Hot check writers will make the news

by Elaine Schad

The Cooke County Commissioners Court this week gave its unanimous approval to Cooke County Attorney August D. Boto's plan to publish public notices of people with outstanding warrants for hot checks or other misdemeanors in the newspaper.

The court stipulated that the notices contain the name, date of birth and type of offense and that Boto come back to the court for a final presentation of the plan before the first public notice is run in the local paper.

"I think some people don't associate bad check writing with a criminal offense, but they wouldn't think of picking up a $50 item and walking out with it," said County Judge Ray Russell, in expressing support for the idea. "It would help to educate the public."

All Muenster merchants who were interviewed applauded the plan to publish names of people with outstanding warrants for hot checks. "It would really be a service to the community," said John Fisher of Fischer's Meat Market. "If there's a list published, we'll know not to extend credit or take checks from those people. It'll be a real benefit in these hard economic times."

Ben Bindel, manager of the DI One Stop, feels that it is an excellent idea and hopes to see stiffer laws. "The biggest theft in Cooke County, in my opinion, is by check," commented Bindel. "Anybody can misbalance their checkbook. These are people writing checks, knowing that they are no good. They know what they can get away with. They know how to work the system and are repeat offenders, giving bad checks all over town."

Herbie Miller, owner of Red River Cut Rate Liquor, feels that the system will help. "It should have been done a long time ago," Miller said. "Good vigorous prosecution on the county level will stop a good deal of it. Miller doesn't get many bad checks at his business because he knows most of his customers.

"It's a bunch," said Bindel of the DI's monthly average of hot checks. "Publishing names will be a deterrent, but it won't resolve the problem. We got tougher on our check cashing policy. Basically, good people are penalized because of those writing bad checks. With all of the paperwork, it's getting to be a burden to write checks."

"We collect most of the hot checks, but it's a real bookkeeping problem," remarked John Fisher. "We lose a couple of hundred dollars a month on bad checks and charges. Most of the bad checks are from out of town and the unpaid charges are local people."

Fisher added that businesses have to pay for products when they receive them. "When there are people who don't pay for what they get at the store, it makes it hard to stay in business."

Boto said the plan will not be implemented immediately because his office staff needs to complete additional research. He said letters will first be sent to violators by merchants before the public notices would appear in the paper.

Commissioners also asked if publishing the warrants would conflict with open records or privacy laws, and asked for assurances that there would be no problem with misidentification. "It is an open public record and is wholly permissible under the law," said Boto. He said using birth dates, cross checking names with county directories or the county clerk's office and prior notification attempts should take care of virtually any problems with misidentification.

Boto said he will begin publishing public notices with hot check warrants, but may later publish all warrants that come from his office, such as driving while intoxicated or misdemeanor theft. "The message will be if you violate the law, your name may appear in big, black, bold print," he said. The program will be modeled after one in Grayson County, which borders Cooke County to the east. The program has been in effect for one year there, generating about $100,000 in additional money returned to merchants through hot check collection and lavish praises from merchants, who have agreed to underwrite the cost of publication, said Boto.

Cooke County has an estimated 1,700 outstanding warrants for hot checks going back some eight years, with about half for checks under $20, officials said. Boto plans to upgrade the computer capability in his office to better deal with the numbers of hot checks and processing the warrants.

County incumbents challenged in primaries

by Elaine Schad

The Democratic races for county judge, sheriff, district attorney and for two county commissioner seats will highlight the March 10 primary election, with a host of candidates filing by Friday's Jan. 10 deadline.

The Cooke County Republican Party will field two candidates, both uncontested. Stephen Cole, a Gainesville insurance owner who had a 27-year career with the U.S. Army, filed Friday in the County Judge's race on the Republican ticket. He joins Gainesville police officer Jim Bleything, who filed last month for the sheriff's position in the Republic Primary.

John R. Smith, a truck driver and farmer, filed at the last minute against incumbent Jerry Lewis for the Precinct 3 commissioner's race. Lewis and Precinct 1 Commissioner Danny Knight both have drawn opponents.

A highlight of the Cooke County race may be for sheriff, where incumbent John Aston has drawn a long list of opponents, including former longtime sheriff Bill Pratt and former private investigator Joe Nichols. Willie Hennesy Jr. threw his hat in the ring for sheriff during the closing minutes of filing on Friday.

Two other high-profile races are expected to be for District Attorney and County Judge, where an issue seems to have surfaced already, concerning whether elected officials in those two positions should have private attorney practices in addition to their elected office.

Incumbent County Judge Ray Russell, who was appointed two months ago to Jim Robertson's unexpired term, will face Gainesville attorney Ed Zielenski. Judge Russell said he will not have a private practice if elected, while Zielenski has indicated he may continue his private practice.

Incumbent District Attorney Phil Adams will face former Cooke County Attorney Janelle Haverkamp, who is now in private practice, but said she will not retain her private practice if elected. Adams has operated a private practice in addition to his elected duties.

Candidates filing by Friday's deadline include:

REPUBLICAN PRIMARY
-County Judge: Stephen Cole.
-Sheriff: Jim Bleything.

DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY
-County Judge: Incumbent Ray Russell and Ed Zielenski.

-District Attorney: Incumbent Phil Adams and Janelle Haverkamp.

-Sheriff: Incumbent John Aston, Dale Washburn, Bill Pratt, Joe Y. Nichols and Willie Hennesy Jr.

-County Attorney: Incumbent August D. Boto.

-County Tax Assessor-Collector: Incumbent Joyce Zwinggi.

-County Commissioner Precinct 1: Incumbent W.D. "Danny" Knight, Fred Webb, Murrell F. Harrison and Billy Don Washburn.

-Constable Precinct 1: Thomas West Crawford, James Boone and Russell Ford and John M. Wilson.

Local sales tax rebate shows modest '92 start

"January's local sales tax rebates showed a modest start for 1992 with payments to 933 cities totaling $85.5 million, or 5 percent more than last January's payments of $81.4 million," State Comptroller John Sharp said.

January payments to 106 Texas counties totaled $9.7 million, virtually identical to last January's payments.

Total rebates to Cooke County cities this January was $87,136.88. This was up slightly (0.46 percent) from January 1991.

Cooke County was refunded $43,763.47 this January. This was up 0.16 percent from a year ago.

"We have projected slow but steady economic growth for 1992 in Texas, despite the national recession, and retail sales should continue to show moderate improvement," Sharp said. January's checks to cities, counties, hospital districts and city transit departments include taxes collected on November sales and reported in December by businesses filing monthly sales tax returns with the state. Businesses file either monthly, quarterly or annually, depending on the amount of sales tax they collect.

Rebate checks sent to Muenster, Lindsay and Gainesville this January are down from January 1991. Muenster received $5,779.49, which was 7.5 percent less than January '91's $6,248.34. Lindsay's $3,068.41 was down 7.32 percent and Gainesville's $72,229.75 was down 3.04 percent.

Enjoying large increases from last January were Oak Ridge and Valley View. Valley View received $3,205.64, an increase of 118.93 percent and Oak Ridge received $2,853.59, an increase of 134.58 percent.

Waltzin' in a winter wonderland

Winter waltzed into North Texas Monday, leaving several inches of snow and freezing temperatures in its wake. Snow accumulated despite the rain-soaked grounds.

The sudden change in weather brought to a halt signs of a premature spring. Early blooming bushes such as Flowering Quince and Yellow Jasmine have been blossoming in town gardens for a week or two; rose bushes were developing buds; and a number of people had reported seeing mockingbirds.

Roads were covered with snow and ice by noon, causing local school officials at Muenster Public and Sacred Heart to call early dismissals at 1 p.m. Sacred Heart delayed the start of classes on Tuesday morning until 10 a.m.

Some members of Cooke County Electric Cooperative were without electricity from 1 to 21 hours. The combination of moisture and temperature caused broken poles, broken wires and short circuits. There were outages all over the western half of the rural electric company's service area.

The first reports of disrupted electrical service came at 10:30 a.m. Monday. Power was restored to the last residential customer at about 7:30 a.m. Tuesday morning. Cooke County Electric Cooperative's outdoor personnel worked well into the night and at least eight men worked continuously through the night. They were still on duty 27 hours after coming to work.

According to Co-Op officials, most of their problems were from Muenster west. There was also a serious outage in the Dexter area that required four hours to repair.

Damages were due to the combination of high winds, temperature, and precipitation. "The 28-degree temperature was crucial to the ice formation on the lines," said Jerry Admire, system engineer. "With higher temperatures, the rain would have hit the lines, but not stuck. If it had been colder, 25 degrees or below, the moisture would have frozen in the air and fallen relatively harmlessly to the ground."

Cooperative officials explained that at 28 degrees, the water froze against the conductor, making the lines extremely heavy. Wind whipping the ice-laden conductor caused it to oscillate, and when a hot wire became entwined with a neutral wire, the resulting short would either trip a breaker or burn the wire down. Some lines had wrapped in more than one place and several poles were also broken under the stress of high winds and heavy conductor lines.

Some customers had to manage through the night without power. Even so, realizing that crews had worked around the clock, one of these customers called to express their appreciation at 7:30 a.m. after the lights came back on.

"It's members like those that we really appreciate," CCEC General Manager Phil Slater commented. He also thanked all inconvenienced members for their patience.

Mary Moster, who officially records the moisture for Muenster, reported that residents of Muenster received between 3 and 4 inches of snow which measured .38 of an inch when melted. Prior to the snow, .63 inches of rain also fell on the 13th. As of Jan. 13, a total of 1.32 inches of moisture had fallen during January in Muenster.

Most roads were clear of ice and snow by Tuesday. Another front blew in Wednesday, bringing snow flurries and temperatures that plummeted to the 20s.

Chamber of Commerce members hear speakers, review 'Fest magazine

Muenster Chamber of Commerce members heard short presentations from two guests at Tuesday's meeting, Cooke County Judge Ray Russell and Charley Henderson from KXGM Radio.

Russell briefly described his background and how he came to his current appointment as county judge. He said, "The commissioners appointed me as a full-time judge and I will not pursue private practice while I am your judge." Describing himself as not obligated to any law firm, Russell said he would represent all of Cooke County equally, Muenster as well as Gainesville.

Russell brought a short report about the technical meeting he attended in Bowie about the bridge to be built over the Red River. The new bridge should be finished in the summer of 1993. The connecting roads in Texas and Oklahoma should be finished by October 1993.

Russell did not have an answer for Bernice Sicking's question about a reported Texas-Oklahoma boundary dispute which might allow current Oklahoma residents to claim land now owned by Texas residents.

Charley Henderson is co-owner of the new Muenster/Gainesville radio station, KXGM 106.5 FM (see last week's feature in The Enterprise). Henderson said that KXGM will have an office in Muenster in the near future. He hopes that with a few night-time sponsors, Hit 106.5 will expand their 6 a.m. to midnight broadcast to 24 hours a day.

Members who attended the luncheon meeting at The Center received a copy of the 1991 Germanfest review magazine. The 32-page magazine, with color cover, is a project initiated by 1991 Chairman David Flusche Sr. and funded by the Chamber of Commerce, the Germanfest Bicycle Rally and the German Fun Run. Copies will be sent to participants of the 'Fest as a promotional tool for this year. The publication is crammed with stories, pictures and names of workers and visitors. Copies are available at the Chamber of Commerce office. The magazine was published by The Muenster Enterprise.

Controversial center burns Friday, Jan. 10

On Friday, Jan. 10, 1992, the center of more than a decade of controversy was laid to rest.

The Transcendental Meditation Center, located in southeast Montague County, burned to the ground last Friday. According to Fire Chief Larry Eldridge of the Forestburg Volunteer Fire Department, the building was totally engulfed in flames by the time they arrived.

The fire was first noticed at 7 a.m. Friday by a game warden, who then reported the blaze at 7:25. Eldridge stated that the fire was hard to gain control of, due to the intense heat and the fact that the structure was built on a hill and was multi-levels. The fire was brought under control around noon, although the authorities kept the site under observation through the evening for possible flare-ups.

Volunteer fire departments from Montague, Cooke and Wise counties joined in the effort to keep the fire from spreading to the surrounding grasslands.

Because the utilities had been disconnected previously, Montague County Sheriff Glen Whatley contacted the State Fire Marshall's office to investigate the cause of fire, with arson highly suspected.

The center, officially known as the Dallas Capital for the Age of Enlightenment, was built in the mid-1970s by the Maharishi Mahesh Yogi, one of 20 capitals he planned to build worldwide.

The controversy regarding the TM Center concerned the teachings of transcendental meditation techniques, including levitation, as well as the highly-guarded privacy of the structure and its inhabitants.

Famous statue on second visit to Sacred Heart

This photo portrays the world famous statue of Mary, mother of Jesus, honored as Our Lady of Fatima. The International Pilgrim Virgin statue was sculptured by Jose Thedim, a great artist known as the Michelangelo of Portugal, according to the specifications of Sister Lucia, who, as a child was one of the three children to whom Mary appeared several times. This statue, truly a beautiful work of art, was brought to the United States from Canada on Dec. 8, 1947, after being crowned by the Bishop of Canada, and has been taken around the world, and many times across the United States. It is known as the Weeping Madonna. Sister Lucia said the expression on the face is like that of Our Lady in her "final" vision in Spain. Escorting the statue is Louis Kaczmarek, on its 21-day visit in the Fort Worth Diocese, and Wednesday, Jan. 15 was spent in Sacred Heart Church. Special services included a Votive Mass of the Blessed Virgin at 8 a.m.; Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament with Rosary, Litany and Message; and a Votive Mass at 8 p.m.

Construction starts on fiber cable network

Muenster Telephone Corporation of Texas is continuing plans for improving and expanding the communications infrastructure of the north Texas area.

In 1991 Muenster Telephone Corporation reduced local service rates, discontinued charging for touch tone service, a life line service was established for those in need and reduced charges to long distance companies.

In 1992 Muenster Telephone Corporation plans to implement a fiber optic network, offer equal access long distance service, and establish the North Texas Educational Network, Texas's first educational interactive video service. It is anticipated that other telephone systems will be involved with Muenster Telephone Corporation in future phases of the project, thereby broadening the service to all the schools in the North Texas area.

The key starting point in bringing these advanced services to the Muenster Telephone serving area occurred recently when Klaasmeyer Construction Company of Conway, Arkansas was the successful bidder to build 38.8 route miles of fiber optic cable. Construction is due to start in February.

EQUAL ACCESS

Today, AT&T is the only long distance service available in the Muenster system. With Equal Access, you will be able to select other carriers such as MCI, SPRINT or any other carrier that will provide that service. When you make a 1 + call, that call will automatically be routed to the carrier that you have presubscribed to. This applies to all calls to other states and regions of Texas.

Long distance charges may vary from one long distance company to another, and it will be the subscriber's responsibility to determine which company they want to handle their calls.

Using Federal Communications mandated procedures, all subscribers will be polled to determine the long distant carrier of their choice. Ballots are scheduled to be mailed out in June.

The fiber cable will carry Muensters' toll to Valley View and be combined there with the Valley View toll. A digital switch, using the calling party's telephone number, will switch calls to the carrier of choice to complete the call.

This new service is scheduled to go into service on September 1st, 1992.

Many new emerging telephone services along with equal access, will be available to our subscribers when the project is completed.

The fiber cable will also give redundancy to Muenster's toll service. One cut cable between Muenster and Valley View will not isolate Muenster from the outside world. Traffic will flow along the present route through Gainesville as well as a new direct route to Valley View.

Construction of the fiber network is the second phase of a four phase general improvement project. Phase one, replacing faulty and outgrown cables in the Forestburg area was completed in 1991. Roy Keeling Construction Company of Mineral Wells Texas was the contractor. Phase two is the fiber cable project. Phase three will be replacing faulty cables in the town of Muenster. This includes new CATV cables along Main and First street and a fiber cable from the telephone office to the two schools. The final fourth phase to begin in 1993, will replace faulty and outgrown cables in the rural areas of Muenster, Myra, Rosston, and Valley View. These cables are now over 20 years old, installed in 1972.

MUESTER TELEPHONE CORPORATION

205 N. Walnut 759-2251 Muenster

This is one more step taken by Muenster Telephone Corporation to provide the best possible communications service to its subscribers and the north Texas area.

A highly successful program in Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri is getting its start in north Texas. This is "Interactive Educational Television".

Classrooms will be interconnected in such a way that they are fully interactive with each other. Each will have TV monitors and cameras for the students and the teacher to view the students in the other classrooms taking the course. This is full motion video so that all classrooms view all the other classrooms on a full time basis. A student asking a question in one classroom will be viewed and heard by all the other classrooms. All students will hear the answer, either from another student or from the teacher. A class can originate from any one of the schools.

North Texas Educational Network (NTEN) will allow schools to share the costs of teachers. As an example, one school cannot afford a good language teacher, but a network of co-operating schools can, they can share in the cost.

Of prime importance to the network will be to have Cooke County College included. College credits, even dual credits, high school and college can be earned by taking courses from the college without driving there.

The fiber cable for the first five high schools, Muenster, Sacred Heart, Forestburg, Era and Valley View is expected to be completed this summer. It is anticipated that other telephone companies will become involved and NTEN will be extended to all schools in north Texas.

Discussions are being held with the University of North Texas, coordinator of the statewide educational network, Project Bluebonnet. Plans are for NTEN to be a rural extension of Project Bluebonnet.

Adult educational classes can be offered after regular school hours or professional training right in the place of business. These can come from Cooke County College, or the University of North Texas. Then at night the cameras in schools or businesses would allow one guard to watch for vandalism.

Other uses of the network could be for telemedicine so that you can have a video doctor visit with a specialist in a large hospital without even leaving Muenster. With telecourt, if you get a speeding ticket, you may go before a Judge that may be many miles away.

Outstanding rural scholar sought

DARLA JEAN BINDEL and Kevin Anthony Anderle have chosen Feb. 15, 1992 for their wedding day. Their engagement and approaching marriage have been announced by her parents, Harold and Betty Jean Bindel. Parents of the future-groom are Johnny and Annette Anderle, all of Muenster. Father Victor Gillespie will officiate for the Nuptial Mass and exchange of vows in Sacred Heart Church at 5 p.m., assisted by Deacon Jerry Klement, uncle of the bride-elect. Miss Bindel is a 1988 graduate of Muenster High School and a 1991 graduate of Cooke County College, and is employed at Gainesville Memorial Hospital. Anderle is a 1988 graduate of Muenster High School and is employed at Weber Aircraft. The couple will reside in Muenster.

Rural Texas communities, challenged by the need to fill vacancies in all health care professions, can now take advantage of a unique state-supported program, the Outstanding Rural Scholar Recognition Program administered by the Center for Rural Health Initiatives. The Center is accepting applications until February 14, 1992, for the academic year beginning September, 1992.

Under the program an organization in a rural community acts as a sponsor to a student in a health care field. The sponsor agrees to contribute financial support for the student's educational and living costs. In turn, the student agrees that he or she will work for the sponsor as a health care professional upon graduation. Students who are selected as an Outstanding Rural Scholar based on academic records and recommendations are also eligible for loans under the Outstanding Rural Scholar Recognition Program. State funds are available through this program to match the rural sponsor's contribution. For each year that the student works for the sponsoring community organization after graduation, one year's principal and interest on the loan is forgiven.

There are now 10 rural Texas communities sponsoring students in the program in such health care fields as medicine, nursing, occupational therapy and physical therapy.

Many rural Texas communities already subsidize educational expenses for local students pursuing a health career. The Outstanding Rural Scholar Recognition Program can help a community ensure a well-trained and committed health care work force for the future.

Mrs. Kappas left here on Dec. 9 and returned home on Jan. 3. Peter, who had spent several months working in Thailand, had returned to California only a few days before his mother arrived for an extended Christmas visit.

Following the church service, a covered dish dinner was served to Cammi's parents and sister Stephanie; the grandparents, Charles and Mary Neu and Harold and LaVern Nortman; and godparents, David and Deana Tharp.

A decorated christening cake, made by Joyce Bengfort, was used as the dinner table centerpiece.

Muenster teams sting Alvord in district match

by Allison Klement
The Muenster Hornets and the Alvord Bulldogs were both coming off of big district wins when they faced off Tuesday night. Only one team, though, could continue the elation, and, luckily, it was the Muenster Hornets. Muenster led the entire game and snuck away with a 56-48 win over the Bulldogs. Muenster cruised to an 18-11 first period lead, but the aggressive Alvord team tied it at 31 going into halftime.

Rebounding was Muenster's salvation in the second half as they dominated the offensive and defensive boards. Alvord had many opportunities to score in the third but a powerful Muenster defense held them to only 4 points. The Hornets kept a steady advantage, and ended the game with a perfect 2-0 district record. Steven Fisher led the scoring attack with 13, Justin Ramsey sank 10, Ryan Sicking contributed 9, Darren Bindel 9, and Mike Hacker popped 5. With the win, the Hornets moved to 13-4 for the season.

"I thought Mike Hacker had a great game defensively and on the boards (12)," commented Coach Brian Strother. "Our team defense played great, as did the bench. Darren Bindel, Justin Ramsey, Kody Truelsen and Jay Hennigan all made a big difference in the game. Doug didn't score a lot, but had 9 rebounds - 6 assists and played really good defense. That's the best we played in every phase of the game," remarked a happy Coach Strother.

In previous action, the Lady Hornets stung Alvord 72-47 in an important district match. Three-point shooting dominated much of the first period as the Lady Hornets kept a 16-14 lead. But, the Lady Hornets' fast break offense kept the Bulldogs running as they doubled over their score to take a 42-21 halftime lead.

The third period started slow and Alvord tried to play catch up, but to no avail as the Lady Hornets outscored them 12-8 to take a 54-29 margin going into the final stanza. Both teams shot well in the fourth, but the Lady Hornets proved to be too much for Alvord as they took it, 72-47. Theresa Kubis and Danell Reiter came through again for the Lady Hornets as they scored 26 and 23 points, respectively. Amy Otto had 8 and DaLana Walterscheid scored 7. The girls reached the milestone 20-win plateau with the win and also go to 2-0 in district.

Friday night, both Muenster teams fight it out with the Knights at Lindsay and everyone is encouraged to attend the game.

"The girls were ready to play and experience showed. In the second quarter we went on a 26-5 run for a 42-21 lead. Our team defense was excellent," said Coach Brian Strother. "Our bench played great - Dianne Pagel played really well along with Candise (Abney) and Kristi (Bierschenk). Dianne's speed, along with everybody else's, really slowed Alvord down. DaLana Walterscheid was the leading rebounder with 6. Danella and Theresa played really well around games. The backbone of our team is our defense and all those girls were everywhere. This was a great win for our team and it's great to play so well going in to Lindsay," concluded Strother.

Muenster wins battle of Hornets

"This was a fast paced game and exactly what we wanted. We feel in a fast pace the odds are in our favor," commented Muenster Coach Brian Strother on the 71-46 district opener win.

After a small first-quarter lead, Muenster picked up the tempo and took a 30-21 halftime gain, with their press hurting Era. "In the second half we didn't want Era to get back into the game," continued Strother. "Our intensity was high and our pressure too much for Era's players. Muenster scored 22 points in the third for a 52-31 score going into the final period. "our bench was deep and played really well. This was a big win for us going into next week. The guys played great, playing hard and we worked together. That's what it takes when District play starts," concluded the coach.

Doug Hennigan had a game leading 21 points, hitting 6 of 7 free throws. Muenster had 16 steals in the game with Hennigan and Ryan Sicking leading the way. Sicking also scored 8 points. Steven Fisher and Justin Ramsey had a good all-around game, with Fisher hitting 14 and Ramsey 6. Mike Gobble also added 6, with A.J. Knabe, Jay Hennigan, Darren Bindel, Kody Truelsen and Mike Hacker all hitting 2 points each. Hacker again had a big game on the boards. Strother credits Mike for being a "good shot blocker." He has a knack when to go for the block.

Scoring for Era were Marty Rehm with 14 and Jorge Rodriguez with 10. Others included Matt Lyons, Javier Rodriguez, Nathan Potts, Steven Wolf and Will Turner.

Muenster wins district opener

Muenster's Lady Hornets traveled to Era last Thursday to start District play. "Everybody wants to stop the streak and we were a little nervous about the District opener," said Coach Brian Strother about his undefeated girls' basketball team.

Muenster started slow with the defense keeping them in the game. Era jumped out ahead with a low-scoring second quarter, 14-10. The second half the Red Lady Hornets put on the press and a lot of pressure, with a 13-0 run the third quarter. The girls turned up another notch and never looked back.

"The girls really played a great quarter. DaLana (Walterscheid) Theresa (Kubis), Danell (Reiter) and Amy (Otto) were stealing the ball off the press and giving the ball up to each other," told the coach. "Theresa was then hitting from the outside. Our bench played great: Candise (Abney), Dianne (Pagel) and Kristi (Bierschenk)."

Muenster scored 21 points the third quarter while giving up a total of 9 points the second half. "Our defense is the backbone of our team and all the girls can play great defense," concluded Strother.

Muenster's leading scorer was Theresa Kubis with 13 points. Others scoring were DaLana Walterscheid, Amy Otto, Danell Reiter, Kristi Bierschenk, Dianne Pagel, Candise Abney, Leslie Klement and Joy Tisdale. Otto was the leading rebounder, with Theresa Kubis and Walterscheid having 4 and 3 steals respectively. Reiter and 4 assists. Abney is also credited with two blocked shots.

Era's offense was led by Helen Baxter with 10 points. Veronica Fever, Jan Way and Misty Mathews also contributed points.

Tigerettes stop Lady Warriors

In their final tune up before District action the Tigerettes scored a 44-33 win over the Liberty Christian Lady Warriors Friday evening in Denton. April Truelsen scored 8 of her team high 10 points in the first period as she ignited the Tigerettes to a 16-9 first period advantage. Truelsen hit five of seven shots and snared 11 rebounds in helping her Tigerettes to up their season record to 9-12.

"April got us started and then everyone just fell in place," commented Coach LeBrasseur. "I felt Deanna Hess and Erica Schilling played big roles for us tonight." Schilling hit for 6 and Hess scored a bomb from 3-point land as the Tigerettes led by 10 at the half. Hess was also credited with five rebounds and three assists. Schilling was a perfect 4-4 from the line.

Other scorers for the Tigerettes included Deann Bayer 8, Shirley Henscheid 8, Jennifer Walter 5, Vickie Bayer 4. Walter and Vickie Bayer each collected 3 steals to lead the Tigerettes in that category. Next action for the Tigerettes will be Friday in the Tiger Den as they host the Lady Knights from Notre Dame. The JV boys will tip things off at 5:30 followed by the Tigerettes and the Tigers.

"The Lady Knights are a young team with exceptional athletes," said Coach LeBrasseur. "We hope we can pressure them into some mistakes and convert for some easy baskets." The Lady Knights are led by Mandy Cluley, a 5'10" sophomore who leads the City of Wichita Falls in scoring and Barbara Findley, a 6' freshman post.

Tigerette Tales
Tigerettes Christy Yosten and Jo Vagher missed the contest with the flu. Deann Bayer played sparingly after an accident on Thursday. The importance of the District games with Notre Dame are for seeding purposes for the District tournament coming up next month in the Tiger Den.

Tigers fall to Liberty in overtime period

Sacred Heart came so close to a victory last Friday in Denton, but Lady Luck wasn't on their side as they fell 78-69 in overtime. "This was by far the best game of the season, the first game we played all quarters," said Tiger coach John Nasche. "We stayed after it the entire game, the guys never let up. They showed real heart, being extra aggressive."

Liberty Christian took the first quarter lead, but Sacred Heart tied it to 27-27 at halftime. Scoring zig-zag, keeping it close, the Tigers had a 60-58 lead with 12 seconds on the clock. The Tigers, in an early attempt to kill the time, were fouled by the Warriors. With seven seconds remaining in the game, Coach Nasche called a time out. Kelly Bayer was to go to the line. Nasche gave instructions that if Bayer only hit the first shot, the team should not let Liberty score. If both went in, just let them carry the ball down court, because Sacred Heart would have a 4-point lead.

Bayer hit the first shot, giving the Tigers a 3-point lead. His second free throw also went in, but his foot inched over the line and the basket didn't count. With seven seconds remaining, Liberty brought in the ball, drove down the length of the court, and from there their leading scorer, Gaily, popped in a 3-pointer although Chris Hess was all over him, and tied the game.

Sacred Heart jumped into a 3-point lead in overtime, but got in foul trouble. Liberty hit 5 of 7 free throws in overtime to defeat the Tigers by 9 points.

"After all the smoke cleared, even though we lost, I was proud. They couldn't have played any harder," said Nasche. "For once we didn't beat ourselves, the other team beat us."

Liberty's Gaily was the game's high scorer with 32 points, 11 in overtime, and hit the 3-pointer at the buzzer to tie the game. He was their only player to hit in the double digits.

Stevan Nasche led the Tigers with 24 points. Kelly Bayer and Chris Hess also scored high with 18 and 13 points. Others adding points for Sacred Heart were Aaron Berres, Mark Flusche, Joe Bedowitz and Neil Berres. "It's a good feeling inside when I think about the boys' effort," concluded the coach.

Muenster, Era players receive All-Area honors

The Fort Worth Star Telegram recently announced their All-Area High School Football Team, selected by the newspaper's high school sports staff. Included in this year's honor, making the Second-Team Defense were Ryan Sicking of Muenster and Nathan Potts of Era.

Sicking, a senior member of the Regional Finalist Muenster Hornets, was named for his secondary position. He is credited for three interceptions, two fumble recoveries and 52 tackles this past season. Against Era, Sicking picked up a fumble and ran it 55 yards for a touchdown. Muenster's team defense gave up an average of 153 total offensive yards per game in 1991. That included only 20.4 yards in the air and 132.6 on the ground.

"Ryan's a very good defensive player," said Coach Grady Roller. "He's a very coachable player, able to read the opponent's offense." Roller also said the Hornet's rushing defense did force more passing and Muenster was known for their outstanding pass defense. Sicking was also named on the 17A All-District Football teams, including First Team Defensive Secondary, Offensive First Team Running Back and Defensive Most Valuable Player.

"Nathan Potts, a junior member of the Era Hornets, took the Second Team Punter honor. Potts was also on the First

All-District Team as punter and earned two places on Second Team Offense as the kicker and running back. Last season he punted 37 times for a 38.7 yard average. He punted eleven of those from inside the 20 and three from inside the 10, where the pressure is the hottest.

Potts also was the kicker for the Era Hornets and field goaler. On offense he led the team in rushing, carrying 153 times for 700 yards. This is his second year at Era. "Nathan's just a good kid, he works hard and always has a good attitude," said Coach Jack Turner.

Potts is following in the footsteps of his brother Waymon, who was the starting punter for three years at Central State University in Oklahoma.

Biffle makes Texas Sports Writers Team

Muenster Senior Jason Biffle has been named to the Texas Sports Writers Association I-A All-State Team. The left defensive end for the Regional-qualifying Hornets football squad, Biffle was chosen on the defense third team.

"Jason was enjoyable to coach, for two reasons," said Muenster Coach Grady Roller. "He's my nephew and he's coachable. He listens, does what I ask and plays hard. He's the kind of student you like to work with."

Biffle is credited with 96 tackles in regular season and 120 on the year. The season gave him 7 quarterback sacks and 4 fumble recoveries.

Biffle was also chosen unanimously for the 17A All-District Team.

Junior High/Junior Varsity Action

Muenster vs. Era

Muenster's Junior Varsity Hornets played their first District game Friday in Era and came up one point short in overtime to give Era a 54-53 win.

"The guys were ready, our shooting touch was there," said Coach Brian Strother.

The scoring went back and forth with Era having the first half lead. Muenster's shooting improved the 3rd, taking a 5-point lead going into the final period. "Jamie Hellman came off the bench to spark us with three 3-pointers," stated the coach. Muenster led the second half until Era tied the game 52-52 with seven seconds left into the game, to go into overtime. "We missed 7 of 8 free throws the fourth quarter to give it away," said the coach.

In overtime Muenster missed a few shots and Era scored a bucket to Muenster's one free throw out of three attempts. "Everybody played hard in their best game of the year," concluded Strother.

Cory Cain was Muenster's top bucket maker with 15 points. Eric Van Swearingen added 11, while Jamie Hellman hit 9. Also scoring were Cory Knabe, Jason Biffle, Daniel de la Mata, Rodney Vogel, Cody Klement and Jason Huchton.

Sacred Heart vs. Bellevue

In the Championship game Saturday the Cubs fell to Bellevue 46-37. "Their best game of the year even though we lost was this one," said Nasche. "It's really amazing, the improvement of the team."

In the close and competitive game, Sacred Heart led only early in the game, trailing during the remainder of the contest. Early in the third quarter the young Tigers closed to two points, but Bellevue had the hot hand and pulled away the 4th. Down by only 5, Sacred Heart failed to stop the clock and Bellevue hit five free throws to claim the win. This is the second year Bellevue took the Championship away from the Cubs.

County Agent's Report

Test Soil Now for Spring Crops

It's time to test soil and determine which fertilizer nutrients should be used for spring crops.

Sound soil fertility programs are the foundation upon which profitable farming businesses are built. A reliable test should be used to determine which nutrients can minimize losses and ensure that crop production is economical, environmentally sound, profitable and sustainable.

Nitrogen is the most frequently deficient soil nutrient, but it is sometimes over-applied. Extension testing laboratories in College Station and Lubbock can assess residual or carryover nitrogen levels in soils by analyzing for nitrate nitrogen. By determining the amount of available nitrogen in the soil, the lab can recommend what additional amounts are needed to reach desired crop yields, resulting in savings to producers.

Phosphorous is the second most commonly deficient nutrient in most Texas soils and should also be applied when tests indicate low or moderate levels.

Although most farmers do a good job fertilizing with nitrogen and phosphorous, micronutrient needs may be overlooked.

For instance, the TAMU laboratory has found zinc deficiencies in more than 50 percent of soil samples submitted from the Blackland Prairies. Corn and grain sorghum are particularly sensitive to zinc deficiencies. Cotton, wheat and other crops can also be affected.

Soil testing can help you make those major economic decisions with greater confidence.

Soil-test sample bags and details on soil testing are available at the County Extension Office in the Courthouse basement.

53 Texas counties declare disaster areas due to weather

These counties were declared disaster areas due to hail, drought, heavy rain, heat and humidity damage throughout 1991. These designations do not include the recent heavy rains.

Each loan application will be considered on its own merits, taking into account the extent of losses, security available, repayment ability and other requirements. North Central counties were not on the list.

Low-interest emergency loans are available to eligible farmers and ranchers in 53 Texas counties declared disaster areas.

U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Edward Madigan issued the disaster declaration for counties that suffered adverse weather conditions in 1991, making affected producers eligible for emergency assistance from the Farmers Home Administration.

Use caution —

Propane, ice don't mix

If you'll ask most farmers and ranchers who operate their homes on propane gas, they'll tell you of at least one time or another when they had an ice storm which caused their propane regulator to malfunction. Early on, these folks have learned of the importance of keeping ice off of the propane regulator. They have achieved this by whatever means available at the time. For some it was an old "toadsack" wrapped around the regulator or perhaps an old milk carton or other adaptation to offer some protection. These efforts were better than nothing but less than ideal.

A propane regulator is constructed with a small "vent" opening through which atmospheric air can pass to the back side of the diaphragm. Should this opening become obstructed, as can occur during an ice storm, then a malfunction can be expected. This malfunction may manifest itself in the form of a simple gas outage, or in the more disastrous form of a fire or explosion as full propane tank pressures are released into the home.

Becker's supply is offering a regulator cover designed to help prevent just such a malfunction. It is constructed out of a special sunlight resistant plastic that has passed UV chamber testing that simulates 3-4 years of sunlight exposure. The cover is very quick and easy to install using 6 stainless steel screws that are provided with the unit. No disassembly of piping is required. Two sections of special foam "filler" material is also provided to "fill in" around the various sizes of piping used in farm and ranch propane installations. This foam filler encloses well enough to keep "critters" out of the unit but doesn't obstruct air flow into the unit. A drain hole has been provided in the bottom of the unit. Whenever the cover is installed in an "upside down" position; Gordon Becker advises the installer to place a drain hole in the appropriate spot so that water from a driving rainstorm can escape. This "surgery" can easily be performed with a pocket knife.

On propane tank installations where the regulator is under the steel dome of the tank or otherwise protected, Becker's cover would not be required.

Certain regulatory and insurance agencies now recognize the importance of protecting and properly installing propane regulators. They are showing great interest in requiring customers to take measures to protect their regulators from icing conditions and storms.

Explanation of range seeding offered by SCS

Submitted by the SCS Office "What is range seeding?" This question is usually asked when the practice of range seeding is suggested. "Range seeding is planting native grasses, such as Little Bluestem and Indiangrass," said Sandy Heaton, Soil Conservationist at the Soil Conservation Service in Gainesville. "A lot of times, people think range seeding is seeding rangeland to any type of grass, but if you plant a tame grass such as Coastal or Kleingrass it is called pasture planting."

Another crucial difference between range seeding and pasture planting is the management. "Pastureland is almost always fertilized annually and has some type of weed control done, but range seeded areas are rangeland and not improved mechanically or chemically," said Heaton. "The only management for improved conditions is to manage the livestock grazing." By managing the grazing and deferring pastures, the plants will be strong and able to produce seeds for the following year.

But why range seeding when an introduced species will produce a better grass? It is true that the improved grasses combined with fertilizer and weed control will produce a better quality grass. But, fertilizer and weed control not only takes valuable time but can be very costly. "Native grasses are sometimes overlooked in their value," added Heaton. "These grasses have been growing here for thousands of years and have either had to adapt or die. They adapted which enables us to simply give them time to grow and reproduce so they will be here for a thousand more years."

When should range seeding be considered? Range seeding is usually done when there is less than 15 percent desirable forage plants available, after brush rootplowing, or converting old cropland fields. Obtaining seed locally is very important. "Seeds must be obtained locally," said Heaton. "Even if it is of a species adapted for the area. If a seed comes from a colder environment the growing patterns of the plant are very different and may not be able to tolerate our hotter weather." Seeds should not come from sources over 200 miles from the planting location.

If you would like to know more about range seeding contact the Soil Conservation Service. All USDA programs or assistance are available without regard to race, color, sex, religion, marital status, handicap or national origin.

Environmental issues popular with the media

During the past five years, environmental issues have been popular topics for stories in print media: more popular even than such problems as AIDS or cocaine abuse, according to the NEXIS News Monitor.

A scan of top daily newspapers, wire services, and business and trade publications using Mead Data Central's NEXIS information service found environmental issues were the subject of 80,980 news, magazine and wire service stories during the past five years. In comparison, print media wrote less than half that number of stories about AIDS and only one-fifth as many stories about cocaine abuse as about environmental issues during the same time frame.

According to the scan, environmental issues covered by the print media during the past five years include, in order of frequency: pesticides, toxic waste, acid rain, nuclear waste, oil spills, ozone layer, greenhouse effect, radon, and chemical dumping.

The most frequently covered topic, pesticides, appeared in the news scan 23,261 times out of 80,980 environmental stories.

A telephone survey of 2,000 Americans revealed that 74 percent believe government should keep environmental protection a priority, even if it means slower economic growth. Interesting responses include:

-55 percent would pay 50 percent more for garbage collection to insure long-term disposal;

-59 percent would be willing to add a quarter to the cost of a gallon of gas;

-74 percent would pay ten percent more for environmentally green grocery products;

-75 percent would give tax incentives to business to encourage more environmentally responsible behavior; and

-45 percent support jail time for CEOs of polluters.

Grow corn for winter warmth

One acre of shelled corn will heat your house or shop for an entire year!

American farmers are feeding the world, says Randy Bader of Monroe, Wisconsin. "Let them heat it!"

Corn furnaces, he adds, are pollution free...the most economical American made, American fed way of the future.

In these times of high energy costs, it makes sense to use a heat source that utilizes a resource that is readily available and cost effective. A corn furnace burns shelled corn, a renewable local commodity. Corn costs less per BTU than other heat sources, plus benefits the local economy by generating business for farmers. The cost of shelled corn, together with the efficient burning process of this furnace, produces an economical, ecologically safe home heating system.

A corn burning furnace feeds the corn into the bottom of the combustion chamber, therefore providing the most efficient fuel consumption. The residual ashes (clinkers) are then spilled over the top of the combustion ring into the ash pan. This process, in effect, self cleans the combustion chamber. Using an auger drive to meter the fuel allows for precise control of combustion. A UL listing assures you of a safe and quality product.

Your home's thermostat electronically controls the fuel feed system to provide a constant temperature. The furnace will remain lit as long as the bin contains corn, and will shut down automatically if the fuel supply is depleted. The low stack temperature and absence of creosote buildup eliminates the possibility of chimney fires.

The corn burning furnace has many advantages over wood heat. The large storage bin holds up to 10 days supply of fuel, which is automatically fed into the combustion chamber as needed. There's no need to load the furnace several times a day. The use of corn also eliminates the bark mess, insects, splinters, and storage and handling problems connected with the use of wood fuel.
