: January, $1,281.21; February, $2,292; March, $1,516.13; April, $3,000; May, $100; June, none; July, none; August, $8,413; September, none; October, $1,650; November, to date, $429, not including the Palace Recreation Hall which burned Friday night.

Swim With Safety Is Object Of Red Cross Training

Girls in swimming class learn prone pressure method of resuscitation of victim of drowning.

EVERY year shows increasing thousands of people engaging in water sports, flocking to beaches and pools, and to unprotected swimming holes while picnicking and camping. Yet deaths by drowning have shown a steady decline in the past 25 years, until from a former annual death toll of 12,000 persons, now only an average of 7,000 persons needlessly surrender their lives while at play in the water.

The American Red Cross, which has led in water safety instruction and life saving in the nation for 25 years, attributes this encouraging decline to increased knowledge of safety rules in swimming, the widespread knowledge of resuscitation of the drowning person, and increased protection of the tyro swimmer at beach and pool.

Red Cross chapters throughout the nation sponsor training of life savers, and 82,000 persons were trained in this vital knowledge during the past year.

The instruction by the Red Cross not only water-proofs the individual swimmer, but it teaches him how he can, with greatest safety to himself, be most helpful in saving the life of a person in distress.

HOWARD PAYNE COLLEGE NOTES

When the Howard Payne Band took the field between halves of the Howard Payne-St. Edward's game Armistice Day, it was the first time this year that the band had been completely uniformed. Forty-eight composed the marching unit of the band with Duane Billedeau, drum major, and the three drum majorettes. The purchase of the twenty-one new uniforms was made possible by the college, the band members themselves and business men of Brownwood.

Howard Payne this year has a total of 712 students, the largest enrollment in the history of the school. Of this number, 337 students make up the freshman class. Twenty-eight of these freshmen were honor graduates in high school and are attending Howard Payne on a scholarship.

Franklin Etheredge, deputy state game warden for the six counties in the Brownwood area, spoke Wednesday morning on the Howard Payne chapel program.

Plans are going forward rapidly for one of the biggest homecomings in the history of Howard Payne to be held on the campus December 2. During the afternoon, the Jackies meet their traditional rivals, Hardin - Simmons University. Ground will be broken for the new $60,000 gymnasium and physical education plant.

Plans Near Completion For First Annual Poultry Show, December 1-3

First annual poultry show sponsored by the recently organized Pecan Valley Poultry Breeders' Association will be held in Memorial Hall December 1, 2 and 3. The show will be open to all types of poultry to owners from everywhere with no limit placed on competition.

The new poultry breeders' organization which will sponsor the show decided at a meeting Monday night to complete plans at a special called meeting in the Brown county courthouse tonight at 7:30 o'clock. All members, especially committee members, who did not attend the meeting Monday, have been urged to attend tonight's session. Steve McHorse, president of the association, said today.

The general show committee is composed of R. C. Brooks, W. I. Newton, Joe Day and A. E. Wilson.

Free Admission
E. D. Parnell, veteran poultry expert, will judge the Pecan Valley Poultry show. Competition is expected to be State-wide. Admission will be free.

"We believe that Pecan Valley flock owners can ably compete with owners of flocks anywhere else," Mr. McHorse said. He stressed the point that this is the first show of its type here, as the breeders have opened competition to all types and breeds of fowls, enabling others than fanciers to exhibit at the show. As a result the show is expected to eclipse anything of its type in local history.

The Pecan Valley Poultry Breeders' association is working toward the project of making next year's show fully member-financed thru membership and entry fees. The first show will be mostly member-financed.

Entry fees for single birds will be 50 cents and for breeding pens $1. Officials of the association who will govern show rules and regulations include Steve McHorse, president; R. C. Brooks, vice-president; Clem Longley, secretary; Chester Harrison, treasurer; W. I. Newton, show manager; Joe Day, show superintendent; A. E. Wilson, show secretary.

Catalogue Printed
A show brochure or catalogue has been printed, containing full rules and regulations. Premiums range from $5 for best display and best trio of turkeys and $10 for best 20 birds of one variety for the show to as low as 25 cents for third place in individual bantam entries.

An added feature will be pens by 6 feet for use of large breeding farms in exhibiting their entries, enabling large farms to show people of this section their prize groups. Special displays will be shown in one section. A prize of $5 will be offered for the display that is judged the most beneficial to the poultry industry of Brown county.

Exhibitors will be assisted in making sales. After the show, in January and February, a committee of the association will call on members and help them in culling their stock.

$186,000 ALLOTTED REA PROJECT HERE

Rural Electrification Administration has allotted an additional $186,000 for a project that is expected to build about 242 miles of line to serve 467 customers in Brown, Concho, McCulloch and San Saba counties. Out of this allotment $21,000 will be used to defray certain expenses connected with the initial operations of the project which cannot be covered by the construction loan. Power will be supplied by the Brady Municipal Plant. It was learned through an administration bulletin.

The cooperative has been advised of the allotment and supplied with instructions for getting the lines under construction. The money will be available as details are completed.

Construction of these lines will provide nearly 51,000 man hours of employment in the direct labor alone.

A schedule for legal and engineering steps will be sent to the project in the immediate future. Strict adherence to this schedule, which is set up to assist in the orderly and efficient handling of the work, will shorten the time before these Texas farmers can begin using electricity.

During the last week, 12 youths assigned to the NYA Resident Training Project in Agriculture at the Foundation Farm in Luling assisted in building range shelters, pasture fences, chicken feeders; grading farm produce; and terracing the river slope. Off-job training included instruction in animal husbandry, farm-home management and dairying.

SOIL CONSERVATION SERVICE RUNS 430 MILES OF TERRACE ON FARMS SINCE AUGUST, 1935

Farmers in the Brownwood, Denton and Gatesville CCC camp areas have taken advantage of the unusually favorable weather this fall for terrace construction, according to reports in November Soil Conservation Service Bulletin.

An average of five terracing rigs have been in continuous operation in each of these camp areas and this equipment has already constructed 190 miles of terraces this fall which makes a total of 430 miles of terraces constructed in these areas since August, 1935.

To support these terraces in controlling erosion and aid in establishing a complete soil and water control program on their farms, cooperators are busy planting winter strip crops on these newly constructed terraces and on other parts of their cultivated fields.

Through the requests of county agents, vocational agriculture teachers and community leaders, an exhibit prepared by the Soil Conservation Service has been displayed this month at the Huckabay, Gustine, Graham, Bridgeport and Breckenridge fairs. This display consisted of farm models showing land before and after soil conservation treatment.

The benefits to the farmers in the demonstrational and experimental work in soil and water conservation are easily apparent. As a result of his efforts, supplemented by those of the government, he receives terraced fields, improved pastures, better woodland, enhanced land values. The government for its part has a demonstration of conservation practice which it may show to other farmers in its effort to broaden the fight against erosion.

State Game Warden John R. Wood of Brownwood in the bulletin stated that "this section of Texas has more quail at the present time than we have had in several years. The land owners have proved to themselves that the past methods used in trying to hold birds on their land through the late fall and winter will not work."

He proposes that during this season, farmers supply quails with winter food and cover. "Do not burn fence rows; leave small plots of grain standing near fence rows; do not trap the quail to eat, their insect control work outweighs their food value; kill all wild house cats; control the big cotton rat; keep available food and water on the quail range thru the late fall and winter months; plant waste lands to permanent cover."

"When you have game management troubles, call on your game warden and we will try to work your problem out," Game Warden Wood stated.

Horse and Mule Prices Reach Peak in 1937-38

COLLEGE STATION—Horse and mule prices reached the highest point in 17 years in 1937, but during the latter part of 1937 and well into 1938, prices dropped 10 to 15 percent below those of the previous year, according to figures released by the U. S. Department of Agriculture Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

PARENT EDUCATION, CHILD DEVELOPMENT TAUGHT IN HDC CLUB

College Station—Home demonstration club members in 24 Texas counties are studying material dealing with parent education and child development, while home demonstration women over the entire state are devoting at least one program a year to the subject, according to Miss Dosca Hale, specialist in this field with the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service.

The work in Texas has special significance in view of the fiftieth anniversary conference of the Child Study Association of America now under way in New York City.

The association was organized in 1888. In 1896 a larger need for child study was realized and plans were made for a broadened scope. In 1908 the group began to operate as a central agency to pool the experiences of "many child study groups throughout the country. From war needs, in 1917, came the summer play school work that has developed into a permanent activity of great social and educational significance.

Home demonstration club families of Texas find that some of their most valuable discussions and reading material on family life and child development is prepared by the Child Study Association group, Miss Hale said.

FEED CROPS PLANTED IN HALF

Fact Given By Department of Agriculture

OF ACREAGE OF COTTON STATES

Nearly half of all cultivated acreage in the 16 states in the main cotton belt was devoted to five major feed crops—corn, oats, hay, grain sorghums and sweet sorghums—in 1937, analysis of Department of Agriculture reports reveals.

These crops, with cotton—which may be classed as a feed crop, also, because of the cottonseed feed products it supplies—occupied 78 per cent of the total crop acreage in the cotton belt last year. In other words, the average farm in these States had, out of each 100 acres in cultivation, about 32 acres of cotton, 26½ acres of corn, 9½ acres of hay crops, 4 acres of oats, 4½ acres of grain sorghums and 1 acre of sweet sorghums for forage or hay, with some 22 acres devoted to all other crops.

Differences which are found in feed production in widely-scattered parts of the cotton belt are slight, and serve chiefly to emphasize the fact that the belt, as a whole, has essentially the same feeds, Georgia, Mississippi and Texas being typical of the Southeast, Valley and Southwest portions of the cotton belt.

Because of the importance of these six crops in the farming system, it is evident that their proper use is of major importance to the Southern farmer and livestock raiser. All provide excellent feeds; but feeding authorities agree that no one is a complete feed in itself and these feeds, along with many minor feeds produced or used in the South, will have the greatest value if properly combined in balanced rations for livestock feeding.

To provide accurate information on the value of Southern feeds and their proper use, based upon experiment station research and practical experience, is the purpose of the series of which this is the first article. In addition to the major sources of feeds used in the cotton belt.

ADVICE IS GIVEN ON 'HOW TO CAN PECANS'

COLLEGE STATION, TEXAS—A pecan harvest in Texas of from seventeen to eighteen million pounds has been estimated by J. F. Rosborough, horticulturist of the Texas A. and College Extension Service, and extension foods specialists have pointed out that the crop offers an opportunity to housewives to add to the family food supply.

It has long been a commercial practice to keep pecans either under vacuum or in cold storage to prevent the meats from becoming stale or rancid. Neither practice, of course, can be used by the average housekeeper.

County home demonstration agents have information for home canning of the pecan meats by use of pressure cookers, according to Miss Grace I. Neely, extension specialist in food preservation and the author of the bulletin "Canning Fruits and Vegetables."

For those who desire to keep small quantities of nut meats for home use, and who have no pressure cooker available, Miss Neely recommends a water bath method recently announced by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Plant Industry.

"Fill glass fruit jars with freshly cracked meats, put on the rubber rings and tops but do not tighten them down," she said in explaining the procedure. "Put the jars in an ordinary wash boiler provided with a wooden rack to keep them from contact with the bottom. Two inches of water in the boiler is enough."

"Let the water come to a boil, and after it has boiled for 18 minutes with the lid on tight, remove the jars as rapidly as possible and tighten the tops. The jars of nuts may be kept at ordinary room temperatures, but should be stored in a dark place."

LOCAL MARKETS

With the closing of the Thanksgiving turkey market, local market interest shifted to other poultry with a slightly larger demand placed on chickens and eggs.

The turkey market closed in Brownwood Saturday with a steady price prevailing throughout the dressing period. Forty-five cars of turkeys from Brown and surrounding counties were shipped on the early market.

FARMERS GET COTTON ALLOTMENTS FOR '39

COLLEGE STATION—The AAA's 1939 farm program for Texas goes into high gear this week with the release of cotton acreage allotments for individual farms.

Sixteen counties have already received the 1939 cotton allotments, and an additional 50 or 60 will have them this week, according to information released at the state AAA headquarters at Texas A. and M. College.

George Slaughter, chairman of the Texas Agricultural Conservation Committee, said the state office is able to handle allotments at the rate of 10 to 15 counties a day if the necessary material from county offices is sent in. He figures on getting the needed material from 30 to 40 additional counties this week.

"It's our intention to issue the acreage allotments for each farmer by December 10, when the cotton marketing quota referendum is called, so that producers will be able to vote with all the cards on the table," Slaughter declared.

Individual farmers will receive their allotments by mail through the county AAA offices.

A crew of NYA youths working under the supervision of the county agricultural agent in Johnson county ran 30,200 feet of terrace lines during the last fifteen-day work period. J. C. Kellam, State Youth Director, has been advised.

The Australian government erected more than 6000 miles of wire fencing in its efforts to control its rabbit population, but with little success.

Forty-Five Carloads of Turkeys Shipped on Thanksgiving Market

The Central West Texas turkey market for the Thanksgiving Day season closed in Brownwood Saturday night and when the last shipment was made Wednesday, it was revealed that forty-five cars had been shipped to the northern and eastern market to supply the Thanksgiving Day dinner tables with the traditional meat of the season. In the forty-five cars were 72,000 birds of the best quality in several years, representing more than $100,000 for growers in Brown and surrounding counties.

Besides the income to the growers, 450 dressers and pickers received $3,600 for their seasonal services.

Last year, only thirty-seven carloads were shipped on the Thanksgiving market, and the birds were not of as high a quality as this year. The turkey has become as much a part of the Christmas dinner as it has for the Thanksgiving dinner table and almost as many turkeys will be shipped from the local markets during the latter period.

The turkeys were of much better quality and weighed out much heavier. Most of the growers held back their No. 2 birds and are feeding them out for the Christmas market, it was said.

Members of the Southwestern Poultry Association here can get their checks for the balance of their payments next Tuesday, officials of the association said this morning.

Money from the turkey market is returned to the trade channels more quickly than income on any other farm crop.

Warning to New Deal

REPUBLICANS made notable gains in the general election, and are justifiably proud and with reason encouraged as they look over the field of battle and count the Democratic casualties.

The election was not without its good cheer for the Democrats, however, and as usual both sides profess satisfaction as they review the vote totals.

As a whole it may be said that the election probably reflects two things: The first is the natural pendulum-like swing of popular opinion, from the extreme and for a time almost hysterical devotion to President Roosevelt.

A second thought, growing out of the election results, is that New Deal leaders should take warning from the marked desertion of Democratic policies by a great many people.

Brown County's No. 1 Citizen

THE TITLE of Brown County's Number One Citizen was worn gracefully by W. M. Baugh, and was earned by reason of the fact that he had lived here longer than any other person.

Mr. Baugh, like so many others of the real pioneers of Brown county, experienced many hardships during his early manhood and, in fact, throughout most of his life was closely associated with hard work and constantly confronted by problems affecting his efforts to make adequate provision for his large family.

After moving to Brownwood to provide educational facilities for his children, Mr. Baugh continued his ranching activities, but found time to serve the community as a city councilman, and participated in many civic, religious and educational movements.

The passing of this good man is saddening not only because he will be missed, but because it so pointedly reminds us that the race of real pioneers of Brown county is steadily diminishing. Not many now remain of those who came here seventy or seventy-five years ago, to carve a place for themselves and their families and friends out of the wilderness which then extended from Austin and Waco on the east to the Pacific ocean on the west.

Misdirected Zeal Is Tragic

A TRAGIC instance of misdirected zeal is presented by the recent events in Germany, in which a new and vicious campaign against the Jews has been witnessed.

The zeal of the young Jew who started all this may be admirable, but certainly his judgment was tragically in error. Revenge is almost invariably productive of destruction for those who seek it.

The Jews are suffering terribly in many of the European countries. However unjust their oppressors may be, it is a time demanding self restraint and calm judgment in order that the wave of prejudice which now creates so much persecution may not be heightened.

Beating Anti-Nepotism Law

BOYCE HOUSE, well known Fort Worth newspaper man and political publicist, has wisecracked his way around Texas for several years, and has found occasion to examine many phases of the state government's operations at Austin.

The anti-nepotism law ought to be amended so that the spirit of the statute can not be trampled under foot," Mr. House observes. "As the law now is, if you are at the head of a state department, you can't give your father-in-law a job, but you can hire the brother of another state official and that official can hire your father-in-law."

It should, indeed, the anti-nepotism law was written for the purpose of preventing the very thing which Mr. House finds exists throughout the state government. Blood is thicker than water, and it has become a good old family custom to load down the state payrolls with kinfolks every time a new department head or high elective official takes the oath of office.

The Legislature is fully cognizant of this situation, and fully realizes the need for an amendment of the law to correct the current practices. There is about as much prospect, however, that the Legislature will act to amend the existing statutes, as there is for publicans and insiders to inherit eternal life.

The people can get what they want, of course, by insisting upon it. Legislators and others who openly violate the anti-nepotism law can be retired from office. The ballot is the people's only defense against bad government. It should be used intelligently and courageously.

The MARCH OF TIME

A BANNER Feature by the Editors of TIME, The Weekly Newsmagazine

Rearmament . . .

WASHINGTON—After publicly urging the re-election of New York's Democratic Governor Herbert H. Lehman and disposing of other election duties, President Roosevelt last week turned to consider the important matter of national rearmament.

The President's aides discussed during the week a separate "Emergency budget" for defense, an air fleet of 10,000 planes instead of the 7,000 mentioned fortnight ago, and a provision in the War Department Appropriation bill to equip for instant combat an "initial protective force" of 400,000 soldiers (Regular Army plus National Guard).

Two-Price Plan . . .

NEW YORK—Vice President Francis R. Wilcox of the Federal Surplus Commodities Corp., an expert in the Department of Agriculture, called for Europe last week to find a market for excess citrus fruits and other crops—particularly wheat.

Hopeful Experiment . . .

WASHINGTON—Most citizens have supposed that dirigible construction in the U. S. was as dead as the 89 good men who went down with the "Shenandoah" in 1926, the "Akron" in 1933, the "Macon" in 1935. But Franklin Roosevelt corrected this impression last week when he ordered the construction of a new rigid airship for the U. S. Navy.

Phase No. 5 . . .

WASHINGTON—Looking forward to his legislative program for the next Congress President Roosevelt last week also turned his thoughts to Housing. He told his press conference that four phases of his broad Housing program were now functioning effectively: Home Owners' Loan Corp., to save small mortgaged properties for their owners; Slum Clearance, which has been taken up by almost all large U. S. cities; U. S. Housing Authority, which finances new tenements for people who can afford not more than $5 per room per month; and Federal Housing Administration, which finances home owners who can afford $10 per room per month and up.

Next, declared the President, must come Phase No. 5—housing for lower-middle families who can afford rooms between USHA's $5 maximum and FHA's $10 minimum. The President hoped that money to finance Housing in this field could be found among thousands of people with $1,000 or so to invest, small private capital brought into an enormous pool by a sure promise of 3% or 3 1/2% interest.

Other changes: Running boards are abandoned completely in some models, optional in others. The rumble has given way to the 4-to-6 seat coupe. General savings in gas consumption and wear and tear are promised from the over-drive, an automatic super-high gear that engages somewhere between 23 and 25 m.p.h., cutting the motor speed down almost to that of the drive shaft. Not the same as free-wheeling, the over-drive provides free-rolling efficiency while still retaining the braking power of the engine, is conceded wider favor than free-wheeling since it requires no manual operation.

In 1938 sales, as in 1936 and 1937, Chevrolet led the pack, hotly pressed by Ford, with Plymouth third. But stable for stable, the Ford & Lincoln-Zephyr combination ran third, the Chrysler line (Plymouth, De Soto, Dodge and Chrysler) second and General Motors (Chevrolet, Pontiac, Buick, Oldsmobile, LaSalle and Cadillac) far out in front. For 1939, Henry Ford has two major bids for a return to the day when flivvers led the field: a new car—the Mercury—to tap the middle-price field; installation, at last, of hydraulic brakes in all models. Only other newcomer in the field is an old-timer, the Overland, which reappears as big brother to the little Willys.

Beasts and Workers . . .

WASHINGTON—Besides uncounted numbers of deer, bear, foxes, rabbits, squirrels and birds of the forest, there are abroad in the woods this hunting season some 300,000 CCC workers. Following a custom he believes prudent, Director Robert Fechner of CCC last week addressed a letter to State game wardens thanking them for their help in the past and asking them again this year to keep his boys from being shot.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

For Sunday, November 20, 1938

THERE IS a direct connection between the fifth and seventh commandments: "Honor thy father and thy mother," and "thou shalt not commit adultery." The one enjoins the maintenance of family authority in the home; the other requires the maintenance of family purity in the home. The institution of the home itself depends upon both.

Adultery is a vulgar offense against society and against God, but it is a widely prevalent one and should be given more careful and more consistent thought than is accorded it by the average man or woman. Too often we are inclined to think of it as an evil with which we are not associated, and which does not directly affect our own lives. And yet we see our society shot through with it, and because it is so prevalent we witness the spectacle of a society, which claims to be respectable, condoning it in many instances and tolerating it in many others.

Fundamental in any consideration of this problem of family purity is one's conception of the marriage relationship. An attempt has been made to write civil statutes calculated to keep marriage "respectable," and to minimize the evils which might, if unrestrained, jeopardize the very foundations of our civilization. But the conception that the marriage relationship is merely a civil contract, to be entered into or broken at will, is written into the principles upon which the civil marriage statutes are based, and it is for this reason that the man-made laws fall so far short of accomplishing the purpose for which they are intended.

It is an old-fashion viewpoint, perhaps, but a scriptural one, that marriage is a triangular contract between a man and a woman and Almighty God. The institution of marriage was founded and through all the generations has been endorsed by God, and he is invariably a party to every marriage contract which is to be considered as binding. The vows of marriage are taken primarily before God, and any violation of them is a breach of contract with him. It follows, logically, that only those marriages which are entered into and maintained as holy unions are entitled to or will receive the blessing of God. It is true, to be sure, that since the beginning of recorded human history there has been social immorality. The widespread menace of several types of social diseases, which just now is causing so much concern to medical and sociological leaders, is nothing new. It merely has been ignored in this state and nation, until recently when courageous people have begun to direct attention to it. It should be kept in mind, however, that neither social custom nor tradition is a justification for anything that is evil; and social immorality can not be condoned by any person who has either self respect or a proper conception of his responsibility for the welfare of others.

God lays down a single standard of purity for the home and the family. It is a standard which is applied equally to the sexes, automatically outlawing the double standard which for so many generations has been maintained in almost every civilized country. Not until this standard is respected in the homes of America will there be a revival of the type of home and family life which blessed this nation a few generations ago, nor will there be an appreciable improvement in the current low standards of society in general. Primarily, it is not a social problem, but a moral one. The history of the world, both secular and religious, presents to us of this day a thunderous warning that any people which lays aside the scriptural standards of morality, undermines the sanctity of the home and discards the sacred obligations of the family, must inevitably perish from the face of the earth. There have been no exceptions to this rule, so far as the records of the past disclose. It is reasonable to conclude that there will be no exceptions in the future—because God is a sovereign ruler, whose judgment is unerring and whose justice is inevitable. Violation of the seventh commandment, regardless of the attitude of society toward it, means that God is offended; and whenever His law is trampled under foot all his infinite power is exercised in the punishment of the offender.

God should be very near to every home. His spirit should dwell therein. It should be an altar at which the family lifts up its petitions and offers its praises. It must be a place of purity and love, if it is to measure up to his requirements. Meteorites, according to a court ruling, belong to the owner of the land on which they are found. Approximately 171,000 young men reach the age of 20 in England every year.

Why Go To Church?

This is the first of a series of short articles on this subject, written by the editor of this newspaper with the hope that they may inspire thoughtful study of the individual's responsibility to his church and his God.

YOU MISS a blessing personally by failure to attend church regularly. There is something in the very atmosphere of the church which gives a feeling of peace and security. There is an inspiration in the music, the grand old hymns of faith and devotion, which through many decades have been sung by the people of God. There is a sense of security in the fellowship of neighbors and friends united in the common desire to worship. There is instruction in the Word of God as it is read and interpreted from the pulpit. There is a consciousness of the presence of the Spirit of God in the entire service which renews the courage, deepens the faith and crystallizes the purposes of the worshipper through the whole week.

PEEP SHOW

—For Ladies Only— BY MIGNON

"She truth. Here was a car load of Panhandle Pen women going over to Stillwater, Oklahoma, to meet with the Writers at the second annual writers roundup held at A. and M. and me just backing my ears and acting like the mother of a new weekly paper, but secretly shedding a tear or two on the press blanket I always feel like Stillwater is Mable Caldwell's town. Miss Caldwell, you know is head of creative writing there in the English Department and once worked on the staff of my favorite magazine, "Household." However, I just ups and calls Miss Laura Hamner . . . well known and loved writer of the plains. Miss Hamner, you know is the author of "The No-Gun Man from Texas." (That sounds like one I must write to Santa about) which was adopted by the state board of education as a text. Well, Miss Hamner was kind enough to tell me so many things I almost feel that I was there.

Echoes from the roundup—Dr. Uzzell speaking: "The longest road for a writer is that which lies between an easy chair and the typewriter . . . Take time to learn . . . You can't begin the writing art at the top . . . Arrange office hours, arrange a time . . . budget your time. Things most needed . . . a room, a door, a lock and key . . . Keep on pounding two hours daily . . . fifteen to twenty hours a week."

Jennie Harris Oliver was there, fragile and lovely as an orchid. Helen McMahan was there to do the honors for Oklahoma in making Texas folks feel welcome . . . Josephine Hawks, Theresa Black were names the Texans remembered. And Ooooooh Gee! Kenneth Kaufman and Dr. E. E. Dale! I don't imagine I'll ever be able to live without them!

What the world needs most is more GIVING husbands and more forgiving wives. All of which reminds me: Mary had a little goat His mouth held store bought teeth He lost them in a poker game And now he's on relief. Still Mary loves the goat so much She feeds him from a grinder And when he wants to throw his voice She has a swell reminder.

I felt so bruised and far away When writers were a-dashin' From up the creek and down the creek Oh how my teeth were gnashin' I wanted so to be with them To hear and see and learn From all these gals and boy friends Who met—to sweat—and earn . . . STOP! LOOK! LISTEN! LINES BY AN UNCAUGHT BACHELOR

I could not love a girl who wore Red flannels in the winter—or A careless maid whose shoulder straps Kept peeking out. I think perhaps That such a maid would like as not Leave stale grounds in the coffee pot Or come to breakfast all undressed With hair in curlers, I detest A girl who cannot look at eight As smart as when she has a date; So I'll not risk my single bliss On the most fascinating miss. Least I should find, once I was wed I had a slattern in my bed! —Gertrude Couch Crossman Overheard this week: Little Gwyndolin had visited in the country and for the first time had seen a sow and pigs. The next day she made an "A" in class for writing the following theme: I have seen pigs. The big pig was afraid of the little pigs. They kept chasing him around and finally got him down and chewed the buttons off his vest. Two new books lie on my desk—gifts from the Printz over in Tulsa—"Land of the Burnt Thigh" by Kohl, and that best selling "Brazos" by Ross McLaury Taylor. Some of these days I'm gonna put this paper to bed early enough to read them and I'll be telling you all about them. They're swell books or they wouldn't have sent them.

Did I brag last week about my big fluffy Mum? Well this week I gotta break out in goose bumps. I got one as big as a harvest moon and as lovely. It was tied with a big gold ribbon to match my teeth and a lazy chimele "A" sprawled across it, to remind me I live in Amarillo . . . How can I stay true to Oklahoma with guys out here in the wide open spaces saying it with flowers?

Sixty of the 627 students continuing their education at Texas A. and M. College through part-time employment on NYA Student Aid jobs are assisting in developing a 75-acre Community Park. Four picnic units have been completed, a 5-acre tree nursery developed and roads and trails established. J. C. Kellam, State Youth Director, has been advised.

National Youth Administration boys working part-time on a soil conservation work project in Coleman county at attending off-job training classes in manual training under the direction of the county agricultural agent, Ben Jackson NYA district supervisor, has reported to J. C. Kellam, State Youth Director. Later they will receive instruction in animal husbandry agricultural methods, rock masonry and farm mechanics.

time member of The Banner editorial staff.

GRATEFUL acknowledgment is made of the good wishes of The Goldthwaite Eagle, which anticipates that the new publisher of The Banner will produce a weekly paper in which Brown county will take pride and which will be a credit to Texas newspaperdom. Rather a high goal to set for this humble laborer, but we will do our best. Even Harry Schwenker, the sword-wielder of the Brady Standard, offers a bit of commendation upon our efforts thus far.

What is to be will be, and the Banner will try to take it, whatever may be in store for it. Our purpose is to make a newspaper that will be welcomed in every rural home in Brown county, and in some of the Brownwood homes as well, and certainly there is no better place in the world in which to try such an experiment than right here in the Promised Land and among the Chosen People.

IT WAS a splendid parade which was witnessed here Armistice Day. Color was added by the large groups of school and college pupils, and the several National Guard units and small bands of war veterans gave it a distinctly patriotic touch. It is our duty, however, to complain about something, and the failure of the watching crowd to take proper note of the passing of the Stars and Stripes provides a good subject.

Men should uncover their heads when the Flag passes in a parade or is otherwise formally presented, and women should make a Herculean effort and suspend their chatter for at least a few moments as a mark of respect for the Colors. A lot of mighty good men have given their lives in defense of the flag, and wherever it appears it presents a challenge to respect.

WE HAVE heard many funeral discourses, some of which were real masterpieces. But no more eloquent nor soulsearching eulogy has been heard from any Brownwood pulpit, during our time, than that delivered Monday morning by the Rev. Leslie A. Boone, pastor of the First Methodist church, when a throng of friends gathered to pay their final tribute of reverence and respect to Dr. Paul C. Ragsdale.

No minister, as a matter of fact, has had a more inspiring occasion than that which gave Mr. Boone such eloquence last Monday. Dr. Ragsdale had lived here since 1880, and it is no sense an exaggeration to say that no man had ever lived in a more exemplary manner. In almost every phase of the community's activity he long had been a leader, and by his personal example in consecrated piety he had wielded an influence that is beyond computation.

THE WORD of God was so deeply embedded in Dr. Ragsdale's heart that he literally lived it, and found his greatest joy in meditating upon and teaching it. Throughout this section there are men and women who received much of their secular education under his tutelage, and whose lives were patterned in godliness after the fashion of his own. Surely, as Mr. Boone said, such a life never ends, but even after death it goes on and on to bless unborn generations.

Birthdays of the week include: A. D. Murphy, dairyman, November 14; Leo Ehlinger, district highway engineer, November 14; A. P. Rowland, district manager of the Community Gas company, November 17; W. E. Burleson, former county clerk and traveling salesman, November 18; A. N. Thomason, auditor, November 19. Congratulations to each and all.

"In France's Fields" Every American is familiar with John McCrae's World War poem "In Flanders' Fields;" but not many know that he himself was killed in 1918 and was buried in a quiet little war cemetery at Wimereux, France, where hundreds visit his grave every year.

Broadway in England is but one street, but visitors who seek Broadway in England find that it is one of the loveliest villages of Warwickshire, and it also consists of but one street lined with homes centuries old embowered in vines and flowers.

Nova Scotia in Scotland The parade ground in front of Edinburgh Castle, in Scotland, is legally a part of Nova Scotia. It was so declared in the reign of Charles I so that newly made Nova Scotia baronets could "take possession" of their lands on Nova Scotia territory.

HUMAN CLOVER, FOUR-PURPOSE CROP, SHOWS GOOD YIELD ON SCS FARM NEAR BROWNWOOD

Hubam clover, standing nearly shoulder high, yielded seed at the rate of 1,400 pounds per acre on the farm of T. W. Oden, Soil Conservation Service cooperater, located eleven miles west of Brownwood, Texas.

Mr. Oden reports that he harvested 420 pounds of seed from approximately one-tenth of his three acre seed multiplication plot. Heavy rains prevented his harvesting the balance of the plot. He used an all-purpose, six foot combine to harvest the seed. At current market prices Mr. Oden harvested $50 worth of seed.

He plans to sow all of this seed in strips on his small grain fields next February to increase the value of his stubble pasture, and to rebuild the fertility of his soil thru providing a leguminous green manure crop to be turned under each year. Mr. Oden estimates that if he had cut this crop for hay it would have yielded two tons per acre.

SCS technicians state that hubam clover is a four purpose crop, in that it provides excellent pasture, is a good hay crop comparing in feeding value to alfalfa, adds nitrogen to the soil, an element of which small grain is a heavy user, and provides a good green manure crop to add to the humus content of the soil. They point out the fact that hubam, like sweet clover, has a bitter flavor which livestock have to learn to overcome. This is the reason many people think sweet clover pastures or hay is unpalatable. They say that livestock require from a few days to three weeks to learn to eat sweet clover, according to the amount of other feed given them. When sown on small grain in February hubam will be a few inches high by harvest time and will not affect the yield of small grain for that year. On seasonal years the clover will often grow as high as two to three feet after harvest and mature seed in time for the crop to be turned under and the land planted to small grain again. After seeding the first year on land continuously in small grain it often volunteers indefinitely if harvested as described above.

SCS officials have planned a series of demonstration seed multiplication plots to be located beside public roads on several farms distributed over Brown county. Next February, if soil and moisture conditions permit, the seed will be inoculated and planted by the farmers on these plots where the results may be seen by the farmers of this county.

Cooperator Pleased With Work of Local

"Gave me a 90% instead of a 70% calf crop," said Mr. Elmer Mullis, cooperater with the SCS Brownwood camp. "I have found that by stocking fewer animal units that my increases are of better quality. My lamb and calf crops are higher and I am not out so much money for other feeds," he explained.

Mr. Mullis is one of many enthusiastic cooperators who are planning to do extensive pasture improvement work, according to local SCS officials. They state that the pasture program is spreading rapidly and many farmers are contour furrowing and practicing controlled grazing in order to prevent
