

COLLEGE HEAD MISSING SINCE EARLY MONDAY

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 6.—(P)—Members of the faculty and student body of Burleson College of Greenville, joined with police and relatives here today in a search for Dr. E. W. Provence, president of the college, for whose safety they feared after his disappearance Monday.

Classes were suspended at the college and students and teachers hurried here when news of Dr. Provence's prolonged absence was received. They divided into groups and visited hospitals and clinics believing he could have suffered a lapse of memory.

Greenville friends advanced the theory that Dr. Provence had suffered a lapse of memory brought on by worry over financial difficulties of the college.

Acting on this suggestion, radio broadcasting stations were to disseminate a description of the president in belief he might have gone to some remote point.

Rev. T. A. Dulaney, Greenville Baptist minister and trustee of the college, said Dr. Provence had complained the latter part of last week of being ill and refused an invitation to speak in the Rev. Dulaney's church Sunday night.

Books at the college had been checked and everything was all right, the Rev. Dulaney said.

Dr. Provence is the father of three children and was devoted to his family, friends said.

A brother who resides in Richmond, Va., was en route here to help in the search.

DALLAS, Tex., Nov. 6.—(P)—Disappearance of Dr. E. W. Provence, 51, president of Burleson College of Greenville, soon after his arrival here Monday, caused concern today among friends and associates who were searching for him.

FLIER SEEKING TO ESTABLISH AIRPORT HERE SAYS THIS CITY IDEALLY LOCATED FOR PURPOSE

"Brownwood is ideally located for an airport for it is right in the heart of Texas and would soon be on the main air lines," stated S. H. Young, of the S. H. Young Flying Service, Inc., dealers for the Karle-Keen Cabin Monoplanes. Mr. Young with his pilot, G. A. Helm, is in Brownwood with the idea of establishing an airport here as soon as possible, he says.

Mr. Young and Mr. Helm set down here Sunday in their small two-place cabin monoplane coming here almost directly from Flint, Michigan, with a few stops enroute. Mr. Young has been in the flying business for about five years and was the promoter of the airport at Flint, which city did not have an airport until several months ago when Mr. Young went to work on the proposition.

The plane is being kept at the James McCartney field, south of Brownwood and demonstration flying and the taking up of passengers is now being done.

Airports Like Harbors
"With a little co-operation an airport could be established in Brownwood with no trouble at all, because it can readily be seen by flying men that this is a good location and ships flying from San Antonio and that section of the state to Dallas and Fort Worth would come through Brownwood," he declared.

Mr. Young says that a good airport will mean to an inland town what good harbors have meant to coast towns and that in a few years the city without an airport will hardly be recognized as a progressive and modern city.

Student flying would be taught, it is said, and if there is any interest in flying a ground school can be conducted at some building in the downtown district and instructors brought here to teach the students the fundamentals, while they are getting the real experience of the field.

Mr. Helm, the pilot, is a graduate of a Chicago flying school and one time record holder of flight from Chicago to New York. He has been flying since 1921 and has had experience with all types of ships and holds a transport license. The ship is government inspected.

Mr. Young has already seen several city officials and others who are interested in getting an airport here and reports that there seems to be quite a bit of interest. He has heard of other attempts to establish a port here and says that it can be done with some co-operation on the part of the people of the city.

OPEN BIDS ON DAM WORK AND PAVING TODAY

Representatives of construction companies, contractors, bond salesmen, equipment salesman and many others are in Brownwood today for the opening of the bids on the new dam eight miles north of town. The bids were due to be opened this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the presence of the bidders.

The contract will not be let today, but after some investigation of the company entering the lowest bid is being let today.

Each construction company planning to bid on the job has from two to eight men here and many of them have been in Brownwood for almost a month studying the situation carefully before entering bids.

The book which contains not only the specifications but details every phase of the work is included in the form of the contract which sets forth each item in the construction and leaves a blank place for the placing of the amount of the bid.

Several construction companies had representatives here today for the opening of bids for the paving of Austin Avenue which was to be let this afternoon at 2 o'clock at the city hall.

Paderewski at 70

Worship named as a pianist and statesman, Ignace Paderewski—now in this country—is celebrating his 70th birthday anniversary today.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—(UP)—Ignace Jan Paderewski, prince of the piano and one-time ruler of 30,000,000 people observed his 70th birthday anniversary today, trying to replenish a fortune dissipated through generosity.

Even the great pianist admits his early education was difficult, adding that when he found he could not play the difficult passages he merely improvised.

At 18, he made a triumphant tour of Russia, Siberia and Rumania, 12 years later, after giving up a life of frugality, he returned to his Warsaw Conservatoire, he came to London and was coldly received.

He is said to have earned $800,000 on one American tour. Much of this was spent in maintaining his company and in aiding impoverished, or struggling musicians.

After Poland's recovery, the pianist emerged from his retirement. Most of his fortune was gone. He enjoys telling the story that while he was representing his country at the Versailles peace conference, the late Clemenceau approached him and said:

"Are you the M. Paderewski who used to play the piano?"
When the pianist replied in the affirmative, the "Tiger" said sadly: "And now you're a premier. What a drop."

Paderewski was married a second time in 1899.
He was knighted by King George in 1925, but has never used the title. He appeared only once before the microphone, in 1925, declining to broadcast again because it made him too nervous.

Bloody Auburn Prison Changed Since Big Riot

AUBURN, N. Y., Nov. 4.—(UP)—Auburn prison, nearly a year after it experienced one of the bloodiest riots in prison history, has taken on a new appearance.

The century-old institution appears much the same on the outside with the exception of new additions but inside the entire scheme of things has been altered.

New forces are at work. Trouble makers and hardened criminals have lost their power. Some are in "solitary." Others have been transferred to Clinton prison, Dannemora, and to other state institutions.

There have been many mechanical changes. New systems of doors have been installed. The prison is not as open as it once was, for doors separate different sections of the institution, much on the same plan as a ship.

The open stairway, leading from the first floor to the basement, where Principal Keeper George Durnford was shot to death, has been closed with steel walls. On the fifth tier in the south wing, walls are now bare of mirrors. Ernest Pavest and Steve Pawlak, two of the slain ring-leaders, made good use of mirrors to watch the progress of their pursuers.

The application of paint has brightened up the prison considerably. In the south wing, where the riot last December reached its climax, the bullet marked and blood-spattered walls have been covered with pumpkin-yellow paint.

Discipline is strict and when a convict disobeys orders or causes trouble swift justice follows. Solitary confinement, and all that goes with it, is the penalty.

RELIEF WORK ORGANIZATION TO BE COMPLETED MONDAY NIGHT

An organization for the winter months for charity work in Brownwood will be completed next Monday night, November 10, according to the plan outlined below. This decision was made at a meeting held Monday night at the Chamber of Commerce rooms at which representatives from all civic clubs, professional groups and other organizations were present.

F. S. Abney, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce committee appointed recently, acted as chairman of the meeting and will preside next Monday night until a permanent chairman is elected. Hilton Burks acted as secretary and will continue until one is elected at the organization meeting.

According to the plan agreed upon on the Brownwood Benefit Association will be organized in three groups, namely an advisory council composed of members from all lodges, clubs, churches, and other organizations who will name a committee of three who will be in charge of the charity work through a secretary who shall receive remuneration for his work.

D. W. Ross presented a diagram showing the steps of the proposed organization. As stated above the advisory council will be composed of one member from each organization and the executive committee will be appointed by this group and they will represent the group with the secretary and will be the working body of the charity organization.

Investigate Cases

The secretary will have direct charge of the work and will investigate each case as it is presented to him and then give the case the attention which he thinks it merits. He will also act as head of a minor employment agency and all work will be turned over to him for distribution. The committee is very anxious to have a large amount of small jobs listed each day and these will include jobs around homes and gardens and other such work.

The meeting, which was attended by more than 40, was opened with the reading of a letter to the editors of the leading daily newspapers over Texas. This letter, from Jas. C. White, editor of the Bulletin, explained that he was enclosing a story to the newspaper addressed stating that there was no work available in Brownwood this winter for people who might come here seeking work. A letter from the president of the Rotary club was also read stating that the organization itself because of the rules governing the body could not act in the charity relief but assured the heads of the charity work that its members were ready to assist in any way possible as individuals. There was a complete list of the membership enclosed in the letter.

Chairman Abney reviewed the meeting held last Monday night, stating the reason for its calling and the action taken at that time. He said that during the week he had appointed a committee of five to draw up plans for the organization of a permanent body. He asked that a member of that committee present the plan as advanced by them, which was done by C. W. Early and D. W. Ross. Mr. Early read the plan as given below and this was followed by explanation of the diagram by Mr. Ross.

Plan Is Discussed

Some general discussion was engaged in concerning the plan. Rev. G. C. Schurman, pastor of the First Christian church was the first to speak. He stated that there was only one weakness in the plan which he could see and that was concerning the churches. He said that the churches should be represented individually rather than through the Ministerial Alliance as that organization was not representative of the Brownwood ministers at present. He said that the Alliance could not do anything because in reality it was an organization in name and not in work because of lack of cooperation.

He stated that churches were always doing charity, but that they were the most unadvised group of workers anywhere and that he believed they should be asked to do their part individually and keep the Alliance out of the organization.

E. B. Gilliam, Sr., said that he believed the plan good and workable, saying that there were two decided objectives of the organization, one giving assistance and the other providing labor. He continued that he was dubious of the labor question, as he believed this would overburden the secretary of the organization with too much work in attempting to find jobs for all who applied.

O. E. Winebrenner, local Red Cross head spoke briefly of a letter received from St. Louis headquarters of that organization by him and asked if the organizers planned to include the Red Cross in their organization. This was discussed at length and it was decided to take action on this matter next Monday night.

County Judge E. M. Davis said that he believed it an excellent plan and that he believed after he had a chance to discuss it with the commissioners court he could assure the organizers that Brownwood county would donate $200 or $300 to the work and that it would not be in reality a donation but an investment by the county. He said that he believed the city council would feel the same way about it and would also donate a nice sum to its operation.

Cooperation Promised
 Others made short talks, all stating that they believed the plan excellent and promising the cooperation of their body. The representatives of the Business and Professional Women's Club said that they were ready to do their part and would do all asked by the men when the organization was completed.

Following this discussion E. J. Weatherby made a motion that the plan be adopted with the provision that it include representatives from each church rather than from the Ministerial Alliance and that a meeting of the advisory council be held next Monday night to complete the organization. The motion was seconded by Dr. O. N. Mayo and the motion carried.

The plan advanced by the committee of five composed of C. W. Early, D. W. Ross, E. J. Weatherby, R. B. Rogers and W. P. Murphy is given in full below:

Plan Adopted

Brownwood, Texas, November 3, 1930.
 Mr. F. S. Abney, Chairman,
 Brownwood, Texas.

Dear Sir: In response to your request that a plan for the administration of the relief in Brownwood be outlined, your committee presents the following:

The plan suggested for the administration of the relief in Brownwood does not contemplate a new and elaborate organization but merely co-ordination of the purposes and activities of the existing church, charity, fraternal and civic bodies through a central committee which is to be representative of all and which is to actively function through an executive committee, the detail work in turn to be done by an executive secretary.

The organization which would be mobilized for this purpose would be known as "Brownwood Relief Administration" and this representative or delegate body would be known as the advisory council of such administration and such council would represent primarily the various church, charitable, fraternal and civic organizations of Brownwood; also, represent the city of Brownwood and Brown county through the mayor and county judge, respectively.

Each of the organizations referred to would be represented on this advisory council by a single member. The council would then elect its own chairman, secretary, etc., and the executive committee would be three whose duty it would be to carry into effect any general relief plan which might be adopted by the council.

The council would fix the time and place of its own meetings and drives would be laid before its constituent bodies through its members, each member of the council being authorized to act for the body represented by him.

The executive committee of three to be appointed by the council would carry into effect the plans approved by the council. This committee would serve without compensation but would establish relief headquarters and would appoint an executive secretary to be in charge of such headquarters. This secretary should be a capable stenographer and typist and should be experienced in the keeping of accounts and records and in office routine also in relief work, each member of the committee should be provided with a car and, of course, will have to be allowed proper compensation.

The office of the executive secretary would serve as an employment bureau, or agency, keeping in touch with all employers of labor of Brown county with a view to finding employment for the county's unemployed. The office of the secretary would also act as a bureau of inquiry and information in order that the charity work of all organizations of every kind in Brown county may be better co-ordinated.

All self-respecting people prefer work to charity; and, because of this, every effort should be made by the relief administration to find employment for all who are able to work. But jobs may not be found for all and some will not be able to work, therefore, relief of another kind will have to be provided. Much clothing could be collected through a drive, but money must also be provided to pay for food, shelter and to care for the sick. It would be the duty of the Advisory Council and the executive committee to devise a plan to provide the necessary funds, as it would also be the duty of the members of all constituent bodies belonging to this relief administration to raise such funds.

It is, of course, not the purpose of this committee, as indicated in the details of the organization proposed, or the duties of its various committees, or the obligations of its membership, but merely to provide a skeleton plan of relief administration, the main purpose of which is to mobilize all existing organizations and co-ordinate the relief work now being done by such groups to the end that this community may more effectively discharge the obligations which the adverse conditions of the times have thrust upon it.

Respectfully submitted,

COMMITTEE.

SURVEY TO BE MADE BY STATE HIGHWAY BODY

Following a conference Saturday at Abilene between W. R. Ely, chairman of the State Highway Commission, and a committee from Brady of the bond election scheduled to be held in McCulloch county Saturday, November 8, has been postponed. The reason given was that there could be no co-operation between McCulloch county and the highway department under existing conditions.

The petition as presented at a meeting of the commissioners court of McCulloch county upon which the election was ordered, specified that the highways should be so constructed as to make Melvin a control point on Highway No. 9 and Mercury, Flacid and Rochelle as control points on No. 10.

In the conference Saturday Judge Ely pointed out to the McCulloch committee that the department could not co-operate with a program of this nature, if they wished to secure federal aid on the project, and that only after a route, satisfactory to both the state and federal governments had been secured could state aid be given. He said that as the state paid two-thirds of the cost, they should have some say as to the location of the system.

Survey Is Promised

It was agreed at the conference that no election be held at this time and that nothing further be considered at present by the McCulloch citizens. The commission chairman promised the delegation that he would have engineers survey proposed routes through the county and make recommendations to the committee as well as an estimate of the cost of construction, this survey to be made within the near future.

After the highways are definitely located in the county, the location to connect with federal specifications further action will be taken. It was the idea of the committee that as soon as these designations be made that another election be ordered.

Judge Ely told the committee that he did not wish to dictate to any county as to the plan of action to follow, but that the State Highway Commission could not furnish funds unless the federal government participated with the state department in the designation and location.

Meeting at Brady

A meeting of the Citizens Good Road Committee was held at Brady this morning and after some discussion the following statement was made by them, through the chairman of the committee.

"After a conference of the local citizens good road committee with the chairman of the State Highway Commission during which he suggested that a definite survey and location in McCulloch county of highways should be made before bonds for the permanent improvement of these roads are voted, it was agreed that the present road bond issue should be postponed until state and federal engineers can make a definite survey and a definite location of McCulloch county highways, which they agreed to do at once." The statement was signed "Citizens Good Road Committee."

In his statement concerning the postponement Mr. Burks said: "The main reason for this action is that there can be no co-operation from the highway department because of the attempt to make all small towns control points. The highway department refuses to co-operate unless the route is located by the state and federal government."

Upon request of W. R. Ely a delegation from Brady went to Abilene Saturday for a conference with the chairman. In the conference it was agreed that McCulloch county would not hold any bond election on next Saturday and in turn Judge Ely agreed to send engineers and definitely locate all highways in the county and the location to be constructed by federal authorities. He also agreed to make the locations at once." He continued, in part: "The questions involved in this was that the McCulloch county citizenship felt that they could not carry the election unless highway was located with small towns as control points."

DANIEL BAKER McMURRY GAME FEATURE TIAA

WITH four Texas Intercollegiate Athletic Association teams scheduled for action Saturday, Nov. 8, and the other seven conference members billed for holiday attractions on Armistice Day, Nov. 11, plenty of action is assured fans in all corners of the rather expansive athletic organization.

The North Texas Eagles, with two conference victories in as many starts, take another ding at T. I. A. A. opposition next Tuesday afternoon when they encounter the East Texas Lions at Commerce in the future holiday attraction of that city.

Once more the West Texas Buffaloes of Canyon, close on the heels of North Texas and Sam Houston, go outside the conference for competition, taking on the New Mexico Military Institute at Roswell on Saturday, Nov. 8. This is an annual affair between the Buffs and the Institute and is always a hard fought argument.

Daniel Baker's Hill Billies, another of the four undefeated eleven in the conference are due for a red hot afternoon when they take on the McMurry Indians in Brownwood on Armistice Day in the feature football attraction of Central-West Texas. The Billies, away to a slow start this season, hit their stride in the scoreless tie with West Texas Teachers and then blossomed into full power with a 20 to 0 victory over the Sul Ross Lobos in Alpine last Saturday. And the Brownwood Presbyterians are determined that McMurry shall not halt their drive towards a T. I. A. A. grid title. More than this the Billies have a humiliating defeat handed them in 1929 by the Indians to avenge. Until last year McMurry had never won a game from Daniel Baker, in fact the Reds had never scored a point against the Billies but when the two met in Abilene one year ago the Indians more than made up for former wallpoppers.

Only one other T. I. A. A. game is billed for next Tuesday, this being a clash between Southwest Texas of San Marcos and the Sul Ross Lobos, the game to be played in Del Rio. Both teams are all but out of the championship race, but their meeting in Del Rio will be an attractive holiday offering to football fans in that section of the state. Non-conference games on schedule for Saturday and Tuesday are, Louisiana Teachers vs. Stephen F. Austin at Nacogdoches, and Abilene Christian College vs. Texas Tech at Lubbock.

The week's schedule: Saturday, Nov. 8. Sam Houston vs. Kingsville A. & I. at Kingsville. West Texas vs. New Mexico Military Institute at Roswell. Louisiana Teachers vs. Stephen F. Austin at Nacogdoches. Tuesday, Nov. 11. McMurry vs. Daniel Baker at Brownwood. San Marcos vs. Sul Ross at Del Rio. North Texas vs. East Texas at Commerce. Abilene Christian vs. Texas Tech at Lubbock.

WORK STARTING ON CONTRACTS RECENTLY AWARDED ON ROADS

The Thompson Construction Company of San Angelo, awarded the contract for the dirt work on the short strip of road between the slough near town and the Bayou bridge, started work Monday. The dirt work will include an embankment and road bed from a point near the shaw laundry to a point near the bayou. The contract for this work was let at the last meeting of the State Highway Commission.

CITIZENS LEAGUE ORGANIZED NAMES BODY TO MEET COUNCIL

About 250 people, representing in the main laborers in Brownwood, met in the district court room Monday night for the purpose of discussing the situation of unemployment and to try to devise means of securing employment on the city and county street and road work and the Brown county water project. It was stressed that the laborers were "not trying to force any issues or to try boycotts, but were meeting solely for the purpose of going about getting more local labor used in projects of the town and county."

L. D. Lane called the meeting to order and J. W. Nickels was elected chairman and T. J. Reynolds was named as secretary. L. D. Lane was elected treasurer and publicity chairman. After explanations as to the purpose of the meeting several men were called on to address the gathering on the labor question.

First to speak was Frank H. Sweet, who stated that he was not in sympathy with the meeting if the men intended to try to force people to employ them, but if they intended to go about getting employment in a sane and safe way he was heartily in favor and would help the laborers in every possible way. He explained that committees should be appointed to visit the different contractors and boards that could give labor to Brownwood men and to present their views and explanations to them. He said that he believed Brownwood labor should be employed whenever and wherever possible. Mr. Lane made a brief talk along the same lines stressed by Judge Sweet and other speakers were J. W. Nichols and T. J. Reynolds.

By vote it was agreed that the organization should be called the Brown County Citizens League and the following committee was elected to meet the city council tonight and the Brown County Water Board Wednesday in interest of the employment of local labor: Frank Sweet, chairman; L. D. Lane, W. C. Brogden, J. P. Alexander, and F. M. Rose. The committee will present petitions signed by approximately 2,000 Brown county people. It is said, to these bodies asking that Brownwood and Brown county labor be employed when possible.

CATHEDRAL TOMB OF CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS RESISTS GALE IN SANTO DOMINGO DISASTER

SPANIOLA, the island which Christopher Columbus "loved above all other lands" and known in these modern days as the Dominican Republic, was the scene of a terrific hurricane in early September, which called all of the forces of relief, including the American Red Cross, into action.

With 400,000 dead and almost ten thousand wounded, the beautiful island's capital city of Santo Domingo, was almost totally wrecked. The American Red Cross gave $50,000 from its treasury toward the relief work and generous aid came to the republic from other nations. Navy and Marine aviators of the United States carried in Red Cross medical supplies and established communication. The Red Cross sent an expert relief director to aid the American committee, organized by Governor Theodore Roosevelt of Porto Rico, adjoining island. President Trujillo of the republic performed a magnificent task in organizing the nation's forces to doctor the injured, and protect the health of survivors. The Dominican Republic was the first seat in the Western World of

CANNING OF MEAT IS SUGGESTED AS ONE WAY TO AID PROSPERITY

That canning of meat and otherwise preserving it for future use is one of the best things people can do to economize on grocery bills is a hint given by Miss Mayes Malone. Brown county home demonstrator to further prosperity in the county during the winter. Miss Malone gives some of the following recipes in canning beef:

Chili: 15 lbs. of meat, 7 cups finely chopped onions, 1-2 cup finely chopped garlic, 4 cups fat, 3-4 cup chili powder, 1 cup salt, 4 teaspoons of coriander, 6 quarts water and 7 tablespoons paprika. Melt fat and fry onions and garlic until golden brown. Add meat and stir until white then add chili powder, salt, coriander seed, paprika and water. Cook until consistency to serve. Fill cans within 1-2 inch of top and seal while piping hot. Process 45 minutes at 15 pounds pressure.

Meat Loaf: Five lbs. of meat, 5 tablespoons of bread crumbs, 2 tablespoons of salt, 1 teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon sage, 1 teaspoon celery seed, 2 tablespoons finely chopped onions, 2 eggs beaten together. Use meat scraps, boil and let cool. Grind and mix thoroughly with seasoning. One or two cups of broth may be added according to the dryness of the meat. Fill cans while hot to within 1-2 inch of the top, place in oven and heat thoroughly. Seal and process the same as above. Meat loaf may be sliced and served with tomato sauce made as follows: 1 tablespoon minced onions, 3 tablespoons parsley, pepper. With the addition of salad dressing it can be made into delicious sandwiches. Attractive salads can also be made by slicing and serving on lettuce leaf with mayonnaise or by adding apples, celery or any other salad combination desired.

Twelve lbs. stew meat, 4 tablespoons celery seed, 3 cups finely chopped onions, 8 tablespoons salt. Cut meat into cubes from one inch to one and one half inches thick. Cook meat until bones will slip. Add onions and salt. If tomatoes, onions, carrots, parsnip turnips can be had, they may be sliced and added in proportion of 1 cup to each pound. They should not be added until meat is ready to go into the cans for precooking and the processing destroys their original color. Potatoes are usually added, but since they can be secured at all times they have been omitted from this recipe.

EMPLOYING HOME LABOR

EVERY POSSIBLE EFFORT has been and is being made to prevent an influx of labor to Brownwood in connection with the letting of highway and water project contracts, and the news has been broadcast over Texas that none except Brown county citizens will be given employment in these projects during the winter months.

"Although nearly four million dollars worth of public construction work is under way, under contract or to be contracted in Brown county in the immediate future, there is no demand here for labor, and workers from other sections will be doomed to disappointment if they come here seeking jobs.

"This statement was issued by a local employment committee for the benefit of laborers in other parts of the state, in order that they may save the trouble and expense of journeying to Brown county in search of work. Highway construction work has been under way for a year, and more contracts on the highways are being let from time to time, but only Brown county labor is being used in executing them.

"To guarantee that the available jobs, which will be fewer than might be imagined with such a large volume of public work under way, go to home labor only, an employment agency is being set up here and all who seek work on public construction will be required to make their applications through this agency.

"Similar arrangements are being made for handling the charity situation here during the winter, disbursements from the community chest going only to residents of the county who are temporarily in need."

The fact of the matter is that there probably will not be enough employment here during the winter months, on both public and private projects, to take care of the needs of the local labor supply. In order to protect the interests of Brown county people, who as citizens are helping to pay the costs of the public projects, arrangements are being made to assure them all of the jobs that may become available, and transients will not be considered for any local employment.

THE McCULLOCH BOND ISSUE

DISAPPOINTMENT is felt in Brown as well as in McCulloch county because of the postponement of the highway bond issue election scheduled to be held there on November 8th, but it is a disappointment without discouragement. As one recalls the prolonged period of preparation for highway building in this county, with its unsuccessful district bond issue elections and its many conferences with State Highway Department officials in an effort to reach a satisfactory agreement on a highway building program, the delay in carrying the McCulloch program to the issue of an election does not discourage, but to the contrary points to the clearing up of questions as to routes and surveys that would have been troublesome if the election had been held as previously scheduled.

The State Highway Commission is proceeding upon a business-like basis, and is making promises only when performance is regarded as advisable. When a county prepares, therefore, to finance a highway building program, it is essential that there be an exact agreement with the Department as to routes and surveys, and to permit the negotiation of such an agreement that the McCulloch county bond issue election has been postponed indefinitely. It may be that not a single change in the routing of highways as contemplated in the program recently offered to the voters of the county will be made after the Highway Department's engineers have surveyed the county; but when a new program is prepared in co-operation with the Highway Department and then offered to the people of the county for their approval, there will be the assurance that it will have the hearty support of the Highway Department, and will be financed and constructed under the direction of the Department. Without such co-operation the highways could never be built, because the county proposes to finance only one-third of their cost, the remainder of the cost being paid by the state and federal Highway Departments.

NEW COTTON FINANCE PLAN

THE SOUTHERN Cotton Reduction Association is the rather elaborate title chosen by a new organization formed the other day at Corpus Christi when a large group of cotton growers and bankers met to consider the acreage reduction problem. J. E. Garrett, Corpus Christi banker and cotton grower, was the leading spirit in the gathering, and was made president of the newly formed association. The Texas Bankers Association will be asked to endorse the plans of the association, and to aid in enforcing a drastic reduction of the acreage planted to the staple next season and during the following four years.

The cotton acreage reduction plan sponsored by the Southern Cotton Reduction Association was suggested by Mr. Garrett recently, and provides for the farmers of the state to take into their own hands the primary responsibility for compelling farmers to diversify their crops. Under this plan, no banker is to extend financial assistance to any farmer who does not agree to reduce his cotton acreage at least twenty-five per cent. It looks simple, and may operate satisfactorily in the Corpus Christi section where there is exceptionally heavy cotton production, but it will miss its mark by a mile in this territory.

In this section, and we imagine in many others, no banker who has the interest of his farmer friends at heart, will agree to be bound by such an agreement as Mr. Garrett and his association suggests. In the first place, bankers here for many years have restricted loans to farmers, giving them financial assistance for the production only of crops that promise to be reasonably profitable and helping them by every possible means to achieve independence of cotton by venturing into many of the "sidelines" of farming such as dairying, chicken raising and others. Further, a uniform reduction of 25 per cent in the acreage planted to cotton on Texas farms will not prove to be practicable, because some farmers are so situated that they can not make such a large reduction while others in more fortunate circumstances should make a greater reduction. The banker, in negotiating with a farmer and seeking a safe and sound basis upon which to render him financial service, must consider each case individually, examining all the conditions having a bearing upon the farmer's farm operations, and applying the rule of reason rather than the rule of 25 per cent acreage reduction to the situation.

As a general rule, it may be said that any plan of relieving the farmers that involves the element of compulsion is going to be repulsive to the farmers and to everybody else connected with it. In spite of the fact that he operates almost continually upon borrowed money, it should be remembered that the farmer is an independent business man, and prefers to be treated as such.

A WORKABLE PLAN SUGGESTED

A PLAN for setting up an organization to serve through the winter months in the direction of Brownwood charity work has been suggested by a Chamber of Commerce committee and offered for the consideration of the people of the community. At a meeting next Monday night it is expected that the organization will be perfected, after which there will be a call for funds with which to finance the work of relieving distress through the cold weather period.

The suggested plan for providing an administration for the charity work is not a complicated one, and commends itself to all those who have had contact with the problem of handling relief funds and supplies in other years. Each church, lodge, civic organization and other group interested in the matter will be invited to name one member of an advisory committee. From this selected group, three executive committee members will be chosen, to direct the work of a full-time secretary or manager who will be in charge of the headquarters of the work, will be responsible for its supplies and their distribution, and otherwise will attend to all the detail work arising from day to day.

The pastors of Brownwood churches, who heretofore have provided the administration of charity work, have voiced their approval of efforts to set up a new system for handling the problem, and will give their support to the plan now laid before the community. The pastors have done a remarkably effective work despite the fact that they have had a very limited fund each year for charitable distribution, and the feeling is general that it would be unfair to them to ask them for further service. Each pastor will always be ready, of course, to give of his time and energy in assisting in any phase of charity work in the community.

As soon as the proposed organization has been set up, there will be a call for funds and for supplies, and we feel sure that there will be a liberal response to it. Brownwood people are generous, they are sympathetic, and they invariably respond to every appeal that is made in behalf of the unfortunate. With a carefully directed administration of the funds and supplies, the charity work of Brownwood during this winter should be conducted with a minimum of "leakage" into unworthy channels and a maximum of benefit to those for whose relief the funds and supplies are made available. It is inevitable that there will be some "leakage," some errors in management, some relief given where it is not merited, but every possible effort will be made to keep these elements out of the work of the charity organization, so that every dollar that may be contributed may do a dollar's worth of good.

THREE OF A KIND

AMONG the "Interesting Facts About Prominent People" is listed the information that Texas' three railroad commissioners are model gentlemen, from the standpoint of personal habits. Former Governor Pat M. Neff, chairman of the commission, once attracted nationwide attention when it became known that he had "never fired a gun nor baited a hook," and it is said that this is also true of his fellow-commissioners. But it is also revealed that none of the three who spend their time directing the transportation and oil business of the state smokes or chews tobacco, none drinks anything as strong as coffee, none punctuates his conversation with profanity. Presumably, none stays out late at night or associates with evil companions.

To this list of gentlemen of impeccable conduct there ought to be added the name of another former governor of Texas. Although he was formerly one of the leaders of the anti-prohibitionists in this state, it is said that James E. Ferguson was a teetotaler. Further, Farmer Jim never smoked or chewed, and his profanity, if any, was always mild. Most other Governors—with the exception, of course, of Mrs. Ferguson—have been slimmers addicted to at least one bad habit.

Invitations for the formal opening are being sent to many in this section of the state and a large crowd is expected. The hotel will be opened for business next Monday and at that time will begin both coffee shop and room service, which will be continued from that date.

LIBRARIES ARE DISTRIBUTED TO COUNTY CLUBS

Twelve circulating libraries which have been assembled by the Brownwood chapter of the American Association of University Women are distributed among as many home demonstration clubs at the regular monthly meeting of representatives of various clubs from over all the county, this afternoon.

Issues Carrie Reaves, Rosalie Muse and Eula McFarland, represented the chapter at the meeting and presented the libraries to the women with instructions as to plans for use of the libraries. It was explained that there were about twenty-two books in each library and these books are numbered according to the number of the library and number of the book in the library. One of these lists is kept by the club every time a library is sent out, one list is kept by the club librarian, some member of the club who is to be appointed, and the remaining list kept by Miss Mayesie Malone, county home demonstration agent. Papers were also included in the libraries to be used by the librarian in checking the books out to the members.

The cases or boxes that contain the books are very attractive and are all hand made, constructed almost entirely by members of the club. The boxes when they are open measure over four feet, but are hinged in the center and close up, making very compact carrying cases measuring almost 2 feet long by one foot wide and one foot deep. The ends of the cases have handles and when the box is folded these handles come together so that the cases may be easily carried. The cases are painted green on the exterior and black on the interior and on the side of each is the seal of the Brownwood branch of the American Association of University Women.

Library Exchange Plan

The only rules governing the use of the books are that no member may check out more than one book at a time, may not keep it more than two weeks and pay for books that are destroyed. A club may keep a library for two months then bring it to club council meeting and exchange it for another library.

Reaves explained that the inspiration for the libraries came through reading in the newspaper about the Indian Creek Club women starting a club library, and members decided that every club should have more advantage of good reading matter. Thus the idea started and the libraries have been assembled and the club intends to distribute 6 more as soon as they can be assembled.

It was also explained that a great variety of reading matter was represented in each library and that every member in a club could find something that he enjoyed.

The club women at the meeting were very enthusiastic about the libraries and several in brief talks said that they had always wanted more books to read and that the circulating libraries seemed to be the answer to their longings. They thanked the local club and assured members that they would cooperate in every way in taking care of the books and exchanging them.

MISS BROWNWOOD AND MR. PROSPERITY TO BE MARRIED NOVEMBER 11

"Visitors from the forks of the creek to the large cities will be guests of the Brownwood Business and Professional Women's Club and the American Legion Auxiliary Tuesday night, November 11, to see Miss Brownwood married to Mr. Prosperity," said Dr. Mollie Armstrong today in telling of further prosperity plans made by the club. Mrs. Armstrong says that real people represent Miss Brownwood and Mr. Prosperity and the wedding ceremony will be held at the Soldiers and Sailors Memorial hall at 8 o'clock on the night of Armistice Day.

Dr. Armstrong also stated that the auxiliary and club were hearing every day from someone else who would come to the big entertainment and help wish Miss Brownwood and Mr. Prosperity a long and happy married life. She says that a great crowd is expected.

The wedding will be presented in all elaboration and the stage and main floor of the memorial hall will be decorated and prepared for the ceremony. Members of both organizations have been working on the program and promise a good time to all. Following the wedding a square dance will be held and many are expected to take part in this feature attraction, which has been made famous by the club. The Business and Professional Women's Club is still advocating its motto which the members say has been taken up by many people in Brownwood—"Buy Something You Need Today." Mrs. Armstrong declares that the merchants say that the outlook is better. The club members believe that their prosperity campaign, which will be climaxed by the wedding November 11, has been of some help and have been assured by the merchants that it has.

"The recent rains did not rain down gold dollars already minted," says Mrs. Armstrong, "but the farmers are reporting that the rain really means a great many dollars to them. The pasture grass is much better and the prospects for grain is good. The turkey crop is now being marketed and it is reported that the quality of the turkeys are 25 per cent better than in previous years," she concludes.

LION LUNCHEON IN OBSERVANCE OF ARMISTICE

Striking a note of army life and calling to mind the great event of twelve years ago when Armistice was signed and the great World War ended, the program of the Brownwood Lions club in regular meeting at the Southern Hotel Tuesday was voted by a one hundred per cent attendance to be one of the best ever held by the club. More than sixty men were in attendance and a 100 per cent attendance for the first time in several months was registered.

W. H. Talbot and D. D. McInroe had charge of the program and had arranged for a real Armistice Day observance. The dining room was decorated in patriotic colors and the whole setting gave off an atmosphere of patriotism.

Miss Kits Issued

As the members came into the room they were issued regular army mess kits and canteens and ordered to "fall-in." The old army style of "chow-line" was carried out and the Lions formed a line and had the food dished out to them—and it was real army "chow," too, because Joplin Clemons of the National Guards prepared it just like he had done for the army boys.

Lion J. C. Cook acted as "Major-General" and was "hard boiled" in issuing his orders to the "buck privates" and "shave-tails." Having had experience in the army himself Dr. Cook knew how to direct the army program in a true-to-life way. He was not the only member present who saw service in France and the United States during the World War and the tone of the meeting brought back memories of days in the army camps to these old regulars.

Meaning of Armistice

Lion P. T. Stanford, pastor of the Central Methodist church, who saw service in a heavy tanks corps in France, talked on the "Meaning of Armistice Day." "On the morning of November 11th, 1918, at 11:00 o'clock, the war ended and I think that was the greatest single event that has happened or will happen in this age," he said. He told the members that the Allies and Germany signed the peace treaty in the early morning of November 11th, but that five hours were given for all hostilities to cease and even after the treaty was signed men were killed all along the battle front. "When the Armistice was signed it meant that tens of thousands of men and women could return to their native land to try to take up a normal life again. The period since then has been one of reconstruction and more or less strife, but the American people have done well in the face of so many difficulties. But, the meaning Armistice Day has for us at present is of utmost significance; we are inclined to forget all too soon that 60,000 of our boys died in the fields of France and many are buried in "Flanders fields where poppies bloom row on row. We who came through the war safe and sound should not forget that even now there are still men paying for the war with untold suffering and agonies in the hospitals and we should breathe a prayer for their comfort," Rev. Stanford said in part. He concluded with a verse from Kipling's Recessional:

"God of our fathers, known of old, Lord of our far-flung battle line, Beneath whose awful hand we hold Dominion over palm and pine, Lord God of hosts, be with us yet, Lest we forget, lest we forget."

Following the address the members stood facing the west in complete silence for one minute in honor of the war dead and then Edward Brewer sounded "Taps" on the bugle and the Lions saluted while Lions D. D. McInroe and J. Claude Smith lowered the flag and Lion Talbot played "The Star Spangled Banner."

Lion J. C. Galloway made a report on the charity meeting of Monday night at the Chamber of Commerce rooms and Lion President H. F. Mayes was elected to represent the club in the charity work. E. M. Manley was admitted to the club as a new member and Palmer C. McInnis was welcomed as a guest of the club.

Henry Hamilton Is Named School Attendance Officer

Brownwood now has a truant or school attendance officer whose duty it will be to see that all children of school age in the city are in school every day, as a result of action recently taken by the Brownwood city school board, with the city council co-operating.

Brownwood chapter American Association of University Women sponsored the movement to secure a city truant officer and after discussion of the matter with the school board which also conferred with the city council, Henry Hamilton of the city police force was appointed to perform the duties.

Mr. Hamilton will start with the enforcement of school attendance Monday and will continue for one hundred days. The school board has made it compulsory for children of school age, 6 to 16 years, to attend school for the next 100 days. The penalties for failure to comply with this law is a fine of $5 for the first day of absence from school; $10 for the second day and $25 for every day of absence thereafter. Members of the board say that there are a number of children in the city who are of school age and are not attending any school and that the first duty of the truant officer, who is to confer with principals of different schools in the city, will be to find these children and report them. The board urges that children who are not in school be enrolled immediately so that it will not be necessary for the officer to take steps to force the children to go to school.

Buy Something You Need Every Day

HERE you have, reading from left to right, as the newspapers say: Ashton Lorimer, president of the Lorimer Company (not its real name, of course), Arthur Coombs, the auditor, and young Joe Davis, five years out of college, just married, and newly appointed purchasing agent of the firm. And, like well-regulated executives, they are found in conference.

MR. LORIMER: "What's this, Davis, about your wanting to increase our expenditures by buying a lot of supplies we won't need for a long time yet? I didn't make you purchasing agent to run hog-wild, you know—"

MR. COOMBS: "It's decidedly not in line with our policy of cutting down costs."

MR. DAVIS: "I'm not so sure about that, gentlemen. In deciding to make this step, I'm merely putting into practice at the office a system which my wife and I have been following at home for the past month or two... and we've saved a great deal doing it, too!"

MR. LORIMER: "Why, what's that?"

MR. DAVIS: "Well, we have been taking advantage of the NEW LOW PRICES in all commodities and have been "buying up." We've already practically finished our Christmas Shopping and we bought a new radio, new clothes for us both, purchased new furniture which we hadn't intended to get just yet... in short, we've been SAVING MONEY BY SPENDING it, simply because a dollar spent now brings easily $1.30 worth in return, figured on the normal buying power of the dollar in ordinary times... at the bank it will only be worth about $1.05 at the end of the year... and prices may be higher then! In fact, every time we are home in the evening, we run through the newspapers and take note of the ads featuring these new low prices... and the wife uses these ads as a guide to shopping the next day."

MR. COOMBS: "By George, I think you're right after all!"

MR. LORIMER: "Not only is he right... but I'm going to have Mrs. Lorimer do some buying, too. Oh, Miss King, where's today's newspaper?"

Brownwood Not Even A One-Street Town Back In 1872

BY TEVIS CLYDE SMITH

If you want to know the history of Brownwood, drop around some day to 210 North Broadway Street, and talk to Bob Routh.

BOB ROUTH

Came By Ox Wagon Mr. Routh was born in Collin county February 28, 1854. When he was eighteen, he decided to move into a less settled section of the country.

It was slow going, and a tedious way of traveling, he said, but it was the only way to get to the new land.

Where The Chisholm Ran I wanted to know about the Chisholm Trail. "Did it go through Coleman county, as some say?"

As for money, there was little of it. But none of us ever suffered.

Joined Texas Rangers "I joined the Rangers here in 1873. There were 75 men in our company and I was detailed for Indian duty.

The government didn't pay us very much for our work. We furnished our own horses, clothes, and blankets.

In 1878, I went into the freighting business. My headquarters were at Ft. Griffin.

Know Bill Cody "I knew Bill Cody. He used to come through this country, once half a century ago, buying cattle.

Sought Horses "Most, if not all of the raids in this section, were carried out by Comanches.

BROWNWOOD VOTE FAVORS AMENDMENTS

The vote in the four Brownwood boxes Tuesday gave a large majority in favor of each of the four proposed amendments to the state constitution.

Sterling's majority for governor in these boxes over Col. W. E. Talbot, his republican opponent, was something over ten to one.

Returns from the few voting boxes in the county outside of Brownwood from which reports have been received indicate that all amendments will maintain their majorities in the complete county vote.

The vote in the county generally was light. There were approximately 729 ballots cast in the four wards in Brownwood.

WETS AND DRIES DIVIDE UP SENATE; WETS GAIN IN HOUSE

Associated Press returns on prohibition referenda in three states at 8:45 a. m., eastern Standard time, today showed:

Rhode Island: Repeal of 18th amendment. Complete vote, yes 172,545, no 48,540.

Illinois: Repeal of 18th amendment, yes 428,611, no 157,455.

Modification of Volstead act, yes 406,200, no 152,773.

Repeal of state enforcement act, yes 422,460, no 142,982.

Massachusetts: Repeal of state enforcement act, yes 590,028, no 333,326.

BY D. HAROLD OLIVER Associated Press Staff Writer.

Wets and dries divided up about equally the Senate seats in yesterday's election where prohibition was an issue, while the anti-prohibitionists cut into the preponderantly dry majority in the House.

Three states holding wet referenda—Rhode Island, Rhode Island and Massachusetts—went overwhelmingly for repeal.

The anti-prohibition forces made one of their biggest raids in Ohio, birthplace of the Anti-Saloon League.

Robert J. Buckley, Cleveland Democrat, advocate of repeal of the eighteenth amendment, won over Senator McCulloch, Republican prohibitionist.

He will be the first dry law opponent Ohio has sent to the Senate in eight years.

In other Senatorial contests where prohibition figured, the anti-pet over James Hamilton Lewis in Illinois against the "personally dry" Ruth Hanna McCormick and apparently sent Marcus A. Coolidge, Democrat, to victory in Massachusetts against William M. Butler, Republican supporter of prohibition.

Davis Wins Secretary Davis, regarded as a dry, won in Pennsylvania over Sedgwick Kistler, Democrat-liberal-repealer, Senator Hastings, Republican incumbent opposed to tinkering with the dry laws, defeated Thomas F. Bayard, Democratic repealer in Delaware; Senator Walsh, Democrat, and prominent dry leader, beat his Republican opponent in Montana, Albert J. Gravel, a modificationist, and Representative Dickinson, Republican, who is claimed by the dries, won over Senator Steck, Democrat, listed as a repealer by the Association Against the Prohibition amendment.

Other prominent prohibition supporters returned to the Senate included Borah, Republican of Idaho and Sheppard, Democrat of Texas.

Rhode Island, which never ratified the 18th amendment, voted almost four to one for repeal of that constitutional provision. The complete vote was: For repeal 172,545, against 48,540.

Incomplete returns in Illinois showed big majorities for repeal of the 18th amendment and state enforcement act and for modification of the Volstead act.

150,000 Majority Incomplete returns in Massachusetts also gave more than 150,000 majority for repeal of the state enforcement act.

States now having no enforcement codes to supplement the Volstead act are Maryland, New York, Wisconsin, Montana and Nevada.

In Michigan Seymour H. Person, in the 6th, and Jesse P. Wilcott, 7th, won House seats formerly held by prominent dry leaders, Representatives Hudson and Cramton. Person favors repeal, while Wilcott is an advocate of national referendum.

Another repealer, Arthur P. Lambeck, Democrat, upset a Republican incumbent, Representative Speaks, in the 12th Ohio district, while Ralph A. Herr, Republican repeal advocate, took the seat in the first Washington district formerly held by Representative Miller, Republican prohibitionist.

Senator-elect Buckley, who had announced he was for repeal of the 18th amendment and Volstead act and for state control, said the Ohio results showed that dry stronghold was "ready to bring to an end the federal government's prohibition activities and restore to the several states the authority to deal with the question in accordance with the original and fundamental principles of our constitution."

He added he was ready to give his best efforts to carry out the "will of the people."

Pinchot Leads In the gubernatorial races having wet-dry angles, Gifford Pinchot, former Republican Governor of Pennsylvania, who has said his second term would be "as dry as my first," had a 17,000 lead in incomplete returns over his Democrat-liberal-repealer opponent, John M. Hopfphill.

Another gubernatorial candidate described as dry—Wilbur M. Brucker, Republican, won in Michigan over William A. Comstock, an advocate of state and national dry referenda.

Joseph B. Ely, Democrat, running in Massachusetts on the state repeal platform, had a 20,000 majority over the Republican incumbent, Frank G. Allen, who favored retention of the state enforcement act.

WURZBACH IS WINNER RACE FOR CONGRESS

DALLAS, Nov. 5.—(P)—Texas Democrats yesterday elected all their candidates for state office by the usual overwhelming majority and retained their seventeen seats in congress but failed to unseat Rep. Harry Wurzbach, only Texas Republican in congress.

Wetters apparently had endorsed all five proposed changes in the constitution. With more than a third of the estimated total vote counted by the Texas Election bureau, the least popular of the amendments was ahead by a ratio of more than 5 to 3.

The rural vote was expected to cut to the amendment majority, but many rural boxes were included in the returns already tabulated.

Vote Tight The vote was the tightest since the general election of 1923 and rivaled that election in smallness.

Officials of the election bureau estimated that not more than 300,000 ballots were cast.

Wurzbach's lead over Henry B. Dielmann, the Democratic nominee for congressman from the fourth district, passed 4,000 with more than two-thirds of the estimated vote accounted for. The vote was Wurzbach 13,187; Dielmann 9,003.

Leads 5 to 1 Ross S. Sterling, Houston publisher and Democrat, choice for governor, had a lead of nearly 5 to 1 over Talbot. The vote was Sterling 93,144; Talbot, 19,645. Morris Shepard of Texarkana was returned to the United States senate by a lopsided majority but the returns were not available.

LESS UNEMPLOYMENT IN TEXAS THAN OTHER STATES MOODY ASSERTS

AUSTIN, Texas, Nov. 6.—(UP)—With more public construction under way than ever before and railroad building going forward, Texas is suffering less from unemployment than other places, Governor Dan Moody announced after making a general review of conditions today.

"I believe the state is more nearly normal than any other," said Governor Moody. "Our chief depression has been caused by drought in a few counties. That has been ended by rains. I am told the Federal Reserve Bank board puts our eleventh district down as most nearly normal. The state should go through the winter without unusual unemployment."

"In the event there is a democratic majority in congress, they should at once revise the pernicious tariff which is taking money out of pockets of people in this section and putting it in pockets of others. A just tariff should recognize our raw products."

Does the statute not say in a capital case that a defendant must be represented by counsel? Chief Justice W. C. Morrow asked while the case was argued yesterday. He asked authorities on whether this representation must extend to an appeal.

Maple wrote the trial judge at Houston requesting that he have no new trial but be sentenced. The attorney appealed and asks an order against execution.
