Excellent Moisture Condition Prevails; Corn Looking Good

There's a rumor around town that a new business looking for a place to settle down was practically chased away before it had time to consider.

According to the story a representative of a large firm was scouting for a location for a branch office or store. Speaking to one of his local contacts he made a few uncomplimentary remarks about Muenster, whereupon the local citizen retorted something to the effect that the man's presence as well as his opinion is unwelcome here. Before he left the visitor revealed his intention and stated definitely that Muenster would not be recommended as a location for the firm's store.

This column is not able to vouch for the truth of this story, nor is it anxious to start checking up. If the incident actually happened the harm's already done and nothing is to be gained by discovering who loused up an opportunity.

But whether true or false, the story itself is well worth our consideration. It is a first class example of what not to do or say when we happen to be discussing our community with others.

Too few of us realize how very important our individual contacts can be . . . how often in similar cases big decisions were based on the impressions given by one person. Public relations people and contact men for the big firms can name dozens of cases where a courteous and helpful attitude brought favorable consideration for the town. They can also relate as many others in which a smart alec or sour puss has chased away a good prospect.

Our own hypothetical case, which we sincerely hope is only hypothetical, provides as good an example as we can expect to find. If the visitor's criticism was justified it deserved an apology rather than a retort. If it was not justified it could have been countered by a simple presentation of facts. If the man mentioned one of the town's faults, our local hero could have said truthfully that we're not only working on improvements but we already have a lot of good points to be proud of. Our object should be to make any stranger leave here with a favorable impression of the town and community. We should all be serving as local ambassadors of good will, convinced that Muenster is a mighty fine place and eager to make others think the same.

We must be aware, of course, that town boosting is wasted on quite a few people. There are wise guys who simply enjoy finding fault and will stick to their cynicism in spite of anything they hear. The trouble, however, is that we can't spot such fellows. For all we know an insolent cuss may be only pulling a leg, and hoping as he does it that the reply will be courteous and convincing rather than abusive. While we don't know, perhaps the best policy is to give every stranger the benefit of a doubt. It's better to waste courtesy on a dozen stinkers than deny it to one person who deserves it.

In this connection we ought to realize also that the first requirement for "selling" our town is to be sold on it ourselves. We've got to be loyal enough to appreciate and brag about our merits. At the same time we have to be realistic enough to acknowledge faults and enthusiastic enough to work toward their correction.

Such a general program of community welfare is the purpose of two events scheduled here for the near future. The community clinic will be an effort to determine what improvements are most desired by the most people and the report which follows it will include recommendations for reaching the desired goals. If we carry through on a fair percentage of our own suggestions we'll be happier with our community and more inclined to brag about it.

With such an attitude it will be natural for us to make better use of things that can be learned in the other community event, the public relations class. The fellows who will conduct it have made a study of the factors that

Three more showers for a total of 2.85 inches have given this community an exceptionally fine moisture condition for this time of the year.

With the month's record now standing at 6.37 inches, a good corn crop is practically assured, hay is on its way to another lush cutting and pastures are thriving. The same applies to gardens and lawns.

The only bad feature is a spotted delay in harvesting. A few had not finished their cutting up to the middle of last week, and showers since then have been spaced about right to keep them out of the field. Thursday's rain of .92 was followed by 1.13 on Friday and 1.22 on Sunday and another .50 Wednesday afternoon. However, nice drying weather has prevailed between showers, and grain that's left is suffering little if any damage.

Another little problem is that of digging potatoes. The crop is good but there's a danger of spoilage if the spuds are not gathered soon.

WITH THE MEN IN SERVICE

Home On Leave

Marine PFC Jerry Hoenig arrived home Saturday morning from Camp Pendleton, Calif., to spend a 21-day leave with his parents, the Joe Hoenigs. Billy Stoffels is also on leave, visiting his mother, Mrs. H. P. Stoffels, at Lindsay. The boys came home together. Both returned from duty in Korea on June 12.

With Motor Pool

Pvt. David Owen has recently been assigned to duty in the motor pool at Schofield Barracks, Oahu, Hawaiian Islands, where he is on army duty. He wrote his parents, the Clarence Owens, that Pvt. Walter Wolf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Wolf of Gainesville, is also stationed at the same camp and that they see each other regularly.

Has Army Discharge

Dan Haverkamp exchanged his title of Corporal for Mister last Wednesday when he was separated from the army at Fort Hood and he and his wife Patsy who had been living on the base are back in Muenster to make their home. They are occupying the house east of Dick Trachta's residence and Dan is working for Hess Bros. Drilling company. His two years in the army took him to Fort Bliss for basic training, then to Camp Campbell, Ky. where he was with an airborne outfit. He spent three months at Camp Hale, Colo., for "special training" and was then assigned to Fort Hood to serve with a signal battalion.

Nears End of Basic

Pvt. John McGaughey, writing from Fort Ord, Calif., to members of the Soil Conservation Service with whom he worked before entering the army, tells that he is nearing the end of basic training and was at the time preparing to go on bivouac. He said his wife visited him one weekend but aside from that he has little time off and few passes. The weather also got a mention. John wrote "it freezes you to a fine shade of blue during the night and burns you to a dark shade of brown during the day." He said he's too busy to write individual letters but included regards to all his friends.

Two Weeks Training

Jimmy Fette and Bobby Monday left Sunday with Gainesville's National Guard units for two weeks of summer camp at North Fort Hood. They are guardsmen in Company C of the 49th Reconnaissance battalion. The company's enlisted strength for the summer camp is 104 men. They made the trip in convoy from Gainesville.

The Harry Ottos visited in Dallas Sunday with her sister and family, the Eddie Marrs, and brought their daughter Charlene back home with them. She had vacationed in Dallas with her aunt.

SIGN OF INDEPENDENCE—Heinz L. Krekeler, left, first ambassador to the United States from the newly created Federal Republic of Germany, watches as aide Harry Marschall affixes a plaque announcing new status of the former German mission to this country to the embassy building in Washington, D.C.

NTPA Members to Meet in Commerce Next Wednesday

Members of the North Texas Producers Association will have their annual general meeting next Wednesday in the auditorium of East Texas State Teachers College at Commerce.

The purpose of the meeting is to present the association's annual report and to elect directors besides considering new business that is introduced.

Every member attending will receive a sample package of spray process powdered milk produced in the Muenster NTPA plant.

Community Clinic Schedule Reduced To Three Meetings

The schedule for the Community Clinic to be conducted by Stan Shively of TP&L has been changed to a three-meeting series.

After drawing up a six-session schedule in a meeting with Lions Club committee chairmen last week, Shively called back from Dallas and suggested that the series be condensed to three gatherings. H. H. Homsley, local chairman has complied by revising the original schedule as follows:

Monday night, July 11 will be meeting night for the VFW and Auxiliary, the Electric Co-op, NTPA and Farm Bureau.

Tuesday night, July 12, is for the Baptist congregation, Lions, Firemen, Garden Club and PTA.

Wednesday night, July 13, is for K of C, CD of A, St. Anne's and St. Joseph's societies and Sacred Heart room mothers.

Homsley also pointed out that any person who does not belong to one of the listed organizations will be welcome at any of the meetings. Likewise a person who cannot meet with his or her organization is welcome at any of the other meetings.

Procedure at the clinic will not be tied up with any one organization. The only reasons for working through clubs and societies is to give individuals the greater comfort of meeting with members of their own groups and also to have club cooperation in urging a good attendance.

The same applies to the Lions Club, which is sponsoring the clinic. Its only service is to get the project started. From there on it is a community affair.

The clinic is based on the theory that the best way to work for community progress is to determine first what is wanted most by the most people. Accordingly those attending are given cards at the beginning of a meeting and asked to jot down suggestions that appeal to them during the hour or so of discussion.

TP&L, which furnishes the technical personnel to conduct the clinic, has a practical reason for its interest. The company helps itself by helping the towns in its area.

George Bayer Joins Fred Hennigan in Oil-Butane Agency

A new local partnership formed this week is that of Fred Hennigan and George Bayer operating agencies for butane gas and Pan-handle oil products.

Bayer bought Victor Sicking's interest in the H & S Butane Company and also bought an interest in the oil agency to become a 50-50 partner with Hennigan in both ventures. In the same deal the partners agreed to change the firm names to B & H Butane Co. and B & H Oil Co.

Sicking sold out to apply his full time at farming. Bayer intends to quit farming, allowing someone to lease his place and equipment. At this time he has not decided who will work the farm.

Burglars Strike At Texaco Station

The thief, or thieves, who visited Eddie Krahl's Texaco Service Station Sunday night got away with a new battery, a seat cushion, about four cartons of cigarettes and two boxes of candy.

Krahl discovered the theft when he opened for business Monday morning and members of the county sheriff's department investigated the burglary. The intruders entered the building by breaking out a back window. There was no money left in the station overnight, Krahl said, not even small change, and the cash register was open.

Rain Causes Grief On Sewer Project

Trials and tribulations of sewer construction are at their worst at times like last week when rain caught the crew with its ditch open and a string of pipe laid but not covered.

To make the situation even worse, the open ditch crossed a drainage ditch, so it got a complete fill of water, about 6 feet deep, instead of the usual few inches.

Cleaning up the mess required two long extra days of disagreeable toil. They got rid of most of the water by opening the line already laid and letting it take care of the drainage. Next they took out the exposed pipe, every joint of which had broken loose, and bailed out several inches of mud to get back to their previous level. Then they spread a layer of sand at the bottom of the ditch and re-installed the tile. By Tuesday they were out of trouble.

Up to Wednesday slightly more than a third of the new sewer line has been completed. It extends from the disposal plant to the corner a block south of B & H Oil Co. After that the project will end temporarily while the crew builds sewer and waterline extensions to the swimming pool. Then work on the main line will continue to the northwest part of town.

Bombers Drop Two Practice Contests; Continue Loop Lead

As far as official league records are concerned, Muenster's B-29 Bombers were idle during the past week. Their two practice games do not count and their one official game was postponed by Wednesday afternoon's shower. So they continue to hold the league lead with their record of 11-1.

Meanwhile three games broke into the second half of the league race. National Supply beat Lindsay, VFW beat Sinclair, and the Chicks beat TP&L.

The Bombers were lucky that their two games last week did not count in the league record. In their first practice session they were nosed out 9-8 by Schlumberger, which was reinforced by a few players from other teams in the loop. The other was a 15-3 runaway for Overman Tin Shop of Sherman.

The hard hitting Grayson County boys pounded consistently as Coffman, Reiter and Hartman all tried their luck on the mound, then took advantage of Bomber errors for bonus runs in the late innings.

Next schedule action for the Bombers is with Lindsay next Tuesday night and with VFW the following Thursday.

Electric Co-op to Begin Soon on New Office-Warehouse

A major improvement in sight for Muenster is the new combined office and warehouse to be built by the Cooke County Electric Cooperation Association.

Test coring of ground formation was in progress Tuesday at the building site opposite the Humble Station on Highway 82, in the east part of town.

Building plans submitted by the architect, Wyatt C. Hedrick of Fort Worth, were approved by the co-op directors in their June meeting and have been submitted to REA headquarters in Washington. When approval is received from that office directors will invite contractors' bids for construction.

The new structure, to be built in an "L" shape, will consist of an office section of about 3600 square feet, and a back section of about 4000 square feet for material and truck storage.

Both wings are to be made of construction tile, however the office will be faced with light colored brick and stone. Principal divisions of the front wing will be offices for the manager, the bookkeeper, the filing personnel, billing personnel and the stock clerk besides a lobby, vault, filing rooms and rest rooms. A special feature is a drive-in pay window at the front driveway enabling patrons to pay their bills without leaving their cars. The generous space, more than the minimum required at this time, is provided to meet possible future growth.

Another provision for the future is the location of the building's front some 80 feet south of the highway . . . to leave room in case the road should be widened later to four lanes. Until then the space will be occupied by landscaping.

The warehouse and garage wing, extending about 80 feet to the south of the office wing, will have six truck entrances along its west wall. A dock and storage space will extend along the opposite wall.

Special Meeting to Explain Procedure In Awards Contest

A meeting, open to the entire community, is scheduled for next Tuesday night, June 28, at 8 p.m. in the City Hall to give information on the current Community Club Awards contest, to answer questions asked by those attending, and to explain the program in general to those who are not familiar with its workings.

The meeting was set after a number of people asked for a meeting to explain the contest, Mrs. Tony Gremminger, Civic League and Garden Club president, said Wednesday. The League-Garden Club is Muenster's representative in the contest and all other city and parish women's clubs are lending their support to the one organization.

The first week's contest ended Saturday with the Civic League and Garden Club in top spot for acquiring the most points. Winners were announced Wednesday. The local club will receive a fifty dollar cash award.

VACATION OUT WEST

Mr. and Mrs. Urban Endres returned Saturday from a crowded two weeks of seeing lots of people and lots of places out west. Their trip included stops with relatives and friends at Hereford, Douglas, Ariz., Camarillo, Calif., and Albuquerque along with sights at Phoenix, San Diego, Los Angeles, Big Bear Lake, Las Vegas, Hoover Dam and Grand Canyon.

SCHEDULE OF COMING EVENTS

FRIDAY, June 24, FHA meeting in MHS Homemaking Department, 8 p.m.

TUESDAY, June 28, Community meeting to explain Community Club Awards contest, in the City Hall, 8 p.m.

TUESDAY, June 28, Bombers vs Lindsay (second game).

It's Time to Make Reservations for 4-H Summer Camp

The time has come to make reservations for 4-H Camp. That's a reminder given this week by County Agent Gerald York and Home Demonstration Agent Bernice Puckett and their assistants Gene Sears and Maurine Kavanaugh.

The latest possible date to accept reservations is July 1, they point out. 4-H clubbers planning to attend the camp, to be held at Lake Trinidad July 13, 14, 15, must have their checks in by that time. Camp fees this year are the same as last year, six dollars per person, which covers all expenses. Parents, too, are invited to attend.

Mrs. Paul Fisher, local adult leader, will attend and anyone desiring further information is asked to contact her. It was especially stressed that the reservation money be in check and not in cash. The check should be made payable to the Cooke County 4-H Club.

The county group will travel by school bus leaving from the courthouse at about 8 a.m. Wednesday, July 13, and will return about 3 p.m. on Friday, July 15.

Rosebell Haverkamp, Willard Zimmerer Say Vows Tuesday

During a nuptial high mass in Sacred Heart church Tuesday morning Miss Rosebell Haverkamp became the bride of Cpl. Willard Zimmerer. Rev. Louis Deuster, pastor, officiated at the mass and performed the double ring ceremony.

Miss Haverkamp is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Haverkamp of Muenster and Cpl. Zimmerer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Zimmerer, route 5, Gainesville.

The bride entered on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage. She wore a gown of white Chantilly lace over taffeta designed with a full skirt that extended into a chapel length train. The fitted bodice had long petal point sleeves. A tiny collar accented the high neckline and four panels of nylon pleats outlined in lace adorned the skirt. Her veil of illusion fell from a lace half hat and she carried white carnations.

She followed a family tradition by wearing a handsome antique gold cross and chain that formerly belonged to her grandmother, Mrs. Joseph Flusche, later belonged to her grandmother, Mrs. Theo Wiesman, and is now the property of her mother. All brides in the family for three generations have worn the cross and chain at their weddings. And she wore a penny in her shoe.

Attendants

Mrs. Walter Luttmner of Gainesville was the sister's matron of honor and Mrs. Henry Popp, sister of the groom, was bridesmatron. Their dresses of orchid net over taffeta were made with very bouffant skirts of row upon row of ruffles and a center motif of parasol pleats. They wore matching half hats and rhinestone earrings and necklaces, gifts from the bride. Their flowers were white carnations.

Walter Luttmner was best man and Gilbert Kubis of Lindsay, cousin of the groom, was groomsman. Frank Haverkamp and Junior Kuhn, both of Lindsay, were ushers.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Haverkamp wore a navy blue sheer nylon print dress with navy accessories and Mrs. Zimmerer, mother of the groom wore a white and blue polka dotted dress with white accessories. Both wore white carnation corsages, as did grandmothers of the couple, Mrs. Mary Voth of Muenster and Mrs. Katherine Zimmerer of Lindsay.

The couple exchanged their vows before an altar adorned with gladioli. White baskets of spring flowers held vantage spots in the sanctuary.

Anthony Luke, organist, and brother-in-law of the bride, presented the wedding marches and remained at the console to assist the church choir in singing the mass. After the service, the couple went to the Blessed Virgin's shrine where the bride placed a bouquet of white gladioli on the altar while Mrs. Norbert Walterscheid, a cousin of the bride, gave a vocal solo, "Mother at Your Feet We're Kneeling."

Wedding Day Festivities

Wedding day festivities included breakfast for the bridal party and family members in the home of the groom's parents; a reception and buffet supper hosted by the bride's parents for 150 guests in the public school lunch room; and a dance in the VFW Hall.

After the dance Cpl. and Mrs. Zimmerer left on a wedding trip by car to Washington, D. C. From there they will go to Englewood, N. J., where he is stationed with the army and where they will make their home until he is separated from the service in October.

Cpl. Zimmerer, a native of Muenster, attended Sacred Heart school until his family moved to Gainesville. He was graduated from St. Mary's High school there and worked with his father on the farm until he entered the armed forces. His bride attended Sacred Heart grade school and was graduated from Muenster High with the class of 1953.

Rehearsal Dinner

The couple was honored at a rehearsal dinner Sunday night in the Haverkamp home. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Luttmner and family, Gilbert Kubis, Mrs. Henry Popp, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Zimmerer, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Kupper and family, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Luke and sons, Mrs. Leo J. Haverkamp and daughter Gloria, and Evelyn and Ferd Haverkamp.

Best Bible School To Date Concludes At Baptist Church

Solemn commencement exercises, presentation of certificates and a display of handcrafts Sunday night brought this year's Vacation Bible School at the First Baptist church to a formal close. It was the best attended Bible School ever held at the local church.

Sixty children were enrolled with an average daily attendance of 55 and 45 students had perfect attendance records.

The commencement program began with a call to worship by Miss Betty Cole, school principal, and included pledges of allegiance to the U.S. and Christian flags and the Bible, recitation of the motto, hymns by the group, prayers by the faculty members and each of the four student groups. Before the program the children marched into the auditorium led by Ronnie Dickerson, Christian flag bearer; James Harris, U. S. flag bearer; and Linda Dickerson carrying a Bible. The concluding number was the National Anthem. Teachers of each group presented certificates to their students.

Members of the congregation packed the church for the program and for the revival service which followed. Rev. D. S. Pettijohn, pastor, preached the revival sermon on "Drifting." After services those present viewed the handwork of Bible School students.

Attractively displayed were workbooks on the Bible; miniature flower pots with posies made by beginners, pencil holders fashioned from spoons, and wall plaques made by primary pupils; and wall plaques and aprons made by junior students.

When the school opened on June 13, teachers were lined up for three classes. Before it was over there were five. Juniors had to be divided into two groups, adding a teacher, and a nursery school was added for little tots younger than four years old.

The school began each morning at 9 with a gathering in the auditorium. There were prayers, songs and instructions for the day. Then the pledge of allegiance to the U.S. and Christian flags and the Bible.

From then until noon, youngsters were divided into age groups for work, play, rest, refreshments, and Bible instructions.

Skillfully, the teachers—all members of the church—pointed out the entire days activities to the religious theme.

Mrs. E. S. Lawson taught the beginner class, including the four-year-olds. She was assisted by Carmelita and Ruby Hester and Martha Doty. Mrs. Aubrey Tuggle was in charge of classes for the intermediate group, and Mrs. D. S. Pettijohn and Mrs. Charles Clayton Jr. instructed the junior divisions. Assistants were Mrs. R. L. Jones, Mrs. Sid Cason and Mrs. Jimmy Cadell. Mrs. C. H. Henson took over in the nursery department. Miss Betty Cole was principal and Mrs. Cecil Cain was secretary.

Teachers were especially gratified by the large regular attendance, they said. It made this year's Vacation Bible School outstanding. The addition of the nursery class provided an opportunity for some of the tiniest enrolled to offer their first prayers. For others it was the first step on the road to learn team play and sharing. The school which urges the best from a child, and tries putting the best into him through Bible stories and lessons, was the best ever held here, the teachers said.

UN-AMERICAN AIR ACADEMY

Since the cream of American youth will be attending the Air Force's long-awaited Air Academy, and we, as taxpayers, will foot the $126,000,000 bill, it would be nice to think this West Point of the Air will be the finest example of American architecture that we can produce.

Unfortunately, this does not seem to be the case. The Air Force recently unveiled a model of its "dream" academy as designed by a firm of "modern" architects. One congressman said it looked like a "cigarette factory." Famous architect Frank Lloyd Wright called it a "violation of Nature" and a "factory for birdmen." The chapel design, a metal-and-glass creation that looked like an accordion, was withdrawn quickly when churchmen protested.

The balance of the design—consisting of stark-looking buildings of aluminum, glass and steel—was left in a shadowy state. Secretary of Air Harold Talbott said the design really wasn't in final form, although the Air Force had just announced construction would begin this summer.

Now prominent architects are leveling an even more serious charge against the design. They say flatly that it's un-American. The terraces and angular planes or many of the buildings—most of which are on stilts—suggest a hodge-podge of near Eastern, Egyptian, and European influences. This is not the America represented in the beautiful buildings of West Point, the dignity of Annapolis, and the grandeur of the Washington Monument and the Mall. Are cadets expected to learn and respect the heritage of America in alien surroundings?

Another fault is the choice of materials. In Colorado Springs the temperatures range from 27 below to 97 above. There is intense sunlight and glare. Yet buildings are designed with thin walls of glass, thus creating heating, air-conditioning and cleaning problems. What would a shock wave produced by a fast-flying jet airplane do to these flimsy walls? Won't thin metal panels vibrate badly amid engine noise and classroom clamor? Maintenance costs would be staggering, and protection from shock and fire, dangerously slim. Nowhere is there the strength, utility and beauty provided by Nature's materials—stone, brick, marble and granite.

Surely we can do better than this. It would be sad indeed if General Billy Mitchell's dream of an Air Academy turned out to be a nightmare.

DAMS AND MONUMENTAL TAXES

Most Americans don't live along the Snake River. Thus, they find it hard to follow the current battle in Congress over whether the federal government should build a high dam on the river at Hells Canyon as a gigantic monument to the public power philosophy, or whether the Idaho Power Company should be allowed to develop the Snake's hydroelectric potential by building three smaller dams.

But the Snake River is important to every federal income taxpayer in the country, and a new study by the Council of the State Chambers of Commerce tells exactly why in dollar-and-cents terms. The study points out that the Idaho Power Company plant would develop 770,000 kilowatts and cost from $133 million (company estimate) to $195 million (Federal Power Commission estimate). This money would be raised by the company through normal stock and bond issues; not a nickel would come from the public treasury.

But the high dam project, as embodied in a bill supported by public power advocates in Congress, would necessitate federal expenditures of $465 million to develop only slightly more energy—785,000 kilowatts. And that $465 million would be all public funds—it would come either from current taxes or in the form of increased federal debt, meaning future taxes. The Council survey shows that this means $9 more in taxes for every taxpayer in the country. It means that people in Pennsylvania would be contributing, through their taxes, $35 million to develop power in the Idaho-Oregon area, that Wisconsin's citizens would be doling out almost $10 million, that Michigan taxpayers would be socked nearly $27 million, New York State over $68 million, etc.

What's more, the study adds, there are a whole list of hydroelectric projects that publicly regulated power companies want to build in the Pacific Northwest and California that very well could follow the pattern of the Hells Canyon bill. If they should be added to Hells Canyon and all pushed into the federal power empire, it would mean an expenditure of almost $1.2 billion—or $23 for each of the nation's taxpayers. Add that to your present taxes and see whether you like it. We don't.

Man Is More Than Matter

By Clare Boothe Luce, American Ambassador to Italy

AN ANGRY AND VENGEFUL GOD is not destroying this modern world. War is human, not divine. God does not make war. Men make it. Men make the bombs that can blast our cities to bits.

What a blow this notion is for the materialist. At one time he believed that man without God could become a god for himself. Today the materialist must face the fact that men are not perfectly good. Man left to himself will not work out a perfect world as today's mess shows.

BUT WHERE WILL the materialist turn now? In what shall he put his hope? He can try business for business' sake, education for education's sake, but ultimately he must turn to despair—for without God there is nothing to hope for, no real tomorrow.

There is one real choice for the materialist. He can choose Christianity. Christianity is the only hope for the world because it alone realizes that the world needs interior change. The world today needs a grace of heart, and only God's grace can change the human heart.

CHRISTIANITY POSSESSES the right view of man's nature. Man is not heart or bones, mind or belly, soul or senses, spirit or flesh. He is all of them. Man is matter soaked in spirit, spirit drenched in matter. Christianity explains suffering, pain, sickness, and death. It gives men the strength and patience to endure what cannot be changed, and to change what should not be endured.

The true Christian is realistic. He must admit that the state of the world today is his own fault. Christians who were not—and are not—Christians, are largely to blame for the tragic state of the Western World today. The spiritual soil in which atheism took root and thrived was anemic Christianity.

THE MATERIALISTS were more faithful to their idols than many Christians are to their God. The materialists worshipped Man, Pleasure, Money and Power more wholeheartedly than many Christians have worshipped the God of Truth. It was saccharine, Sunday-morning-only Christianity that prepared the way for Karl Marx and his false doctrines.

Too many Christians confused charity with donations, prayer with pious daydreams, religion with comfort and security. Too many Christians forgot that the symbol of Christianity is the Cross, which means sacrifice and self-discipline.

THIS KIND of Christianity made easy the way of the Communists in Europe. If this is the kind of Christianity we are to have in America, it will clear the way for Communism here too.

CROWD THOSE PASTURES

Today's livestock farmers are stringing cross fences over their pastures to pack a lot of beef in a small space. Some of them drive as many as 800 head into a small 30-acre patch of grazing. True, they eat the forage in a few days and are ready to move into another field, but they eat the feed before they have a chance to tromp it.

With roots deep into the ground, the forage plants soon bounce back to provide another round of grazing. It's called rotation grazing.

A deserted farmhouse in a gullied field was pictured in a farm journal which offered a prize for the best 100-word description. An Indian took the prize with this:

"Picture show white man crazy. Cut down trees. Make big teepee. Plow hill. Water wash. Wind blow soil. Grass gone. Door gone. Window gone. Whole place gone. Buck gone. Papoose gone. Squaw too. No chuck-away. No pigs. No corn. No plow. No hay. No pony. "Indian no plow land. Keep grass. Buffalo eat grass. Indian eat buffalo. Hide make teepee. Make moccasin. Indian no make terrace. No build dam. All time eat. No hunt job. No hitch hike. No ask relief. No shoot pig. Great Spirit make grass. Indian no waste anything. Indian no work. White man loco."

There was no argument from government conservation agencies.

Soil Conservation Notes

WATERWAY MAINTENANCE

In establishing and maintaining good plantings of grass it is necessary to control the growth of weeds and taller grasses by frequent mowings or grazing for short periods. Many cooperators of the Upper Elm-Red Soil Conservation District in the Muenster area are mowing, spraying or grazing their grassed waterways and newly planted King Ranch Bluestem plots to control Johnson grass and weeds.

Some who have recently mowed and baled grass from their waterway areas include Leo Moseman who operates the W. W. Sicking farm near Myra, Leo and Walter Becker who operate the Seibold farm west of Muenster, Tom Sicking, Louis Sicking, Ed Klement, Ed Knauf and Alfons Koesler.

Bruno Fleitman has mowed and baled the Johnson grass from an eight acre seeding of KR Bluestem on his farm near Valley Creek. He has planted 43 acres of Chinese Red Peas for soil improvement. Johnny Sicking has mowed and baled Johnson grass from his 15 acre seeding of KR. Removal of Johnson grass from a new planting gives the new grass a better break in the competition for water and sunlight. These seedings of KR will be used to produce seed so that this grass may be scattered over other lands earmarked for pasture.

NEW STOCK TANK

A tank to provide water for livestock has been completed on the H. D. Fields ranch near Saint Jo. The pond will provide water in a pasture so that better grazing management can be carried out.

FISH DELIVERIES

The U. S. Department of Interior Fish and Wildlife Service made deliveries of fish to stock ponds and reservoirs in the Muenster and Saint Jo areas on Wednesday of this week. Cooperators of the Upper Elm-Red SCD who received orders of fish were Martin Bayer, Hubert Felderhoff, Albert Knabe, J. M. Weinzapfel and Thomas Felderhoff.

At Saint Jo deliveries were made for J. C. Donnell, H. D. Fields, Alex Lutkenhaus and D. D. Grant.

Sweet clover will reduce soil and water losses to a minimum.

COOL CATTLE GAIN FASTER
California experiments emphasize the importance of keeping fattening cattle cool on hot summer days. Cattle sprayed with water on hot days gained a quarter of a pound more per day than those not sprayed.
Ample lot space, adequate shade, and lot arrangement to permit free flow of breezes help avoid uncomfortable heating. Abundant, cool water is essential; shaded watering troughs reduce the temperature of water and increase its consumption.

The show will be held at the city's new landing strip, also a Jaycee-sponsored project which was only recently completed. It is located back of the golf course. Although the Jaycees are also promoting the barbecue, it will be prepared and served by Jettons of Fort Worth. Tickets For Barbecue

Barbecue tickets are $1.50, which includes admission to the air show. Those who attend the show, but not the barbecue, will be required to pay a quarter. All persons who fly to Nocona for the combined event will be given a free meal and free admission to the show.
