City imposes $0.343110 tax

By Janet Felderhoff
Despite some discussion to increase taxes by a penny, the Muenster City Council voted unanimously to keep the same rate as in 2012.

A public hearing on the proposed $0.343110 tax rate did not have any public participation. That is the same rate as last year, but should bring in an estimated $7,639 in additional revenue because of an increase in property values.

Alderman Greg Bohl noted that the rate has been very flat for about seven years. He said, "I think it's an outstanding job by our City management to help us keep our budget flat and our taxes flat."

Mayor Joey Anderson added, "The City is in a pretty good financial position. In small towns, it can change so quickly. There's a lot of infrastructure under the ground and you never know what's going to happen, and roads - you know what that is. Last year, we took on a $1 million water system improvement. We began payment for that at an additional $10,000 a month. The revenues that we have collected have managed to pay for that. We've got a new swimming pool. We've improved our police force quite a bit and we're sitting as good as we were last year at the beginning of the year. Stan's done a good job and the Council's done a good job staying after him and Leo and Brenda and Mark. We're predicting a conservative year, but you never know what will happen."

Alderman Jack Flusche observed that there is a lot that could be done in Muenster with an increase in the tax rate such as developing the land west of the Park and street repair such as CR 428 near the Jaycee ballpark.

Alderman Tim Felderhoff agreed. "The employees are well deserving of raises. Every year when it's time to pave streets, we're cutting back on it because we don't have the funds. Muenster is known for being a good, clean little town. The more we cut back, the more we don't do. The further you cut back, the more it's going to cost in the long run."

Walterscheid earns Gold Star

By Janet Felderhoff

Bailey Walterscheid recently joined the ranks of Gold Award recipients in Girl Scouts. This award is the highest award that a Girl Scout, ages 14-18, may earn.

For her Gold Award project, Bailey chose to plant wildflowers. She carried this out on Nov. 5. A good breakfast was provided to all participants. After the breakfast, the planting began near the dam on the east side of Muenster Lake and then moved to the west side by the walking trail. The group spread 22 pounds of seed mixed with mortar sand on approximately an acre of land. A variety of 26 types of wildflower seed was in the seed packets that were planted. All the different wildflowers were native to the North Texas area.

Thirty volunteers came to assist Bailey with planting the wildflower seeds. This included members of Keep Muenster Beautiful.

Preparation for the project took Bailey 80 hours. She did research on the different wildflowers, visited the Lady Bird Johnson wildflower center in Austin, and made presentations to various groups. She also made a pamphlet describing the different flowers.

As a Gold Award recipient, Bailey will be honored at a Girl Scouts of Texas Oklahoma Plains Council Gold Award Ceremony next May. Her photo and a brief bio about her project will be included in the Council

Pacesetters achieve 26% of 2013 goal

By Janet Felderhoff

Cooke County United Way's eight pacesetter groups combined their contributions to kick off the 2013 campaign drive. Their contributions bring the organization up to 26% of its $398,000 goal.

Pacesetters and the amount they raised are: City of Gainesville $10,345; Callisburg ISD $9,000; First State Bank $50,887.23; Gainesville ISD $6,758; Muenster State Bank $4,312; Nortex Communications $5,034; North Central Texas College $9,480; and WalMart Supercenter $5,000. Total raised by Pacesetter $100,456.53.

"Your support of CASA makes a difference for about 100 abused and neglected children each year," CASA Executive Director Vickie Robertson told the United Way supporters. "I want you to know that as CASA was there, you were there too." She then showed an emotional film about a group of siblings aided by CASA. The three children were seriously injured near Woodbine when their mother's boyfriend threw acid that missed her and splashed on them. Cooke Co. levies $0.4520 tax rate

By Janet Felderhoff

Cooke County Commissioners Court voted unanimously at the Sept. 10 meeting to set the County tax rate at $0.4520 for each $100 of taxable value. Of that total, Maintenance and Operation received: General Fund .3115; Road & Bridge .1050; Permanent Improvement .0150; and Lateral Road .0001 to total .4316, and Interest & sinking .0204 for a total of $0.4520.

The total tax revenue at $0.452 should increase tax revenues from properties on the tax roll in the preceding year by 5%. The total tax revenue raised last year at last year's tax rate of $0.4670 for each $100 of taxable values was $13,742,186.92. The total tax revenue proposed to be raised this year at the tax rate of $0.4520, excluding tax revenue to be raised from new property added to the tax roll this year is $14,181,175.29.

The total tax revenue proposed to be raised this year at the proposed tax rate of $0.4520 for each $100 of taxable value to be raised from new property added to the tax roll this year is $148,723.71.

Discussion on a possible burn ban drew no action. The Court did appeal to County residents to use extreme caution when burning.

County Fire Marshal Ray Fletcher reported a KBDI (Keetch-Byram Drought Index) for the County of low 435, high 704 with an average of 609. "The KBDI is an indicator based on rainfall and soil moisture." He felt that the numbers were not telling the whole story. Based on fire behavior and control and the incidents experienced, he would not recommend a burn ban at this time.

The southeast portion of the County received much less rain than other parts. Precinct #2 Commissioner B.C. Lemons remarked on watching a brush pile burn. "It was scary looking," he observed.

Commissioners were unanimous in the decision not to impose a burn ban. If there is no rain, it may be imposed at the next meeting.

A change in the location of early voting was considered.

West Nile virus claims first victim in Cooke County

By Janet Felderhoff

West Nile virus laid claim to its first victim in Cooke County last week. At Monday's Commissioners Court meeting, Cooke County Emergency Management Coordinator Ray Fletcher reported on activity in the County concerning the potentially deadly virus.

Testing began in Cooke County last week. According to Fletcher, they placed five mosquito traps out - one each in Valley View, Pioneer Valley, Lindsay, and two at Lake Kiowa. All results were negative for the West Nile virus. Plans are to place traps this week in Muenster, Callisburg, Oak Ridge, and two undetermined locations.

Fletcher noted, "We have had three cases of West Nile neurological disease, one West Nile fever case, and one horse case. Unfortunately, we did have one fatality from West Nile virus last week - a 76 year old male who resided in the west part of Gainesville."

A positive test from the traps would definitely indicate that the disease is in the area of the trap. A negative test does not mean that West Nile is not present. "I encourage everyone to act as though it is here and act accordingly," Fletcher said. "Make sure you take as many precautions as you can. Until a freeze, the possibility is still there."

Muenster and Gainesville have both sprayed for mosquitoes.

Beautiful weather beams on Community Wide Garage Sale day

The streets of Muenster were packed with bargain shoppers as the town hosted their annual Community Wide Garage Sales last Saturday. Thirty-two sites were posted on the Muenster Chamber map with others taking advantage of the event. An unusual nice fall day, unlike sale days of the past, greeted buyers and help make successful sales.

Endres noted that even if they went up all the way to the rollback rate, it would only bring an additional $29,000. Felderhoff said that would cover raises.

Flusche suggested raising the tax rate by a penny. Felderhoff explained, "Every penny is $10 per $100,000." Alderman Pat Stelzer countered that in the last 10 years, all the homes are being built outside the City limits. He feels it is because of City and Water District taxes. "Every time we raise taxes, we encourage people not to build in the City of Muenster," remarked Stelzer.

Flusche and Felderhoff noted that the people who live in the City demand paved streets and water. Felderhoff said people who build outside the City limits are trying to avoid taxes as a whole, not because the City raised taxes. "On a $200,000 house, a penny costs you $20 a year," said Felderhoff. Alderman Jewel Otto said that some people don't build in the City because they don't want to be in the City.

Endres said Muenster has higher taxes than any other city in Cooke County with the Water District tax.

Flusche said we have a luxury, we have a lake.

Endres said he felt they would get negative feedback from people if they raise the tax rate.

After more discussion, it was agreed to consider a new tax rate next year with a plan of how it would be spent and why it is needed.

The Council was unanimous in adopting the tax rate of $0.34311.

For 2013, the budget adopted by the Council showed General Fund total expenses of $1,151,823 and a gross income of $1,110,55 for a net income of a negative $41,273. The Water & Sewer budget has total expenses of $535,758 with a gross income of $543,200 for a net income of $7,442. The Council was unanimous in approving the budget.

Mayor Anderson remarked, "This budget is based on the same effective tax rate. It does project an overall negative net income where theoretically we pull from reserves by a small amount to balance the budget."

Administrator Endres stated that they would be taking in a little more than they would spend to help make up the difference.

Chris Henderson of Progressive Waste Solution, formerly IESI, requested that the City agree to a rate increase. The increase is based on the CPI (Consumer Price Index) as well as the disposal cost. Henderson said the CPI was 1.64 and disposal increase was 6.6%, so together, they arrived at 3.11%. He requested an across the board increase for both residential homes and commercial front load and roll off.

"The impact would be 46¢ a home," explained Henderson. Endres stated that it would be up to the City to decide if the increase would be passed on to the consumers or absorbed by the City. It would have to be placed on a future agenda for consideration.

Henderson said of the increases, "It's necessary for us to maintain our current status and to move forward." Endres noted that the contract gives the company the right to ask for CPI when it goes up without the City being able to turn it down as long as the increase doesn't exceed the CPI. The Council approved the increase.

Leo Lutkenhaus, Public Works director, told of a diverted disaster for the town's water supply. He said the Water System Improvement allowed them to be able to go in and clean up the old water storage tank. When it was being cleaned, they discovered several rusted spots in the 100,000 gallon tank. On some days last summer, they ran 700,000 gallons of water through it. "If it would have sprung a leak, we would have been in BIG trouble," he stated.

The tank was repaired by a company that sandblasted it and shot it with some potable polymer to seal coat the tank. If we did not have the new tank there, we would not have had water," said Lutkenhaus. After the meeting he explained that there would have been no water for possibly a week or more while the tank was repaired and the sealant dried.

Felderhoff added that if the project had been put off there would have been people crying for drinking water. Four spots broke open as soon as it was sandblasted.

City Administrator Stan Endres noted that he had been in contact with attorney David Dodd who is updating the City's zoning ordinance. Dodd sent him a 38 page draft of an ordinance regulating sexually oriented businesses and a 40 page proposed ordinance updating the City zoning ordinance. The only change to the zoning ordinance was the addition of a cover page.

Dodd said he would make any changes that the City requests. According to Dodd, most cities use an urban planner to make the changes.

The Council expressed disappointment in what was done.

Endres said that he had consulted with Building Inspector Mike Doughty who is familiar with Muenster's zoning ordinance and who has suggested changes. He recommended Karen Mitchell of Mitchell Planning Group. She contacted the City and is willing to work with the City. She will review the existing ordinance and give a cost estimate.

The Council decided to wait until they hear from Mitchell to make a decision on updating the zoning ordinance.

Following an executive session, the Council voted to pay Police Chief Blankenship for his accumulated overtime hours.

In the Administrator's report, Endres updated the Council on mosquito fogging. The County will place a trap in Muenster this week to see if any mosquitoes caught carry the West Nile virus.

The City crew is finished laying the new water line from Maple Street to Cherry Lane. The contractor is almost finished laying the water line to the Sicking addition. Endres said the 2012 Water System Project is getting close to completion.

Repairs to Ash Street are underway with help from County Precinct #4.

City signs are being raised where needed and some hard to read ones replaced. Dip signs are also being added on Maple Street.

In the last week of August, Alvin and Gracie Fuhrman hosted a Japanese American Week. A group toured the area including the wind turbines, golf course, and a Sacred Heart football game.

In other business, the Council:

- Approved the Cooke County Appraisal District Budget for 2013.
- Heard report on Police Department by Chief Mark Blankenship.
- Approved payment of bills totaling $388,847.58.

highest award booklet. She will be among the girls recognized at the State Capitol in June.

The letter from the Girl Scout Council announcing Bailey's accomplishment said in part, "Someone once described the Girl Scout Gold Award as being 'what you really want to be remembered for' in Girl Scouting. For many, the leadership skills, organizational skills, and sense of community and commitment that come from 'going for the Gold' set the foundation for a lifetime of active citizenship."

Bailey noted that this project really helped her with her organizational skills and with time management.

In 2008, Bailey earned her Bronze Award, and her Silver in 2010.

Besides Girl Scouts, Bailey is involved in several after school activities including piano, cheerleading, cross country, basketball, track, and TAPPS music. She is also president of the local chapter of the NSCAR (National Society of Children of the American Revolution). She participates in SHY (Sacred Heart Youth) activities and is now working at Muenster Gymnastics.

Bailey is the daughter of Wade and Rhonda Walter Scheid of Muenster. She is a junior at Sacred Heart Catholic High School.

Harper recognized for years as advocate

Cecil Harper was recognized recently by CASA of North Texas for 12 years of advocacy for abused and neglected children at a social event hosted for CASA volunteers by First Baptist Church, Gainesville. Harper has stepped down as a volunteer advocate due to health problems. In his years as a CASA advocate, Harper was assigned by the District Judge to be the advocate for 35 children ranging from birth to 18 years of age.

"There are many children in Cooke County that now look forward to a brighter future because Cecil Harper came into their lives. He sincerely cared for each and every child he served as guardian. Cecil will be greatly missed," said District Judge Janelle Haverkamp.

"He's been a great advocate for so many children. Several are adults now and continue to stay in touch with him. One called him just last week and asked to see him. She missed him and wanted to tell him what's going on in her life. That tells me that he wasn't just a good advocate for that case, he was a mentor and an influence in their lives" said CASA Director Vicki Robertson.

"Being a CASA volunteer for those kids was a God-send for me," said Harper. "I became a volunteer at CASA shortly after my wife died.

I'd been her caretaker for a number of years and was a little 'lost' after she passed away. I decided I could either sit around depressed or I could do something to help someone. That's when I read about CASA in the paper and decided to get involved. It's been a privilege to be the advocate for each and every one of those kids. Every one of them has a special place in my heart."

Harper isn't leaving CASA entirely. He will join the Board of Directors this month. "I've been around CASA for a little more than 12 years. I know that there are good people who work in a lot of different ways to keep CASA working for the children. I can't keep up with a case any longer, but I want to do what I can (as a Board member) to continue to help abused and neglected children," said Harper.

Harper's departure comes at a tough time for CASA. Presently, there are 18 children who need a CASA volunteer and don't have one. Training for new CASA volunteers is scheduled for mid-September and again in October. Anyone interested in getting involved as a CASA volunteer may contact the CASA of North Texas at (940) 665-2244 or email sbutler@casant.org. One may also visit www.BecomeACASA.org as well.

Weather Whys

Q: You sometimes hear about efforts to create rain, and the term "cloudseeding" comes up. What exactly is cloudseeding?

A: Efforts to control the weather - the correct term is "weather modification" - have been around longer than you think, says Brent McRoberts of Texas A&M University. "In the 1700s in England, scientists thought that loud noises, such as the ringing of bells, would divert thunderstorms and hail," McRoberts says. "It didn't work. In 1892, a Washington, D.C., lawyer got Congress to give him $10,000 to conduct rainmaking experiments in Texas using balloons rigged with explosives, again thinking that loud noises would produce rain. Again, no luck. Modern rainmaking efforts can be traced to Nov. 13, 1946, in New York. A scientist working for General Electric named Vincent Schaefer tested his theory that dry ice - solid carbon dioxide - dropped into clouds near Albany would produce precipitation. Five minutes later, snowflakes were falling from the clouds. Then in 1947, scientist Bernard Vonnegut found that silver iodide worked well at producing precipitation since its atoms have a similar structure to ice crystals."

Safety tips for college students

As college students head to campus, they are urged to stay safe this semester by remembering these tips from Marcia Peot, police officer and chief safety officer at StreetSafe:

1. Let friends or roommates know where you are going, who you are with, and when to expect you home.
2. Never leave outside doors propped open, and don't let strangers into secured buildings or residence halls.
3. A stranger is still a stranger, even if they are a fellow student. Do not accept a ride or go off somewhere alone with a person you don't know.

4. Do not drink in excess. When you do so, your ability to make decisions becomes impaired, making you an easy target.
5. When approaching your car or residence, have your keys in your hand and check the area for suspicious individuals.
6. When walking by yourself, keep expensive belongings such as laptops hidden.
7. The beaten path is the better path. Do not take short cuts and familiarize yourself with the area before heading out.

Asthma triggers in athletes

Rising temperatures, poor air quality conditions, and outdoor sports can create a near-perfect trifecta for increased attacks for athletes with asthma.

Triggers including heat, humidity, and air quality can exacerbate inflammation of the airways making them even more swollen. Before the fall sports season begins, asthma sufferers need to ensure their asthma is well-controlled.

Dr. Rebecca Gruchalla, chief of allergy and immunology at UT Southwestern Medical Center, recommends contacting a pediatrician, internist, or asthma specialist for individuals with moderate to severe disease to craft a plan to ensure that asthma is properly controlled. At the appointment, be prepared to answer questions about the frequency of symptoms, albuterol use and night-time awakenings due to asthma.

School nurses and coaches should pay close attention to athletes with asthma and the athletes should ease into practice to see how well they tolerate exercising in the heat, Dr. Gruchalla adds. Signs and symptoms of an asthma attack include shortness of breath, fatigue, chest tightness, cough, and wheezing.

Athletes need to take extra caution on extremely hot days and when air pollution is worse than normal, as these conditions exacerbate the effects of asthma.

Things alter for the worse spontaneously, if they be not altered for the better decidedly.

Hornets handed loss by Nocona

The Muenster Hornets traveled to Nocona last Friday night, returning home with their first regular season loss in 23 games. The 18-13 score was also the first time in four years that Muenster fell to the Indians.

"We knew it was going to be tough. Their big kids gave us an issue," commented Coach Brady Carney. "Offensively, we couldn't run the football. Defensively, we gave up a big play or two," noting a 45 yard run on 4th and 12 at halftime. "We didn't tackle real well in open space," Coach added.

Three interceptions in the 4th quarter killed any and all attempts of Muenster scoring a winning touchdown. "The reason we had turnovers is we had to pass. We didn't have much of a running game," Coach Carney added. "It cost us. It's not our strength. Nocona's big line shut down our run."

Hunter Klement's opening kick placed the Indians on their own 4 yard line. The Hornet defense held Nocona, forcing a punt. A repeat from the week before occurred when Muenster fumbled their first offensive play.

The Indian offense was again forced to punt, placing the Hornets on their 33. Runs by Andy Flusche, Mason Binder, and Trevor Hess, and a Binder to Cole Walterscheid pass moved Muenster to the Indian 4 yard line. With 2:38 on the clock, Steven Flusche scored. Klement added the extra kick for a 7-0 score.

Nocona carried the ball into the 2nd period, pounding out 19 plays to the Hornet 11 yard line before the drive ended.

The Hornet offense couldn't get out of the hole and puntdians took the ball into the final period, but punted from inside their own 30 yard line. Two plays later, Clint Sidwell found an opening and ran 63 yards for a Hornet touchdown. The PAT run failed for an 18-13 score with 9:06 remaining in the game.

The Hornet defense forced a punt. A Binder to Walterscheid pass picked up 27 yards. The next play was intercepted. Three plays later, Muenster regained possession when Klement covered a loose Nocona ball.

From their 22, the Hornets mixed plays, including a Binder to Hess pass and a 15 yard Binder run to midfield. But the drive ended with another interception.

Under the 2 minute mark, Sidwell covered a fumbled ball, giving the Hornets another opportunity to score. But two plays later, another interception. The Indians then worked the clock to claim the victory.

The Hornets host the Eagles of Valley View this Homecoming Friday. The Eagles are coming off a 34-23 loss to Callisburg, so both teams will be battling back to get a win.

Coach Carney noted that Valley View has a lot of returning players with good skilled boys and a big line. "A lot like Nocona," he said. "This is our first practice after a loss," he added, noting in his past two years at Muenster, the only losses were season-ending playoff games. "We hope to bounce back and surprise some people."

The Hornets' injury list continues to grow as Steven Flusche will probably be out this week with a knee injury, joining starters Paul Mouring and Clayton Hess.

Kickoff is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Pre-game Homecoming activities start at 7.

Sacred Heart Coach Dale Schilling knew the Tigers' contest with Colleyville Covenant was going to be a tough one, but the 31-14 loss wasn't as bad as it sounds, as the Tigers played a good game with the State-ranked Cougars.

"We started off slow due to youth and inexperience. Once we settled down, we played a good 2nd half," Schilling said. "There were too many early mistakes, including missed tackles and dropped passes."

Covenant struck early, scoring on their first drive. John Paul Hesse blocked the extra point kick for a 6-0 score with 10:26 remaining on the clock. The Tigers' first drive began on their 25. Kason Reeves passes to Justin Brown and Keith Metzler gained 8, with Metzler and Hesse running the ball to the Cougar 46. The drive then ended with a 4th and 1 punt.

A few plays later, Covenant carried the ball into the end zone, but a flag called back the play. Seven runs and the Cougars were up 14-0 with 3:33 remaining in the 1st period.

Runs by Brown, Hesse, and Juan Salinas, and two Reeves passes to Isac Walterscheid ended the quarter with a punt.

Defensive plays by Salinas, Metzler, Brady Endres, Luke Cochran, and Hesse forced a Cougar punt, placing the Tigers on their own 6 yard line. Reeves passes to Walterscheid, Omar Colmenero, and Metzler, and runs by Hesse drove Sacred Heart to the Covenant 26. The chance to score ended there. Three plays later, the Cougars scored on a 77 yard pass play. The PAT gave the home team a 21-0 lead with 2:35 left on the clock.

Both offensive teams got in plays before the halftime break.

A fumbled Tiger ball set up a Covenant field goal to increase the points to 24-0.

Sacred Heart's next drive ended with an interception.

A tackle by Garrett Wheeler assisted in forcing a Cougar punt.

Starting on their 18 yard line, three consecutive runs by Hesse took the Tigers to the 30. Brown broke free to the Cougar 28. A flag moved the ball to the 16. But four plays gained only 8 yards and Covenant took the ball.

The Cougars marched down field, but their attempt to score ended when Hesse intercepted a pass on the 5 yard line. The Tigers took the ball into the final period, but an intercepted ball near midfield ended the drive. Covenant then took six plays to increase their score to 31-0

The Tigers got off seven plays and punted. Colleyville was on the move when Walterscheid picked off a Cougar pass and returned it 70 yards for a touchdown. Reeves added the extra point for a 31-7 score with 3:50 still on the game clock.

The Tiger defense struck again a few plays later when Hayden Schilling returned a fumbled ball 31 yards for a Sacred Heart touchdown. Reeves' PAT made the score 31-14 with 2:39 remaining in the game.

Covenant worked the clock and the contest concluded.

The Tigers face another TAPPS Div. III State-ranked team - the Frisco Legacy Christian Eagles, out of District 2.

"They have a very good quarterback and running back, both weighing over 200 pounds. Stopping them will be the key to the game," noted Coach Schilling. "Offensively, we need to control the clock to keep their offense off the field."

Game time is 7:30 p.m. at Frisco.

Muenster's offense drove from their own 40 yard line to the Nocona 39, with runs by Hess and A. Flusche and a complete pass from Binder to S. Flusche, before running out of downs. Five plays later, the Indians scored on a 4th down 45 yard run. The PAT run failed and Nocona took a 12-7 lead into the fieldhouse at halftime.

The Hornets took the 2nd half kick on their 41 yard line, getting in nine plays before punting on 4th and 18.

The teams exchanged punts before Nocona's next drive that ended with 6 points. Again the extra run was stopped by Muenster's defense for an 18-7 score with 3:23 still on the 3rd quarter clock.

Muenster's next offensive drive included two runs by Binder and five unsuccessful pass attempts. The In-

Cougars crumble Cubs

The Sacred Heart Junior High Cubs faced a tough Colleyville Covenant team in last week's season opener, losing 54-0. "We were out-matched," noted Coach Dale Schilling. "Being young and inexperienced came into play."

The Cubs took the opening kick. The first play of the game saw Thomas Hennigan run for 12 yards. Play two, a fumble in the backfield gave the Cougar Cubs the ball 31 yards from paydirt. Next play, 8-0.

Sacred Heart's next snap was a fumbled play covered by Covenant. Next play, 16-0.

Hennigan and Sam Hesse moved the ball to midfield before punting on 4th down. With 17 seconds on the 1st period clock, Covenant upped the score to 24-0.

The Cubs' attempted next drive ended with a 4th and 25 punt. The next play, 32-0. The Cubs gained 3 yards, punted. Next play, 40-0.

With 1:36 remaining in the 1st half, an intercepted return made the score 46-0. The Cubs fumbled the kick return and the Cougars scored again for a 54-0 halftime lead.

The Cubs got a drive going in the 3rd quarter with Hennigan and Hesse moving the ball from the Sacred Heart 6 yard line to the Cougar 16. A 4th quarter fumble gave Covenant the ball on the 4 yard line. The quick quarters soon ended the game.

Tiger JV over Aubrey

The junior varsity Tigers of Sacred Heart took a 20-14 win from Aubrey last Thursday. The young Chaps controlled the 1st quarter, running 16 plays to the Tigers' three, but no points were scored. A quarterback sack by Daniel Hesse stopped the Aubrey offense near midfield.

Kyle Vogel earned the Tigers' first 1st down followed by two runs by Tyler Spruill to move the ball to the 20 yard line. Vogel and Aaron Davis gained 11 and a flag lost 5 before Spruill found the end zone with 4:52 on the clock. The extra point failed for a 6-0 score.

The teams exchanged possessions - Aubrey punted, Sacred Heart fumbled, and Aubrey on downs before the Tigers scored again on a 3 yard run by Vogel. The run failed for a 12-0 halftime score.

The Chaparrals picked off a Tiger pass to start the 2nd half, setting up a touchdown. With 5:28 on the clock, the scoreboard read 12-6.

The Tigers' next drive ended with a fumble. Tackles by Vogel, Darian Peters, and Juan Orocio forced a short punt. From the Chap 32, Vogel and Spruill carried the ball into the final period, with Vogel scoring from 9 yards out. Vogel ran in the extra points for a 20-6 Sacred Heart lead.

FARM & RANCH

What counts is the water that actually enters plant roots

To help farmers make the best use of limited irrigation water in the arid West, U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) researchers are helping farmers determine how much water major crops actually need.

Tom Trout, research leader of the Agricultural Research Service (ARS) Water Management Research Unit (WMRU) in Fort Collins, Colorado, and his colleagues are measuring crop water-use efficiency not by the traditional measure of crop yield per drop of irrigation water applied, but instead yield per drop of water actually taken in by the crop.

ARS is USDA's chief intramural scientific research agency, and the research supports USDA's commitment to agricultural sustainability.

Trout is in the fourth year of a study to determine how much water the four crops common to the High Plains region - corn, wheat, sunflower, and pinto beans - actually use.

Trout and his colleagues designed the study to find out if limited irrigation is best for farmers for each of these crops and to help with irrigation timing, amounts, and other options. The four crops are being grown with six levels of irrigation, from full irrigation down to only 40% of full.

In the first three years of the study, each acre of land produced about 10 bushels of corn for each inch depth of water consumed, or one pound of corn for each 60 gallons of water.

These results will help farmers in this region decide whether to put all their irrigation water into producing corn, or to reduce either their irrigation levels or the amount of land they plant, and sell or lease water rights on the rest.

These results are preliminary and may vary with different timing of water applications or newly developed varieties.

The scientists plan to extend the results over a wide range of conditions throughout the central high plains.

TDA market recap

For the week ending Sept. 8, feeder cattle prices at Texas auctions were mostly steady to $4 higher per hundredweight (cwt) with a few as much as $10 higher, while some were $6 lower on at least a portion of their offerings. Texas direct feeder cattle sales were mostly steady. The Oklahoma City National Stockyards were closed for the Labor Day holiday. The feeder cattle situation remains unchanged with tight supplies offset by high grain prices and negative cattle feeding margins. The fed cattle cash trade was $1 higher in very light trade, and wholesale beef prices were $1 to $2 higher.

Wheat prices increased on prospects for increased U.S. exports. Corn and grain sorghum prices were lower due to increasing harvest-time supplies, weak export demand, and competition from cheaper South American corn.

According to the weekly USDA NASS crop progress report, the crop condition indexes for cotton, peanuts, and soybeans declined from a week earlier, while corn, rice, and grain sorghum remained unchanged. Ninety-eight percent of the cotton acreage is setting bolls or beyond, while bolls are opening on 42%, both ahead of normal. Nine percent of the crop has been harvested. Corn was 74% mature and 62% harvested, both higher than the average for this date. Grain sorghum harvest was slightly behind normal at 59% complete. Rice harvest was 90% complete compared to 92% on average. Pasture conditions rated in good to excellent condition deteriorated from 17% last week, down to 12%. The area rated poor to very poor increased from 52% to 58%. Thirty percent was rated in fair condition.

Texas ranks tenth in most obese states

In a recent survey, Texas ranked tenth among the most obese states in the U.S. The report by the Trust for America's Health and the Robert Wood Foundation showed that Mississippi tops the list.

"Obesity has contributed to a stunning rise in chronic disease rates and health care costs. It is one of the biggest health crises the country has ever faced," said Jeffrey Levy, executive director of the Trust for America's Health.

The analysis was based on state obesity figures provided by the U.S. Centers for Dis-

Time to treat lawns for winter annual weeds

Winter weeds such as henbit, chickweed, ryegrass, rescuegrass, and annual bluegrass are common nuisances in lawns during spring. These weeds, along with many others, come from seeds that germinate in fall, grow slowly during winter, and appear in early spring. They can invade many areas within your landscape, especially those sites where the turf density has been reduced and bare soil exists. Therefore, making sure you go into the winter months with a healthy, dense turfgrass is your best defense against these winter pests. Another approach is to use a pre-emergent herbicide to control them.

Pre-emergent herbicides are an effective way to control annual weeds. The herbicide kills seeds as they germinate so that weeds never emerge from the soil. However, pre-emergent herbicides are not effective against weeds that are already growing, so they must be applied now to be present in the soil when germination occurs.

To prevent late winter/early spring annual weeds, apply a pre-emergent herbicide in early September (in north-east Texas). Pre-emergent herbicides for home lawns are most readily available in granular form and can be applied with a fertilizer spreader. For uniform distribution, apply the granules at half the recommended application rate while walking north and south across your lawn, and the other half walking east and west. After applying, thoroughly water the herbicide into the lawn. The herbicides are formulated to remain in the top portion of the soil, even after a heavy rain. Before applying pre-emergent herbicides, be sure to read and follow the product directions carefully.

Fall CEU program

If you are interested in learning more about the best chemical products to control weeds for Cooke County, or if you simply need more continuing education units (CEUs) to maintain your pesticide applicators license, you will want to be aware of the upcoming Fall CEU program. Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service will host this event on Oct. 4 at the North Texas Central College Little Theater from 6-9 p.m. at 1525 W. California, Gainesville.

The primary focus of the program this year will be on weed control products for Cooke County pastures, crops, and brush control. Speakers will be:

- Ross Cantrell from Winfield Solutions,
- Brant Mettler from Dow AgriScience,
- Jack LeClair from Dupont.

There will be a $10 fee for the program and each participant will receive 3 CEU Hours. Contact Texas AgriLife Extension Service at 940-668-5412 to RSVP by Oct. 1.

Expert predicts cold and moisture this winter

While current weather patterns are reminiscent of the 1950s, one weatherman told ranchers attending the 58th Texas A&M Beef Cattle Short Course that West Texas and states such as Colorado and Oklahoma will leave drought behind sometime this winter.

"When it breaks, it's going to break big-time," said Brian Bledsoe, weatherman for the Southern Livestock Standard.

Storms on the West Coast this winter, which models indicate will be wetter than normal, will be the driver for weather change in Texas.

"That's where our weather is going to come from," he told attendees, pointing to California and upper coastline states, where shades of blue on the map indicated moisture.

Meanwhile, this winter, cold weather is predicted for November-January from the tip of Dallas up through the Midwest.

Bledsoe said at least through the first couple of months of 2013, El Nino "will play some role in at least temperature," especially during the months of February, March, and April.

"It stands to reason Texas and the Gulf Coast will be colder than normal for winter," he said. "Moisture will come and East Texas is predicted to be wetter than normal."

Research review shows little advantage to organic

Organic foods offer few benefits compared to conventionally raised food, a recently released review of existing research by Stanford University shows.

Stanford University scientists looked at 17 human studies and 223 evaluations of nutrient and contaminant levels in a variety of foods, including milk, grains, pork, beef, and chicken, and determined that the differences between the organic and the conventionally farmed versions were mostly minor.

The study in the Annals of Internal Medicine, found that fruits and vegetables labeled organic were, for the most part, no more nutritious than their conventional counterparts or any less likely to be contaminated by bacteria like E. coli.

While organic and conventionally grown animal products were equally at risk for contamination by bacteria, conventionally raised chicken and pork were more likely than their organic versions to be contaminated with bacteria that were resistant to some antibiotics.
