INDIVIDUAL GIVING

A 16-year-old boy who has been afflicted all his life with an incurable disease wrote a letter to a newspaper asking if any of its readers knew of an unwanted erector set which might be given to him. The paper printed his letter. The response was immediate and generous.

From all over that city calls came to the newspaper office asking the boy's address. Children came bringing toys. Adults came with books, toys and money. Hundreds of people showed warm sympathy, kindness and overflowing generosity to the deserving lad.

This sort of thing has happened before and will happen many times again. It shows what human beings are like when they are sincerely moved. The sad thing about it is that it so often requires a particular case, well presented, to start the stream of generosity flowing. There are doubtless other crippled boys in that town who need friends, books, perhaps even erector sets, who won't get them because their stories haven't been told to the public. And there are doubtless many persons there who would gladly pour out loving kindness if they only knew some specific, appealing case of need.

LOOKING AHEAD TO 1936

All the signs point to the likelihood that the New Year just beginning will be one of the most exciting years we have had for a long time.

In this country the big fact is that this is a Presidential election year, and all the indications are that the campaign, which will begin around the Fourth of July and run to November 9, will be the most exciting political episode in our national history since Bryan ran against McKinley in 1896, just forty years ago.

Abroad it seems quite probable that there will be a major war, involving big European nations, before very long. Again, nobody can say with certainty that this war will break out in 1936, but there surely will be enough war talk to keep the whole world in a state of jitters.

Watch for big developments in the scientific and technical fields in 1936. The year just ended saw the establishment of the first air mail and passenger service across the Pacific Ocean. It seems to be on the cards that before 1936 is over we shall see the beginning, at least, of a similar Trans-Atlantic service.

It would take a brave man to promise that television will be perfected before the year 1936 ends. But it is certain that long strides will be made toward the goal of bringing the world's great events, as they occur, before the eyes of millions of people sitting comfortably in their own homes.

No one can be quite certain that we have yet achieved the stable recovery for which we have been looking, but we are certainly on the way. Doubtless there will be set-backs, but there is nothing now to suggest that our general economic situation will be worse when 1937 rolls around, and many signs to indicate that it will be better.

The most important thing that will happen in 1936, is what has been happening every year for the past 1935 years. That is the steady growth of the spirit of human brotherhood and goodwill, of justice and righteousness in human relations. For nothing is more certainly true than that in such matters the world has been getting better every year.

It will keep on getting better in 1936.—Nolan County News.

THE WEEKLY NEWSPAPERS

Arthur Brisbane; "The readers of the smaller newspapers, scattered all over the United States, form the most important body of thinking Americans in this country. Editors of the smaller newspapers constitute a national intellectual police force that keeps a great majority of the 130,000,000 Americans informed as to public happenings. If the great advertisers of the United States could be made to realize the extraordinary buying power and advertising value of the local newspapers, the publishers of such newspapers would be rewarded financially as they deserve to be."

Plainview Dairy Show Will Have Choice Animals

Plainview, Texas, Feb. 1.—At least fifty of the finest blooded dairy animals in this section will be offered for sale on the closing day of the ninth annual Panhandle-Plains Dairy Show to be held here April 6 to 9. Arranged by the committee and completed by the selection of the animals to be offered will be made within a few weeks.

Several of the territory's best known herds will be represented in the sale. The famous Stansell Jersey herd at Floydada, the Vaughn Jerseys at Tulia, Dr. S. J. Underwood, Hale Center; McSpadden Brothers of Amarillo and Robert Smith of Lockney have consigned some of their best stock to the sale. C. C. Stewart, Canyon, well known Jersey breeder, will likely sell a large number of his herd at the sale.

But the Jerseys will not dominate the sale as the Shorthorn breeders of this section have already selected fifteen head from their best herds and will offer them at sale. It is possible that the H. B. Hales Hosten herd will also be represented and the Guernsey herd at Panhandle belonging to Dr. George P. Brown.

To The Candidates:

This is a political year, and Donley County will have a number of candidates, none of whom have any money to waste on schemes which are presented to them during political campaigns. Each political year brings forth a lot of schemes which are manufactured for the purpose of separating the candidate from his money.

In past years various types of magazines, calendars, programs, and what-nots have been presented to candidates and pressure brought to bear that they contribute to these publications. These are worthless to our candidates but profitable to the promoters.

Without fear of challenge, The Clarendon News offers to the candidates the best and most reliable means of reaching the voters of the county. The candidate must visit the voters, since he is expected to talk with each and every voter possible. But The News will reach a larger percentage of voters than any type of publication.

Candidates may rest assured that their messages will be carried right into the homes of the largest percentage of voters of the county when printed in The News.

During the campaign, The News will keep the candidates informed as to the important dates which must be observed in filing applications for places on ballots, payment of primary fees, and other important political news.

Nationwide Conoco Ad Program Boosts Texas Centennial

"Attend the Texas Centennial Exposition! Visit Texas scenic and historical shrines during 1936!"

Continental Oil Company, through its February newspaper advertisements, is inviting more than 25 million people living in 36 states and the District of Columbia to spend their vacations in the Lone Star state this year.

The first of this series of advertisements appears in today's News. It will also be reproduced in nearly 1,200 other newspapers, according to Wesley I. Nunn, Conoco advertising manager.

Today's advertisement includes an invitation to enjoy the Centennial, while the second of the series, due to appear during the week of February 9, calls attention to "famed San Jacinto" and the Centennial. The third and final advertisement of the Texas series, scheduled for the week of February 23, refers to "The Alamo—Texas Centennial high-spot."

Readers are asked to make their jaunt to Texas even more pleasurable by taking advantage of the free trip planning service of the Conoco Travel Bureau, Denver, Colorado, largest organization of its type in America.

We recently found a man who admitted he's not trying to leave footprints on the sands of time, being more interested in covering up a lot of those already made.

Austin, Texas, Feb. 5.—Shipments of poultry and eggs from Texas to interstate points in December were sharply below those of the corresponding month of 1934, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reported. Aggregate shipments of 437 cars were 19 per cent below the 539 cars in December of the preceding year.

Turkeys were shipped to 22 different states and the District of Columbia. It was noted in the

LIBRARY NOTES

(By Mrs. C. A. Burton)

We are so pleased over a few new books as follows: "Vein of Iron," Ellen Glasgow; "Splendor of Eagles," Helen Topping Miller; "North of the Orient," Anne Morrow Lindbergh; "Spring Came on Forever," Bess Streeter Aldrich; "Etiquette, The Blue Book of Social Usage," Emily Post; "English Poetry—Its Principles and Progress," Gayley and Young; "The Development of the United States," Shotridge; "Concise Biographical Dictionary," Fitzhugh; "Texas Under Six Flags," Davis; Three Texas history stories for boys and girls—"Under Scott in Mexico," "With Taylor on the Rio Grande," and "For the Liberty of Texas," by Edward Stratemeyer.

Receipts of 22 cars of eggs in Texas from other states were less than half the 51 cars received during December, 1934.

Then this collection of little books for the tiny tots: "The Engineer," "The Pied Piper of Hamelin," "The Fireman," "Humpty Dumpty," "The Postman," "The Motorman," "The Policeman," "The Deliverymen," "Jack and the Beanstalk," and "Hansel and Gretel."

Besides these purchases we have a new boys' book, "Captain of the Eleven," given us by a boy who enjoys our books, John Burton King.

As you see, I have listed Emily Post's "Etiquette" among the new books—a book which I have long wanted. There have been 37 printings, totalling over 285,000 copies sold. This is a revised edition, brought up-to-date along all lines. The Chicago Sunday Tribune says of it, "The most complete book on social usage ever put between two covers." The Philadelphia Public Ledger says,

"No matter what one wants to know about any form of social contact it is sure to be in this book." While the Cleveland Plain Dealer says, "The book is invaluable to the average thinking man or woman who wishes to live today's life in as polished and near-conventional a manner as possible."

You notice also that the list contains a "Concise Biographical Dictionary" by the two Fitzhughs. This is quite late—was copyrighted in 1935. The authors ask how many really famous people have stood out head and shoulders above their fellows in their various fields of activity in the long chain of centuries that make up the history of the

Ft. Worth Livestock Shipments Show Slight Increase

Austin, Texas, Feb. 5.—For the first time in many months the year-to-year comparison of Texas livestock shipments to Fort Worth stockyards and interstate points is favorable, according to the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research. From July, 1935, throughout the remainder of the year each of the monthly shipments were far below those of the corresponding month of 1934. This situation was the result of the government's huge cattle purchasing program during the summer and fall of 1934 in the drought stricken areas and also the shipment of unusually large numbers of animals through regular commercial channels because of the shortage of and high price of feed in comparison with the price of live stock, it was pointed out.

Shipments of all classes of livestock during December totaled 4,765 cars, an increase of 7 per cent over the 4,450 cars during the like month in 1934.

Interstate plus Fort Worth car shipments of the various classes of live stock during December, 1935, and 1934, respectively were: Cattle, 3,200 against 3,199 cars; calves, 943 against 778 cars; hogs, 374 against 254 cars; and sheep, 248 against 221 cars.

"Practically the entire increase in shipments went to the Fort Worth market," the Bureau's report said. "Receipts in this market by truck showed a phenomenal increase over the year before in line with the trend of receipts by rail decreased except in the case of sheep. Substantial increases occurred in cattle and calf shipments to feeding areas, notably to Illinois, Missouri, world? How many do we really need to know about rather definitely? They decided that about 500 of the world's notables would cover the number—the "500 Indispensables." They collected lists from teachers and students, and this book is the result. We hope it may prove really helpful, especially to students and clubs.

The leading best seller in non-fiction remains "North of the Orient" by Anne Morrow Lindbergh, therefore we are glad to place it on our shelves. You will remember that this is the narrative of the flight which the Lindberghs made in 1931 by the Great Circle Route. From Long Island they flew to Point Barrow, "the bleak northern tip of Alaska." From there to Japan, on to China to Nanking where they were able to help in bringing aid to the flood refugees.

Mrs. Lindbergh deals with the flight from her personal experiences, and the narrative is dramatic and fascinating. She describes the hours of uncertainty and danger, the friendly encounters along the way, and the thousand and one unexpected things that happened.

The world is the poorer for the going of Rudyard Kipling. His contribution to the literature of the world has greatly enriched it, and brought pleasure to countless numbers. Doubtless many of us will want to re-read our favorites among the many things he has written. Had he written Kansas, Iowa, and Colorado; and to the grazing areas of Arizona and New Mexico.

"Sharp decreases in the net rail shipments of cattle and calves occurred in the districts of West and Northwest Texas in contrast with substantial increases from East and South Texas."

Over 60 Per Cent Of WPA Funds for Texas Go To Roads

More than 60 per cent of Texas' scheduled WPA funds will be spent on highways, streets and farm-to-market roads.

Harry L. Hopkins, WPA administrator, announced recently that on December 1 this type of work had been allocated $22,234,427, or 60.4 per cent of the total of $36,802,886 worth of projects in operation.

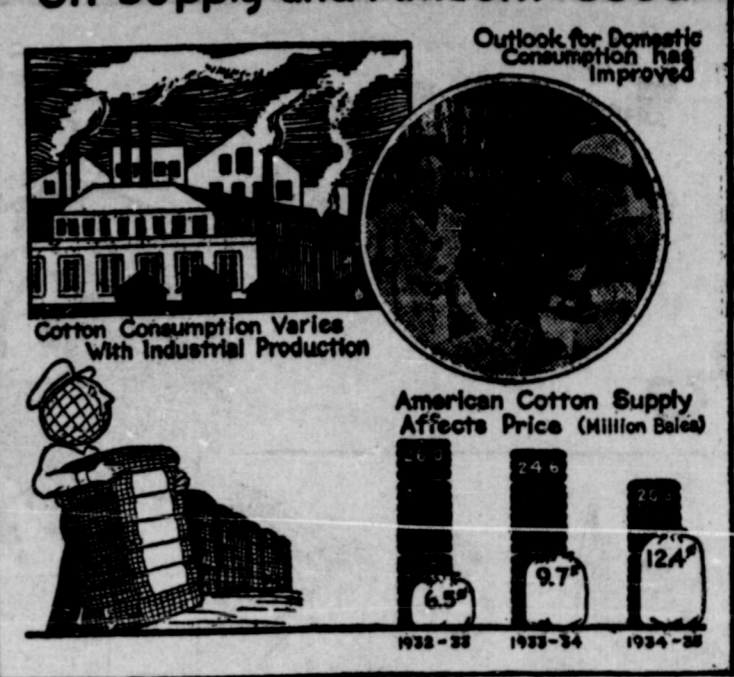

His survey showed that the rest of the state's funds had been earmarked in this manner:

Public buildings, including schoolhouses and governmental buildings, $1,605,451, or 4.4 per cent; housing, $178,826, or .5 per cent; parks and playgrounds, $2,096,184, or 5.7 per cent; flood control and other conservation measures, $2,106,375, or 5.7 per cent; water supply and sewer systems, $2,129,067, or 5.8 per cent; transportation, $14,570, less than .05 per cent. The rest of the money was placed on projects to provide white collar jobs, work for women and employment for professional and technical persons. Sanitation and health work was given $2,941,189, or 8 per cent.

The WPA announced this breakdown of the highway total: Farm-to-market and other secondary roads, $16,884,402; streets and alleys, $3,097,610; bridges and viaducts, $736,462; grade crossing elimination, $3,687; miscellaneous, $1,512,266.

King Cotton's Price Depends on Supply and Amount Used

COTTON consumption and industrial production move together. The rate of cotton consumption in this country is influenced more by the general business situation than by cotton prices. Cotton consumption in the United States was the highest for this November than for any November since 1932. This increase in consumption reflects an increasing industrial and retail demand, Government purchases, and the existence of a large volume of reserve orders.

The chart in the lower right corner shows that excessive world supplies of American cotton depress prices and that prices recover with reduced supplies. The supply in 1932-33 was 25,961,000. With that large supply on the market, cotton prices could not recover. As contrasted with such excessive supplies, the World supply of American cotton in 1934-35 was 20,270,000 bales, and prices improved.

ASTOUNDING "LIFT" IN SINCLAIR H-C, Local Motorists Tell Sinclair Dealers

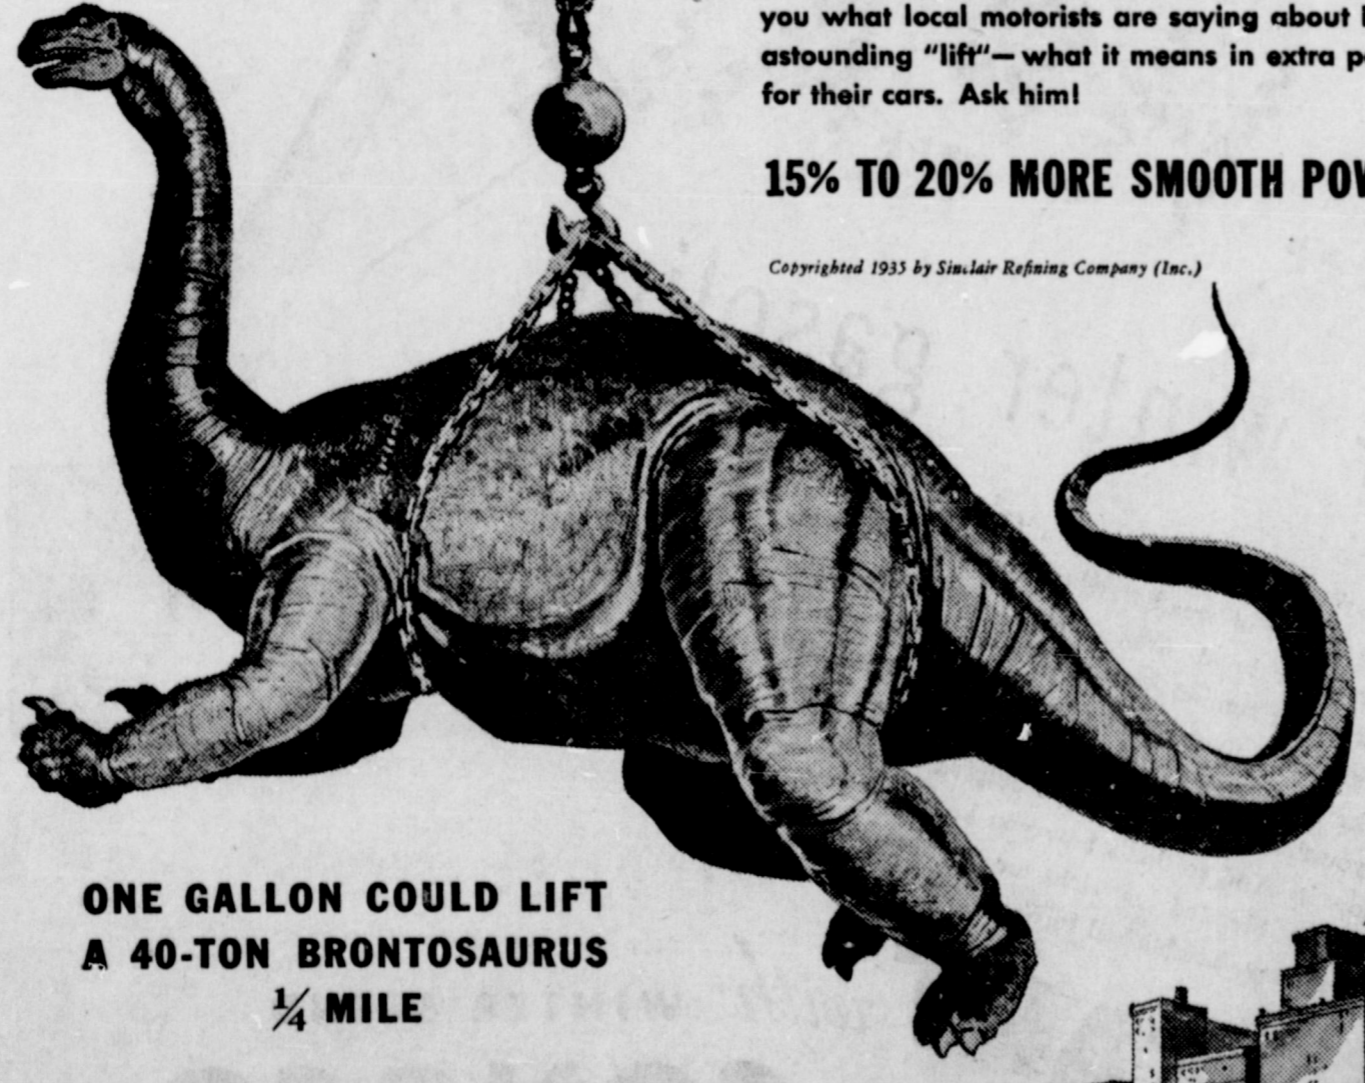

When you buy gasoline you buy liquid power. And power is measured by engineers in terms of lifting. A single gallon of Sinclair H-C Gasoline has the potential energy to lift 99 million pounds one foot. Putting that into a power picture we say one gallon of H-C could lift a 40-ton Brontosaurus 1/4 mile.

In automobile road tests Sinclair H-C Gasoline gave 15% to 20% more smooth power and from 1 to 3 more miles per gallon — compared to 12 other well-known gasolines!

Your neighborhood Sinclair dealer will tell you what local motorists are saying about H-C's astounding "lift" — what it means in extra power for their cars. Ask him!

Surplus Acreage Used to Improve Soil, Grow Feeds

More than 95 per cent of the land taken out of production by AAA programs in 1934 and 1935 was used for soil-improving and erosion-preventing crops, emergency forage crops in 1934 drought regions, crops for home food and feed, following to conserve moisture and for farm woodlot, post and windbreak purposes. A very small percentage of the contracted acreage was out of productive use, say AAA officials. Under adjustment contract about 36,000,000 acres could not be planted to corn, cotton, wheat and tobacco in 1934 and in 1935 total land taken out of these crops was 31,000,000 acres.

Recent 1935 census reports show that the nation's total pasture acreage in 1934 increased 15 per cent, or 19,000,000 acres above 1929 and hay and sorghums for forage increased by 4,609,063 acres or about 60 per cent. Home gardening and feed crops made striking increases in cotton and tobacco regions, it is pointed out. Lespedeza acreage, according to Bureau of Agricultural Economics reports, has increased from 122,825 acres harvested for seed in 1929-32 to 249,900 acres in 1935, and lespedeza for hay, 343,000 acres to 1,142,000 in 1935. The increase in lespedeza for pastureage is estimated to have been even greater.

Soybean acreage has tripled in the last three years. It averaged 793,000 acres for 1928-32 and was 2,379,000 acres in 1935. The legume was largely grown on acreage retired from corn, tobacco and cotton.

"No comparable increase in the acreage of soil-building and erosion-preventing crops and pasture grasses has been recorded in the nation's history," commented Joseph F. Cox, chief of the AAA

Deahl Announces—

ness with which he conducted the affairs of this office is best shown by the simple fact that he was elected without opposition for his second term. He has won the approval of his home people, by the fairness as well as the diligence with which he handled the cases that came before his office.

If elected Mr. Deahl promises to devote his utmost effort to the fulfillment of the duties of the office he seeks. "Justice for all the people, and enforcement of the laws under the statutes and the constitution will be my primary purpose," he declared. "The creation of a record, as your district attorney," he said, "will be a secondary matter. Today when grave changes confront our community and our country, when many of our people survey the future with uncertainty, it is no time for any official of any public office to regard his duty with smug satisfaction and devote his thought to his own advancement. It is his time that all public officials should regard themselves as public servants, and to realize that the welfare of all the people must be considered if our present forms of government are to fulfill the mission for which our forefathers designed them. With this in mind, I will devote my sincere efforts toward filling the clearly defined work of your district attorney. I will try each case on its own merits, and remembering that I am representing the people of the whole district, I will conduct it to the bitter end. There will be no evasion, no favoritism, and the under-privileged and the over-privileged will be held to one standard—and that is the law of the state of Texas under the constitution.

"If a man who believes sincerely that he can render you this type of service as district attorney meets with your approval, then I will greatly appreciate your vote and your consideration of my candidacy."

Services at 10:50 A. M. and 5 P. M., Sunday

A large congregation came Sunday afternoon at 5 o'clock to attend the first of the Family Circle Services, and it was good to see so many of the families coming to church together. Next Sunday afternoon we expect still a larger congregation, and we hope that even more of the families will be in attendance and sit together. There will be splendid congregational singing led by the young peoples' choir and orchestra, special music, and the sermon by the pastor. You'll enjoy this friendly hour of worship.

Other services of the day will be as usual. Regardless of the weather our building will be warm throughout, and you will be comfortable. Come to Sunday school at 9:45, and be with us in our morning worship at 10:50.

At The First Baptist Church

HERE IS ALWAYS WORSHIP— FELLOWSHIP—SERVICE

Stop! Look! Listen! Where will you be fifty years from now? Are you making elaborate provisions for time and none for eternity? Are you toiling early and late in an effort to store away goods that your body might never hunger? That is very good. No one has ever questioned the wisdom of such a procedure. It is well to make provision for a rainy day, but what about provision for a fiery day? The rainy day may never come, but the fiery day is sure. Are not the needs of the soul as great as the body? Then why make provision for one and entirely neglect the other? To the body you give your best thought and toil six days in each week, while to the soul you give not six hours in a year. For a life that may end tomorrow, and at most must pass away in a few years, you give so much care, while for the life that must abide eternally, no provision is made. No risks for the body and all risks for the soul. The wise person is the one who looks after both. Give your soul a chance to feed on the services of God by attending the services of your church Sunday. You will be welcomed. You will be glad. You will meet and enjoy the fellowship of your friends and form relationships that will be lasting and enduring for time and eternity.

Regular services Sunday at the Baptist Church. The time for the evening preaching service is 7:30. We were delighted with a large number of visitors last Sunday. We will be glad to have you.

Hall County Man—

(Continued from Page One) ters touching on my qualifications for the office, and my attitude in connection with the carrying out of the purpose for which this court was established.

"I have been a member of the Texas bar for 30 years and have been actively engaged in the practice of the law for this period of time and during the last 24 years I have resided in this district at Memphis, Hall County, Texas, where the principal part of my service in the practice of the law has been rendered. This being true and a goodly number of the citizenship of this district having had observation and contact with such service, I deem it of no value to give further reference.

"If it should be the will of the citizenship of this district to show me the favor of electing me to this office, I promise every effort will be made to carry out the purposes for which the district court was established. Having in mind at all times that it is the duty of a district judge in acting on matters that come before him as such, to have the law uppermost in his mind as his rule and guide; and do this free from bias or prejudice, uninfluenced by any other motives than to make every honest effort to apply the law as intended.

"I am a firm believer in the enforcement of all of our criminal laws. A lack of enforcement of some of such laws, regardless of the magnitude of the offense condemned by the law, has the tendency to bring about a disregard for other laws. There are abundant reasons why our laws should be enforced for the protection of the social as well as the material welfare of the state, and one last reason that I should add, and that is, they should be obeyed because it is the law.

"I fully understand that the district judge is not an executive officer, but a judicial one. That it is his duty to judge the law and not to execute it. That duty is on others. However, there are powers vested in the district court, when properly used, that can greatly assist the executive officers in bringing about a more full, fair and complete enforcement of the law. These powers I will always stand ready to use, when necessary, and in doing so will recognize that the law was made for its observance as much for the officers selected to administer the law, as it was made for its observance by the masses; and that it should be observed by such officers in the enforcement thereof.

"Second only to the duty of the district judge to do all that is in his power to so administer the affairs of the court to see that a fair and impartial trial is had of the cases filed and submitted to said court, is the one of economy. Every effort should be made to promptly dispose of the cases pending, avoiding unnecessary delays, which are costly; and in every way possible take such action in the interest of economy in the administration of the duties of the court as should be found proper. This I shall do, if entrusted with the office.

"Before the primary in July, I shall make an active campaign and will make every effort to see personally as many of the voters of the district as it will be possible for me to do. However, in the meantime I will be pleased that a careful consideration be given my candidacy and that after making such investigation, as may be desired on the part of the voters, I would greatly appreciate your support."

SPRING SPORTS

It won't be long now until spring will be here, and with the warmer weather tennis, track, and other field events will get under way.

Everyone can find some sport that is of special interest. Besides the various track and field events, there are tennis, softball, volleyball, and basketball to choose from.

During the spring months, I believe it is true that the students' interest in sports is greater than at anytime during the year as a result probably of much participation in them.

A TO Z

New sweaters galore, and say, would you please notice the green white ones and try to remember just how long it has been since a Clarendon College sweater has been issued, yes, many years.

I don't intend to butt in on the "Sport Shots" but after all, look at the name of this column, it includes a lot, so right now I would like to make a prediction—I think the C. J. C. track team for spring of 1936 will be the best in the history of the college.

I think they will win the Great Plains meet at Canyon, the "Fort Worth Fat Stock Show" meet and most, or all of the dual or invitation meets that they may enter.

You know, seems like some folks just can't take it at all. A good ole boy that I mentioned last week in this column came very near jumping all over one of my personal scouts whom he thought was writing this column, tsk, tsk, now ain't that just too bad.

And did you ever see so many girls wearing boys rings, etc? There's M. Francis wearing a gold wrist watch; Athlyn wearing both a class pin and a ring that are about four or five years old. Mildred is wearing a class ring from ??? with a blue set, and of course Sarah Virginia is wearing a new college football sweater.

Well if someone doesn't jump in my face I will see you all next week.

C. J. C. Trackmen Discuss Plans For Coming Season

At a meeting last Monday, the C. J. C. trackmen made plans for the forthcoming track season. From all indications the college will have a real track team that will merit the backing of the entire school this year.

The boys will start training this week and continue light workouts for the next few weeks in order to gradually get into shape. As yet it is too cold to go into a harder and more strenuous training schedule other than the light workouts.

The benefits derived from working out for track were emphasized by Mr. Dretnan. He also stated the importance of keeping in training, and that all the trackmen didn't have to be ten-second men in order to work out.

Those college boys who were not at the meeting are encouraged to come out and train even though they may have only a fair degree of ability.

The trackmen reporting to this first meeting were Hubert Reavis, Frank Holtzclaw, Sam Barrow, Royce Turnbow, Drew Wilkerson, William Hardin, Ralph Stewart, Raymond Cheves, Alex Cooke, Billie Howard, Tommie Atkinson, H. W. Lovell, Harold McDaniel, and Lowell LaFon.

PLAY WILL BE GIVEN IN CHAPEL PERIOD FEB. 13

"The First Thanksgiving," a play written by the pupils of Mrs. M. C. Goodner's American literature classes, will be presented Thursday afternoon, February 13, at 1 o'clock in the college auditorium.

Members of the cast are as follows: Elder Brewster, Willard Cooke; Mistress Brewster, Margaret East-ering; Governor Bradford, Earl Eudy; Miles Standish, Arthur De-Hart; Mistress Allerton, Lillie Jewel Barnes; Mistress Billington, Edna Thomas; John Alden, Bill Peden; Priscilla Mullins, Ruby Tucker; Mary Chilton, Lucille Parker, Jonathan (boy), Lamar Stewart; Patience (girl), Jo Ann

What father would like most to get out of his new car is the rest of the family.

SPORT SHOTS

The high school boys and girls have been playing a series of games with the Hedley High School boys and girls. Last Friday the two teams went to Hedley and played a double-header with the Owls.

The Hedley teams came up here Monday night and again defeated the C. H. S. teams. This time, however, the games were very closely contested. The C. H. S. boys were trailing 5 to 16 at the half, but in the last period they came back strong to overtake and pass the Owls with only two minutes of play left.

The girls' game was just as heated. After first one team and then the other forged into the lead, the Hedley girls emerged with a 23-19 victory.

A game is scheduled with the same Hedley teams here Friday night; so everyone come out and see these good games.

It seems that many of the students are glad it is cold as they are thus afforded an opportunity to go ice skating. The majority would like to see warmer weather in the near future, however, so tennis, track, and other spring events could get under way.

Thompson; Massaoit, Led Jay; Samoset, Buster Warrick; Squanto, Ralph Grady; Squaw Cholena, Alma Gregg; Squaw Tohenta, Willa Poovey; Flying Bird, Durwood McCracken; Fleet Deer, John Howard Gilbert.

Everyone is invited to attend this one-act play. There will not be any admission charge.

"CROOKS FOR A MONTH" TO BE GIVEN TONIGHT

plenty smart too.) Dorothy and Mary Frances Powell, like mother like daughter, can entertain in the most charming fashion. Nellie and Rosa Lee Grady know all that is to be known about ranching. Rubye Jewel Jones and Lottye Maye Holland do everything they go about well, but we've heard there are certain Billy's in their lives. Peggy Taylor would make anybody's heart flutter. Sarah McGowen is so dramatic it would be inspiring even to quarrel with her.

The theme, "Hermia's Home" was written in class by an eighth grade pupil following the study of "Midsummer Night's Dream." The imaginary letter from Byron to Eliza Westbrook, sister-in-law of Shelley, was written in English Hour.

"HERMIA'S HOME"

About ten years ago I took a trip. I was visiting some of the ancient cities of Europe. I had been to Rome, Constantinople, and Athens. It was one day in May, when the birds were singing, the flowers were blooming, and the woods were also very impressive. It was a very beautiful scene.

As I was walking through the forest, something about the spot where I was standing caused me to think of the play "A Midsummer Night's Dream," which I had studied while in high school. I continued walking, and to my surprise, I came upon a small house. I was very thirsty and thought perhaps I could get some water there. I went to the door and knocked. There was a small woman, about 70 years old that came to the door. She asked me to come in.

I went in, got some water, and she asked me to sit down and rest a while. I was very tired, for it was nearly night, and I had been walking all day. While we were sitting there talking, she mentioned this play which I had studied. Finally she told me she was Hermia's daughter. She was living in the house which Hermia and Lysander had built after they were married. She said they had loved each other until death, as they had when they were young. I told her about studying the play which had been written about them and she was very glad I had come.

Imaginary Letter From
 Byron to Eliza Westbrook

Naples, Italy,
 July 20, 1822.

My Dear Eliza:
 To give you a complete account of the death of your dear Shelley, I shall start at the beginning of the story. I know it is needless to tell you that he is dead for I feel sure you have been notified. I write to express my sympathy and to tell the true facts of the accident. Had Shelley and his friend known this was to be a fatal journey, they probably would never have left England; however, they were only on a visit there. One story says that they were struck by a storm while another says they were run ashore by boatsmen who supposed they had money aboard. The bodies of Shelley and his friend were washed ashore, and they were burned on the sands.

May I pause here, Eliza, to express my grief and sympathy and to offer consolation? Shelley and I have been very close associates for six years. You know, as I know, that Shelley's personality was not easily understood; nevertheless, I knew him, loved him, and understood him as well as anyone. I know that he had little desire to live and I feel sure he must have welcomed death. I consider this ample reason for our grief to be subdued to a great extent. We both know his life was not a happy one. I grieve because of the loss of his companionship and because the world has lost a great poet, but I have often heard him say he would rather be dead than living. Shelley's ashes were buried in the Protestant Cemetery at Rome. "Cor Cordium" (Heart of Hearts) was inscribed upon his tomb. The following words were also inscribed thereon:
 "Nothing of him that doth fade
 But doth suffer a sea-change
 Into something rich and strange."

I am sure you recognize them from Shakespeare's "Tempest." I am certain it was all as he would have wished it.
 Sincerely,
 George Noel Gordon,
 Sixth Lord Byron.

FROM SOUR SUE'S DIARY

Friday, 24th

Went to school today as usual. Had another one of those drills which I utterly detest, in English, and heard Mr. Kirk tell a new joke which was at least a hundred years old.

We played Clarendon tonight in basketball. They beat us four points. That was better than we expected. We saw the Clarendon and Memphis boys play. We rode in the school bus, and coming home I heard Millard Cruse, one of our most intelligent boys, tell H. R. King that he heard the bonus bill passed the House the other day, but he didn't get out in time to see it. That was what I call a "bright" remark. Oh, well, it takes just such people as that to make up the world.

January 28th

Today was the day. The deputy state supervisor visited school. We were all thoroughly instructed how to conduct our selves, and promised the neat little sum of ten demerits if we even looked cross-eyed. While he was visiting English class Mrs. McInnis asked Jeff what "half-caste" meant. He told her he didn't know for sure, but he guessed it was what Mrs. Moreland had for her one-act play. She needs four characters, and has only chosen two. That certainly gave the inspector a lovely impression of our school and pupils thereof.

I hear "demerits" every day until I'm ready to scream. When you get ten, you are taken on a nice little trip to the office, where Mr. Wilson very kindly helps you get rid of them. I've been intending to ask Jack Beach more about it.

January 31st

One more week of school gone, and am I glad! Maybe I won't hear so much about this being leap year for two days now. Although it is true that the all-time record is still held by the cow that jumped over the moon, I think Frances Johnston will have to leap a little higher to reach the Angels.

Gee, Diary, we have the cutest new pupil in school. His name is Leo Smith, and he's from Amarillo. I get all excited every time I see him. That blue sweater he wears makes him look like a million.

The bus was forty-five minutes late this morning. I asked Winston Nippert the reason for it and he said the water in the gasoline froze. There's been a lot of nosy reporters around trying to find out some news to put in the paper this week, but nothing interesting ever happens around here.

The Broncho Range—

We wish someone would kindly inform us about "Jhev." Since all of the bulletin boards and blackboards have been posted with news of his coming we have been dizzy. Everyone tells us something different.

We are sure you know that age old formula: That's a pretty something you have on. "Thanks, you must wear it sometime." Several up and coming co-eds

CASE

The Case "CC" General Purpose Tractor is a Tractor with a Purpose. That purpose is for application of power, and low cost of operation. Only a tractor with these two specifications is the one for the farmer who wishes to get the farm work done properly and profitably.

The Case General Purpose Tractor does all kinds of work including Drawbar, Row Crop, Belt and Power Take-Off Jobs. Its performances are not confined to one particular phase of farm work, but is, truly speaking, a "General Purpose Tractor."

The Low Cost of Operation means only one thing: The General Purpose Tractor operates on less cash outlay than any other tractor on the market.
