ELY ENDORSED FOR REAPPOINTMENT BY BROWNWOOD C. OF C.

The Board of Directors of the Brownwood Chamber of Commerce, at their weekly luncheon Wednesday, endorsed Judge W. R. Ely, of Abilene, for reappointment to the State Highway Commission.

A letter from Hilton Burks, of Comanche, former secretary of the Brownwood C. of C., was read Wednesday. Mr. Burks advised that a work of securing data on a road from Hamilton through Indian Gap to connect with Highway No. 7 near Zephyr in Brown county is well under way.

Dr. Ben Shelton, Walter Emison and F. S. Abney were appointed as a committee from the board to work with endorsers of the several years old cottonseed note in an effort to pay off the $1,200 obligation. The debt was incurred several years ago when the Chamber of Commerce sponsored a move to bring about planting of better cotton seed in this county.

CANCELLATION OF PWA APPLICATION MADE ON REQUEST

The slow-moving Public Works Administration finally this week got around to cancelling the application of the City of Brownwood for $31,000 for improving the city water system.

After Brownwood officials had made application for the loan and grant it had been tentatively approved, it was decided to cancel the request for the loan and to use a surplus in the water fund to do the work on the city's water mains. And this work, being paid for by the city and without outside aid, is now well under way.

The first part of this program included the putting down of 2,200 feet of eight-inch mains, the second phase of the project being the laying of 3,000 feet of six-inch mains. This latter project is now nearing completion.

Dr. H. W. Edwards, of the University of California, has developed a "pancor" mirror, which reflects all colors alike. The new device is said to be 98 per cent efficient.

CHRISTMAS TURKEY MARKET OPENS WITH PRICE AT 12c; HEAVY RECEIPTS EXPECTED

THE Christmas turkey market opened in Brownwood Thursday with indications pointing to a much heavier sale of turkeys than was had on the Thanksgiving market when seventeen cars of Central Texas turkeys were bought, dressed and shipped to eastern markets.

Prices on the opening Christmas market were: No. 1, 12c pound; No. 2 6c pound; old toms, 7c pound.

The Southwestern Poultry Association, a cooperative produce house, began purchasing turkeys on the Christmas market early this week and others will be operating at capacity before the week-end.

Many turkeys in Brown and adjoining counties were too light for sale on the Thanksgiving market but growers have been feeding their flocks since and dealers anticipate a better class of turkeys for the Christmas season. Although prices had not been announced Thursday by all Brownwood dealers, prices being paid by produce houses in operation Thursday were the same as paid on the opening Thanksgiving market.

The Christmas market will close about December 15th but several Brownwood dealers, including the cooperative poultry association will continue to buy turkeys throughout December and January.

Mr. Wesner states that the fees should be sent direct to the Austin office of the Texas Interscholastic League and not to the county chairman.

ZEPHYR GIRL, 3, DIES OF BURNS

Betty Ruth Greer, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Greer of Zephyr, who would have celebrated her fourth birthday Sunday, died Wednesday afternoon at a Brownwood hospital from burns sustained the day before.

The little girl watched her father light a wood fire with the use of kerosene. When he left, she threw some of the kerosene on the fire. The flames which shot from the fire burned her severely about the head and body.

She was rushed to the Central Texas Hospital, Brownwood, where she was given medical treatment, but succumbed Wednesday afternoon, December 5, at 4:40 o'clock. Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the First Baptist church, Zephyr. She is survived by her parents, one sister, Doris Greer, and other relatives.

COTTON POOL FINAL REPORT COMPLETED

W. E. Baxter, assistant to County Agent C. W. Lehmburg, has completed his final report to the national cotton pool for cotton exemption certificates in Brown county and has mailed the report to Washington.

It is estimated that an equal amount, or larger, was handled in the county as farmers and producers sold and traded certificates inside the county line.

Under the new wage scale, relief workers will receive as much money as in the past but will have to work longer. However, in addition to the wages received, relief clients are receiving quantities of government surplus commodities.

LIVESTOCK PROGRAM ALMOST TO A CLOSE

The federal government's livestock purchasing program in Brown county is expected to be completed by the end of this week. County Agent C. W. Lehmburg states. The sheep and goat purchasing program has been completed and Mr. Lehmburg hoped to be able to conclude cattle purchasing by Thursday or Friday night.

Approximately 2,300 head of cattle had been listed for sale thru Wednesday and unless additional applications were received, the county's last quota of 2,500 head will not be reached. Mr. Lehmburg believes that all distress cattle have already been listed or sold.

The sheep and goat purchasing program was concluded Saturday night of last week. The county's quota of 3,000 goats was reached but the sheep quota of 8,000 was not filled.

WORK STARTED ON HIGHWAY TO PARK

Construction work was started Monday on the new Cross Cut-Lake Brownwood Park road with Commissioner James W. Phillips in charge. The initial work being done is on a short strip of road between the park entrance and the Weeden school house.

This new road, approximately five miles in length, was designated as a bonded road by the commissioners court recently, which made it possible for the road to be built and maintained from county bonds, and from state and federal relief projects.

W. R. Chambers, of May, whose appointment as supervisor of the Brownwood district for the Federal Farm Census, was announced from Washington Saturday, December 1, has established headquarters for this district at the Soldiers and Sailors Memorial hall in offices formerly occupied by the Brownwood Chamber of Commerce.

The Brownwood district is No. 7 and includes the 27 counties of the 21st Congressional district. The taking of the farm census will be begun in January. Between seventy and eighty enumerators will be hired by Mr. Chambers to take the census in this district.

All applicants for appointment as enumerators will be required to take an examination and will be hired on the basis of grades made. And all who make application will be given an opportunity to take the examination, Mr. Chambers advises.

Quails Few As New Season Is Opened

The 1934 quail hunting season opened in Brown county December 1 and will continue through December 31 but according to reports from hunters, there are few quail in the county.

Only scattered covens have been reported and only expert hunters with well trained dogs have been able to get the bag limit of fifteen in any one day.

Quails have been disappearing rapidly from year to year and game authorities, including Wm. J. Tucker, game commissioner, in an address to the Izaak Walton League attributed the decrease, not to the hunters' guns but to the inroads being made by road runner birds, snakes, hawks and armadillos. He declared that the quail is the prey of all animals and that their rapid extinction is of great concern to the state officials and urged a campaign to get rid of the enemies of the quail.

The Ponderous PWA

Announcement that the Public Works Administration had abandoned sixty Texas projects, calling for expenditures of some ten millions of dollars in this state does not come as surprise. The PWA is well known to be the most ponderous, the most unwieldy, and the most unsatisfactory to do business with of any of the governmental agencies designed to speed recovery.

The experience of the City of Brownwood is typical. In August of 1933, upon the invitation of the government, exhaustive surveys were made, and application for PWA funds filed in an effort to extend and improve the water works system and do some street paving. The project called for the expenditure of some $100,000 in Brownwood. It was designed primarily to give winter work through the past winter to several hundred people.

City officials working on the project were confounded with such a maze of red tape and official indifference that the City finally abandoned the project—after more than a year had elapsed and it was evident funds would not be forthcoming for some time. The frank reason given for withdrawing the application was that, although the application had been approved, the red tape system was so unsatisfactory and so unwieldy that the City had abandoned hope of seeing the thing through.

The original idea behind the PWA was that through the immediate expenditure of government funds, much needed public work could be done, and much suffering relieved through taking up some of the slack in unemployment. So far, the PWA has failed of this purpose.

Now comes the announcement that the withdrawal of approval of the sixty Texas projects will release this ten million dollars for other applications. But if these applications receive the same tardy consideration that was afforded others, then it is just another announcement that the good the PWA could have done will be postponed for another indefinite period.

The passing of the Dallas-Fort Worth interurban, which is to be abandoned in favor of bus lines, will cause a tinge of regret among many West Texans, who, like their first trip, like many other trips, into the North Texas metropolis over the interurban. It was, for many years, the last word in modern transportation, the pride of Texas, and the source of a handsome revenue to stockholders in the operating company.

Future Highways

It was inevitable that it should go. Rail transportation, once the most commonly used method, has not kept pace with a changing civilization, has not been able to meet the competition of private and public motor transportation. Except on the long hauls, most passenger trains, and most all other forms of rail transportation, including the street cars and the interurbans, are losing money. Rapid and continued improvement of motor cars, and almost no improvement of rail vehicles during the past generation have been responsible for much of the change in popularity.

But the abandonment of the interurban between Dallas and Fort Worth opens new possibilities in highway construction. There is a beautiful and serviceable pike between the two cities now, but certainly the time is coming when this highway will be insufficient, and it will be necessary to construct another.

A movement is on foot, and has gained considerable popularity, to have the state highway commission purchase the interurban right of way for possible future use. It seems to be a sensible plan, and should be pushed to completion now, before the valuable property reverts to private ownership when it might be too costly to purchase through condemnation proceedings.

The most logical suggestion, it seems to us, is to construct a super truck highway between the two cities, possibly making it a toll road, and force all trucks to use this new road, leaving the old for passenger traffic.

During the next few weeks Governor-elect James V. Allred will be called upon to make one of the most important decisions that will confront him during his term of office, in the appointment of a member of the State Highway Commission. The commission probably affects more individual people than any other state governmental agency. More people are interested in its efficient operation. Its actions reflect, to a large number of people, the attitude of the state administration.

Retaining Judge Ely

It has been noticeable in the past that the administration has been charged with the mistakes of the commission—some have good and efficient commission appointments reflected credit on the Governors appointing them.

The term of W. R. Ely of Abilene on the commission expires next month, and as Governor, Mr. Allred will be called on to appoint his successor. The people of Texas are watching this appointment with an interest which reflects the wide scope of activity of the commission itself. In the interest of continuing the efficiency of the present commission, a considerable number of people, including many whose close contact with highway matters has placed them in position to speak with authority, have joined in the endorsement of Judge Ely for reappointment. Without endeavoring to embarrass the new Governor with too many suggestions, The Banner adds its endorsement to the movement, and suggests that the reappointment of this able West Texan not only would add confidence to the already favorable attitude toward the incoming administration, but at the same time give needed assurance that efficiency in office is to be continued where possible.

It is unnecessary for us to point out the many qualities that fit Judge Ely for continued service on the commission. Already he has served under three governors, with many fellow members; is the dean of the commission. Few who have served in similar capacities have acquired such an intimate knowledge of the needs of the state in highway matters; few have given the task the thorough study that has marked Judge Ely's service. His familiarity with the intricate problems connected with Federal participation in highway construction, which has developed greatly during his service, make him a valuable liaison officer for the state.

Judge Ely is a West Texan, and a neighborly feeling might prompt an endorsement coming from this section of the state. However, some of the most insistent of his supporters are from East and South Texas, where his value is recognized, and his fairness is appreciated. The commissioner is more than a West Texan, he is a friend and representative of every section of the state.

The new administration would do well, we believe, to continue the service of Judge Ely on the highway commission.

The Man Who Knew No Fear. WYATT EARP is one of the few men I personally knew in the West in the early days whom I regarded as absolutely destitute of physical fear. That was the tribute of Bat Masterson, whose wide acquaintance among peace officers, outlaws and gun-fighters made him an authority on the subject of courage as it was exemplified on the frontier. A native of Illinois, Earp was taken to California by his family as a youth, and at the early age of eighteen became a stage driver from San Bernardino to Los Angeles and then to Salt Lake. Later he worked in a grading camp that was building the Union Pacific across Wyoming, and in the early '70's he was a buffalo hunter in Indian territory and Kansas which led him to the wild cow towns there.

THE BANNER'S SCRAP BOOK

No Overtime Pay (San Antonio Light) Nine years ago Professor George N. Olcott, of Columbia university, started the construction of a dictionary of Latin inscriptions. Nobody but Methuselah ever lived long enough to have completed the task single-handed.

Professor Olcott was still compiling words beginning with the letter A when he died. At that rate to have reached "zoman perdit" he would have had to toll continuously until 2864—a mere matter of 930 years.

Yet there was nothing visionary nor futile about the undertaking, from the point of view of pure scholarship. Professor Olcott knew that successive generations of collaborators would carry on what he had commenced, and it is being done. More than that, under a new plan the book will be finished about the year 2034, a saving of 839 years of time.

Some of mankind's most enduring monuments have been produced and perfected in just such a way. The Homeric poems, the philosophies of Ionia and Athens and the great cathedral of Chartres are examples.

Sleeping Places About fifty members of the class in elementary astronomy at Princeton university overslept one morning and missed the 8:30 lecture course.

For that they might offer a plausible excuse. No doubt they were up late the night before because of their interest in the subject. The positions of the stars cannot be observed in daylight.

But, the students learned, by being absent from the class they missed Professor Einstein's first lecture in English. And now one has to wonder how many of the 50 students to whom the fundamentals of relativity were explained were able to stay awake in the lecture room.

Can it be possible that the chief difference between the two groups was that they had different sleeping places?

Light Ordinance Is Passed Second Time

Three new city ordinances, giving a franchise to R. O. Mathews to build and operate an electric light and power plant in Brownwood, setting a minimum rate for electric service and setting up certain regulations for public utilities, were passed on second readings at a called session of Brownwood City Council Tuesday morning of this week. The ordinances were passed on first readings at the regular meeting of City Council Tuesday night, November 27.

Mr. Mathews plans to build a $200,000 electric light and power plant in Brownwood. The new plant will provide electricity for commercial and domestic uses.

At the called meeting Tuesday morning, Council designated the Citizens National Bank as a depository for city funds, the bank to pay one percent interest on the city money on a basis of even $100 balances, the interest to be paid monthly.

An examining trial for Will Riley, charged with possession for purpose of sale of four gallons of corn whiskey, was held before Peace Justice E. T. Perkinson Saturday morning. Riley's bond was set at $1,000, this binding him over to await action of the grand jury which reconvened this week after a recess of several weeks. Riley was arrested last Wednesday night by members of Sheriff Hallmark's department.

UNIT FORMED TO OPPOSE BETTING

A statewide organization unit sponsoring a present state law against betting on horse races was formed Friday, Nov. 23, at Dallas. K. H. Parker, of Dallas, secretary of the Anti-Gambling League of Texas, is the organization's president.

The county unit of the organization has as its goal a membership of 100. A women's auxiliary unit will be organized at an early date. Representatives of the unit will appear for the purpose of repealing the law through state legislators and a sentiment against the law track gambling. The unit was formed Friday at a meeting in the city.

In citing the evils of the law, stated that the unit is taking money out of the state. "On Dec. 10, this year, 46 automobile owners in Brown county were arrested at Arlington Downs. Stated that there is an average of 100 persons to the automobile each person spends $10 while at the races by towns. On the basis of Brown county population of 10,000, Mr. Parker stated.

FARMERS VOTE ON BANKHEAD ACT TO DETERMINE POLICY

When the vote is taken December 14, on the future of the Bankhead Act, farmers will be asked: "Are you in favor of continuing the Bankhead Act for next year (June 1, 1935, to May 31, 1936)?" An eligible voter is defined in the Act as a "person who has the legal or equitable right as owner, tenant, share-cropper, or otherwise to produce cotton on any cotton farm, or part thereof, in the United States for the crop year 1935-1936."

According to that, any person is eligible who signed a 1934 and 1935 cotton acreage reduction contract as well as any person who is or was eligible for tax exemption certificates in 1934. Any other person is eligible who presents proof that he owns and has a present right to produce cotton on a cotton farm, or any person who signs and files a witnessed statement that he has made arrangements to produce cotton on a cotton farm in 1935 by entering into a lease or share-cropping agreement.

If ownership and the right to produce cotton on a cotton farm are held jointly by two or more persons, all such persons are entitled to vote. The term "cotton farm" means any farm on which cotton has been produced commercially one or more years since 1927. Individuals who are in doubt about their eligibility to vote can obtain information from the community committee which will have a list of eligible voters.

Henry A. Wallace, Secretary of Agriculture, defines the impartial attitude of the Adjustment Administration in a statement that will be given each voter with his ballot. This statement urges cotton farmers to "examine carefully all the facts and reach a decision based upon considered judgment as to whether the Bankhead Act is needed to assure attainment of the objectives of the cotton adjustment program."

The new Austin district will include five counties. Mr. and Mrs. Posey left Brownwood Monday for their new home and work in Austin.

Mr. Posey came to Brownwood in May, 1917, and for fifteen years was engaged in the real estate and brokerage business. He has taken active part in many civic activities and for two years, in 1925 and 1926, served as manager of the Brown county fair. ed upon considered judgment as to whether the Bankhead Act is needed to assure attainment of the objectives of the cotton adjustment program.

"Cotton farmers," a portion of the statement reads, "must decide whether, in their opinion, the adjustment of cotton production under the voluntary contracts is sufficient to meet the requirements of the present emergency. Will the efforts of a small minority of non-cooperators, the tendency towards more intensive cultivation, and the possibility of new lands coming into cotton production combine to increase total production above the point which seems desirable? That, it appears, is the central question involved in a decision on continuing the Bankhead Act for next year." The Secretary emphasizes in his statement that the administration is not seeking to impose its views upon the producers and that "it is for the cotton farmers to choose."

The referendum is provided for in the Bankhead Act itself. If two-thirds of those who have the legal right to produce cotton favor the continuation of the Bankhead Act, and if the President finds and proclaims that the economic emergency in cotton production and marketing will continue to exist, the provisions of the Act will be extended to cover the period of the crop year 1935-36.

Gilliam Case Set For December 17th

The trial of E. B. Gilliam, Sr., charged with embezzlement of funds of Daniel Baker College, was postponed to Monday, December 17, when the case was called last Thursday morning in district court. Postponement was due to the illness of George Kidd, postmaster of Brownwood, who is one of the principal witnesses. Physicians' affidavits were presented to show that Mr. Kidd was unable to appear in court.

Mr. Gilliam was tried, convicted and given a two year prison sentence in Judge Miller's court last February. An appeal was taken, and the case reversed and remanded.

District court reconvened Monday of this week after a two weeks recess. The criminal docket was taken up and the first case tried resulted in the conviction of Tom Winn on an indictment charging sale of intoxicating liquor. Winn was given a three-year suspended sentence.

Charles Emison was tried and convicted Tuesday on an indictment charging sale of intoxicating liquor and was given a one year prison sentence. Emison was indicted on information furnished the sheriff's department by C. M. Dodd early this year.

Dee Alexander was given a five year prison sentence Tuesday when found guilty on a burglary indictment. He was charged jointly with Andy Page and L. P. Byrd but a severance was granted at a former term of court.

Calvin Williams was tried Wednesday on a charge of selling intoxicating liquor. He was convicted and sentenced to two years in the penitentiary.

Bill White pleaded guilty to possession of marijuana and was fined $25.00 and costs.

LOCAL COLLEGES IN ONE, TWO FINISH IN TEXAS CONFERENCE

Texas Conference football teams closed their 1934 campaigns on Thanksgiving afternoon and unless post-season contests are booked, gridiron activity for the nine-school conference is ended until the 1935 season rolls around. Brownwood's two entries in the conference, Howard Payne and Daniel Baker, finished in first and second places, respectively. The Yellow Jackets of Howard Payne won the 1934 championship with a record of five conference wins and one tie game, this giving the Jack-ets their sixth football championship during the seven-year regime of Joe Bailey Cheaney and McAdoo Keaton as coaches. Daniel Baker's Hill Billies, under the coaching of Gene Taylor and Wallace Meyers, finished in a tie with St. Edwards University, of Austin, for second place in the final standings. The Billies won two conference games, lost one and tied two.

The Yellow Jackets closed their season with a 14-0 victory over the Southwestern University Pirates in Brownwood Thanksgiving. The Jackets scored in the first two minutes of play and were held at bay until the final minute of play when an intercepted pass was run back for the day's final touchdown. The Pirates did not offer a serious scoring threat throughout the game.

Daniel Baker played the Texas A. & I. Javelinas in Kinseville last Tuesday night in the final of the year for the Brownwood Presbyterians. The Billies closed their conference season the Friday night before with a 12-6 victory over the Southwestern University Pirates in Georgetown.

In other Thanksgiving games, McMurry, of Abilene, routed the Abilene Christian College Wildcats 27-0 in their annual grudge battle. In Waxahachie, the Trinity University Tigers, defeated in every conference start during the season, showed unexpected strength in downing the Austin College Kangaroos 13-0. Prior to that game the Tigers had only a 0-0 tie with Simmons to show for their year's conference play. The Kangaroos, rated as one of the strongest elev-ens in the conference in September and October, finished poorly, losing their last three games to St. Edwards, 45-13, Simmons, 45-0 and the Trinity game, 13-0.

TO THE TAXPAYERS OF BROWN COUNTY

I am instructed by the Commissioners' Court to make an appeal to those taxpayers who have not paid their 1934 taxes to make immediate payment of same, if it is possible to do so. Our General and Jury Funds are still behind due to short collections of 1934 taxes, and practically no delinquent taxes at all. We do not anticipate any appreciable amount of delinquent taxes before February 8th.

In order to meet current obligations, continue road work, which gives employment to a good many people, and to protect the county's credit in a general way, it is absolutely necessary that our current collections be increased. The people of Brown County have heretofore responded generously to similar appeals and we confidently expect that they will do the same in this instance. We are running the county on an economy basis and protecting the taxpayers' interest in every way possible. The drought relief program sponsored by the commissioners' court has brought much money into the county and we feel that a liberal share of it should come back to the county in the way of tax payments. We will thank you to give us generous payments during the next few weeks.

Economy Store 11th Anniversary

During the eleven years, since THE ECONOMY STORE has been established in Brownwood — with alternate years of prosperity and depression — the relations between this store and this community have grown finer each day. THE ECONOMY STORE has not been a "cold blooded" store. We have not tried to see how much we could make, but we have tried to see how well we could build. We may not be much richer in worldly goods than we were eleven years ago, but we are rich in knowing that we tried to share our full responsibility of citizenship.

And to you — our customers — we thank YOU for these eleven pleasant years. And now, on the thirteenth of the eleventh milestone, we are again made aware of our great debt of gratitude to the people of this community. Your patronage and friendship have made it possible for us to carry on.

THURSDAY, we will endeavor to repay you in the only way a commercial enterprise can — with appreciation values As we celebrate our 11th Anniversary.

Howard Payne Holds Homecoming

TWO FAMILIES WHO HAVE CONTRIBUTED TO SCHOOL HONORED

With the school's major benefactors as honor guests, the 1934 Homecoming program held by Howard Payne College Thanksgiving was one of the greatest events in recent history of the school. The entire Thanksgiving program, including a banquet Wednesday evening, honored Mr. and Mrs. John G. Hardin, of Burkburnett, and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Walker, of Brownwood, two families that have given liberally of their means in support of the college.

The homecoming observance began Wednesday night with a banquet at Hotel Brownwood given by faculty members and trustees in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Hardin and Mr. and Mrs. Walker. Other features included a sunrise Thanksgiving and prayer service at the college auditorium Thursday morning, barbecue luncheon at the college gymnasium at noon at which more than 600 people ate, and the final conference football game of the year in which Howard Payne defeated Southwestern University by a score of 14 to 6. Mr. Hardin was introduced to the crowd at the football game and kicked off the first ball of the game.

"The re-dedication of Howard Payne College to a century of service," was the chief theme of the homecoming program held Thanksgiving morning. President Thomas H. Taylor, in opening the Thursday morning service, said, "This is the most eventful day in the history of Howard Payne College since it was founded in September, 1890."

The official qualifying of Howard Payne to receive one-sixth of the one million dollar trust fund created by Mr. and Mrs. Hardin and the delivery of an instrument signed by trustees of the Hardin Trust, showing that Howard Payne had qualified to participate in the fund, gave just cause for rejoicing on the part of all who attended the 1934 homecoming.

Rev. W. R. White, pastor of the Broadway Baptist Church in Fort Worth and a graduate of Howard Payne in 1917, was the principal speaker at the homecoming program. Rev. Mr. White had the following to say:

"Howard Payne is facing a new day, guaranteed by the recent gifts to the institution. Howard Payne is on a new throne—a throne of prestige, power and permanency. The college is being rededicated to a century of service and with the thought of insecurity removed will have a greater effectiveness and will do even greater work for Christian education. The new throne of destiny made possible by the gifts gives the college a greater measure of freedom for service. Howard Payne has a new throne of prestige in the life of the state and it is well that things of quality should have prestige," the speaker said.

"Howard Payne is a well balanced institution. It is good that the college with the largest number of ministerial student enrollment to its size of any college on the face of the globe, should also send out on the field unbeatable football teams.

"This college was never truer and never more nearly approximated the purpose of its founders than it does today under the leadership of Thomas H. Taylor as president."

Announcement was made at the close of the Thursday morning program that this year's Lasso, the college yearbook, would be dedicated to Mr. and Mrs. Hardin and Mr. and Mrs. Walker.

The banquet honoring Mr. and Mrs. Hardin and Mr. and Mrs. Walker Wednesday evening was held in the Gold Room at Hotel Brownwood and was attended by 120 people. Included were many out of town trustees, college officials, and the honored guests. Mr. and Mrs. Walker and Mr. Hardin. Mrs. Hardin was unable to attend because of illness.

Thomas H. Taylor, president of the college, presided as toastmaster and the occasion proved to be a most happy one. The program included a brief review of the college's history by Dr. W. R. Hornburg, a report by Douglas Caalson, a member of the finance committee, a happy and humorous address by Jack R. Chatham, of Burkburnett, a business associate of Mr. Hardin, and a beautiful response for Mr. Walker by his wife. Her speech moved the banquet audience to laughter and tears. Mrs. Walker paid a fine tribute to Mr. and Mrs. Hardin and closed with a glowing tribute to her life companion, the Baptist layman, John A. Walker.

A brief summary of Mrs. Walker's speech follows: "Mr. Toastmaster and Friends: As the last speaker has said, boil your speech down. But I refuse to boil mine down and I exercise my woman's prerogative to have the last word.

"While we have not had the privilege of knowing Mr. Hardin personally, we wish to add a word of praise to this illustrious son of a long line of worthy ancestors. From the time of granting the Magna Carta, there have been distinguished forebears of the Hardin clan. Genealogy is my hobby and I will say that the names of Walker and Hardin are connected. Cousin Samuel Walker married Addie Hardin in Tennessee and today there is a fine young man in Hawaii, serving his country as lieutenant in the navy, bearing the name of Hardin Walker.

"In behalf of my husband and myself, we thank you one and all for your words of appreciation and you will never know how much it means to us.

"I too, wish to pay tribute to this man at my side (speaking to Mr. Walker). I have known him through many long years, through early girlhood, through courtship, through the rosy diamond's bright engagement time, through the fruitless years, through the shadow of long continued illness. And now that we face the sunset together, I can truthfully say, I concur in all that has been said of him. Nothing good that has been said of him has been overdrawn.

"We feel that 'it is something to plow a deep furrow in fertile soil, for the seed that are in the air.' In this work my husband has a broader vision than the circle of hills that surround the town, a vision that includes our state and denomination. During the many years of continued illness, that hovered over our home, this interest and support of Howard Payne College never faltered, nor was support withdrawn.

"Emerson said that prosperity makes friends and adversity tries them. It is fitting that the sacrifices made by the teachers should be recognized. They too have helped to carry the burden. May they taste of the joy that springs from labor well done.

"Again I wish to express my great appreciation for your kind words.

"I feel that the motive of these two men has been to honor and emulate the virtues and faith of their forebears who learned but never wise about the knowledge of God and His Gospel."

Clifton Tomlinson Dies Of Injuries

Clifton Gunter Tomlinson, 29, an employee of the Peerless Drug Store, was fatally injured last Friday night in an automobile-motorcycle crash at the intersection of Center Avenue and Baker street. Young Tomlinson, who operated the delivery service for the Peerless Drug, was riding his motorcycle down Center Avenue and crashed into an automobile driven by Roy Phillips, of Bangs. The Phillips car was turning off Center when the motorcycle crashed into it, throwing Tomlinson into the automobile through the glass of a door.

Tomlinson suffered a fractured skull, concussion of the brain, a fractured left sinus, a broken left arm and numerous other cuts and bruises. He was rushed to the Medical Arts Hospital but never regained consciousness. Death ended his suffering at 8 o'clock Monday night.

Tomlinson was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harve D. Tomlinson of Brownwood. He was born in San Saba January 18, 1914, and came to Brownwood about six years ago with his parents. He graduated from Brownwood High School in 1932 and since that time had been an employe of Peerless Drug. Young Tomlinson was a member of the Church of Christ.

Funeral services were held at 3:30 Tuesday afternoon at the Austin Avenue Church of Christ with Rev. W. L. Wharton, J., pastor, officiating. Interment followed in Greenleaf cemetery with Austin-Morris directing.

Clifton is survived by his parents, four brothers, James, Glen, Julian and H. D., Jr., and one sister, Rayoma.
