VOL. NO. 47 BROWNWOOD, TEXAS, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 11, 1928 NUMBER 42

PLACE TEXAS COTTON ABOVE FIVE MILLION

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 9.—(AP)—A cotton crop of 5,000,000 bales indicates for Texas on the October 1st condition report represents an average yield of 137 pounds of lint upon the 17,631,000 acres remaining of the harvest, says the United States Department of Agriculture summary issued here today.

"In the south, east and southeast districts which represent 23 per cent of the production of the state this year," the summary continues, "three-fourths of the crop had been ginned prior to October 1st. Central Texas, which will produce slightly more than these three districts combined, had ginned somewhat more than one-half of its expected crop. Picking is further advanced in the northeast than in the north district, and in the west and northwest it is well started. The west-center district had ginned about a fourth of its expected total.

"As usual the frost date is a vital factor in the west, northwest and portions of the west-center. There is so much late cotton in these districts that freezing weather before early November would cause a material reduction in present prospects. "Conditions affecting the Texas crop this season have been most irregular in every respect, not only over the entire state, but in communities and even in individual fields. Weevil were late in appearing but in numerous localities they are in full control now with the late cotton, particularly making an excellent weevil pasture and nursery. While some sections are producing more than the expected amount of cotton, many others are very disappointing in their output."

FIRST JOINT MEETING OF SMITH AND ANTI-SMITH FACTIONS HELD

Citizens of Dulin, in their enthusiasm to hear both sides of the political question, made an embarrassing situation Tuesday night when they had speakers for both the Anti-Smith Democrats and the Democrats (loyal) in a combined meeting in the school house, according to statements from the meeting.

Both factions have been trying not to enter into debate with each other in public meetings, but when the Anti-Smiths had arranged for a session at Dulin Tuesday night, some Dulin citizens desired to hear both sides of the question at once, it is stated.

Speakers on either side were more or less timid about meeting on the same platform, but they decided among themselves that there would be an equal chance given for each side to present their views and candidates. As a result two speakers from each faction gave addresses which were taken by the crowd, which filled the room, in good spirit, inviting all for a return engagement.

Rev. C. A. Johnson led off with a talk on Hoover, being one of the speakers of the Anti-Smith crowd. He was followed by the "loyalist" Frank H. Sweet. W. F. Reynolds spoke next for the Anti-Smiths and the meeting closed with a Smith talk by Judge C. H. Jenkins. Sam P. Sproules presided as chairman.

TO SPEAK HERE

Ben R. Vardaman of Chicago, editor of the National Community Magazine, will give a series of business lectures and conferences in Brownwood for four days beginning Sunday. He is being brought here under the auspices of the Brownwood Merchants' Association. He will speak Sunday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock in Howard Payne auditorium, and the public is invited to attend.

LEGION NEARS CLOSE OF BIG CONVENTION

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Although the National American Legion convention reached its final day today and numbers of delegates have already left the city, spirits of those remaining continued to rise and express themselves in new and curious ways.

Last night was the most riotous that Houston street, the main street of the convention, has seen. Celebrating legionnaires tramped the pavement all night long dragging toy cannons, which they discharged at frequent intervals. Grading bargages of eggs with denizens of the upper floors of hotels who threw water at them. At one time the battlers in the hotel used a fire hose.

Very little business was left on today's official program, but what remained was important. The controversial report of the legion committee on sericulture, complicated by Colonel William Mitchell's decided views on the subject, remained to be heard.

Judge Landis Speaks
An address by Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis of Chicago was the only speech on the program.

The legion also faced the task of choosing a Commander from one of the largest and most evenly balanced fields of delegates ever assembled. General Roy Hoffman of Oklahoma City, went into the session with perhaps more state delegations than any other candidate.

General Albert Cox of North Carolina and John D. Ewing of Shreveport were canceling each other's efforts to obtain southern support.

Four other candidates, Paul V. McNutt of Bloomington, Ind., Ralph T. O'Neil of Topeka, Kansas, O. L. Bodenhammer of El Dorado, Ark., and J. Monroe Johnson, of South Carolina, were considered as being far behind the leaders in strength, but in excellent position to benefit by a landslide should the leaders deadlock.

HEROES OF THREE NATIONS ADDRESS LEGION

Heroes of three nations were among the speakers to address the American Legion at its annual convention in San Antonio. General John J. Pershing (left), commander-in-chief of the A. E. F. and Field Marshal Viscount Allenby (right), who led the British troops in the capture of Jerusalem and Major Georges Scapini, war-blinded member of the French chamber of deputies (center), are among those whose speeches have been heard with great interest. Scapini is shown here with his favorite dog.

SIXTY PERSONS ON DIRIGIBLE SAILING FOR AMERICA TODAY

By The Associated Press
Bound for the United States from Germany on the first commercial trans-Atlantic voyage, the giant dirigible Graf Zeppelin was sailing steadily over France today. She was expected to reach the United States by Sunday morning.

The huge ship carried 20 passengers and a crew of 40. Three American passengers were aboard. They were: Lt. Commander Charles N. Rosendahl, Commander of the American dirigible Los Angeles; Robert Reiner, of Weehawken, N. J., and Frederick Giffillan, an American resident of Switzerland.

There was one woman passenger, Lady Grace Drummond Hay, English society woman and writer.

The ship left Friedrichshafen at 3:30 a. m. Eastern Standard time and five hours later was reported near Lyons, her speed averaging about 30 miles an hour. She was still a good 300 miles from the French coast and headed in a southerly direction.

The zeppelin's course was not announced definitely before the start, Dr. Hugo Eckener, her commander, leaving that decision until well on the voyage. Her course, however, indicated that she was taking the southerly route.

NOV. 15 AND 16 DATES FOR PECAN METTING

A movement to organize pecan growers in twenty counties surrounding Brown county, into the West Texas Pecan Growers Association, as decided upon at the meeting at San Saba several weeks ago, will result in a meeting and institute in Brownwood called by the local Chamber of Commerce for November 15th and 16th. The extent of the territory covered by these 20 counties is such that within its area it is said, one-third of the entire Texas crop is raised.

It is hoped that this institute will be an annual affair and will bring here each year experts in the line from many parts of the United States. For this year quite a program has been compiled with a list of men who have accepted invitations which will make the meeting a success, according to J. T. Williams, manager of the institute.

Premiums will be offered for exhibits brought by growers, and in addition there will be shown pecan exhibits from the State Department of Agriculture, the National Pecan Exhibit, and one from A. & M. College. There will be demonstrations of grading and cracking machinery, as well as other things of interest to the grower. Crops will be auctioned off as a feature of the institute.

Among those who have accepted invitations to attend and speak are: Frank Williams, of the State Department of Agriculture; Jimmie Rosborough, of A. & M.; Homer D. Wade, manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce; Judge M. H. Gossett of the Federal Land Bank at Dallas, and Colonel P. L. Dornis of Temple.

SNOW SPREADS BLANKET OVER ROCKIES REGION

DENVER, Oct. 11.—(AP)—The entire Rocky mountain region today was on the grip of an unreasonable visit of winter which had spread snow over Montana and threatened to lay down a white blanket over parts of Wyoming, Colorado, Utah and northern New Mexico.

Rain or snow and much colder with strong northerly winds was the forecast for the area which caught the late fall harvesting and plowing in from Alberta and Saskatchewan provinces.

Sub-freezing temperatures were predicted for Montana, where the mercury dropped to 32 degrees yesterday.

Snow has fallen in Reno and Truckee, Nev., far to the west of the area affected by the storm which swept Montana.

Storm Halts Late Canada Harvesting

SASKATOON, Sask. Oct. 11.—(AP)—A snow storm swept across Alberta and Saskatchewan today, halting the late fall harvesting and plowing have with communication systems.

The snow was not heavy but was driven by a strong north and northeast wind which blew down telephone and telegraph poles and wires.

Most of the threshing has been completed, but there are several isolated points where the grain still remains in the field. The storm has caused an indefinite suspension of the work.

January and June Temperatures Mix

CHICAGO, Oct. 11.—(AP)—January and June temperatures made a crazy-quilt of the weather yesterday.

There was snow and cold in Montana and Nevada, and summer torridity and hot dust storms in Minnesota and Nebraska. Thermometer readings in Montana showed the temperature at the freezing point, while Lincoln, Neb., recorded 91 degrees and Minneapolis 90.

Contrasting predictions of heat, cold and storms were made for today in the middle west. "Decidedly cooler" was the warning for territory which yesterday sweltered under a 90 degree sun. In Chicago where the reading reached 83 yesterday, predictions of continued warm for today carried the added word of "much cooler" Friday.

COMMISSIONERS TAKE ACTION ON MANY ITEMS AT COURT HELD MONDAY

The road bond election held last week was canvassed and the findings published by the Commissioners Court in a meeting held at the court house Monday morning with all members of the court present.

A total of 5,625 votes was found to have been cast; 4,180 in favor of the bonds and 1,420 against. The commissioners unanimously voted to declare the election, to issue the bonds, and to levy, have assessed and to collect such tax necessary for the payment of the bonds.

Present at the meeting were Judge E. M. Davis; Commissioner N. A. Pinson, precinct 1; C. D. Morrison, precinct 2; L. F. Bird, precinct 3; and W. M. Metcalf, precinct 4, and Sheriff Fred White.

A franchise was granted for the construction and operation for twenty-five years of a pipe line in Brown county to the Atlantic Pipe Line Company of Maine.

Judge Davis was unanimously voted a raise in salary of $50 a month, which makes his pay a total of $200 a month, exclusive of allowance for stenographic work.

The judges and their helpers at the recent bond election were allowed compensation for their work, the judges to receive $5 each and their helpers $3 each.

Monthly bills and the report of the county account in the First National Bank, depository, were discussed and approved.

TICKETS GIVEN BY LOCAL FIRMS FOR BIG CIRCUS

Seeking to help Brownwood and the Brownwood trade territory see the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus for the least amount of admission, the firms of local merchants are offering free of charge tickets to the circus for certain amounts spent with them up to the day of the circus, October 13.

These amounts vary with the different merchants since many of them are offering tickets on a smaller profit, due to rapid turnover in stock, than some of the others who have to hold their stocks on hand longer and consequently cannot give tickets for smaller sums spent with them.

However, the amounts do not vary greatly and there is a considerable saving to the circus lover who desires to obtain a free ticket.

Follows a list of merchants who are giving the tickets and who desire to help the people see the circus:

Looney Mercantile Company; Looney-McDonald Tire Company; The Brownwood Bulletin; Hely-Selfy; The New Second-Hand Store; Weakley-Watson-Miller Co.; Rain's Super Service Station; Barber's Barber Shop; White Tailors, White Star Laundry; Loyd Jones Service Station; Robinson's Slipper Shop; Brownwood Bakery; Pigny-Wegely; LaModa Shop; Newwood's; Austin-Morris Co.; Hopper & Stanley; Gents' Furnishings. See the Brownwood Bulletin for the Banner Bulletin for the ads of these merchants relative to free circus tickets.

FORTY SCHOOLS IN COUNTY TO OPEN MONDAY

About forty county schools of one, two and three teachers each, two of them, at May and Zephyr, high schools, are scheduled to open next Monday, according to County Superintendent J. Oscar Swindle. Fifteen of the county schools have already opened their doors for instruction the past few weeks, and the date of October 15 was set by the County Board of Education in September session, for the opening of all remaining schools.

Mr. Swindle says that all high school transfers should be made before the date of the opening. The board will meet Tuesday at 1:30 p. m. in the superintendent's office to consider any problems at present arising in the county schools.

Members of the board are: G. W. McHan, Route 4, president; Dr. A. M. Bowden, May; W. H. G. Chambers, Cross Cut; A. J. Newton, Thrifty; L. A. Nunn, Brooks-Smith.

He left St. Paul today. Before an audience which interrupted him frequently with applause he asked there last night that Gov. Smith state his views on the tariff question. He reiterated that the language of the governor's speech of acceptance "endorsed the Underwood tariff bill in 1913."

The Republican nominee is elated over the reception accorded him on his trip through the west and he predicted a "convincing victory" for his party next month at the polls.

Senator Curtis Speaks Tonight In Wisconsin Town

EN ROUTE WITH SENATOR CURTIS TO JANESVILLE, WIS. Oct. 11.—(AP)—On the last day of a month's campaign in the west, Senator Charles Curtis, the Republican vice-presidential nominee, today crossed into Wisconsin for a second appearance. He speaks tonight at Janesville.

He left St. Paul today. Before an audience which interrupted him frequently with applause he asked there last night that Gov. Smith state his views on the tariff question. He reiterated that the language of the governor's speech of acceptance "endorsed the Underwood tariff bill in 1913."

The Republican nominee is elated over the reception accorded him on his trip through the west and he predicted a "convincing victory" for his party next month at the polls.

GRAF ZEPPELIN HIGH LIGHTS

(By The Associated Press.)
It is the greatest aircraft in the world—114 feet longer than the Los Angeles, pride of the American Navy.

If it stood on end, it would reach within 22 feet of the 792 foot Woolworth tower in New York.

It is driven by five reversible engines with 550 horsepower each. Its fuel is "blue gas."

It cost about $1,000,000 and is owned by the German people, the money being raised largely through popular subscription.

Its maximum speed is more than 80 miles an hour.

It left Friedrichshafen, Germany, at 2 o'clock New York time today, and should reach its destination, Lakehurst, New Jersey, Sunday morning.

It carries 20 passengers and a crew of 40.

It carries the first woman passenger in a trans-Atlantic flight in a dirigible, Lady Grace Drummond Hay, English society woman.

CITY COUNCIL SELECTS TRUCK

City Council, after going into executive session Tuesday night, opened the bids of various truck manufacturers, same having been called for by City Council at the last regular session for the purpose of buying a new chemical truck for the Brownwood Volunteer Fire Department, and after due consideration of all bids presented, it Council selected a Studebaker truck.

Present chemical equipment and fire fighting apparatus will be mounted on the new chassis, it is stated. T. R. Ferrell of Dallas, representing the Studebaker people, appeared, along with others, before the council Tuesday night and presented the merits of his truck, as did the representatives from other companies.

The new truck chassis retails at $2295 and from this amount, $150 will be taken for one or more old trucks traded in by the city and an additional $150 will be deducted as a courtesy discount to the city. All of which leaves the actual cost in dollars and cents at $1,895.

The new truck has a six cylinder engine, with 36.4 h.p. rating by the S. A. E. and has a 158 inch wheelbase. It is capable of making and maintaining a maximum speed of 65 miles per hour.

E. J. Ball of the B. & H. Motor Company, local agents for Studebaker automobiles, stated Wednesday that delivery of the truck would be made within three weeks, or less.

INTEREST IN HIGHWAY KEEN

Interest in the proposed highway from San Saba through Brownwood to connect with the Bankhead highway at Putnam was evidenced in the road work met in the Brownwood Chamber of Commerce rooms Thursday afternoon.

C. Y. Early presided until Paul V. Harrell of Cross Plains was elected chairman of a temporary organization, and Hilton Burks, secretary. Mr. Burks, who has been interested in having this proposed highway designated as such by the State Highway Commission, led the meeting with a definite proposal of submitting plans next week to the state commission.

At the early part of the meeting the following men from out of town were present: J. H. Baker, San Saba; Paul V. Harrell, Cross Plains; Claude G. Harrell, Cross Plains; Fred Hoyer, Putnam; Tom Anderson, Cross Plains; Fred Cook, Putnam; J. B. Euband, Cross Cut; S. C. Bon, Cross Plains; C. R. Cook, Putnam; J. A. Barr, Cross Plains; L. J. Cook, Putnam; W. A. Everett, Putnam; W. H. Narred, Putnam; G. B. Gaskin, Putnam; C. K. Puk, Putnam; W. H. Cook, Putnam; R. W. Burleson, San Saba; E. S. House, San Saba; A. G. BANK DEPOSITS HERE SHOW BIG GAIN FOR YEAR

Deposits and cash on hand and due from banks of the four Brownwood banks show a decided increase on October 3, bank call day, over October 10, 1927 on which day a call was made. Deposits show an increase of about $1,315,236, and cash on hand and due from banks, $898,896.

The large difference from last year is due in part to the large cash transaction recently made with regard to the local telephone company. An increase has been made over last year, however, exclusive of this large telephone amount.

The deposits on October 3, this year show for the four banks a total of $5,658,576 as against deposits of October 10 last year of $3,743,240. Cash for October 3 this year was $2,115,080 as against $1,306,394.

The financial condition of Brownwood, discounting the large amount of the telephone transaction, which is being gradually checked out, is reported favorable with a conservative gain from last year.

BROWN COUNTY WINS FOURTEENTH PLACE IN DALLAS FAIR EXHIBITS

Brown county agricultural booth at the State Fair of Texas at Dallas received fourteenth place in scoring the twenty-eight exhibits entered, according to O. P. Griffin and Mrs. Ila Miller, who returned from the fair Wednesday morning. This is a raise in position from last year when this county's booth received twentieth position out of nearly forty booths entered.

The scoring of the boys and girls club exhibits will probably raise the score for the entire county in the five-year contest, Mr. Griffin said. This is the third year of this contest, with Brown County averaging fifth place during the two first years. The county exhibit was left in charge of Pink Eaton while Mr. Griffin is in this city.

The county agent brought home a picture of this year's booth, which is very well designed and set up with tempting vegetables, grains, fruits and cotton.

The Brownwood Hatchery, located on the north side of the court house square, started its fall hatching on Monday morning with 600 eggs in the trays. C. T. DeBerry, proprietor said that the chicks hatched at this time of the year would probably be on the market as broilers during the latter part of January and the first of February, a time when prices are high for this class of meat.

The plant has two Buckeye incubators with a combined capacity of about 20,000 eggs.

ZEPHYR DEMOCRATS HOLD BIG MEETING

A meeting of the Brown County Democrats was held Tuesday night at Zephyr, where three speakers pleaded for a united Democratic party and lauded Al Smith as presidential candidate. The assembly was held in the Zephyr school auditorium, with Superintendent J. L. Smith, presiding as chairman. Plans for the meeting had been made by W. R. Shelton, precinct chairman, and H. E. Cobb, former chairman.

Mr. Smith, in an introductory speech compared the history of the Republican and Democratic parties, claiming no corruption and graft ever existed in the Democratic party, but that the Republicans had been convicted of graft in every administration except that of Theodore Roosevelt.

Thos. H. Taylor, county chairman, discussed the views of the national candidates on the subject of prohibition, and said that there was no reason why prohibitionists in the Democratic party could not support Smith and that anti-prohibition Republicans were supporting Hoover. He declared that the prohibition question was not an issue in the campaign.

Judge E. J. Miller discussed the economic issues of the parties, and said that the Democrats stood for the masses and the Republicans for the classes. He pointed out dangers of raising religious prejudices in the United States, and made an appeal to the voters to stand by the ticket.

Democratic pledges were then passed and signed.

SAN PEDRO, Cal., Oct. 11.—(AP)—Down the trail that always has called him Commander Richard E. Byrd today was bound for the bottom of the earth in search of adventures, using scientific expedition.

Away at last on his long-planned trip to the Antarctic the Commander and the remainder of his hand-picked followers were aboard the Norwegian whaler, G. A. Larsen, bound for New Zealand, common rendezvous for the four ships that later this year will push off down into the Antarctic circle.

South Pole Plans
Ross Sea was the immediate objective of the Commander, who later hopes to cross the South pole by air in the same manner he and the late Floyd Bennett reached the north pole. More important in the announced plans of the Byrd expedition, however, was a long, intensive study of the Antarctic.

J. E. Starley, attorney, and D. W. Ross, engineer, for the Brownwood water project are here today for a conference with the Board of Directors of Water Improvement District, with a view to working out some of the details connected with the preparation of a complete program to be followed in completing the project.

F. S. Abney, chairman of the Board, said this morning that unless difficulties arise, the Directors probably will be ready by January 1st to present a detailed program as a basis for a bond issue election. At the present time, he said, there is no new development in the situation. The Board having concerned itself in recent weeks with working on the multitude of details connected with the project. Until all the details have been determined, the Board can not proceed with its plans for an issue of bonds for financing the project, although early attention to the short time notes already outstanding is expected, Mr. Abney said.

Ideal to Be Sought

We have committed the Golden Rule to memory; let us now commit it to life. We have preached brotherhood for centuries; we now need to find a material basis for brotherhood. Government must be made the organ of fraternity—a working form for comradeship. Think of this—work for this.—Edwin Markham.

The Golden Cocoon

by RUTH CROSS

SYNOPSIS

Gregory Cochran, prominent lawyer and politician, has rescued Molly Shannon, university student, when she plunged into the river, and against the protests of his aristocratic mother, is sheltering her in their own home. The girl, not yet fully recovered from shock, is still despondent. She was heart-broken over the treachery of her fiancé, Stephen Renfro, who has married the daughter of "rich old Jim Dilworth."

Exactly ten minutes later he rose with a business-like finality. He was not looking at Molly—little more than a dent now in the counterpane, her face deep in the pillows—but at the watch.

"There's one thing still," he said. "I want you to give me your word that for a week beginning now, ten-fifteen Thursday morning, you won't try to take advantage of Aunt Lindy's absence or her carelessness. She's old and apt to fall asleep. It's out of the question, of course, for me to stay, and I'd rather not complicate matters with nurses."

"It's not my fault I'm here, you know." The voice from the pillows was small, stifled, but obstinate.

"True enough. And, incidentally," he smiled, "you did make me take that early-morning dip, didn't you? At all events, if by this time next Thursday you are still of the same mind, I promise you I shan't put a straw in your way."

Well—do you give me your word? She nodded—just perceptibly—without taking her head out of the pillows.

"That's splendid," he said with satisfaction. "Ah, and here's Aunt Lindy in the nick of time with your breakfast. I shouldn't call it a breakfast if it were mine," he added cheerfully, "but—it may pass for one with you!"

"I don't—want any breakfast." "Of course you don't. That's not saying it will do you any harm, though. Oh, Aunt Lindy—he turned to the little old black woman who was just entering the door with a tray in her hands—"we seem to have spilled these powders here"—he indicated the hillock at his feet—"but perhaps it's just as well. I have an idea we shan't need any more."

CHAPTER XVII

On the following Thursday Molly sat near one of the windows of the room whose walls had bounded her life now for three weeks, starting out somberly at the drive just visible through a tall planting of shrubbery. The first crisp hint of autumn was in the air and Aunt Lindy had wrapped her throat in an enormous blanket robe of blue, which threw into startling relief the whiteness of her skin and the darkened cornflower of her eyes.

Out-of-doors, a subtle change was everywhere to be detected. A certain faintly tinselled and spangled effect—in the sunshine, in the air itself and in the tint of leaves, which were spinning and whirling and drifting wingedly downward. She glanced at the clock on the mantel opposite. Twelve minutes after ten. She had given her word only until ten-fifteen. She leaned forward, rested her weight tentatively against the screen of the French window—three stories from the ground. It was secured only by a light hook at the bottom. He had trusted her, then. . . .

At this juncture Aunt Lindy, who had hobbled out of the room a few minutes earlier on one of her abrupt and flitting absences, threw open the door with a flourish. "Merse Greg ter see you, honey," she announced with all the pomp and ceremony of the king's chief councillor.

Molly knew now who he was. That knowledge added the final drop—if one had been needed—to her bitterness and shame. He was the man who had given her her scholarship. How he must despise her. . . . That she should be accepting further kindness from him—hospitality, even—was intolerable. She could not bring herself to look at him, but went on staring drearily out of the window.

He drew up a chair and sat down near her. "By the way, do you happen to know what morning it is?" he continued.

"Yes, it's Thursday and"—she glanced briefly at the clock—"ten-fifteen."

He laughed. I didn't mean the day of the week. Do you know what day of the month it is?"

She shook her head indifferently. "It's the twenty-seventh of September."

When she showed no interest, he added, "The university opens on the first of October."

Molly made no comment on that. Instead—still and unsmiling—she said abruptly, "I want you to give me back my promise."

"There was a moment's hesitation, or perhaps it was only his usual deliberateness of manner. Finally, "That was what I wanted to talk to you about."

"You do give it back, then?"

When there was again a pause, she hurried on in the dull, insistent monotone: "I've thought it all over—my mother, the children, my scholarship—everything. But it's too dreadful. I can't—I haven't the courage. I haven't any courage at all—I haven't anything." She broke off and fixed her eyes on the white sector of driveway.

"Of course I give it back," he conceded after a time, "but the trouble is, suicide never settles anything."

"At least it can—rid me—of this." Face averted, she made a strengthless gesture of unutterable abhorrence toward herself.

"My poor child, you think you are hurt in your soul, don't you? All your life you've had it hammered into you that the soul can be defiled. The truth is, the soul is like flame—clean like flame. You can't smirch flame, can you?"

"I don't know. The flame in me has—gone out."

"If the tree is young and full of sap," Cochran pointed out in his mildly argumentative fashion, "you can put it together and make it grow." He was silent a little. Then he leaned forward, one big, firmly knit hand on either knee. "That's what I want you to let me do for you."

She shook her head. "You can't—nobody can."

"I'm not so sure. By your own account, you've thrown your life away, disclaimed it. How would it be if you sign it over to me—just chuck the responsibility, as you might say?"

"That's impossible," she said drearily. "One person can't take the responsibility for another."

"At least we could try it. You see, I have a deep, ingrained aversion to waste, to unneeded destruction."

"Let us suppose, just for argument, that I have taken charge—that I have decided you are to go back to school Monday. As a matter of fact," he got to his feet with the effect of having arrived at a vital issue. "I've made the necessary arrangements at the dormitory for you already. That seems better under the circumstances than Mrs. Parker's."

"No—no"—Molly put out her hands as if to thrust the suggestion from her—"not that. I tell you I haven't the courage. Besides," her hands dropped in her lap, her head sank forward again. "I'm not—fit. They wouldn't even take me if they knew. . . ."

"They don't know."

"At least they know about—Stephen. Oh, I can't—I can't face it. Don't ask me. . . ."

"There is such a thing as just accepting a situation. Once you've done that, it's the simplest matter in the world. You have only to live over it—clear of it—serenely as a god above the storm you were talking about a while ago."

Molly lifted her head and looked at him—with the first gleam of interest she had shown. "That's the way you live, isn't it?" she said. "Serene as a god above a storm. . . ." She repeated the words musingly. They had a pleasant, rhythmic sound. What was that other phrase she had liked? Oh yes, "He that dwelleth in the secret place of the Most High. . . . They had the same feeling."

He laughed and glanced at his watch. "I do take things pretty much as they come," he confessed. At this juncture there was a rap at the door. It opened and revealed—not Aunt Lindy—but the magnificent white-haired woman Molly had seen in the box.

was lawfully married to the defendant in Detroit, Michigan, and continued to live there with her until on or about the first of January, 1927. The defendant at the time of said marriage being a single woman by the name of Elizabeth Strutz. Plaintiff alleges that during the time he and defendant lived together as aforesaid he was kind and affectionate toward her, and provided for her support and maintenance to the best of his ability, and in a manner to her station and position in life. That soon after said marriage defendant began a course of cruel treatment towards this plaintiff, reneged and abused him, and applied to him the vilest epithets she could think of, and finally on or about the first of January, 1927, the defendant took their two children and went away and left this plaintiff and he has never been able to locate her since. That during the time they lived together there was born to the plaintiff and defendant two children, Donald C. Smith, and Geraldine L. Smith, both of which children are with the defendant. That said marriage relation between the plaintiff and defendant still exist, and the defendant's conduct toward this plaintiff has rendered their living together as husband and wife insupportable.

Wherefore plaintiff prays the court that defendant be cited to appear and answer herein and for judgment dissolving said marriage relations, for costs of suit, and for such other and further relief, special and general in law and in equity, that he may be entitled to.

Herein fail me, and have you before said Court on the said first day of the next term thereof, this Writ with your endorsement thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of said Court, at office in Brownwood, Texas, this 9th day of October, A. D. 1928.

CHAS. S. BYNUM, Clerk District Court, Brown County, Texas. By Nevo Nance, Deputy Oct. 11-19-28, Nov. 1.

The nature of the plaintiff's demand being as follows, to-wit: That on or about the 7th day of September, A. D. 1922, the plaintiff

Company, a Trust Estate; H. W. Peck, J. A. Hendricks, and C. T. District Court at the next regular term thereof, to be holden in the County of Brown on the Third Monday in November, A. D. 1928, same being the 19th day of November, A. D. 1928 at the Court-House thereof in Brownwood, Texas, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 20th day of September, A. D. 1928, in a suit numbered on the docket of said Court No. 5439, wherein Mrs. Sallie A. Capps, Mrs. Alba Capps Lucas and H. G. Lucas are plaintiffs, and Goelet & Gearing, E. B. Goelet, C. M. Gearing, Lone Star Oil Syndicate, Burford & Brimm, G. E. Burford, W. H. Brimm, The Texas Eastern Oil Company, a corporation, F. W. McElroy, C. A. Vaughn, C. L. Snow, P. S. Pratt, L. L. Plaintiffs allege that on the day and year above mentioned, the defendants and each of them unlawfully entered upon said premises and ejected the plaintiffs therefrom and still unlawfully withhold from them the possession of said lands and premises. Wherefore, plaintiff prays for citations to issue according to law, and upon hearing hereof for judgment against the defendants and each of them for the recovery and restitution of said premises; that all instruments of record purporting to vest in the defendants or any of them any right of any character, mineral or otherwise in and to said lands or any part thereof be declared of no effect and be cancelled of record; and that all clouds on the title of plaintiffs to said lands by reason of the asserted claims of each and all of the defendants be removed; plaintiffs further pray for their costs and for general and special relief as under the law and fact they may be entitled to.

Herein fail not, and have you before said Court, on the said first day of the next term thereof, this Writ with your endorsement thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of said Court, at office in Brownwood, Texas, this, the 20th day of September, A. D. 1928.

OLD GRAY MARE BAND PLEASURES LARGE CROWD

"The best band concert I have heard in years," was the comment of more than one Saturday night after hearing the Old Gray Mare Band with members in full dress, gave about an hour of music gratis to a large crowd of Brownwood citizens at the Memorial Hall. The concert was given prior to the band leaving for San Antonio where it plays during the American Legion National Convention this week. It is the official organization of the National Ladies Auxiliary, Wright Armstrong of Houston, originator of the band directed for the concert. Miss Katie Myri Parks, sponsor, sang several numbers.

HOOVER SAYS HE IS PLEASED

BY JAMES L. WEST. Associated Press Staff Writer. WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—(AP)—While Herbert Hoover engages in no political prophesies, he is informed his friends he is satisfied not only with the general outlook over the country, but also with the manner in which the major strategy of his own campaign is working out. This strategy has been to confine his address to a discussion of the issues and his own philosophy of government and to keep clear of personalities and controversies which might obscure what he regards as fundamental principles in which the public is primarily interested.

Few Statements. Aside from his public addresses, he has made few statements for publication and only one of these has dealt with claims of the opposition. This was his statement that Kellogg-Briand Treaty constituted the greatest contribution to world peace.

Not once since the campaign opened has Hoover mentioned in address or public statements the name of his Democratic opponent and only upon a very few occasions has he referred to the Democratic party or the opposition.

Hoover now plans to make only four more speeches before election day and his friends assert that his plans will not be changed. His next two platform efforts will be on Eastern ground where the fight between the two parties wages the hottest; his third will be in the middle west, where each side has concentrated in its effort to win votes, while the last will be from the quiet of his study in his California home.

State-Wide System for Branding Sheep is Gaining Favor

SAN ANGELO, Tex., Oct. 11.—(AP)—Belief that some state wide system for branding sheep must be reached in gaining strength in the ranch country an instance arise where two ranchmen in the same country have the identical brand for their animals. There are several methods of branding sheep. The wool brand is placed after shearing by dipping a branding iron in a bucket of paint and placing it on the body. There is a practice, gaining rapidly, of fire branding, usually of the jaw, but sometimes on the side. Others perforate the ear with a brand. All use what is known as marks, made by cutting the ears of the sheep while they are lambs. A good deal of fire branding is done each year after the middle of November when the fly time is over, and the danger of worms has passed.

BRIDGE FALLS
ONE MAN HURT

A fifty-foot section of the bridge spanning the Colorado river on Highway 10, twenty miles south of Brownwood, collapsed at 11 o'clock Saturday morning. Alfred House, 1700 Fisk, city, sustained a broken leg and painful bruises about the body when he fell with the horse he was riding across the bridge. R. B. Forehand, Harper Hotel, who was riding a horse alongside House, escaped injury. The driver of a truck, which was a few feet ahead of the two horsemen, jumped when the bridge gave way, and escaped uninjured.

The collapse of the bridge, it is stated by Forehand and by F. C. Gafner, 1713 Eighth Street, who reached the scene a few seconds after the accident, is believed to have been caused by an overloaded truck which was being driven across the bridge. The truck was pulling a tractor, and two ten ton caterpillar tractors were carried as freight. The driver, whose name could not be learned, appeared to be afraid the bridge would collapse, and was walking beside his truck and driving it with one hand. He jumped when the bridge began to fall.

House was riding two or three feet in advance of Forehand and a few feet to the rear of the truck, and when the bridge began to fall his horse was hurled downward. House tried to catch hold of part of the bridge and save himself, but failed, and fell twenty-five or thirty feet. Forehand's horse whirled quickly and was able to hold his footing on the bridge.

This section of the bridge which collapsed was near the McCulloch county end, comprising a section between the last two columns of pillars supporting the structure.

House and Forehand are employees of the Brownwood Horse and Mule Company and were enroute to Mercury to gather up a bunch of mules to be driven to the barns here.

Barricades for the protection of traffic will be put up before night, according to J. B. Early of Abilene, division engineer of the Highway Department, who happened to be in Brownwood today.

Mr. Early recommends that travel between Brownwood and Brady be detoured by Santa Anna until a shorter detour can be found. He went to the scene of the accident as soon as he learned of it.

COGGIN AVENUE BAPTIST CELEBRATES TWENTIETH ANNIVERSARY SUNDAY

Sunday was one of the outstanding days in the twenty year history of the Coggin Avenue Baptist Church where services were devoted to the celebration of its anniversary for which elaborate preparations had been made. Old time hymns were sung by the congregation and the auditorium was crowded with members and friends.

During the morning services it developed that eighteen of the original sixty one charter members of the church were present. The oldest person in the audience was eighty seven years old. The youngest was two and a half weeks old. The charter members as well as the oldest and the youngest person present were each presented with a beautiful carnation by the pastor. There were fourteen grown people who united with the church during the day and two professions of faith.

History of The Church

The church was established in 1901 as a mission of the First Baptist church on Second Street. A Sunday School was maintained there for two years. Thos. Ball was the first superintendent; Mrs. H. T. Savage, Mrs. Georgia Baker and Mrs. N. G. McIntosh were the first teachers. Mrs. Edna Savage Saunders was the first pianist and Mr. Clyde McIntosh was Secretary of the Sunday School. Moved to the Corner of Coggin and Second in 1903 and the building enlarged. The church was constituted September 6th, 1908. Rev. W. R. Earp was called as the first pastor. He came from the pastorate of the First Baptist Church at Brady. The first brick building, now fronting Coggin Avenue, was erected in 1909 under the leadership of Dr. Earp, whose name is on the cornerstone. The educational unit of the new building was erected in 1927. The church has had four pastors in twenty years. Rev. W. R. Earp, is now pastor of the First Baptist church of Moran, Texas. Dr. Geo. W. Shearer, who succeeded Rev. Earp, is now pastor in Oklahoma. Rev. R. A. Scranton, who as pastor of the church during the year 1922-23, is now Missionary of the Waco Association. The present pastor, Rev. W. R. Hornburg, has been pastor for eight years.

The church has experienced a remarkable growth. Organized with 61 charter members it has grown to its present membership of 1,741. The present year bids fair to be its banner year. The Annual Fall Festival begins next Sunday. Dr. W. Y. Pond, Superintendent of Evangelism for Texas Baptists, will do the preaching. Dr. Pond is a young man just entering upon a career of enlarging usefulness. He was a rail road engineer before entering the ministry. Before entering the field of evangelism he was pastor of some of the leading Baptist churches in Texas. In the five years that he has held his present position there have been more than fourteen thousand additions to churches where he has led in revivals. Preparation is being made for a large attendance from near by points; many from surrounding towns and communities having signified their intention to attend.

A Carcass that is trouble-proof

A building is no stronger than its foundation. The carcass or body is the foundation of a tire. SUPERTWIST Cord Carcass explains the astonishing ability of Goodyear's All-Weather Balloon to absorb punishment.

SUPERTWIST S-T-R-E-T-C-H-E-S! It is just as strong as old style cords. But it stretches farther before it breaks—stretches and recovers like a rubber band. Blows that would break a carcass composed of less flexible cord do not affect SUPERTWIST.

And no other tire has SUPERTWIST. It is patented—an exclusive Goodyear achievement. Here is the culmination on Goodyear's research for more than 25 years—a trouble-proof carcass. Stop in and let us show you a real balloon tire. It costs no more.
