vails at first eventually proves to be only a period for the police to work up its black list. People who express unfavorable opinions or continue their religion or fail to get on the red band wagon, along with people of wealth or education, are listed as suspects. And suddenly a big purge comes. In Father Sullivan's town of 30,000, the first roundup caught 200. The captives are executed or sent away to forced labor. In other frequent round-ups the police get a few at a time and keep the public in constant fear. They indoctrinate the youth with their poison, encourage them to denounce their own parents.

They herd people to public trials by the thousands and party members in the crowd become yell leaders. Thus directed the mob shouts its insults and accusations and demands the captive's death. Father Sullivan was forced to kneel through more than three hours of such a trial, followed by another hour during which police tried to coerce confessions to all the charges. Finally the judge took from his pocket a sentence, prepared in advance, which ordered his deportation to America.

In Father Sullivan's opinion the situation in China is hopeless. He does not believe that an organized underground can exist under the strict police supervision nor that Chiang Kai-shek has a chance to regain control of the country. He believes that only a major war can liberate China.

He praised this country for its effort to stop communism in Korea. He said that the best means of resisting the red menace here is to know what it is and to increase our own devotion to the principles of Christianity and Americanism.

Mrs. Dick Cain and Chris Michael spent a few days of the week in Bowie visiting her sister, Mrs. T. C. Rhone and family, in whose home their mother, Mrs. J. S. Hogan of Burlson was also visiting. Mrs. Hogan accompanied Mrs. Cain home and visited here before returning to her home broke into the open for a TD. A pass added an extra point.

Another score came almost as fast. Callisburg kicked after failing to gain on its first series. Henscheid returned the kick 33 yards to the Wildcat 22. Herr gained 12 and a pass Endres to Felderhoff made the score 19-6.

Garner's interception and 55 yard sprint to the Tiger 15 set up Callisburg's second score in the opening minutes of the second half. Garner went over on the sixth play.

An exchange of kicks was the only interruption in the Tigers next march of 80 yards to the goal. Gilbert Knabe crossed the line on the third play of the final period.

Then came another quickie score. On the first scrimmage play after kickoff Gilbert Knabe snared a Wildcat pass and raced 40 yards to the goal and the final count of 31-13.

The rest of the game was a deadlock with both teams gaining but not sustaining the drive.

Hornets Win - - -

kicked out of bounds on the Valley View 14. The Warriors too failed to gain on the series of downs and Richey made a fine return of Lucy's kick to the visitors' 18.

Nogglger picked up 2 and Hamric's pass to Ayles added 9. Four more plays reached pay dirt, Richey going over on the first play of the second quarter.

The rest of the half started with an exchange of kicks followed by a Warrior drive for 29 yards ending with a fumble on the Hornet 30. It was the first time of the game that they had invaded the Hornet end of the field. Muenster kicked on its second series of downs just as the half ended.

Going into the last half Valley View kicked on the second series and Muenster fumbled on its second series. That was in mid-field and a penalty advanced the Warriors to the 35. McDonald picked up 3 and Batchelor got loose for a 32 yard dash to the line for the only Warrior TD.

For the balance of that quarter and into the next Muenster fizzled after short gains and Valley View just fizzled as each team had the ball twice. Then Hamric faked a handoff and sneaked through the line for a 38 yard gain to the Warrior 12. Again the Warrior line braced but on the fourth play Richey made a beautiful catch of Hamric's pass and crossed the line.

The Warriors' next drive was cut short by Nogglger's interception and 28 yard run back to the Warrior 37. After that both teams held to the end.

A seasick couple lay stretched out in deck chairs — somewhere between life and death. Meanwhile, their young son became more rowdy by the minute. Finally the mother mustered voice enough to say:

"John, I wish you would speak to Willie."

The father, unable to lift his head, turned it and said feebly: "Hello, Willie."

Don't punch a man on the nose when he calls you a fool. Quietly take an inventory—he may be right.

Boy Scouts - - -

"Mary Help Our Scouts" and recited the Scout Oath.

David Walter and Dan Hamric presided at the candle lighting ceremony.

After a short address by Rev. Louis Deuster, Boy Scout Chaplain, the scouts entered the sanctuary, standing in V-formation, the boys on the right and their mothers on the left. Father Louis presented the awards to the Eagle Scouts. The mother pinned the Eagle Badge on her son while he in turn presented his mother with a miniature badge and a red rose corsage.

In his address Father Louis praised the Scout movement and encouraged those participating to continue the program. He also read a note of congratulations from the chief scout executive of the national council of New York City, conveying felicitations at the achievement of the Eagle award.

The altar was beautifully adorned carrying out a red, white and blue theme with red vigil lights at each side, arrangements of white glads and tall white tapers, and blue vigil lights forming a cross in the center.

Pot-Luck Supper

Following the ceremonies a potluck supper was served in the lunchroom. Claude Rayburn, Circle 10 field representative, was a special guest and the principal speaker.

During the social hour Randolph Bayer was presented with a $25 bond by Scoutmaster and Mrs. Miller for being the first scout of the troop to qualify for the Eagle award.

Both boys began scouting in December 1946, under Mr. Nick Miller who took over as Scoutmaster in August of the same year. In May of last year both boys received Life Scout award. Since then, they have completed merits in leadership, life-saving, pioneering, pathfinding, and civics and citizenship for the Eagle Scout Award.

Randolph completed tests to qualify for 23 merit badges. He attended Valley Forge Camp in 1950, and Philmont Camp in New Mexico in 1951. He is Junior Assistant Scoutmaster and plans to continue in scouting. He completed his Eagle requirements in August.

Larry has completed 24 merits. He also attended Philmont Camp in 1951. His favorite hobby, radio, resulted from his scout work in code. Since he won his radio merit badge he has continued with radio and holds an amateur license, WN5WPQ. He qualified for the Eagle award this month.

ALVIN FUHRMAN TELLS OF VISIT IN SWITZERLAND

A leave in Switzerland, after a week's maneuvers in Mainz, Germany, provided a pleasant vacation for Pfc. Alvin Fuhrman recently. In a letter dated Oct. 5 he tells his family, the H. J. Fuhrmans, about the time he spent there.

Highlights of the visit included a trip to the top of the Alps where he walked in the clouds and made a snow man. Getting to the top required almost every means of transportation in addition to foot power. He went by train, lake steamer, cog wheel railroad, cable car and two cable contraptions, one merely a seat on cables that reached the 8,000 foot top. Here he met a Texas cotton farmer and his wife from Goliad who were on a European tour and spent the day in their company.

In Lucerne he attended St. Matthew's church, almost 800 years old.

He mentioned the standard of living being as high as in the U.S.

New Chevrolet cars with automatic transmission were selling for 15,840 Swiss Franks, or about $4,000. Swiss soldiers were on annual maneuvers. They use American jeeps. German is spoken more than any other language, he added.

Thirty guests were present.

LOOKING AHEAD

BY GEORGE S. BENSON
 President—Harding College
 Searcy, Arkansas

THE NON-POLITICAL PROMISE

The people among us today who were born in 1850 or before could almost be counted on the fingers of our two hands. Although Arkansas holds the record for the longevity of its people, I know of only two or three people now living who are 102 years old. Yet if we could all vividly see life in America as it was lived in 1850 we could better understand the amazing progress that has occurred and what brought it about. It would be good for all of us to have this better understanding.

Let's use as an example the glass bottle. It was not a necessity of life in 1850, but it was beginning to be a useful article in demand. How was it made in 1850? A man holding a long pipe to his lips, blew and twisted and twirled a glob of molten glass into a bottle. The glass blower was a skilled artisan. With the assistance of a helper he could turn out bottles at the rate of 50 per man per hour. Today one machine in a bottle manufacturing plant, tended by one man, turns out 4,000 bottles an hour.

Primitive Production

In 1850 grain was ground by a miller with a grinding stone; most of the nation's metal work was done in blacksmith shops; land was plowed by the horse and man; transportation of people and goods was largely accomplished in Conestoga wagons. There were a few "factory" centers and the machine had begun to show its prowess in the production and processing of goods. But in 1850 the horse and oxen still provided 50 per cent of the power energy in the realm of production; man power contributing 20 per cent and machine power 30. And the living standard of most of the population was primitive, to say the least. We had none of today's niceties of life.

The machine, however, was coming into its own. Industries were formed to put it to work. From 1850 to 1900 industrial production swiftly expanded. In the 50-year period the amount of goods one man could turn out with the help of improved machinery doubled. And here's the important fact: With this increasing industrial production, and steady improvement in production per man hour, the living standard for the whole nation kept pace. It improved an average of two per cent per year from 1850 to 1900.

Industrial Progress

From 1900 to 1950 mass production techniques were developed by such men as Ford, Firestone, Swift and Sloan to augment the growing might of the machine. In this 50-year period the amount of goods one man could turn out tripled. The average improvement in the living standard was three per cent per year. We call this improvement "technological progress." It means that the genius of American producers, the mastery of the machine, the large sums of money put to work as industrial capital, the skill of American workers, and the constantly improving mass production techniques have combined to bring about the production of three per cent more wealth per man day each year than was produced the year before.

The sparkplug of our progress during the 1850-1950 century was incentive—incentive to profit. Everyone wants to improve his lot. That's natural. That's the reason a machinist in a factory pinches pennies and saves enough to open his own small shop and expand his earnings. As he expands his earnings through more production all of us benefit indirectly. For he has created some new, additional wealth.

On the Threshold

American people stand on the threshold of an amazing new era of production and prosperity. Atomic energy is here. It and the other great new developments that have come from our industrial progress give mankind the greatest promise of plenty, the surest hope of security. In the next 25 years we certainly should improve productivity enough to raise the living standard at least four per cent each year, doubling everybody's economic welfare. But we can only do this if we keep intact our private enterprise system and its

Psychiatrist Advises On Sex Education

by Robert Odenwald, M. D.
THE SEX IMPULSE is a normal phenomenon. It causes in every growing child a curiosity that demands explanations.

Yet too many parents fail to fulfill their God-given duty—and privilege—to inculcate, in the child a true and wholesome knowledge of the matter. Why? Possibly because on the one hand sex is quite natural, like intake of food and other aspects of living. On the other hand it is sacred, concerned with the basic mysteries of time and eternity.

ADOLESCENCE is a critical time for youths, and often their problems are ignored or depreciated. Grown-ups, caught in the vortex of their own problems, are apt to forget their own youthful problems—it has been so long since they had them!

The storms of adolescence come and go, and no one can exactly anticipate them, least of all the parents. The wise father and mother, however, will find chances to have an occasional chat with the adolescent boy or girl. An evening stroll or drive, or movies together—these will furnish the sympathetic parents and the adolescent boy or girl with opportunities to discuss such problems. It is on occasions like these that subjects such as the psychology of sex and temptations can be tactfully discussed.

SEX INSTRUCTION is the task and the obligation of the parents. Sometimes parents who are unable to give it are at least sensible enough, when the time comes, to refer the youngster to a clergyman, to a doctor, or to a teacher, or some other qualified person. This is only a substitute, for education should come primarily from the parents.

BUT WITH WHOEVER gives the instruction, the first requirement is the presence of the atmosphere of religion. "The real reason for the general break-down of personal morality is not that the boys and girls do not know enough about sex matters. They know too little about God," says an experienced juvenile authority. Knowledge is not virtue. It is especially by the use of prayer that children obtain the self-control necessary for the practice of chastity. Prayer will do more to make a child pure than mere indoctrination on the facts of the sex life.

SEX EDUCATION is best imparted in an atmosphere of religion in which recognition is given to the observance of the moral law.

Sex in itself is beautiful, sublime, sacred by the touch of God. It can be kept so if it is appreciated as such by young minds. This is the touchstone of all education in sex: God, the Creator of all things, has, in His infinite wisdom, made His creatures of different sex for His own honor and glory.

basic rights—to own property, to go into business for profit, to have freedom to get ahead, freedom to create, to produce, to compete.

I've just read an article on Australia, the country in which the government for the past 25 years has been shouldering so many of its citizens' personal responsibilities. The essence of the article was that progress had stopped in Australia. The writer said that no industrial expansion, no visible improvement in commerce had been made in the last 10 or 15 years. For years Australia was governed by the advocates of big government, the Socialists. They installed so much government bureaucracy that it seems to have permanently crippled the nation. We mustn't let this happen in America. Our own welfare and happiness is at stake.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Wonder How Miss Gilbert Is in "History"?

By now I guess you've heard about the spelling errors in the kids' report cards this week.

- A typical card looked like this:
- Arithmetic ..... B
  - Geography ..... B
  - Spelling ..... C
  - Grammar ..... B

I don't know if Miss Gilbert, the principal, actually wrote those cards, but she took full responsibility. This morning I hear she got up in the Assembly Hall—before all the students—and started writing GRAMMAR with two "a's" on the blackboard 100 times!

From where I sit, I'll bet this makes her even more popular with the students. It's nice to see an expert admit she occasionally makes a mistake. Too many so-called "experts" claim they're never wrong on such subjects as what you or I ought to eat . . . what we should wear . . . whether we should enjoy beer or butter-milk. A really wise person never claims to "know all the answers" all the time.

A panel discussion, "The Integration of the Content Subjects of the High School Curriculum," will be given by a group of Sisters of Our Lady of Victory Convent with Sister M. Brigid SSM, high school supervisor of the Sisters of St. Mary, as Chairman.

Garden Club Hears Guest Speaker On Flower Arrangement

Members of the Civic League and Garden Club heard an interesting and informative address at their regular meeting Monday night when Mrs. Edwin Liedtke of Gainesville was a guest speaker. Her subject was "Line and Design in Flower Arrangements".

Illustrated Talk
Demonstrating as she spoke, Mrs. Liedtke made four skeleton arrangements showing design forms including the Vulcan cross, rectangle, triangle, circle, "Hogarth curve and scales. In giving the definition of a flower arrangement she defined it as a combination of material used according to the principles of design to attain beauty, expression and harmony. She discussed line, line mass, and mass types of arrangement and gave the major and minor principles of design. The speaker is a national flower show judge.

Mrs. M. D. Kaderli opened the program hour by presenting two poems by Edgar A. Guest: "Roses" and "Results and Roses". She began by giving a brief life-story of the poet.

Accompanying Mrs. Liedtke to Muenster was Mrs. E. C. Mead of Gainesville, district conservation chairman, who reminded members of the District II fall meeting in Mineral Wells on Oct. 29.

Mrs. T. S. Myrick was in charge of the program hour.

Business Session

During the business session that followed Mrs. Steve Moser, president, presided. Committee chairmen gave reports and Mrs. Lee Toothaker, conservation chairman, urged members to plant Bluebonnets, Texas' state flower, explaining that these lovely blue blossoms are a legume and are beneficial to the soil.

Cemetery Collection

It was announced that the annual parish collection for cemetery beautification and upkeep will be taken at all masses in Sacred Heart church on All Saints' Day, Nov. 1.

Mrs. Myrick, chairman of the flower beds at the public school, asked each member to contribute one or two tulip bulbs for planting at the school. The club's horticultural project this year is tulips.

Fisher and Bayer Herds Among Top DHIA Producers

Dairy Herd Improvement Association records for the month of September show Paul Fisher's herd taking second place honors among the three top herds, and Alfred Bayer's in third place, tied with Jimmie Ralston's. Jack Barnhart and Raymond Porter of Gainesville tied for first place.

A summary for the month, released by Technician John Hoffman, lists 16 member herds tested, 358 cows in milk, 34 cows producing 40 pounds of butter fat, 487 the average pounds of milk per cow, and 20 the average pounds of B. F. per cow.

Fisher's herd consisted of 23 cows producing an average of 580 pounds of milk with a test of 4.5, and a 26 pound average B. F. content. Four of the cows produced 42, 47, 47, and 52 pounds B. F. The latter was the third high individual producer in the association for the month.

Bayer's herd of 25 cows averaged 500 pounds of milk testing 4.6 with a B. F. content of 23 pounds. Three were in the upper bracket for B. F. production, two averaging 40 and one 43 pounds.

Other "40 or over" producers belonged to C. A. Fisher who had one averaging 41 pounds; John Knabe, one, 45; Peter Prescher, four, 42, 42, 43 and 50; Jack Barnhart, eight, 40 to 57 the latter being the highest individual for the month; R. B. Durham, two, 45 and 51; Richard Frasher, three, 40, 41, 56; Hi-Lo Farms one, 48; Raymond Porter, five, 40 to 49; Jimmy Ralston, one, 41; Ira Smith, one, 40.

NCCW Convention In Tyler, Oct. 27-28

The fifth annual Dallas Diocesan Convention of the National Council of Catholic Women will be held in Tyler, next Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 27-28, with ladies of the Tyler Deanery as hosts.

Planning to attend from Münster are Rev. Louis Deuster, Mrs. Herman Fette, local president, and Mmes. Tony Gremminger, Joe Fisher Sr., and J. M. Weinzapfel.

Bishop Thomas K. Gorman of Dallas will be one of the speakers.

Hotel accommodations are available at the Blackstone Hotel where registrations will begin at 4 p.m. Sunday. Opening session will be at 10 a.m. Monday. Mass will be said both days in Immaculate Conception church.

Fair Tops Previous Attendance Record

The State Fair of Texas shattered its own attendance record and set a new national record for annual fairs for the tenth straight time as its most successful exposition in history ended Sunday, Oct. 19.

James H. Stewart, executive vice president and general manager, said a total of 2,387,140 visitors attended the fair during its 16-day run. This exceeded by 67,011 the number who attended the 1951 fair and was more than twice that for any other fair in America this year. The fair's biggest day was Sunday, Oct. 12, when 281,228 attended.

The fair has set a new attendance record each year since 1939; no fairs were held during the war years, 1942-45.

GOOD PICKING

Stevenson is trying to label Ike as Bob Taft's captive, and fool the folks into thinking he himself and Harry never sucked cider through the same quill. But Harry ain't taking that whistle stop trip for his lumbago. He wants to get his stooge in where the picking was so good these last seven years. Maybe Adeline will be more grateful than Lamar Caudel and dig up something that will jingle more than an Egyptian cigarette case. It is men like Addie and Lamar that enable Harry to carry on—and off.—Kingsville Record

Soil Conservation Notes

"It's an ill wind that blows no good," says Emmitt Yoder of the local soil conservation service, and he proves the truth of his statement.

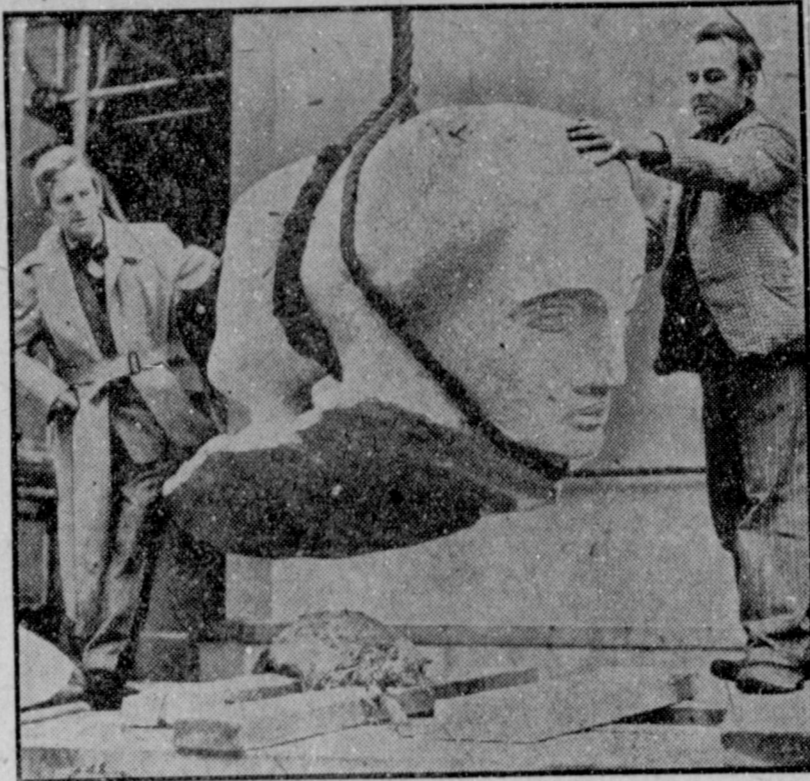

"As bad as the drought is there is some good coming from it, if we look close enough. For one thing, the many dry land cracks are opening up our soils to great depths . . . much deeper than if we used machinery to chisel the land to break up the tight, hard plow pans that refuse entrance of water and roots into the soil. No doubt this deep land chiseling will give temporary benefits to the soils in increasing water intake and easier root penetration by the roots of next summer crops.

"Another good that has resulted from the drought is that it has enabled many landowners to clean and deepen their ponds for livestock water. Latest pond cleanouts include Roy Townsley's at Myra and Joe Fisher's and Tom Hoover's in Muenster. Work will begin soon on enlarging the stock pond on Shorty Rennell's farm at Myra. Joe Lewter has just completed construction of one mile of channel type terraces on his farm at Hood. The terraces were built with a one-way plow using the island method of construction. They outlet on a Bermuda grass waterway along a natural drain.

"The past two summers have been hot and dry and show up the fact that grasslands with a heavy litter of dead grass on the soil surface continue to produce throughout the summer while grasslands with no mulch on the surface and frequent bare spots between grasses go dormant and fail to grow during hot dry weather.

"A little investigating quickly shows why grasses act as they do. Soil temperatures taken near Nocona last August 21 when the air temperature was 100 degrees, on land that had six inches of water applied the day before show some interesting results. Rangeland in good condition with good mulch litter registered 87 degrees. Overgrazed rangeland in poor condition with some bare spots showing had a soil temperature of 110 degrees. This 23 degree difference means a lot of moisture and growth was lost on the overgrazed grassland.

GETTING A-HEAD—London sculptor Charles Wheeler, at left, watches lowering of his newly carved head of "Earth" as the top portion of the statue is placed on a building overlooking Whitehall Gardens. In contrast to her maker's worried look, the statue's face is gracefully serene. Wheeler is making a pair of statues, "Earth" and "Water," for the new British Government Building. He used six blocks of stone. Each figure weighs 30 tons.

WHEN IT'S "THE OTHER FELLOW"

Have you ever noticed? When the other fellow acts that way, he is "ill-tempered;" when you do, it's "nerves." When the other fellow is set in his ways, he's "obstinate;" when you are, it is just "firmness."

When the other fellow doesn't like your friends, he's "prejudiced;" when you don't like his, you are simply showing that you are a good judge of human nature.

When the other fellow tries to treat some one especially well, he is "toading;" when you try the same thing, you are using "tact."

When the other fellow takes time to do things, he is "dead slow;" when you do it, you are "deliberate."

When the other fellow spends a lot, he is a "spendthrift;" when you do, you are "generous."

When the other fellow holds too tight to his money, he is "close;" when you do it, you are "prudent."

When the other fellow dresses extra well, he's a "dandy;" when you do it, it is simply "a duty one owes to society."

When the other fellow runs great risks in business, he is "foolhardy!" when you do, you are a "great financier."

When the other fellow says what he thinks, he is "spiteful;" when you do, you are "frank."

When the other fellow goes in for music and pictures and literature, he is "effeminate;" when you do, you are "artistic."

"To go a little further on this problem of grass management we might wonder what's going to happen when the rains do come, as they did in Fredericksburg where 20 inches fell September 9-10 of this year.

"Here is what happened there. On poor pasture with the surface crusted and packed the rain soaked in 22 inches deep . . . 76 per cent of the rainfall was lost in run-off. On good pasture with plenty of litter on the ground the rain soaked in to a depth of 42 inches, and only 55 per cent was lost in run-off.

"Here we have proof of the benefits of good grass management, and the thumb rule of good grass management that says 'take half and leave half' is further strengthened. These figures show that it not only takes rain to make grass grow, but also takes grass and litter on the land to make the rain go into the ground and keep it there for growth of grass between rains—which can be pretty long some time, can't it?"

WHO SAID THAT

Twenty years ago a presidential candidate wrote:

"For one reason or another, even a wisely led political party, given long tenure of office, finally fails to express any longer the will of the people, and when it does so fail to express the will of the people, it ceases to be an effective instrument of party government. It is far better for such a political party, certainly better for the state, that it should be relegated to the role of critic and that the opposing party should assume the reins of government."

The speaker: Franklin D. Roosevelt.
The time: The 1932 presidential campaign.

300 Attend VFW, Auxiliary District Meet Here Sunday

Three hundred members of the VFW and Auxiliary organizations of District I gathered here for the annual meeting of the district Saturday and Sunday with the Muenster organizations as hosts.

Highlights of the program, in addition to the address brought by Rev. Leon Sullivan of Lake Village, Ark., included a dance Saturday night, a banquet at noon Sunday and a social and supper Sunday night.

Eight of the VFW posts and 11 of the Auxiliary groups of the 13 city district were represented at the meeting.

John E. McKelvey, Junior Vice Commander of Electra, and Mrs. Beth Kveton, national conductress of Dallas, were principal speakers at the banquet. Mayor Hoffman extended welcome and Pat Hennigan, District I commander, and Mrs. Maurine Palmer, district Auxiliary president, recognized visiting officials.

Other speakers included Bob Claypool of Waco, national claims officer; Jim Sanders of Dallas, department service officer; Francis Wiese, Muenster post commander, and Mrs. Maurice Pagel, Muenster VFW Auxiliary president.

During the closing business sessions, Gainesville was selected next year's district meeting place, and members planned a VFW rally to be held in Denison for the reception of new members on Nov. 6.

Confetti - - -

the causes of this war were unnecessary and our way of fighting it is meaningless.

There are lots of important issues in this presidential campaign, both domestic and foreign, which are vital to our continued existence as a free nation. Corruption, graft, socialism and red infiltration could wreck the country internally. International blunders could open the way to world domination by Moscow.

The mess in Asia is no less serious than the mess in Washington, for Asia, and particularly China holds the key to world peace. That opinion has been expressed by no less an authority than Douglas MacArthur. It has also been expressed by the exiled Archbishop of Nanking, Paul Yu-Pin. In an article in the March Catholic Digest Victor Reid quotes the archbishop as saying that the Chinese under Moscow domination can become the scourge of civilization just as their ancestors were under Genghis Kahn.

The situation as the archbishop sees it: "If China is written off as lost to communism, the whole of Asia will then soon fall. Save China and you save Asia. If Asia is lost to the communists, lost with its vast storehouse of material resources and unlimited reservoir of manpower, can anyone doubt that, within our time, the communists will dominate the world? We are today witnessing the appearance of the real Yellow Peril."

Not a pretty outlook, is it? It leaves little doubt that our own future destiny depends on whether we can un-do some of the harm we have done in the orient.

A rather gloomy prospect in that regard was presented here last Sunday by Father Leon Sullivan, who was thrown out of China by the reds a year ago. He thinks it is impossible for an underground to exist under the strict police control, and also thinks that General Chiang doesn't have a chance to regain control in China.

If we want a ray of hope, however we can turn to the opinion of General Claire Chennault, who says that China can be freed. His article in the Catholic Digest of April claims that a powerful resistance movement on China's mainland may number a million men, with millions more ready to join, and that General Chiang with the help of American materials could direct a campaign that would eventually wreck the communist regime.

All of which indicates that the glimmer of hope, though feeble, is not completely out, and that in the long-run America's destiny is tied to that faint glimmer of hope.

That will be the concern of our next administration. Well, who would you rather have handling it? Ike and the others who offer constructive ideas, or the same old outfit that has bungled the affair so pathetically up to now?
