

Next Monday, June 14, is National Flag Day and all of the week is National Flag Week, a very fitting occasion to pause for a while and reflect on the blessings and ideals symbolized by the banner which we proudly call Old Glory.

The Stars and Stripes, displayed at more than half a hundred places in our town Monday, is not intended to commemorate an important historical event, but rather to draw undivided honor to itself, to emphasize the things that it stands for, the things which should make all of us proud to be Americans.

The flag stands for the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution, documents which come nearer than any others in recorded history in prescribing the Divine Plan for man's destiny on earth. Never before or since has a government gone so far in assuring the freedom and dignity and opportunity of its citizens.

Our flag stands for those noble ideals. It stands also for the wonderful progress this country has made because of those ideals. It was no accident that America from its humble beginning, far less developed than other countries, was able to become the world leader in less than a century and a half. Free men planning and working in an atmosphere of unhampered opportunity can do big things for themselves, and the total of their achievement makes a great nation.

Another mark of greatness that our flag stands for is America's magnificent record of help to the rest of the world. In two world wars and in Korea our men helped break the grip of tyranny on other human beings. And after the job was done they gave of their means to help rebuild the ravaged countries. And now again America is helping preserve freedom and dignity in Southeast Asia. Such generosity was unknown before our time. It is one of the noble ideals our flag stands for.

Those are just a few thoughts that come to mind as we think of the meaning of our flag. Many more could be recalled to help us appreciate that Old Glory is indeed a symbol of great glory.

But another thought is equally appropriate and is becoming increasingly important. Our flag, unfortunately doesn't rate like it used to, because too many Americans today do not appreciate their country the way they should. Many of us are slipping in patriotism and national pride, unconcerned with our country's heritage, prestige and integrity, while wrapped up in our selfish interests. Too many think only of what the country can do for them, not of what they can do for the country.

A greater menace even than the don't-care attitude is the subversive movement which seems to get stronger every day. An article elsewhere in this paper by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover tells how communists in this country are working constantly to spread their evil system and to discredit the traditional ideals of this country. They promote public demonstrations protesting our anti-communist campaign in Vietnam and the Dominican Republic. They hide behind our guarantee of freedom while working to destroy our freedom.

Those incidents and the treacherous attitude behind them have a sinister relation to Flag Day. It takes more than just the appreciation of patriots to enhance the glory of Old Glory. Also needed is a firm hand in dealing with those who dishonor it and some long neglected basic teaching to restore more general regard for values that count.

The safe return of White and McDivitt adds just a little more meaning to Flag Day. First of all their achievement was wonderful, a great tribute to American scientific progress. Even more so it is a tribute to American honesty and respect for human life. This flight, like all our others, indicates that our first concern is for the safety of our men. Unlike the Soviets, we cannot be accused of risking, and perhaps sacrificing lives in an effort to lead in spectacular stunts.

Community Nears Half Way Mark In Normal Harvest

A normal grain harvest is about half finished in this community and about 60 per cent finished at Lindsay and Gainesville. After a week which was broken by two small rains and during which cutting has been delayed each day by early morning dampness, some farmers have finished their wheat jobs and some still have not started.

At the same time other field work has been in progress, especially hay baling. Oats baling, delayed by rain, was finally fit to work. Some alfalfa and sudan were also ready. Farmers have had full days even though their wheat harvesting time was limited.

Reports on yields up to now indicate that the community average of wheat will be between 25 and 30 bushels per acre. Some fields have yielded less than 20 bushels per acre, and some have been over 35.

Tests generally are below 60, accounting for some of the drop in yield. Because of late and excessive rain the grain did not mature as it should have. Rains also caused some grain to fall over, leaving many heads too low to be harvested. And hail caused heavy damage in a limited area. Loss ranges from 50 to 100 per cent near Forestburg but is less severe closer to Muenster. Nearest hail was about five miles southwest of town.

The two showers since June 1 measured .30 on Saturday and .08 on Sunday. Total moisture for May was 7.52 and the total for the year to now is 15.53 inches.

Notes on Building and Improvement

Newest of the local building projects is a home just started for the Joe Galloways in the 200 block of North Sycamore. It will have three bedrooms, two baths, fireplace, double garage, central heating and cooling, brick veneer.

Across the street and about half finished is an addition to Dr. Kralick's house. The new part includes a bedroom and bath, family room, fireplace, and its own air conditioning unit.

Two homes are going up just beyond the northwest city limit. Ernest Medders is nearing completion on a Gold Medalion home to be used by the J. D. Howard family. It has three bedrooms, two baths, brick veneering, double garage.

Nearby is Larry Hennigan's, now at the painting stage. It features three bedrooms, two baths, brick veneering, double garage and central heat.

Tommy Dankesreiter has a good start on his new home in the southeast part of town. It will have three bedrooms, two baths, central heating and cooling, brick veneering and double carport.

A. B. Williams is nearing completion on his new house at Saint Jo. It is a brick veneer job with three bedrooms, two baths, double carport and central heat and air conditioning. When he moves his present house will be occupied by Mr. and Mrs. John David Meurer.

Settled comfortably in their new house are the Norbert Koeslers, a half mile north-east of town. They have three bedrooms and two baths, brick veneer, attached garage, central heat.

Also settled are the Mike Sloans in the northwest part of town. Theirs is three bedrooms, two baths, central heating and cooling, double carport and brick veneer. The house they left has been occupied by the Bernard McNamars.

The new building on North Main, which will be Texas Power and Light Company's Muenster headquarters, is due to be finished in a few days. It consists principally of an office and community room.

Urban Endres is about to start on a 50x100 building of pre fabricated steel for a warehouse. Location is Mesquite and Third.

Edgar Klement has just built a 56x70 hay barn.

Don Flusche has a new roof on his house.

J. B. Wilde re-finished the upstairs of his house.

Low Bid on Sewer Job Seems High To City Council

The contract for construction of a new sewer line at the east end of town was not awarded Monday night as originally planned. The council postponed a decision when it discovered that the low bid, for $25,000, was about $6000 higher than the engineer's estimate.

Mayor Earl Fisher said only two bids were received and both were high. And several others who had shown interest failed to bid. His belief is that contractors are afraid of finding trouble with rock formations.

The city council will reconsider the bid at its next meeting. If it is not accepted the council will have to ask for new bids.

Contracts Due Soon on 6 Dams For Clear Creek

Progress on the upstream flood prevention program on the Clear Creek Watershed continues at a rapid pace. Two dam sites have been contracted recently and invitations for bids are out on four more sites plus three sediment control structures.

Beavers Construction Company of Bowie was the successful bidder for construction of sites 37 and 43A. Site 37 is located southeast of the Leo Community on the Wayne Moss place. Site 43A is near Rosston on land owned by Ray and Opal Berry.

Bids will be opened at the Soil Conservation Service State office in Temple on June 16 on sites 1A, 1B and 114 and on June 17 on sites 29, 32, 105A and 202. Sites 1A, 1B and 114 are located near the Dye Mound Community on land owned by G. C. Scroggins, Delmar Norvell and the Sherrill Estate. Site 105A is to be built on the Mrs. Roy Kingery place near Dye Mound. Sites 29, 32 and 202 are between Rosston and Forestburg on the Luke Phillips, Clifford Maughan and Glen Huckaby farms.

In other programs on the watershed, site 19 on the Jim Christian place near Rosston is completed and detailed designs are being made for site 2 on land owned by Wayne Thompson and the Tompkins Estate near Dye Mound.

This brings the Upper Elm-Red District and Clear Creek Watershed Authority, co-sponsors in the project, a big step closer to their objective of controlling damaging floods on Clear Creek and its tributaries.

Is Muenster a Rich Community?

We have heard for years Muenster is a rich community. But is it? It is normal business for merchants to carry accounts for 30 days or until payday whichever comes first. If it is such a rich community, why do merchants have to carry approximately one-third of a million dollars on their books after the normal 30 days for open accounts. Do people have the money to pay and just disregard their obligations or could it be we, as a community, are not as well off financially as we have been led to believe. If people have the money and just disregard their obligations, they should have enough courtesy toward their merchants and neighbors to pay their bills. The merchants could then save borrowing money and adding the interest and bad debts on the people who pay. Or could it be we are not the rich community some people keep saying we are?

A STRANGE KIND OF LIBERTY

The chief losers if 14b is repealed are relatively few in number, and have little political muscle: They're the workers who want the right, if they don't like a particular union, or its leaders, or its policies, or if they simply cherish their independence, not to join. It's extraordinary that a nation so dedicated to liberty should want to take away that right; and that compulsory unionism should become a rallying-cry of people calling themselves "liberals." But we live in a strange world, even here at the gateway to the Great Society.

Women have invaded business, politics and bowling alleys and now they're moving into pool halls. Next thing you know, they'll be demanding to wash the dishes.

Communists At Work in U.S.

by J. Edgar Hoover
 America today is engaged in a deadly struggle for the survival of the free world. While our Nation is fending off the strangling grip of international communism on foreign soil, attempts are being made to undermine and distort its actions.

Tremendous pressure and criticism are being leveled against the President and the Congress to confuse and mislead the American public. Irresponsible charges of "invaders," "brutal aggression," and "sneak attacks" are used to discredit our Government in hopes it will be forced to abandon its role as defender of freedom. Some of this protest comes from legitimate peace groups and others who are opposed to the course of action being followed in Vietnam and the Dominican Republic. However, much agitation is part of a diabolical scheme contrived by the Communist Party, USA (CPUSA), an integral arm of the international communist conspiracy, the materialistic, godless ideology dedicated to ruling the world.

The CPUSA and other communist groups are seizing this opportunity to advance their cause by false statements and half truths. Particularly, the Party is seeking to influence the youth of our country through the communist-controlled W. E. B. DuBois Clubs and similar organizations.

The CPUSA encouraged and endorsed the student march on the Nation's Capitol on April 17, 1965, protesting United States intervention in Vietnam. Although not in actual control of this demonstration, the communists participated in the march and distributed copies of "The Worker," an east coast communist newspaper. Communist marchers from all over the country were present, and communist leaders claimed a major role in the demonstration.

This is a typical example of the Party's widespread campaign to influence our country's foreign policies. The strategy is not new, but it is effective. The Party is working through noncommunist groups and front organizations to embarrass our Government and disrupt its efforts. Communist leaders are striving to initiate other marches and demonstrations to keep their campaign of fear and terror rolling. We can expect that the Party will push for some type of nationwide action similar to "peace" strikes or work stoppages to emphasize their aims. These are methods which have served communist causes so well since the days of Lenin. Party leaders hope, of course, that more and more Americans will be duped and misled by these tactics. They envision a commanding wave of hostility against American policies abroad. The goal is to incite citizens to the point that they will demand American forces be withdrawn from Vietnam and other places, allowing international communism to take over and engulf more defenseless countries.

Fortunately, the strength and greatness of our Nation lie in its millions of patriotic and loyal citizens — Americans who will not swallow the Red bait of the cunning communist emissaries; Americans who rally behind our Government leaders at this crucial time; and Americans who are still proud to state, "I was born an American; I live an American; I shall die an American." (From FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin.)

People come in three classes: the few who make things happen, the many who watch things happen, and the overwhelming majority who have little or no idea what happened.

DISASTER BY DIRECTIVE

The first American famine is now in the making.

Eight million dollars worth of citrus fruits lies rotting in the ground in Florida. The colossal fruit and vegetable crops of California are in danger of withering in fields and orchards. In twenty-four other orchard and truck farming states a similar picture is developing. Farmers cannot plant seasonal crops with any certainty of getting workers to harvest them.

The nation whose God-given bounty and whose generosity of spirit have fed the world's hungry will tighten its own belt before the year is out—and for how many years to come, no one can say. The history books may call it the Willard Wirtz Famine, since it was triggered by the Secretary of Labor's decision that skilled and seasonal workers from Mexico, Canada and the British West Indies are no longer to be depended on for harvesting fruit and vegetable crops.

Growers, truckers, food canners and processors gave warning early this year of what might happen. But Mr. Wirtz ignored the warning. His efforts to enlist needed labor from the four million unemployed was a fiasco. These recruits largely from the cities and from industry, had no skill, no stamina and no stomach for stooping, for heavy boxes of produce or for 50-foot ladders, and few will last the season. Many, who hailed a trip to California or Florida as a vacation at the growers' expense, simply went over the hill when they found the work too onerous.

The approaching cut-back in food production is estimated to be greater than that of any drought, any freeze or any other natural disaster ever recorded in the United States. Its impact on farm operations is already such that many growers, now unable to plan production, are cutting back acreage, converting land to non-farm uses. Some are even moving across the border to Mexico.

Fruits and vegetables — whether fresh, canned, frozen or otherwise preserved — will be scarce and high-priced. And even now, the ranks of the unemployed that are of such concern to Mr. Wirtz, are being swelled by truckers and workers in the food processing industries.

But even more disturbing than the famine of 1965-66 (which it now appears too late to prevent), what of the future? Are we to continue on short rations at higher prices and continue to strain relations with the neighbors — both north and south — and by authority of bureaucratic edict? Or will the Congress finally come to the aid of the plain people its members are elected and handsomely paid to serve?

Annual Cost of State's Litterbugs Is $1.5 Million

Texas motorists paid for many miles of new highway last year. But they never were built.

Governor Connally emphasized this point in accepting the first of a quarter-million litter bags given to the Texas Highway Department by the Galveston Chamber of Commerce and the Galveston Convention and Tourist Bureau.

The bags will be distributed to motorists at each of the eight Tourist Information centers located at points of entry on key highways of the State and in the Capitol rotunda.

"The Texas Highway Department is charged with the construction and maintenance of the State's superb 66,000-mile highway system," Governor Connally said. He added:

"But the truth is that more than $1.5 million of taxes levied on highway users is wasted each year to pick up litter thrown along the right of way by careless motorists. This money could better be used to build more miles of new highways, and to protect the taxpayers' $4 billion investment in our existing system."

D. C. Greer, State Highway Engineer, pointed out that approximately 12 million visitors come to Texas each year. "These visitors represent an industry of more than one-half billion dollars a year," Greer said. "We hope that Texans will become conscious of our litter problem and help us present a 'clean house' for our paying guests."

New Law Raises Parent Liability For Vandalism

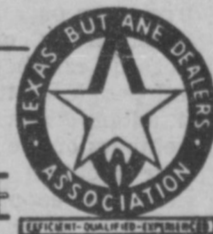

Parents of rambunctious children soon may be paying more attention to the activities of their offspring.

A bill passed by both Houses of the Legislature makes parents liable up to $5,000 for damages done by their children. Measure now is in the hands of Gov. John Connally for his signature.

It applies to 10 to 18 year olds who damage public or privately owned property. Sponsors of the bill are Sen. Jack Hightower of Vernon and Rep. Willis Whately of Houston. They contend that stiffer penalties than the present $300 maximum will curb vandalism.

Bill was prompted by the number of cases where homes and schools were being wrecked by vandals, but also it applies to such cases as false fire alarms and other acts of vandalism.

Lindsay Members Guests of Local St. Anne Society

Nine members of Lindsay St. Anne's Society were guests for the meeting of Muenster's St. Anne Society Sunday night. Mrs. Alphonse Hoenig, vice president, presiding officer, welcomed and introduced the guests.

Business was brief and routine. Members were reminded to contribute to the society's collection of first aid items to be sent to the mission exhibit at the state convention of the Catholic State League in Rowena.

Mrs. Leo Henscheid read a short spiritual article entitled "Pitfall Parents." Father Andrew Wewer, spiritual advisor, led the opening and closing prayer and Mrs. Arnie Hess drew the attendance prize. About 30 members were present.

After adjournment members and guests joined the Saint Joseph's Society for a social hour of games and refreshments.

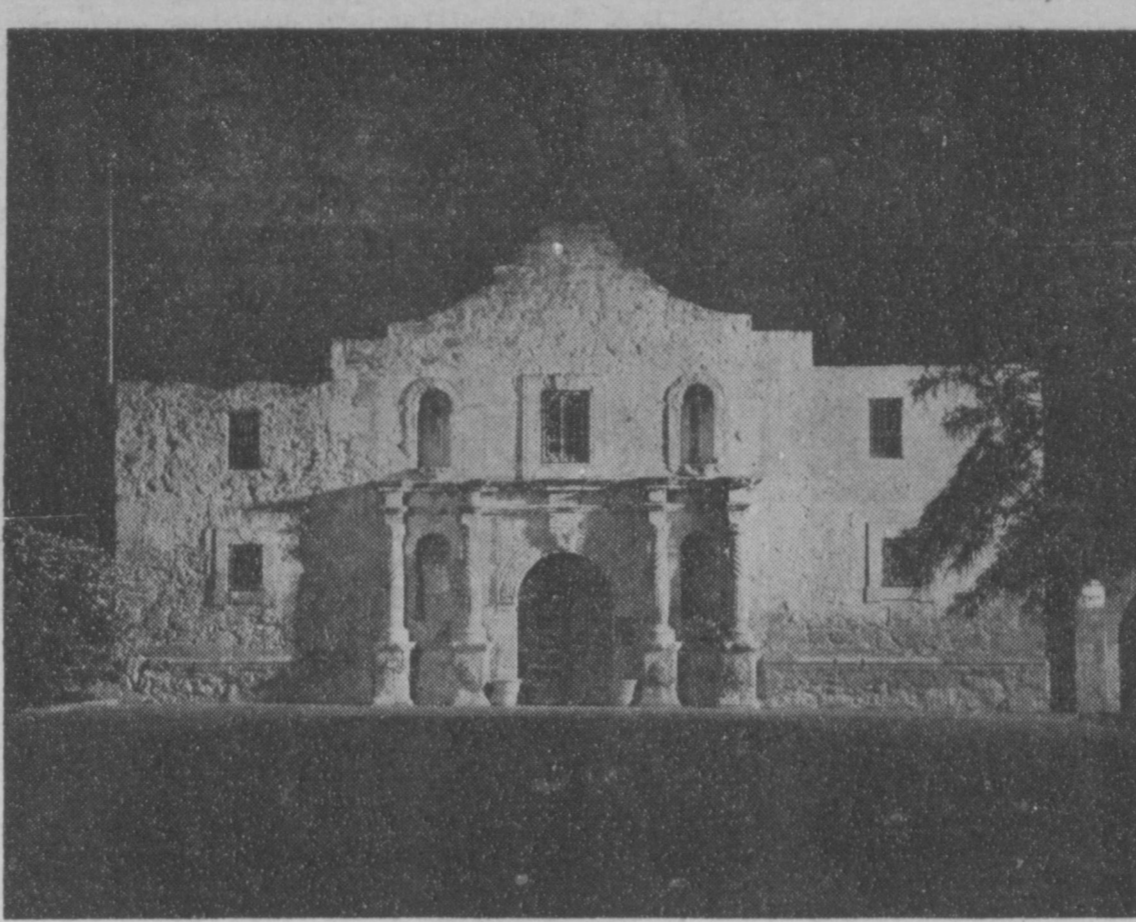

Anniversary Fete Honors 2 Couples

Two wedding anniversaries were observed Sunday when Mr. and Mrs. Lee Toothaker spent the day in Sherman with her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Bob McAfee.

The couple were celebrating their June 8 wedding dates early. For the Toothakers it was No. 43; for the McAfees, No. 45.

They spent the day at the Sherman couple's cottage at Club Lake, joined there by another sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Tims of Crowley.

The Toothakers told the rest of the party about their three-day vacation during the Memorial Day weekend. They spent the time fishing, boating and camping at the Lake of the Pines, going with their son and family, the Wallis Lee Toothakers, David and Glenn, of Fort Worth.

THE ALAMO'S NEW EVENING LOOK-This is the view which visitors to the Alamo are now seeing in San Antonio. The famed "Shrine of Texas Liberty" and Alamo Cenotaph are now illuminated by a lighting system donated by General Electric and installed by the City of San Antonio in cooperation with the Daughters of the Republic of Texas. The lighting is on from dusk to 11 p.m. every evening at the Alamo.

Mrs. Endres Hosts Get-Together Club

Next month's meeting will have Mrs. Joe Hoenig as hostess in her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Norbert Koehler and children are getting settled in their new home a quarter mile northeast of town. The farm place they vacated will become the home of newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. John David Fleitman.

grandchild, the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Tompkins, born Sunday at 1 p.m. They made the trip with their daughter and son-in-law, the Harvey Schmitts, and took their little grandson Kenney Hartman along. They visited first in Garland with the Teddy Gremmings, then went to see the Tompkins family at their home. It was there that they learned of the new baby's arrival and visited Mrs. Tompkins and daughter at the hospital. A telephone call from Arlington to report the news failed to reach the grandparents who were already away from home.

Jimmy Christians Are Honored at Wedding Reception

A belated wedding reception honoring Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy C. Christian was held Sunday evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard (Dick) Cain.

Mrs. Christian is the former Miss Sandra Kaye Cain, a 1964 graduate of Muenster High School. She attended the Powers School of Modeling in Dallas and worked as a model for Justin McCarty's in Dallas.

Mr. Christian is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Christian of Rosston and a graduate of Era High School. He attended TCU in Fort Worth and is in business with his father who is a bridge constructor.

For the reception the bride's table was lovely in a blue nylon cloth over blue with a double ruffled tier that fell in a cascade of folds to the floor. White lilies and white streamers graced the four corners of the board. The white, four-tier wedding cake was topped by the traditional miniature bride and groom under an arch of white bridal wreath.

Flanking the cake were crystal chandelier candelabra which were used at the weddings of the Cains' other daughters. The tall white candles were lighted by Mrs. Ralph Breeding of Gainesville when the reception started.

Mrs. Donald Volkman of Fort Worth, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Dickie Cain of McKinney, a sister-in-law, presided at the crystal punch service. Mrs. Wendell Richey, Muenster, and Mrs. Bill McCollum, Dallas, sisters of the bride, cut the wedding cake. Another sister, Mrs. Gene Hartman of Denton, and Mrs. Billy Christian of Stephenville, sister-in-law of the groom, helped open and display gifts.

Miss Debby Cain, another sister of the bride, and Miss Jill Swirczynski registered guests, about 200 relatives and friends of the couple. They came from Wichita Falls, Dallas, Bellvue, Saint Jo, Rosston, Denton, Fort Worth, Stephenville, Gainesville and Muenster.

The bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hogan and their band, joined by guest musicians, including the bride's cousins, Mike and Steven Rhone of Wichita Falls and Mrs. Charles Rhone, an aunt, and her daughters Rebecca and Kathy of Bellvue, furnished music for dancing on the patio and special numbers at intermission.

Tips From Your Hatchery

Wet weather has produced a bumper crop of bagworms. Better check your shrubs and shade trees today. The worms are easily killed while they are young. Most every flower bed has an abundant crop of sow-bugs, get a package of bait today and use it after each shower and those pests will soon fade away. Why not have a chigger free lawn this year? A complete yard spray not only gets the chiggers, it also is a big help to Steve in his efforts for a mosquito-free town. We have the ammunition to win the battle against cockroaches and termites. 300 at Forestburg See Waterworks Dedicated Sunday

Almost all of Forestburg—population 150—joined by visitors from far and near, gathered at the site of the new deep well Sunday afternoon at 2 p.m. to witness dedication of Forestburg's new $50,000 waterworks project. About 300 were present.

Set up at the site was a speakers' platform and a display themed on "The Progress of Forestburg." Mrs. Roxie Dunn and Mrs. Cleo Lanier, program chairmen, got an assist from other residents in gathering up a display of articles presumably dating back 107 years when Forestburg was settled.

Mrs. Dunn was master of ceremonies and the program opened with the pledge of allegiance to the flag led by Mrs. Lanier. Mrs. Dunn introduced speakers Michael Sloan of Muenster, John Cunningham of Gainesville and J. C. Embry, Forestburg school superintendent. Wassie Reynolds gave the welcome address. C. E. Cole, Church of Christ minister, gave the invocation.

The history of Forestburg's water supply unfolded from paddle washing in the creek, to operation of an ancient wooden wash machine built in 1902, through various stages of achievement to present day automatic washers. Participants at the exhibits wore costumes of the times.

Music was presented by a local male sextette. Their first song was "Long Long Ago."

The final scenes showed youngsters in a swimming pool and John Moore of the waterworks committee turned on the water to show the flow and pressure of the new system.

Among conversation pieces were old oaken buckets, ancient stone jars with gourd dippers, an improvised old dug well with wooden bucket, the antique wash machine and a six-foot operating windmill.

Members of Forestburg Home Demonstration Club served punch and cookies.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

What do man and grass have in common? Apart from man's dependence on grass for existence, personnel of the Soil Conservation Service point out that man and grass have much in common.

The basic needs of both are food and water. Enough is known about man to know that his stomach plays a major roll in his life. Food and water enter the stomach in a form which the body cannot use. There it passes through several processes before it can be absorbed by the blood stream and carried throughout the body. Much of this food is used by the body, but some is stored in the form of fat to be used later if needed. When this stored food is needed, it passes through a chemical process and becomes usable by the body.

Using the above knowledge about man shows a great likeness between man and grass.

The stomach of grass is its leaves. A solution of minerals, nutrients, and water is taken in by the grass roots and carried to the leaves (stomach). This solution enters the leaves in a form which the grass cannot use. There it passes through several processes before it can be absorbed by the pith (blood stream) and carried throughout the grass plant. Much of this food is used by the plant, but some is stored in the form of roots to be used later—if needed. When this stored food is needed, it passes through a chemical process and becomes usable by the plant.

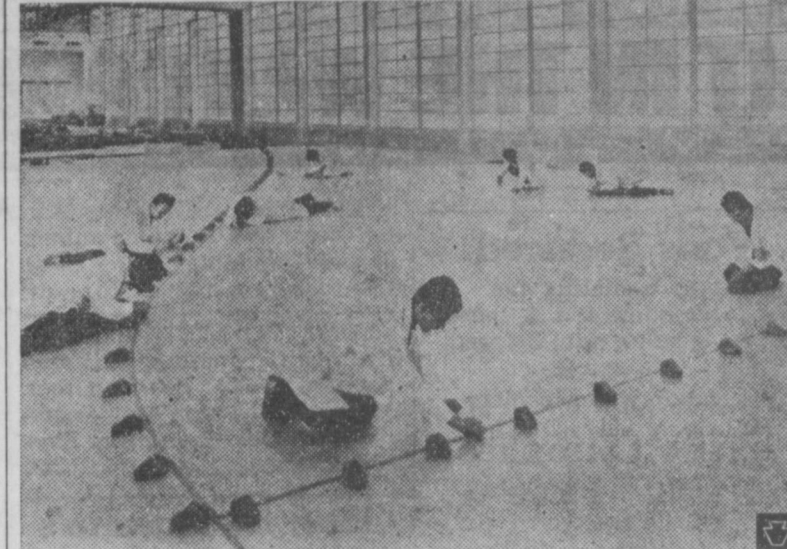

By using the above comparison, it shows that the stomach (leaves) of grass is literally destroyed when overused. This may be done by the landowner who grazes his grass too short or the urbanite who mows his lawn too short.

Man can live with part of his stomach removed and so can grass. For this reason, the SCS has always recommended that landowners properly use their grass by taking some and leaving some. When grass is overgrazed or mowed short, too much of the stomach (leaves) is removed and results in a slow, sure death for the plant.

Call or stop by the local SCS office for more information on the proper use of grass.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Trachta spent Sunday in Dallas attending a gift show at The Cabana. They took Mr. and Mrs. Larry Joe Walterscheid and daughter LaQuita of Dallas with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Fitch and children Wayne and Lee Ann of Dallas were recent visitors here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Al Hess.

Construction of the 1,450 m.p.h. Concorde supersonic jetliner, which will link the U.S. and Europe in less than 3 hours flying time, is progressing according to schedule. At present, cutting of major airframe parts for the prototype Concorde is well under way.

Pictured above are eight aeronautical technicians meticulously tracing the delta-shape wing at Sud Aviation's plant at Blagnac near Toulouse in southern France. The overall wingspan of the Concorde will be 83 feet 10 inches, the aircraft's length will be over 184 feet, and the total weight, 326,000 pounds.

The first flight of the Concorde prototype is scheduled for early 1968, and Air France, which has purchased eight Concorde's, has slated transatlantic passenger service for 1971.

The current cutting and actual manufacture of Concorde parts follows an extensive program of specimen production which began in 1960. To date, more than 8,000 different specimen parts have been put through exhaustive tests at the Aeronautic Test Center in Toulouse, France. Now, sub-contracts are being awarded for design systems including the supersonic jet's air conditioning, radio and navigation equipment, and other systems.

Test programs have also been launched for the Concorde's electric and hydraulic systems, and in 1966, static ground testing of the jetliner will begin in southern France.

When introduced into passenger service in 1971, Air France's Concorde jetliners will accommodate 118 passengers and fly between the U.S. and France at almost 25 miles a minute at a maximum altitude of 63,000 feet.

Larry Hofbauer Is On Bicycle Trip
Pedaling in Mexico

Cards and letters coming to Muenster for Mrs. Andy Hofbauer these days from her son, Larry Hofbauer, are full of interesting experiences.

Larry and a friend, both of Dallas, are on a bicycle trip to Veracruz, Mexico.

A yen for adventure had been bugging the young men and they decided to do something about it. They're on their way to Veracruz to spend the summer and study Spanish — pedaling on 10-speed racing bicycles.

They started May 22, headed for the University of Veracruz, plan to pedal 50 miles a day and reach their destination June 19. Their school starts June 28.

Admittedly, they "cheated" a bit. A friend took them and their bikes and their gear by stationwagon to Eagle Pass on the border and their pedaling started there.

They are sight-seeing along the way and if they are in a town at nightfall they check in at a hotel, otherwise they pitch camp and rough it.

Larry is a graduate of Sacred Heart High and of St. Mary's University in San Antonio where he majored in physics and got his degree in 1957. Feeling adventurous then he joined the army. Three years later he was a technical writer for RCA in New Jersey.

He joined LTV Continental Electronics in Dallas early in 1963.

A few months ago he met John Gray at a Spanish class at the Downtown YMCA. John felt adventurous too and together they planned the bicycle trip. John is a native of Boston, living in Dallas with his parents the past three years.

Both trained extensively for the bike ride. Larry logged 500 miles in one month pedaling around White Rock Lake.

And what will they do after the summer jaunt and Spanish classes? They said they'd return to Dallas, work a while again, and plan another adventure ... probably something like going to Europe.

The Dallas Morning News played up the trip with a feature story and a picture of the adventure-bound young men.

Larry Reiter Gets A&M Scholarship

Larry A. Reiter son of Mr. and Mrs. Alphons L. Reiter, has been selected as one of 98 Opportunity Award Scholarship winners for the 1965-66 school year at Texas A&M University.

Winners were announced by Dean W. J. Graff, chairman of the Faculty Scholarship Committee.

Scholarships ranging from $200 to $400 per year for one to four years are awarded on the basis of the student's academic record in high school, his scores on two College Entrance Examination Board tests, initiative, leadership, and other traits of good character, and his need for financial assistance.

Funds for the scholarship are provided through the Association of Former Students of Texas A&M, the University Development Fund and by interested citizens and organizations.

The scholarship recipients are also eligible for student employment if necessary.

Miss Margie Schoech and Miss Karen Endres left by plane from Dallas Tuesday to work at a summer vacation resort in Beach Haven, N. J.
