

FIRST BALE

Twelve days later than last year, the first bale of 1928 Brown county cotton, grown by C. Newson of near Bangs, was ginned here Friday and brought here late Friday afternoon. The bale weighed 475 pounds, was sold to Wither Produce Company for 26 cents a pound and Saturday was on display at the buyer's store.

The first bale last year was brought to a Brownwood gin Aug. 5th by C. W. George, who lives 10 miles south of here on the Brady road. It weighed 463 pounds.

No premium had been raised for Mr. Newson at noon Saturday. It is usual for cotton men to make up an award for the man bringing in the first bale of the season.

Only one time during the last 36 years has the first bale failed to make its appearance in August and this was in 1896 when it was brought in on July 29. The remaining 35 years has seen the first bale on the streets of the city in August from August 1st to 31st.

In 1840 W. J. Chamberlain brought in the first bale on August 2. The price paid for this cotton is not known.

Brought 12 Cents
In 1841 J. P. Alexander brought in the first bale on Aug. 7, 15 brought 12 cents per pound. In 1919 and 1920, the first bales brought 35 cents per pound. The lowest price paid for a first bale was in 1918 on August 10 when Mr. Style brought in the fleecy staple, it brought 8 cents per pound.

J. W. Lynch of Bangs brought in two first bales, according to the record, one in 1915 on Aug. 9, which paid 10 cents per pound, the other in 1916 on Aug. 11, which brought 15 cents per pound. Leo Goebble of Bangs has also brought in two first bales, first on Aug. 8 in 1917, which sold for 26 cents per pound, the second on Aug. 9, 1923, which sold for 21 cents per pound. T. O. Sybert of Bangs also brought in two first bales in two successive years, the first on Aug. 31, 1920, which brought 35 cents per pound and the second on Aug. 6, 1921.

- 1928—Aug. 17, by C. Newson, 26 cents.

Stovall is Aid Blanket School

J. T. Stovall, vocational agricultural teacher, tendered his services to the Blanket school board at a meeting in that community Tuesday night to conduct a part time agricultural class in the school there. The offer was accepted and Mr. Stovall will teach a class there on one afternoon in each week during the school term.

This work will be done through the courtesy of the Brownwood Chamber of Commerce. The Brownwood school board and the Chamber of Commerce share equally in the local expense necessary to secure the vocational agriculture teacher, and the work with the Blanket school will be done on the share of the time devoted to the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Stovall's services for part time classes have also been tendered to one or two other schools. It is stated, and will probably be accepted.

Vinegar Trade is Opposed to Rate Scale Proposed

AUSTIN, Aug. 23.—(AP)—A sour outlook would be in store for the vinegar trade in Texas, if the new interstate rate scale proposed by Texas railroads is adopted intrastate, the State Railroad Commission was informed, in effect, in its rate revision hearing today.

DAIRYMEN IN SESSION PLAN CLEAN PLANTS

Dr. Fred B. Green of the state health department and Dr. N. F. Williams, state veterinarian, addressed members of the Brown County Dairy Association and others, who met in the district court room Monday night seeking information relative to the proposed dairy sanitation program for Brownwood and Brown county, and immediately following the address by these two outstanding leaders in dairy sanitation work in Texas, it was voted unanimously to send a committee of three to the next meeting of the City Council in interest of dairy sanitation for Brownwood. Mayor Palmer C. McInnis, Alderman C. T. Shugart and three members of Brownwood Parent-Teachers' Associations were among those, who met with the dairymen Monday night and according to expressions made during the meeting, all heartily favored the adoption and enforcement of an ordinance that will insure all milk consumers of pure wholesome milk.

Martin C. Leibhart was appointed by J. F. Smith, president of the Brown County Dairy Association, to preside over Monday night's meeting. Dr. Green was the first speaker introduced. Dr. Green centered his remarks on the Standard Milk Ordinance which is now in operation in 52 Texas cities. The speaker stated that this ordinance was drawn up after years of study of dairies in all sections of the United States and that in its present form, it is the best ordinance yet formed. He told of the many advantages of the ordinance and told of the progress that had been made in certain cities that had adopted the ordinance, calling especial attention to Marshall and Beaumont, two East Texas cities.

Industry's Backbone
"The Standard Milk Ordinance is the Backbone of the Dairy Industry," Dr. Green stated. He continued, "Produce milk and produce pure milk, there is always a market for clean milk, for clean milk does not sour and dirty milk does. Dairy interests of the United States want to come to Texas and are waiting only for Texas to produce enough milk to meet their needs. The milk produced in Texas is increasing rapidly, there having been a 100 per cent increase during the past two years. Dairying is a safe business, from a financial standpoint, as evidenced by the fact that few, if any, ever go broke in this business. Before producing milk, and more profitable by quality milk and this is the purpose of the Standard Dairy Ordinance."

The speaker then told of a certain dairyman in San Antonio, who produces quality milk, to the extent that he receives 25 cents a quart for all his milk and a long waiting list of would-be customers. Dr. Green assured dairymen that not a great deal of extra expense would be required to meet all requirements of the Standard Milk Ordinance, and that this expense would be more than offset by the increase in business and profits to be derived from the production of quality milk.

Williams Talks
Dr. Williams, who followed Dr. Green, launched into a discussion of the battle being waged today between humanity and the bugs, illustrating his remarks by reference to cotton farming and to the germs, ticks, etc., that threaten the livestock industry of Texas. The speaker emphasized the fact that West Texas is an ideal place for dairy business, but that this section must adopt a standard system. It is progress as it should. The standard milk ordinance puts the industry on a sound and economical basis. Dr. Williams stated: It is an insurance for dairymen and consumers alike, the speaker stated.

Before closing, Williams told of the unlimited opportunities for dairymen of the section, picturing to them the untold outlets for their milk production and other dairy products. The state health department is eager to help the dairymen, and the co-operation of the dairymen must be had, Dr. Williams stated. "Test every cow for tuberculosis as it is absolutely necessary to keep the cows clean, thereby protecting human and animal life," the speaker stated as he concluded his address.

Dairymen Speak
Immediately following Dr. Williams' address, Joe Shelton of Shelton Brothers Dairy, stated that he favored the adoption and enforcement of the standard milk ordinance, extending an invitation to Dr. Green to visit his ranch and witness any mistakes being made. Earl Foster, Jack Smith and other dairymen agreed with Mr. Shelton. Mr. Shelton then made a motion that the dairy association appoint a committee of three to meet with the City Council in interest of the adopting of a program that will insure a pure milk supply. This was carried unanimously and Chairman Leibhart appointed Jack Smith, Earl Foster and Joe Shelton as the committee of three.

What They Say About Smith Speech; Pro Stand Main Interest

AUSTIN, Aug. 23.—(AP)—No comment was available today from Governor Moody on the nomination acceptance speech of Governor Al Smith, Democratic presidential candidate.

Asked for an expression early today, the governor said he might have a statement by 11 a. m. After that time, it developed the governor had left suddenly for Georgetown without preparing the statement.

Mark Winginton, assistant secretary to the governor, said the latter had gone to extend sympathy to the family of District Judge Cooper Sanson who died at Georgetown this morning.

DALLAS, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Conflicting views regarding Governor Alfred E. Smith's speech of acceptance prevailed in political circles here today. If there were any conversions to his cause among those who had opposed him as the Democratic nominee, expressions from anti-Smith leaders failed to reveal them. Likewise, there apparently were no losses from the Smith ranks because of any statement made by the leader.

"It is a very instructive and statesmanlike document," declared Jed C. Adams, Democratic National committeeman from Texas. "Unlike Hoover's speech it leaves no uncertainty as to where Smith stands on any public question."

Lieutenant Governor Barry Miller, another staunch exponent of the New York governor, said: "Governor Smith made a wonderful speech. It will be an important factor in bringing victory for the entire ticket in November. His speech was courageous, honest, frank—a typical Al Smith speech, consistent with the character of the man and the record of his performance."

Former governor O. B. Colquhitt, anti-Smith Democratic leader, said: "Smith's statement with reference to the eighteenth amendment and changes in the prohibition law suggested by him is a reiteration of statements he made in a number of messages to the New York legislature, which I criticized heretofore as nullification. He now modifies his position to the extent of admitting that his proposals to the New York legislature would require an amendment to the eighteenth amendment to be carried out. His general discussion of other topics is in line with the views generally expressed by New York and Tammany Hall politicians."

V. A. Collins of Dallas, one of the principal organizers of the anti-Al Smith Democrats of Texas, declared that Smith's speech made victory for Hoover in Texas all the more certain.

Water Bond Issue Slated in October

ACTUAL construction work on the dam and reservoir on the Pecan Bayou designed to protect Brownwood's water needs is expected to begin before the end of the year if a bond election to be called in October is successful, it was learned Thursday.

The board of directors of the Brown County Water Improvement District is now working on details preliminary to the calling of a bond election. Withdrawal of those who do not want to be included in the district, entry of others and other minor details are all that remain to be worked out. The election probably will be held about October 15th.

To Go Ahead
At a meeting of the board Wednesday it was decided to go ahead under the permit allowing Brownwood $25,000 acre feet, but without dropping the fight to secure a greater appropriation from the state board of water engineers.

While the board has declined to make a further statement at this time, the bond issue probably will be approximately $2,000,000. That figure was set as the probable amount when bonds for preliminary survey were voted in November, 1926. So far the board has spent $50,000, of which amount $35,000 was spent by the present board, according to statements made to City Council several weeks ago. It is planned to sell these preliminary bonds as soon as the bonds of the district are set, probably within the next two weeks.

Brownwood asked the state board for 500,000 acre feet, and this appropriation request was protested by the Syndicate Power Company of the Colorado river, into which the Pecan Bayou flows.

Protested Permit
The board granted the district only 125,000 acre feet and set other requirements, including the placing of this district under prior rights of other appropriators. The Brown county district protested this permit, although the state board contended that the permit granted would provide for a city of 100,000 people and the irrigation of 25,000 acres.

On September 10, 1927, the district filed a protest, asking for at least 208,000 feet, later filing suit against the board as a precautionary measure, asking for a rehearing, which had previously been refused.

A series of negotiations with the Insell interests, backers of the Syndicate Power Company, in which the district sought to increase their appropriation, fell through recently and the board decided to begin preparations for construction of a dam under the permit granted. While it was stated Wednesday that efforts to secure more water would not be abandoned, no indication of what action will be taken was made.

Into Limelight
The Brownwood case has brought the water rights question into the limelight in Texas. The long drawn out fight aroused the interest of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and various legislators. Representative Leonard Tillotson has announced that he will offer the first legislative act an entire new program of water control and development legislation. The West Texas Chamber recently announced it would renew its fight to establish water rights, with domestic and municipal rights given prior consideration to irrigation and power development.

Pursuing their policy of silence the water board has nothing to say at present on their plans, other than that "details are being worked out." The granting of more water to the district would not make the cost of the dam higher, it was stated, and construction work can go ahead without interference from the fight to get a larger appropriation.

AKELEY'S WIDOW TO BRAVE JUNGLE TO BURY HUSBAND

TULSA, Okla., Aug. 23.—(NEA)—As a last tribute to her famous husband, Mrs. Carl E. Akeley, widow of the famous explorer, is going to Africa with a copper coffin to hold the body of the celebrated hunter and naturalist, who died in the Belgian Congo a year ago last November. It is being designed by Clarence Dewey of Tulsa, a lifelong friend of Akeley.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Akeley

When the coffin is completed it will be sent to Africa and transported far into the interior on the shoulders of native carriers. For a thousand miles it will be carried thus, over rivers and through steaming jungles; then, a rock grave cut in the sides of lonely Mount Mikeno will be opened and the body of Akeley will be taken from its temporary coffin of wood to be placed in the copper casket and re-buried.

The casket must be made in sections for transportation on the shoulders of native carriers. The casket must not weigh an ounce over 40 pounds or be more than 30 inches square. It will be put together at the end of the journey.

Mrs. Akeley will lead the expedition and superintend the process. Construction of the coffin recalls a queer incident in connection with Akeley's last trip to the Congo. When his equipment was being assembled he noticed that one of his assistants had included a package of ten-penny nails.

"What are those for?" asked Akeley. "Don't know yet," said the assistant. "We'll find some use for them." "Well, I've never yet found it necessary to carry ten-penny nails to Africa," said Akeley.

which is an active volcano. He had shot a gorilla there, and as he looked up at the blazing volcano above, he said:

"You know, I envy that chap his funeral pyre. I wish I could be buried here when I die."

Four years before his death, Akeley expressed a wish to be buried on the slopes of Mount Mikeno, dian sports, including hunting, fishing and swimming. Although the family managed to escape within two years, the months spent with the Indians made an everlasting impression on Mart, and he attributes his present good health and erect figure to the training given him by the friendly Comanches.

Mr. Fleming has not seen any of his Indian friends since he left their camp, but he knows a number of them to be alive and living in Oklahoma. And now he is to have the unusual experience of meeting once more his old Indian playmates when Chief Ho-Coah-Bitty and his band of over thirty Comanches invade Comanche Round-Up, with which that town is celebrating its 70th anniversary on Aug. 31 and Sept. 1. Among this band Mr. Fleming expects to find several of the redskins with whom he played during those years in their village. He is looking forward with the greatest eagerness to smoking the pipe of peace with his friends, aged now, with whom he spent the happiest years of his childhood.

NEW GROUPING OF RAILROADS IN WEST SEEN

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Forecasts of a new grouping of midwest and far western railway lines has followed announcement of several reported pending changes in executive positions on western systems.

The Associated Press has been informed that Hale Holden, president of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad, will become chairman of the executive committee of the Southern Pacific this fall, to succeed Henry W. De Forest. Information came from members of the directorate of the Burlington and the Southern Pacific.

Appointment of Holden, president of the Burlington, which is controlled by the Northern Pacific & Great Northern roads, to the Southern Pacific post is considered in financial circles as a means of averting disagreements between the Southern Pacific and the Western Pacific, La Salle Street gossip said.

Sproul to Retire
Paul Sproul, slated to succeed William Sproul as head of the Southern Pacific, has been executive vice president of that road since 1925. Sproul, who will be 70 years old this fall, must retire under the company's age rule, it was indicated.

If the application for the merger of the Great Northern and Northern Pacific roads is approved by the Interstate Commerce commission, Ralph Budd, president of the Great Northern, is expected to assume a new office, as is Charles Donnelly, now president of the Northern Pacific. In that event, it was said, the Southern Pacific, the Burlington and the merged roads would have one operating president, in hopes of eliminating present traffic and freight competitions, although their nominal individuality would be maintained.

As successor to Mr. Holden, the directors said Mr. Budd and Mr. Donnelly were under consideration. Financial circles also entertained rumors that F. E. Williamson, executive vice president of the Burlington, would succeed Holden.

Submitted Plan
In 1923 Holden submitted to the Interstate Commerce commission a plan for consolidation of all western roads into four systems, the Burlington, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and Santa Fe. He denied rumors today of a new line to be formed by the Burlington, Western Pacific, Southern Pacific, Denver Rio Grande & Western, and Denver & Salt Lake roads, as Wall Street heard yesterday.

These latter lines are among those embraced by the newly proposed transcontinental group. The combined lines would serve virtually the whole country west of the Mississippi river, covering a total trackage of approximately 38,500 miles.

Reports which predicted merger of the western lines were strengthened by knowledge that Arthur Curtis James, large stockholder in the Great Northern and Northern Pacific, also owns much stock in the Southern Pacific and other western roads, and is credited with controlling the Western Pacific.

Southern Pacific was expected to be calmed by Holden's appointment. Increased California mileage on the Western Pacific road has met with opposition from the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe as well as the Southern Pacific.

CHIEF DENIES COUNTY GIVEN PRISONER, 16

DALTON BROWN, alias William Clark, age 16, who was shot early Monday morning by Night officers Sam Morris and Joe Boyd, after the officers had frustrated an alleged attempt by Brown to steal an automobile from the Gregg Motor Company, local Chrysler dealers, escaped from the Brownwood Hospital Tuesday night while Deputy Sheriff Sam Floyd was sleeping on a cot near the bed occupied by Brown. Deputy Floyd and all other officers connected in any manner with the case, are at a loss to know how the youthful prisoner made good his escape, but it is the common belief among local officers that the boy prisoner had help from outside sources unknown to officers.

Police Chief G. A. Guillems in a signed statement given to The Bulletin said the prisoner had not been turned over to county officers but was still in his custody.

Charged With Burglary
Dalton Brown, alias William Clark, was charged with burglary in justice court Wednesday. The complaint having been made by County Attorney T. C. Wickham, Jr. A warrant for his arrest was issued following the filing of the complaint by Judge Wilkinson. Mr. Wickham talked to Brown shortly after 8 o'clock Tuesday night and despite claims made by the prisoner, a short time prior to his escape that he is only 16 years old, charges were filed in justice court. Mr. Wickham stated Wednesday morning that should it develop later that the boy is only 16 years old, or under 17, that the charges will be transferred to juvenile court, and that Brown would be tried in that court on charges of burglary.

The escaped prisoner, who claimed the name of William Clark, immediately following his arrest, told County Attorney Wickham Tuesday night that his right name is Dalton Brown and that he had the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Brown of Abilene. He stated also that his grandparents live in Henderson county, near Athens.

Deep Flesh Wound
Young Brown, despite the fact that he had a deep flesh wound in his right leg from having been shot, and that attending physicians and officers were of the opinion that it would be impossible to escape of its own accord, is now at liberty. It is presumed that he left the local hospital about 1:30 Wednesday morning, having his escape through a window adjacent his bed.

According to a statement made by Deputy Sheriff Sam Floyd to two newspaper reporters Wednesday morning, the youth made his escape sometime between midnight and 2 o'clock Wednesday morning. Mr. Floyd stated that he guarded Brown Monday night, and that he went back to the hospital again between 8 and 9 o'clock Tuesday night for another vigil over the young prisoner. Floyd stated that soon after going to the hospital Monday night he removed the bandages from Brown's wrist and he guarded Brown Monday night, and that he went back to the hospital again between 8 and 9 o'clock Tuesday night, due to the fact that he did not deem it necessary since he was to be in the room with him all night, and due to the fact that in his opinion and the opinion of doctors the lad would be unable to escape even though left alone all night.

Mr. Floyd stated that he retired between 11:30 and 12 o'clock Tuesday night, and went to sleep shortly afterward. Floyd stated that about 2 o'clock and noticed that the prisoner had escaped and immediately went to inquire of the lad's whereabouts from the night nurse on duty. Being told that she knew nothing of the youth, Mr. Floyd dressed himself and had been sent to police headquarters in the meantime and together with Night Officers Joe J. Boyd and Sam Morris, Mr. Floyd began a thorough and intense search for the lad in all parts of the city. Every nook and corner around the hospital was searched and almost every possible hiding place in the city visited in an effort to find some trace of the lad, but at noon Wednesday nothing had been learned.

In Night Clothes
Mr. Floyd stated that the lad escaped in his night clothes, a regulation hospital gown, and that he had other clothes were in the county jail. Mr. Floyd believes that the lad escaped through the window near his bed, due to the fact that the window screen was found unfastened and that the lad had been in the room with him all night, and day night stated that she had heard a noise of some kind at short time before Mr. Floyd awoke last night but was unable to determine whether it was a car or not.

Chief of Police G. A. Guillems made the following statement on Wednesday morning that she had heard the escape of Brown, the statement having been made before City Attorney R. E. Lee:

"Brownwood, Texas, August 22, 1928. On account of rumors going around I wish to state that the young man arrested early on Wednesday morning, charged with burglarizing the Chrysler auto show rooms was my prisoner

COMANCHE MAN WHO LIVED WITH INDIANS TO SEE THEM AGAIN

COMANCHE, Aug. 23.—(Sp.)—Two years of his childhood spent in an Indian village—that is the unique experience of M. V. Fleming, popularly known as "Old Uncle Mart," an old frontiersman of Comanche, Texas. This aged pioneer, whose hair is now white with the advancing years, tells a tale which rivals the widest stories of fiction, but which is all the more interesting because history bears it out in every detail.

CORSICANA, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Charged with murder in the shooting last night of Andy Autrey, 55, in the business section, Bell White, Sr., was at liberty today on $3,000 bond.

Autrey, shot four times, died in a local hospital without making a statement. White declined to discuss the slaying.

Autrey is survived by his wife and small son and White also is married.

At a meeting of the citizens of May Wednesday afternoon, it was voted to hold a community fair in that city September 8. It was also voted unanimously to arrange for a community booth at the Brown County Fair. A premium committee was appointed Wednesday afternoon and the committee will begin work at once preparing a premium list for the community fair. All prizes to be offered will be cash awards, it is stated. Premiums will be offered for all farm, garden and orchard exhibits.

The premium committee is composed of J. H. Busby, B. H. Bettis, R. M. Johnson, Elmo George and A. L. Petty.

Williams Consolidated School District will have a booth at the Brown County Fair, according to R. J. West, vocational agricultural teacher in the school, who was in Brownwood Thursday morning. No community fair will be held, it is stated, but plans for the booth at the county fair are taking definite shape and a creditable booth is assured.

Had You Ever Thought That There Is a "Better" Time To Lay Linoleum?

Well there is and it is in the warm weather. It is natural for linoleum to expand after it is put on the floor, and it will expand faster in warm weather. Therefore now is the best time to have that new Linoleum floor laid, so it will get set to the floor soon and can be fastened permanently. We have expert Linoleum men that have had years experience in laying Linoleum and can give you the very best service.

All Our Work Is Guaranteed to Please You.

Call 47 and have our man call on you with samples.

To cover your floor with the new patterns of linoleum will mean a big saving in labor and at so little cost.

We can cover a 9x12 foot room with a good grade of waterproof glossy floor covering for Only $6.00 Other grades in proportion.

Can you afford to use that old worn looking linoleum when it costs so little to have a new shiny floor? We say no.

ESCAPE

STARTS ON PAGE ONE

after arresting him and placing him in the county jail for awhile, on the advice of the City Attorney and City Health Officer, I transferred the prisoner to the Brownwood Hospital for treatment of his gun wound.

The prisoner was never turned over by me to the County Officers, but I borrowed Sam Floyd, working extra as Deputy Sheriff, to use as a guard over this prisoner while in the hospital for the reason that I was short of help on the police force.

In some manner, absolutely unknown to myself and Mr. Floyd, this prisoner escaped from the hospital last night between the hours of 12 o'clock midnight and 2 o'clock a. m. This prisoner has never had any charge filed against him, but I was simply holding him pending the outcome of his wounds and the investigation of his case.

Signed, "G. A. GULLIAMS," Dalton Brown, alias William Clark, the lad referred to in Chief Gulliams' statement, was arrested between 4:00 and 5:00 o'clock Monday morning by City Police Officers Sam Morris and Joe J. Boyd. He was taken to county jail Monday morning and Monday afternoon was removed from the county jail to the Brownwood Hospital, from where he escaped Tuesday night. An operation to remove the bullet from his right leg was performed Monday afternoon and upon the advice of physicians in charge he was being kept in the hospital, information released Wednesday reveals.

FIND NO TRACE ESCAPED YOUTH

Dalton Brown, alias William Clark, the 18 year old lad who escaped Tuesday night from Deputy Sheriff Sam Floyd, who was holding the lad prisoner in a local hospital for treatment of a gun shot wound, is still at liberty. No trace of the escaped prisoner has been found today, local officers state.

The young lad was charged in juvenile court Wednesday with burglary but if it is found that his age is 16, as he claimed prior to his escape, the lad will be tried in juvenile court on charges of burglary if he is recaptured.

The lad was arrested early Monday morning by Night Police Officers Sam Morris and Joe J. Boyd. The local officers frustrated an alleged attempt by Brown to steal an automobile from the Gregg Motor Company, local Chrysler dealers. The youngster ran and one of the officers shot him in the right thigh.

He was placed in the city jail, later transferred for a short while to the county jail, thence to the local hospital for an operation. He made his escape from Deputy Floyd Tuesday night and since has not been apprehended.

A small brother of the escaped prisoner was in Brownwood Wednesday night and stated that his brother's age was 16 as claimed and that the brother had been away from home for one and a half years. No other members of the family have appeared here and local officers have not communicated with them, it is stated.

OLSON MAKES STATEMENT REGARDING STOCK SALE

To the Voters of the Seventeenth District: It has come to my attention that R. Q. Lee, candidate for Congress from the 17th District denied in his speech at Abilene that he had any knowledge of the stock transaction whereby I lost twenty-five hundred dollars on the sale of the Cisco & Northeastern Railway, and that he read an affidavit of J. W. Ray to the effect that he (Ray) bought the stock from me without the knowledge of Lee.

In September, 1926, the Secretary of the Board of Directors of the Railroad phoned me while I was in Hamlin, that they had a chance to sell the road at fifty cents on the dollar. I told him that if I was getting as much as the rest of the stockholders, they could have my stock. At my request, Mrs. Olson that day endorsed the stock over to R. Q. Lee, subject to the deal being completed.

Walter Ray came to my home on September 14, 1927, and pretended to be paying off the stockholders. I accepted the payment, believing that since he had been a leading director of the Railroad, he was authorized to make it. I had received no intimation that the stock was being par. I signed a receipt for the check, and he took it to Lee and got twice the amount he paid me. I DID NOT SELL THE STOCK TO RAY. The stock at the time was in Lee's hands. I accepted payment in the belief that he was authorized to make the agreement which we had previously signed, and he permitted Ray to complete the transaction with me, while some other stockholders had received par.

I also notice that Lee claims he was advising stockholders to hold their stock. We received no notification or even an intimation that the stock would be worth par; and Lee had ample opportunity to give such notice.

This statement is made in order that the voters of our district may have the true facts insofar as I was concerned in the Cisco & Northeastern Railway deal.

Very truly yours, (Signed) A. J. Olson. (pol. adv.)

1,735 BROWN COUNTY WELLS PRODUCING OIL

A survey of all Texas oil wells shows 1,735 producing wells in Brown county, according to a report issued from Houston. This report places the daily average production in Brown county at 12,460 barrels, making the average per well 7.18 barrels. Other counties or fields in the Central West Texas district are given as follows:

Shackelford, wells 1,211; daily production, 10,480 barrels; average per well, 8.65.

Shephens, wells 1,270; daily production, 7,035; average per well, 5.54.

Ranger-Eastland, wells 834; daily production, 6,015; average per well, 7.21.

Callahan, wells 1,680; daily production, 3,555; average per well, 2.12.

Coleman, wells 270; daily production, 3,365; average per well, 12.46.

Desdemons-Comanche, wells 420; daily production, 1,370; average per well, 3.26.

Palo Pinto, 167; production, 455; average 2.72.

The oil survey shows a total of 31,376 producing wells in the state. This represents a steady and large increase in the number of producers during the past several years. In the past two years the increase has been nearly 50 per cent., the records for June, 1926, showing 23,951 producing wells in the state. Daily Average Higher

The 31,376 wells now on production are yielding oil at the rate of 67,792 barrels a day, according to the survey; this represents a daily average per well of 21.28 barrels. In June two years ago the well average was only 16.51 barrels, the daily production of the state then being 395,489 barrels.

The greater production per well as compared with previous dates, is not, however, a fair indication of the real situation—due to the comparatively large number of wells in West Texas.

As a matter of fact, the average daily production per well is lower now than at previous dates throughout the past two years for all sections of the state, with the exception of West Texas and the Texas Gulf Coast.

In West Texas the average daily production per well is now 196.89 barrels, against 152.61 two years before; and in the Gulf Coast it is 43 barrels, compared with 37.76. The greatest decline in the meantime was in the Panhandle, where in June of 1926, at the outset of a period of flush production the average per well was 249.51 barrels daily from 184 wells, and where the present well average is 47.44 barrels daily from 1428 wells.

In view of the conditions in West Texas and the Panhandle during the past two years and at present—conditions which have been changing and abnormal, those sections should be omitted in an analysis of conditions in the state as a whole, as compared with two years ago, says the report of the survey as quoted in the Oil Weekly. For in spite of the fact that the Panhandle and West Texas are now producing over one-half of the total output of the state, those sections have only about 10 per cent. of the wells; and in June, 1926, the same sections were producing 20 per cent. of the state's output from only two per cent. of the wells.

Older Fields Low

For the sake of a comparison, therefore, it would be valuable to consider separately those sections outside West Texas and the Panhandle—those sections which have had settled production during the past two years, where more than 90 per cent. of the wells of the state are located, the statement continues.

In those sections, exclusive of West Texas and the Panhandle, in June, 1926, there were 25,333 producing wells with a daily output of 313,868 barrels—a well average of 13.33 barrels. At present those same sections have 28,369 wells which are producing at the average rate of 269,228 barrels daily, or only 10.19 barrels per well.

In some sections the production per well is particularly low—lower than at any previous times. North, Central-West and Southwest Texas, considered as sections, have well averages of 6.69, 5.89 and 5.33 barrels daily, respectively. There are numerous examples of small wells which some of the operators are nursing along in the hope of better prices. In North Texas there are 355 wells in Clay County with an average daily yield of 1.46 barrels. In Central-West Texas 1680 wells in Callahan County have an average rate of 2.72 barrels daily. In the South-Central fault district the Minerva-Rockdale and Brenham fields have daily well averages of 1.41 and 2.42 barrels respectively.

In the Southwest Texas district, 91 wells in the Charco-Redondo field produce less than one barrel each per day, on the average; and 1098 wells in Bexar County and the Somerset field have less than two barrels daily output each. In the Texas Gulf Coast the lowest yield per well is at Saratoga, where 232 wells produce at the average rate of 4.48 barrels daily; but the records are not much higher at Humble and Batson, the former having 237 wells yielding at the rate of 6.11 barrels daily, and the latter 224 wells with an average daily output of 6.29 barrels.

Hendricks Average High

The highest yield per well in the entire state now in the Hendrick pool, Winkler County. In that field 230 wells have an average daily output of 694 barrels each, and the production is partially pinched. Pecos County where production is partially pinched, likewise, has a per-well output of 281 barrels from 196 wells; and Crane County wells, numbering 268, are yielding 204 barrels daily each on the average.

AIRPLANE WAS SEEN SUNDAY IN GREENLAND

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Aug. 23.—(AP)—The Greenland administration has received a message from the sheriff of South Greenland stating that an airplane, believed to be the greater Rockford manned by Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer, was sighted Sunday morning along the southwest coast of Greenland.

The telegram received from the sheriff at 4:40 p. m., added that two motor boats would be sent out immediately to resume search for the missing American airmen in view of the new information available.

The message received by the Greenland administration was as follows:

"Machine reported absolutely without doubt, from Piswanesset. The whole place, as well as Liechtenfels, observed the machine Sunday morning at 10:30 coming high from the north-northwest and descending over Piswanesset.

"The crew were clearly seen looking over the area through binoculars. Afterwards the machine turned eastward. The Greenlanders statement is absolutely trustworthy and they described the sound of the engine and gave the national marks on the machine."

Grid Divisions in State Announced

AUSTIN, Aug. 23.—(AP)—Divisions in football in the State Interscholastic League for 1928 were announced today by the League Bureau of the University of Texas.

Participating schools are to be classed as follows: High schools with enrollments of 500 or more in 1927-28 shall compete in conference A and other schools, including junior high schools, are conference B schools. If a conference B school wishes to compete in conference A, the superintendent or principal shall make application to the chairman of the conference A committee before the organization meeting and the state office of the league shall be notified at the same time.

The state is divided into eight districts for conference A, and competition includes a state championship, the prize for which is a handsome regulation-sized silver football, mounted on an ebony base. Conference B is composed of 28 districts, with competition including not more than a bi-district championship. Schools not listed will, when properly registered, be assigned to the nearest district.

Curtis Promises Tariff Revision

ROCKY POINT, R. I., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Revision of the tariff to afford "full protection" to industry, agriculture and labor was promised by Senator Curtis, the Republican vice presidential nominee, in opening the eastern campaign for his party here today at a Republican rally.

"The Republican party promises," he declared, "to revise the tariff so that the products of our factories, the products of our farms and the products of our mines will be fully protected and so that American labor will continue to be protected."

2 U. S. Prisoners Escape From Jail

BEAUMONT, Tex., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Two federal prisoners, who early today saved their way to freedom from the Jefferson county jail were the objects of a search conducted by officers throughout adjoining counties.

The men were John W. Hall, Mauriceville, held under $1,000 bond on a narcotic charge, and Charlie Hartney, Beaumont, charged with possession of liquor. Records show the latter is an ex-convict, having served a one-year term in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta on a narcotic charge.

Chinese Kills 10, Sought by Poses

FAIRFIELD, Cal., Aug. 23.—(AP)—Many residents of Solano and Napa counties were practically in a state of siege in their homes today while posse searched for Loy Yeung, Chinese, who yesterday murdered ten of his countrymen on a ranch near here. Yeung fled in an automobile, after running amuck with a hatchet and rifle.

Tilden's Defense Given Tennis Body

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—(AP)—"Business" will keep William T. Tilden from attending tomorrow's meeting of the United States Lawn Tennis Association which is to consider the charges against him of violating the amateur player-writer rule. He already has presented his defense, however. In a letter to Samuel H. Colton, president of the association, Tilden denies any intention of violating either the letter or spirit of the rule.

In the letter, which he requested Colton to present at the meeting, Tilden gives his opinion of his articles on the Wimbledon championships which caused his disbarment from the Davis cup team, to which he was later reinstated. He also offers the suggestion that to prevent such happenings in the future it should be the rule that no Davis cup team could write while he was a member of the team.

Road Petition Up in Court Friday

Due to an error, it was stated in Wednesday's Bulletin that a petition from the voters of Brown county would be submitted to the Brown County Commissioners Court Thursday, asking that an election be called for the purpose of voting on a proposed $1,650,000 road bond issue for Brown county. The petition will be presented Friday, instead of today. The court is to meet in regular session Friday and Saturday, August 24 and 25, instead of Thursday and Friday, August 23 and 24. County Judge E. M. Davis, presiding officer of the commissioner's court, is out of the city today but will return in time for Friday's session of the court.

TO THE VOTERS OF BROWN COUNTY

Lubbock, Texas Aug. 18, 1928

Learning recently that W. E. Burson of your County led the ticket by about a thousand votes in his race for County Clerk, in the first Primary, I without solicitation want to tell you that with every ounce of my strength I believe him to be true to the highest ideals of life. Having known him all his life, with every opportunity of watching his development from boyhood to young manhood, causes me to voluntarily and unhesitatingly endorse his candidacy for the office to which he aspires. And earnestly solicit the support of every man and woman in his behalf. For he is fully qualified from every standpoint to give you real service, and make you an officer of which each and every one of you will be proud.

Respectfully,
T. L. SANSOM
Ex. Sheriff of McCulloch Co., Tex. (Political Adv.)

As your neighbors and friends we feel free to urge that you support Oscar Callaway for Congress. His farm and ranch on which he lives is partly in Brown County. He is a Brown County tax payer. Seventy-five per cent of his farm and ranch products are marketed in Brown County. In Callaway we offer you a man of superior character and ability and unquestioned courage; a man thoroughly identified with your interest and in full sympathy with the common people of the district.

Mr. Callaway in Comanche in the first primary with five men in the race received two votes for every one cast for the other four. Comanche has been Mr. Callaway's home for more than thirty years. Mr. Callaway has never in any crisis failed to come to the aid of his neighbors and friends, and he will we assure you, serve you as he has served us. We assure you that he is in every way worthy of your confidence and support and we will appreciate that support to the fullest extent.

HELPING THE ADMINISTRATION

City Attorney Lee made a statement at the meeting of Lions Tuesday that is worthy of the attention of the entire citizenship of Brownwood, when he said that the mayor and aldermen of Brownwood are serving the city not for the honor or money that they get out of the offices they hold, but in an honest effort to advance the material interests of this community.

Crime never pays. Occasionally we read of some one committing an offense against the law and getting away with it. But more often the criminal is caught, if not at once, then eventually, and perforce must pay the penalty.

A business man of Sherman has the right idea. When approached about supporting some proposition that had been advanced for the good of his city, he said, "We cannot afford to look to our business alone. Our business is in Sherman, and for our business to be better we must have a better Sherman, that's why we ought to be interested in working for the upbuilding of our city."

It is not any of The Bulletin's business, but we regret to see a tendency for candidates to seek office not so much on their own merits as on the demerits of their opponents. Such tactics are calculated to make the public become disgusted with politics and refuse to take any part in elections.

The public's indifference to the value of the lowly five cent piece is aptly illustrated in the fact that in New York City 10,240 people spent five cents each in one day to get an answer to the question, "What time is it?"

Down at Corpus Christi, at a Rotary meeting, a laundry owner talked about the printing business, and the printer member talked about the laundry business. It was a pretty clever scheme, for most of us know mighty little about the other fellow's business.

Contemporary Thought

WHEN TEXAS GETS ITS FULL GROWTH

Dallas News: Preliminary estimates seem to justify the guess that Texas will pick up something like 1,000,000 inhabitants in the 1930 tabulation. The rate of increase for this State is extraordinary and is likely to remain so for a time.

It will be a surprise to most Texans to learn that Texas is the second State in the Union in rank according to the number of immigrants received. This is due to the inflow of Mexican agricultural labor, of course. There is besides a heavy influx of native Americans from the other States.

Then tendency of population toward the big cities is what keeps States like Illinois and New York high in population. Texans move to Texas cities, it is true, but the migration has a less immediate effect upon the total number of Texans to New York City has upon the population of New York State.

But it appears certain that the State is destined to be one of the most populous in the country, and probably the most populous. Present trends do not seem trustworthy in their full forecast, for the reason that they would give Texas population supremacy within a surprisingly short time.

Village planning and city planning are well under way in Texas. County planning is next. State planning will have to come. In a way our highway and railroad regulatory bodies do a bit of this. But we will soon have to co-ordinate our State efforts in a yet more forthright fashion.

Daily Washington Letter

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON—Herbert Hoover's speech of acceptance, addressed to the American people, may be epitomized in a few words which gave the essence of the Republican appeal for votes this year and indicate the nature of the appeal to be made by the Democrats.

It was a conservative speech, eminently safe and sane. It had to be. Hoover was congratulating the voters on their judgement in electing a Republican administration for the last eight years. His was the voice of the party—the voice of the poker players who has nearly all the chips in front of him and is content to make no large, rash bets.

"After eight years of Republicanism," he said in effect, "you are happy and prosperous. The farmer isn't as prosperous as the rest of us, but we'll take care of him all right. The next Republican administration is going to be bigger and better than ever and we're all going to be happier and more prosperous. You know you can trust us. Don't listen to those Democrats. You can't trust them as you can trust us."

Assuming that there is no wide discontent among us and assuming that the hope of adding a glass of beer to the other blessing enumerated by Mr. Hoover does not sway an unexpectedly large section of the electorate, it becomes obvious that the G. O. P. position is strong. Perhaps the Democrats would have made just as good a record and we would all have had jobs and made just as much money, but where is a really cogent argument for a change? It simply must be produced if Smith is to reduce the odds against him. How to convince us that we will, in some way or other, be better off under the Democracy?

Two issues, after Hoover's speech, continue to stand out importantly: farm relief and prohibition. On these two issues, each party is divided. On neither can either candidate point to an impressive record. Here again enters the offensive and defensive strategy traced respectively on Democrats and Republicans. Both Smith and Hoover can make promises, but Smith is also in a position to attack.

As for prohibition, Hoover promises honest enforcement; Smith promises to try to obtain modification of the law. On agriculture, both promise better times for the farmers, but it is up to Smith to make the more alluring promises. In both cases, however, Smith is able to attack the opposition party on the basis of its record.

Whether Hoover might consent to some mild sort of Volstead Act modification is still not quite clear. "Grave abuses have occurred which must be remedied," he said. Whether he meant abuse in the law's enforcement or abuse of the law through violation may be a point of argument. But the most that any wet can wring from his speech is the possibility that Hoover might not object to a more liberal interpretation of "intoxicating" than is contained in the present half-of-one-per cent limit of alcohol in beverages. There is no nourishment for the wets in the fact that he pointed out that the Constitution might be altered in the constitutional way. A small minority can block that.

One hardly expected to find unusual frankness in such a speech, but Hoover displayed a certain straightforwardness that is not to be found among the Resess, Smoots and Bingham's of his party. He admitted that there had been corruption—"in both parties." He attributed our economic progress in the last eight years to his party more by implication than by inference.

He made no bold claims for credit obviously undeserved. He did not pretend that his party's record on agriculture and prohibition enforcement was anything to whoop about. Nor did he, strangely enough, pile upon the Democrats the blame for the "critical conditions" existing when Harding took office. Yet perhaps not so strangely, as Hoover himself was part of that last Democratic administration.

Avoiding some basic national problems, he nevertheless displayed an acute understanding of those on which he touched, notably as concerned agriculture. Republicans are still cheering the speech and Democrats are hoping at it. The truth probably is that it was as good a Hoover acceptance speech as anyone could have expected. It won't gain many votes, but it won't lose many, either.

MARE TO GO TO CELEBRATION AT COMANCHE

The Old Gray Mare Band with several hundred citizens of Brownwood will go to Comanche August 31st to join in the celebration of Comanche's 70th anniversary, according to plans decided upon by the directors of the Chamber of Commerce at its weekly meeting Monday. This action was taken in response to an invitation from Comanche to the Chamber of Commerce and citizens here to attend the festivities for which Comanche is now making great preparations.

Secretary Burks of the Chamber of Commerce will begin at once at work on the plans for the Comanche trip, and every citizen who can do so is invited to join in with the crowd that will accompany the band to the celebration. Further details of plans will be announced in due time.

COMANCHE, Aug. 21.—Two days of red-hot, smashing, thrilling entertainment, composed of all the stunts, contests and exhibitions that cowboys have ever devised—that's what Comanche plans to offer those who come to help her celebrate her 70th anniversary with her first annual Round-Up on August 31 and Sept. 1.

Square dances, round dances, the thrilling rodeos and races, with some of the foremost rodeo performers in America on the entrance lists; and midnight war dances by a whole tribe of full-blood Comanches—these are only a few of the many thrills that Comanche plans to pack into her two days of fun and celebration.

Seventy years ago the county seat of Comanche county was moved from its first location at old Cora to the present site of Comanche. Now Comanche feels that it's time to celebrate, and when Comanche decides to celebrate something she always does the job up brown.

Hence the extensive and elaborate plans which have been made to make this first annual Round-Up the biggest event of its kind that has ever been held in this section of the country.

Indians Roamed Many years ago the Comanche Indians roamed wild throughout the region now embraced by Comanche county. Then came the fearless and hardy frontiersmen, scores of whom are still living, and after many years of bitter fighting they drove the Indians to the northward. Now Indians and frontiersmen will be united in one big celebration, and the pipe of peace will be smoked where once the camp fires of war burned on the hills.

The old settlers and Indians alike are eagerly looking forward to this event, which will bring them together for probably the last time.

The first appearance of these Indians will be on the night of Aug. 30, when they will bring to a climax a free-for-all square dance which is to be held on the public square. All the dancers in the square dance will be in full cowboy and cowgirl regalia, and will carry real six-shooters. An old time-bar, with the foot rail, and all the trimmings, will be going full blast, and the town will be wide open. Then at midnight the eerie cry of the Indians will be heard, and they will hold full sway with their tribal dances in full ceremonial costume.

On August 31 The following morning, that of August 31, the Round-up will be officially opened with a parade, in which all the old frontiersmen will have places of honor. This will take place at 10 a. m. Then at 2:30 will begin the rodeo, in which performers and riders of national fame will compete for prizes totalling over $2,000.

This rodeo will be featured by chuck-wagon races, boot-and-spur races, calf roping, bucking-horse riding, bulldogging, relay races, Indian dances, wild steer riding, trick riding, trick roping, bulldogging from automobiles, and many other thrilling and novel events.

For those who prefer the modern dance to the old-time square dance, a thoroughly up-to-date round dance will be held on the square the night of August 31. Then on the following morning the rodeo events will be continued, with the final climaxing features taking place in the afternoon. A carnival will offer constant amusement to those who tire of the rodeo throughout the day. Then the two days of celebration will be brought to a smashing close on the night of September 1, when Bill Miller, popular fighter of Fort Worth, meets Johnnie Rivers, a tough battler from Monterey, Mexico, in a ten round boxing match. This fight promises to be fast and full of action, as both contestants are said to be aggressive fighters and hard slugger. This fight will be preceded by several good preliminaries, and will give the fight fans who attend the Round-Up a taste of some real battling.

Comanche is working hard to put over her big show, and as a result of her extensive advertising campaign, applications for entrance are being received from Arizona to Chicago.

The Cemetery working which was to have been held at Jenkin Springs last Monday was postponed to Monday, Aug. 27th. Everyone interested is invited to come and bring their dinner.

Brady Advertising Man to University

BRADY, Aug. 23.—(Sp.)—George Baker, for the past two years advertising manager for the Brady Standard, has resigned his position in order to attend the School of Journalism at the University of Missouri where he will specialize in advertising studies.

Baker, just 26 years old, holds the distinction of being one of the youngest successful advertising managers in Texas. He is also the owner of considerable ranch property in McCulloch and San Saba counties, but he prefers the newspaper game to ranching.

"It costs you less than ever to ride on Goodyears"

Ladies and Gentlemen!

See this Cord Test Before You Buy a Tire Do You Know?---

Come in and we will show you on this cord-testing machine why Goodyears are giving their users extra thousands of trouble-free miles.

See SUPERTWIST, the cord used only in Goodyear tires, tested side by side with ordinary cord and you'll understand why Goodyears actually ARE "The World's Greatest Tire."

That you can now buy brand new Goodyears for as little money as you were asked a short time ago for cheap, inferior, little known tires?

That we will make you a liberal allowance for old tires? In other words, "we will buy your troubles before they happen."

That you have four types of Goodyears from which to select—Double Eagles, Heavy Duty All-Weathers, Standard All-Weathers and Pathfinders?

That for the last 12 years more people have been riding on Goodyears than on any other tires—which proves that long experience with tires has convinced most people that it costs less to ride on Goodyears.

OPEN LETTER TO LEE BY OSCAR CALLAWAY

Comanche, Texas, August 20, 1928. Col. R. Q. Lee, Cisco, Texas.

In your circular, "NAILED," you state that "Following the utter collapse of the Railroad charges brought against R. Q. Lee and after Mr. Lee had literally driven Oscar Callaway off the stump in a joint debate at Abilene." Are all your affidavits and statements as glaringly ridiculous as that statement?

First, defend your claims that you should be elected to Congress, because you are a life-long Democrat. Giles Garner, a life-long Republican, secured for you as a Republican, the Republican appointment under McKinley as postmaster at Caddo, in 1897, which you held under McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft until the Republicans went out in 1913.

Second, defend your claim that you are a successful farmer, when the facts show that you have no practical experience nor knowledge of farming.

Third, defend your claim that you have a vision of improving farm operations as though the farmer didn't have sense enough to operate his business.

Fourth, defend your claim that you are a successful railroad president, when the facts show that you operated the Cisco & Northeastern Railroad with the stockholders' trust and property in your hands from 1920 until 1926.

BAKER GRADS HEAR DR. COOK

Rev. J. S. Cook, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Brownwood, and a former Major in the United States Army, as well as having served as president of two Texas Colleges, delivered the commencement address Saturday night to the summer graduating class of Daniel Baker College, the graduating exercises being held in the Coggin Memorial Hall.

Dr. Cook opened his address by expressing his pleasure in speaking to a class of college graduates, in that it is a pleasure to offer a few words of counsel to any group of young men and women who are on the verge of launching out into a critical world.

Why Than What? Although the speaker did not announce a subject for the evening, his address was centered on "Better to Know Than What."

In closing Dr. Cook outlined four attitudes that one might assume toward religion. "First, you may treat religion as a joke, no one will keep you from it, you are free to think and believe as you please.

GEORGE GARDENHIRE, FRISCO AGENT, DIES IN FORT WORTH HOSPITAL

George Gardenhire, age 51, and for about 10 years Brownwood freight agent for the Frisco railroad, died in the Harris sanitarium in Fort Worth Thursday night at 11:10, his death following a long illness. Mr. Gardenhire suffered a stroke of paralysis last February and was taken to the Fort Worth hospital, February 28, and since that time had been under the constant supervision of attending physicians. His condition had been critical for several weeks and his death did not come as a surprise to relatives who were at his bedside when the end came.

Mr. Gardenhire had formed a large acquaintanceship in Brownwood and many of Brownwood's citizens were listed as his friends. His efficient and courteous work here as freight agent for the Frisco and his genial disposition had won for him a host of warm friends who have assisted in every way possible during his fatal illness and who join with Mrs. Gardenhire and other relatives in mourning his death.

Mr. Gardenhire had been with the Frisco railroad for 26 years. After the war, Mr. Gardenhire came to Brownwood to take charge of the local freight office and he served in this capacity until he became ill last February. He had been freight agent here prior to the World war and had formerly served as freight agent at Denison, Dallas and Comanche.

According to information received by J. H. Forgy, who has served as agent of the local office, since Mr. Gardenhire became ill, funeral services for Mr. Gardenhire were held Saturday afternoon at three o'clock at Rockwall, Texas the home of deceased parents. The services were held in the First Christian Church of Rockwall.

Mr. Gardenhire was a member of the Christian Church and was at one time very active in the work of the church. He was also a member of the Masonic lodge and of the W. O. W.

BRADY, Aug. 23.—(Sp.)—Installation of the new 750-horse power engine for the Brady Municipal Power & Light Plant was begun yesterday.

This engine represents an investment of $45,170, and will increase the capacity of the plant to nearly twice its present capacity. The new machinery was shipped from New York to Brady, requiring five railway cars for its transportation and incurring a freight bill of $3,400.

Public Opinion

To the People of Brownwood and Brown County: I thought maybe you would enjoy reading a few lines from one of the early settlers of Brown county. Yes, I have been a resident of Brown county for more than half a century—longer than most of you people in Brown county have lived.

Mrs. Looney and I are enjoying our summer vacation to the fullest extent. The weather is ideal, golf links in fine shape, plenty of play-cars, no trouble to match a game. I am playing Dr. W. B. Gray and Ben Fain this week, having some very interesting games, too.

We have had several snows up in the mountains this summer. (Now snow storms in summer sounds a little odd, doesn't it?) A good many Brownwood people are here this year, something like twelve or fifteen families being expected to the Legion and Auxiliary convention.

Mrs. Armstrong served two years as president of the Texas Department local reception chairman and her committee will work with that of Mrs. Armstrong in receiving the thousands of women guests expected to the Legion and Auxiliary convention.

There is amusement here to fit everyone, such as polo games, tennis, horse races, airplane races and stunt flying, horse shoe pitching, and the big Pike's Peak auto races come off the 7th of September. They even have bootleggers here, so those who have to have their drinks can get them, but they have to be onto the ropes as the officers are very strict. But I don't have any trouble getting all I want. Most of you know about how much that is!

It seems, from what I get from the papers, that the water project is about over for the present, but I am sure the water committee, engineers and attorneys are doing all they can to settle the matter. Of course we can't afford to give it up.

I notice you have had two elections since I left home, one a primary, one for a mayor to fill out the unexpired term of W. D. McCulley. I am sure the results of the primary election were entirely satisfactory to those who were elected, and I suspect that those who were defeated were very much surprised and disappointed. But such is the case in all elections. And I am sure the city election for mayor was disappointing to about three candidates, and perhaps an agreeable surprise to the one who was elected, for I notice that he received about as many votes as all the rest.

My first choice was Terry, for he served on the council two years while I was mayor, making good in that capacity, and I thought he had more time to devote to the office. Now I am for McInnis. I suspect the people have made a good choice.

I think McInnis has pretty good ideas as to the duties of a mayor, and then, too, he is a progressive young man. It is true he buries the dead people, but that is no evidence that he is going to bury Brownwood, for Brownwood is very much alive. It is true, however, that there are some chronic kickers that ought to be buried. Brownwood would be better off without them. So here goes for McInnis for mayor, and I hope that the people will assist and encourage the administration, for no one knows more than I how much it means to have the people the mayor is serving. So let's boost and not knock.

I notice the city has purchased two 250-horsepower Focs engines for the pump station. It looks like they are planning to pump water with their own power. I heartily endorse the move for there is no power cheaper than power made from gas, especially when gas is so plentiful and cheap.

I guess I have written enough for this time. May write again before we come home. Kindest regards to everybody.

I remain yours for a bigger and better Brownwood and Brown county. J. R. LOONEY, Colorado Springs, Co., August 15, 1928.

BILLIES HAVE TEN GAMES ON '28 SCHEDULE

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR R. F. BLAIR of Daniel Baker College has completed the 1928 grid schedule for the Hill Billies and a casual perusal of the 1928 grid card discloses that Coach Blair has made no effort to arrange any easy games for 1928. The grid calendar includes ten games and according to Coach Blair every one should afford plenty of stiff opposition for the blue and white gridder.

Coaches Blair and Clark will start the season's practice grind in preparation for the ten game schedule. The grid calendar in-cludes ten games and according to Coach Blair every one should afford plenty of stiff opposition for the blue and white gridder.

Four Conference Games

The 1928 schedule includes four T. I. A. A. games, all of which promise to furnish the Hill Billies plenty to think about. These four conference clashes are with the four teams that finished highest in the percentage column of games won and lost last season. The conference schedule opens with McMurry College, T. I. A. A. champions of 1927. This important clash will be played early in the season, October 12th, in Brownwood. The failure of the Hill Billies to down the Indians last season enabled the Indians to win the championship of the association and with the Indians coming to Brownwood this season, local gridders plan to write a different account of the 1928 Billy-Indian clash.

Other T. I. A. A. games are with Abilene Christian College, runners-up in 1927. Sam Houston State Teachers College and Southwest Texas State Teachers College. Two clubs that finished in the 1927 season in a tie for third honors. These games will all be played in Brownwood, with the exception of the annual Turkey Day battle between the Hill Billies and Wildcats of A. C. C. which will be played in Abilene. Coach Blair did not care to meet more than the four T. I. A. A. teams and states that inasmuch as he planned to meet only four, he selected the four that finished highest last season.

In addition to the conference games, Coach Blair has scheduled three Texas Conference games, these being with Simmons, Austin College and St. Edwards University. Local fans need no introduction to these three grid machines, other than to say that dogs at this stage of the game has it that all three teams will be stronger than last season. Simmons game will be played in Abilene, with Austin College and St. Edwards coming to Brownwood for games.

Horned Frogs Again

The 1928 Hill Billy schedule will open, as per custom for several years, with the annual clash with Texas Christian University in Fort Worth. The Hill Billies invade Cowtown this year, September 29th. The Billy-Frog clash will have a bit of added color to it this season, due to the fact that Herman G. Clark, new coach at Daniel Baker, is a former student of T. C. U. and during his career with the Frogs played under Coach Matty Bell, who is still at the helm of Horned Frog athletics. Clark has made no boasts about beating the Frogs, but it is safe to believe that a victory over his former football tutor would set well with the new Hill Billy mentor.

Following the clash with the Frogs the Hill Billies will make the longest jaunt of the year, this being to Shreveport, Louisiana, for a clash with Centenary College, a team that whipped the ears of several Southwest Conference teams last year.

The schedule includes one other worthy foe, this being Texas Tech. The Matadors are progressing rapidly in a football way and many believe that it will be only a matter of time before the Bull Fighters are admitted to the select Southwest Conference. The Matadors come to Brownwood for the annual brother-in-law scrap, November 2nd. The complete 1928 schedule follows:

- September 29—T. C. U. in Fort Worth.
- October 6—Centenary in Shreveport.
- October 13—McMurry in Brownwood.
- October 19—Sam Houston in Brownwood.
- October 27—Simmons in Abilene.
- November 2—Texas Tech in Brownwood.
- November 12—Austin College in Brownwood.
- November 23—San Marcos Teachers in Brownwood.
- November 29—A. C. C. in Abilene.
- December 6—St. Edwards in Brownwood.

Many Tire Buyers Inclined to Get Away From Fundamentals

"Too many motorists who are otherwise shrewd shoppers, are inclined to get away from fundamentals when they buy tires for their cars," said Mr. H. Duncan, Good-year service station operator at 103 W. Broadway street.

"They are not fooled by the alluring promises held out for some articles and have learned that they cannot get something for nothing. The careful shopper knows that he must pay a certain price for quality in any staple product—and service is the most important consideration in his mind.

"It is unfortunate that many motorists do not realize that the tire business is a staple business and that the same principles should apply in the purchase of tires as in other necessities.

"Many persons who will not 'shop around' for clothes, for instance, because they have learned that there are standard brands of national reputation, which will give them long wear, will seek a tire of questionable value because they can get it at a 'good price.'

"Consequently, many are talked into buying something 'just as good' because fancy promises and guarantees are held out to them.

"Our company handles the complete line of Goodyear automobile and truck tires, nationally known and accepted products, and our strongest selling point is that more people ride on Goodyear tires than on any other kind.

"We do not give any fancy guarantees and our prices are the same to all. But we do have a tire, made by Goodyear, in every price range that is the best tire that money can buy. We give complete service to our customers and our interest in them does not cease after they have bought a tire, or a set of tires from us. We are concerned that they get as much mileage as possible and help them to that end by advice and help as to the care of their tires.

"That our policies are right in this respect is evidenced by the large number of customers who have been dealing with us for years—automobile and truck owners who would rather get high quality and good service than buy on price consideration alone."

JACKETS HAVE ELEVEN TILTS ON '28 CARD

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR J. HORACE SHELTON, of the Howard Payne Yellow Jackets, has completed his 1928 football schedule with the exception of one open date, that may or may not be filled. According to the present grid calendar Coach Joe Bailey Cheaney's 1928 grid machine will have 11 clubs to dispose of before the 1928 season comes to a close. And if the open date, October 12, can be filled the Jackets will have an even dozen gridiron foes to contend with. A glance at the Howard Payne grid calendar discloses that Coach Cheaney and Keaton will have plenty to worry about from the first whistle or the season's opener with McMurry College until the curtain drops following the annual Simmons clash here December 7 or 8.

Five Conference Games

Athletic Director Shelton has carded all five Texas Conference teams for the rapidly approaching season and due to the fact that three of the five conference clashes are to be played on foreign soil, much cause for alarm is to be found. However, two of the strongest teams in the Big Six are to be met on Brownwood soil, but those other three clashes are far from easy, Simmons and Southwestern University will come to Brownwood this season. Last year the Jackets lost to both the Cowboys and Pirates and won from the other three Conference members. With the Cowboys and Pirates coming to Brownwood this year there should be a different story but according to the same theory, there is some chance of different stories being told of the clashes with the Saints, Tigers and Kangaroos.

The 1928 season will be inaugurated September 21 in Brownwood, with McMurry's Indians coming to Brownwood. McMurry won the T. I. A. A. title last season and beyond a doubt the Indians presented one of the best defensive clubs in Texas last season. Howard Payne was the only grid foe to score against the Indians last season, the Jackets' lone score being due to the speedy Boyd, who skirted the Indians wing for the lone touchdown of the year made against the Medley-men.

Meet Ponies Again

The week following the McMurry clash will find the Jackets in Dallas for their second clash with the S. M. U. Mustangs. To be sure this game has been scheduled only for a practice tilt, but local gridiron fans will always remember the wonderful stand the Jackets made against the Ponies last season, that of holding the powerful Mustangs scoreless through the first half and part of the third quarter, only to weaken midst a rain storm in the last period to allow the Ponies to gallop away with a top-heavy score.

The Jackets will continue their travels by going to San Marcos for a clash with the Bobcats of Southwest Texas State Teachers College, October 6. And unless the October 12 date can be filled, Coaches Cheaney and Keaton will have two weeks to whip the team into shape for the opening tilt of the Texas Conference, this to be with Austin College in Sherman, October 19. For two years the Jackets have whipped the Kangaroos but the first of these two wins was by a narrow margin as ever a football game was won by. The score was 3 and 0, but that does not account for the Kangaroos last minute rally that carried the ball to within a yard or less of the Jacket goal. The timekeeper's gun ended the game with the Jacket backed up against their own goal line. These Kangaroos are tough customers anywhere but at home, though is a mild adjective to use in describing them.

Next comes a non-conference clash with St. Mary's University in Brownwood, October 26. However this game will be local fans' last chance to see the Jackets in action until November 21, when the Cheaney gridder returns home for a clash with Burleson College. Between the St. Marys and Burleson games the Jackets will visit in succession, the camps of the Tigers in Waxahachie and the Saints in Austin and will meet the Sam Houston Teachers on neutral soil, this clash to be staged in Beaumont.

Pirates and Cowboys

MOM'N POP

WHILE GUS KETCHUM, THE DEMON SLEUTH, WAS POP HIRING AEROPLANES TO RUN DOWN MYNICAL CLUES AS TO THE WHEREABOUTS OF BRUCE DANGERFIELD, PRESTIGE GANGED THROUGH HER NOTORIOUS MILLIONAIRE COUSIN IS SUCH SWEET MUSIC TO MRS SNOOD'S EARS THAT SHE DECIDES TO PROTECT HIS CREDIT AT ANY COST, EVEN TO THE EXTENT OF $ 690

—YES, OUR RECORDS SHOW THAT A $690 CHECK WAS DRAWN ON US BY BRUCE DANGERFIELD, IN FAVOR OF THE BUTZ HOTEL, AND AS MR. DANGERFIELD HAD NO ACCOUNT WITH US, IT WAS RETURNED, BUT AS THE CHECK WAS O.K.D BY POP GUNN I'M SURE—

YES, I UNDERSTAND THAT PART OF IT, MR. DANGERFIELD IS MY COUSIN AND WIDED ME TO ATTEND TO THE MATTER—JUST A LITTLE OVERSIGHT ON HIS PART FILLING IN A CHECK ON THE WRONG BANK—

THEY POOR CHIROPRACTOR. HE NEVER GETS ANYTHING BUT BACK PAY.

AS YOU KNOW, MR. DANGERFIELD IS ONE OF THE WEALTHY OIL MEN AND HAS UNLIMITED CREDIT—HERE IS MY PERSONAL CHECK TO COVER THE AMOUNT—WILL YOU CALL THE BUTZ AND EXPLAIN PLEASE?

I'LL HAVE THEM SEND THE CHECK THROUGH AGAIN—THANKS, MRS. SNOOD

THERE I GUESS THAT'LL SHUT UP POP AND HIS TRICK DETECTIVE, $ 690! WELL, IT'S WORTH IT! IF THAT EVER GOT AROUND THE WHOLE NEIGHBORHOOD WOULD GIVE ME THE MERRY RATTIBERRY, AND JUST WHEN I'M CONSIDERED IN THE MILLIONAIRE SET—

THEY POOR CHIROPRACTOR. HE NEVER GETS ANYTHING BUT BACK PAY.

COTTON PRODUCTS COMMITTEE ASKS AID FROM CHAMBER HERE

A letter from the Cotton Products Extension Committee, with headquarters in Columbia, S. C., and composed of representatives from the nine cotton growing states, was read to the directors of the Chamber of Commerce at their weekly meeting at Southern Hotel Monday, and endorsement of the board was given to the suggestions set forth in the communication, with request that the letter be given publication. The letter was as follows: "To the Chambers of Commerce of the South: "The Cotton Products Extension Committee is an organization of cotton growers formed for the specific purpose of increasing the consumption of cotton products of all kinds. "A survey of the field has disclosed the fact that great inroads have been made into the consumption of cotton by paper game wood in the container field and we are endeavoring at this time to overcome this situation. We are writing to ask the support of your organization in our efforts because we know you must agree with us that the prosperity of the entire South is dependent upon cotton. "We are wondering if your organization will take these steps: "(1)—Have your city and county specify that all cement to be used in public work shall come in cotton sacks. "(2)—Urge all contractors in your city to specify that their cement shall come in cotton sacks. "(3)—Urge all grocers to require that their flour, sugar, grits and salt shall come in cotton sacks. "(4)—Urge your laundries to specify that their shipments of soap, soda, soap chips and starch shall come in Osnaburg bags. "This letter is being addressed to all chambers of commerce in the South and we feel that these organizations can assist us in removing several hundred thousand additional bales of cotton each year from the market by co-operating fully with us in the above requests. May we expect the full support of your organization? "Will you be good enough to write us at once in order that we may know whether your city and county is being looked after?"

MIX MIXES Tom Has Fight at Party Over Jest About Talkies

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Aug. 20.—(AP)—A wise-crack about Tom Mix' future in the talking movies was credited by Will Morrissey, a less-famous film actor as the cause of a fist fight, discussion of which claimed the film colony today.

Morrissey, rated as a comedian, and his wife, Midge Miller, were taken to the Venice police station for first aid and investigation following the affair which occurred Saturday night at the housewarming party given by George Ebban, an actor. Morrissey was said to be badly in need of first aid.

"I told Tom his horse Tony had a great future in the talkies," Morrissey told the officers. "I said the horse could at least snort, but what could Tom do?"

Mix yesterday admitted there had been a fight, caused by Morrissey's abusiveness, but denied he kicked the comedian while, as charged, or struck the comedian's wife.

Dozens of film actors and directors were said to have furnished a ringside audience.

The comedian told police he offered to shake hands with Mix when the party broke up, but that the film cowboy struck him on the jaw instead. "I knocked him down twice and then he slipped from under me," Morrissey said. "I fell backward, and those high heels of Tom's boots thumped my head like a drum."

Mrs. Morrissey declared her husband was knocked down, and that Mix "was kicking him horribly."

"I tried to come to Will's aid, but Mix cracked me in the eye after saying 'Oh, you are a member of the family too.'"

The cowboy said the comedian had been abusive all evening and when the party broke up, followed him to the door and "swung on me a few times."

Mix said he pushed the comedian away, but when Morrissey continued following him, calling insults, he turned and knocked his pursuer down.

"Some woman grabbed me but I just shook her off," said Mix. "I certainly didn't kick anyone and I didn't strike any woman."

HIGHWAY PLANS ARE FURTHERED

After having been recessed since Monday, the Brown County Commissioners Court met again Friday afternoon to discuss various phases of the proposed road bond issue of $1,550,000 for Brown county and to take steps necessary to handle all phases of the project in a legal manner, that would incur the least expense to Brown county.

Bids from companies specializing in the handling of the legal phases of all road bond elections were received and after due consideration the proposition of the J. E. Jarratt Company, of San Antonio, was accepted. This culminating in the issuance of $1,550,000 Brown County Road Bonds proved to be the most satisfactory offer made.

J. E. Jarratt Company proposed to furnish all supplies necessary to holding the election, to furnish lithographed bonds, with interest coupons attached, to secure opinion of the Attorney General of Texas, as well as attending to all other phases of the legal procedure. In addition to this the company made other propositions suitable to the Commissioners Court, and their offer to do all of this for $2,000 seemed a very nominal sum to the Court.

This amount will be paid the J. E. Jarratt Company upon the fulfillment of their agreement and after the proceeds of the sale of said bonds has been received and placed on deposit to the funds of Brown county. The company agrees, that should the election fail, Brown county will not owe them for any work done or expenses incurred.

All members of the Commissioners Court seemed to be well pleased with the road program as has been mapped out by the Young Men's Good Roads Association and it is believed that the project will receive the hearty support of the Court.

CHILDREN'S FATAL DISEASES

Worms and parasites in the intestines of children undermine health and so weaken their vitality that they are unable to resist the diseases so fatal to child life. GREAT SUMMER CAMP OF BOY SCOUTS OF PECAN VALLEY AREA SUCCEEDS

The Boy Scout movement is one of the biggest things in this section of Texas, and Brownwood is fortunate indeed that we have here headquarters for the Pecan Valley Area, which includes a number of counties adjacent to Brownwood. Mr. Jack Brumberg, Scout Executive, is enthusiastic about the work. Recently nearly two hundred scouts camped down on the San Saba River, under the management and direction of Mr. Brumberg, and he has the following to say about the camp, the program carried out, and the conduct of those who were privileged to attend:

"The greatest event in the scouting year for the Boy Scouts of the Pecan Valley Area Council is now a matter of history. That event was the great summer camp held at the Ellis ranch near San Saba. The 199 scouts who attended the camp received their first real taste of the outdoors. Swimming, fishing, hiking, canoeing, camp fires, camp food, quiet restful nights under the trees will long remain a cherished memory with the boys.

"Great tribute must be paid to the 24 men who volunteered their services during all or part of the camp period in assisting the Scout Executive to carry on the camping program. They worked indefatigably early and late in an effort to make the camp interesting to the scouts. Under their supervision the instruction program and scoutcraft examination work was carried on.

"Scouts from Stephensville, Thurber, DeLeon, Comanche, San Saba, Brownwood, Bangs, Goldthwaite, Lampasas, were present. Those from Turber came a total distance of 176 miles in order to enjoy the beauties of the San Saba country.

"More than 500 visitors spent a day in camp. These were parents of scouts who came to see how such a large number of scouts were taken care of successfully. They were loud in their praises of the discipline and order at camp as well as the excellent food served their sons.

"There was no serious illness at camp except for a few boys who were hurt that they ought to eat 30 meals in one, we would have had a perfect record. A few doses of Dr. Castor's old reliable oil set those few boys right in quick order. There were no serious injuries and no serious demands on neighboring Scout Executives from neighboring councils who visited the camp expressed their surprise over the fact that we did not have to use the hospital tent at any time. This is largely due to the careful supervision given the kitchen and dining hall by the Scout Executive and the chef, C. E. Wells. The menu was planned to give the boys a carefully balanced ration with a variety of food that would insure their health. Under the chef's direction the food was well cooked and very appetizing when served.

"As a result of the scouting classes held daily the following scouts were promoted to be second class scouts: Bill Carson, Billie King, J. A. Tibbitts, Donald Salter, Joe McDonald, Raymond Cobb, Arnold Grissette, Ernest Brewer, Jack Salterfield, A. D. Livingston, Henry Frey, Christopher Overby, Mack Cravell, Joe Brown Gordon, Martin Craddock, Woodrow Robinson, Hugh Wolfe, B. G. Lovelace, Wayne Cowan. The following 10 scouts were promoted to be first class scouts: Leroy Harris, W. T. Harris, W. T. Evans, G. W. Asher, J. V. Hammett, Tom Murray, Harry Cauley, Leland Hood, Frank Redwine, Thomas Maddox. A total of 87 merit badges were earned by 32 First Class Scouts, and 10 merit badges were earned by Second Class Scouts.

"Special honors were awarded as follows: Star Scout rank to Bill Watson, Troop 1; Oliver Nolan, Troop 5; Vernon Ellis, Melton Manson, J. T. Wilkes, Troop 7; Sammie Cox, Troop 8; Marvin Briggs, Troop 21.

"The highest rank in Scouting was awarded to Oswald Daugherty of Troop 5, Brownwood, namely the rank of Eagle Scout. This is a highly coveted honor and when earned represents at least two years of hard work on a long list of required badge subjects.

"The results of the summer camp are all tangible. Most of the good effect will be felt throughout the coming months when the scouts respond more readily to the program demands made of them.

"During the next few months the scouts will be very busy and will give the general public in the area an opportunity to see the results of their year's work in scouting. This program calls for a Scout Fair and Field Meet at Brownwood on November 8, 9, 10th ending with an area-wide Court of Honor on the night of November 10th. This exhibit will give the scouts an opportunity to show what they have learned in the handicraft program of scouting. They will be leathercraft, handicraft, plastercraft, whitening, Indian craft, model, insect and butterfly craft, beadwork and a multitude of other things on display at this fair. After the exhibit in Brownwood all the exhibits will be moved to the cities in which we have scout troops and put on display for two days so that every citizen in the entire area will have an opportunity to see the work of the scouts.

"During the latter part of November the Scouts will observe their Annual Roundup week and will put on an intensive recruiting campaign for new scouts. In every town where we have troops that week will close with a big camp-fire celebration to which all adults will be admitted.

"Then will come preparations for the winter camp for older scouts. This will be an unusual event for most of those who will be qualified to attend. It will give the scouts an opportunity to learn camping from an entirely different angle.

"While this program is being carried on for the good of the scouts themselves the Council will be con-

Boy is Attacked by Vicious Dogs

Roy Bell, son of R. S. Bell of Owens, narrowly escaped death on Sunday when he was attacked by two large dogs. Hearing the youth's cries for help, Harry Bagley ran from his home a half mile away and succeeded in rescuing him. The heads of the dogs were sent to the pasture institute at Austin for examination for rabies.

RAINFALL HERE IS BOOSTED SUNDAY BY SHORT SHOWERS

Rain has continued to fall in Brownwood intermittently since Friday night, some falling Saturday night and light showers falling in the city Sunday afternoon, with the total amount of rain since Friday night being 35 of an inch. This together with the 123 inch rain Friday night brings the total for the past week-end to almost two inches, 1.88 inches.

The rainfall in other sections of this district has been spotted since the general rain last Friday night. Blauvelt, Dublin, Goldthwaite and Mulken reported heavy rains for Saturday night and showers have been reported in widely separated places Sunday afternoon.

Indian Creek, about 15 miles south of Brownwood, received a heavy downpour of rain Saturday afternoon, the rain being accompanied by a strong wind that did considerable damage to property. A brick chimney on the Methodist church, was blown down and a chicken house at the Methodist parsonage was destroyed. A large barn on Alex Pluh's place was moved several feet and several strips of galvanized tin were torn off of a new building under construction by Mr. Pluh. A garage on a farm rented by St. Martin was blown down and the roof of his grainery blown off, which permitted the rain to damage several hundred bushels of grain. Telephone wires were blown down, tying up the telephone service over Sunday. The wind covered only a very narrow strip and had all the car marks of a tornado.

Farmers of the county have reported that no more of the crop at present and some have expressed opinions that too much has already fallen for the best interests of the cotton crop. Few weevils have been noticed, but with continued damp weather, it is likely that the weevil damage will rapidly increase.
