Cook officiated in a simple but impressive service which was attended by a small group of relatives and intimate friends

Simplicity and informality charered with greenery in baskets and given vantage placing to complete Construction work on the bridge the decoration of the parlor. Preceding the ceremony, Miss Clara Smith, a sister of the bride, sang "Because," Guy d'Hardelot, the plano accompaniment being given by wood Chamber of Commerce, will Mrs. Arch M. Wimberly of Cross Plains who also played Lohengrin's wedding march for the processional. Violin accompaniments were given by Chester Parks who played Victor Herbert's "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life" as the vows were pledged. Mendelssohn's wedding march was used for the recessional.

The couple entered unattended taking their place in the altar space before the minister who had pre-ceded their entrance. The bride was dressed in a becoming suit of heavy beige crepe with a blouse of eggshell lace. She wore a waist corsage of lilies and pink rose buds, and a strand of pink crystals and beige accessories completed her costume.
The groom was in conventional morning attire. Mrs. Wimberly wore a frock of beige crepe roma and Miss Smith's costume was of jade crepe. Each wore shoulder bouquets of sweetpeas and rosebuds.

Immediately after the ceremony is successories completed her costume. Examining trial was held Monday morning for Raymond Blackburn, charged with possession of liquor for sale. His bond was set at $500 and he was bound over to await action of the grand jury. According to County Attorney A. E. Nabors, Blackburn was arrested with half a pint of whiskey, after some had been bouquets of sweetpeas and rosebuds. Immediately after the ceremony an informal buffet breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents to relatives of the couple and the out-of-town guests attending the wedding. Guests were received in rooms attractively decorated with varied summer flowers. A dainty menu was served from the lace laid dining table centered with a mound of pink sweetpeas and roses guarded by tall pink tapers burning in crystal holders. Miss Mary Smith, also a sister of the bride, presided at a silver coffee service at one end of the table and at the other the bride's cake was served by Miss Lochiel Anderson of Brady, the groom's sister. Following the wedding breakfast, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson left for a short visit in Mineral Wells. The couple will make their home at 1800 Vincent Street upon their return to
