

Brownwood Plans to Take Part In Texas Centennial

Primary Celebration Proposed; Will Be Held At Brownwood State Park.

Brownwood, Brown county and a section of the state will stage a three-day secondary Texas Centennial celebration at Lake Brownwood State Park in 1936 if plans are favorably formed and approved by a meeting of representatives of Brownwood civic organizations today afternoon of this week.

The celebration picture in exhibit and pageant, the religious, social and economic advancement of this part of the state during the past 100 years, will also appropriately celebrate the anniversary of the organization of Brown county.

The proposed celebration in Brownwood will be one of many secondary Centennial programs to be held in various cities and towns of the state during 1936, it is stated. These will be in addition to the central celebration in all probability will be held in either Houston, Dallas or Austin and will be continuing during the dates selected for the celebration.

Unanimous approval of the plans for the celebration in Brownwood was given by those attending the meeting Tuesday. The plan for the secondary celebration to be held by Brownwood will include in its nature in full, the number of probable participants and whether or not it will be definitely outlined later and submitted to the state Centennial commission for approval. This plan must include complete information as to the nature of the celebration, number of probable participants, what assistance in the way of work and park beautification is desired or expected and approximate dates of the celebration.

The state commission has received all applications for secondary celebrations, it will file each and in this way the state will find a coordinated and almost complete Centennial celebration being carried out. Invitations will be offered out of visitors to visit more than 100 in addition to the major cities.

H. F. Mayes, chairman of the Centennial Advisory Board, presided over Tuesday's meeting and Dr. Thomas H. Taylor, principal speaker Tuesday. Taylor recently attended a meeting of the state Centennial commission in Austin and gave a report on this meeting. Mrs. Harriet McGhee, who originated the idea of a Centennial celebration in Brownwood, briefly discussed the plan on the occasion. Prof. T. R. White, managing editor of the Brownwood Bulletin, also brief talks at Tuesday's meeting.

Fe Plans To Drop Two Trains Daily to Coleman to San Angelo this week was granted the Colorado and Santa Fe railway the Texas railroad company. The two trains are Nos. 92 and are motor trains.

Between Brownwood and Angelo will not be affected by the change, as trains retained will connections at Coleman, it is stated.

On the application was the latter part of last month. Residents of towns on the route state the service points would not suffer from the proposed change. Days notice of the change was made, the commission's decision.

Textile Strikers Urged to Fight

A waving, shouting throng of textile mill strikers here cheers W. J. Kendall, southern representative of the International Machinists, as he voices an impassioned plea for them to fight until the victory is won, in the industrial battle in which 600,000 textile workers were ordered to walk out. Scene of this first mass meeting after the walkout is the armory-auditorium in Charlotte, N. C.

ABILENE MAKING EFFORTS TO RETAIN CCC CAMP SCHEDULED TO MOVE HERE SEPTEMBER 30

EFFORTS are being made in Abilene to retain the CCC camp, scheduled to move to the state park on Lake Brownwood September 30, according to the Abilene Morning News. Additional projects will be asked by Abilene in an effort to keep the camp there after the date scheduled for moving to Brownwood. Meanwhile, nothing has been heard here of any changes in the plans.

The Abilene newspaper describes the work that has been done in Abilene state park, which is of a similar nature to the work planned here. Educational activities at the camp are under the direction of W. W. Spurlock of Brownwood. Description of the camp's work, as contained in the Abilene paper, follows:

"To date, the last federal authorization for construction work at the Abilene state park is September 30. But officials there are hopeful of more approvals soon. Plans, according to Captain Robert F. Williams, have been submitted for needed projects, and he believes these will be authorized. Supt. W. A. Riney, however, is rushing the construction work along, preparatory to finishing by this month's end.

"The refectory building, the last authorized project, which includes bath houses, concession room, a large recreation hall and a spacious patio, is 80 per cent complete.

"The swimming pool, completed for some time, is 30 by 80 feet, and ranges in depth from 3 1-2 to 8 1-2 feet. The pump, to be installed this week, will flow water into the pool within 10 days.

"An elaborate entrance to the state park grounds is also under construction. Of red sandstone, quarried at Buffalo Gap, it is immediately below the gateway leading to the CCC camp.

Park Proper Complete
"Many acres of woods have been cleared. Practically all the work in the park proper is completed, with exception of a few in-roads to be improved. Ideal picnic sites, under the shady trees, have been provided with the erection of ovens, tables and benches of stone. Sunday, picnicers were taking advantage of these facilities.

"Of the 51 varieties of trees found in the 500-acre park tract, there are but few that do not show improvement from the woodman's axe: a dead limb or a low hanging branch removed, and in some cases the 'cement cure'—a treatment for decay caused by worm infestation.

"The educational theme, Captain Williams said, is encouraged. Besides the best of popular magazines and a traveling library, Prof. W. W. Spurlock of Brownwood is teacher of a class, on general education, convening each evening after work hours. About 75 per cent of the veterans attend regularly. The educational advisor features a spelling match each Monday night.

"Superintendent Riney, under whose direction the park projects are moving, was enthusiastic with results obtained by the CCC.

ROY BYARS SHOT TO DEATH IN BUSINESS DISTRICT OF BANGS

Roy Byars, 38, of Bangs, was shot to death in the business district of Bangs Sunday night shortly 10 o'clock and L. L. Walton, deputy sheriff and night watchman, is at liberty under a $2,500 pending action by the next Brown county grand jury on a murder charge.

Byars was slain while advancing with an upraised dagger upon Walton, who is said to have retreated considerable distance before firing the fatal shots. Byars is said to have threatened Walton's life and to have attempted the attack on the officer with the double edge, six inch dagger that was found clutched in his right hand when the body was moved from the scene of the shooting an hour or more after Walton's gun barked death to his would be assailant. Walton is said to have fired four shots, three of which took effect.

Walton made no statement following the shooting and declined to give any information to newspapermen who questioned him. He waived examining trial Monday. There were no witnesses to the shooting and available meagre details of the tragedy were given by officers who visited the scene immediately after the shooting.

Walton telephoned Sheriff Jack Hallmark after Byars was slain and went to Brownwood where he surrendered. Mr. Hallmark, several deputies, County Attorney A. E. Nabors and Peace Justice E. T. Perkinson went to Bangs Sunday night immediately after news of the shooting reached Brownwood. At an inquest conducted Monday morning before Justice Perkinson, those who went to the scene of the shooting, as well as a number of Bangs citizens, including W. H. Rucker, Byron Rucker and Ed Self, who were the first to reach Byars' body.

Walton and Byars are said to have had trouble before. An encounter between the two more than two years ago at a Bangs political rally was recalled by Bangs citizens following the shooting Sunday night. At this time Byars is said to have attempted to attack Walton who defended himself by using his pistol to beat off his assailant.

Byars had been married a little more than a year, his wife before their marriage being Miss May Laird, also of Bangs. They had no children. Besides his wife, Byars is survived by a number of brothers and sisters, the brothers including Felix, R. D., Jesse, Joe and Clint.

Funeral services for Byars were held Tuesday at Clear Creek with burial there under the direction of W. A. Forman, Bangs undertaker.

45 MEN TO WORK AT CLEARING LAKE BED

A detail of 45 men from relief rolls will start to work next week clearing the floor of Lake Brownwood of undesirable underbrush, timber, old fences, etc. A project for the work was approved this week.

Most of the men will be transferred from the work at the Lake Brownwood State Park, where workmen have been digging a water well. Two or three men will be retained at the park to complete the well.

The project calls for expenditure of $9,720 for labor, with the Water Improvement district furnishing materials needed. It is estimated that the completed job will cost $11,787.91.

Water Main Work Gets Under Way

Work on the city's water mains improvement program began Tuesday morning with crew of 25 men on the job. Two carloads of eight-inch water pipes arrived last week. The 2,255 feet of pipe will be laid in a circuit beginning on Center Avenue, on Chandler to Hawkins, Hawks to Milton, Milton Fisk and to East Broadway. This shipment of pipe, including fits, cost $3,063.05.

Men working on this project will be paid 35 cents an hour, half in cash and half in credit on water rentals. Money for the project is being taken from a surplus in the water fund of the city.

City officials are contemplating additional water mains improvement with the total expenditure on such projects expected to be about $20,000.

$3,000 DAMAGE IN RESTAURANT FIRE

The first fire in the business district of Brownwood in many months Thursday morning almost completely destroyed the Smith Sandwich Shop, corner Center Avenue and Lee Street. The damage to the contents of the building was estimated Thursday at $3,000. Damage to the building amounted to several hundred dollars.

Fire was discovered in the building shortly after midnight by Johnny Thompson. It apparently originated in the rear of the building, and quickly spread to other parts of the building, practically destroying all contents.

Firemen experienced some difficulty in getting water on the blaze promptly. Workmen were installing new water mains in the business district, and water was turned off in that section when the fire broke out. The workmen quickly turned the water on, but it was several minutes before firemen could get sufficient pressure to stop the blaze. Meanwhile, two 35-gallon tanks of chemicals had been used to keep the fire in check.

The sandwich shop is operated by Wilbur Smith, and his son, Kavanaugh Smith, and only recently had been moved into the new location. Extensive improvements were made a few months ago.

Parts of Brownwood were without water until about 8 o'clock Wednesday morning.

CHECK IS RECEIVED FOR SEPT. RELIEF

County Administrator C. E. Boyett Thursday received a check for $6,179.50, which is half the $12,358 allotted to Brown county for September relief work.

The September allotment will be the last one from present funds, Mr. Boyett was advised, and there will be no more money unless the present session of the legislature appropriates more, or the Federal government supplements present funds.

Airplane Crash Is Fatal To Betz Baker

Betz Baker, a former football star at Daniel Baker College, was killed late Monday, Sept. 3, when an airplane from Brooks Field, at San Antonio, crashed during a storm at Danville, Louisiana. Baker had been a student at Brooks Field, for more than a year. His home was in San Angelo.

Baker came to Daniel Baker in 1931 and was a star performer on that year's great Freshman eleven. He was a regular on the 1932 Varsity but enlisted at Brooks Field before the 1933 season. He played with the Brooks Field football outfit last year and was seen in action in Brownwood when the army outfit played the 1933 Hill Billy Frosh.

COUNTY'S CATTLE QUOTA IS RAISED

Appraisers and inspectors in the government's drouth cattle purchasing program in Brown county have been working early and late this week in various communities of the county. The county's quota for this week was raised to 1,000 from 450, which means that the government will purchase and ship 1,000 cattle during the week. In addition to this, a large number of condemned cattle will be purchased and killed, this bringing the total purchases in the county during the week to well above the 1,000 mark.

The quota for each county is set by the government at first of every week and may be increased or lowered from week to week. County Agent C. W. Lehmburg states that by the end of the week, the government will have purchased 5,000 or more cattle in the county since the drouth relief program was launched. In all probability another 6,000 will be purchased before the program is concluded.

Checks for purchases made have been arriving at regular intervals at Mr. Lehmburg's office and these are being distributed as rapidly as possible. More than $100,000 is expected to be paid ranchers and farmers of the county for drouth distressed cattle before this work is ended.

That is the New Deal in drouth relief. The old way was a heap of whitening bones on the prairie and a total loss to the producer. It is stated.

ROUGH RIDER

A little thing like appendicitis can't keep a cowboy down, especially when he plays polo, and his name is Cecil Smith. This hard-riding, 10-year western star is playing a better game than ever in preliminary games before leading a team of westerners against the east's all-stars next month at Meadowbrook Country Club, New York.

PARTY INSPECTS FORMATIONS NEAR BOY SCOUT CAMP

A group of Brownwood people Monday visited the peculiar formations near the Boy Scout camp on the Billy Gibbons ranch, making inspection of the formations and spending the day at the camp. The formations were described in detail in The Banner last week.

Included in the party were Dr. G. C. Schurman, pastor of the First Christian Church, Brownwood; Tom Kellum, Sterling C. Holladay, Dr. Ned Snyder, Dr. John Snyder, Joe Hamilton, C. S. Nichols, Olen Fenner, Jimmie Jones, Logan McKenzie, Dr. O. E. Winebrenner, George Lamb, Walter Emison, M. W. Beck, of the U. S. Soil Survey, and their families.

The group met at the boy scout camp and had a picnic lunch, after which they visited the rock formations, which are about a quarter mile south of the camp. The rock formation lies on the surface of a very gentle slope, and is about 8x10 feet in size. It consists of uniform rocks with straight ends and sides, and has the appearance of being laid carefully together by hand. The join lines run almost east-west and north-south, with one diagonal joint from the northwest corner to the southeast corner of the formation.

There is a difference of opinion among those who viewed the formation this week as to whether it is natural or artificial, although so far as is known American Indians did not do any work of this nature.

Dr. E. J. Sellards, chairman of the department of economic geology at the University of Texas was to have visited the formation Monday, but was unable to do so due to a previous engagement. He plans to visit Brownwood later in the year, however, and inspect the formations at the scout camp, and also the recent excavations at the State Park at Lake Brownwood, where a skeleton and other Indian relics were found.

Label Milk Right, Inspector Advises

City Milk Inspector J. M. Bowman urges all milk producers selling their products in Brownwood to label their milk according to grades and in connection with this warns against mislabeling the milk. The city is not trying to keep any person from selling milk but only wants the milk labeled according to grade, Mr. Bowman states.

Any person can sell milk whether he operates a regular dairy or not, whether his cows are tested or not, or whether the milk is graded or not, Bowman states. The only requirement is that the milk must be labeled according to its grade. If it is not graded it must be labeled with the lowest grade or may be sold without a grade being put on it.

This is also in accordance with the state and federal pure food laws and will be strictly observed, it is stated.

DISTRICT IS NOT IN DANGER OF LOSS OF WATER RIGHTS

Hon. C. L. McCartney, attorney for the Brownwood Water Improvement District No. 1, has been in Austin most of this week for hearings before a joint committee of the Texas House and Senate that is conducting hearings on provisions of the Colorado River Authority bill, scheduled to be passed at the special session of the legislature to permit the borrowing of $4,500,000 from the federal government to complete construction of a big dam across the Colorado in Burnett county. Certain provisions of the Colorado River Authority Bill, as originally drafted, are considered detrimental to the interests of the Brownwood water district, and Judge McCartney, in co-operation with Senator Walter C. Woodward, of Coleman, are making every effort to protect the rights of Brownwood.

Wednesday Judge McCartney registered a vigorous protest against certain provisions of the bill. He declared that the bill should be radically changed and said, "Unless the bill is changed, hopes of the people in the upper tributaries of the Colorado will be blasted. If my people knew what was going on here, there would be a storm of protest. We would like to see the Colorado dam built, but not if it means drying us up."

Will Protect Brownwood
Congressman J. P. Buchanan, of Brenham, who is deeply interested in the Colorado project and who obtained President Roosevelt's endorsement of it, assured Mr. McCartney that the rights of Brownwood citizens will be protected. "We wouldn't want to see any other district hurt," Buchanan said. "Brownwood should receive all the water it needs," he added.

Senator Woodward presented an amendment to the Colorado River Authority bill which provides that rights of impounding water by the proposed Colorado dam shall be subordinate to permits already granted or hereafter to be granted on the tributaries of the Colorado above the new dam. The bill, as it now reads, according to Woodward and McCartney, gives the Colorado River Authority the right to take water anywhere in the watersheds by condemnation as it so chooses.

The Brownwood water district had a long drawn out dispute with the state board of water engineers several years ago, before the dam at Lake Brownwood was constructed. The Brownwood district sought to impound 175,000 acre feet but later was granted 125,000 acre feet.

K. P. Lodge Plans Convention Here

The Brownwood Knights of Pythias and Pythian Sisters will be hosts to a district convention of the K. P. lodge and auxiliary on September 29, Robert Craig, of Brownwood, district deputy, announced Wednesday. Mr. Craig states that about 200 delegates and visitors from a large number of Central Texas counties will attend.

John Lee Smith, Throckmorton, Supreme Representative; T. M. Gooch, Jr., Fort Worth, Grand Chancellor; and Theo Yarbrough, Weatherford, Grand Keeper of Records and Seals, are among the high officials also expected to be present for the meeting. Several state officials of the Pythian Sisters also have promised to attend.

A complete program for the one day convention is being arranged. The convention will open at 1:30 p. m., September 29, with a meeting of the auxiliary. A barbecue or banquet will be held at 6 o'clock with a joint meeting of the Knights and Sisters to be held that evening. Delegations are expected from Abilene, Baird, Cross Plains, Comanche, Dublin, Hico, De Leon, Stephenville and other cities and towns of the district.

City Will Vote On Legalization Of Sunday Shows

Voters To Decide On Issue For Third Time in Two Years; Heavy Vote Expected.

Citizens of Brownwood Saturday will say for the third time within a little more than two years whether or not moving pictures can be shown in Brownwood on Sunday. Every indication points to an unusually heavy vote on this issue Saturday. Those favoring and opposing Sunday movies have been working tirelessly the past week in efforts to sway the public for or against Sunday shows.

Two elections on this important question were held in 1932, both resulting in victories for those opposing the legalization of Sunday shows. In the first election, on August 22, 1932, a majority of 65 was polled against Sunday shows. On November 23, 1932, Sunday shows were rejected by only two votes.

The voters Saturday will mark the following ballot:
"For picture shows on Sunday."
"Against picture shows on Sunday."

Voting places in Saturday's election will be: Ward 1, outhouse; Ward 2, Howard Payne auditorium; Ward 3, Daniel Baker auditorium; Ward 4, South Ward school. Election judges will be U. Y. Smith, J. T. McDonald, T. H. Hart and S. E. Stark, for wards one, two, three and four, respectively.

The polls will open at 8 o'clock and close at 7. Only qualified voters living in the city limits will be allowed to participate in Saturday's election.

COGGIN BAPTISTS PLAN ANNIVERSARY OBSERVANCE SUNDAY

Coggin Avenue Baptist Church observed its 26th anniversary Sunday with an all day program, with Dr. George W. Shearer, of Dallas, a former pastor, delivering sermons at the morning and evening services. Sunday also marked the beginning of Dr. W. R. Hornburg's 15th year as pastor of the church.

The Coggin Avenue church was organized September 6, 1908, and in the 26 years of its history has had only four pastors. Rev. W. R. Earp was the first pastor, from 1908 to 1912. He was succeeded by Dr. Shearer who remained with the church until 1918 when Dr. Hornburg became pastor for the first time. Dr. Hornburg resigned to serve as president of Howard Payne College and during this time, Dr. R. A. Scranton, now of Smithville, served as pastor for 18 months.

When Dr. Hornburg became pastor the church had a membership of 300. It now has 1,475 members. During Dr. Hornburg's pastorate a total of 2,200 additions to the church have been received, including more than 100 new members received during 1934.

The Coggin Avenue church has had three buildings, a frame structure which stood across the street from the present building, the brick edifice which now faces Coggin Avenue and the new educational building that faces Second street, immediately back of the old brick building. Most of the church's program is carried on in the new educational building, constructed in 1927.

The church has announced plans for a revival to begin next Sunday, September 9, with Rev. C. Y. Dossey, of Dallas, doing the preaching.

Texas meat canning plants—to the number of 19—are doing their level best to take care of the cattle bought as drouth relief; 8,585, 134 No. 2 cans of meat had been placed on the pantry shelf of the Relief Commission by the middle of August. Eight and a half million cans of meat is quite a bit.

Any error made in advertisements will be corrected upon being brought to the attention of the publishers, and the liability of this paper is limited to the amount of space consumed by the error in the advertisement.

Some weeks ago, when the issue first was before the City Council, The Banner gave its endorsement to Sunday moving picture shows for Brownwood. We feel that our position in this matter is familiar to our readers, but the fact that Brownwood voters Saturday will be called upon to decide the issue—once and for all time, we hope,—it seems timely to repeat our position now.

Sunday Movies

In few cities of the United States, and certainly in few West Texas cities and towns, is the proposition of Sunday movies an issue. Possibly it was at one time, but most cities and towns long since have legalized this form of Sunday afternoon entertainment and relaxation and have turned their attention to more important matters. And none seem to be any the worse for the Sunday shows. We do not feel that even the most fantastic opponents of Sunday movies will contend that the people of Coleman, Cisco, Brady, Abilene and other neighboring cities, with which we all are familiar, are living under any moral handicap because their picture shows are open on Sunday afternoons. We know of no reason why people of Brownwood would experience any situation different from those of our neighboring cities; why their personal situations would be any worse through the opening of picture shows on Sunday.

All of the argument we have heard against Sunday movies is based on the theory that attendance at a show on Sunday is wrong morally. So far as we can ascertain, there is no other argument against them. We do not hold with this view. We do not believe an individual has committed any moral wrong through attendance at a moving picture show on Sunday, unless attendance at a picture show on any other day in the week is morally wrong. That is a matter for the individual to decide for himself, and we have no quarrel with those who hold opposite views.

Much has been said about Sunday movies improving business conditions in Brownwood. While it is possible that we have had some adverse advertising through our closed shows on Sundays, we feel that this point has been over-emphasized. In the same manner has the possible interference with church and Sunday school attendance been over-emphasized. We do not have figures to support our view, but we believe cities and towns that have Sunday movies do not find that this has interfered with church attendance. We do know that those cities having Sunday shows have most excellent churches.

There is plenty of argument, of course, on both sides of the question, supposing it is a moral one. But if it is a moral question which is in controversy, then it has no business being a legal question. For, even though many believe in all sincerity that Sunday movies are not right, there are about as many who do not believe this way. And we do not feel that those who hold one view should establish laws making a different opinion a legal offense. This especially is true when Sunday movies could not possibly hurt or offend those opposed to them.

We trust the people of Brownwood will vote Saturday to legalize Sunday movies.

In replying to Governor Jim Ferguson that he would serve if the party in Texas called him to that service, Vice President John N. Garner apparently let it be known that he is not adverse to serving as national committeeman for Texas. Mr. Ferguson is the present technical occupant of that position, through election by the state committee, but it is generally agreed that he will be displaced at the Galveston convention next week. Mr. Garner has been suggested as his successor by James V. Allred, nominee of the party for Governor.

Garner's Choice

We believe that the choice of Mr. Garner was a most happy one, and is but an indication that Mr. Allred is sincere in his post-election statement, "I want all who may have opposed me to join wholeheartedly in a program for the rebuilding of Texas." Certainly, Mr. Garner is not one of those who opposed him, nor is he reckoned as one of his supporters. As Vice President he took no part in the election.

But Mr. Garner is the recognized head of the Democratic party in Texas. He is acceptable alike to Allred supporters and those who supported any one of the five defeated candidates. His selection as national committeeman could do more to unify the Democratic party in Texas than the selection of any other man, for any other choice naturally would be made from the most loyal of the Allred supporters.

Mr. Garner of course would be most acceptable to the National administration. This is a point that should be kept in mind, for, during the first two years of the Roosevelt administration, there has been little harmony between the state and national leaders. This has been a handicap that has been reflected at every turn, and one that should be remedied speedily and surely. For recovery in Texas is closely tied in with national policies of the present and future, and the closer relationship Texas can have with Washington, the more quickly can we hope for a complete return to normal conditions.

The nomination of Upton Sinclair as Democratic candidate for Governor of California came as a surprise to the nation. Until a short time ago, Mr. Sinclair was one of the foremost Socialists in the United States. His uniting with the Democratic party was, he is quoted as saying, due to Roosevelt's New Deal program. Of course, Sinclair advocates a much broader program, which has to do largely with confiscation of capital and state operation of all industries and farms that have been unsuccessful under private ownership.

Sinclair's New Deal

The Sinclair program will not be carried out, it is safe to predict, even though he is elected in November. It is too radical and far-reaching for present day thought, to say the least.

But his nomination might have a tremendous influence in the shaping of platforms for the 1936 elections. It shows a definite trend of public thought when a platform such as Sinclair's could win the party nomination by the largest primary vote ever cast by the party in California.

This trend of thought has been popularized by the New Deal, which is mildly socialistic in its tendencies. It is, in a measure, the child of the Democratic party, and as such, must be dealt with by Democratic leaders. The fact is brought forcibly before the national leaders that a considerable proportion of the people are thinking along socialistic lines. Just what concession is to be made to this vote by either party may be a deciding factor in the next national elections.

The "Duke of Cimarron." ALTHOUGH titles of nobility have no place in our democratic form of government, sometimes Americans by common consent confer upon some outstanding person such a title, even though it is not officially recognized. This is the story of such a person, of Lucian B. Maxwell, the Illinois and Missouri farm boy and wandering trapper who became the "Duke of Cimarron."

Born in Kaskaskia, Ill., he accompanied his parents across the Mississippi river into Missouri while still a boy. At Arrow Rock on the Missouri, then the eastern terminus of the Santa Fe trail, the boy saw the great wagon trains depart for the New Mexican capital and his imagination was fired by the tales of the riches to be found in the Southwest. Thither he went in 1841, but the hoped-for wealth did not come to him immediately.

He was first a trapper, then a hunter, then a guide for General Fremont on one of his expeditions to California.

The turn in his fortunes came in 1844 when he married Juanita Beaubien, the daughter of Charles Beaubien, a French-Canadian who had gone to Taos in 1827 as agent with Guadalupe Miranda for the American Fur company. In return for services to the Mexican government Miranda and Beaubien were given a large grant of land in northeastern New Mexico, but soon afterwards Miranda sold his share to Beaubien, who soon became known as "Don Carlos Beaubien."

After Maxwell's marriage to Juanita, Don Carlos made the young American manager of his great ranch, and after Beaubien's death Maxwell bought out the other heirs and changed the name of the estate to the Maxwell Grant. It stretched along the Cimarron river for a distance of 50 miles and comprised over a quarter of a million acres. On it he built a huge low, rambling house and other structures.

Here he lived like a feudal baron dispensing lavish hospitality to all who came that way—army officers, Indian chiefs, explorers, trappers, traders and settlers. In his retinue of retainers were hundreds of white men, Mexicans, Indians and half-breeds tending his flocks and herds. For while the "Duke of Cimarron" prospered, then his spendthrift ways began to impoverish him. But the discovery of gold on his land brought a new prosperity and a new era of extravagant living.

Again his fortunes began to decline and he decided to sell his estate. Senator Chaffee of Colorado and Wilson Waddington bought it for $650,000. Maxwell then went to Las Vegas and there the "Duke of Cimarron" died in 1875 with virtually nothing left of the vast fortune that had once been his.

The University of Missouri grounds cover more than 800 acres.

THE BANNER'S SCRAP BOOK

FIRST PAPER IN TEXAS Palfurrias Facts: Texas' first newspaper was called the Texas Gazette and was published in San Felipe in 1829.

The first number came out long before Texas became a Republic, before the battles of the Alamo and San Jacinto. The Gazette's publisher was Goodwin Brown Cotter and the subscription price was $6 a year in advance.

On the back of the first number Thomas J. Piferin has a display advertisement two columns wide, four inches long soliciting students for the Austin Academy, agreeing to look after the moral of the youths as well as their education.

According to a correspondent of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, examination of these first newspapers published in Texas, shows their editors used the choicest English, written in clear, understandable style and an elegance that was evidence of intelligence and education. There were no slangy expressions and yet the articles and editorials are far from boring and dull.

One of the early papers at San Felipe de Austin carries an article of about 250 words criticizing Sam Houston for intemperance and evidently one of the other papers had said it was a poor thing to publish, for the article in question asserts it is regrettable to do so, but a public duty to tell the world of Sam Houston's imbibin. This was in the 30's, and it is history that Houston in later years cut down on his drinking.

San Felipe de Austin is in Austin county, not far from Brenham, and is still on the map. In the early issues of these newspapers there is no crime news. There were no hijacking, holdups and murders.

One such plan is the erosion survey of the whole country undertaken by the Soil Erosion Service of the Department of the Interior. Field work on it was begun this week to be finished by October 15. Findings will supply a complete picture of the condition of agricultural lands to be used in the development of the American agricultural policy of the future.

"Let Science Have a Chance" is the title of a recent article by the Secretary of Agriculture and may become the watchword of his department.

ON TEXAS FARMS

New Braunfels—Yellow blooming annual sweet clover is proving a rather valuable addition to the forage on the farm of Ed Simon, Comal county dairyman, both as a grazing crop and as a hay crop, according to the report of George H. Ehlinger, farm demonstration agent. Mr. Simon had 16 acres in this clover this year and it furnished almost all the grazing and roughage for more than 30 head of Jersey cattle. Farm animals as a rule do not eat it readily at first but upon becoming accustomed to its acrid taste they like it. Despite the number of cattle grazed in this field and the relish with which they ate the clover, it matured a full crop of seed at a height of two feet.

Quitman—"The 15 acres of land where we ran terraces four years ago is producing much better crops than it did before the terraces were built." J. S. Henry of the Clover Hill community in Wood county told James W. McCown, farm demonstration agent. "I find too," said Mr. Henry, "that the ground is in much better condition with less inclination to bake and get hard after rains, which means less draft on my teams, better stands of my crops and easier work. I also find that I can work it sooner after a rain." These terraces were laid off with three inches fall to the hundred feet.

Tahoka—In spite of frost, drought, sandstorms, and insects Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Harter of Lynn county have an attractive yard, according to Sylvia Robb, home demonstration agent. "We started our yard improvement under the direction of Miss El Pleda Harrison, our former home demonstration agent," said Mrs. Harter recently. "And though we have put out more than trees, screen plantings, lawn shrubs, and many more bought hose and other equipment for watering and caring for lawn, our total improvement cost just a little more than In front of the house the well-sodded lawn is flanked either side by a curving row of trees and shrubs used for protection against winds and sand, attractive stepping stone curves gracefully from the steps to the mail box. At the of the house other rock walks where needed, while blue shrubs, perennials and evergreen screen off the garden and the try yard. The rose garden, smooth lawn make a lovely door living room.

Waxahachie—For $43.50 cash expenditure Mr. and Mrs. L. Stanford and little daughter Red Oak in Ellis county are joying a new kitchen with fast room and pantry included made from the space which been used as a large hall since house was built 40 or 50 years according to Irma Ross, home constration agent.

This big improvement to small an expense was possible cause Mr. Stanford is a carpenter as well as a farmer. By material he had on hand and ing the work himself he had the expense of nails, tacks, paper, paint, and 85 cents of lumber.

A new bedroom and a room to be used as a bath have been made from the formerly utilized by the hallway, and storage room, total cost of improvement to three rooms was $13.25.

Haskell—"My foundation tern has saved me $26 during past year in addition to the I always spent mousing past over and over to see what itions were needed." Mrs. West, wardrobe demonstrator the O'Brien Home Demonstration Club in Haskell county, told Johnnie Reed, home demonstration agent. Mrs. West said that her clothes are better than the average low priced es she would have bought, the materials are better, and the dresses fit better.

August Rainfall Totals 2.44 Inches

Total rainfall for the month of August in Brownwood was 2.44 inches, this bringing the year's total to 17.36 inches, which is about normal. However, the rainfall for June and July totalled only .39 of an inch, in fact that was the total precipitation from June 1 to August 23 when the city had a 2.38 inch rain. This three month period with less than half an inch of rain greatly shortened 1934 crops in the county and left many farmers and ranchmen without livestock water.

COLLEGE TEAMS ARE READY FOR OPENING OF FOOTBALL SEASON

LIKE other Brownwood schools the Howard Payne football squad will turn out next Monday for its initial practice session for the 1934 campaign under the direction of Coaches Joe Cheaney and MacAdoo Keaton.

The Yellow Jackets lost the monopoly of Texas Conference championships that they held when they were defeated 7-0 by the St. Edwards Tigers, but remembering last year's freshman team, hopes are running high for this year's team to regain the laurels lost last year.

Last year's freshman team was one of the best first year teams in the history of the Jacket institution and most of that team will be out fighting for a place on the 1934 varsity. Besides the crop of sophomores, Coaches Cheaney and Keaton will have ten lettermen and fourteen squadmen left over from last year's squad.

Eight lettermen were lost from the 1933 team and seven of those were regulars and the two veteran coaches will find it a rather difficult job to replace that many starters. However the Jacket mentors will have plenty of time to put a team together, the first game on the schedule being with the San Marcos Bobcats at San Marcos on September 28th.

Of the ten lettermen returning only three can be classed as regulars these being Ray Taylor, captain of the 1934 team, Bob Sikes, co-captain, and Clem Page. Other lettermen returning are Gervis Archer, Leslie Terry, Wilburn West, Clarence Jones, Raq O'Brien, Willford Chew, and Charles Miller.

The 1934 schedule:

- Sept. 28—San Marcos Teachers at San Marcos.
Oct. 5—Trinity U. at Brownwood.
Oct. 12—Terrell M. C. at Brownwood.
Oct. 19—Austin College at Sherman.
Oct. 26—McMurry at Abilene.
Nov. 2—Abilene C. C. at Brownwood.
Nov. 10—St. Edwards U. at Austin.
Nov. 16—Schreiner Institute at Brownwood.
Nov. 22—Westmoreland at Brownwood (tentative).
Nov. 29—Southwestern at Brownwood.

WITH next Monday marking the beginning of the school year for the Brownwood schools it also marks the beginning of the football training grind of the Daniel Baker Hill Billies in preparation for the 1934 gridiron season.

The Hill Billies, this year, have an all-T. C. U. coachin staff consisting of Gene Taylor, former grid mentor of the Brownwood High School, who learned his football lessons under the tutelage of Matty Bell, former head football coach at Texas Christian University, Taylor has as his assistant and first lieutenant Wallace Myers, three-sport star at the Horned Frog institution and one of the main-stays of last year's Horned Frog eleven.

Coaches Taylor and Myers are starting out with practically an unknown quantity with the current crop of candidates. Thirteen are expected to turn out and eight of the thirteen won their numerals on last year's hapless team, a team that failed to break into the win column all season.

The 1934 edition of Hill Billies will have just ten days in which to prepare for the season's opener, the football curtain scheduled to be raised on Friday, the 21st against the coaching staff's alma mater, Texas Christian, at Brownwood, which is a tough assignment in any league to start off the season.

Only five veterans are included in the 1934 squad, all five of whom are seniors and have won their letters on previous Billy grid teams. These five men are Jack Snodgrass and Reeves Hickman, halfbacks, Bill White, captain and fullback, Herman Trigg, end, and Talmadge Head, guard. It is around these five veterans that Coaches Taylor and Myers expect to build a team that will put Daniel Baker on the football map.

The 1934 schedule follows:

- Sept. 21—T. C. U. in Brownwood (night).
Sept. 29—School of Mines in El Paso.
Oct. 5—John Tarleton in Stephenville.
Oct. 12—Austin College in Brownwood (night).
Oct. 19—Sui Ross in Brownwood (night).
Oct. 26—San Marcos in Brownwood (night).
Nov. 2—Simmons in Abilene.
Nov. 9—McMurry in Brownwood.
Nov. 17—Abilene C. C. in Abilene.
Nov. 23—Southwestern in Georgetown.
Nov. 29—Texas A. & I. in Kingsville.

LOCAL TIRE DEALER SAYS PRICE BUYERS CAN GET VALUE TOO

Speedway Tire Offers Most Advantages Found in More Expensive Brands.

"Many motorists are of the opinion they cannot purchase an inexpensive tire from a big manufacturer," was the comment of D. C. Pratt, local dealer for the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., in discussing low prices now available on tires.

"This is, however, not the case," Mr. Pratt continued, "and exactly the opposite is true. Goodyear, for instance, is the largest manufacturer of tires in the world and because of that fact its factories have greater and better facilities for producing tires at lower costs."

"The Goodyear Speedway, for instance, costs less than the now-famous G-3 All Weather Tread, but provides lots of mileage at a very reasonable cost—and has the Goodyear name branded on the side. The Speedway tire has center traction for greater grip on the road, a tough thick tread, ribbed sidewalls and its carcass is made of Goodyear's patented Supertwist cord that stretches and comes back with every flexing of the tire, thus adding miles and longer life to the tire," he concluded.

VOTE FOR SUNDAY MOVIES

Is Brownwood to relegate herself to the class of a little country town or is she to go forward with the progress being made by other West Texas cities? That is the question to be answered by you in the Sunday Movies Election to be held Saturday, September 8th. There is no use kidding ourselves by thinking we are a better people or have a better town in any manner by having our picture shows closed on Sundays. Neither is it logical to conceive that we would be any the worse by having them open.

Should we think that parents would refuse to send their children to Brownwood Colleges because our picture shows are open on Sundays when Canyon, Lubbock, Abilene, Ft. Worth, Dallas, Waco, Belton and Austin, the other college towns of Texas, all have Sunday movies? This plea to you to vote for Sunday shows is not just a fight by the picture show interests to get another day's business. It is a plea from wide-awake, progressive men and women of Brownwood who realize what we are losing by our citizens being forced to abide by a city law that denies them the right to see moving picture shows in their own home town on Sundays. Our people must drive to Coleman, Abilene or Cisco for that right and spend their money in those towns.

The travelling public hurries out of Brownwood on Saturday afternoons to Abilene, Brady, San Angelo, Temple or some other point. There they know they will find some way to pass the time and know they will find other travelling people. If the argument has been offered you that our pictures are unfit to be seen, why not satisfy yourself on that point? See some shows this week... any of them at either of our three picture shows. They are willing to let you be the judge on that point. And, too, remember this fact; it is the regular policy of theatres operating seven days a week to select their very best pictures for opening on Sundays. These shows would be advertised by the theatres all over our trade territory in an effort to bring more people into Brownwood.

Brownwood needs its picture shows open on Sundays. The following Brownwood merchants and citizens respectfully ask you to cast your vote for Sunday movies at the special election, Saturday, September 8th:

VOTE FOR SUNDAY MOVIES Are you being denied the personal liberty granted you by the Constitution of the United States? Is the city ordinance that now prohibits Sunday Movies contrary to our national constitution? It expressly provides that each individual shall be guided only by his own conscience in matters of religion and Sunday observance. This same right has been upheld by the court of the United States. The signers of the Declaration of Independence in order to insure the rights of the people inserted the following clause in that document: We hold these truths to be self evident, that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. Christ himself, in rebuking the multitude for criticizing his disciples for plucking corn to alleviate their hunger said: "The Sabbath was made for man and not man for the Sabbath"—Mark 11-27. In an opinion of the U. S. Supreme Court, delivered by Justice Harlan in the case of Henning vs. Georgia, this paragraph stands out: "Compulsory labor would be slavery. Compulsory leisure is no less a tyranny and usurpation of power. And compulsory rest, or Sabbatizing, is religious tyranny." Thousands of citizens of Brownwood are being denied the rights of personal liberty granted them by the Constitution of the United States in not being permitted to attend picture shows in Brownwood on Sundays. Are you satisfied to let such a condition exist? More towns and cities are voting their picture shows open on Sundays every day. We never hear of one voting to close them after they have been open any length of time. Is not that sufficient proof that they are a good and not an evil influence on the community?

DEMONSTRATION AGENT GIVES INSTRUCTIONS ON THE PROPER CANNING OF MEAT AT HOME

Mayesie Malone, county demonstration agent, states according to information from her office, canning of meats in homes of the county, in instances, is being done unscientifically and in methods that will not assure proper preservation of the food. Health and life may be endangered by meat not properly canned. Miss Malone says, in urging that all persons putting up meat use extreme care to see that proper methods are followed.

Under the caption, "Can Right Not at All," Miss Malone has prepared for The Banner the following canning instructions:

The most successful results are obtained when meat is packed in cans and processed under Steam Pressure. The temperature required for sterilization (240 degrees to 250 degrees F. corresponding to 10 to 15 pounds steam pressure) can be obtained inside the can or by means of any other canning method. Wash tubs, pots and pans are not satisfactory and should not be used to process meats. Since 212 degrees F. is the boiling temperature it is possible to reach. Experiments in canning have shown that the organism known as bacillus botulinus is not destroyed when no-acid foods are processed in a water-bath at a temperature as low as 212 degrees F. Sterilization is necessary for meats and all non-acid vegetables to insure success and safety in eating the food and to prevent loss in foods canned.

Most Important Step.—The method of preserving meat by cooking it and packing it down in cans covered with a layer of fat depends for success on the possibility of storing at the proper temperature. This method does not kill bacteria resistant to heat but kills only the more susceptible forms, and the layer of fat keeps them out. The Bureau of Home Economics recommends this method only during cold weather for home consumption and for short periods of time.

Meat for canning should be in good condition and should be used as soon as it is cold. The animal heat is gone. Wipe meat with damp cloth, remove fat and leave only enough fat to flavor. Excess fat retards penetration of heat. Cut the meat into pieces suitable in size for fitting the containers without crowding.

Methods of Preheating.—Preheating may be done in several different ways, the aim in all of which, however, is to heat the meat thoroughly until no red color remains. It is not necessary nor desirable to preheat until the meat is tender, since a subsequent canning process will then cook the meat. Either tin cans or glass jars may be used as containers. Wash tin cans, glass and lids before using. Keep tin cans dry, only wipe with a clean cloth. Quart glass jars are not recommended.

Method 1—Place the meat in boiling water to cover, lower the heat and simmer. After thoroughly heating, pack in cans, or glass jars, bring the broth to boiling, and pour over the meat to within one-half inch from top of the container. Add salt. One-half teaspoon per pint. Fully seal the tin cans or partially seal glass jars, and place each as prepared in the hot cooker so the meat will not be cooled.

Other Methods.

Method No. 2—Place the meat in a baking pan, add a little water and heat in a moderate oven. It may be seared first and browned, then placed in oven to continue heating. If the drippings are not dark brown, dilute with boiling water or broth and pour over the meat after it is packed. (Some prefer to add only a few spoonfuls of the hot broth or fat.) If the drippings are too dark to be used, pour boiling water or broth over the meat in container, add salt and gelatin if desired. Seal as described under method No. 1.

Method No. 3—When tin cans are used the meat may be placed directly into the containers. Add salt, but no liquid. Leave at least three-fourths inch space at top of can, for the meat will expand when heated. Preheat by placing the cans in a bath of boiling water which comes to within 1 to 1 1/2 inches of the tops of the cans. Or the cans may be heated in a steamer. Continue heating until the meat in the cans become steaming hot. This requires about 40 to 60 minutes, according to the size of the containers. Seal as described under method No. 1. After preheating, packing and sealing, the containers of meat should be immediately processed.

Cook 85 Minutes.—Cook meat in No. 2 cans 85 minutes at 15 pounds pressure. Same time for pint glass jars.

"After processing glass jars or No. 3 cans allow the pressure gauge to reach zero before opening the petcock, then open it gradually so there is no sudden outburst of steam. Complete the seal on glass jars and place them in the open air, but protected from draughts, until cooled.

"When No. 2 cans are used open petcock on the pressure cooker gradually at the end of the processing period and allow the steam to escape. Place tin cans of all sizes in running water to thoroughly cool. If no running water is available keep changing the water until the cans are cold.

"Extra precaution in every step of canning meats in the summer time are very necessary to prevent food poisoning.

Cold Storage for Meats.

"All meat should be placed in cold storage as soon after killing as possible with a temperature around 35 to 40 degrees and usually should not be left there over 8 to 10 days. Forty-eight to 72 hours is sufficient for thoroughly cooling most animals. It should be taken from cold storage in small amounts, not more than a quarter of a beef at a time and canned immediately, as meat spoils more rapidly after being taken from cold storage.

"The cans should be stored in a cool, dry place, and watched for 48 hours, all swells should be destroyed. Do not even taste a suspicious can of any product (unless heated at boiling temperature 20 minutes)."

Revival Meetings To Start Sunday

A revival meeting, with Rev. R. L. Flowers, of Denton doing the preaching, will begin at the First Methodist Church in Brownwood next Sunday, September 9, the pastor has announced. Mrs. Flowers will assist in the revival.

In speaking of Rev. and Mrs. Flowers, the pastor of First Methodist Church says, "Rev. R. L. Flowers is one of the greatest preachers in the southwest and Mrs. Flowers is a real leader and worker among the women and young people."

Rev. and Mrs. Flowers recently closed a successful revival at Commerce and a newspaper of that city, after the meeting closed, had the following comment about Rev. and Mrs. Flowers:

"The revival, under the direction of Rev. and Mrs. R. L. Flowers, closed Tuesday night. The church was packed with people whose admiration for and confidence in Rev. and Mrs. Flowers grew with every service. Their messages are forceful and timely and lead people to resolve to live closer to God. Any church will be fortunate indeed to secure the services of Rev. and Mrs. Flowers in a revival."

Arrangements have been completed for a revival meeting to be held at the Austin Avenue Presbyterian Church, Brownwood, Rev. I. K. Floyd, pastor, announces. The revival will begin on September 23.

Rev. W. E. Graham, of Greenville, will do the preaching, it is announced. Dr. Graham has been pastor of the Greenville Presbyterian Church for 29 years but resigned recently, his resignation being effective September 1. He is said to be one of the outstanding ministers of his church in Texas.

Miss Vinson Joins Howard Payne Staff

Miss Vinson succeeds Rev. Arthur Johnson who has been bookkeeper at Howard Payne the past few years. Rev. Johnson will go to Fort Worth where he plans to enter the Baptist seminary.

Brownwood And Brookesmith Are Winners Sunday

Brownwood and Brookesmith were victorious in the play-off double-header last Sunday at Woodland Heights and will meet in a best two out of three game series, the winner of which will be recognized as the champions of the Brown county baseball league for the 1934 season.

Brownwood won over Fry in the first game by putting on a nine-run attack in the seventh and eighth innings to win by a 14 to 8 score.

Brookesmith registered a 7-0 shutout over the Woodland Heights team in the second game behind the three hit pitching of Brooks Page. The second game was called at the end of the seventh on account of darkness.

The first game of the championship series will be played next Sunday at Brookesmith and the second game at Brownwood on the following Sunday. The site of the third game, if necessary, will be decided by the tossing of a coin.

Health Inspector Visits Brownwood

Jeff Reese, Jr., of the bureau of foods and drugs, State Department of Health, spent three days in Brownwood the past week inspecting bakeries, drug stores, soda fountains, cafes and grocery stores. At the conclusion of his inspection, Mr. Reese stated that he found the general sanitary conditions in Brownwood to be good.

J. M. Bowman, city sanitary inspector, assisted Mr. Reese in his work. Two or three orders were issued for cleaning up but no complaints were filed, Mr. Bowman states.

THE PROPER CARE OF LAWNS DURING PERIODS OF DROUGHT

By MILES W. BECK,

Bureau of Chemistry and Soils, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

IT TAKES a beautiful yard to make a house a home. Most people do not think of expense when furnishing the inside of their home which very few people see, but they are content to leave their yards, which everybody sees, become run down from lack of water and fertilizer, and mar the appearance of a beautiful house.

This drought is serious but there have been worse ones in this region. If your shrubs and grass are permitted to suffer this summer and fall, they will go into the winter in a weakened condition and if the winter is severe, you can expect to lose many beautiful trees and shrubs. By properly watering and fertilizing from now on you will thereby enable your plants to go into the winter in a good physical condition and be able to resist rather severe freezes. Plant life and animal life are parallel—a man under-nourished will freeze to death in weather that would little affect a man in good physical condition—the same applies to plant life.

If your shrub beds were covered with one to two inches of stable manure with possibly some bone meal, and well watered, it is possible that a severe winter would not kill your shrubs. Some will say that manure will burn your plants, but with sufficient water this is impossible. By applying manure on top it will not only help to feed the plant but act as a mulch and conserve moisture and you will use less water.

Plants and trees well watered occasionally, is much better and you use less water than by sprinkling them often. In this region when you are subject to occasional dry winters, I believe that watering, especially fruit and shade trees and shrubs, during the winter months is nearly as beneficial as summer watering. Nature cannot release her plant food in a dry soil. If the soil is watered in the winter, plant food is made available for the plant to use in the springtime. You have planted many trees that are native to bottom soils such as hackberry, pecan, ash and others and they especially need plenty of water and plant food.

Lawns will be greatly improved and benefited, if each fall after frost, a good application of manure is applied. Commercial fertilizer as bone meal and some form of nitrogen fertilizer, applied about January 1 in conjunction with the manure should greatly improve your lawns.

When plants are properly watered and fertilized at all times, fruit trees particularly will not bloom early enough in spring to be killed by frost. On the other hand a fruit tree under-fed and under-watered will bloom early and as a result the blooms are frost killed.

Rev. Carrington Is At National Meeting

The Brownwood Chamber of Commerce this week received word from Rev. W. M. B. Carrington, who is in Oklahoma City, attending the national convention of the colored Baptist church.

Rev. Carrington, local pastor, expressed his appreciation of the Chamber of Commerce in its assistance in raising funds for him to make the trip.

High School Squad Practicing Daily

Under the guidance of a new coach the Lions of Brownwood High School are going through a twice daily drill in back of the Junior High School as well as a daily blackboard talk in preparation for the 1934 football season.

"Jew" Keeling, formerly of Kerrville, was recently signed to teach the Lions a few new tricks in gridiron lore, replacing Gene Taylor who resigned as Lion Mentor in order to accept the position of head coach at Daniel Baker College. Mr. Keeling cordially invites Brownwood fans to come out every day to witness the practice sessions.

Keeling has had a squad numbering about sixty out for practice during the past few days and expects the squad to number approximately one hundred after school starts next Monday.

Committees Named By B. & P. W. Club

At the regular meeting of the Brownwood Business and Professional Women's Club, held Tuesday night at Carnegie Library, Mrs. Velma DeBenedetti, club president, announced the appointment of committee chairmen for the ensuing year.

Tuesday evening's program was devoted to reports by club members on their travels during the summer vacation period. The next meeting of the club to be held September 18, has been designated as Home Coming night. An effort will be made to have all present members of the club present at that time and in addition all former members will be urged to attend.

A report from the club's Centennial committee was made Tuesday night. The club voted unanimously to cooperate in plans for the Centennial celebration to be held in Brownwood.

Committee chairmen appointed by Mrs. DeBenedetti Tuesday evening follow:

Finance, Alma Lyle; program, Mollie Armstrong; membership, Margaret Dutton; attendance, Eva Millsap; education, Nell Kirkpatrick; legislation, Pearl Gipson; emblem, Myrtle Lane; magazine, Irene Trapp; recreation, Alberta McInnis; research, Fanny Hamilton; health, Ida Schorlemmer; public relations, Irene Trapp; international relations, Ada Jennings; publicity, Mollie Armstrong;
