

Residents voice disgust with video business

by Janet Felderhoff
It was quickly made obvious at D W's Adult Video, a recently opened business in Cooke County, is not welcomed by most residents. A special meeting of Cooke County Commissioner's Court was called for Friday, Nov. 15 to send an order on sexually oriented businesses in unincorporated areas of Cooke County that has been in place since 1992. The 23 page order contained some language that as later found to be constitutionally vague. Commissioners met to consider sending that language to be more specific before dealing with the new video business. Commissioner Richard Brown asked Holly Stark, assistant county attorney, to plain if this type of business establishment could come into Cooke County. "Yes," she said. By the First Amendment of the US Constitution they are allowed in. This (the 1992 order) regulates them and we do have the authority to regulate them and license them." Ms. Stark noted that the county has police power — the authority to protect the health, safety, and welfare of its citizens. The regulations in the order are significant, she said. A sexually oriented business must be licensed. The county has 60 days after an application is made to either approve or deny it. Licenses must also be renewed each year. Fees must be paid and all regulations must be complied with. "This is probably the most significant regulation of a business that a county can do," said Stark. The order came out of Denton County from the TK suit when TK sued Denton County. Commissioner Virgil Hess stressed that he wanted the record to reflect that this order was adopted and approved by Commissioners Court in 1992 and that they were only considering an amendment to the order. Those attending were given the opportunity to voice their opinions or ask questions. Since DW's has not been licensed, Anne Scivally asked why the county couldn't refuse to license them. "You know what they're going to be doing out there," she commented. Ms. Stark replied that the county couldn't refuse to license a business complying with the order because it would be infringing on their freedom of speech and wouldn't hold up anyway. "If they get into compliance with this then they will be operating legally," Stark explained. "In this order the Sheriff's Department has the right to go in and make an inspection anytime they want to and if the business is not in compliance procedures will be taken to close them down." John Hollis wondered why the business couldn't be shut down now since they are operating without a license. County Attorney Tanya Davis replied that they could be charged with a Class B misdemeanor. "They could pay the fine and be open again in five, ten, fifteen minutes," she said. "A better option would be to file for the injunction, to seek to have them closed down until they come into compliance." Mrs. Davis indicated that once the amended order was passed they would be ready to take action. "I think we're short on county residents," remarked Sam Burkhart. "We ought to be overflowing this place and spilling onto the courthouse lawn and maybe down into the city park. This is the most irritating thing to me and I think that this county, in order to satisfy me and the other people in the county, are going to have to pursue this thing with the utmost diligence. I mean undercover, issue citation until these people perish and leave the county and be glad to do it. We need to involve the sheriff." Burkhart said that he knows from his 21 years of experience in law enforcement with the City of Dallas that if enough is put into a situation that some results will come from it. By crawling through the cracks, going after the people and getting them where it hurts is how to get results. "Everybody's mad about it that I know of and we're all in agreement about it, but we also need to be resolved. Let's not leave anything undone that can be done," he concluded. Other members of the audience suggested a variety of methods to ban or shut down the adult video business. Ms. Stark said that the county is getting and will be getting assistance from Denton County. Richard Brown noted that Denton County has tried about everything imaginable and that many of the things they have tried didn't work. Eddie Chennault said that he was all in favor of regulations and feels that the regulations should be as tight as possible by law. "There's no doubt that they are in violation of the law right now," he said. "I went by there last Wednesday with another pastor friend of mine. They had a sign — OPEN, people were coming and going. Let's do what we can do right now and then we can continue to pursue the restraining order." Another person voiced concern about the image being projected of Texas since the first thing a person coming across the Red River into Texas sees is now the adult video store. Another added that within 30 miles you see another one and was this going to be a trend. After all had a chance to voice their opinion, Commissioners court voted 5-0 to amend the order.

Red River Art Show paints picture of talented community

by Janet Felderhoff

Local participation and support was strong. All of the top winners were local. There was a total of 683 entries overall. The only negative heard was that people wished that the entries would be on display for a longer period of time. Next year sponsors plan to schedule the show so that the public will have two days to view the entries. ## Cooke County Chorale welcomes two youngest members

by Stephen Bonin

Since the Cooke County Chorale is listed in North Central Texas College's schedule of classes (as College Chorus), teenage members are expected - along the lines of 17, 18, or 19 years. Several of the "Messiah" singers fit that category. This semester, however, two very young singers - 13-year-old Jackie Bartush, and 12-year-old Elizabeth Fette, both of Muenster - lower the youngest age and offer hope and happiness to the mostly around 50 and over, volunteer choir dedicated to classical music. Bartush and Fette, who are best friends, have both received primary vocal training at Sacred Heart School and in the Sacred Heart Church Children's Choir. They knew they were destined for vocal music involvement because of others' reactions to their volume in church! "That's loud! Why did you do that?" is what Bartush remembers hearing when she - according to them - "screamed" the sung Lord's Prayer in kindergarten. If the Children's Choir would have taken her then, she would have joined. The minimum age of third grade is when she did.

For Fette, it was second grade, when her classmates accused her of singing too loudly. The next year the Children's Choir received her!

An eighth grader just getting active in Girl Scouts, Bartush has studied piano and for two years studied voice under Chorale soprano Brenda Marmaduke of Nocona. (Her daughter, Carol Marmaduke, 20, sang with the Chorale at age 13; she's the only other in the organization's near-30-year history).

Fette currently takes piano and flute, the latter under Chorale soprano Terry DeGarmo, who played flute solos as part of the choir's European performances in summer 1995. Last Spring Fette played a flute duet in a festival.

The Children's Choir that these two young ladies sing in plays a vital role in music at Sacred Heart Church, in which an all-volunteer team of musicians manage themselves in small ensembles and choirs. The fervent participants reveal a model for all church musicians - so many helping out that no one has to play or lead singing two weeks in a row.

About a month ago the choir performed a Disney songs concert. Bartush sang "When You Wish Upon A Star," from Pinochio, and Fette sang "Part of Your World," from The Little Mermaid. Furthermore, the choir sings weekly at the church Masses.

When asked to compare and contrast the Chorale with their Children's Choir, both focused on the difference - translate "harder" - music with emphasis on diction and four-part harmonies. Moreover, they eagerly anticipate the presence of an orchestra, which will accompany the Chorale at the December 6 performance.

Regarding their ability to handle the difficulty, Chorale soprano Pam Fette, who directs the Children's Choir, said, "They've been sight-reading all these years. With (another Chorale member) their music teacher Ruth Felderhoff, they learn songs quickly. Also, they have been developing beautiful diction."

As to their best musical moment so far, Bartush regards the recent Disney concert, and Fette regards singing the solo "Psalm of the Good Shepherd" at a funeral for the mother of one of her teachers.

The Chorale will sing Messiah at Sacred Heart Church Friday, Dec. 6, 7:30 p.m. Tickets are available at the Muenster Enterprise.

From My Side of the Fence

by Ed Cler

For tourists and sightseers, the southwestern corner of South Dakota has much to offer.

The Badlands area is an eye-catcher. Mount Rushmore, Crazy Horse Mt., the Black Hills, and Custer State Park with its wild jackasses and large herd of buffalo, or bison, are all more than interesting, as are many other points of interest.

As we neared Custer State Park, I was telling our traveling companions, Bill and Rita Hoehn, of the many buffalo we would soon see, but after entering the park and driving for miles, I was keenly disappointed at not having seen even one of the shaggy beasts.

While stopped at some point of interest, we got into a conversation with other park visitors who told us why we were not finding any buffalo. They informed us that the park has an annual buffalo roundup and we might be lucky enough to see a part of it in progress.

Well, after driving on a short distance, we saw many vehicles parked on a hillside in the distance, and after topping a hill we found the same just ahead. Also the road was blocked and closed to thru traffic.

A park ranger advised us to park along-side the road along with many other cars and pickups, and we would soon be treated to a most unusual sight.

After a short wait, we could see the buffalo moving toward us and as we watched, the stream of animals seemed to grow in size and numbers, and we could soon discern many riders on either side.

This yearly event, we learned, attracts hundreds of sightseers from a large area and many real and urban cowboys come out to join in the drive and enjoy the thrill, and yes, the danger of driving these wild and unpredictable beasts into special corrals, built to hold them.

We could see the respect the riders had for the buffalo. One of the bulls threatened them, they would quickly turn away, and the beast, feeling safe again, would move along with the herd.

Once penned, the animal were fed, and water was available for their needs. Hundreds of buffalo are inspected, some are tagged and branded and some vaccinated for various diseases they may come in contact with. Some are culled for age or other reason and sold for meat and hides.

We all felt blest to have had a ringside seat at such a unusual and most interesting sight.

N.E.T. retreat set for Dec. 8

by Eric Gray
A FAMILY AFTERNOON

Families are asked to bring a treat and/or soft drink to share. And yes, the retreat is for everybody, with or without a family of their own, the older ones, younger ones, and all in between, married, divorced, single, etc.

N.E.T. is a Roman Catholic ministry conducting retreats throughout the United States, Canada, Australia, and New Zealand. They specialize in encouraging and fostering personal relationships with God, utilizing the sacraments, and offering a life of faith and service to retreatants. Past Muenster folk who have served on N.E.T. are Bernard Yosten, Ricky Walterscheid, and Eric Gray.

J.E.L.L.Y movie afternoon

Pickles, popcorn, soft drink, and "Forever Young" all joined forces together last Sunday afternoon as the junior highers gathered together to partake of it all in the C.C. Main Hall. With lots of opportunity to see the 3 R's of life relating (relating, reconciling, and renewing) the feature showed how beautiful (and how difficult sometime) true love can be.

After the movie, Ernie Martin announced about the J.E.L.L.Y. December event on the 22nd of that month: a costume party about the true meaning of Christmas. In order to attend, junior highers must be registered with a team with Eric Gray and must be in costume. Gifts will be awarded.

To wind up the afternoon, a rousing game of Duck-Duck-Goose, followed by inclusive Elephant-Whale-Cow sent everybody off with a grin.

Life Teen Surprise Nite is a gamble

by Eric Gray
 "What is it?" "Are you going?"
 "I gotta go. Mom said."
 "What's the surprise anyway?"
 "What's going on?"

Such was the conversations leading up to Life Teen's surprise Nite last Sunday. The only hint given was to the parents: it's a night on chastity, no. 4 in the series, but it's still a surprise!

Entering the C.C. Main Hall students saw decorations of dice, a slot machine, and huge cards. "Gambling! Cool!" "No, they just want to fool us. What is it?"

Paper was distributed to each person, and then partners chosen and the paper shared; half from each to their partner. This happened again, and again and yet again. By then, everybody had 16 pieces of paper from other people, and some of the paper was colored.

The students then found out the gamble: sexually transmitted diseases (STD's)! Each color was a different one. After 4 exchanges, all 16 people present were "infected", whereas only 8 had color to start with. As each color was explained, and there was not a nice one in the bunch! Students had already learned a good bit about STD's from the "Aim for Success" program on Tuesday, Nov. 5 with MHS and SHS. It was quite obvious, the dangers involved with sex outside of marriage. As was said in the evening, "God is forgiving, but Mother Nature is not."

Students saw how STD's will affect their hopes and dreams, plans for the future, potential marriage (becomes not very potential), and more. So, of course, the only safe sex is with your spouse in a loving marital relationship. Chastity enables someone to truly be free to pursue hopes and dreams. It is a source of joy. Sex outside marriage is a source of fear and worry, not exactly loving.

The evening closed with a prayer to help all those people caught in or involved in sexual relationships outside of marriage. Each student spiritually adopted someone to pray for them whether they knew the person or not. Thanks was given that the STD's "contracted" that evening were only on paper for those present. Unfortunately though, according statistics, in the 2 hours it took to have the evening, 655 people did contract an STD somewhere in the world. God bless us everyone, and grant us all chastity from now on forever.

Contest season winners announced

After calculating, refiguring, and adding last week's scores, the Muenster Enterprise is ready to announce its season winners in the football contest. It's a tie! Doug Stoffels and Neil Huchton came from behind the last two weeks. Each guessed 323 out of 400 games for a 80.75 percentage for the season. They will be awarded their cash grand prizes, $150 between the two.

A total of 25 contestants entered every week and were eligible to win the season contest.

Finishing in third place with 80.25, 321 games, were Wayne Klement and Nick Stoffels. Mike Stoffels, who led most of the season, had poor scores the last two weeks, and dropped into fifth place along with John Nasche with 319 games and a 79.75 percentage.

Mike Felderhoff came in seventh at 79 percent, followed by Barbie Barnhill, 78.75; Peachie Huchton 78.25; and Mickey Haverkamp and Edgar Dyer at 78 percent for the top 10 finishers. Others, in order of finish, were Dave Reiter, Brian Herr, Edna Hermes, Benny Haverkamp, Mark Grewing, Bonnie Stoffels, Jamie Hellman, Carol Grewing, Jon LeBrasseur, Tim Bindel, Aaron Hess, Steve Bevers, Cory Knabe, and Wilfred Bindel.

Last week everyone picked Texas, North Mesquite, Notre Dame, Nocona, Boswell, Celine, and Texas Tech. All contestants were given two pro games that were included in the contest from the previous week. Only one entry missed Windthorst, Frisco, A&M, Denison, and Granger.

Three contestants picked Lindsay to win. In the tie breaker, most picked Holliday by two touchdowns. Getting close to the tie breaker score were Jon LeBrasseur 28-7 and Wilfred Bindel 30-10.

Everyone missed Celeste's 14-7 loss, while only one guessed S.W. Texas State to win and only four picked Redskins.

For week 11, Doug Stoffels took first place with a score of 34. Edgar Dyer and Wayne Klement finished with 33, so with the tie breaker, Dyer took second place with a nine point difference. Klement was third with 13 points. They picked up their winnings at: first Metzler Brothers BBQ Drive In; second Christi's Jewelry; and third Red River Liquor.

Coming in a close fourth with 32 correct games were Barbie Barnhill, Mark Grewing, and Ray Long, followed by Charles Edwards, Mike Felderhoff, Brandon Grewing, Benny Haverkamp, Neil Huchton, Peachie Huchton, Dave Reiter, and Nick Stoffels with 31.

1996-97 Lady Hornets anticipate a winning season

The Muenster Lady Hornets will be a team that plan to compete for a playoff spot despite inexperience. Ponder has been picked as the favorite to win district. Era, Collinsville, Saint Jo, and Muenster will all compete for the other playoff spot. Youth is the word for all the district teams. Only Collinsville has more than 2 seniors on their team.

"I believe if our younger players gain some experience and learn from it we will compete for a playoff spot." Coach Danny Vernon said.

Leading the way for the Lady Hornets will be 5'10" senior Brandi Lutkenhaus. She will move from wing to post this year. "I hope to take advantage of her height and quickness in the low post area." Said Coach Vernon.

Also returning to the varsity team will be 5'6" guard Keisha

Dill. "She will be our point guard and looking for her to have good floor leadership."

The rest of the team will all be newcomers to the varsity. The juniors will be Stephanie Huchton, Emily Felderhoff, and Mindy Endres. The sophomores will include Kinzie Gerstberger and Dee Dee Walterscheid. Freshman making the team include Heather Hess, Kelly Felderhoff, and Allison Endres.

"The girls basketball program is looking really good right now with about 55 players in the program from grades 7-12. Our biggest problem we face is a lack of varsity experience this year. The team this year will be more up tempo on offense and will be a solid defensive team!" Coach Donny Vernon said.

The girls' program is assisted by Randy Tankersley and Jerry Eckart.

Eagles blow Knights away

In their first season in class 2A, the scrappy Knights proved tradition continues at Lindsay High School, as they advanced into the bi-district playoffs as the district runner-up last week. But that's where the season ended. The Knights were paired against a big, tough Holliday squad last Friday in a windy Memorial Stadium in Wichita Falls.

"The weather factor took away our game plan. We wanted to throw and couldn't," commented Coach Charlie Meurer. "When two kickoffs hit the wind, fall short, and they (Holliday) recover...it made a difference in the game."

The Knight offense began play on the 23 yard line. A fumbled play hurt the drive and Lindsay punted into the wind.

From the 45, the Eagles first three runs 12, 13 and 22 yards quickly took Holliday to the 8 yard line. Three plays later Holliday scored. The PAT kick was good for a 7-0 score four minutes into the game.

score with 1:26 remaining in the first half.

Again the wind interfered with the kick and again the Eagles recovered the ball.

After seven plays, on fourth and 7 on the 15, Holliday attempted a field goal. It failed and Lindsay got in one unsuccessful run, only their fourth play in the quarter, as the half-time break finally arrived.

The Knights again took the starting kick, but were unable to get the needed ten yards and punted. From Lindsay's 44, the Eagles took only four plays to score another touchdown. The extra kick gave Holliday a 30-7 lead with 8:25 still remaining in the 3rd quarter.

Beginning at their 20, the Knights next drive was highlighted by a 32 yard Hanks run, in which the ball was knocked loose, but Robert Sharp covered and Lindsay's drive continued. The Knights almost got to midfield, but had to punt on 4th and 16.

It was three plays and punt

"I was proud of these boys. They never gave up - not the whole year," ended Coach Meurer.

After the touchback kick, Lindsay began their next drive on the 20. Zach Bowman and Shawn Hanks could only get 7 yards, and Lindsay punted.

From midfield, the Eagles slowly pounded a few yards each run with Clint Gallagher, Jamie Baggs, Aaron Krebs, Hank Huchton and Isaac Zimmerer holding the Eagles back. On fourth and three, Gallagher stopped the runner a yard short and Lindsay took over. Hanks carried five times for 27 yards, Bowman twice for ten and Steven Tepera got 4 yards to get the Knights to the 11 yard line as the second quarter began. Two more Hanks runs took the line to the three. Zach Bowman then went in for the score. Krebs booted the extra point to tie the game 7-7 with 10:58 remaining in the 2nd period.

Holliday dominated the rest of the quarter. Their third drive began at the 20. Thirteen plays later, the Eagles scored an eight yard run. The extra run gave Holliday a 15-7 lead with 4:50 still on the clock.

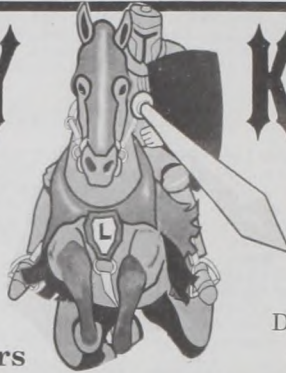

The Eagle kick-off hit the wind and fell short. Holliday recovered at the 40 and eight plays later scored again. The PAT run was good for a 23-7 for the Eagles, with Lindsay taking the ball on their 28. Runs by Hanks and Tepera moved into Eagle territory as the final quarter began.

Two Holliday penalties assisted the Knights in getting to the 27, but after four attempts, the Eagles took over on the 24 with just over nine minutes remaining in the game. Holliday ran 14 plays to the Knight 19 yard line and on fourth and 10, attempted another field goal. It failed and with 1:12 on the clock, Lindsay's offense took over on the 20 yard line. With the wind at their backs, the Knights took to the air. Two incomplete passes were followed by a 63 yard completion to Robert Sharp to the 17 yard line. Another two incomplete, then a pass interference and an 8 yard completion to Sharp to the 5 yard line.

On the ground Hanks appeared to clear the scoring line, but the ball was marked about one foot from pay dirt. A quick thrown ball stopped the clock allowing enough time for one more play. A Bowman keeper fell short as a hurry-up offense failed against a slow moving Eagle defense and a 30-7 bi-district loss.

Farm & Ranch

theme for 1996 Farm-City Week, November 22-28

"Partners in Progress"

Centuries ago, Pilgrims established Thanksgiving as a time to express gratitude for a bountiful harvest. In 1955, National Farm-City Week became an annual, companion celebration to reflect on the blessings rural and urban residents and communities enjoy as a result of their long-standing relationship.

Tim Hartman, a wheat producer and president of the Cooke County Farm Bureau, says the ongoing theme of the upcoming National Farm-City Week, Nov. 22-28, is "Partners in Progress."

"Farm-City Week recognizes the interdependency between those of us who provide food and fiber, and our city neighbors who are a part of the cycle from farm to finished product," Hartman explains.

The Cooke County Farm Bureau points out that farmers are dependent on communities, cooperatives and job creating services, such as transportation, processing, advertising and marketing. So, they count on consumers to ultimately select and purchase their goods.

"At the same time, virtually everyone in this country, and much of the world, relies on agriculture producers to feed and clothe them while about one-fifth of the nation's employees look to agriculture to provide their paychecks," he notes.

According to Hartman, modern science and technology as allowed U.S. producers, who comprise less than two percent of the population, to each produce enough food to feed 128.7 people annually.

Hartman says it is only fitting that the week ending on Thanksgiving Day be set aside to observe the nation's rich agricultural heritage and its economic benefits.

"Most of all, Farm-City Week is a tribute to the accomplishments of rural and city folks who continue to work together in harmony to meet the needs of a growing nation," he observes.

Sales Tax exemptions

According to the Texas Comptroller's Office, sales tax is not due on the sale of hay, corn, oats, and other types of feed normally consumed by farm and ranch animals, animals that are held for sale in the regular course of business, and wildlife.

Fish are commonly considered to be wildlife; therefore, perishable fishing bait also qualifies for the sales tax exemption.

Leaping llamas!

Did you know that Texas has more than 1300 llamas? That according to a recent special survey of hoofed exotic animals conducted by the Texas Agricultural Statistics Service. The agency surveyed farms, ranches, zoos, petting zoos, safaris, circuses and other operations owning exotic animals to get a comprehensive inventory of these animals in the state.

In addition to the llama numbers, the results also revealed 105,886 head of deer, 51,498 antelope, 428 exotic sheep, 5110 head of exotic goats, 1759 head of buffaloes, 646 zebras and 437 gazelles. Respondents also reported inventories of camels, exotic cattle, elephants, giraffes, gnus/wildebeests, hippopotamuses, exotic oxen and rhinoceroses. The exotic animals were reported in 194 of Texas' 254 counties.

Licking her newborn calf may provide extra pain relief to a cow that has just given birth. In Canadian research, cows that ingested amniotic fluid were less sensitive to pain an hour after parturition. Eating the placenta did not have the same effect. The study also revealed that cows that ingested amniotic fluid versus those that didn't, had a higher feed intake the day of labor. Also cows ingesting the placenta had a 20% higher colostrum production in the two days following the labor.

Emu quarterly meeting

The Zone 4 Texas Emu Association will have their quarterly meeting, Sat. Dec. 7, 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the Gainesville Civic center. The public is invited. The meeting includes speakers, vendors, lunch and raffle.

Entry with lunch and door prize ticket is $8. Lunch includes three selections of Emu meat, cole slaw, beans, and Emu cake.

For reservations call Tammie Hope, 726-3600.

Moo-sic appreciation

Two studies conducted by Indiana University music therapy professor Alicia Evans may have dairy farmers everywhere pumping up the volume while pumping milk from their cows. The first study exposed 42 Holstein cows to different varieties of music and measured the volume of milk produced with each type of music. Evans found that cows tend to prefer classical music over rock music. The cows produced 5.5 percent more milk than average during classical sessions, and 6 percent less milk when listening to hard rock bands.

silence, the cow's milk production dropped significantly.

So, apparently, whether it's rock to Rachmaninoff, more cows may be hoofing to the beat, all in the name of great milk production.

Scours may cause loss to calf sales

The economic loss due to scours figured to a $8.50 per calf in a 14 year study conducted at the Northern Agricultural Research Center in Montana.

- Some interesting points:
- * Calves that scoured averaged 20 pounds less at weaning.
  - * On an average 35% of calves contracted scours.
  - * In the study 1% of the calves died of scours.
  - * Calves born to younger dams are more at risk.

Farms face Pressure

Mid-sized farms (those with sales between $10,000 and 100,000 annually) face the greatest economic challenge of staying solvent because they are usually not large enough to support a full-time farming operation.

Farms of this size have declined about 25 percent since the early 1980s, and this downward trend is likely to continue.

The number of farms with sales of over $100,000 annually has also decreased, but not as sharply as the mid-sized farm decline.
