WOOL MARKET IS ACTIVE HERE BUT OTHERS DECLINE

Local dealers report the sale of 50,000 pounds of wool early this week and a total of more than 200,000 pounds of government loan wool ready for appraisal.

Although the wool, sheep and cattle market was fairly strong this week, wheat, which only a few days ago was quoted at 70 cents per bushel, now is listed at 55 cents. Barley was 50 a short time ago and now is 25 cents. Oats have dropped from 25 to 15 cents per bushel.

C. C. Bledsoe this week sold 600 head of two-year old sheep to a Claremore, Oklahoma company for $2.50 per head. Tuesday he placed 600 head of sheep on the Ft. Worth market. Bledsoe has bought 110 head of two-year-old steers which he is feeding out.

S. S. Thomas, Central Texas Fur & Wool Co., recently sold 50,000 pounds of wool to A. W. Hillyard of Boston for 19 and 20 cents.

Sammy Lee of Henry Stallings Wool Co. sold 50,000 pounds of wool to a Boston firm. He has contracted approximately 18,000 pounds of wool for immediate shipment.

Three hundred sacks of wool were purchased by S. S. Thomas this week from Coleman county ranchers. Thomas has purchased 13,000 pounds of mohair at 23 and 28 cents and has approximately 25,000 pounds stored. The wool clip will be completed here in about a week or ten more days after six weeks of shearing. The wool this year was the best quality in many years, and the clip the largest.

Largest purchases made this week by Thomas were: E. W. Gill and Lee Guthrie of Brownwood 25,000 pounds, and Dick Alexander Brownwood 15,000 pounds.

Baptist Conferences

Rev. J. M. Bradford, pastor, and Rev. Herschel Weedon, of Cozgin Avenue Baptist church, attended a Baptist leaders' meeting at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth this week. Rev. Karl Moore, pastor of First Baptist church, attended an executive board meeting of Texas Baptists in Dallas as well as the Fort Worth meeting. A number of ministerial students of Howard Payne College also attended the Fort Worth meeting.

Truckers Meet

With the outline of a three-point program, a local Association of Licensed Carriers and Truckers was organized May 26. In charge of the meeting was Jack Pinkston of the Transportation Insurance Agency of Dallas.

The three purposes set before the membership are the establishing of closer cooperation between licensed carriers, the elimination of outlaw haulers and participation in coming elections. Another meeting of the Association will be held June 9 in Hotel Brownwood.

Knights of Pythias

More than 200 persons from towns throughout Central and West Texas attended the joint reception of Knights of Pythias and Pythian Sisters held in the Elks Hall Thursday night. The reception was in honor of Mrs. Jeanette Johnson Hensley of Santa Anna who was elected grand chief of Grand Temple of Pythian Sisters at a recent state convention held in Houston. Also honored at the reception were the charter members of the Pythian Sisters Temple of Brownwood.

DEPUTY STATE SCHOOL SUP'T FILES REPORT OF DISTRICT'S WORK

Deputy State Superintendent of Schools H. E. Robinson of Brownwood has recently submitted his annual report to the Austin office of the State Department of Education. He has charge of eight Central Texas counties consisting of Brown, Comanche, Eastland, Erath, Hamilton, Lampasas, Mills, and San Saba.

The district has 286 schools that employed 1,264 teachers for 34,402 pupils during the 1937-38 term. There are 29 standardized rural schools in the district, 17 of which have reached the standards during the past twelve months. Three of these standardized schools are in Brown county. They are Chapel Hill, Woodland Heights, and Glio. There are 48 fully accredited high schools in the district, 10 of which finished their accreditation during the past twelve months. Brown county has nine such schools. They are Bangs, Blanket, Brooksmith, Brownwood, Early, May, Williams, Zephyr, and Indian Creek.

The deputy state superintendent travelled 20,537 miles in the performance of his duties during the past school term. He attended 40 educational conferences and made 95 addresses in the various counties in the district.

There are 3,220 rural children who were transported to attend accredited high schools. Approximately $250,000 of Rural Aid Funds were allocated to the district to transport the children, pay their high school tuition, and to supplement teachers' salaries in the rural aid schools.

Mr. Robinson serves as the personal representative of State Superintendent L. A. Woods in the performance of his various supervisory and administrative duties. He has been in his present position since January 1, 1937.

Bus-Truck Crash In Erath County Kills Three, Injures 22

Three persons were killed and 22 injured, several seriously in a bus-truck collision on Highway 10 near Stephenville about 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon. At least two of the injured are expected to die, according to reports late Thursday. All are receiving treatment in a Stephenville hospital.

The dead are Herman Lemons of Junction, truck driver; "Windy" Matthews of San Antonio, bus driver and Frances Valdez, 12, passenger in the bus. A list of the injured passengers could not be readily obtained.

All of the injured were passengers in a specially chartered bus, en route from San Angelo to Oklahoma City, and were reported to be musicians and entertainers.

The accident occurred about nine miles East of Stephenville at a narrow bridge across Paluxy creek. According to reports, two cattle trucks were headed west, while the bus was driving east, as all approached the bridge. The leading truck stopped to permit the bus to cross the bridge first, and the second truck ran ahead and collided head-on with the bus. Both bus and truck burst into flames, and the drivers were taken from the wreckage burned to death.

Location of Garden of Eden

This is a controversial question. Some scripture students have suggested the island of Ceylon, others Arabia, and more recently the claim was made that Mesopotamia was the original site.

Atlanta Does It Again

Youthful Charley Yates, Atlanta's contribution to the Walker Cup team, smiles his satisfaction in this radiophoto from Troon, Scotland, as he holds the trophy emblem of the British Amateur golf title. Looking on is Cecil Ewing, Irish internationalist, whom he defeated 3 and 2 in the final round. Yates, who thus follows in the footsteps of another Atlanta-Bobby Jones—will compete with the Walker Cup squad against the British at St. Andrews.

DIST COURT FINDS 6 GUILTY AS CRIMINAL DOCKET IS REVIEWED

Dan Wriston, charged with drunken driving, was assessed a two years suspended sentence in 35th district court Monday.

Other cases tried and sentences given are as follows: Loya Brown, charged with removing mortgaged property from the county, two years in the penitentiary; J. W. Tate, theft and receiving stolen property, two years; Irwin McCormick, theft and receiving stolen property; and J. R. Faulk, forgery and passing, two years.

L. E. Conroe, who posed here a number of months ago as a "psychic-medium," was found guilty on a charge of theft by false pretext and sentenced to six years in the penitentiary Tuesday.

Demery Knox, tried in 35th district court here last year on a burglary charge and given five years suspended sentence, who later was convicted and given two years in the penitentiary on charge of wool theft at Comanche, has been returned to Brown county jail. The five-year suspended sentence will be put into operation. Knox was brought here from the Texas prison farm near Sugar Land by Sheriff Jack Hallmark and Deputy Howard Becker.

Frank Guthrie, charged with driving while drunk, has made $500 bond following examining trial in justice court.

H. C. Greener, Colorado, Texas, has been indicted on three counts and his wife, Lois Greener, has been indicted on two counts in connection with a shooting here April 6, in which Jack London, funeral home official, escaped injury.

The Greeners were indicted jointly on a charge of kidnaping for the purpose of extortion. They also were indicted jointly on a charge of threatening the life of a human being for the purpose of extorting money and assault to rob. In addition, Greener was indicted on a charge of assault with intent to murder.

Trial of the kidnaping for purpose of extortion case has been set in 35th district court for June 13 and special venire of 72 men has been ordered. Mrs. Greener is at liberty on $5,000 bond set in his case and has been in Brown county jail since his arrest.

Other indictments returned by the grand jury include: Lee Goss and Earl Hill, charged with theft of 11 chickens from Tom Hill April 15, perfected bonds; C. M. Hopkins charged with theft and receiving stolen property in connection with theft of an automobile from A. C. Sears April 5.

Eight Scouts of San Saba have completed the American Red Cross Life Saving Course in Risin's Pool during the past two weeks and passed the examinations. Insignia will be presented these boys by the Red Cross perhaps this week end. Scoutmaster Stuart Painter was instructor and examiner for the course.

NATIONAL GUARD HAS FIELD DAY SUNDAY; UNITS ARE REVIEWED

Eleven units of the Texas National Guard were reviewed in Coggin Park Sunday afternoon as the closing feature of a National Guard Field Day in which more than 400 members participated.

Reviewing staff members were Col. J. Watt Page, Fort Worth, commander of the 142nd Infantry; Major Karl E. Wallace, Fort Worth, First Battalion commander; Col. Carl H. Capton and Major Abbott, Fort Worth, regular army instructors; Col. Nat. S. Perrine, Austin; Major John Sentell, Snyder; Capt. Barton Clay, Breckenridge; Capt. Scales, Sweetwater; Capt. Locke, Canyon; Capt. Frank Hobbs, Abilene; Capt. Tim O. Cook, Snyder; Capt. Jack Stringfellow, Fort Worth; Capt. Haig Johnson, Fort Worth; Capt. Chas. H. Dobbs, Fort Worth; and Lieut. Gus J. Rosenberz, Brownwood, commander of Headquarters Company and battalion adjutant.

Among other officers in command of units were Capt. Lucian Rich, Stephenville; Capt. Elgean Sheld, Coleman; Capt. Sam Collier, Santa Anna; Capt. Murchison, Ballinger; Capt. Fletcher, Ranger; Capt. E. M. Davis, Brownwood; and Capt. Bland Harper, Brownwood.

Local arrangements were made by Liet. Rosenberg, Albert Hoffman, Tom Wilkinson, Captains Harper and Davis, other local National Guard officers and Chamber of Commerce officials.

Memorial Day

A Memorial Day Service was held Sunday afternoon in the park with National Guard units, VFW, American Legion and Spanish War Veterans organizations cooperating. Fred Donohoo, American Legion Post commander, presided. The Memorial Day address was delivered by Captain E. M. Davis.

Activities of the day were completed with a concert by the Old Gray Mare Band, official band of the 142nd Infantry. This was the first public appearance of the band since it was transferred back to Brownwood from Amarillo last March. W. R. Parker is director. The Field Day was held as training for Guardsmen who will attend the annual summer camp, which will be held on the regular army reservation at Leon Springs August 6-20. General maneuvers of the third army, including regular army troops, reserves and all National Guard companies in Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas, will be held during the camp. About 50,000 men will be assembled for the maneuvers, in the largest concentration of soldiers in Texas since the World War.

Harris Is Appointed Deputy in K-P Lodge

T. G. Harris of Brownwood was appointed deputy grand chancellor of Brownwood Lodge No. 99 Knights of Pythias, for the 1938-1939 term on May 27 with full authority to represent the Grand Chancellor in all promotion work of the lodge. B. H. Glover of Comanche was appointed district deputy at the Grand Lodge convention May 11th by Weylon C. Frasier, G. C. to serve the lodges in the 23rd district for the same term.

At the first meeting in June the local lodge will hold election of officers and it will be the duty of these deputies to install the officers for the new term which will begin July 1st.

SCS Places Fish in Brown County Tanks

The Brownwood Conservation group—members of Company 3818 Soil Conservation Camp supervised by M. W. Ledbetter—as an experiment, have placed three thousand Bass and Crappie in eight tanks and lakes belonging to various Co-operators of Soil Conservation Service in this area. The group plans to move twenty five thousand fish this summer. The fish are trapped in overflow channels outletting Lake Brownwood.

The Fish, Oyster and Game Commission is a co-worker with the group, they will work an area covering two hundred and twenty five square miles in the immediate vicinity of the City of Brownwood. The work is carried on during off days and late evenings after the regular day's work.

The group plans to expand in cooperation with the "Brown County Wildlife Conservation" and include sportsmen who are interested in life problems.

Unionist Faces Murder Charge

Arrested after he boasted to friends that he had killed William S. Brown, president of the Minneapolis General Drivers' Union, Arnold Johnson, top organizer for the same union, faces a charge of murder. Police said Johnson had signed a confession that he shot Brown to death as he sat in his car, because of disagreement over union funds. Brown's body is shown in the lower photo.

DANIEL BAKER GIVES DEGREES TO SENIOR CLASS ON MAY 30

Daniel Baker College awarded degrees to 31 graduating seniors at commencement exercises Monday morning in Coggin Memorial Chapel. Diplomats were awarded by Dr. R. Guy Davis, president of the college.

The Doctor of Laws degree was given to Rev. T. S. Knox, D. D., pastor of First Presbyterian church, Abilene, who delivered the commencement address. Doctor of Divinity degrees were given to Rev. James L. Glenn, Brownwood, who delivered the baccalaureate sermon Sunday, and to Rev. John Angus MacMillan, pastor of First Presbyterian church at Brady.

The baccalaureate service was held in First Presbyterian Church Sunday morning. Taking his text from Hebrews 2:15 and Hosea 6:3, Rev. Glenn told the graduates: "If your lives are to be worthwhile, we must establish a great objective and use a good program. Let us consider the tested and trustworthy program of Jesus Christ."

Miss Sue McClelland was valedictorian of the graduating class. Miss McClelland is the first granddaughter of the founder of the college, Dr. B. T. McClelland.

In his commencement address, Rev. Knox told the class that "Individualism has been the corner stone of our republic through its entire existence. In the last 25 years the rights and privileges of the masses has been stressed, instead of individualism. Individualism has been censured as a type of selfishness, but it is still a controlling force in men's lives."

Lions Meeting

Lions club members from Comanche, Hamilton, Stephenville and Brownwood will attend a zone meeting at Lake Brownwood Tuesday night, June 21, when the Brownwood club will be host.

Each visiting club will present a 15-minute program. A barbecue picnic will be served following the program.

Candidate Rally

A candidate rally and box supper will be held at Mukewar school Friday night, June 3. The public is invited.

Operations of FHA Mortgage System Told

Questions And Answers Explain Functions of Borrower, Lender, FHA

The following questions and answers explain how prospective home buyers and home builders may obtain loans under the Federal Housing Administration's Insured Mortgage System.

Q. Who may borrow under the Insured Mortgage System?

A. Any person has a credit standing satisfactory to the Administrator, so long as the property securing the loan meets certain neighborhood requirements and construction standards.

Q. What is the source of mortgage funds?

A. The 10,000 private lending agencies, such as commercial banks, building and loan associations, mortgage companies, life insurance companies, etc., which have been approved by the Federal Housing Administration as lenders.

Q. What is the function of the Federal Housing Administration?

A. The Federal Housing Administration insures advances of funds made by private lending agencies and enforces certain basic requirements in regard to the mortgage, the property and the borrower.

Q. What is the maximum loan obtainable?

A. $16,000.

Q. What down payment is required?

A. Amounts ranging from 10 per cent to 20 per cent of the appraised value depending upon the size of the mortgage loan.

Q. What down payment would be required for a house valued at $6,000; at $10,000; at $20,000?

A. $600; $1,400; $4,000.

Q. What form must the down payment take?

A. Cash or its equivalent.

Q. How is the loan repaid?

A. In equal monthly installments which, in a large number of cases, closely approximate amount formerly paid in rent.

Q. How long may the borrower take to repay his loan?

A. Up to 20 years for all loans except those of $5,400 or less, on single family, newly constructed, owner-occupied houses. For these loans, the maximum period may be for as long as 25 years under certain circumstances.

Q. What do the monthly payments include?

A. Payments include a share of the principal, interest, mortgage insurance premium, taxes, special assessments, fire and hazard insurance.

Q. What is the interest rate? The mortgage insurance premium?

A. Lending institutions may charge as much as 5 per cent interest. The mortgage insurance premium amount to 1/2 per cent of the decreasing balances of the mortgage, except for mortgages amounting to $5,400 or less, on which a 1/4 per cent premium on decreasing balances is charged.

Q. To whom does the borrower apply to obtain a loan?

A. This will depend on certain conditions. The possible sources of primary information are lending institutions, real-estate dealers, building supply dealers, architects, contractors or builders, subdivision developers. In some instances, the borrower may wish to make preliminary inquiry at the office of the Federal Housing Administration nearest his home. The FHA is always willing to give advice and any other assistance within its power.

Q. How does the prospective home owner benefit from financing his home under the Insured Mortgage System?

A. The insured mortgage system offers many advantages. It insures private lending institutions such as banks, building and loan associations, and finance companies to make funds available for this purpose by insuring them against loss. The installation of an adequate water system in the farm home will make it possible to add a bathroom, install hot-water heating, and equip the kitchen with an up-to-date sink. Aside from the convenience, a water system will also eliminate considerable drudgery formerly necessitated by hand pumps. The presence of a water system is also a home-safety factor in that it offers a constant supply of water that can be used in case of fire. The Federal Housing Administration, Washington, D. C., has prepared a booklet entitled "How to Modernize Your Farm Home," which explains the operation of Title I and sets forth various types of work eligible for financing with funds obtained under the plan. This may be had on request without charge.

IMPROVEMENTS TO COMMERCIAL BUILDINGS LISTED

A list of some of the repairs and improvements to commercial and miscellaneous buildings which may be financed under the Property Improvement Credit Plan has been compiled by the Federal Housing Administration.

The list includes built-in air conditioning systems, ash-removal equipment when part of the heating system, barn pens, bins, booths, burglar-alarm systems, dust collectors, elevators, escalators, fire-alarm systems, fire escapes, fire-hose systems (mounted on reels and permanently attached to the water system), sprinkler systems, stalls, troughs.

A. (1) The convenient and all-inclusive monthly payments; (2) the small down payment; (3) the longer term of the mortgage; (4) the careful appraisal, inspection of construction of properties and neighborhood by field insuring offices; and (5) the freedom from hidden charges, fore-knowledge of amount of charges, payment of principal, etc.; the knowledge that the mortgage will be handled by an able and substantial financial institution, etc.

FHA Insures Loans for Farm Water Systems

Increased activity in the modernization of farm dwellings is foreseen as a result of the revival of Title I of the National Housing Act. Included in the amended act are provisions for the insurance of loans made for the purpose of repairing and modernizing existing farm houses.

Among the improvements that may be financed with funds insured by the Federal Housing Administration are the purchase and installation of water systems. This type of improvement is one that is in great demand by rural residents. It is estimated that slightly more than one-tenth of the 6,792,462 farm homes in this country are equipped with running water.

The foremost reason for this apparent neglect has been the inability of farmers to purchase the systems on a deferred-payment plan. Such terms have been needed because of the lack of ready cash in agricultural areas.

The revised Title I permits the farmer to pay for a water system in convenient monthly payments, or seasonal payments, extended over a period of as long as five years. The charges are the most reasonable ever made for this type of loan. The loans are granted on a character basis. No collateral or mortgage is demanded.

Private Funds
The funds are not Government funds. The Federal Housing Administration does not lend any money, but it encourages private lending institutions such as banks, building and loan associations, and finance companies to make funds available for this purpose by insuring them against loss.

The installation of an adequate water system in the farm home will make it possible to add a bathroom, install hot-water heating, and equip the kitchen with an up-to-date sink. Aside from the convenience, a water system will also eliminate considerable drudgery formerly necessitated by hand pumps.

The presence of a water system is also a home-safety factor in that it offers a constant supply of water that can be used in case of fire.

The Federal Housing Administration, Washington, D. C., has prepared a booklet entitled "How to Modernize Your Farm Home," which explains the operation of Title I and sets forth various types of work eligible for financing with funds obtained under the plan. This may be had on request without charge.

DECORATING MAKES ROOM LOOK LARGER

In modernizing a house it is not always possible to tear out partitions or make additions that make rooms larger. To make a room look as large as possible, walls should be light and plain, a carpet should be laid from wall to wall, draperies could be the same color as the walls, mirror panels could be used, and massive furniture must be avoided.

LOANS INSURED FOR STRUCTURAL CHANGES

In cases where such improvements as an elevator or a built-in air conditioning system become a structural part of a building a loan for the purchase and installation of such equipment would be eligible for insurance under the Property Improvement Credit Plan of the Federal Housing Administration.

Old Dwellings Return Income As Apartments

Conversion of Outmoded Homes Possible Under Title I

Out-moded residence properties, still structurally sound but no longer in demand by reason of excessive size, dated architecture, or neighborhood changes, may be converted into revenue-producing flats and apartments with funds available under the Property Improvement Credit Plan of the Federal Housing Administration.

Many residential landmarks are today but specters of past magnificence. Deserted, falling into dilapidation, unwanted by the descendants of the original owner. These properties cannot be rented for homes in their present condition and serve only to gather unwanted taxes for the owners. Many have been demolished to ease the tax burden or with the hope of renting the vacant lot for some purpose.

By the expenditure of a reasonable amount for modernization many old homes may be remodeled into several small apartment units and placed on an income basis that will justify the expenditure.

The provisions of the National Housing Act as amended permit the insurance of modernization loans up to $10,000 on a single property. Repayments are made in equal monthly installments over a period of as long as five years and thirty-two days. Charges for this credit are reasonable. The Federal Housing Administration insures the loans, and the funds are made available by private lending institutions, including banks, building and loan associations, finance companies, and like agencies.

Extensive alterations necessary to remodel a dwelling for apartment purposes do not always require the services of an architect, but the scope of the work makes it desirable. Among the improvements eligible to be financed under the Property Improvement Credit Plan are: Installation of new heating, wiring, and plumbing units and systems; revision of floor space, painting and papering, and any other improvements that become an integral part of the building.

The exterior may require extensive alteration, which may be financed with loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration. Brick work may be pointed up, roof repaired, or a new roof put on; porches removed, walkways and drives built, entrances cut, and the building painted.

Depreciation checked by modernization will pay off in income in many instances. A dwelling is not usually obsolete unless the structure is so unsound that it would be more economical to completely rebuild it.

The Federal Housing Administration lends no money. It insures loans made by private financial institutions operating under provisions of the National Housing Act.

MODERN GARAGE CAN BE BUILT WITH LOAN INSURED BY FHA

A modern garage is a distinct asset to a property. Such a structure may be built under the Property Improvement Credit Plan of the Federal Housing Administration.

The garage may be used for other purposes than storing the family's car. Shelves can be built in to hold tools and extra parts for the car. Provisions may be made for putting away screens, ladders, children's outdoor playthings, etc. Garden tools can be kept in a cabinet if there is no storage space for them in the basement of the house.

A flat-roofed garage may be converted into a very attractive roof terrace. A stairway leading up from the garden, a railing, or boxes for hedges and flowers can be added. If there are small children in the family, a high railing can be installed and the area can be used as an outdoor playground.

The Property Improvement Credit Plan authorizes approved financial institutions to advance credit, not in excess of $2,500, exclusive of charges, for the purpose of financing the building of new structures. The Federal Housing Administration insures the institution against loss up to 10 per cent of the total amount loaned by it under this plan.

SQUEAKING IN FLOOR CAN BE ELIMINATED

Squeaking floors are a source of annoyance and frequently can be eliminated. Funds for the laying of new floors may be obtained from private financial institutions that operate under the terms of the Property Improvement Credit Plan of the Federal Housing Administration.

To locate the offending boards in a floor, walk back and forth from one end of the room to the other, making each trip about two feet apart. Then walk back and forth across the width of the room, resting the weight firmly on the floor with each step. Mark the exact places where the squeaks occur and measure and record the distance from the sides and ends of the room.

If the joists on which the floor is laid are exposed on the underside, it is easy to locate the squeaky areas. Where cracks occur between flooring and joists, it is likely that small wedges driven between the subfloor and joists will prevent further squeaking. In some cases it is necessary to jack up and level any sagged or defective joists and then reinforce it with planks spiked to either side.

When floors seem springy, insufficient rigidity may cause the strips to slide against each other, causing the squeak. It is sometimes possible to eliminate such a squeak by driving a finishing nail down through the crack between the two pieces where they rub together. A thin wedge should be inserted first to spring the two pieces apart. Care must be taken not to damage the edges of the flooring strips.

1937 Record
There were more one-family dwellings built in the year 1937 in all nonfarm communities than in any other year since 1930, according to Federal Housing Administrator Stewart McDonald, quoting data supplied by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

ELECTRICAL OUTLETS KEEP UP WITH TREND

With more and more electrical appliances on the market, the house of today needs more outlets than was considered essential in a house built 10 years ago. When buying a home that was built some time ago, it is wise to have an experienced electrician check the wiring system.

A house may be completely rewired or additional electric work done under the terms of the Property Improvement Plan of the Federal Housing Administration. Banks or other financial institutions advance the funds for the work and are insured against loss by the Housing Administration.

Painting, Trim Should Not Outweigh Structural Facts

Painting and trim are the two most conspicuous features of a house to the layman's eye. To the casual observer, the frame of the house, the wiring and piping, even the plaster and floors are concealed behind these two items. Only the experienced observer looks beyond them.

The house that is down at the heels can be brought up to date, thus increasing its value and improving the appearance of the entire neighborhood. Funds for repairs, improvements, and additions may be obtained from private financial institutions which operate under the Property Improvement Plan of the Federal Housing Administration.

Before any other repairs are made, a house should be checked for structural soundness. If the value of the property is to be maintained, it must be basically sound. Repairs of this order should be made first.

It is poor economy to agree to one less coat of paint or enamel in an effort to cut down the cost of building or repair. Before the work is started there should be a definite agreement as to the number of coats and the quality of the paint to be used.

Cheap millwork shows up in open joints, warped edges, and raised grain. Grain of wood and methods of finish and joining should be agreed upon before the contract is signed. When it is necessary to cut down costs, it is better to omit nonessential features completely than to skimp on the quality of those contributing to fundamental soundness.

LOAN MAY INCLUDE ARCHITECTS' FEES

Under the Property Improvement Credit Plan of the Federal Housing Administration, a loan not in excess of $2,500 to finance the building of a new structure may include the cost of architectural and engineering services. The proceeds of the loan must be expended for the erection of a building that will be structurally complete and ready for occupancy or use upon completion.

CONVENIENT KITCHEN AID TO HOUSEWORK

A kitchen that isn't convenient to work in will make a housewife dissatisfied with her home. Regardless of equipment, the kitchen that does not have adequate storage space will be a trial to the person who has to work in it.

Shelves, cabinets and closets may be built in a kitchen with funds obtained from a private financial institution that operates under the Property Improvement Plan of the Federal Housing Administration. Walls may be refinished, floors repaired, or a new sink installed. Improvements which become a permanent part of the structure are eligible for purchase and installation with funds insured by the Federal Housing Administration.

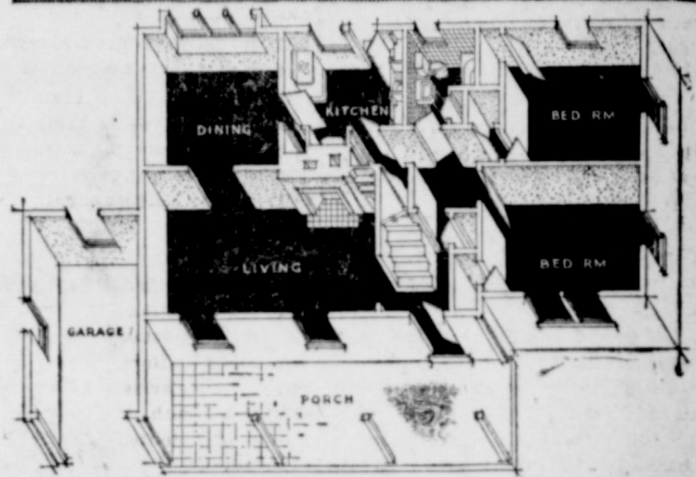

CAREFULLY FIT EXPOSED TRIM

When installing a porch rail and trim or other exterior portions of the house which are exposed to the weather all of the pieces should be fit together so that water does not drain into the joints. This precaution will assist in preventing deterioration of the material and result in a lower maintenance cost.

WALLPAPER BORDER GIVES ROOM INTEREST

A border strip of wallpaper adds interest to a room with painted walls. These strips, which are produced by the manufacturers of wallpapers, may be obtained in hundreds of styles and designs, so

Featuring Compactness

This small home has several features other than the cost that should have appeal. Balance in exterior appearance is achieved by having an enclosed sun porch at one end of the dwelling and at the other a garage. The house is in suburban Atlanta, Ga., at Decatur. It is valued at $6,625 and was financed with a $5,300 mortgage insured by the Federal Housing Administration. Monthly payments of $39.37 will fully amortize the loan in 20 years. These monthly installments include principal, interest, taxes, and other fixed charges.

that a type may be found to fit any period of room.

Rooms which appear too high for prevailing tastes may be lowered in appearance by proper use of a border design.

Funds for the redecoration of a house may be obtained from a private financial institution which operates under the Property Improvement Credit Plan of the Federal Housing Administration.

CHANGE OF WALL FINISH SUGGESTED

If you want to completely rejuvenate some room in your house, try giving the walls an entirely new treatment. If they have been papered with a sprightly design, try them plain. If the walls have been plain, try a patterned paper or a paneled effect. Wood paneling can be obtained in a variety of styles and qualities, or simulated paneling may be used.

Houses may be redecorated under the terms of the Property Improvement Plan of the Federal Housing Administration.

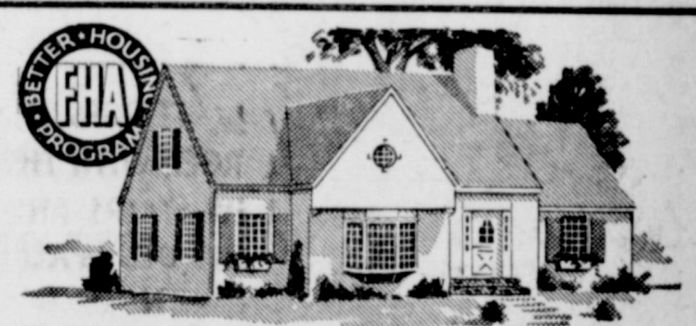

FLOORS ARE GUIDE TO ROOM'S APPEARANCE

No matter how well furnished a room might be, if the floors are shabby, its entire appearance will be spoiled. Floors that have splintered or rough places are dangerous when there are small children in the family.

PAINT PROTECTS AGAINST WEATHER

There are paints on the market that aid in making stucco, brick or cement, proof against frost and the elements. Funds for applying this material may be obtained from a private financial institution operating under the Property Improvement Credit Plan of the Federal Housing Administration.

"It takes a heap o'livin' in a house to make a home"

... but it also takes RESPONSIBILITY

You can't let a home "go," without inviting discomfort and risking your investment. It takes repairing, redecorating — sometimes remodeling — to keep a house a home.

FSA to Aid Farmers In Buying Machinery

"Whatever lack of harvesting machinery may exist in the county can be remedied by a community service loan through the Farm Security Administration," R. K. French, county supervisor, pointed out this week. These loans are made to provide services essential to sound farming practice, he said.

Cottonseed Week Observed Over U. S.

Nation-wide tribute will be paid during the week of May 30 to June 4 to products of the cotton plant in the observance of National Cotton Week. More than 40,000 retail stores, and chambers of commerce, service clubs and other agencies will feature products of cotton and cottonseed, and the importance of this crop and the industries built around it, during the week.

In addition to the many products of lint cotton, cottonseed provides hundreds of products used daily in the homes of America, the Educational Service of the National Cottonseed Products Association points out. Cottonseed products, and the cotton oil industry, have a significant part in the economic life of the South.

ON TEXAS FARMS

WHEAT INSURANCE PLAN EXPLAINED

"The wheat insurance policy under the crop insurance plan guarantees insured farmers against 15 specific risks," E. N. Holmgren, administrative officer in charge of the state AAA office at Texas A. and M. College, said on his return from the statewide crop insurance meeting at Amarillo.

The federal crop insurance policy which will be offered to wheat growers on their 1939 crop was thoroughly explained to Extension Service and AAA employees, state committeemen, and others in the course of the May 2-3 meeting, according to Holmgren.

The policies are of two types of coverages, one against losses in yields up to half of the average crops and the other against losses up to three-fourths of the average yield. Farmers may choose the type of coverage they want.

"The wheat insurance policy is an all-risk one and guarantees against losses in yields of wheat seeded for harvest as grain up to the stated percentage," Holmgren pointed out. "In addition to a clause which says 'any other unavoidable risks not excluded herein,' the 15 risks which are specified are flood, drought, hail, wind, frost, winter-kill, lightning, fire, tornado, storm, insect infestation, animal pests, plant diseases, excessive or deficient moisture, and incursion of animals."

"You notice I said the policy guarantees against losses in yield of wheat seeded for harvest for grain," Holmgren continued. "That means just what it says. Losses are payable in actual wheat. Under the plan, the insured farmer will have wheat to sell up to the amount specified in the policy. If his crop fails, he simply calls on the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation to deliver, and he can take his payment either in wheat or in cash at the prevailing price on the number of bushels due."

Wheat crop insurance policies for the first three years will be written for one year only, and growers will have to take out a new policy each year. After this period, however, the plan is to offer policies for terms of several years.

Premiums are payable in actual wheat, and will vary from about a half bushel per insured acre a year on the surest wheat lands to something over two bushels on the more risky lands.

The procedure of paying premiums, as explained by Holmgren, consists of turning over the amount of wheat required to an acceptably bonded elevator and securing a storage receipt, which is left at the county agricultural agent's office.

At the option of the grower, the premium can be paid in cash equivalent to the amount of wheat required. Payment will be made to a bonded representative of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation who will be located in the county agricultural agent's office. The corporation will then buy and store an equivalent amount of wheat.

"Once the receipt for insurance is in his pocket, all the farmer has to do is to play fair with the Corporation to rest assured that he is protected against the 15 specific hazards mentioned, plus the other unavoidable losses covered by the clause 'not excluded herein,'" Holmgren said.

Among the "play fair" stipulations in the policy are items requiring the use of an amount of seed adequate to produce a normal crop, workman-like care in planting and tending the crop, seeding wheat for harvest as grain on adapted land, seeding for harvest as grain the number of acres and the land specified in the policy and the keeping of complete records of the harvesting, threshing, storing, shipment, sale or other disposition of all the wheat produced.

The Federal Crop Insurance Corporation is a chartered corporation set up within the U. S. Department of Agriculture and it will use the existing facilities of the department as far as possible. Its field operations in Texas will be handled thru the AAA setup by county agricultural agents, and county and community committeemen. The expense of such operations will be borne by the Corporation.

The cost of the insurance will be borne by the farmers who take part in the plan, but the administrative expenses and the cost of storing the wheat reserves will be paid by the Corporation.

Five meetings have been scheduled in the wheat area of Texas during the week of May 16 at which county agricultural agents and committeemen will be given all details of the procedure for taking applications for insurance and other items connected with the program. After the meetings, extension agents and committeemen will hold county and community meetings at which the plan will be explained in detail.

Conservation task is one-third completed. Texas' fight for soil and water conservation, started some 25 years ago, has accomplished one-third of its objective, according to the annual report of M. R. Bentley, agricultural engineer of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service.

The figures are based on a survey made by county agricultural agents in November, 1937, Bentley said. The survey revealed that 20,389,492 acres of crop land are in need of protection against soil and water loss, while protection measures have been taken on 10,587,744 acres.

The work went forward at a steady rate in 1937, the report reveals. During the past year, 890,781 acres of crop land were terraced, 2,166,898 acres of crop land contoured but not terraced, and 232,632 acres of pasture land were terraced, contour listed, or protected in a similar manner.

Thus more than three million acres of crop land were added to the area previously terraced and contoured, while the 232,632 acres of pasture land protected against loss of soil and water compared very favorably with the 100,000 acres so treated in 1936.

A major development during 1937 was the increased use of county road machinery in the construction of terraces, Bentley pointed out. Of the total acreage terraced in 1937, terraces were built on 373,009 acres by county machinery. The arrangement applied to 170 counties in 1936, while commissioners' courts in 189 counties made county equipment available for use in 1937. The usual arrangement is to furnish the equipment at cost of operation.

County agricultural agents continued training schools throughout the year, and there are now 9,261 men and 6,266 boys who are qualified to run terrace lines, the report shows.

TEXAS 4-H FARM ACCOUNT KEEPERS IN THE MONEY

Seven Texas 4-H boys placed in the Fourth National Farm Account contest recently judged in Chicago by a committee of agricultural extension specialists. Accounts covering a full year's business on a farm were entered by 549 clubbers in 35 states. They were required to show all receipts and expenditures, an opening and closing inventory, and suggest means of improving the net farm income.

Ted Kreuz, 18, of Corpus Christi, a $25 winner kept his record on a 75-acre home farm which he believes can be made to yield a higher net income by producing and feeding better balanced rations to live stock and poultry and providing a larger home food supply for the family. Wallace Krueger, 18, of Encinal, won a $10 prize on the record he kept on the 200-acre home farm, and the following won $5 prizes: R. E. Dillard, Ackley; Robert C. Hawk, Shamrock; Jack Hoover, Post; Henry Kveton, Abert; and Harley Wallace, Post.

The contest was conducted by the State Extension Service and all awards were provided by the International Harvester Company which is offering $65 prizes totaling $8,700 in the 1938-39 contest now under way.

The national prize of $500 went to Donald Mosher of DeKalb, Ill., and 541 other boys and girls won prizes amounting to $6,565.

HARWELL CANDIDATE FOR LEGISLATURE

I will favor the establishment of an Agricultural Experiment Station in the sandy land section of Brown county.

In submitting my name as a candidate for Representative from this District in the State Legislature, I state the following facts to inform the people as to my qualifications and desires:

I was born on a farm in North Carolina. I lost my father at the age of seven years and went on my own at the age of fourteen. I spent three years in Washington, D. C. and came to Texas twenty nine years ago. I married a Texas girl and have three sons. I was educated in Texas after my marriage; came to West Texas fifteen years ago and have lived in Coleman for five years. I am District Manager of the United Benefit Life Insurance Company of Omaha and am a member of the Methodist Church.

This will be my first time to ask for public office although I have always been deeply interested in Government and politics, expressing my interest in the candidacies of others rather than offering myself for office. By age, training character and ability I am qualified to serve the people in the office of legislator.

It will be my purpose to give my very best consideration and thought to any legislation offered in the interest of the people regardless of the person or section presenting the question. Briefly I will state the matters I have already worked out in my own mind which I feel need the attention of the Legislature. They are as follows:

I will support legislation for the purpose of keeping the State Government under two houses, although I would favor retention in the number of members in the lower house of the Legislature.

I will stand for the elimination of Boards, Commissions and overlapping Departments where excessive expenditures are made.

I will stand for taking the Government of Texas out of wheels and replacing it at Austin, delegating more authority to the duly elected representatives and officials in the subdivision of the State Government.

I will seek to liberalize the Old Age assistance law and support legislation for the purpose of levying and collecting money for the payment of old age pensions, eliminating the expensive set up which now exists in the form of investigators and checker up. This whole matter can be handled by the commissioners' court or other organized boards within our Government without expense to the taxpayer.

I will support legislation for keeping the scholastic allotment of the State for furnishing transportation of State expense to Rural Consolidated High School Districts and will do my utmost to see that the State's part of the Teachers' Retirement Fund is properly paid into the designated official at Austin.

I will support legislation for the purpose of having the State furnish equipment to the counties, precincts same under the care of the County Agent, the State furnishing one man for the operation of said equipment so that when a farmer wishes to tax his land or to terrace he may secure the use of this equipment at no cost other than the cost of fuel and labor connected with the job.

I am in favor of immediate provisions to get the insane out of our jails and into modern State hospitals.

I will favor and support all phases of our Social Security Program.

I will work on a revision of our tax system, seeking to distribute the tax burden, thus enabling an actual tax reduction. I will not support legislation for new taxes on the unit basis.

Lack of time may prevent me from seeing every voter personally but my failure to do so will not be intentional on my part and I will greatly appreciate the consideration of the voters in this district for my candidacy as your next representative.

Mercantile Store Taxes Collected

Mercantile store taxes were collected here this week by H. F. Long, Abilene, and Supervisor Fritz R. Smith of Brownwood in the tax assessor's office in the courthouse.

The tax, based on $1.50 per year for a single store and graduating according to the number of stores, is a compulsory assessment which must be paid by every firm having one or more mercantile stores.

"Many people think that the tax is just for firms having two or more stores, but that is a misunderstanding. Every store, gasoline station and any other business except lumber yards and hardware stores selling materials or goods (that become a permanent fixture of property must pay the tax," Long stated.

Chain store taxes are now due for three years, 1936-37-38, as the bill was passed in 1936 but was not validated by the courts until February, 1938. The fine for establishments failing to comply with the law is from $25 to $100 a day.

The taxes, which are payable in advance, are valid until December 31, 1938, at which time notice for the following year's tax will be filed from the State Comptroller's office at Austin.

One-fourth of the tax goes into the school fund and the remainder into the general fund of the state.

The MARCH OF TIME

A BANNER Feature by the Editors of TIME, The Weekly Newsmagazine

Under the provisions of the Federal Housing Administration, an opportunity is offered to all prospective home owners to build new homes or repair old ones on the most favorable terms in the history of this country. At no time in the past has it been so easy to own a home, and unless all signs fail, the present opportunity will not be repeated for many years to come; most likely not during the present generation.

Federal Housing

With the Federal government guaranteeing up to 90 per cent of the value of house and lot, any prospective home owner who has a good building lot free of debt is enabled to build a home of fair value without additional down payment. The monthly payments can be spread over so long a period that even including taxes and insurance, it is often the case that the payments do not equal rentals on homes of comparative value.

Under original provisions of the FHA, it was difficult to secure the financing of homes, despite what was considered at the time most favorable terms. When the provisions were made more liberal last year, additional financing was made available, and now with the removal of much of the red tape and a more liberal attitude on the part of lending agencies, anyone with a good credit rating and the prospect of a regular income can secure financing from any one of several groups interested in the construction of new homes.

Brownwood has not been quick to take advantage of the opportunities offered by the FHA, due possibly to the inconvenience that attended earlier FHA programs and the uncertainty of securing approval of loans. With the removal of these obstacles, there should be added incentive for prospective home owners to finance the construction of new homes with the aid of this governmental agency.

Few young men who have lived in Brownwood for the comparatively short time that Clark Coursey has made his home here have moved on to other fields with such unanimous good will as will follow Mr. Coursey as he goes to take his new position as director of publicity for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

To A Larger Work

Chamber of Commerce. And the reason is easy to find, for few young men have served Brownwood and Brown county as faithfully and well as he has in his capacity as reporter and city editor of the Brownwood Bulletin.

Clark has made many friends during the nine years he has worked here, of course. But more important, he did his work so well that upon his leaving there are none who do not feel that his place will be difficult to fill and that Brownwood would be just a little better place if he had remained.

Possessor of a pleasing personality that was best evident through his ever-present smile, Clark is at the same time an excellent newspaper man. Fair, complete and accurate in all of his reports, he was able to cover the most controversial meetings without permitting his reports to become involved in controversy. And he has the knack of pulling from almost any incident a report presenting it in a most favorable light. No one has ever accused him of coloring the news, nor of failing to report important news events completely and intelligently.

In addition to his newspaper work, or more accurately, in connection with it, Clark found time to accept many civic assignments willingly and handle them efficiently. It was this latter ability which first attracted the attention of those who are to be his new employers.

As he goes into his new and larger field of work, the best wishes of all Brownwood go with him.

As a needed tonic in these days of talk of recession comes a statement from Chester Harrison, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, which should make all of us feel a bit better. It is not a patent Pollyanna statement, but a survey of facts which Mr. Harrison presents cannot but lead to the conclusion which precedes the figures, that conditions in Brownwood have been better during the recession period than in other similarly situated communities.

Comparative Prosperity

Business statistical bureaus tell us that postal receipts are the best barometer of business in any community, the statement reads, and it is then pointed out that Brownwood postal receipts showed a gain of $234 in April, 1938, over April, 1937, with Sweetwater showing a $2 gain, Abilene, $1083 and San Angelo, $347.

Continuing, the statement says: "The decrease in retail business throughout Texas during April, 1938, as compared with April, 1937, is 9.2%. The decrease in volume throughout Texas for the month of April, 1938 as against March, 1938 is 3.2%.

"In District No. 3, that includes Brownwood, the decrease in volume of retail business during April, 1938 as compared with April, 1937 was 16.5%. The decrease in April, 1938 as compared with March, 1938 for the entire district is 7.2%.

"By towns the decrease in volume for April, 1938 compared with April, 1937 is as follows: Lubbock, 10.9%; Temple, 18; San Angelo .04%; Brownwood 4.2%. Abilene was the bright spot showing a gain of 2%.

"Retail business for April, 1938 as compared with March, 1938 shows decreases as follows: Lubbock, 14.6%; Abilene, 5.8%; San Angelo, 4.4%. The two bright spots in the Central Texas area were Brownwood and Temple. Brownwood showed an increase of 6.7%, Temple 1.1%.

"These figures are not estimates but are those given out by the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas."

Spring Gardening . . .

WASHINGTON—Although Franklin Roosevelt early this year promised to keep hands off the sensitive spring crop of Democratic primaries, by last week he had directly or indirectly dug his gardening tools into most of them.

South Carolina's Governor Olin Johnston, announcing his intent to enter his State's Senatorial primary next August, trumpeted: "My campaign will be based on a record of constant, unshakable loyalty to the Democratic platform and the head of our party, President Roosevelt."

In Kentucky, Senate Majority Leader Alben Barkley's campaign for reelection was proceeding with active White House support, having begun last January with a forthright letter of endorsement from the President.

In California, William Gibbs McAdoo, last fortnight facing a tough four-corner fight, was able to pull an encouraging "Dear Mac" letter from his pocket.

In Wisconsin, Francis Ryan Duffy received an unmistakable White House pat, almost as broad as the endorsement of Son - Secretary James Roosevelt which helped boost Florida's Claude Pepper to victory a month ago.

In Oregon, crusty, onetime New Dealer Governor Charles H. Martin was opposed for renomination by onetime State Senator Henry L. Hess, who received oblique White House support through letters from Secretary Joe Guffey and Nebraska's George Norris. Martin was edged out 57,727 to 59,995.

In Pennsylvania, political observers thought they saw a slump in Roosevelt influence when Thomas Kennedy (endorsed by Jim Farley, Senator Joe Guffey and John L. Lewis) was beaten in the gubernatorial primaries by the regular Democratic candidate, Charles Alvin Jones.

But however indefinable the effect of Roosevelt influence on State primaries, and vice versa, appeared last week, more certain was the personal popularity of Franklin Roosevelt when preliminary results of its forthcoming survey were made public by Fortune. Survey figures show that 54.7 percent of the electorate approve Mr. Roosevelt, 24 percent disapprove, 16.9 percent "don't know," thus indicating practically no change in popular sentiment since 1936.

Concluded Fortune: "Whether business can stand two, four or six years more of what Mr. Roosevelt has done for it beside the point. Business may have no choice in the matter. For the chances that any important number of Mr. Roosevelt's men will be defeated in the primaries this year are very slim."

Second Sarjevo? . . .

PRAGUE—One night last week as the blatant Nazi sub-minority of the Sudeten German minority in Czechoslovakia indulged in a terrorist campaign preparatory to municipal elections at week's end, two Sudeten Germans astride a motorcycle roared along the road to Germany near the Czech town of Cheb, disregarding an order by a Czech traffic patrol to halt. Two flashed ahead to the next patrol and when the cyclists again refused to halt, the guards opened fire. Both Germans were killed.

"Brutal murder of two Germans by Czechs," Prague's appalling blood guilt," screamed the German press in blood-red headlines, as anxious Czech officials explained the guards had merely done their duty, that both Germans were notorious Nazi agitators in previous political trouble. Meanwhile the wires in every European chancery hummed: "Would Cheb be the second Sarajevo?"

In quick order events took on the aspect of a second "Austrian coup"—"Der Antritt," Nazi Propaganda Minister Goebbels' news-sheet, declared that Czech President Beneš was "no longer master of the situation" (just as Austrian Nazi Chief Seyss-Inquart had "invited" Germany to take control because Austria "was no longer master" of its own situation). Simultaneously German troops were reported moving into positions along the Czech frontier.

But dynamic little Eduard Beneš went to London in showing the Nazis just who was master of the situation. Declared he: "We will show the neighboring regimes that the machinery of a democratic state can work just as fast as theirs." Same day an order went out calling to colors an entire class of reserves, 70,000 strong, and as men dropped factory tools to grab bundles of clothes and rifles, troop trains rumbled toward the border where Czechoslovakia soon had some 400,000 men jammed against Germany's sides. Meanwhile British Ambassador Neville Henderson, in Berlin refused to believe German reports that her troop movements were merely routine transfers, issued an amazing order for a special train to be held to evacuate Britishers from Berlin, sent such a grave report to London that a special Cabinet meeting was called.

As Czech elections were run off without mishap, as Sudeten Nazi leader Konrad Henlein began talks with Czech Premier Milan Hodza over satisfying the German minority's demands, and the world it did not seem that the world it would be willing to receive offers.

Waggle . . . TULSA, Oklahoma—At the International Petroleum Exposition in Tulsa, a manufacturing company put on exhibit a new rotary drilling rig which can be mounted on an automobile trailer. It attracted little attention. Just to have something to do, attendants started the rig, began to drill. At 540 feet they struck oil. In some circles, the rig was hailed as Tulsa County which holds mineral rights underneath the exposition, indicated it would be willing to receive offers.

Relief & Depression II . . .

IN DETROIT—United Auto Workers' President Homer Martin last week addressed this letter to Michigan's Relief Administration: "It has come to our attention that our Flint welfare director, while receiving pay from . . . the union, has also been receiving welfare from the Emergency Relief Administration. We have asked for and received the resignation of this man."

IN CLEVELAND—Promised Mayor Harold S. Burton: "No one in the city will starve even though it means taking all the city's money for relief operations, and 75,000 Clevelanders get short rations last week instead of checks from the city's fundless, still-broken down relief agencies."

IN CHICAGO—All 19 relief stations banded shut their doors, while 24,000 of Chicago's 93,000 relief cases last week got, instead of checks, baskets doled out by Federal Surplus Commodities Corp. IN WASHINGTON—Unemployment Census Director John D. Biggers added a garish reminder to the relief problem by releasing financial figures on the total unemployed including last November's 7,845,018. This did not include: 1) an estimated 28 percent who did not register, 2) the huge increase in unemployment occurring since his census was taken.

Other items of Depression II: Madame Secretary Perkins estimated that 2,000,000 U. S. workers have been laid off since fall, that those still working are getting lighter pay envelopes.

Massachusetts factory workers lost 2.5 percent of their jobs, 4.7 percent of their income from March to April. But wholesale and retail trade payrolls improved.

Endicott-Johnson, employing 20,000 shoe workers in five N. Y. cities, announced a wage cut of 5 percent, atop a 10 percent cut last month. In Chicago's packing industry, employment and wages held up. At S. W. O. C. headquarters in Pittsburgh, steel jobs were reported down to 300,000 from 602,000 last August.

But lumber production, carloadings, power production, steel ingot production, although far below last year, were up last week, or better than trend.

The judges were Mrs. Malcolm Evert, Mrs. Roy Brannon and Miss Reba Mathis of May. First prize, a large white loaf cake, went to Mrs. B. H. Bettis, second prize, an apron, to Mrs. A. M. Bowden, third prize, a pot plant to Mrs. Mayfield Gibbs, and fourth prize, a box of candy, to Mrs. Fay Dewire.

an onetime president of the now-defunct Friends of New Germany. What was the embarrassment of Government men when, at the outset of the investigation last week, they learned that Ignatz Griebel was aboard the "Bremer" on high seas bound for Germany. At Cherbourg French authorities were denied permission to search the ship for him. On docking at Germany he was promptly arrested. Officials promised speedy punishment. The punishment: 60 marks ($25). The crime: entering Germany without a passport (which he had forgotten in his rush). On the grounds that his offense against the U. S. was political, not civil, officials permitted Star Witness Griebel to remain in Germany, unmolested. Meanwhile, reporters jumped to the conclusion that Griebel, ready to turn state's evidence, had been kidnapped by loyal spies on the "Bremer," or having fooled Justice Department agents, he had been arrested by his own Government as a blind.

Petticoated Devil . . .

VIENNA—When eleven years ago Viennese Emil Marek lost a leg his hard luck turned to fortune when the $42,875 insurance he collected enabled him to finance an invention. When shortly after the invention failed and Emil Marek fell ill and died, his 3-year-old daughter, Inezberg, an aunt, Suzanne Loewenstein, and the family seamstress, Anna Kittenberg, followed him to the grave. In each death, Mrs. Martha Marek was in close attendance. Last week a horrified Nazi judge put an end to Frau Marek's ghastly livelihood. It was she who had sliced off her husband's leg, she who had killed her daughter, aunt, seamstress—all to collect insurance. Excoriated as a "devil in petticoats," a "human cobra," Frau Marek was sentenced to death.

Navajo Nazis . . .

OKLAHOMA CITY—In August 1924, German beer-hall putsch leader named Adolf Hitler sat in Cell No. 7 of a Munich jail, pondered Nazi philosophy-to-be, established as his political symbol, the Swastika. In August 1924, the Arizona Department of the 45th Division of the U. S. National Guard, with headquarters at Oklahoma City, adopted as its insignia an old Navajo Indian good-luck emblem—the Swastika.

Last week German newspapers burst forth with a photograph of U. S. soldiers wearing swastikas on the left shoulders of their uniforms. No Nazi editor bothered to print the simple explanation of the picture from which all good Nazis were encouraged to make typical Nazi deductions. Read one picture-caption: "The swastika is a badge of honor in the American Army."

Star of Ages . . .

HOLLYWOOD—Save for a brief road tour in 1931-32, a short stand in 1934, oldtime Actress Maude Adams ("Peter Pan," "The Little Minister") has made no stage appearance since she retired in 1918. Recently 65-year-old Actress Adams took a screen test at Culver City, Calif. Last week the result was announced: Miss Adams will star in a picture David Selznick plans to produce next fall. Said proud Selznick: "It will be a privilege to introduce her for the first time to the millions of the new generation."

Spy Scene . . .

Berlin—When U. S. Department of Justice officials last February arrested a brush-haired American youth of Austrian parentage, Guenther Rummich, former U. S. Army sergeant, and a plump German frauin, Johanna Hofmann, they thought they had broken a spy-case of international dimensions. Star witness for government agents was a Manhattan doctor, Ignatz T. Griebel, addressee of a letter found among Miss Hofmann's effects, naturalized U. S. citizen, holder of a secret code used by Miss Hofmann,

News from the Farm Clubs

MAY H. D. C. Mrs. Thompson of Holder played several numbers on the violin. There were thirty-five members and six visitors present. Mrs. McQuaid had charge of flower arrangement. Mrs. Floyd Dill and Mrs. Herbert Glenn were joint hostesses. Refreshments were served by the hostesses. After the club adjourned, the ladies made a tour east of May to visit a wild flower display on the Lon Snipes farm.

The following letter was received this week by the Chamber of Commerce from Captain Elgean Shield of Coleman:

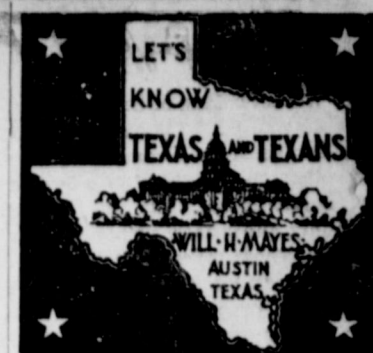

"On behalf of the officers and enlisted men of Company B, I wish to take this opportunity to express our appreciation for your personal interest in the National Guard and especially your cooperation in making possible the field exercises at Brownwood May 29th. No one is more conscious than I am of the need of loyal friends to our organization and we all have been reminded on many occasions that you are one of the Guard's best friends. I believe the exercises Sunday were worth more than the effort put forth, and am of the opinion that the visiting officers realized that the 1st Battalion which is centered around Brownwood is progressive and one of the outstanding units of the Texas National Guard."

In this column answers will be given to inquiries as to Texas history and other matters pertaining to the State and its people. Address inquiries to Will H. Mayes, Austin, Texas.

Q. What was the nature and extent of the wound received by General Houston at San Jacinto?

A. Houston's left ankle was shattered, causing him to faint in General Hockley's arms at the close of the battle from exhaustion and loss of blood. Despite the seriousness of the wound, Houston remained on duty until May 12, when he was forced to go to New Orleans for surgical treatment, leaving Brigadier General Rusk in command. When he reached New Orleans, May 22, the wound was badly infected, and twenty or more fractured bones were removed.

Q. How many of General Houston's mounts were shot under him at San Jacinto?

A. Two; the first horse being shot five times and killed; the second was shot at the time Houston was wounded in the ankle with a copper ball from a carbine.

Q. What Texas governor issued the proclamation fixing the second Sunday in May as Mothers' Day in Texas?

A. Governor Thomas M. Campbell, at the request of Mrs. Ella Caruthers Porter of Dallas, then president of the Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers, issued the first proclamation for Mothers' Day in Texas, fixing the second Sunday in May, the first observance in Texas being in 1910. Miss Anna Jarvis of Philadelphia, originated Mothers' Day, Sunday, May 9, 1907 to honor her mother who had died the year before.

Q. To what extent is farming done on the State prison farm?

A. The 1938 report of the prison board shows that the system then had 73,133 acres of land valued at $2,792,311, of which 41,296 acres were in cultivation. This land lies mostly in the lower Brazos and Colorado River valleys and is highly productive.

Q. What nine tribes of Indians composed the Hani or Hanni Confederacy and which section of Texas did they occupy?

A. Allowing for discrepancies in spelling and in interpretation, the nine tribes, of which the Hani was the principal one, were: the Hani, Nabadeches, Nacogdoches, Nasoni, Nadaco, Neche, Nacano, Nechani and Nacoso. When De Leon visited them in 1687, the territory occupied was approximately the valleys of the upper Neches and Angelina Rivers, probably all of that between the Sabine and the Trinity Rivers, and, later, from the San Antonio to the Trinity, but not extending anywhere to the Gulf where inferior tribes lived.

Q. What were Santa Anna's orders to his army following the fall of the Alamo?

A. On March 11, he ordered General's Sesma and Wolf with their divisions of 725 men to proceed to San Felipe and from there to Harbursburg and Anahuac; General Urrea with reinforcements was directed to occupy Goliad and the coast territory; General Gaona with his force was to set out for Nacogdoches. These were to spread a path of carnage over all the inhabited part of Texas, to execute all taken with arms, and to drive out of the country all those not actively engaged in war.

Q. What steps did President Burnett take to have Santa Anna sent to Vera Cruz?

A. Santa Anna was placed on board the Invincible on June 1, 1838, at Velasco, with his secretary, Caro, and Colonels Almonte and Santa Anna. Santa Anna, who had arrived from the United States, who demanded that Santa Anna be taken ashore and delivered to them. When Burnett refused, threats were made against both Santa Anna and Burnett. An appeal was made to Captain Brown, who agreed not to sail against the orders of the military even though ordered to do so by the president. Burnett then saw that it would be impossible to sail with Santa Anna, and he was taken ashore.

Q. What prevented the Invincible from sailing for Vera Cruz with Santa Anna?

A. The Invincible was kept in port by two days of adverse winds, and in the meantime Thomas Jefferson Green, Memeuan Hunt, and J. Pinckney Henderson appeared with about 300 volunteers, lately arrived from the United States, who demanded that Santa Anna be taken ashore and delivered to them. When Burnett refused, threats were made against both Santa Anna and Burnett. An appeal was made to Captain Brown, who agreed not to sail against the orders of the military even though ordered to do so by the president. Burnett then saw that it would be impossible to sail with Santa Anna, and he was taken ashore.

Songs Texans Sing

Know the songs that Texans sing—songs of the Texas ranches, the Texas Trails, the Texas live-oak song, the University song, the song "Will You Come to the Bower?" that inspired the heroes of San Jacinto, negro spirituals. The TEXAS SONG BOOK contains 32 pages of specially selected songs for Texas people, Texas homes, Texas schools, all chosen by a committee of Texas writers. It is a must for every state that all should know. Mailed, enclosed 25 cents in coin securely wrapped, for a copy of the "Centennial Song Book." Will H. Mayes, 2610 Salado Street, Austin, Texas.

Mrs. Travis Lemmons and Miss Virginia Lemmons were hostesses at a shower Tuesday afternoon; at the home of Mrs. O. V. Lemmons, honoring Mrs. Beryl Drury, a recent bride. After several games were played Mrs. Drury was presented with many gifts, which she opened and passed around to be viewed by all. Refreshments of cookies and punch were served to about sixty guests.

Sanford Hereford of Bartlesville office, recently received a bronze medal from the Leica Company, internationally known camera makers, for winning second place in the firm's Fourth International Exhibit, held at Tulsa, Okla., last March.

The winning photograph is a picture of a persimmon tree, heavily laden with fruit, standing beside the road near Bar-Dew Lake, Bartlesville. Hereford's young son, David, posed in the tree to give it the human element. The mechanics of the photograph were pronounced perfect and the view was rated an extraordinary fine fall season subject. Hereford, a former Bangs boy, and long time employee of this company, took up photography as a hobby about four years ago.

SCHOOL OFFICIAL AT MAY CANDIDATE FOR BROWN COUNTY SUP'T

TO THE FOLK WHO ARE INTERESTED IN THE SCHOOLS OF BROWN COUNTY:

As my school duties are completed at May for the year, my principal interest from now until election time will be to see and let the people of Brown County know that each vote will be individually appreciated in behalf of my candidacy for school superintendent of this county.

To fill this office I believe that a man should be capable, worthy, willing to work and willing to cooperate with the people and with other school officials for the betterment of each school of Brown County.

I did some college work at Daniel Baker College but most of this work was done at Howard Payne College, and took my A. B. Degree here in 1933. I have done 12 semester hours toward my Masters Degree at A. and M. College.

I did my first year of teaching in Mills County, since that time I have taught nine years in the schools of this county.

I have been in the schools of Brown County practically all my life. Certainly my greatest interest is with the schools of this big neighborhood.

I can assure you that no one will be more grateful for your support in the coming election.

Considering these facts I believe that I am capable, worthy, willing to work and anxious to cooperate with the people of Brown County for better schools in this section of the state.
