Leonard Hartman named Texas Farm Bureau Pioneer at convention

by Janet Felderhoff
Muenster native Leonard Hartman was one of 14 Texas Farm Bureau Pioneer Award recipients from across the state. The Texas Farm Bureau Pioneer Award is a lifetime achievement for serving agriculture and Farm Bureau.

Hartman was recognized for his contributions to several Texas Farm Bureau committees, including the national affairs committee, resolutions committee, and the tax watch committee. County committees on which Hartman served include beef cattle, wheat, forage, and hay, nominating, and budget committees.

Presentation of plaques to the Pioneer Award winners took place during Texas Farm Bureau's 64th annual convention held in Irving Nov. 30 through Dec. 1. Family members attending the presentation included Leonard's wife Emily and children Tim and Janie Hartman, John and Colynda Hartman, all of Muenster, Jeanann Biffle of Stephenville, Karla and John Kintz of Temple, and Marilynn Hartman of San Antonio.

These individuals will also be honored in a special ceremony at Texas Farm Bureau headquarters in Waco. Their photographs will be permanently displayed in the auditorium of the headquarters building.

Donations needed to help brighten holidays

by Janet Felderhoff
Preparations for holiday celebrations are in full swing. With all the shopping, baking, and decorating, it is sometimes hard to remember that there are people who will not have special foods, surprise packages, new clothes, or maybe even just the necessities this Christmas.

If you care and want share, the Muenster Social Concerns Committee needs your help. This year's list includes 13 children ranging in age from 9 months to 12 years. Donation of food, toys, clothing, and other items will help to brighten the holidays for these children.

Until recently one of these families lived in their car. The children stayed wherever they could. Meals were eaten in a home, but still have needs. The Social Concerns committee's list of children includes two girls age five (clothing size 7-8) and age 12 (size 12); three boys ages three (size 4-5), six (size 8-9), and nine (size 12); two boys ages five (size 6-8) and eight (size 10); two girls ages one (size 24 months) and three (size 4-5); a seven year old boy (size 8); a nine month old boy (size 12 to 18 month); a four year old boy (size 5 slim); and a five year old girl (size 6-8).

Also on the list are a number of elderly people. They will receive baskets of food, toiletries, etc. Paper items are also good to donate since food stamps don't cover these purchases, said chairman Patsy Bayer. They will be assembling Christmas baskets for those who could benefit from them on Thursday, Dec. 11 in the Fellowship Hall of the First Baptist Church in Muenster. They will begin about 4:30 p.m. and those who wish may drop off donations at that time. Also there are baskets at Fischer's Market for donations, a box at Tender Loving Care Day Care Center, and donations of toys, etc. can be left at Hess Furniture.

Police chief explains new rules, regulations

by Daryl Ferber
Police Chief Helen Tompkins spoke to the City Council at their December meeting Monday, concerning the new rules for citizens under 18 years of age. She has given the information to Muenster youths, regarding the penalties of underage smoking and drinking while driving. She also will be alerting the parents with an article for the paper concerning these rules. She reported that the holiday weekend was quiet and fewer citations have been written recently.

Rufus Henscheid appeared on behalf of the Southtown Development Corp., asking for a 60 foot street easement extending West Eddy Street. A resolution was made giving them permission to sell a lot 70 feet north of the city limits and along Ash Street. A first reading was made to amend City Ordinance 215 of water and sewer rates, to increase the renter's water deposit from $50 to $100. Contracts approved for the city were as follows: The Friends of the Muenster Public Library; Renewal with Jim A. Robertson to act as city's tax collection attorney for the period January 1998 through December, 1999; Southwest Consultants to help administer The Texas Community Development Grant for the elevated water storage tank. A public hearing was set for 6:30 p.m. January 5, on paving and curbing Fourth Street (Sycamore Street to Mesquite Street) and Sixth Street (Pecan to Hickory Street). It was announced that a replacement for Charlie Wimmer is needed for the Muenster Water District Board for the period of March 1998 through February 2000. Monthly bills were approved for the amount of $51,769.14.

November 20 is the day set aside by the National Catholic Education Society (NCEA) to honor the principals of Catholic schools. Throughout that Thursday, students, teachers, and parents of Sacred Heart School surprised and honored their principal, Jack Murdock, in his tenth year of service, with tributes of their love and appreciation.

The following morning in Sacred Heart Church, with the entire student body gathered for an all-school Mass, along with many parents and friends, the School Advisory Council and the Home & School Society surprised Mr. Murdock again by presenting him with a bible, plaque, and gift certificate. In making the presentations, David Whitecotton, president of the School Advisory Council, remarked: "We would like to show our love and appreciation to the man who has led our school to academic and athletic prominence. Indeed, thanks to Mr. Jack Murdock, we believe that there is no better school in the state of Texas, and as a National Blue Ribbon School of Excellence, is one of the top 2% of the schools in the nation."

"Mr. Murdock has recently completed his Doctorate in Philosophy and Educational Administration at Pacific Western University. He has widely known, but this is just one more example of the way he quietly leads us and inspires us in our Catholic faith, in traditions of excellence and service, to our Lord Jesus Christ.

"Mr. Murdock, you have said many times, 'We are not just a school—we are a family.' This is just one of many things that makes our school so special." The Bible given to Dr. Murdock was inscribed with Daniel 12:1, the plaque recognized Jack B. Murdock, Ph.D., "in his tenth year of dedicated and faithful service, unceasing inspiration, and Christ-centered leadership to Sacred Heart School."

GOOD NEWS!

He who betrays a secret can not be trusted, he will never find an intimate friend. Cherish your friend, keep faith with him; but if you betray his confidence, follow him not; for as an enemy might kill a man, you have killed your neighbor's friendship. Like a bird released from the hand, you have let your friend go and can not recapture him; follow him not, for he is far away, he has fled like a gazelle from a trap. A wound can be bound up, and an insult forgiven, but he who betrays secrets does hopeless damage. SIRACH 27: 16-21

To his many tributes, Dr. Murdock responded: "I do not have words to express my very deep thanks for the multitude of wonderful expressions of appreciation with which you showered me this week. Students, faculty, and parents have been so very kind and generous to me that I'm really overwhelmed. Please know that I'm grateful to each and every individual who has participated in this amazing expression of appreciation. Your enthusiastic Brandi Gilpin is the winner of the Endowed Scholarship from Muenster State Bank, applicable to both the Fall and Spring Semesters, valued at $250 per semester. She is a May 1997 graduate of Sacred Heart High School and currently a freshman at North Central Texas College.

Sherman Social Security office installs new computer system

The Sherman Social Security office will undergo a major change on Nov. 28, according to the manager David Sandlin. Installation of an enhanced computer system will begin then, followed by a week of intensive training for the employees from December 1-5.

"Since some of our employees will be in training at all times during that week, our ability to serve walk-in customers will be somewhat reduced," Mr. Sandlin explained. He stated that waiting times may be longer then and suggested that visitors may prefer to conduct business before or after this installation and training period.

Many Social Security and SSI issues, such as a request for an address change, initiation of direct deposit, or verification of a benefit amount can be handled by placing a call to 1-800-772-1213, and for Medicare Part B questions, by calling 1-800-442-2620.

With this new computer system, each work station will now be equipped with a full range of up-to-date processes, enabling Social Security employees to better serve the public. Along with the normal computer operations already in place, employees will now be able to receive and send electronic mail messages, access resource materials for research and documentation, and prepare correspondence at their own desks, to mention some of the new features.

This network system links all the workstations within the office and provides greater communication with other components of the agency as well, Sandlin explained. "The employees are excited about this change and are ready to learn the new technology and put it to use to deliver the best public service that they can," he concluded.

From My Side of the Fence

by Ed Cler

One must always be prepared for surprises that pop up, sometimes when least expected.

Aileen and I spent about half of last Saturday afternoon driving to, and visiting with an old friend, Gene Hoberer.

Gene manages the sprawling cattle, wheat and pecan ranch owned by his boss, a Mr. Jones.

Feeding and caring for some 1200 cow critters and another 600 yearlings on wheat pasture, overseeing the large pecan gathering operation, plus looking after 8 rent houses, would be a full time job for most any man.

But Gene is always looking for any spare time, plus his evenings "till bedtime," to pursue his hobby, woodworking.

We had driven out to the ranch, located in the Sivells Bend area, to pick up some choice pecans Gene had held back for us.

After paying for our pecans, we were preparing to leave when Gene said, "Before you leave, I want to show you my workshop - the place where I likely am when you call in the evenings and no one answers the phone."

Well, we were soon ushered into a shed where Gene did his thing, and I was indeed surprised to see just what he did there.

He showed us his work area and several items in different stages of completion. A very nice table and six chairs made of pine, and rugged enough for a growing family, plus several other items, all very nice.

He then took us into a large storeroom, one of the most disorganized places I have seen, yet Gene could lay his hands on any item stored there. He seems to have a gift for a good memory.

Whatever Gene knows about woodworking is just about 100% "learned by doing."

Many of his items, cedar chests, rugged toy boxes, gun cases, magazine racks, tables, flower pot stands, and other items, are all built last.

All of the cedar products are made of native cedar that grows on the ranch. After some of these trees had been dozed Gene saw a source of a supply of good solid cedar wood, and he had a sawmill process some of the logs into usable lumber.

His cedar chests are all made of solid 2 inch dimension cedar and so are the toy boxes.

Many other smaller items most made of pine, are there to be seen, and all for sale.

Gene has been supplementing his income in this manner for sometime now.

When asked how he got started with his hobby, I simply stated, "I just enjoyed doing it - I got more pleasure from this than a lot of other things."

Well, I guess when one does what he enjoys, he just does better job!

Singers take center stage

Holidays bring special things, and the Singers at North Central Texas College are going to be delivering theirs. They will be performing their Christmas Concert at 8 p.m. on Monday, December 8 at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Gainesville. Admission is free.

"We have a wonderful time during the holiday season," said Dr. Mike Linder, director of the Singers. "Part of it is sharing and giving back to our own community, but at this time of year, this joy comes because of the wonderful music that we get to sing."

The Singers, along with accompanist John Dill on organ, will perform a variety of seasonal music. Pieces to be performed include an a cappella piece, "Carol of the Bells," an NCTC Music Department tradition, "Still, Still, Still," "Sing We Now of Christmas," and a beautiful, layered, multi-harmony and reverent piece, "To Him We Sing," written by a Baylor professor who also happened to be an instructor of accompanist Dill's.

"The multi-layered piece is, in my eyes, the major hope for triumph on Linder's part," said Stephen Bonin, instructor at NCTC and tenor in the Singers. "The piece is very beautiful to listen to and I know people will love it. It's all about the holiday spirit."

My family and I would like to express our thanks for the outpouring of support from the people of Muenster following the death of my husband, Robert E. Dixon Jr. The loving support we received from you helped us through a most difficult time.

We would like to thank Ray and Lou Voth for accepting the leadership role in organizing and taking care of all the details and to Jeannene Walterscheid for gathering together the Readings, Petitions, Mass books and songs for the services. Special thanks to Fr. Tom Craig for his gentle care and officiating at the service and interment.

Finding the words to thank Christy Hesse and Ruth Felderhoff for sharing their gifts with us during the services is difficult: Christy, for her beautiful voice and rendition of "Amazing Grace," and Ruth, for her elegant organ music throughout the services. The family thanks you.

We also extend warm thanks to VFW Post 6205 for their Honor Guard's assistance in escorting a fellow veteran to his place of rest. Our thanks also go to the Knights of Columbus for the use of their Hall for the reception following the services. Special thanks to all who donated the food for the reception and to the ladies who prepared and served the dinner.

We would also like to thank McCoy Funeral Home for all their assistance. Their loving care, understanding and professionalism smoothed our way.

I realize that it would be difficult to personally thank all who have offered Masses in memory of my husband, who expressed their sentiments with floral arrangements, and who participated in the services at Sacred Heart Church and reception at the Knights of Columbus. Rest assured that our prayers of thanksgiving include all the anonymous persons who worked diligently to organize the services and reception so quickly. Your love and generosity were quite apparent.

I am proud to call Muenster my hometown. Thank you all.

SH 6th grade studies Egyptian culture

by Cindy Hartman and Kathryn Sepanski

As a semester project, the Sacred Heart sixth grade class studied the culture of ancient Egypt. As the students journeyed back into time, they transformed their classroom along the way.

Emulating the building skills and artistry of ancient Egyptians, the class constructed an imposing, ceiling-high pyramid, divided into two rooms. In one room is found a mummy and its case. The other contains assorted treasures and the canopic jars in which the Egyptians placed the organs and intestines of the mummified body. The pyramid itself is scattered with pictures of the gods such as Re, the sun god, which has a human body and the head of a jackal.

A recent highlight in the class's studies was a trip to the Dallas Museum of Art to view an exhibit of Egyptian art. There the students saw firsthand the objects they had been studying. Students, teachers, and parents enjoyed viewing the ancient artifacts which included statues of the gods and important persons, jewelry, and other treasures. The class said they especially enjoyed seeing a mummy and mummy case, and were excited to recognize many of the hieroglyphics on it.

Another fascinating display was a wall from a funeral chamber, which still revealed the faint colors of the red, yellow, and blue dyes used to decorate it. A computerized tour displayed the interior of the chamber.

Before returning home, the students enjoyed visiting the museum gift shop and had a picnic lunch in the sculpture garden.

The class celebrated the culmination of its Egyptian studies on Nov. 25 with an open house. As other classes visited the sixth grade classroom, they were treated to a variety of reports on such interesting topics as the mummification process, the construction of the pyramids, artifacts, and food.

Before adjourning early that day for the Thanksgiving holidays, the class enjoyed an Egyptian meal, which featured the types of fruits, vegetables, rice, bread, and goat cheese eaten by this fascinating civilization.

The Egyptian exhibit will be on display in Room 6 through Jan. 30, the end of National Catholic Schools Week.

Sacred Heart Sixth Grade students learned about ancient Egyptian culture through hands-on projects which are now displayed in their classroom. At left, John McCoy, Karen Gehrig, and Jayna Biffle display the canopic jars they made in class. In the foreground are treasures of the tomb on display. Above, Lynn Sicking, Andrea Bonin, and Anthony Koesler observe the various fruits, vegetables and other foods used by Egyptians. Courtesy photos

Help children with homework

When your child is having trouble with school work, it's tempting to help with every question. If you do, however, you may not know if the child understands the material. Help children complete one or two examples. Then, if they can finish the assignment accurately, you know they understand. If you help with one or two questions and the child is still struggling, he or she may not understand the material, and you should consult the teacher.

Muenster FHA plans December activities

The Muenster FHA participated in the National Great American Smokeout on November 19. FHA members sponsored 30 tobacco users to quit smoking or dipping on that day with encouraging words and bags of hard candies and gum. Locker decorations were hung in high school and junior high to signify a ban on smoking. Announcements were made on the intercom throughout the week to remind everyone of the dangers of tobacco usage.

Another project of the FHA was decorating at St. Richard's Villa on November 27.

Also, every year the FHA participates in the Littlest Angel program. FHA and FFA members will have their annual Christmas meal for the Muenster ISD faculty on December 12.

FHA members are planning to hold their annual Christmas party and caroling at St. Richard's and the hospital on December 22 at 6:30 p.m. After caroling, refreshments will be served, and members will exchange gifts.

From the Counselor's Desk

by Emily Klement

It is that time of the year in every senior's life when both the student and parent are having some slight stress regarding the future! Almost half of the senior year is completed; college applications and catalogs are starting to stack up and everyone is asking the senior the same question: "Where are you going after high school graduation?" It can be confusing and fearful, but with good planning and communication, the situation can be an exciting process.

The first thing to do is to get organized. To make the best use of all the information from colleges, trade schools and military recruiters, is to keep a folder for each, along with a notebook. As materials arrive, read them carefully, with a pencil at hand. Note the things you did like about a particular college and the things you dislike. Ask yourself the following questions when reviewing the materials: 1) Does the college have the major or program I want? 2) Does it have the activities and/or sports I want? 3) How likely am I to meet the college admission requirements? 4) Will the college help me achieve my educational and personal goals?

At this point in the senior year, it is a good idea to apply to three (and at the most, four) colleges. You should be planning a college visit day with your parents to get a picture of campus life and what the school has to offer in your interest area. A good idea is to visit the dorm rooms and see what food service they offer! It is amazing how important this is when you are deciding on your "home" for the next few years. College officials are very aware of this concern as well as other issues, such as safety on the campus and being a student-centered facility. If they aren't, student recruiting and retention goes down in numbers. If you cannot visit a campus, call the college admissions office and they will assign a representative to talk to you either by coming to your high school for a visit or by telephone. Many colleges have produced videos of their programs and campus life. They can be obtained either through your high school counselor's office or by requesting them from the admissions office of the college. What are colleges looking for in a prospective student? Your total high school record (GPA) is the most important factor in whether you will be admitted to a particular school. Good grades in the most advanced courses your high school has to offer is a high indicator of projected success in college. A poor grade or two does not mean you will not be admitted to your selected college. If grades improve, even in your late high school career, most colleges take notice. Most colleges prefer that students take four years of English (AF or honors, if available), three or more years of science, three or more of social science, three years of math, and at least two years of foreign language.

How important are your standardized test scores? That depends where you apply. Most colleges look at the SAT or ACT on admissions applications, but they are also aware that many students do not test well, have slow reading speed or have "test fear." For these reasons, virtually all colleges consider other factors when selecting students. They look at overall grades, class rank, recommendations, essays and at student's special talents and achievements. Community service is a requirement on more applications than ever. Part-time work and unusual experiences also play a part in their selection process.

College fairs are very important to attend during the entire high school career. Admissions representatives from many colleges, universities, trade schools and military branches gather in one place to talk to high school students and their parents about their futures. North Central Texas College and Gainesville High School are planning a cooperative "College Night" on Monday, December 8 from 6-8 p.m. at the NCTC Student Center. All high school students and their parents are highly encouraged to attend to gain more information.

Muenster wins at Gold-Burg

The Hornets and Lady Hornets varsity basketball teams both brought home victories Tuesday night over Goldburg. The boys edged out 65-61, while the girls dominated a 52-27 victory. The Lady Hornets took a 11-first quarter lead, ending the half with a 25-13 margin. In the third quarter Muenster extended the point spread by outscoring their opponents 17-7. After a close 10-12 fourth, the Lady Hornets had their 52-7 win.

Ten girls scored for Muenster, led by Keisha Dill and Kelly Felderhoff with 10 points each. Maggie Fisher added 6, Stephanie Huchton and Mindy Endres 5 each and four points scored by Allison Endres, Heather Hess, andenzie Gertzberger. The scoring was rounded out by Megan Koesler and Kim turn each getting 2.

The Muenster Hornets squeezed by Goldburg with our players scoring in double digits. "We played better as a team at times and hustled," noted Ted Heers. "Goldburg is probably looking at second place in their district behind Slidell. They are going to be tough each time."

Goldburg took a first quarter lead 16-13, keeping ahead 33-26 at half time. A 15-12 Hornet score in the third period opened up the second half, where Muenster outscored Goldburg 24-16 in the final quarter to pull out the 65-61 victory.

Corey Anderle and Shane Sparkman led the scoring with 15 points each. Sparkman hit 12 of those points in the final quarter. Scott Hermes added 12 and Jessie Luke 11 for Muenster. Aaron Klement scored 6, Bryan Miller 4 and Darren Hennigan 2.

Muenster is playing in the Forestburg Tournament this weekend, playing Goldburg Thursday morning. In the second round Muenster will face either Valley View or Bellevue. Also in the tournament is Collinsville, Covenant Christian, Prairie Valley, and Forestburg.

Hornet teams lasso Longhorns

The Longhorns of Forestburg couldn't shoo away the pesky Muenster Hornets last Tuesday as Muenster flew way with a 66-40 victory.

"We are coming along. No hurry," said Coach Ted Heers. We want to prepare for a layoff run in January. Each game is a chance to improve."

Corey Anderle burned the boards with 23 points. Shane Sparkman hit in 11. Adding right apiece were Bryan Miller, Scott Hermes and Darren Hennigan. Kevin Johnson and Aaron Klement each scored four. Other members of the Hornets varsity include Erik Valterscheid, Jesse Luke and Justin Klement.

Forestburg took a first quarter 7-9 lead from the free throw line, but 24 Hornet points to the Longhorns 11 in the second gave Muenster a 20-11 half-time lead. The Hornets widened their lead in the third quarter with 22-10 scoring, getting down to 13-10 in the final for the 66-40 victory.

Muenster will play in the Forestburg Invitational this weekend, December 4, 5 and 6. Then the team will travel to Lindsay, Tuesday, December 9 to take on the Knights.

The Hornets have also met Tom Bean, Chico and Notre Dame on the courts, but information from these games were not available.

into a 17-8 second quarter and a 41-15 half-time lead. Muenster slowed down the third quarter, being outscored 8-5, then came back the final 12-4 for the lopsided 58-27 win.

Heather Hess led the Muenster defense with 8 steals, while Reagan Koesler pulled down 10 rebounds.

Muenster to play at Reunion Arena

The MHS Varsity basketball teams will both be in action on December 20 in Reunion Arena, home of the Dallas Mavericks. Girls action will be first at approximately 2:15 p.m. against the Italy Gladiators. Boys play will follow vs. the Callisburg Wildcats.

Tickets are on sale and can be purchased or reserved by calling Coach Heers at 940-759-5041 or 759-2281 ext. 655. Muenster has only 250 tickets allotted.

Face value is $21 per ticket for entry to see all the games, including Dallas vs. Sacramento. Also, prior to the Muenster Games, both Ponder varsity teams will be in action. Our price is $15 for each ticket and a chance to see five games.

These seats are located closer to the court than last trip and are still the same price. Best seats available will be sold first.

Tigers split with Prairie Valley

The Tigerettes took a 66-30 conquest over Prairie Valley Tuesday night, while the Tigers fell 63-40.

"After a couple of days of practice, it looks like we are back on track," said Jon LeBrasseur, Tigerette coach.

Sacred Heart took a quick 15-6 first quarter lead, with a 33-14 half time score. A hot shooting 3rd quarter saw the Tigerettes score 23 points to Prairie Valley's 10 for a 32 point advantage. Scoring slowed down to 10-6 in the fourth for the 66-30 final score.

Kayla Felderhoff and Crystal Klement had a good offensive performance with 22 and 14 points. Leah Rigler added 10 and led in assists. Sarah Hess put in 8 points, Joanna Gehrig and Jennifer Hess 5 each and Amanda Baldwin 2.

"The Hess girls, Jennifer and Sarah, controlled the boards," LeBrasseur noted. Gehrig led the team with 5 steals.

The Tigers had plenty of chances to win according to Coach John Nasche, but they lacked consistency on defense and turnovers once again plagued the Sacred Heart boys. "At times we played excellent defense and then we would break completely down."

The teams were tied 10-10 at the end of the first quarter, but cold shooting from the Tigers gave Prairie Valley a 21-14 half time lead. Sacred Heart couldn't close the point spread the 3rd period but fought the boards 16-15. The final quarter knocked the Tigers back when their opponents outscored them 26-11 to take a 63-40 win.

Jon Grewing led the Tiger's scoring with 24 points. Waylon Hess added 10 with 2 points coming from Matthew Fuhrmann, Duncan Campbell, and David Hesse.

Cozart of Prairie Valley scored 32 points in the game.

Football Contest ends

After 13 weeks, the Muenster Enterprise football contest comes to an end. The Lindsay Knights extended the competition into the playoffs, adding three weeks to the regular season.

The final week saw Ted Heers and Benny Haverkamp tie for first place with 32 correct winners picked. Heers took first place with 28 tie-breaker points, while Haverkamp had 34. Mike Stoffels settled for 3rd place with 31 correct guesses. The weekly winners picked up their cash prizes at 1) Brown Motor Company, 2) The Wooden Spoon, and 3) The Smokehouse in Lindsay. There were only 16 entries in the final week compared to over 40 weekly most of the season.

To get a season winner, 12 weeks were counted, after the lowest score of each contestant was thrown out, leaving a total of 480 games. From that count, Mike Stoffels took the season championship, correctly guessing 365 winners for a 76.1 correct percentage. Ted Heers finished in second place at 75.7% or 363 correct guesses.

Nineteen of the 57 other contestants qualified for the season awards. Finishing in third place was Wayne Klement with 353 guesses. He was followed by Nick Stoffels and Charles Edwards, each at 348. Mickey Haverkamp ended the season at 347, John Sandmann 345, Barbie Barnhill 339, Mark Grewing 338 and Edna Hermes 337. All of these contestants finished 70% or better.

Others entering and their number of correct guesses were: John Nasche 335, Jon LeBrasseur 334, Neil Hesse 333, Peachie Huchton 332, Benny Haverkamp 330, Dave Reiter 327, Edgar Dyer 325, Carol Grewing 322, Doug Stoffels 317, Cory Knabe 314, and Wilfred Bindel 312.

This concludes the '97 football contest.

A special Thank You to Alvin Hartman, Nick Walterscheid & Bridgette Anderle for an outstanding season of reporting local high school football!

Last week, before the holiday break, Muenster's Lady Hornets took a one-sided, 58-27 victory at Forestburg.

"This was a good confidence builder, just to see some shots go in," commented Coach Jeff Feague. "We must work on some defenses that we have not used before." Twelve of the thirteen varsity girls scored against the Lady Horns, four in the double digits.

Heather Hess and Maggie Fisher each put up 11 points, while Kelly Felderhoff and Reagan Koesler each got 10. Mindy Endres added 4, Allison Endres and Kristin Grewing 3 and Stephanie Huchton and Keisha Dill 2 points each. Rounding out the points was a free throw apiece from Emily Felderhoff and Michelle Molsbee.

The Lady Hornets jumped into an early 24-7 lead, going

TIME OUT FOR SAFETY Extension Cords

Follow safe work procedures when using electric tools and extension cords. Here are some guidelines:

- Use extension cords listed by a recognized testing laboratory, such as Underwriters Laboratories, Inc.
- Extension cords used outdoors should be UL-listed and made for outdoor use.
- Extension cords used in a hazardous location must be approved for that type of location.
- Inspect extension cords before you use them. Don't use cords with cracked or worn insulation, damaged ends, or a missing ground prong. Remove damaged cords from service right away.
- Make sure the work area is dry. Water and dampness greatly increase the risk of electrical shock.
- Unplug power cords by pulling on the plug. Do not pull the cord.
- Do not plug in or unplug extension cords until you are certain the tool's power switch is off.
- Protect cords if they cross pathways or driveways.
- Do not drape extension cords over steam lines, space heaters, machinery, or other hot surfaces that may damage the cord's covering.
- Do not run extension cords through standing water, on wet floors, or in wet areas.
- Never overload an extension cord. If it is hot to the touch, have a qualified person check the cord and the tool to find the problem. The wire size may be too small for the cord length and amperage required.
- Never use an extension cord as permanent wiring.
- Do not splice extension cords.
- Unplug extension cords that are not in use and store them neatly.
- Only qualified electricians should make or repair extension cords. They must use UL-listed ends and cords.

Lindsay Knights fall to Gladiators

"There is no reason to hold our heads down. I'm very, very proud of you," Lindsay coach Charlie Meurer told his fighters after the 48-18 regional semi-final defeat at the hands of the Italy Gladiators last Friday night. "You over-achieved tonight. It is a great game. It was a great season!"

The preseason, non-rated Lindsay Knights, proved the timing systems wrong when they took the district 10-AA championship four weeks ago, then went on to defeat Haskell -14 in bi-district and Bangs -15 in area before falling to the number 3 state ranked Gladiators.

The Knights played with a lot of effort against Italy and had a chance to win. But errors, including fumbles, against a team as talented as Italy, is very costly.

"The attitude of the players and fans was great," noted Meurer. "I was excited and proud of their effort. They showed lots of character and never gave up."

The Knights fumbled their first three possessions, saving the third. After taking the opening kick, two plays later, the ball was stripped from Lindsay and caught by an Italy defender. The next play, a pass from DeJuan Davis to Jontae Johnson was good for a 42 yard touchdown play and a 7-0 score.

With less than a minute off the clock. To make matters worse, Lindsay fumbled again on their second run, setting up another Italy score. Lindsay's defense, led by Michael Mosman held the Gladiators to a 4th and 13, but another Davis to Johnson pass gave Italy a quick 14-0 lead with 8:40 still on the clock.

Italy's celebration was quieted three plays later, when the Knights caught the Gladiators defense off guard, turning a Steven Tepera pass to Bryan Covington into a 69 yard touchdown play. The extra point was blocked and with 7:07 remaining in the first quarter, the Knights were on the scoreboard 14-6.

A good return took the Gladiators to midfield and in eight plays they were knocking in the Knights door inside the 10 yard line. On first and goal Blake Crutsinger and Michael Mosman teamed up together and covered a fumbled ball on the nine.

Runs by Adrian Anderle, Jeff Bezner and Tepera carried the Knights into the 2nd quarter and the 44 yard line. On 3rd and one, a quarterback keeper saw Steven Tepera break through the Gladiator defense for a 56 yard touchdown run. The extra point run failed and Lindsay settled for a 12-14 score with 11:15 on the clock.

Italy didn't let up. Two runs later, for 46 and 30 yards, the Gladiators extended their lead to 21-12.

The Knight offense struggled their next drive. Covington's 40 yard punt put Italy on their own 30. Lindsay's D-men, Chris Garner, Richie Alfrey, Crutsinger, Clint Gallagher and Tepera held Italy to a 4th and 9. A fake punt gained only one yard, and Lindsay took over at midfield. A Tepera to Jeff Bezner pass picked up 23 yards. Runs by Tepera and Anderle quickly moved the Lindsay line to the six. From there, Anderle found pay dirt. The PAT failed and Lindsay closed the score to 21-18 with 2:45 remaining in the first half.

Italy's offense played the clock, punting as the last second ticked away.

Italy came out the second half in full steam. After returning the kick 42 yards, it took only three runs to score. With a minute and 20 seconds off the clock, the Gladiators increased their lead 28-18.

The Knights could only gain 9 yards their first possession, giving Italy the ball on Lindsay's 33. After three runs, the Gladiators had a first down on the two yard line. Lindsay's goal line defense held for several plays. Mosman and Gallagher allowed a yard the first run, then Chris Garner stopped two up the middle runs, before Italy slipped into the end zone on 4th down, giving them a 34-18 lead with 5:06 remaining in the 3rd quarter.

A personal foul flag after the extra point helped Lindsay's kick return to midfield. Tepera ran for 5, passed to Blake Crutsinger for 5, then ran for another six. Anderle gained 6 to the 21 yard line. Tepera and Bezner added another ten, then Tepera took the ball to the three yard line. On 4th and one, a fumbled pitch back to start the final quarter, was picked up by Italy, giving them possession on the 13. A quick 67 yard run moved the Gladiators to the 20. Four plays later, Italy scored again, 42-18, with 9:13 still on the clock.

The Knights got in 7 short runs before losing the ball on downs. Italy then took the next 7 plays, scoring on a fumbled ball in the end zone. The PAT failed for a 48-18 score with 1:59 remaining in the game. The Knights mixed runs and passes, with Tepera picking up 9 and Corey Neu 12 on the ground. A Tepera to Crutsinger gained another 12, but any threat to score ended, with 22 seconds on the clock, when Italy intercepted a Lindsay ball.

Italy's Edwin Wallace was the game's leading rusher with 206 yards in 13 carries. Lindsay's ground game was led by Steven Tepera with 151 yards in 20 carries. Adrian Anderle added 48 in 13 attempts.

Tepera completed 4 of 8 passes, and threw a last second interception, for 119 yards.

The Knight defense was led by Chris Garner, Michael Mosman, Blake Crutsinger, Richie Alfrey, and Bryan Covington.

Game Statistics Submitted by Bridgette Anderle

There were seven seniors playing on the '97 team. "The seniors did a fantastic job of leading the team," commented

Coach Meurer. "They hung in there every day. Their attitudes were excellent and they were good examples for the younger players." The seniors are Steven Tepera, Keith Fuhrmann, Jeremy Rinner, Jamie Baggs, Isaac Zimmerer, Zach Fuhrmann and Bryan Covington.

Coach Meurer said the Knight football season was very rewarding. "We had lots of young players. I'm proud of their improvement. If we continue to improve at this rate, we should have another great year next year." Meurer concluded, "Like any season, you have bumps in the road. These bumps raised our level of play, especially the last six games."

'97 census to take ag count

Report forms for the 1997 Census of Agriculture will soon begin appearing in the mailboxes of farmers and ranchers across the nation. For the twenty-fifth time since the first Ag Census in 1840, farmers and ranchers will play the key role in providing the county with a statistical picture of U.S. agriculture at county, state, and national levels. The 1997 Census will provide a detailed picture of the changes in agriculture since the last census in 1992.

The focus of the current Census includes number of farms, farm size, operator characteristics, crop and livestock production, agricultural product sales, and production expenses of farmers and ranchers. Report forms will be mailed late in December to collect data for the 1997 calendar year. Farmers will be asked to return their forms by February 2, 1998.

Many of the questions asked in the 1997 Census will be similar to those asked in 1992. Data will be collected from all farmers and ranchers on land use and ownership, crop acreage and quantities harvested, numbers of livestock and poultry, value of crops and livestock sold, and operator characteristics. New items include area and value of cut Christmas trees harvested.

One of every four farms and ranches will receive a report form that includes additional questions on production expenses, fertilizer and chemicals, machinery and equipment, market value of land and buildings, and income of farm-related sources. All report forms are tailored by region to make them less burdensome to respondents.

Anyone who receives a census form should complete and return it. Individuals who don't operate a farm or ranch could possibly receive census questionnaires. In this situation, recipients should return the form with a note stating that the person to whom it was addressed is not involved with a farm or ranch. The cost of conducting the census can be kept down if questionnaire recipients return their completed forms promptly, so additional mailings can be avoided.

Farmers, farm organizations, agricultural universities, member of the Census Advisory Committee on Agriculture Statistics, and state and federal agencies, were asked for input and advice concerning the content and development of the report forms.

Grazing termination

A continual concern among stocker operators who graze calves on wheat is how long calves can be left to graze before they negatively affect grain yield. A survey of wheat-pasture producers in Oklahoma confirmed significant differences among producers in the criteria used to determine when to remove their cattle from wheat pasture.

According to Daniel J. Bernardo, an economist at Kansas State University, a four-year study was done on Marshall, Oklahoma to determine the optimal time to terminate grazing and measure the effects of grazing on wheat yield. The researchers found that the point at which grain yields were drastically reduced fell on the day that the plant's hollow stem was first apparent.

Data indicated that no major decline in grain yield resulted from grazing prior to the first hollow stem. The study indicated a yield reduction of more than one bushel per day occurred when grazing was extended beyond the appearance of the first hollow stem.

How El Niño, La Niña could affect yields

A strong El Niño episode in 1982 was followed by a La Niña episode, producing poor corn and soybean yields in 1983. Part of the drop for corn, and to a lesser extent for soybeans, was due to the Payment-in-kind (PIK) program that reduced planted acreage. Still, corn yields fell 4.1 billion bushels and soybean yields fell 0.6 billion bushels. A similar drop from 1997 to 1998 would result in corn yields of 4.7 billion bushels and soybean yields of 2 billion bushels.

First milk important to newborn calves

When a calf is born, it must nurse as soon as possible to obtain the all important nutrients and antibodies contained in colostrum. It's a good idea to have extra colostrum on hand during calving season for times when a new calf needs its first meal, but its mother or the weather won't cooperate.

Colostrum milk is only available for a short time after birth. The optimum time for a calf to absorb the antibody is during the first three hours after birth. Often a first-calf heifer may not mother and lick her calf as well as she should. It may be necessary to assist the newborn.

Rather than making a new mother increasingly nervous by restraining her and attempting to shove a calf to her udder, calmly give the new calf a bottle of colostrum and then leave the pair alone. Once the calf has that initial serving of colostrum milk, it can take all the time it needs to catch up to its mother's udder. The undisturbed cow can eventually take the time to mother the calf.

It's a good idea to have colostrum on hand before calving season starts, especially if your heifers are set to calve first. Sources of colostrum milk could be a neighbor with an earlier calving season or from the early calving cows in your own herd. When your first calves are born, milk out some extra colostrum from the new mothers and freeze it in small plastic pint or quart containers. The colostrum milk can then be thawed out later in warm water. Colostrum doesn't lose its quality if kept well frozen and thawed properly. Do not over-heat the colostrum or the antibodies will be destroyed.

Winter and calving season is just around the corner; so plan ahead to have colostrum on hand when you need it. It could be a new calf's saving grace on a cold night this winter.

Texas A&M oat seed available for producers

A new oat variety with excellent resistance to oat crown rust and stem rust, TAMO 397, is now on the market and available to farmers this year, according to Dale Williams, director of the Texas Foundation Seed Service.

"This new variety offers big advantages over other currently available varieties for South Texas producers," said Dr. Milton McDaniel, one of the variety's developers and an oat breeder with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at College Station.

The variety's development was supported in part by the Quaker Oats Company and was a collaborative effort among McDaniel, Mark Lazar of Amarillo, David Worrall of Vernon, David Marshall of Dallas and Lloyd Nelson of Overton.

TAMO 397 has the best crown rust resistance of any available variety. It also has a near-immune reaction to oat stem rust, and is the only variety having effective crown rust resistance to show any steam rust resistance," McDaniel said. "Since both crown rust and stem rust frequently are damaging in the area south of the College Station-Austin line, the new variety has performed particularly well in this area."

McDaniel said the straw strength of TAMO 397 is excellent, and the variety stands very well despite its tall height. Its height is comparable to the Experiment Station's TAMO 386 and Coronado varieties, but the straw strength of TAMO 397 is superior. However, McDaniel noted, TAMO 397 is not sufficiently winter-hardy to be fall-planted much north of the College Station-Austin area, although it generally has performed well in the Temple, McGregor and Waco area, it is more likely to suffer winterkill than most other available varieties except Coronado.

TAMO 397 is available from Texas Foundation Seed Service and through some South Texas certified seed dealers. For additional information, contact Williams at (940) 552-6226.

County Agent's Report by Craig Rosenbaum

COOL SEASON PERENNIAL GRASSES

Producers are planting more acreage to cool season perennial grass varieties in the county. Perennials such as Jose Wheatgrass and Fungus Free Fescue have produced well in the county. One field on the Hugh Porter farm southwest of Gainesville has been managed for replacement heifer development. Gains on heifers have averaged about 1.5 lbs. per day during the grazing season. Other producers use their planting for winter grazing of cow/calf pairs and bull pastures. These cool season grasses have advantages which include their being perennials and, therefore, do not need reseeding each year. This allows for pasture expenses to be put into fertilizer eliminating annual plowings and seedings. Another advantage that we have seen is early grazing. Following rains, which normally occur in September, most pastures will be ready to graze in October.

For those producers who have established wheatgrass this fall, several considerations should be made. Do not expect any forage production or grazing during the winter of 97-98. These grasses are bunch grasses and therefore need to develop a root system their first year of planting. Producers have had much success in letting the plants grow as much as they can during the spring and early summer. Plants will then get taller and the tops can be shredded in August. This allows for fertilizing in September and your growth and grazing period to begin in the fall of 1998.

Farm prices increase again

Farmland prices registered the 10th consecutive yearly increase in 1997. The average U. S. farm real estate value reached $942 an acre on Jan. 1, 1997, up from last year.

The state with the highest farmland prices in 1997 was New Jersey, with $8,290 per acre. Texas values in 1997 increased from $570 per acre to $600, a 5 percent increase over the previous year. The state with the lowest farmland prices was Wyoming, with $220 per acre.

INSECT SITUATION

We're still getting a lot of reports about greenbug and spider damage in some grain fields. Producers need to be watchful of their fields for damage. Activity of these destructive bugs should slow once the winter becomes cold. However, with warm days, damage can be severe. We have had reports of greenbug and spider damage in many fields throughout the county. Not all fields have been hit so take precautions on a field to field basis. Allen Knutson, Extension Entomologist, was in the county this past week inspecting Gaucho Trials and found no greenbug damage in either the Gaucho or untreated checks. However, in several cases, just down the road greenbug damage had been occurring.

AG MARKETING CLUB

Ag Marketing Club will meet Wed., Dec. 10, at 9 a.m. at the Farm Bureau Building located on Highway 82 in Gainesville. This month Dr. Ken Stokes, Extension Economist, will be on hand for the program on Commodity Pricing. Grain and livestock producers are invited to attend.
