

Now is the time for all good people of this community to come to the aid of their school board. Recent changes in the state's educational regulations, as provided by the Gilmer-Alkin laws, are causing serious problems for this district. The trustees are having troubles and they are going to need a lot of community cooperation in order to go ahead and develop a first class educational system.

To present their problems for the full consideration of the community, the trustees have called a special meeting in the parish hall Friday night, July 15. Everyone who is interested in the local school system is urged to be present for that meeting.

In a nutshell, the board's predicament amounts to something like this. Original plans for development of a first class accredited public school are being complicated by the new state school administration's change in making per capita allotments to school districts. According to the old system those payments were made on the basis of the number of school age children in the district. The new system will base payments on the average daily attendance in the school concerned.

In most areas of the state that change will not make a great deal of difference because enrollment and scholastic population are about the same. But here it will have serious effects because the public school will no longer receive allotments for some 400 children attending the parochial school.

That has a tremendous bearing on the board's present improvement plans. It could possibly mean that the Muenster public school will be reduced to a two-teacher school instead of expanded to a 12-teacher school. In that event it would mean also that the community will not have its contemplated courses in shop, home economics and agriculture. It would mean that Muenster will not have an affiliated high school. And that's only the beginning of a series of probable far reaching effects. The announced goal of the new state school administration is to have an affiliated school available to every child in Texas. If this district does not provide such a school it can be annexed to some other district, and its children transferred to another school that meets the new administration's standards.

If and when all that comes to pass Muenster's educational standard will be in a poor fix indeed. No affiliated school, no vocational subjects, no bus system, and a drastically decreased enrollment even in the parochial school. Of course there are people here who would continue sending children to the parochial school regardless of the difficulties. But there are some living several miles out who would hesitate to furnish their own transportation to an unaffiliated school when they have bus service available to an affiliated and well equipped school.

Other factors are also involved. Such as having this district absorbed by some other and losing control of vital matters like tax rates, representation on school boards and selection of teachers. Besides, as everyone is aware, the loss of a school has a tremendous impact on the economic welfare of the community.

In their implications the changes are most drastic to the welfare of this community. What's more we will not get anywhere by just complaining that we are the victims of unfair discrimination. Those changes are in the making because the state school administration believes they will improve educational standards.

The average daily attendance method of computing scholastic allotments, for instance, will be an inducement to keep enrollment as high as possible, whereas the old system permitted the same pay no matter how low the attendance was. The effort to make an affil-

Extended Illness of Ray W. Bezner Ended by Death

Ray W. Bezner, 29, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Bezner of Lindsay, died Monday night at 10 o'clock after fighting a losing battle for life for more than two years. He passed away in Veterans hospital at Dallas where he had been a patient since his condition became critical several weeks ago.

Funeral services were held Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Mary's church in Gainesville with Rev. Thomas C. Moore officiating at the requiem mass and at the burial in the Lindsay cemetery. Geo. J. Carroll and Son Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

Bearers were F. A. Kathman, Joe Walter, Pat Schmitz, Jack Morrison, Frank Aldridge Jr., and Grever Ross.

A rosary service was held Tuesday night at 8:15 in the Carroll Funeral Home chapel.

Ray Bezner was born Nov. 7, 1919, east of Lindsay. He attended the Lindsay school, St. Mary's school at Gainesville and Subiaco Academy, in Ark. He enlisted in the army in September 1940, and trained with the infantry. In 1941 he transferred to the air forces. He was a first lieutenant at the time of his discharge. He served as a P-38 pilot in the Pacific theatre, seeing extensive action in the Guadalcanal sector. For his services he received the Air Medal and three oak leaf clusters.

Mr. Bezner married Miss Oleta Rosson of Myra on Dec. 27, 1943, in Dallas. They moved to Muenster, building a new home here, in 1946 while he was connected with the Muenster Motor company. In 1947 they moved to Gainesville where he engaged in the construction business and later lived in Mississippi. They had made Gainesville their home again since early this year.

Bezner was the last remaining member of a group of nine airmen who served together in the Pacific theatre in the same outfit and engaged in numerous aerial engagements with the enemy. Seven of the group lost their lives in action. The eighth was transferred to the Italian theatre, where he was killed. He was from Saint Jo. Bezner was returned to the United States to assist with war bond sales after he had shot down several Japanese Zero planes.

With reference to his former associates he had remarked to his family that the outfit appeared dogged by hard luck and he wondered what might be in store for him. He fell victim of an incurable disease against which he fought valiantly but futilely.

Survivors are his wife and one son, Ray Jr., his parents; two sisters, Mary Louise Bezner and Mrs. Bomar Woods of Gainesville; six brothers, William of Detroit, Mich., and Hugo, Walter, Herbie, Ralph and Rufus all of Gainesville.

GRASS FIRE EXTINGUISHED

The Muenster fire department made a run shortly before noon Tuesday to extinguish a grass fire in the Clarence Hellman yard. Flames from a trash fire ignited dry grass in the back yard and there was danger of it spreading to nearby buildings.

DECEASED GOVERNOR — Beauford H. Jester, 56, serving his second term as governor of Texas, was found dead in a sleeping berth at Houston Monday morning enroute to Galveston. He was the first chief executive of Texas to die in office.

TO TAKE OATH SATURDAY — Allan Shivers will take the oath of office as governor of Texas at the Shivers' farm home in Austin Saturday at 9:45 a.m. (CST) and will make an eight-minute talk touching on policy matters. The talk will be broadcast over the Texas Quality network and the Lone Star chain. The swearing in ceremony will make Shivers Texas' 36th governor.

Little Fire Fighter Does Snappy Job on Tank Truck Blaze

Muenster's little fire fighter and some half dozen members of the volunteer fire department were on the beam Wednesday night when one of the F. S. Tidwell tank trucks caught fire a mile west of town near the Stanolind pump station.

Within a few minutes they had the blaze under control and saved the truck as well as its full load of crude oil. The principal damage consisted of two burned rear tires.

The driver first noticed his fire as he pulled to a stop before entering the pump station. He caught a ride to town in a passing car and phoned an alarm to Gainesville. Others who heard of the fire turned in the local alarm.

Within a few minutes the little truck was on the job. Some ten minutes later the Gainesville truck arrived and helped snuff out the last embers.

The fire originated on an oil leak oozing from a small break in the tank and spread to the tires. The source of the igniting spark is not known.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hess and son, Richard, joined by her uncle and aunt, the Henry Fuhrmanns and daughter, Laverna of Lindsay, spent the weekend at Subiaco, Ark., where they left Richard to attend a two weeks' summer camp for boys.

Guests of the Ed McKinneys Sunday were her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed H. Winton, her sister and brother, Betty and Ed Winton Jr. of Fort Worth.

News Of Sick And Injured

Mrs. Henry Sicking underwent major surgery Tuesday at M&S hospital in Gainesville and will be a patient there about a week.

Jake Horn had his tonsils removed at Gainesville sanitarium Wednesday and is recovering normally.

Ralph Esker is recovering at his home after being quite ill Monday following heat exhaustion.

Patrick Knabe, 5 year old son of the Norbert Knabes, was a patient at Gainesville sanitarium Saturday for dental surgery.

Anna Lee Mitchell, 11, daughter of the Lynton Mitchells, received medical treatment at Gainesville sanitarium Friday.

Arthur Felderhoff has been absent from his duties at the Muenster Mill most of this week while he is recovering from a back injury sustained during work Saturday.

Mrs. J. B. Cason is convalescing nicely from recent surgery at Denton hospital and was up and around for the first time Saturday. The operation corrected a back injury which occurred several years ago and she will be wearing a brace for some time.

Word reaching relatives here this week indicates that Sgt. Leon Hellman is somewhat improved after being seriously ill. He has been a patient at the base hospital at March Field, Calif. The family lives at Riverside.

The Alex Lutkenhaus family moved from Gainesville during the past weekend to occupy their farm home west of Muenster on route one.

ATOM BOMBER "RETIRES" — The famed B-29 "Enola Gay," from which the first atom bomb was dropped on Hiroshima, is now scheduled to take its place in the Smithsonian Institution. Above, Carl Mitman of the Institution accepts the records of the bomber from Maj.-Gen. R. O'Donnell, right, in ceremonies at the Chicago Air Fair.

School Board Is Ready for Coming Year But Worried About Future Developments

City Council Urges Water Conservation During Emergency

Until further notice residents of Muenster are asked to water their lawns and shrubs only on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays . . . and to use water sparingly at all times. Mayor Hoffman made the request Tuesday after a short, unofficial meeting with the city council.

There are two reasons for the present water shortage, Hoffman said. One is that the No. 2 well on North Main is delivering only a small fraction of its rated volume. The other is that approximately 40 per cent of the water pumped out of wells is lost in leaks before it reaches the consumers.

As a first step toward overcoming its trouble the city will endeavor to locate and repair all the leaks possible. Saturday of this week the city of Dallas will send its special leak detector here to make a survey of the lines. City officials hope that after repairing breaks discovered by the instrument they will have enough water to meet the city's normal needs.

If that plan doesn't work they expect to take immediate steps toward repairing the faulty well. In that case the shortage will be more serious than ever during the repair period. If leaks can be found and stopped the city will postpone well repairs until the cool weather when water consumption declines.

Vote July 27 Will Give Final Okay To School Merger

To complete the recent consolidation of the Muenster and Valley Creek school districts, Muenster will have a special election on Wednesday 27.

In a special meeting Wednesday night members of the school board drew up official notices of the election and decided to hold it on the earliest possible date.

Valley Creek became a part of the Muenster district several weeks ago when the county school board officially annexed it under provisions of a state law which authorizes such action after a district has failed for two consecutive years to maintain a school.

Another provision of the law states, however, that in such cases the entire new district must decide by majority vote whether it favors the new status of tax rate and bonded indebtedness.

Specifically the election will decide whether residents of the new district favor Muenster's tax rate and whether they are willing to accept Valley Creek's bonded debt of $10,600, thereby increasing Muenster's debt to $310,600.

On the first point there is no difference because both districts had a $1 tax rate. On the second point Muenster can gain by accepting the debt because Valley Creek's valuation of $300,000 will provide revenue to pay off the $10,600 in less than 4 years, after which tax revenue can apply to the Muenster debt.

PFC Norbert Mages was recently transferred from Elgin, Fla., to Illinois. His new address is 3535 Tng. Sq., Chanute AFB, Ill.

Weekend guests of the Baumhardts were Roland Baumhardt of Amarillo, Omer Baumhardt of Waco, and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin McCreary and children of Iraan.

As far as the coming school year is concerned the Muenster school board is on schedule with its expansion program. Secretary Herbert Meurer disclosed this week that the teaching staff is almost complete, an operating agreement with the state department of education has been arranged and special changes are now under way to provide adequate facilities until the new school can be occupied.

Construction on the new school is due to begin in the near future. Stanley Brown of Dallas has been engaged as the architect and J. A. Owens, of Dallas, has been engaged as the supervisor to take charge of a locally managed construction. The site, just north of the parochial school on Seventh, has been definitely assured and the transfer of land title is due for completion within the next few days.

Plans for the new building specify thirteen class rooms, nine for high school and four for the elementary grades, besides a gymnasium, auditorium, home economics room and combined shop and vocational agriculture room.

Latest additions to the teaching staff are Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Hood. He is a coach and physical education instructor and she teaches in the elementary grades. Others already engaged are Superintendent Leo Neyer, Principal, C. W. Cowan, Ralph Maglaughlin, Mrs. Jess Mitchell, Mrs. Effie Hembree, Miss Elfreda Luke and Miss Gladys Wilde. To complete the staff according to present plans the board needs two more teachers, one for home economics and one for the elementary grades.

The board announced that the vocational agriculture and shop instructor has a full year job including technical help to farmers as well as class work. The coach will proceed immediately to arrange for the school's eligibility in inter-scholastic league activity.

This year's plans have been made possible, the board explains, through a special arrangement with the state department of education which permits the district to continue for one more year on the old system of per capita allotments, which is based on the scholastic census of the district.

Next year, however, the school's per capita pay will be based on the average daily attendance for this school year. If a sufficient enrollment can be developed this year the school's future is bright. Otherwise serious troubles are ahead.

In connection with this problem the school board has called a special community meeting Friday night of this week. Its purpose is to give a detailed explanation of the state's regulations and requirements and ask the community to preserve and improve its own educational standard by transferring the parochial high school to the jurisdiction of the public school. Unless that is done, they point out, the public school hasn't a chance to survive and the set of circumstances following its fall will have drastic effects on the parochial school also.

The L. W. Flusches and daughters of Decatur visited relatives here and at Lindsay Sunday.

New Broadway Hit Plays Next Week at Starlight Operetta

The Starlight Operetta will offer its patrons a special treat during the week of July 18, when the State Fair Casino, Dallas, will house the first off-broadway production of a sparkling musical comedy of backstage life, "Look, Ma, I'm Dancin'!" "Look, Ma," promises to provide sheer joy in its every minute. It is an enormously funny tale of a desperate ballet company — their fevers and follies, their triumphs and defeats, their ecstasies and their despairs — as they careen across country on a one-night stand tour that carries them through Texas and many other places.

Four-year-old Ursula Gramarozk, one of the millions of refugee children in Germany, has no home of her own. But she does have some food every day. She gets it at the Grubweg church home, which is supplied from contributions which were made by American farmers in this and 25 other states to the Christian Rural Overseas program (CROP). In the year ending June 1, a total of 75,668,581 pounds of farm commodities had been contributed for distribution in 22 of the 43 nations served by CROP's sponsoring agencies: Catholic Rural Life, Church World Service (22 Protestant denominations), and Lutheran World Relief. Gifts in kind included 28,975,504 pounds of wheat for 38% of the total, 22,061,357 pounds of corn for 28%, and 13,185,661 pounds of beans for 17%. Meanwhile, plans are well advanced for extending the CROP drive nation-wide this year. Already, organizations have been set up in 20 states, and 11 others are in the process of organization for harvest season campaigns.

HOLLYWOOD.— When they need a car washed in the movies they call for Milton Waldeck, the buttermilk man.

Waldeck washes down automobiles in gallons of fresh pure buttermilk. It's not to make them shiny and new-looking; quite the opposite.

When a car rolls in front of a movie camera, with brilliant arc lights grouped around it, it shines like the pants of an old serge suit. Further, all the lights are reflected in its polish in a disillusioning way. It's Waldeck's job to unshine it.

Windy fixed it all right. He "stopped the show" for us, and Buzz Ellis had to come over and do a $20 repair job. I understand

Washington Newsletter

By Congressman Ed Gossett

Washington, D. C., July 9.—The House this week passed Senate Bill 1008, of which Senator O'Mahoney, of Wyoming, was the author. The purpose of the bill was to legalize the so-called basing point system and the absorption of freight rates in the delivered price of commodities. Last year, in the Cement Case Justice Black of the Supreme Court apparently declared that the absorption of freight rates by an industry in order to have the same delivery price was a violation of the Anti-Trust laws of the country. There is no question but what the cement industry has long been a gigantic trust and monopoly. It has been common practice for all cement companies bidding on cement for a given job to bid exactly the same price regardless of the distance from the point of delivery or regardless of the quality of cement. Since this decision, the manufacturing industries of the country have been jittery and uncertain as to their practice of absorbing freight rates. Many towns in this country are built around single industries. Many of these industries make commodities that sell for exactly the same price all over the United States, or within certain areas of the United States. If having a one price system through absorbing freight rates is to be unlawful, it would result in scattering these industries all over the country. To outlaw freight rate absorption would in effect restrict industrial customers to those within the factory area. It is said that to outlaw rate absorption, or the delivered price system now practiced by all major industries of the country would destroy mass production, and would make ghost towns out of hundreds of communities built around single industries, and would throw thousands if not millions of people out of work.

Therefore, Congress has felt it necessary to clarify the law on the question of delivered prices and freight rate absorption. S. 1008 declares that mere absorption of freight rates is not in itself a violation of the law. It is a violation of the law if it is done in conspiracy or collusion with other industries to restrain trade or unjustly eliminate competition.

Some contend that it would have been a good thing to have outlawed the so-called basing point system, the delivered price system, or the ab-

The American Way ON THE UP AND UP

By Maurice R. Franks

Too many people are prone to handle the matter of industrial relations from a negative point of view and are continually on the hunt for ways and means of blocking labor and its representatives in their progress toward honorable goals.

Such an approach to a truly vital problem succeeds only in creating needless friction up and down the entire line. Surely it does nothing to bring the sorption of freight rates system of the country. Some feel that it would have been a good thing to break up the big industries and to have scattered them all over the Nation. All agree, however, that this would have been a serious operation at this particular time. It certainly would have increased prices to consumers farthest from the factory sites of goods produced. Again, many feel that the breaking up of big industries would have resulted in the making of inferior goods at higher prices.

Certainly this country needs some good trust-busting. I have long condemned such monopolies as the Farm Machinery Trust. However, we do not want to burn the barn down simply to get rid of the rats. We do not want to destroy good business while trying to destroy bad business. We all know that full employment and full production is essential to national prosperity and national security.

There is much discussion in Washington these days concerning the plight of Great Britain. Notwithstanding the many billions of dollars that we have loaned and given to England since the war, she is now on the verge of national bankruptcy and living conditions there have grown worse rather than better. It seems to me that Britain's plight has been greatly aggravated, if not primarily caused, by two things—featherbedding and Nationalization. By featherbedding we mean the failure of people to work and produce to full capacity. Featherbedding is where one man only produces half of what he could or should produce. Of course, the term featherbedding could also be applied to many industrial abuses. Nationalization is a better understood term. The taking over of the banks, and the coal mines, and the railroads by the British government was a colossal blunder. Americans could learn much from a study of the British debacle.

Parrotting the Commie Line

essential partners of industry together in a smoothly working team.

This entire attitude needs correction. For whether we like it or not, the unions are here to stay and it's up to management to get along with them in a positive, not a negative, sense.

To hear some employers talk, a person is led to believe that all unionism is a big-time racket and that all labor leaders are either racketeers or radicals—minutemen, if you please, of a coming revolution. Well, such an idea is plain screwy. The labor movement as a whole is anything but an instrument created for the express purpose of overthrowing our form of government; it is in fact a direct expression of representative Americanism. This much I can assert with positive conviction after having personally spent more than a quarter of a century in the labor movement in various official capacities—i.e., as committeeman, delegate, business agent, organizer and editor.

In my day, it is true I have met both Communists and racketeers in the labor movement. But in my experience these were the rare exception rather than the rule. Nor has the situation grown progressively worse. Today as formerly better than 95 per cent of the rank and file are good, honorable Americans willing to do the honorable thing when they know it to be the honorable thing to do. This percentage applies to their leadership as well.

Of course, it is not always an easy matter to plot an honorable course of action in a dishonorable situation. This is mainly because the situation is frequently darkened by certain employers whose attitude toward the unions and their leaders is one of intolerance and open antagonism. Unfortunately we still have employers who, in their own words, "would rather slug it out." Moreover, too many businessmen conduct their affairs behind a smoke screen, ignorantly seeking some advantage in an effort to mystify and deceive. Yes, too many business leaders allow neither the workers nor their representatives any means of finding out the actual state of affairs in a situation that closely affects them. Hence, it is no wonder that the union leaders as a group are forever ready to go at the employer hammer and tongs and make demands upon him which are in fact unreasonable.

When we stop to analyze the situation, we soon discover that in no few cases the employer is more to blame than the union for a sudden flare-up. This is simply because there are today employers who refuse to operate their business on the up and up—who refuse to lay their cards on the table and treat their workers as the partners they so truly are.

Needed on the part of management throughout American industry is a spirit of straightforwardness in reporting its trials and tribulations in simple terms to the worker. At present there is too much hocus-focus, too little willingness to confide in the worker. This leaves the worker in the dark and creates in his mind the thought that management does not trust him. Why, then, should we be surprised that, when trouble starts, the workers do not trust management?

This situation must be eliminated. Immediate remedy lies in a more general acceptance of the fact that the workers and their employers are anything but natural enemies—that in truth they are partners in a common cause: production. That mutual advantage lies in joining forces wholeheartedly to produce the most of the best for the least. And that this can never be accomplished in a climate of name-calling, back-biting, mystification and all-around disharmony.

Calling labor leaders racketeers and radicals just because of the demands they make upon the employer for the benefit of their constituents must cease. Labor leaders, if they are worth their salt, will always strive to better the condition of their members—and to exactly the same degree that any decent management will forever strive to advance the interest of its stockholders. So let's not kid ourselves about the nature of the labor management relationship. And let's get wise to the fact that the workers of his nation, irrespective of their calling, are anything but a pack of lame-brain nincompoops unable to see through a situation when the facts are laid before them.

Since the American worker is an adult human being, with just about as much gray matter at his disposal as the men who pose as his betters, it will be wise for management to appreciate that legitimate business requires no hocus-focus, no sleight of hand, to put itself across. If the employer expects to get along with his workers, he will have to operate his business right out in the open—so that his workers will come to accept him as one who is ON THE UP AND UP.

This beautiful, modernistic bridge is one of four in the first two-mile section of Dallas' Central Expressway which will be officially opened late in July. When the giant boulevard, long a dream of this growing Southwest Metropolitan center, is completed, 10 overcrossings and 10 underpasses will carry motorists over and under crowded street and rail intersections. A second mile and one-quarter section is scheduled to be opened to traffic in late fall.

Structural steel for three of the four bridges in the two-mile stretch, including the Washington Street bridge above, was supplied by U. S. Steel's Virginia Bridge Company.

The new expressway, a major step in solving the traffic congestion of the flourishing Greater Dallas area, will be one of the finest in America. It will be 11.9 miles long, extending from the Trinity River in the outskirts of southeast Dallas, through the heart of the city, and north to a point just beyond North-west Highway. The boulevard will have three 12-foot traffic lanes in each direction, emergency parking strips and paralleling service roads on the outside. T. E. Huffman, engineer-manager for Central Expressway, expects that it will carry thirty to forty thousand cars after completion.

Miss Genie Herr left Monday to return to Dallas after a three weeks' vacation visit with her parents, the John Herrs. She is a student nurse at St. Paul's hospital.

FRUIT JAR NOW LEGAL AS TRAP FOR MINNOWS

AUSTIN.—It's okay now to use a fruit jar minnow trap for bait.

A bill legalizing this method of catching bait was signed Tuesday by Acting Gov. Allan Shivers. The fruit jar traps are fixed with funnel mouths—the minnows get in but can't find a way out.

Up to now, it hasn't been legal to use them in Texas.

4-H Safety Workers in All-Out Attempt to Reduce Accidents on Farms in 1949

MR. FARMER, has the 4-H Club member in your family checked your farm and home for accident and fire hazards lately? If not, you can expect him to do so any day now. 4-H'ers are making an all-out attempt to reduce the annual cost of accidents affecting farm folks—including motor vehicle, fire and property damage—which totals more than one billion dollars, or about $35.00 per person! They are also trying to cut down the number of accidental deaths, which kill 51 farm residents in the U. S. every day in the year.

Your 4-H'er doubtless will caution you to drive carefully on highways, and use proper signals when turning or stopping (top right). More than 7,300 rural people are killed annually in motor vehicle accidents. In fact, more fatal automobile accidents occur in rural areas than in any other location.

Falls rank second in farm accident causes. So watch your step when carrying a clothes basket, like the girl shown in right photo. Your 4-H safety worker probably will suggest you tack down throwing rugs or put them on non-slip matting, and keep stairways uncluttered. Are your lightning rods properly grounded? The 4-H'ers shown at top left found the ground wires broken, and therefore worthless. Lightning, which is one of the greatest causes of farm fires, each year destroys 20 million dollars worth of farm property, kills 500 farm residents and injures 1,300 others.

National Farm Safety Week will be observed July 24-30. Rural boys and girls taking part in the National 4-H Farm Safety program want to make you, your family and neighbors safety minded so that accidents mentioned above won't happen.

For achievements in safety work, the 4-H boy or girl may receive a prized sterling silver medal of honor as county winner. General Motors also provides an educational trip to the National 4-H Club Congress, Chicago, next November, for the state winner, and $300.00 college scholarships for each of the eight national champions. By practicing safety from this time on, you'll not only help your 4-H'er in his safety work, but help save a life—which may be your own.

The National 4-H Farm Safety program is conducted under the direction of the Cooperative Extension Service.

VFW Auxiliary Makes Plans For Picnic And Drive For New Members

Plans for a picnic and a membership drive furnished the principal discussion at Monday night's meeting of the Ladies VFW Auxiliary.

The group set Tuesday, July 26, as the date for the picnic and 7:30 p.m. as the time. The outdoor living room at the J. B. Wilde home is the place. Each member is permitted to bring one guest. Gladys Wilde is general chairman.

For the membership drive members are divided alphabetically into two sides. A through Owens and Pagel through Z. The drive will be in progress until October. The losing team will entertain the winners.

Other business at the meeting consisted of reports from committees, approval of contributions to the new church building fund and to veterans hospital in McKinney, and the balloting for membership of Billie Huchton and Joyce Tempel. Geneva Pagel was appointed honor roll chairman.

After the business session, Geneva Pagel and Alta Swirczynski, hostesses, served home made ice cream and cold drinks to 19 members.

Hostesses for the August meeting are LaVeta Schmitz and Alma Stoffels.

WASHINGTON.—Despite prospects of a Federal deficit next fiscal year, and the fact that the administrative costs of the Economic Cooperation Administration are expected to rise 50%, Federal officials intend to spend $500,000 bringing officials of Marshall Plan countries to the United States to learn how to improve fiscal policies.

TRIAL BY FIRE—A newly-developed gas tank for aircraft gets a blowtorch test by an aviation mechanic at Floyd Bennett Field in New York. Capable of withstanding direct flame and intense heat up to 2000 degrees Fahrenheit, the specially coated tank failed to burn after being exposed to the blowtorch flame for 28 minutes. A conventional gas tank bursts into flames after less than two minutes.

Newest Emily Post Book Gives Rules On "Motor Manners"

Emily Post, the last word on correct manners now has written a Motor Manners: The Bluebooklet on Traffic Etiquette.

As one of the nation's first woman drivers, Mrs. Post has long been an expert motorist. Now she's set down the rules of good manners in driving:

1. A well-mannered driver will share the road, never usurping the right-of-way from other vehicles or pedestrians.
2. A well-behaved driver uses his horn as a warning device in emergencies, and never as a bad-tempered voice to threaten or scold.
3. An honorable man or woman would no more cheat traffic regulations than cheat at games or in sports.
4. Courteous pedestrians will cross busy streets at intersections, respect traffic lights and avoid darting out from behind parked vehicles.
5. An obliging driver will never fail to dim his lights when meeting other cars in the dark.
6. Well-bred people, whether drivers or passengers are just as considerate of each other as are hosts and guests in a drawing room.
7. An accommodating driver parks his car so as not to interfere with the use of other parking spaces or the movement of other vehicles.
8. Orderly drivers always keep to the right, except when using the proper lane for turning or passing.
9. A courteous driver never fails to signal his intentions to stop, turn or pull out.

10. Considerate persons always drive at speeds which are reasonable and prudent, considering traffic, road and weather conditions.

11. One who has consideration for the safety of others will refrain from driving when physically exhausted.

12. Kindly persons never show curiosity at the scene of an accident and always give any assistance that may be possible.

Hens in the laying flock that show a shrunken, dried-up comb, yellow beak, new feathers, yellow shanks and yellow vents should be culled and sold. A continuous culling job will pay any poultryman good dividends.

Scientists Find Way to Make Extra Small Particles

Scientists working on the new Humble Esso Extra Motor Oil discovered that the addition of a special dispersive made it possible to break up the soot, sludge, varnish and dirt that the new product cleans from automobile engines, into particles as small as 38/1,000,000 of an inch in size. This, they say, is many times smaller than the smallest clearance in an automobile engine, so that the materials cleaned out of the engine by the new Esso Extra Motor Oil cannot damage moving parts. Humble station salesmen are urging customers to drain dirty, diluted oil and refill with new Esso Extra Motor Oil for extra protection. Adv.

He still must report to hospital every three days.

Cull The Loafers And Boost Poultry Profit, Says Expert

COLLEGE STATION. — It is a direct loss to the poultry producer to feed non-layers during the summer months, says W. J. Moore, associate extension poultry husbandman of Texas A&M College, and it's also one of the reasons poultry producers are not doing a better job of maintaining high egg production during the summer months.

He advises poultrymen to sell the non-producers just as soon as they are noticed. Chances are they'll not come back into production until late fall or early winter, and during this time, feeding them is a dead loss.

Hens that show a shrunk, dried-up comb, yellow beak, new feathers, yellow shanks and yellow vents should be culled and sold. Hens that lack vigor and spend their time loafing should also be removed from the flock. A good producer has to eat good feed and drink lots of clean cool water and they can't do this unless they rustle. Of course, the poultryman must do his part by supplying this feed and water, adds Moore.

The poultry producer who does a good job of culling continuously will be well paid, and at the same time he'll be following one of the important practices of efficient poultry farm management, concludes, Moore.

If You Sweat Eat More Salt, Advises Health Department

AUSTIN — A deficiency of salt in the human system can cause serious consequences and for this reason Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer advises every person whose work is such that it causes excessive perspiration to add a pinch of ordinary table salt to each drink of water taken during the day.

Farmers, mechanics, carpenters, construction men and all others whose work causes them to sweat profusely are in danger of having their body salt content seriously depleted, and as a result may suffer from heat cramps or heat fag. Salt is a prominent constituent of sweat, and when the thermometer hits the high register, the human body may lose as much as 40 to 50 grams of salt during a single day.

SAN FRANCISCO — Longshore chief Harry Bridges, left, is pictured with his two union aides J. R. Robertson, center, and Henry Schmidt, outside the courtroom of Federal Judge Michael J. Roche. and urged to take a tablet of pure salt or a mixture of salt and dextrose with each drink of water. Many find this a pleasant way of taking extra salt, but others prefer to add the needed amount of extra salt to their food and drink.

"Take your extra salt in any manner that is agreeable to you," says Dr. Cox. "but take it. Heat cramps are very painful and exhausting. They are characterized by cramps in the abdominal region, headache, and in severe cases there may be nausea and vomiting. Body salt losses occur without the knowledge of the individual until a deficiency exists; then the abdominal muscles begin to cramp."

According to the State Health Officer, it is a wise precaution to keep the body supplied with salt, and thus avoid much possible suffering and loss of time from heat cramps.

Nuptial on July 5 Unites Rose Gieb And Sherman Man

Miss Rose Gieb became the bride of C. B. Fallon on Tuesday, July 5, in Saint Mary's church at Sherman. Rev. Edward McCullough performed the ceremony and officiated at the nuptial mass at 8 a.m.

The bride, formerly of Lindsay, is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gieb and Mr. Fallon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fallon of Sherman.

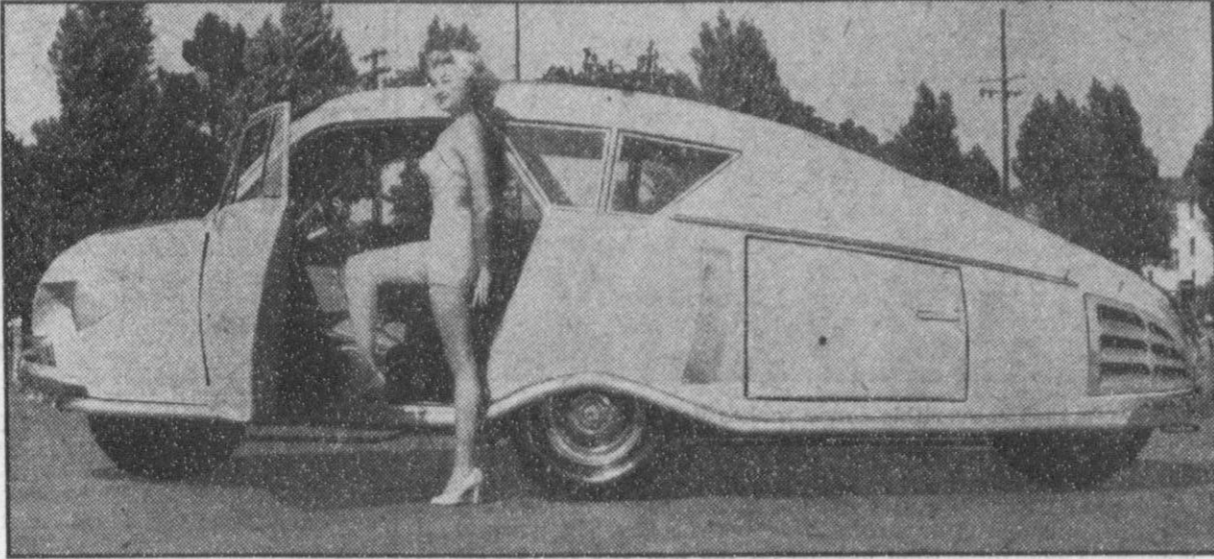

The bride wore a suit of turquoise silk shantung with white accessories and a corsage of white stephanotis. Mrs. Bonnie Jackson of Whitesboro was matron of honor wearing a pink dress with navy accessories and a pink carnation corsage. Mr. Jackson was best man.

A wedding breakfast honored the couple after the church services. Held in the Colonial room of the Grayson hotel, relatives and friends were guests.

For a wedding trip to Saint Louis, Mo., Mrs. Fallon wore a summer grey suit with navy accessories. The couple will make their home in Sherman.

Mrs. Fallon is a graduate of Lindsay High school and has been employed at St. Vincent's hospital in Sherman for several years.

Out of town guests at the wedding included the Joe Trubensachs and Gene Giebs of Muenster, the Walter Nortmans and Bernard Giebs of Lindsay, Betty Jean Heitzman of Gainesville, the B. F. Tubbs of Oklahoma City, the Jack and Joe Connellys of Dallas.

Above, model Sherry Stevens steps into the teardrop-shaped vehicle, which has four independently sprung wheels set in a diamond shape. ### Wilde Garage Can Furnish GM Films, Program Materials

J. B. Wilde, Chevrolet dealer here for the past 23 years was advised this week by General Motors that he has been appointed to serve for the coming year as GM Community Relations Chairman for Muenster and vicinity.

The chairmanship is a community service under auspices of GM's public relations department, which makes available to the public a variety of interesting and educational materials in the form of motion pictures and booklets.

iated school available to every child likewise has obvious merits. So, even though the adopted methods will place a terrific hardship on us, we haven't a ghost of a chance to have them altered in our favor.

What to do about it? The only answer is that we will have to adjust our methods to harmonize more closely with those of the state department.

The meeting Friday night is called for the purpose of considering such adjustments. The school board has a plan by means of which it can continue its improvement program and develop a first class accredited system for Muenster. But it is helpless without the cooperation of the community.

Parents of the district, especially those who have children attending the parochial school, should bear that in mind and make it a point to be present. The problems they will consider and the decisions they will make are by far the most important in the history of the local school system.

We've come to the fork of the road. Two ways are open to us, and we have to decide now whether we will have an inadequate, second rate school system or a fully affiliated first class system.
