Beginning next Saturday, the teachers who teach in the public school here will have school each Saturday until the close of school. This arrangement was made to close the school term as soon as possible so the work can be started on the new school building.

Mr. J. W. Allen of Buffalo Gap spent a few days here last week visiting his son Harry Allen and family.

Rev. S. D. Lambert pastor of the Methodist church here has been suffering with flu for several days. We are glad to hear he is much improved and again able to take up his pastoral work.

Mr. Alfred Thyme of Sterling City came in Sunday for a visit with his son, Mr. Henry Blackburn and family.

Mrs. John G. Berry went to San Antonio last week-end to attend grand opera. She returned Sunday afternoon.

The Mills County Singing Convention was held at Liberty school house last Saturday and Sunday. A large crowd attended and all enjoyed the music very much.

The little son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Kirby who fell from the school truck some time ago is able to be in town and walk on crutches. It is hoped he will soon be entirely well.

W. D. Collins of Sterling City was here on business the first of the week.

The many friends of Ashley Weathers are glad to see him able to be in town Monday. It will be remembered he fell from a pecan tree some time ago and hurt his back. He has not entirely recovered from the injury. But he is improving.

Plans are being made for the best county fair this year Mills county has ever held. The time has been set for July 18, 19, 20. Everybody get ready and lets have a good one.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Bird visited their daughter and family, Mrs. Babe Johnson in Lometa last week-end.

At last report Mr. Bob Urbach was not doing so well in the Temple sanitarium.

The Mills county club boys exhibited their baby bear cubs on the square east of the court house last Saturday. They had some fine cubs on exhibition.

The recent rains have put the ground in fine shape for the farmers. They all seem to be feeling fine over the prospects for a crop this year.

The roads are in good condition and are being improved all the time. The commissioners look after the local roads and have them dragged after each rain. The highway commissioners look after the designated highways throughout the county. Goldthwaite has these roads leading out in five directions.

DRILLERS BOND BILL PROBABLY KILLED TODAY

Senate bill 380 having to do with the bonding of oil drillers has probably died in the House judiciary committee, word to that effect having been received by the Brown County Petroleum Association Wednesday evening from H. P. Callaway, who is representing the association before the committee.

A copy of the telegram Mr. Callaway sent to H. P. Evans, president of the association follows:

"Members of the judiciary committee assure me drillers bill will be killed in committee. No more hearings on bill set. Feel certain bill will not pass."

Additional assurance to this effect was received in a letter from Victor B. Gilbert, representative from Callahan and Eastland counties, who said "Bill arrested in House committee and will not be further considered this session."

The bill, introduced by Senator W. C. Woodward of Coleman, passed the Senate recently and went to the House, with the result announced. It aimed to bond all drillers and obligated them to get permission from the state railroad commission before they could drill, re-drill or clean out a well.

The entire local oil fraternity of Brown county was against the passage of the bill, it was indicated at the meeting held Tuesday night, which they said, would be a gross discrimination against ninety percent of the drillers of the state.

Corn Planting Time Is Here

Excellent weather and with the soil in good condition there ought to be more or less planting in Brown county now, according to Mrs. I. B. Miller of the County Agricultural Agent's office. There is not much feed corn grown in this county, it was learned, most all the corn being planted being of the sweet variety for home consumption. Other field crops will probably be planted within three or four weeks.

REBELS OPEN FIRE ON JUAREZ

TWO HOTEL PROJECTS HERE ARE NEARING COMPLETION

Plans for two Brownwood hotels came closer to realization Tuesday with announcements made by heads of the different projects.

John B. Carrington of San Antonio and his associates head a deal to build a 150-160 room hotel, which they claim is closer to a fact following a meeting held in this city Tuesday morning.

H. P. Evans, new owner of the Hotel Hayes, said his plans for a hotel of 175 or more rooms, are nearing completion.

Each of these projects is separate and will be pushed independent of the other.

A group of Brownwood business men met with Mr. Carrington and Allen Marshall, contractor of San Angelo, Tuesday morning, for the purpose of furthering plans for a modern hotel to be situated somewhere in the business district of the city.

Mr. Carrington said that a lessee of the proposed hotel has been in Brownwood for two weeks looking over the field and that a site has been definitely decided upon, but he would not disclose the location as yet.

Evans said the committee which met with him Tuesday is acquainted with all the facts of the site and the plan of financing and all details of the deal are ready for definite action to be taken in ten days or two weeks.

T. W. Menefee of an investment firm in San Antonio, has been in Brownwood a few days with Mr. Carrington, returning to his home Monday night.

Plans for this hotel call for not less than 150 and possibly 160 rooms, with the foundation so made that they can be increased to 250 rooms.

Mr. Evans, who recently purchased Hotel Hayes from Fred Hayes, said that two architectural firms are about ready to present plans for his hotel, which is to be built on the site of the present one and extending east on lots bought at the same time for this purpose.

Instead of a five story building as Mr. Evans said, the committee which met with him Tuesday is planning now are being made for six stories and that the foundation will be so made to allow eight more stories to be added if necessary, making the structure fourteen stories in height.

While in Dallas last week Mr. Evans made arrangements for suites of new furniture for the thirty-four rooms of the present building, these to be delivered within thirty days. To prepare for these new furnishings of modern type, he is having all the rooms repainted and entirely renovated. He has also added to his force of employees putting on two new ones this last week.

The meeting will be called to order by President J. C. Allcorn of Woodland Heights, after which the club prayer and pledge will be given. Four songs of the combined clubs will be followed by a roll call in which every member present will answer with the name of his or her year's project.

A boys' quartet, members not yet selected, will sing, and the club will join in a final number of a group of club songs.

FIRE NEARLY GETS CHEVROLET PLANT

A pile of lumber burning in the alley between the Mitchell Motor Company and the Davenport Chevrolet Company building about 12:45 p. m. Wednesday brought out the fire companies, which saved the Chevrolet plant from burning.

The fire was thought to have started from cigarettes thrown carelessly in grass by boys seen there a short time before the fire.

Minor Matters Before Council

Only business of minor importance occupied the attention of the City Council Tuesday night. The chief action taken was the revoking of an act of one week before which denied property holders on Ninth Street the right to bring suit in the city's name for recovery of a street, or section thereof, that the property holders claim has been appropriated to private use.

T. C. Wilkinson, Sr., representing the property owners on Ninth Street, appeared before the Council and asked that their action of Tuesday night, February 28th, be revoked and that Council allow him to prosecute suit in the city's name at the next term of District Court.

After extending argument Judge Wilkinson was granted his request. Mayor McInnis was forced to use his right to vote when Aldermen Shugart and Baugh voted against

Dead Indian Tied to Mule and Carried Around for Two Days

By HAZEL HYDE

"Yes sir, indeed, Brownwood has prospered very much in the past fifty years," said Mr. C. M. Grady, when asked of Brownwood's progress and for an interview of his life and experiences since he came to Brownwood in 1873.

July 1st of that year that I had my first view of Brownwood, and its beautiful Pecan Bayou valley. There were only about thirty houses then in the town, most of them were log cabins, a few were built of rawhide lumber, and one of the court house, a two story building on South Broadway, was also built of log; it was about where Margaret's stone building now stands.

"The business district then consisted of the court house, post-office, two stores, and four saloons. Judge Brown was postmaster, Uncle Dick Carnes and John T. Gilbert were the store owners."

"The country was full of prospectors, cowmen, and many gunmen, two, who painted the town red nearly every night, or shot the place up," Mr. Grady continued.

The country from Fort Worth was only a thin strip of wilderness, and was thickly settled by the Comanche Indians who certainly made things lively some times. I was only prospecting with some men from Grayson and Fannin counties on my first trip to Brownwood, but the next year I moved here with my parents. We bought some town lots and also some farm land in the country. Our house was a double log cabin, and a mansion to us in those days. Our home was open to the few preachers and missionaries, and all who came our way. Old Brother Byers, a Baptist missionary, stopped oftenest with us.

"Many of our most important people then were Judge Fisk, the father of Brownwood, the Coggins, Brooks, Lee, George Adams, the Chandlers, Baughs, Moseleys, Andersons, Browns, Connells, Harrises, F. Rankin, Count John and By Bro. Byers. My sister, brother and wife were the first joiners to our church, and from then on our church grew and prospered. A little log school house was built down by Judge Fisk's home, and it was here the first cemetery was started. The first people to be buried there were eleven men who had died with their boots on, and a little boy who was a son of Mr. Hodge.

"But it certainly looked like a poor place to start a home. We had no money, and horses and cattle worth nothing, but we took courage, stayed with it, and have been thankful ever since."

"It was in November of that first year that Capt. Malby's rangers went out to make the trail, and the little battle six miles west of town, near Clear Creek. Two bucks were killed and the others were chased out of the country. They brought one of the dead Indians back to town on a mule for the people to see. He certainly looked better to us dead than alive. For two days they let the mule carry him around over the town. Such was civilization then. Then a few days later he was skinned by Captain Malby's boy, Mexican Joe, to get the silver rings from his fingers and ears. That was the last Indian raid near Brownwood."

"Many people came to the little town and it began to improve some, but it was quite lively most of the time, for public dances were held wherever room could be found, and these lasted all night. It usually took all the girls and married women, too, to have a dance while saloons and pool halls held a lively trade."

"It was in January, 1874, that I Judge Wilkinson's request, and Aldermen Boyett and Smith voted for it."

Again the Mayor was forced to vote when L. O. Davis, an engineer in the city employ, asked for a $15 per month raise in salary. Again Aldermen Baugh and Smugart voted against the raise, and Aldermen Boyett and Smith voted for it. Mayor McInnis broke the tie, voting in favor of the salary raise.

Property owners on Avenue and Norwood Street asked for a street light at the intersection of these streets. A light was also asked for the corner of Hawkins and Fifth Streets. Both of these were allowed.

R. M. Low appeared before the Council and asked City Council go on record as not owning an alleyway back of his property on Main Avenue. This Council did.

It was voted to pave the street back of City Hall and contract for paving will be let soon.

Ed Henley, Jr. appeared before Council relative compensation insurance policies for city employees. City anticipates a change of insurance companies and representatives of various companies in Brownwood have appeared before Council in the interest of this business.

Following the reports of all city officers, Council adjourned.

LIONS GIVE FURTHER ATTENTION TO PARKS AND BEAUTIFICATION

The Lions Club had a lively meeting today at Hotel Southern with about thirty-five members present and gave attention to a good many enterprises in which the club is interested in the city's behalf.

Mayor Palmer McInnis asked that a committee be appointed to work on the park proposition, in line with the move inaugurated last Tuesday when Lion Hans Schroeder entertained the club and took the members along Willis creek from Austin Avenue to Brady Avenue to show them what a great place was available for a park. Mr. McInnis stated that the Kiwanis and Rotary club had each appointed a committee for this purpose.

The President, A. C. Johnston, appointed J. J. Timmins, E. J. Robertson and Buz Canon as the committee from the Lions Club on this subject.

J. C. Galloway, Jack Brunberg and Hubert Costen were appointed as a committee on the annual Easter egg hunt. This committee met immediately after the club adjourned and decided to hold that affair for the children on Saturday afternoon, March 30th, at 4 o'clock at Coggin Park. It was decided to limit the ages of children participating to those ten years of age and younger. A special section of the park will be set aside for a special egg hunt for children under six years of age. The park will be patrolled by the Boy Scouts who will assist the Lion's Club members in giving the children ample opportunity to hunt the eggs. The Committee in charge is composed of Lions Galloway, Costen and Brunberg.

On motion of Will Talbot the club gave a rising vote of thanks to Hans Schroeder for the entertainment tendered the Lions last Thursday.

A committee composed of R. R. Holloway, E. H. Jöhle and H. F. Mayes was appointed to investigate and report on a city beautification campaign. Dr. O. N. Mayo called attention to the fact that the first thought in the city beautification campaign plans and the health work campaign might be combined.

Sam T. Cutbirth had charge of the day's program, which consisted of some informal talks in regard to work that the club should do and the kind of weekly programs that it should have. Among the speakers were Ernest Wood and O. C. Walker. Mr. Walker at the request of the chairman, told something of his recent visit to South Carolina and other eastern states.

Governor Topepe, who holds a General's rank in the rebellion, is second in command to General Francisco Manzo in this district.

NEED OF BUILDING PERMITS IMPERATIVE, SAYS BERT HISE

The question of permits on buildings in Brownwood was brought again to the attention of the people of the city by Bert Hise, city inspector, who said that many contractors stars buildings without permits that permits should be taken out before any work whatever is done.

With regard to those people who are building outside of the sewer limits, Mr. Hise said that it is unlawful to build dry toilets within the city and that before cess pools or septic tanks are installed, it is absolutely necessary to get permits from the city hall.

WOODLAND HEIGHTS BOY SCOUT TROOP TO BE ORGANIZED

A new Boy Scout troop is being organized at Woodland Heights, according to Jack Brunberg, scout executive. Thirty boys have applied for membership from that community. The troop will meet Friday nights and an announcement will be made soon for the first gathering for road work here, and while lying in the bank, draws the usual depository interest rate. It was sent to Brownwood by the John Nuveen and A. C. Allen Company of Chicago, the successful bidders for the bonds.

Judge E. M. Davis said the receipt of this money was quick work on the part of the bond company, as he did not expect it so soon.

$308,258.36 IS IN LOCAL BANK FOR USE COUNTY ROAD WORK

A total of $308,258.36 was deposited Thursday in the First National Bank of Brownwood, this money representing the sale of the first $300,000 of the road bonds sold two weeks ago. The money is available for road work here, and while lying in the bank, draws the usual depository interest rate. It was sent to Brownwood by the John Nuveen and A. C. Allen Company of Chicago, the successful bidders for the bonds.

Judge E. M. Davis said the receipt of this money was quick work on the part of the bond company, as he did not expect it so soon.

UNIFORMS FOR CITY POLICEMEN ORDERED

Eight uniforms for men of the Brownwood police force were ordered Wednesday, Chief of Police George A. Guilliams getting "his men to the tailors for measurements."

The suits will be of blue serge material with a four button single breasted sack coat, with a vest and trousers of the same material. A cap comes with each suit.

The men expect their new regalia in about ten days. This move is made following action of the city council last week, authorizing the uniforms.

TRAIN JOINS TOPETE FORCES AT NOGALES

NOGALES, Sonora, Mex., March 7.—(P)—A troop train consisting 800 rebel soldiers arrived here about noon today, increasing the garrison of Governor Fausto Topete, who encamped with 1,500 men here last night to 2,400.

Governor Topete, who holds a General's rank in the rebellion, is second in command to General Francisco Manzo in this district.

NOGALES, Ariz., March 7.—(P)—Mexican federal and revolutionists were strengthening their positions in the border area today.

The 500 troops at the revolutionary garrison in Nogales, Sonora, across the international line from here, were augmented by 1,000 soldiers under Fausto Topete, Governor of Sonora and one of the military leaders of the revolt. The troops were moved from Hermosillo, capital of the state.

Local federal forces under Governor Abelardo Rodriguez completed poston bridges across the Colorado river between Baja California and Sonora last night. General Gastalun, a subordinate of Rodriguez, had previously occupied San Luis, Sonora, without resistance and was awaiting development of plans for a movement against the insurrectionists in Sonora.

Charter Motor Trucks The federals purchased supplies and three tractors in Yima, Arizona and chartered motor trucks from the fisheries along the Gulf.

More than 6,000 Mayo and Yaqui Indians have joined the rebel army in Sonora, highway engineers returning here from Hermosillo said. Most of these were reported moving southward against federal forces in Sinaloa.

Officers in command of rebel forces in Naco and Agua Prieta, Sonora, appeared agitated over reports that troops under General Gonzalo Escobar at Monterey had met reverses, but General Francisco Borquez, commanding the insurrectionists in Sonora, said he was officially advised that General Escobar had merely withdrawn his men to a stronger position.

Reports that a revolutionary cavalry detachment was attempting to invade Baja, California, by way of San Luis, Sonora, caused officers of the Mercantile Bank of Mexico, to move six truckloads of currency across the line to Calexico, Calif., last night.

Plan to Hold Masses Priests of the Roman Catholic Church in Sonora today planned to hold the first masses since July, 1926, as a result of Governor Topete's proclamation of religious freedom several days ago. The churches were closed by the clergy because of what they regarded as unreasonable religious laws.

The Rev. Jose M. Pablos said he would assail the Calles administration in a sermon at Nogales, Sonora and urged his congregation to pray for the success of the revolution.

"It's a fight for life," the Priest declared. "Either this present movement must triumph or we must once more give up our liberty."

$25,000 GOAL OF C. OF C. FOR YEAR'S WORK

A definite goal of a budget of $25,000 for the ensuing year was voted by the directors of the Chamber of Commerce in a meeting at luncheon at the Southern Hotel Monday noon. With the new president, Ben A. Fain, in the chair, the board got down to actual work for the new year. Heads of committees were made known and other business matters attended to, including plans for a membership campaign.

It was decided that to effectively carry on the work of the Chamber of Commerce this year a sum of not less than $25,000 would be needed, and the directors made this sum their aim. C. Y. Early, last year's president, was named by Mr. Fain as the head of the finance committee, and Mr. Early put John T. Yantis and J. A. Henry on his committee to aid him.

The following heads of committees were named by Mr. Fain: Transportation, J. A. Henry; roads, F. S. Albery; legislation, R. E. Lee; membership, M. T. Weatherly; finance, C. Y. Early; water, C. M. Carpenter; civic, H. Schroeder; industrial, J. F. Renfro; pecan and dairy, Brooke Ramey; insurance, E. B. Henly, Jr.; publicity, M. D. Armstrong; agricultural, H. G. Lucas; entertainment, J. J. Timmins; and college, Harry Knox.

A rising vote of thanks for the work of C. Y. Early, during the past year when he served as president of the body, was given by the directors.

They decided to allow the same amounts of money this year as they spent last year for medals in the county and district contests of the Interscholastic League.

Charles Weeks of California, originator of the one-acre farm, will be in this section of Texas during the week of March 18th and the directors voted to invite him to Brownwood to give one of his lectures. Mr. Weeks is an authority on small farms, intensively devoted to poultry, dairying and general diversified crops.

Homer D. Wade, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, had been invited to attend this meeting of the directors. A letter from him stating he could not be here was read. In it Mr. Wade talked of the situation with regard to Daniel Baker College, stating that he is in favor of the consolidate schools being located in Brownwood and said he would work toward that.

The directors voted a resolution last week to support the constitutional amendment authorizing a bond issue for the building of state highways, the bonds and interest to be retired by a gasoline tax. Secretary H. Burks wrote Representative C. H. Jenkins of this resolution and Monday read to the directors Mr. Jenkins' answer in which he said he does not endorse the plan.

COMMISSIONERS MET MONDAY MORNING

Charles D. Morrison, commissioner of Precinct 2, was authorized by the Commissioners' Court, in session on Monday morning, to go to work getting a right-of-way on three roads in his district and W. M. Medcalf, commissioner of Precinct 4, was authorized to go ahead with one road in his precinct.

CAROLINA TRIP INTEREST LOCAL COTTON TRADE

In the interests of local cotton men, O. C. Walker, vice-president of the Brownwood State Bank, made a trip last week to the Carolinas, making arrangements for the direct sale of cotton from this district to the mills.

He visited several mills and in Union, North Carolina, was in one which uses from ninety to 110 bales of cotton a day, running 80,000 spindles.

He said that in North Carolina the gas tax is nine cents a gallon, but that in that state the roads were the best he encountered, while in South Carolina the roads were the worst. Besides Union, he visited Durham, North Carolina, and Spartanburg, South Carolina.

In selling direct to the mills Mr. Walker said it is possible for the price to be as low as a lower price and at the same time the growers would be able to get a little higher price than if the cotton had to go through many hands, each step taking a profit.

FIRE DESTROYS TIMMINS HOME, LANDMARK HERE

Disturbed by the crash of glass J. J. Timmins awoke shortly past midnight, Friday morning, to find his fourteen room home, 2014 Vincent street, a mass of flames in the rear. He awoke his family and with the aid of neighbors was able to move out most of the downstairs furniture and some from upstairs.

Neighbors turned in the alarm at 12:30 a. m. but the fire had gotten such headway that the entire home is a complete wreck, the loss about $10,000, Mr. Timmins said. Insurance was carried.

The place is known as the old W. C. Parks residence and had an Austin Avenue address before Vincent Street was cut through. It was an old Brownwood landmark. Mr. Timmins was preparing to move it to a lot close by, tools and timbers belonging to Sam Sproles for this work lying close by.

A second alarm was turned in at 7:20 a. m. at which time the firemen laid one line of hose to put out a smoldering blaze among the ruins.

"Orgatone is the Real Medicine for Stomach Trouble and You Can't Say Too Much for It," Says Brownwood Man.

"After suffering for twenty years my health has been restored by the use of Orgatone and I am so happy over it that I just feel like I want everybody to know about this wonderful medicine," said J. H. Terrell of 414 Lipscomb Street, Brownwood, Texas. Mr. Terrell is a barber, but at present has been feeling so bad, has been unable to work.

"During all these years," continued Mr. Terrell, "I suffered terribly from indigestion and stomach trouble. After eating I would have a very uncomfortable feeling on account of my food souring and causing gas to form. I was very nervous all the time and the slightest noise would upset me. I also suffered with awful pains in the small of my back and this, with all my other troubles made it almost impossible for me to get a good night's sleep. Sometimes I would get so dizzy I could hardly stand on my feet. I just kept getting weaker and weaker until the time until I was hardly able to get around at all. All of the doctors told me I was a chronic dyspeptic. I had severe headaches, and was very nervous and restless. I got to where I couldn't eat without suffering intense pains in my stomach, and my kidneys were beginning to bother me too.

"I had taken so much medicine that did me no good at all, until I was discouraged over my condition, but I made up my mind to try Orgatone, and have improved from the very first few doses. I am enjoying a good health in every way, as I ever did in my life. My stomach troubles are gone, and everything I eat agrees with me. I never have those intense pains anymore, and those dizzy spells have left me entirely. I don't think I have ever had a better appetite and I thoroughly enjoy every one of my meals. My nerves are perfectly quiet all the time, and I sleep like a child every night. That aseptic condition has left me, and that alone has been worth a lot. It was a relief to get rid of it. Orgatone has proven a real medicine in my case, and it was just what I needed. I would like to tell everybody what it has done for me. I feel that I can't say too much for it."

Genuine Orgatone is not a so-called patent or secret remedy but new scientific treatment containing no alcohol or other false stimulating drugs and is sold in Brownwood exclusively by the Camp-Bell and Peerless Drug Stores, under the personal direction of a special Orgatone representative. For sale in Brownwood by Owl Drug Store. (adv.)

WILBUR SMITH BUYS TRACT FOR SMALL FARMS

A large block of land east of the city limits was recently purchased by Wilbur Smith who plans to cut the tract in four and five acre plots. Mr. Smith said there is a demand for small farms close in the city and he thinks he has the ideal location for this type of property, all of it being bottom land and very fertile, and soon will come under the irrigation ditch.

The land was purchased from the Weedon Brothers and was once a part of the Parks estate. It joins the city limits on the east and covers seventy-one and a half acres. This land will be excellent for pecan trees, Mr. Smith said.

are not pleasant if she is delicate, run-down, overworked. She feels "played-out." Her smiles and good spirits have taken flight. It worries her husband as well as herself.

"One husband writes:—'My wife was down in bed two years. We tried several doctors and lots of different remedies—spent a great deal of money but she did not seem to improve until I purchased a bottle each of Dr. Pierce's Prescription and Golden Medical Discovery. The doctors said she must be operated on but I told her we had used Dr. Pierce's medicines in the family for 25 or 40 years and they had never failed. So she commenced taking them and after three months was able to be up and is now doing her household work. We think Dr. Pierce's medicines the best on earth.'—E. T. BUDGET OF CEMETERY ASSOCIATION DISCUSSED BY OFFICERS OF BOARD

A statement of the financial condition and budget of the Greenleaf Cemetery Association was made Friday morning by J. E. Looney, president, and E. T. Perkinson, secretary. The report in full follows:

"To the Mayor and City Council, Members of Greenleaf Cemetery Association, and Citizens of Brownwood in General:

"Because every citizen of Brownwood should be interested in the statement we are going to make. The budget for the beautification and upkeep of Greenleaf Cemetery for the year 1929 will be as follows:

Five employees at $60 per month	$3,600
Graveling streets in new part	600
Finish filling in old branch	300
Three poles to be faced on land	1350
Misc. expense, tools, extra help, etc.	250
Back debts on labor and pipe	300
	$6400
Secretary salary	180
Stationery and making out deeds	20
Salary of president and rest of board	6000
	$6600

To provide for this budget we have 1 and one-half percent set aside by the city, $1800.

We are at a loss to know where the city got the information that we could get along with the one and one-half percent. It did not come from the secretary or any other member of the board. The city should have given us the full appropriation of 2 and one-half percent as the charter provides and that is not enough for the cemetery like the one here has grown to be since the above percentage was given ten or twelve years ago.

Formerly three men were able to care for the cemetery while now it takes five with extra help in the summer months.

Resources to take care of the budget if we get what is set aside by the city	$1800
Care for 230 lots	1350
Grave digging and extra work 1290
	$4380
Deficit	$2220
	$6600

The board can't consistently cut out the salary of any of the officers. We would be glad to hear from anyone to tell us how to make $4380 pay $6600.

"Signed by J. E. Looney, president, and E. T. Perkinson, secretary."

Raising Corn in Cow Country

From the operation of a lathe in Seneca Falls, New York, to the management of an 8,000-acre ranch on the plains of the Texas Panhandle is a long way when considered from the standpoint of business achievement, as well as from the standpoint of mere distance, but William J. Casey, who lives near Dalhart, in the far northwest corner of the largest State in the Union, has accomplished the transition and, moreover, success has been his faithful attendant all along the journey.

The casual visitor to the Casey Ranch last Fall might have been surprised to find several acres along the Rock Island right-of-way covered with great heaps of corn in the ear. The average man would have been at a loss in attempting to estimate its total in bushels. When told that it consisted of 45,000 bushels and that it represented the massed production of Casey and his tenants from about 1,250 acres which until a few years ago was grass land considered good only for cattle pasturage, he would have been filled with wonder.

The story of Bill Casey from early manhood down to the present is filled with the romance of business achievement. It also answers several questions that are often asked and debated but rarely settled to the entire satisfaction of the participants. It proves that success depends on the man and not the line of endeavor. It answers with a thundering affirmative the much mooted question "Can the city man make good on the farm?" When a few years ago, he came into possession of the Texas ranch through inheritance, he had scarcely dreamed of ever becoming a rancher or farmer. He had considered his field of endeavor to lie along mechanical lines. He had devoted his early manhood to qualifying as a machinist and through devotion to his work and through an intelligent use of common sense had developed an insight into manufacturing problems that had won for him a position as efficiency engineer in some of the largest steam pump manufacturing concerns in the East. But there was one fly in the ointment of Casey's life. His children were growing up in a large city huddled in between brick walls and playing on concrete pavements.

He knew this should not be. He wanted them to have more room, more fresh air, more sunshine. Then Mrs. Casey's uncle passed on to his reward leaving, among other valuable properties, the Texas ranch consisting of about 8,500 acres and it became Casey's duty to settle the estate. On his various visits to Texas he became much impressed with the beauty of the level plains country and more impressed with the sunshine, the pure air and the almost unlimited possibilities for development, so when the estate was settled the Caseys gave up city life and came to make their home on the Texas ranch and Casey began to turn his engineering ability to agricultural problems.

The main transcontinental line of the Rock Island Railway crosses the home section of the ranch at a point about eight miles east of Dalhart. The transcontinental United States Highway follows the railroad. The little railroad station of Chamberlain is on one corner of the same section. So the new home was built just across the highway from the railroad station. As one approaches the ranch, the rather pretentious looking home, but on entering it is found to be a commodious dwelling, steam-heated, electrically lighted, and having hot and cold running water throughout. The water supply does not freeze in the coldest weather. Casey, the efficiency engineer, has seen to that detail along with many others which add to the comfort of a country home. A short distance from the dwelling is a rather imposing barn flanked with smaller structures. These guarantee that the farm livestock will be well fed and housed during the winter months, for the Casey home is now just one of several farm units which Casey, the engineer, is carving out of the old ranch.

The greater part of the first year on the ranch was taken up with the construction of his own dwelling and other improvements incident thereto, but as soon as they were completed Casey began the construction of tenant dwellings. A few tenants were secured and set to work breaking the sod land with plows. The first year's results were not flattering, but Casey was not discouraged. He was still an efficiency man, and he set to work with the usual Irish optimism and enthusiasm on this new production problem, attacking it from other angles. He found it was the same old problem that he had been working on most of his life. Heretofore he had dealt with inefficient methods in manufacture, but now he must deal with inefficient methods in agriculture. Instead of setting up a schedule by the use of which workmen might build more steam pumps in a given length of time and at less cost per pump he now had to devise a schedule by the use of which a greater crop value per acre per season might be produced from farm land. It involved soil preparation, planting and cultivation and must necessarily conform to Nature's laws of production, taking into consideration soil analysis, rainfall statistics and climatic conditions.

Milo maize and kafir were known to grow abundantly in his vicinity and some enterprising farmers not far away were growing wheat on a large scale. Casey decided against wheat and set about to find a crop that would yield a greater money-value production per acre than either maize or kafir. The local United States Field Station statistics were studied and information gathered from farther away where climatic conditions were approximately the same as those with which he had to deal. Experiments were carried out which ultimately resulted in a decision to plant Indian corn. He proved his deductions to be correct by planting a small acreage in 1927. Then, last year—1928, he planted a rather large acreage of corn. Furthermore, each of his tenants planted a large acreage of corn. In all there were 1,250 acres of corn, to say nothing of 800 acres of feed crops, on the several farms which have so far been cut out of the original ranch and improved.

Last Fall the Casey Farms began the harvest of one of the largest corn crops ever heard of in the Texas Panhandle. The average was about 35 bushels per acre. Load after load poured in across Casey's wagon scales and along the railroad tracks nearby, where it piled up in great mountains longer than city blocks to await the time when it could be shelled and loaded into freight cars. Casey stood by the scales day after day, even when the weather became very cold, smiling and weighing corn from his farms. When it was all done there was a neat little range of those mountains and they contained—but that has already been told. Anyway, it was some pile of corn.

The Yellow Dent corn from the Casey Farms won first prize at the Dalhart grain show last Fall but Casey doesn't talk about that. He is too busy loading corn into freight cars. This, Bill Casey, machinist efficiency engineer, city man, rancher, farmer, has won another victory. Next year more land will be turned over with the plow and the acreage of corn will increase. Up to farm days when Casey came to occupy it, the entire ranch was leased to cow men for grazing purposes at a few cents per acre and now there are over 6,000 acres left in pastures, a large part of which is still leased to the cow men. Casey only laughs when reminded of the time when he was paid him for the lease. He says: "It produces 30 cents worth of grass when it should be growing 35 bushels of corn. In time I hope to have it all in cultivation and grow 200-300 bushels each season." And as other farms are improved and other tenants set to work the 30 cents worth of grass will disappear to make way for other crops—mostly corn.

Less than a half century ago the land that now grows this 45,000 bushels of corn was in the midst of a vast uncultivated plain, better than desert. Comparatively few white men had explored it. The Indian and the buffalo were just disappearing and the cow man was entering upon the scene. Had Casey occupied it at that time he would have ridden horseback 50 or 60 miles to visit his nearest neighbor. He might, perchance, have entertained an occasional visitor but most likely it would have been no more than a cowboy strayed too far from camp.

Today Casey may sit on his front porch and see limited trains of Pullman cars go by on their journey from coast to coast, or he may amuse himself with counting the automobiles which rush by east and west on the newly graded highway that has replaced the cow trails of the recent past. Tiring of these he may hop in his own coupe and join the westward stream of traffic to Dalhart, a town which sprang up just a quarter of a century ago and now has 5,000 population. The Caseys often make that eight-mile drive. It is a mere trifle, equal to about one mile in the old days and with old transportation, and folks must have their mail and do their shopping. Besides, there are meetings, dinners, entertainments, theaters and church services to be attended. Soon the highway will be paved and they will make it with greater ease and more often.

Less than a quarter of a century ago the old-timers were fond of saying "This is a cow country and that is all you can make of it." Men like Casey and others unlike him—coming from the city, from the country and from the four corners of the earth, men inefficient and men with various degrees of efficiency have gradually proven the old-timers wrong. One man who lives not far from Casey ranch several combines day and night several weeks last year harvesting enough wheat from 2,000 acres to pay for the land on which it grew. He says it is a "wheat country." Bill Casey says is a "corn country." They are all correct except the old-timers who went too far and said "that's all you can make of it."

"The Caseys are fond of their new home and would not think of exchanging it for any environment for the old bright lights and amusements. Scarcely does a day pass that does not bring them visitors from Dalhart or farther away—New York, Chicago, Kansas City. They are busy entertaining and being entertained, running errands, performing the many and various duties incident to ranch and farm management, but they are getting very much out of life.

Last year Casey built a store on the highway, installed a gasoline filling station, and put in a stock of goods for the convenience of his tenants and the passing tourists. He also set up a machine shop and repairs his own implements. He says he saves time by turning out his own replacement parts rather than driving eight miles for them. The ranch with its rapidly growing agricultural interests is ever uppermost in Casey's mind but the machine shop is his hobby. He is a rancher-farmer, business man, director of the largest of the three banks in Dalhart, but he is still Bill Casey, the engineer, although his efficiency schedules are turned from manufacturing to agricultural pursuits.

In Japan a method is known of making one chrysanthemum plant bear as many blossoms as possible. It is called senriuzakuri. By this method one plant was made to bear 1,100 flowers on one stem.

MAN GIVES OUT BEFORE MOTOR IN 100-HOUR TEST

The man gave out before the engine in the 100 hour drive in low gear of a Chevrolet last week by Lee Cathey.

Cathey seemingly went to sleep during the last hour of his protracted drive, a nurse sitting beside him administering cooling cloths to his head to keep his eyes open. But twenty minutes before the time was up, he evidently dozed off and ran into a small car, standing on Center Avenue. The crash, which was very little, seemed to have been too much for Cathey who collapsed and was rushed to his bed by an ambulance.

But the engine continued to function, and another man drove the car for the completion of the hundred hours.

On Selecting an Incubator

You will notice that "cheap machines" are less reliable—require more attention, and wear out quicker. As the value of the machine is small compared with the value of the Eggs used during the normal life of an incubator—it is poor economy to purchase a machine which is not reliable.

A Queen Incubator

Costs but little more—and the extra chicks that live and grow soon pay more than the difference.

A little foresight will mean a finer garden

THERE is a surprise when you first taste the melting sweetness of Ferry's sweet corn. It is not ordinary sweet corn by any means. Nor is a plump, red, smooth-skinned Ferry tomato like an ordinary tomato. Nor are the Ferry's Seeds that grow these like ordinary seeds. Remember that when you buy Ferry's purebred Seeds, you buy inherited quality. Quality is bred into the seeds. A careful up-breeding of vegetables and flowers has been going on in the Ferry trial gardens for 51 years. This means that the Ferry's Seeds you can plant today came from parent plants and grandparent plants that were themselves purebred. Sixty thousand tests are made annually in the Ferry gardens for germination. Thousands of other trials are made for size, form, color, resistance to disease. So far as is humanly possible, we determine that every crop will meet the Ferry standards.

Ferry's Seeds are easy for amateurs to make grow well, and are naturally the choice of professional gardeners. They are fresh for planting now, at the "store around the corner." No packet of Ferry's Seeds is ever carried over by the dealer for sale the second season. Send for the Ferry's Seed Annual. It is more than a catalog. Address D. M. Ferry & Co., Dept. H, Detroit, Michigan.

New-Fangled Contraptions

Grandfather came home from his annual visit to the Fair and said he had seen a plow with wheels and a driver's seat. He didn't think much of it. It was twenty-five years before anybody in that locality owned a sulky plow.

The first mowers, cream separators, sprayers and incubators, and the early sewing-machines and carpet-sweepers were treated in the same way. It used to take the neighbors in the next county five or six years to learn that a better implement had been made, and when they did find out they either laughed at it or ignored it.

Today, in half that time, people in all the forty-eight states have the new tool at work on their farms or in their homes.

Modern advertising takes an improved product, gives it a name and a trade-mark, builds it to a definite standard of quality, places it in every good hardware and implement store in the country, and tells you why you should own it and where you can get it.

Advertising has brought to you nine-tenths of the conveniences that make farming easier and living pleasanter in this new age.

Sweet Clover Grazing Most Profitable For Dairymen On soils that contain lime the most productive grazing crop known today is sweet clover, according to the experts in forage crops in the United States Department of Agriculture. They point out that a good stand of second-season sweet clover can carry two head of cows per acre from early spring until midsummer and cases are known where four head did not keep it down.

After grazing stops on the older field the clover will make considerable growth, and this can be plowed under in the fall with great benefit to any succeeding crop. There is less danger from bloat with sweet clover than any other clovers, but cases have been known, and the usual precautions should be taken.
