VOLUME XXII

MUENSTER, COOKE COUNTY, TEXAS,

JANUARY 17, 1958

NUMBER 8

Welcome news was the reply sent to Russia by President Eisenhower declining the invitation for more summit talks. Ike said "nothing doing," and added that prospects for a future high level confab depend on harmonious and constructive meetings at a lower level.

Without saying so directly, this statement could be the permanent break in our exasperating negotiations with the Soviets. Attempts may possibly be made on the lower level but, if past experience indicates anything, we can't expect results to justify a high level effort.

Had he wished to be more explicit, even though undiplomatically blunt, the president might have used as his reply a marked copy of this week's U. S. News and World Report. One of its articles, entitled "Why Ike Balks at Talks with Khrushchev" tells how the odds are stacked against us when we try to deal with the Russians.

First of all the chances are 378 to 1 that nothing will be accomplished. That was our experience in the 11 year effort to work out an Austrian peace treaty. We met with the Russians 379 times before reaching an agreement. Next the odds are 13 to 1 that an agreement will not be kept by the Soviets. This estimate too is based on fact . . . on the Russian record of breaking 37 out of 40 top level agreements with out country since 1943.

When we consider such facts we wonder why our president has the courtesy of sending a polite reply. One would think that Russian notes, after all that has happened, deserve the bluntest retort or no answer at all. One is also inclined to wonder whether our failure to answer bluntly has a bearing on this country's decline of prestige. After all, it is natural to suspect if anyone accepts that many insults without a show of resentment.

With income tax time on us again, it is both seasonal and logical to point out the error in that old saying "A dollar saved is a dollar earned." Now it can be said that "a dollar saved is a $1.25 earned" . . . assuming that you are in the 20 per cent income tax bracket. That's because you owe 25 cents of the $1.25 as income tax, leaving only a buck for yourself. If you're a plutocrat in the 90 per cent bracket you can say that "a dollar saved is 10 dollars earned."

Because of the terrific tax on big salaries, along with the clamp down on expense accounts, there is talk of exploring new methods to give people raises without letting Uncle Sam be the big beneficiary. One of the methods proposed is a more generous retirement pay, thereby deferring the benefit until the person is in a lower bracket.

Another tax problem which has the Big Shots of the Potomac scratching their noggins is the brainstorm thrown out Monday by Walter Reuther of the United Auto Workers. He has a profit sharing scheme whereby a company's profits above 10 per cent of net capital should be split 50-25-25 . . . the stockholders getting the 50, employees getting 25 and consumers getting the other 25 as a refund on the purchase.

In Washington they've figured out that lots of dollars will fall out of the 52 per cent corporation tax category and get into the 20 per cent bracket . . . a sizeable loss to Uncle Sam. Which might eventually bring on the necessity of raising income tax on employees to take up the slack.

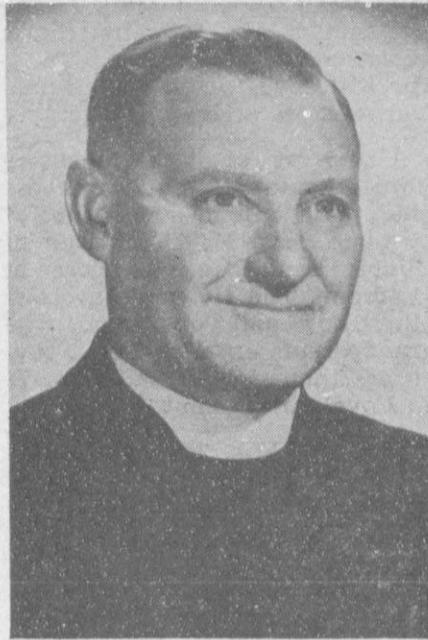

Then again, there's the question of whether this would make much of a difference anyway. If it's figured on profit after tax it would mean little . . . because the net profit would seldom reach 10 per cent. If it is figured on profit before tax it's altogether a different story.

How the scheme will be accepted remains to be seen. Will management object to let labor representatives constantly snoop into its earnings records? Or will they welcome the idea as a means to increase employee interest and loyalty, and to avoid pay raises that are not justified by increased profits? It will be interesting to notice how that develops.

Another interesting one to watch is the proposed Davis Bill (HR 4265) which demands that cooperatives pay the regular corporation tax of 52 per cent (Continued on Page 8)

Father Christopher Appointed Pastor; Father Louis Returns to Little Rock

Father Christopher Paladino, O.S.B., is the new pastor of Sacred Heart Parish, succeeding Father Louis Deuster, O.S.B., who is the newly appointed pastor of St. Edward's Parish in Little Rock, Ark. Both appointments become effective on February 1.

The changes, made known here last week, are related to two other changes by Benedictine priests of Subiaco Abbey. As Father Louis returns to his former parish at Little Rock he will succeed Father Anthony Schroeder, a former Muenster pastor, who in turn will succeed

Father Martin Fischer as assistant pastor at Fort Smith, Ark. Because of declining health Father Anthony is being transferred to the less strenuous assignment. Father Martin will come to Muenster to succeed Father Christopher as assistant.

Father Christopher takes over the top parish position after serving more than four years as assistant and also as superintendent of the parochial school. He also spent two years as head coach at Sacred Heart High and is currently coaching girls' basketball along with his administrative duties at school. He came here in August 1953. Before that he had served on the faculty of Subiaco Academy since his ordination in 1939.

Cooke Dairy Herd Association Has Officer Election

The annual election of officers featured the January meeting of the Cooke County Dairy Association Monday night in Gainesville.

Ben Davis was re-elected president, Henry Frasher is the new vice-president replacing Leroy Hay and H. H. Moody is the new secretary-treasurer replacing Paul Fetsch. Paul Sicking is a new director. Other directors are Pete Prescher, Martin Bayer, David Smith, and Paul Fisher. Carl Kemplin and George Petrus continue as DHIA supervisors.

During the meeting a record of the top cow in each breed was reported. Leading the Guernseys and Brown Swiss in production are cows belonging to Alfred Bayer. Paul Fisher has the top Jersey, and Richard Frasher owns the champion Holstein.

A film on portable feed grinding and mixing and a talk on the subject was presented by two representatives of the company selling the machinery.

Refreshments of milk and doughnuts were served to about 20 members.

MHS Cage Teams Lose Twin Games To Callisburg, Era

In spite of four more losses Coaches Ansley and Saye are far from downhearted about their basketball teams. They like the way the youngsters have been hustling and they feel that losses like these can be accepted without apology.

At Callisburg last Friday night the boys' game was decided by free throws. The teams were even on scrimmage play with 14 field goals each, but the Wildcats added 13 on free throws while the Hornets added 9. After a 19-19 first half Callisburg took a third quarter lead of 21-26 and held out for the final win of 41-37. Top scorers for the Hornets were Hamric and Harris with 10 each.

Muenster's girls were outclassed and came out at the short end of a 41-21 count. Wieler scored 11 and Cain 8.

At Era Tuesday night the same applied in the first half but the Muenster gals made it more interesting after intermission. Era's half-time lead was 27-16 and the final count was 54-41. Carolyn Cain had her big night of the season for a total of 26 but she was still second high as Southard of Era dunked 37.

As at Callisburg, the third quarter at Era is what hurt the Hornets. The first period ended in a tie of 11 all and Era got ahead 21-17 in the second then jumped to a 42-21 lead in the third period and finished with a count of 51-31. Muenster scorers were Harris 10, Hamric 6 and Otto 6.

Garden Club Plans For '58 and Hears Talk About Birds

Committee reports and program planning furnished the business at the January meeting of the Civic League and Garden Club Monday night. Seventeen members were present in the home of Mrs. R. R. Endres with Mrs. R. N. Fette as co-hostess.

Mrs. Nick Miller, park chairman, announced her committee helpers. They are Mrs. L. A. Bernauer, Mrs. Steve Moster and Mrs. Victor Hartman. Mrs. Miller reported that a new liveoak tree has been planted in the City Ball Park in memory of Bill Eberhart and that two memorial trees were set out to replace those that died during the past year.

There are now 15 liveoak trees as living memorials to deceased servicemen of this community since the beginning of World War II during which time the Civic League and Garden Club inaugurated the tree memorials.

Plans are being made to have markers for the trees in the near future. These markers will identify the tree with the veteran in whose memory it has been planted.

Mrs. Lee Toothaker gave the year's conservation report — an excellent resume of soil, water and plant conservation during the past year in this community.

Mrs. Dan Luke, flower show chairman, suggested a spring flower show and members voted unanimously for a spring show this year. The date will be announced.

Mrs. Joe Luke, program leader for the evening, was introduced by Mrs. Edd McGannon, program chairman.

Mrs. Luke's talk was on "Birds and How to Attract Them." It was an entertaining and informative discussion in which she pointed out many good qualities of these feathered friends of man.

Mrs. T. S. Myrick, president, was in charge of the meeting and after adjournment the hostesses served refreshments of cake, fruit salad and coffee.

Elm-Red District Wins Area Award

Special recognition for securing widespread cooperation in spreading the conservation message was received last week by the supervisors of the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District.

According to Chairman Rush Freeman, the district has been selected as winner of the Area V award given annually by National Farm Life Insurance Company for effective use of several groups in getting conservation applied to the land.

The award, consisting of a plaque and a $25.00 check, will be presented by William C. Young, president of the insurance company, at the state convention of the Texas Soil Conservation District Supervisors in Corpus Christi. Tony Walterscheid and Willard Kemplin will attend the convention and receive the awards.

"The Upper Elm-Red District Supervisors," says Freeman, "are deeply appreciative of the assistance they have received in 1957 from many groups over the district. These include newspapers, radio stations, banks, teachers, clergymen, agencies, co-operators, and many others. We hope the efforts in the coming year by all will be accelerated. There is still a tremendous job to be done in the field of soil and water conservation."

Muenster Mutual Continues Steady Record of Growth

The Muenster Mutual Fire Insurance Association continued its long time records of steady growth and low cost insurance through another year, according to a report submitted by Secretary W. H. Endres at the organization's annual general meeting here last Thursday.

In attendance at the meeting were delegates representing the five districts of the organization: Muenster, Lindsay, Valley View, Electra and Windthorst. Each of those districts will have its local meeting sometime in the Spring.

Membership of the mutual now stands at 582 and the number of policies in effect is 694, a gain of 7 over last year. Total insurance increased from $4,202,995 to $4,407,631.

Sacred Heart Hi Cage Teams Split 2 Double Headers

Basketball teams at Sacred Heart broke even in their two twin bills of the past week, the girls winning over OLV Academy and Pilot Point and the boys losing to Laneri and Pilot Point.

In the encounter with the Cowtown teams here Friday night, the Sacred Heart girls breezed to an easy 49-28 decision in the opener. Scoring by quarters was 18-2, 29-11, 43-17 and 49-28. Dorothy Zimmerman led the Tigerettes with 13 and Virgilla Schilling and Patsy Bayer hit 9 each.

The Tigers looked good until deep in the third quarter until the Micks really hit their stride and moved out to a decisive 40-30 win. After an 11-11 tie at the first quarter Sacred Heart led 18-13 at the half and 25-24 at the third quarter, but then came Laneri's rally. Gene Hartman and Sonny Walterscheid scored 11 each for the Tigers.

At Pilot Point Tuesday night the girls put on a strong finish to nose out by a score of 54-48. Scores ending the first and third quarters were tied at 12-12 and 34-34 and Sacred Heart led 26-24 at the half. Top scorers for the Tigerettes were Patsy Bayer 23, Loretta Mages 16 and Dorothy Zimmerman 15.

A good average on long shots enabled Pilot Point to run up a 42-30 win over the Tigers. Scores for the first three periods were 13-7, 23-14 and 38-19. Gene Hartman led the Tiger scoring with 12 and Sonny Walterscheid and Tim Wimmer hit 7 each.

They will be assisted by room-mothers who will serve punch and cookies and have charge of the guest register.

The new building, which was finished shortly before Christmas, was occupied during the holidays and has been in use since classes were resumed. The formal opening, however, was postponed until after the crowded holiday season.

Located just north of the Lindsay church, the new high school is a sturdy and modern structure of buff brick and structural tile with generous use of glass. Its dimensions of 130x56 feet include six large rooms, an office, a nurse's room, a storage room, and rest rooms, all opening to a spacious hall down the center of the building. The large rooms are the library, the science room, the homemaking room and three classrooms. The hall contains a hundred steel lockers for the students' personal possessions.

Interior colors, which are uniform throughout the building, consist of avocado green trimming and a somewhat lighter shade of green for the walls. In addition the hall and rest rooms (Continued on Page 8)

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

The days are getting longer but time is growing shorter to prepare for seeding grasses for waterways and pasture.

According to local Soil Conservation Service records, there is still a need in the Muenster-Saint Jo area for over 200 waterways to be planted to grass to provide a safe outlet for terraces which are badly needed.

There are also 34,525 acres of old field areas or bare lands that need to be planted to adapted grasses and legumes. These are areas that are producing only a small fraction of the forage that they are capable of producing and because they are bare for long periods of each year they are subject to erosion and drought because they cannot absorb rainfall as can the protected soils.

Grass plantings, just as any other crop, require a good seedbed if a good stand of seedlings is to be obtained. Seedbeds should be prepared now and allowed to settle before planting. Small seeded grasses require a clean, well prepared, but firm seedbed. If Bermuda grass roots are to be planted the seedbed needs to be similar to one prepared for corn. Seed and roots are available. The time to make preparations is now.

Bruno and Eddie Fleitman got the grass planting ball rolling this year by being the first to plant grass. A 12-acre field on the Eddie Fleitman farm six miles north of Muenster was planted to Bermuda roots last Thursday. The soil was prepared by going over the land several times with a chisel-type plow.

The Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation district's two-row sprigging machine was used to plant the grass roots and put on the fertilizer. The area will be used as a holding pasture for dairy cattle and calves.

Cancelled Stamps Solicited in Drive By SH Sophomores

Everyone is reminded to save all cancelled stamps and get them in as soon as possible to Sister Theresina and the sophomore class at Sacred Heart High. While the stamp contest now in progress will continue until the end of school, there's a bonus on early stamp returns. Sister Theresina made one shipment on Dec. 20 and is preparing to send another shipment on Jan. 25. Schools sending in the most stamps receive prizes. But the prize is not the object of the stamp hunt. This is mission work. Money from the sale of stamps to collectors will bring medical aid, food, clothing and religious instructions to mission posts the world over. The Ceylon Mission Stamp Bureau is conducting the contest and sorts, assembles and packages the stamps for sale. To simplify matters for stamp donors here, the sponsoring sophomores will pick up envelopes and post cards on call to the high school. Phone 72-W. Business houses are asked to save all envelopes and cards and when a sizeable amount accumulates, call the school. Families in the parish can send their stamps in with their school children.

CDA Court Keeps Up Mission Work

During their January meeting members of the local court Catholic Daughters of America heard committee reports and discussed plans for a social.

Reports included Mrs. Joe Swirczynski's on mission work. She had 25 hospital shirts ready to go to St. Joseph's Mission Hospital in Hereford and this shipment went out this week. She also sent a box of magazines and religious articles to the State School for Girls in Gainesville.

Mrs. Steve Moster said she is still collecting old nylon hose. These are sent to blind war veterans who weave them into useful and attractive articles.

The social will be for CDA members and their husbands and the date for this event will be announced when arrangements are complete.

Mrs. John Mosman, grand regent, conducted the business session and after adjournment Mrs. Henry Pick served coffee and homemade cookies to those attending.

BUTTER AND MISSILES, TOO

By George Peck

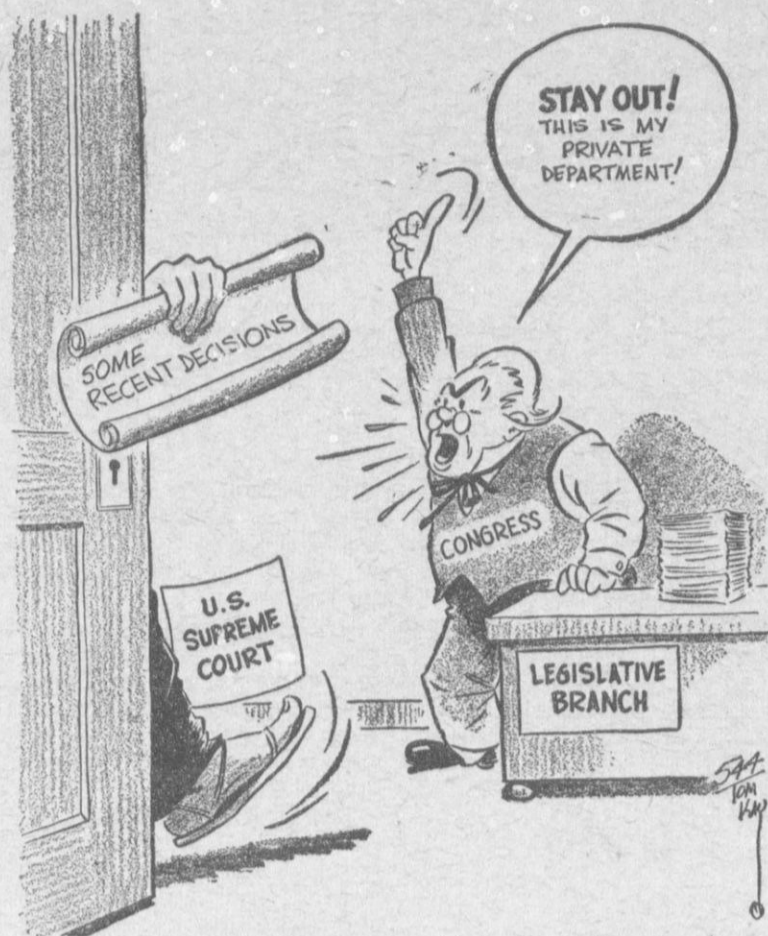

On November 14, 1957, Lemuel R. Boulware, vice president, General Electric Co., said during a speech made at Milwaukee that "just the one element of misunderstanding of the purposes, practices and results of business and the resulting resistance or indifference to cooperation in the common interest is probably costing the country a loss of upward of a further 20 percent in gross national product we could have from the same facilities and personnel without any evil speed-up or anyone going home any more tired than now. This, incidentally amounts to what the whole federal government spending activities cost us."

A week later in addressing the Public Utilities Advertising Association at a meeting at Washington, D.C., Boulware amplified this statement by saying that "We don't have to choose between butter and missiles to finance our stepped-up defense program. We can have both. We can have the sky full of our Sputniks with our dogs in them. And we can still live 20 percent better."

Continuing he said, "There is an estimated wasted capacity to produce in American industry today . . . The gross national product of goods and services in the United States is now around $400 billion a year. Twenty percent of that is $80 billion and eighty billion dollars is just what the United States Government is spending this year — if you count everything."

Mr. Boulware insisted again that he is not advocating any return of the evil speed-up. "We don't want people to go home from work Friday night as tired as they come back to work on Monday morning after one of our typical weekends," he quipped, and added "that too many people have been taught that the way for each of us to have more is for each of us to do less. People have even been led to believe that doing useless work — or standing around drawing pay when the 'work' has been taken out of a given process — is the way for each of us to live better. Solve this one problem of the ill-advised attitude, and we could produce 20 percent more with the same facilities and personnel — and still live 20 percent better."

When this reporter caught up with Mr. Boulware and asked him to explain just what he meant by "the ill-advised attitude" he had this to say:

"The ill-advised attitude which is responsible for this great loss in production is caused by several things. To name a few: feather-bedding, the union taught attitude of resistance to cooperation with the boss, from unnecessarily lengthened vacations, too numerous and too long coffee-breaks, and worst of all, just standing around avoiding doing something useful."

And he added, "And just in case anyone thinks that such a 20 percent gain, or any appreciable part of it, would simply go into corporate profits, let me disabuse his mind of any such erroneous idea. It would be diffused through the entire price structure in extra values created both by the inward force of competition and the all-out efforts of individual producers to offer the bigger values available in order to increase consumer demand, market position and profit."

Now, the foregoing statements were not made by a novice in this business of production — they were made by an expert. During World War II, Lem Boulware was vice chairman of the War Production Board and on three different occasions was given absolute authority over American industry: (1) To get the landing craft built for the North African invasion; (2) To provide similar equipment for invading Normandy; and (3) To build a destroyer fleet of submarine killers. History records the success of all three of these undertakings.

Therefore, this columnist strings along with this General Electric vice president when he tells us that "we don't have to choose between butter and missiles to finance our stepped-up defense program." The "Brass Hats" of the nation's labor unions who are so concerned about inflation, can find at least a partial solution to that problem if they'll see to it that their members revert back to the good, old American custom of giving an honest day's work for a fair day's pay. Let these union leaders concentrate on that for a change and abandon their present policy of demanding for the workers more and more pay for less and less work.

Basis of Labor Abuses

Senator Karl Mundt, who is a member of the McClellan Committee investigating labor racketeering, has come up with an important discussion of what is needed in the field of labor legislation. On the basis of clearly established facts, he says, there is an urgent need for laws to protect the dues paid by the members; to strengthen democratic procedures and processes within the unions; to bar gangster control of the unions; to keep union funds out of politics, and to deal with the "pernicious problem" of secondary boycotts . . . wherein unions by remote control seek to paralyze and staminate the economic activities of a community or a company far removed from the scene of labor strife and entirely outside of the disputed conditions."

Then Senator Mundt deals with what he considers the basis of labor abuses. It is compulsory unionism — the closed shop or union shop, under which a man has the choice of joining and paying dues, whether or not he wants to, or starve.

The Senator quotes Samuel Gompers, the farther of modern American unionism, as saying: "No lasting gain has ever come from compulsion. If we seek to force, we tear apart that which, united, is invincible." He then adds: "Once men are compelled to join a union in order to hold a job to earn the money to support their families, the union leader is automatically relieved of the necessity of serving the interests of his members or selling them on the desirability of trade unionism . . . Union chieftains can concentrate on perpetuating themselves in office and serving their own selfish interests rather than constantly being under pressure to do something useful for the dues-paying members in order to attract and hold the membership . . ."

In sum, the biggest immediate need is for the right-to-work law — which puts unionism on a purely free and voluntary basis.

THE FALSE BEAUTY OF SIN

By Rev. Joseph E. Manton, popular radio speaker

AT THE FIRST sight of snow the faces of children light up eagerly with thoughts of sledding, snowballs, and Christmas.

Yes, falling snow looks lovely, delicate, clean—until it turns into a mess of dirty slush in the gutters. It thrills children until they become cold and wet in it.

SIN HAS a seeming beauty too. Why else would people be drawn to it if it were not attractive and alluring? But don't let it fool you! You saw what happened to your attractive snow. The surface blackened with soot, and before long, the once sparkling track of white was only a wet path of mud. Sin loses its attractiveness in the same way.

While sin seems enticing at first, it shows up later to be so horrible that the Son of God became man and died on the cross to wipe away its effects.

SIN IS the refusal to accept God's law for us. It is usually the misuse of something good. For example, the creative power of sex is abused in favor of selfish lust. The God-given power of reason is perverted in pride.

If you could see a soul in the state of grace, you would see a radiance like the snowy purity of an Alpine peak. If you could see a soul fallen into serious sin, you would see something like the grimy slush that lines the city streets after a storm. Dirty snow and sin are each the defilement of something that once was high and clean and good.

THE MARVEL is that God, seeing sin so blanketing the earth, (like snow) lodged in high places and nestling in low, still does not turn His Face away in disgust and let all creation drop back into the black void from which He drew it forth.

But He doesn't. The other day after a storm, I saw a lineman go clanking up a telephone pole, perch trimly on the cross-bar, and set skillfully about splicing a broken wire. But that day I saw more than a lineman on a pole. I also saw the pole of the Cross and the cross-bar where Christ the Lineman hangs. He hangs there repairing that long-distance line between heaven and earth, restoring communication between the sinner and God.

ALONE WE ARE powerless to repair the damage of sin. We can be transfigured from the ugliness of sin only if we lift our eyes and wills to the Savior Whose Face shines like the sun and Whose garments are white as snow.

GOOD USE

Back in the days when agents representing the interest of the newly formed Erie Railroad were buying land for right-of-way in upstate New York, they encountered some shrewd bargainers among the Indians. One Algonquin chief was asked whether he would sell an eroded parcel of land.

"Sure me sell for fifty thousand dollars," said the chief.

"Fifty thousand!" exclaimed the agent. "Why, that land is no good for planting or pasture. It's no good for anything!"

The chief grunted, "It heap good for railroad."

"It's a pity that people can't know how to solve the other exchange problems. Everyone fellow's."

SECTION 1. PUBLIC NUISANCE: It is hereby declared that it shall be a public nuisance against the public health, safety and sanitation to allow or permit to allow the deposit or drainage of any slop, sewer drainage, water drainage or any such waste materials of any type or nature to flow drain or be deposited in, on or into any street, alley or thoroughfare within the limits of the city of Muenster and such practices are hereby declared a public nuisance and a violation of the public health, safety and sanitation.

SECTION 2. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to mean the natural drain of water resulting from rain. The substances herein included are any type of drain water, sewer drains, slop, wash-water drainage, whether domestic or commercial use; any other liquid substances, such as oil or any other type fluids or combinations thereof. In defining the substances herein covered, it is the intention to eliminate the practice of allowing any fluid substance to drain

SECTION 3. ENFORCEMENT AND PENALTY FOR VIOLATIONS: Any person, persons, firms, businesses or corporations permitting, allowing or in any way responsible for depositing, allowing or permitting such waste materials, fluids, wash-waters or other substances to be drained or deposited upon, in or on any street, alley or thoroughfare as herein stipulated shall be guilty in violation of this Ordinance and shall be subject to the following punishment and penalty:

(a) Should such fluid drainage be resulting from the improper use of any appliance used in any dwelling, business house, or any type other construction, which are not properly connected to the City Sewer Disposal line, the City Water and Sewer Operator of the City of Muenster his agent or agents, shall be required to disconnect the water service to such dwelling, business or firm.

Muenster Mutual - - - storm losses amounted to $1,248.47. Operating expenses, including salaries, mileage, postage, etc., were $2,667.52. Claims on losses were somewhat higher than those of the previous year and account for the increase of total cost from 13 to 17 cents per $100 of insured valuation.

However, that expenditure compared with the assessment of 25 cents per $100 of valuation, nets the organization a gain of 8 cents per $100 in its reserve. The secretary's report revealed that the present total of cash and interest bearing bonds is $46,754.98, a gain of $4,814.54 over last year.

This large reserve is maintained in compliance with the recommendations of the state insurance commission in order to be prepared in case a catastrophe strikes one of the districts. Accordingly the delegates voted to make another assessment this year, of 30 cents per $100 of insured valuation.

All of the organization's directors were re-elected as follows: Albert Henschel, president; J. B. Klement, vice-president; Victor Hartman, treasurer; W. H. Endres, secretary; and J. W. Hess.

Joe Schmitzes Have Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Schmitz, married at Lindsay 50 years ago on Jan. 14, Tuesday received congratulations in observance of their golden wedding anniversary.

There was no celebration but relatives and friends stopped at the family home during the afternoon and evening to extend felicitations and to visit. Mrs. Al Horn of Muenster, a niece, brought a decorated cake and it was served to visitors.

Mrs. Schmitz is the former Anna Loerwald. The couple have spent their entire married life in Lindsay. They are the parents of six children, five of them living and have 15 grandchildren.

The children are Mrs. Agnes Stewart of Dallas, W. J. Schmitz of Lindsay, Airman Walter Schmitz of Tampa, Florida, Richard Schmitz of San Antonio and Mrs. Martin Trubenbach of Muenster.

Hundt Will Attend State Conference Of FB Presidents

Joe B. Hundt of Lindsay president of Cooke County Farm Bureau, will attend an important conference of county Farm Bureau presidents January 20-21 in Waco.

The county leaders from all over Texas will analyze the role of the county unit and make suggestions as to how local organizations may be strengthened to make the entire Farm Bureau movement a more effective instrument for representing agriculture.

Largest of all general farm organizations in the state, the Texas Farm Bureau is composed of 191 organized county units. Membership in the state organization has increased from 27,829 in 1947 to 72,860 in 1957. The Cooke County Farm Bureau has a membership of 385.

All phases of Farm Bureau activity on the county level will be studied at the two-day Waco session. County presidents will divide themselves into groups to analyze various responsibilities of the local organization. Results of their findings will be printed and distributed to all county Farm Bureaus for their consideration.

Lindsay News

Mrs. Bill Eberhart has returned from Macon, Ga., where she spent about 10 days getting her household furnishings ready to move here. Until she and the children get settled in a place of their own they are living with the Bill Flusches.

Paul Arendt Sr. was dismissed from Gainesville Sanitarium Sunday following surgery Jan. 4 and was convalescing at home where he was up and around this week until Wednesday when a recurrence of illness sent him back to the hospital.

Lindsay Open House - have a wainscot of yellow ceramic tile extending about 6 feet up. Cabinet interiors throughout are painted in sunset red.

All flooring is a mottled buff asphalt tile and ceilings are "aluminicoustic fiber glass" a substance that is recommended for both its insulating and acoustical qualities. Ample light is admitted through large window areas which occupy more than half the outside wall space of the classrooms. Window frames are steel.

For heating the new building has four ceiling units with ducts leading to adjoining rooms. The units are thermostatically controlled and their fans can be used also for circulating air in warm weather.

J. A. Owens of Gainesville, who built the public schools at Muenster and Myra, was contractor for the job at a price of $67,200. Furnishings, not included in the contract, increased the total cost by several thousand dollars.

Occupying the new building are the four high school grades and the two top elementary grades. The lower six elementary grades are in the old building.

The new high school, like the old building, is owned by the Lindsay parish and is leased to the school district.

Confetti

on their profits and make their patronage dividends payments partly in the form of tax credits.

Suppose, for instance, a member's share of the co-op profit is $100. The co-op would pay Uncle Sam $52 and send the tax credit along with $48 in cash to the member. The member in turn would apply the $52 credit to his regular tax. If he's in the 20 per cent bracket that would be $20 tax on his $100 co-op profit plus $32 to apply against the balance of his tax, or perhaps a $32 refund.

From the individual member's standpoint, it is hard to see where the proposal accomplishes anything. In the end the member pays the same one way or the other and it doesn't make much difference if his dividend comes as a tax credit or cash. However, a few details could make a difference to Uncle Sam. He likes to get his hands on the money as soon as possible. Besides he probably expects to get more if he takes his cut before some of the members have a chance to forget it. And he could be concerned about the profits which never reach the members but remain in the tax-free co-op, and therefore never yield a tax dollar.

Mrs. Martin Friske of Lindsay was a patient at Gainesville Sanitarium receiving treatment for pneumonia.
