He invites the people of this community to come and share with the church these hours of Revival by attending the prayer and inspirational services for all age groups beginning at 7:00 each evening, and then for the Gospel song services and Bible preaching which follows at 7:30. THE COTTON PROBLEM AND FIRST STEPS TOWARD SOLUTION

The United States faces a serious situation with cotton. The problem is more difficult because cotton is a world crop, produced and used in many countries. The policies and programs of a major producing country inevitably affects the rest of the cotton world.

It has been apparent for some time, however, that something would have to be done to reverse recent trends and move toward ultimate solution of the basic problems. Failure to do so would simply build up more trouble for the future—not only in the United States but also throughout the rest of the free world.

The Administration has been concerned with the cotton situation for two and a half years, and it has done everything it could to move cotton under existing programs. Congress, also, has shown an increasing awareness of the growing cotton problem. Several bills which would permit greater flexibility in pricing and more marketing opportunities were introduced, and some were passed by the Senate before adjournment of the first session of the 84th Congress.

The heart of the cotton problem is centered around inflexible provisions governing both price support and sales policies. They have resulted in a steady loss of markets, mounting carryover stocks of U. S. cotton, mounting surplus holdings in government storage, and serious loss of acreage by cotton producers.

The objective of the Administration has been to find ways at least checking the continued build-up of surplus holdings, and to do it within the framework of sound domestic and foreign policy. The plan to offer limited amounts of lower quality upland cotton stocks from Commodity Credit Corporation inventories, for export sale later in the marketing year on an open competitive basis, is in line with this objective. It represents a gradual start toward a needed increase in the movement of surplus stocks.

It is also in line with the President's statement regarding export policy last September. At that time he said, "The United States cannot be satisfied with the position of holding its own supplies off the market and accumulating surpluses while other countries dispose of their entire production. Accordingly, the United States will not use its agricultural surpluses to impair the traditional competitive position of friendly countries by disrupting world prices of agricultural commodities."

Dale Carnegie Course Planned For Clarendon

The Lions Club of Clarendon voted Tuesday to sponsor a Dale Carnegie Course in human relations, effective speaking, leadership training, sales training, and memory training. This course is based on Mr. Carnegie's famous book "How to Win Friends and Influence People" and has his forty-three years of teaching experience behind it. The classes are limited to forty students, thus the first enrolled form the class.

A demonstration meeting will be held on Thursday evening, September 22nd, to explain the course to the people of this community. Coffee and doughnuts will be served to those attending. The time is 7:30 p. m. and the place is the College Auditorium. The Lions encourage all to attend to observe the merits of this training, without any obligation.

The Dale Carnegie course is set up to do the following ten things for students taking the course: 1. Speak effectively before business and social groups; 2. Increase your income through the ability to influence people; 3. Develop self confidence; 4. Sell yourself, your service and your product; 5. Learn to remember names and faces; 6. Learn to control worry; 7. Increase your poise, polish and personal force; 8. Win friends for yourself and your business; 9. Prepare for leadership; 10. Get out of a mental rut.

The course is a fifteen week course meeting, one night each week. The instructors are men certified by the Dale Carnegie Institute. The students participate in each session and there are no boring lectures.

There are over 450,000 graduates in the United States who endorse this training. Those interested in self improvement are encouraged to contact the members of the Lions Club for enrollment or attend the free demonstration meeting September 22nd. The course will be presented by the Western Sales Institute of Amarillo. Bill Lowe is Lions Club President.

113 College Students Enroll To Date

According to W. W. Pinkerton, President of Clarendon Jr. College, one hundred and thirteen students had enrolled through Tuesday of this week and the number is expected to climb to a higher figure as enrollment will continue through this week and next.

Thirteen girls have signed up to play with the College girls basketball team at present and the possibility of having another top-notch team this year is looking much brighter. Coach Brown stated. A number of these girls will need some financial assistance and will appreciate all opportunities of baby sitting and other part time jobs. If you need a baby sitter you may call 373-RX or 291-M.

The College girls basketball team needs a name. Anyone may submit names to Supt. W. W. Pinkerton and the winner will receive a season ticket to the basketball games. The boys basketball team is called the Bulldogs but the girls played through the season last year without a name.

Hedley School In Third Week

The Hedley schools started their 1955-56 term on August 23 with a good enrollment and J. S. Hinds began his 4th term as superintendent. The faculty is complete and unusually "strong."

All are degree teachers and four hold master degrees. Returning teachers are Mrs. Clyde Gilbreath, first grade; Miss Myrtle Hall, second; Mrs. J. S. Hinds, third; Miss Elvaree Moore, fourth and fifth; Mr. J. E. Leathers, seventh; Mr. J. M. Baker, eighth and grade school principal; Mr. Doyle Messer, Agriculture; Mrs. Ben Wilson, Homemaking; Mr. H. E. Martin, coach and history; Mrs. Thelma Shields, music; new teachers are: Mr. Henry Cunningham, sixth and commercial work; Mrs. Ed Hillhouse, English and Mr. Hall, Counselor.

All Jr. high and high school classes organized last week and elected room mothers. This week several initiatives are to take place. Ball clubs are working with coach Martin on their favorite sport "basketball."

A number of improvements were made on the buildings during the summer. Some new furniture and new teaching aids were added. All floors were refinished and modern lighting is being installed in the grade school.

A much modernized and improved kitchen makes the cafeteria, which serves over 100 pupils a day, more efficient. Mrs. John Wynn and Mrs. Sam Sanders are again in charge of the school lunch-room.

Several of the Hedley high school graduates will be enrolled in Clarendon Junior College this year: They are V. C. Waddell, Don Reeves, Don Springer, Jane Mosley, Leon Beavers and Ray D. Brown.—Hedley reporter.

—Hedley reporter

Gene Evans of Dallas visited the week end with his parents.

The Patching Club Board approved the sponsorship of street paving in Clarendon at their regular meeting Monday afternoon. The women of Clarendon Clubs will solicit and collect for paving to be done. Paving will only be done where the money is paid in advance.

The paving as approved by the City Council will be constructed by Bradley & Luce, Contractors. This paving will consist of a shaped and compacted gravel base covered with a prime coat and a double asphalt surface at a cost of ninety cents (90c) per linear foot for each property owner. In the process of shaping the strip for paving, ditches will be shaped to carry off water. If the property owner desires, these ditches will be covered with asphalt in the same manner as the street at an additional cost of fifty-five cents (55c) per square yard. This cost of covering the ditch will depend on the distance from the edge of the center paving to the property curb. By covering the remaining area from the center paving, the property owner will have a place for the water to run off with a minimum of erosion and a place for parking cars in addition to easier access to existing driveways. All alleys and intersections will be paid for by the City. As an example of paving cost for a seventy-five (75) foot lot, the thirty foot paving will cost $67.50; if the curb is in its correct place, it will cost an additional $41.25 to cover the remaining nine feet from the edge of the center paving to the curb (the cost of the curbing is not included in these figures).

Surface preparation will conform to Texas Highway Dept. specifications Item 300 and 305, prime coat will be MC-1, asphalt will be OA-175, aggregate will be Type A, Grade 3 and 7. Conformity to these specifications will be assured by inspection during construction and on completion before acceptance by the City by C. B. Hudson.

When the representatives of the women's clubs contact you they will ask for a check for the thirty foot strip to be made payable to the City of Clarendon and give you a receipt for the same. If the ditch is to be covered, an additional check must be made payable to the Patching Club Board and a receipt received for it. These checks will be cashed and put in their respective funds to pay for the street as it is finished and accepted by Mr. Hudson. As soon as five blocks of paving is paid for, construction will begin.

If you should like to help the collectors work your block or if you should like to volunteer to pay for your paving before a collector reaches you, please contact Mrs. Lloyd Benson or Mrs. Frank Phelan, Jr.

It will be the goal of these club women to get as much paving as possible signed up and paid for so that it may be completed before cold weather stops all construction for the winter.

Missionaries To Speak Next Week

The First Baptist Church of Clarendon announced that they would have special Missionary speakers for the week of Sept. 11, Monday through Friday. This program, according to their pastor, Bro. Van, will include slide pictures, motion pictures, special studies, and messages each evening by the visiting speakers. He said there was a great treat in store for those who will attend these meetings starting each evening at 7:30. Bro. Van says that this program will be of interest to all people of this community, and that the church extends the public a special invitation.

GABIE BETTS BURTON LIBRARY NOTES

By May L. Prewitt

Our light romances received this week are from the bargain shelf. They are "Dark Carnival" by Maysie Greig, and "Shadow Marriage" by Kathleen Norris. We have a fairly recent western by Les Savage Jr. It is "Outlaw Thicket." In just a brief time after the $2.50 editions are published we can get the paper back editions for twenty-five cents, so we seldom purchase the hard back copies.

A boy friend gave to their section of the Library a copy of "Gene Autry and the Golden Stallion" by Cole Fannin.

For the Junior section of interest to both boys and girls, is "Santiago" by Ann Nolan Clark. It is a beautiful story of the life of a little Indian boy of Gaute-mala. This is one of several books dedicated to the memory of Royce Morris by Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Morris. Most of the books were replacements of those too badly worn to use after the summer readers had used them. Unless you should be here daily, you can not realize the "popularity" of this Library during the summer. Then all the schools are closed and Hedley, Groom and Claude patronize us some.

Then there is the guy who gave his girl friend some tooth paste, but her tooth fell out anyway.

Nancy Hanks was the mother of Abe Lincoln.

MYSTERY FARM NO. 18

This farm home was identified by sixteen persons last week as the J. N. Riley farm located 3 1/2 miles northeast of Clarendon. Mr. Riley came in Thursday morning to make positive identification and receive his free picture.

Mr. Riley purchased this 160 acre farm in 1917 from Mr.

Jenkins and moved on the place in 1918. The entire place is in cultivation and the principal crops are cotton and grain sorghums with the latter being Mr. Riley's favorite crop.

Mr. and Mrs. Riley both came to Donley County in 1907. They were married here in 1908. They are members of the Baptist

PHARMACEUTICAL MANPOWER

A University of Texas survey reveals the State's Rio Grande Valley has the most drug stores in proportion to population and the Panhandle has the fewest.

More than 50 per cent of Texas drug stores employ one pharmacist, a third of the stores employ two and only 4 per cent of the establishments employ more than three, the survey shows. Almost half of Texas pharmacists own no part of the store in which they work, the investigation also indicates.

The University's College of Pharmacy and Pharmaceutical Foundation made the survey as part of a continuing study of Texas pharmaceutical manpower.

Richardson - White Vows Exchanged In Candlelight Service

In a ceremony read recently in the Joseph A. Hill Chapel, Canyon, Texas, wedding vows were exchanged by Miss Lu Ellen Richardson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Richardson of Canyon, and Boyd White, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. White of Wichita Falls, Texas.

J. E. Stepp of the Church of Christ, Lelia Lake, Texas, officiated.

The double-ring vows were exchanged before a candlelighted altar decorated with baskets of white gladioli and blue carnations and banked with greenery. Candles were lighted by Judy Hansard of California and Billy Johnston of Borger.

Miss Janiece Christal, pianist, played a nuptial prelude and accompanied Mrs. Millard Word, Jr. as she sang "Because" and "Wedding Prayer." The traditional wedding marches were used.

Guests entering the chapel were registered by Miss Thomas and Londez Manzel.

Bette Johnston, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Winnie V. White, sister of the bridegroom, and Alice Simms. The maid of honor wore a rich aqua creation while the bridesmaids wore pink. The dresses were identically styled with the long torso bodices fitted, and the skirts full.

Preceding the bride as flower girl and wearing blue lace was Pamela Richardson, sister of the bride. Larry Mooring, nephew of the bridegroom was ring bearer.

Billy White, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Wilcey White of Amarillo and Thurman Richardson of Panhandle were groomsmen. Ushers were Bonnie Mooring, Amarillo, and J. P. Johnston, Borger.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was lovely in a white, princess style dress fashioned with a sheer, crystalline skirt and high lace bodice. Her veil of white tulle was studded with rhinestones. Carrying out the tradition of something old, the bride wore a heirloom ring belonging to her maternal grandmother. Her bridal bouquet was a cascade of white stephanotis centered with white carnations.

Mrs. Richardson, mother of the bride, wore a charcoal gray dress accented with deep aqua accessories and an aqua corsage. For her attire, the mother of the bridegroom, Mrs. White, chose a blue linen dress with navy accessories and a light blue corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony, the couple was honored at a reception in the home of the bride's parents. The refreshment table was laid with a lace cloth and centered with a blue and pink floral arrangement flanked by tapers. Mrs. Lou Ella Myers of Quail served the wedding cake and Mrs. Grace Stambaugh of Chester, Okla. dispensed punch.

For the wedding trip, the bride chose a pale blue, fitted suit with navy and pale blue accessories. Her corsage was taken from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. White is a May graduate of Clarendon High School and has recently completed a semester at West Texas State. The bridegroom is a 1955 graduate of Lelia Lake High School. The couple will make their home in Clarendon where they will attend Clarendon Junior College.

BOOK CLUB

The first meeting of the season for the 1926 Book Club was held at Patching Club House Tuesday afternoon. After delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. R. C. Bryan and Mrs. Alvin Landers, the club president, Mrs. Ralph Porter, conducted a short business meeting.

Mrs. Clyde Hudson presided as commentator for a very novel program, "Fashions Through the Years." First, she gave a fascinating review of Edna Chase's book, "Always in Vogue."

The second part of the program was a style review. Mrs. Hudson introduced members of the club who modeled costumes of the past and present. Little Becky and Betty Hudson wore tiny tutu frocks that Mrs. Clyde Hudson wore as a little girl.

Another quaint costume was one worn by Mrs. Frank Phelan, Sr. Her dress and bonnet were considered stylish by the women of the hill country of North Carolina. Mrs. Phelan carried a snuff box and snuff stick, but she refrained from using them!

The formal black wedding suit that had been worn by the grandfather of the Porter children was on display.

Wedding gowns of the past looked lovely on the ladies who modeled them. Mrs. Charles Lowry displayed her blue beaded crepe de Chine dress, and Mrs. Charlie Bairfield exhibited her tan satin gown and matching hat. A guest, Patty Molesworth Craft, was gowned in a gorgeous formal wedding dress and veil. The material for the white gown was purchased in India in 1878. The hand-woven veil was made of Spanish lace. The first bride to wear this elaborate gown and veil was Patty's grandmother, Mrs. Mudge, in 1896. The bridal costume was worn again in 1927 by Patty's mother, Mrs. Molesworth, and Patty wore it at her own wedding here a few years ago.

The members who were present were Mesdames Porter, Bryan, White, Phelan, Thornberry, Ray

Parent - Teacher Talk

The Executive Board of the Sims P.T.A. met Sept. 1, at 1:15 P. M. in the school cafeteria. Mrs. T. M. Caldwell, Jr., president, presided.

Mrs. Caldwell presented each officer with her new material for the year and discussed the duties of each.

Mrs. M. G. Helton, Treasurer, reported that she had given each teacher a check for $10.00. This was a gift of the P.T.A. and is to be used by each teacher to purchase any supplies her room may need.

It was decided that this year there will be only one Treat Day for each room. In the past the money made from selling the treats has been divided between the room and the P.T.A., but this year each room will keep all the money it makes. Help your child's room by sending treats on the day your child's room is scheduled. As usual, each mother will be notified a few days in advance by a note from the teacher.

There's good news this year for mothers with pre-school children as the baby-sitting problem has been solved. The P.T.A. is providing a nursery for pre-school children for both the afternoon and night meetings. The nursery will be in the basement of the Methodist Church and will be handled by efficient baby-sitters. This is a wonderful, free, service to all mothers with small children. Let's all benefit from this service by attending P.T.A. regularly.

Fathers are going to be in the spot-light this year. Each time a father attends a P.T.A. meeting he will be counted as two members. We would all like to see more men at the meetings. Fathers are parents, too, and could mean a lot to a bigger and better P. T. A.

Plans were completed for the first regular P.T.A. meeting, which will be held at 3:00 P. M. on Thursday, Sept. 15 in the High Auditorium. After a short business session there will be speeches from Mr. Cain, our new principal, and Mr. Pinkerton, the new superintendent. Then the parents and teachers will go to their respective children's room where there will be membership registration. After registration, there will be time to visit with the teachers and to become better acquainted with each other. By having this close contact between the parents and teachers there will be better understanding of the problems of each. This will be a great help in giving our children the well-rounded education they deserve. Come to the meeting and get to know your child's teacher. She's anxious to meet you!

Remember the date, Sept. 15, and come to P.T.A. See you there. Reporter.

Farm Bureau Dist. 1 Policy Formulating Meeting

Only one of the sixteen counties in District one was not represented, in the annual district meeting. A number of counties being represented by as many as four representatives, including Donley County. It was not exactly a policy making meeting, but was held for the purpose of creating interest in the various counties, to discuss the issues already at hand; and to formulate new resolutions on the county level to be considered for adoption, at the state convention this fall.

"If you have any suggestions, as to changes in our agricultural program, or in Farm Bureau Structure, or in what Farm Bureau can do to help you or Donley County, now is the time to come forward with it," stated Lee Shaller, Secretary. "Let's air it out. If the majority approves, it will be given its place in our resolutions. Farm Bureau urges the support of all ranchers and farmers and others interested in any phase of an agricultural program; regardless of whether or not you are a Farm Bureau member; but we do solicit your membership." Mr. Shaller concluded.

SEASON FOR FAIRS AT HAND IN TEXAS

In many a city and town of Texas today, community leaders are making plans for an important annual event which many folks have been eagerly looking forward to all year. During the next several months it will be fair-time throughout Texas—with county and regional fairs and festivals taking place in every section of the state, the culminating event being the State Fair of Texas in Dallas, October 7-23.

Texas possibly has a bigger percentage of large, widely patronized fairs than any other state. Several of Texas' big regional fairs attract more visitors and have more impressive fairgrounds than state fairs in some other sections of the nation.

The State Fair of Texas is, of course, the largest annual fair in the United States in terms of attendance, with over 24 million visitors from all parts of America, and a magnificent fairgrounds with facilities valued at $35 million.

As with most fairs the country over, Texas events carry a heavy emphasis on livestock and agriculture. Entertainment naturally covers a wide variety from carnival sideshows, rodeos, folk festivals to the Broadway musical comedy "Pajama Game" which will be presented at the State Fair. Competition in making jams and jellies, succulent cakes and pies and other examples of traditional homemaking skills still occupies a big place in the program of most Texas fairs.

Fairs in Texas date back over 100 years. The first fair to be held in the state may well have been one in Corpus Christi in 1852, which featured bull-fights, a circus, cockfights and fireworks. During the same decade Dallas County became the first county in the state to organize a fair. The State Fair was founded in 1886.

A good fair regardless of size can be a valuable asset to its community, in the opinion of James H. Stewart, general manager of the State Fair and vice president of the International Association of Fairs and Expositions.

"In addition to providing wholesome and worthwhile recreation and relaxation, fairs serve to stimulate pride in the achievements of the individual, his group and his region," Mr. Stewart said. "They are a stimulus to trade and a unifying medium."

The various fairs, festivals and livestock shows in Texas have one important thing in common—they are all working to improve our agriculture and livestock industry, to better living conditions generally and to build up our state.

Texas cities which will hold fairs, festivals or similar events during August, September and October—the traditional fair season in Texas—include the following:

Ablene, Alice, Amarillo, Angleton, Baytown, Beaumont, Big Spring, Blanco, Boerne, Bowie, Brenham, Carthage, Center, Centerville, Cleburne, Coldspring, Corsicana, Crockett, Dalhart, Dallas, Denton, Dublin, Edna, Emory, Fairfield, Floresville, Floydada, Fredericksburg, Gainesville, George West, Georgetown, Gilmer, Goliad, Gorman, Haskell, Hempstead, Henderson, Huntsville, Iowa Park, Johnson City, Junction, Kaufman.

Advantages of Texas' Sweet Potato Law

John C. White, Commissioner Texas Department of Agriculture

Administration of a new law designed to give the Texas sweet potato industry a boost is now in full sway.

The law, which became effective Sept. 1, requires that all commercial lots of sweet potatoes moving into, within, or out of Texas be graded and certified by the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Some 60 TDA inspectors are available for the job of seeing that grading specifications are being met by marketers in the various growing regions where new crop potatoes are appearing.

Potatoes are divided into three classifications—No. 1's, No. 2's and Unclassified. Classification depends on size, weight, shape and defects.

For instance, No. 1 potatoes must be no more than 3 to 10 inches long, no more than 3 3/4 inches in diameter, weigh no more than 20 ounces and have not more than 5 per cent serious damage. Soft rot damage in any single lot must not exceed two per cent.

Texas specifications are uniform with those of all states who have adopted the U.S. grading standards.

The new law will not directly affect most farmers, since packers, processors and marketers assume responsibility for grading and packaging. Only if the farmer markets his crop through a retailer, directly, in commercial lots of 25 or more bushels is he required grading and certification.

Although sweet potatoes are grown over many areas of the state, most of Texas' commercial crop comes from two separate areas in extreme East Texas and on the lower plains.

After harvesting, most crops are sold to commercial packers who clean and process them for packing in 50 lb. crates, sacks or baskets. No sweet potatoes are allowed on the market until grading has met with state inspection standards and containers have been sealed with the Texas Department of Agriculture certificate.

By the same token, all potatoes moving into Texas must be graded according to TDA specifications. All offenses are punishable by fine, imprisonment, or both.

The over-all effect of the program will be to increase and insure markets for producers and to assure consumers of the quality they are seeking.

We hope, by establishing these standards of excellence in Texas, to bring Texas nearer the top in production and marketing of this stable commodity.

The first residents of The White House were President and Mrs. John Adams in Nov., 1800.

THE LION'S TALE

By Carl Allmond

A big crowd Tuesday; we were getting the guests lined up, and almost didn't find a seat. If everyone would show up every Tuesday, it would be a big help to the cooks. It is difficult to estimate how much food to prepare, unless we are consistent in our attendance. Let's get going and keep coming.

Flip Breedlove reminded the Club that Sept. 16th & 17th will be Donley County Fair days in Clarendon. This will be the first year for the Fair to be held in the new building at the rodeo grounds. There will be plenty of room for merchant displays, as well as for farm products. Lion Drennan announced that he is chairman of the merchant booths, and for choice locations he should be contacted at once.

Boss Lion Lowe announced that the club would have a Watermelon Feast next Tuesday evening at 7:30 in the City Park. This affair will be family night.

Bill warned each member to bring the family—that is bring the kids or suffer the consequences. This feast of watermelon will be to honor the teachers of our school system.

Sec'y. Messer read the minutes of the last directors meeting.

Activities discussed and approved by the directors, and presented to the club for our approval were: 1. To sponsor a Variety Show in '56, date to be announced later. 2. The Club will support the girls' basketball team at the rate of $5.00 per week.

Boss Lion Lowe introduced George Caddel of Amarillo as the speaker. Mr. Caddel represents the Dale Carnegie course, and presented his proposition to the Club for consideration.

In another section of this paper you will find an article concerning the possibility of getting our streets paved. This is an indication of improvement. With a good Junior College, a hospital better than average, and a hundred or so blocks of paved streets, Clarendon would be showing signs of progress. With the completion of these projects we would be willing to get out on the highway and flag down a bunch of tourists and ask them to stop and see our town. Speaking of stopping in Clarendon, do you ever drive by our hotels and motels, and notice how many people spend the night? We do. For its size, we venture to say there is no town in America which has better accommodations for spending the night as has Clarendon. Why not, this is the first town this side of the east coast, or the Gulf of Mexico in which you can get a good breath of real air, without some contraption for putting in or taking out moisture.

Guests for Tuesday were: District Judge Luther Gribble, and James Richardson, Wellington; S. B. Ball, Amarillo; Deputy Sheriff Raymond King, Hedley; District Attorney Allen Harp, Childress; Clark E. Rice, Abilene; Jared Cartledge, Round Rock; Joe Estlack, Austin; Frank White III, Allen Homer Estlack and Rev. Brimberry, Clarendon.

PLOWIN' Out the CORNERS

One of my friends tells me that the following is his philosophy: "That he had rather keep quiet and have folks think that he was dumb, than to speak up and have folks know that it is so." You know, the more I think about it the more I'm convinced that; it could be.

For the last several years we have argued that a law should be passed forcing beer and whiskey advertisers to tell the truth about their product. Say for instance that they should use such statements as: "One sip of our slop will make you drop dead sooner than anyone else's." "Our Brew will make you 10 times drunker and sillier than the next 12 leading brands." "Take three drinks of our dreggs and you can drop a pedestrian at forty per." And so on and on they could go. Anyway, without any law we notice that one company advertising their Texas made beer say that it has "That downright Frisky flavor." Don't that beat all? It just makes one mad sometimes.

Although we, for various reasons are leaving out the names, we do have it on sound authority that the following really happened. That last week a certain lady mistook one of our citizens for the county agent. She asked him what to do to get rid of cucumber bugs. This certain fellow told her to go home and get her two bricks, then get the bug on one of the bricks and let him have it with the other. Upon arriving home she made the following observation to her husband:

"You know, I wouldn't want to start a rumor but our county agent is acting mighty queer lately." It will work though!

Several of our readers make a habit of writing to those we mention who are shut-in either permanently or otherwise. One of our readers writes us that a friend of hers recently fell some 22 feet while working on a gin and that he will be laid up for a long time and would enjoy some letters. He is about 50 years young and has a wife and four children. She suggested that we each write him a card or letter. His address is Doyle Fowler, Maple, Texas. Hurry up Doyle and get well and it would help this fellow that is all broke up including his back just to hear from folks.

We heard the following on a certain lady who is very dear to us and we wouldn't for the world tell her name. It seemed that her teen-age son was having a whirl with a girl and it looked serious as everything but this mother couldn't find out a thing for certain. For days as she dusted his dressing table she would see an envelope with the girl's return address on it. Finally, she decided to take a little peek; just to satisfy her gnawing curiosity. The note inside began;

Dear Mom, Up until now I have trusted you completely. But I guess that I was wrong. I had always supposed you to be a person who would mind her own business and not go snooping in the affairs of, etc. There was more but she could read no further. She guiltily put the note back inside. To this day she has never told the boy. I don't know whether to laugh or cry at her predicament.

We also heard the following; Three little rascals were sipping soda at the corner drug store. There was only one seat vacant in the place and it was at their table. In came a very fancy dressed lady that appeared to have just dropped out of a band box. Being no other place she sat down with the boys. Upon which they set out to move her. Said one, "I'll bet I smell awful, I ain't

DONLEY COUNTY SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Some of the farmers of the Donley Soil Conservation District may want to observe Guar growing, or talk to someone who is growing it. Of course the soil improvement derived from growing this soil building crop will not be apparent until the next few years crops are harvested. However for those who are interested in trying a crop for soil improvement, following are some of the farmers who planted Guar this year.

Hall Hardin planted Guar on several of the places he farms, and has irrigated some of it. He intends to harvest the seed this year and follow the Guar with cotton next year.

mately 8 acres of Guar that can be seen from highway 70 on the east side.

J. N. Weaver planted Guar in a field infested with Johnson-grass. Reports that it has made good growth.

Cap Morris, Edwin Eanes, William H. Clay and W. D. Altman planted Guar as a soil improving crop. Altman said that the 25 acres of Guar he planted got up to 2 to 4 feet high before he turned it under the middle of August as a green manure crop. Altman plans to plant this area to cotton next year and see what kind of yields he will get.

Anyone interested in more information on soil improving crops or other phases of soil conservation may receive assistance at the Soil Conservation Service office in Clarendon, which, along with the other agricultural agencies is assisting the Donley District get soil conservation on the ground.

Now & Tomorrow With The Atom

By BILL JURY
General Electric News Bureau
Hanford Atomic Plant

(The following is the last of a series of seven articles disclosing the highlights and sidelights which have accompanied the nation's development of atomic energy. Prepared at the Hanford atomic energy plant, the series deals with the human things which followed in the wake of the first historic announcement that man had harnessed the atom. It touches upon the things which lie ahead.)

Industry has come a long way down the strange, fantastic new highway of the Atomic Age; down a route to which there may be no end; to the creation of a standard of living beyond comprehension in today's world.

On a national scale, the atomic energy industry has done a lot of maturing since its beginning during World War II. It has settled down from a "crash" project—full of unknowns, slated to last no longer than the war which gave birth to it—to a business, based on well-understood principles, operating on clearly defined long-range plans. The atomic energy plant at Hanford, Washington is a good illustration of the change.

Built in a life-and-death race with time, the first atomic reactors and separations plants at Hanford, though primitive by today's standards, have since been called an engineering marvel.

Much of the research and development work behind improvements revealed by the Atomic Energy Commission's semi-annual reports to Congress was performed in laboratories located at Hanford. The lab work still is in progress—aimed at finding further improvements.

Eventually, the production of electric power will be the economic basis of a strong privately owned and operated atomic industry, some experts believe. And it is expected that the rapidly growing atomic energy industry will grow still larger as private industry moves into it.

The atomic energy program now includes around $5 billion worth of plant facilities and will, within a few years, represent an investment of more than $8 billion. Hanford, the plutonium-producing plant operated by General Electric company for the Atomic Energy Commission, already has become a billion-dollar plant.

The atomic industry has been described as one of high investment per employee and low investment turnover. Its similarity in financial characteristics to the utility industry makes it necessary that it have a steady, predictable market for what it produces if it is to be run successfully.

fully by private companies.

Electric power is held as the only answer, for the weapons market is subject to too much fluctuation.

Because the nation is using electricity in ever-increasing quantities (the demand doubles about every 10 or 15 years), atomic power not only is regarded as the answer to the growth of a healthy, privately owned atomic industry, but as a welcome addition to the conventional sources of power.

From the point of view of world supply of energy, the utilization of atomic energy is becoming a "must."

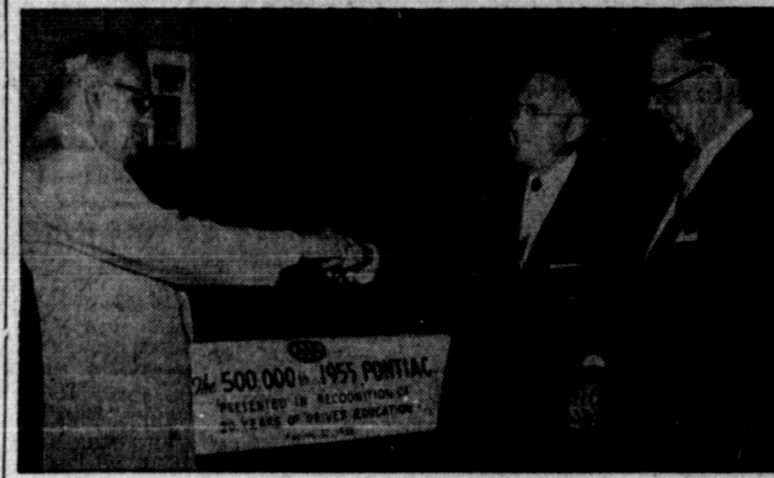

GE's top atomic official has predicted that privately financed atomic power plants will compete successfully with conventional power plants in five to 10 years.

Francis K. McCune, general manager of the GE Atomic Products Division, recently forecast that electric utility companies will be owning and operating a number of atomic power plants within the next 10 years. He said he believed some of these will be fullscale, and, what is more important, they will generate electricity at competitive cost.

"We believe that this will be accomplished without government subsidy for production plant construction or operation, and with government-supplied fuel priced at cost-of-production levels," McCune declared.

The time has arrived, he added, when we can look toward definite goals in the area of commercial atomic power—goals that can and will be achieved, and that almost inevitably will lead to expansion into a power age of great proportions with resultant benefits in human well-being.

WASHINGTON, D.C.—R. M. Critchfield, (2nd from right) Vice President of General Motors and General Manager of Pontiac, presents the keys of a Pontiac Station Wagon to Andrew J. Sordani, President of the Automobile Association of America. The car, the 500,000th 1955 Pontiac to be produced is for the use of Amos E. Neyhart, (right) "father" of student driver education. The presentation was made in recognition of 20 years of high school driver education, pioneered by Pontiac and the AAA.

A Year of Crop Surpluses

John White, Commissioner
Texas Dept. of Agriculture

Prospects for the fall of 1955 foretell another bumper farm crop year despite the ravages of drought in mid-western states.

That is the prediction of the National Agricultural Research bureau in Washington. Not only will it be a "bumper" year, but perhaps the biggest production year of all time, if the experts are correct.

It is a paradox that increased production in 1955 will spell trouble ahead for Texas and the nation's farmers in the form of prices, mounting surpluses and critical storage problems. And no relief from the farm cost-income pinch is in sight. As a result, the "farm problem" is certain to become more and more of an issue in 1956 politics.

Washington apparently is uncertain as to what—if anything—to do next. It is not likely that Congress will act to ease the price squeeze before adjournment around the first of August.

Farm officials in Washington show no sign of easing their determination to block a return to 90 per cent mandatory supports for basic crops. Large supplies of most farm products now indicate supports will be lowered to the 75 per cent of parity minimum for basics—cotton and tobacco excepted—next January. Wheat already has been announced at 76 per cent.

Crop reports indicate SURPLUSES—in capital letters. Storage space, especially for feed grains, is at a premium. The Commodity Credit Corporation announced this month plans to build up to 100 million bushels of new space. Need for storage will be even greater than that if crop prospects hold up. And the farmer must have his goods stored to get supports.

Nation-wide it looks like record production on barley, soybeans, grain sorghums, hay—and near record for corn, oats and dry beans. Compared with last year, production may fall on wheat, cotton, rice, sugar, tobacco, apples and peaches.

Trouble looms for potato growers. Irish potato production is forecast at 44.3 million bushels over last year and the sweet potato crop looks 15 per cent larger. There is new talk about a demand for potato price support program—an unpopular notion with those who remember the disastrous program of the 1940's.

THE PANHANDLE LOOKS GOOD

The Texas Panhandle has always been a sort of garden spot when we had a little rain. That is exactly what it looks like today in the several sections which I have had the good fortune to visit. The time element enters into the picture and prevents me from getting every place as quickly as I would like, but we have seen quite a bit of it and hope to get over the rest of it before long. Irrigation is cropping up all over the Panhandle and it can certainly change the picture. I was down in Hall county the other day and things looked mighty good, both the irrigated land and the dry land. Wheeler County is another place I had a chance to visit and it looks equally good. However, we do need a good rain, and I have filed application for a four-inch "soaker", to be delivered over a period of about ten days. If this application is approved, we will hope that there will be no red tape in the delivery of the rain.

I have talked to people from every section of the Panhandle and get good reports on the prospects from all quarters. Of course, there are some exceptions but we hope these will straighten out in the next 30 to 60 days. It is too bad that the heavy rains that occurred in the eastern part of our country could not have been divided up over the whole country. Instead of billions of dollars worth of damage, there would have been billions of dollars worth of benefits. Worrying about getting some rain may not be as bad as getting too much, like those poor folks did. One of my friends here said that if those rains had come out here during the drouth, the land would have soaked up the water so fast that it would have seemed like a mere sprinkle.

fine. There are some vacancies in some of the cities that are dependent primarily upon agriculture. We hope that this situation will be changed so that these cities can continue to prosper as they have in the past. Many of the larger towns seem to be growing by leaps and bounds. We have plenty of room for industry in this section of the country and hope that we can make it inviting to them.

It does you good to see the country expanding like this—Panhandle section. Nothing is better medicine against communism than an expanding economy of a free people. We concern ourselves with many worries, but everything is going to work out fine and I think the picture will grow better as we move along.

BACK TO WASHINGTON FOR COMMITTEE WORK

We will be on our way back to Washington when you get this letter. We have to get the children back in school and also have to get set for the committee work that has to be done this fall preparatory to the next session of Congress. One of the committees on which I serve is the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee, which has jurisdiction over transportation in this country. The President has appointed a committee of Cabinet level to make a report on the transportation situation. The committee on which I serve will work in cooperation with that Cabinet committee in trying to work out the many difficulties that will plague the transportation industry in our country. This will require extensive hearings for which there is not sufficient time during a session of Congress. There is also a problem incidental to this concerned with air transportation, which is also within the jurisdiction of this particular committee. The requirements for information concerning these problems are great and we must get it together so that proper legislation can be enacted to insure a continued expansion of our economy under the free enterprise system. As soon as possible after these investigations are concluded, I will, of course, be back in the district and can be reached at 4-5631 in Pampa, Texas.

The children certainly had a wonderful time and are headed back for Washington most reluctantly. Their many good friends were very kind to them and they are deeply appreciative. Mrs. Rogers and I are most humble in our deep appreciation for the many courtesies extended, and we hope that the opportunity will occur at an early date for us to reciprocate.

HEALTH NOTES

Texas State Dept. of Health

AUSTIN—The questions "when do we eat," and "where shall we eat," are asked thousands of times a day by workers, shoppers and those eating out for pleasure. The answer may be based on many factors but cleanliness should be high on the list, according to Dr. Henry A. Holle, Commissioner of Health.

While there may be exceptions, an eating place that presents a neat and clean appearance to the patron is usually similarly maintained throughout. On the other hand, you can be sure that where the exterior, dining area or counter are slovenly the kitchen is no better.

Appearances are usually a reflection of the operator's personal attitude. Carelessness in personal neatness and hygiene, and in the cleanliness of the establishment is invariably accompanied by careless and insanitary handling of the food served.

Everyone should know the important sanitary hazards to look for and avoid. We might well ask ourselves the following questions: Do the serving personnel have clean hands, clean washable clothing? Are they free of bandaged fingers, coughs, and colds? Is all perishable food kept really hot or well refrigerated? Are flies absent? Is food kept covered? Are the dishes and glasses clean to sight and touch? If all of these questions can be answered "Yes!", the chance of food poisoning or intestinal upset is quite remote.

Food may be infected with germs causing food poisoning or diarrhea if food handlers fail to wash hands after using the toilet, have infected cuts, burns or pimples, or cough or sneeze over the food. If the infected food is not refrigerated adequately and promptly, bacteria may multiply to numbers causing illness. Heat will kill bacteria but may not destroy poisons produced by certain bacteria. All of a food in a container should be kept hot or cold and not just a portion at the bottom or sides of the container.

Dr. Holle says that whenever eating out you can help health officials by being "choosy where you eat." Most eating place operators appreciate that "cleanliness is good business," but there are always some places where improvements are needed. You can all help convince these behind-the-scenes people more rapidly if we patronize only clean eating places!

Yours Sincerely

AUSTIN—Main impact of the 54th Legislature will be felt next week when most of the bills it passed will become state law.

Taking effect Sept. 6 will be laws designed to eliminate insurance abuses, overhaul the scandal-racked veterans land program and restrict some labor union activities.

Tax increases are most likely to be noticed first. To augment state revenue by $50 million per year, new levies were placed on beer, cigarettes, gasoline and corporate franchises.

Ultimate payment will fall to the consumer.

Nine major insurance bills are aimed at strengthening the industry and providing better protection for the buying public. Capitalization and surplus requirements will be raised, and sale of insurance securities and stock regulated.

Individual insurance commissioners will be empowered to act together as a board. Insurance counselors will be licensed, and agents will have to pass an examination.

Veterans land program legislation will tighten regulations and impose more stringent controls on both buyers and sellers. Both are made liable to jail terms up to 10 years and fines up to $10,000 for fraud or misrepresentation.

Major labor legislation includes the "Port Arthur bill." It will enable employers to enjoin strikes by a union which cannot show it represents a majority of workers. Already effective is the "Ford Motor bill" denying unemployment payments to union workers by a strike in another plant of their company.

Other new laws will provide $7 million more for public assistance and bring 30,000 more state employees and college professors under federal Social Security. Corruptive comic books will be banned, and incorporation requirements will be broadened to include "any lawful purpose."

Politics Is Budding

Texas' governorship campaign seems to be shaping up, considerably ahead of schedule.

Former Supreme Court Justice and University of Texas Chancellor James P. Hart addressed an East Texas meeting at Henderson, sponsored by the liberal Democrats. Liberals have been courting his entry in the race, and he is "thinking about it."

There were those who said he "sounded like a candidate" in his talk on "ideas and ideals."

Former Speaker Reuben Senterfitt of San Saba, only announced candidate for governor, has held a meeting of his statewide campaign steering committee in Austin. He said he will name county and precinct campaign chairmen by January.

State Senator Jimmy Phillips of Angelton is an intended candidate. He was present in Henderson when Hart spoke. A statewide rally in Galveston on Sept. 1st was planned by his friends as the send-off for his campaign.

Mrs. Wayne W. Wagoner of Bowie, widow of the senator killed in a car accident two weeks ago, also has been mentioned as a possible candidate. She was the only other speaker at the Henderson rally which her husband was to have addressed. Hers was not a political speech.

Senator Price Daniel, currently abroad, is holding up disclosure of his decision whether to run for governor next year, two years before expiration of his first Senate term.

Governor Shivers hasn't announced his plans. "Anything can happen; at this time I am not a candidate for anything," he told newsmen.

district court. Judge Charlie N. Sullivan ruled invalid that part of the Gilmer-Aikin law which applies to segregation.

Notice of appeal was given at once by the attorney for the pro-segregation Texas Citizens Council who brought the suit. If the district court opinion is upheld, there apparently would be no need for an immediate special session of the legislature to revise school laws.

Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd has warned that school integration should not precede legislative action. He, like the Citizens Council, has insisted that the law
