August 31 Set as Registration Day At Public School

Just a few years ago, as many of us can recall, it was more or less taken for granted that to be called an isolationist was the supreme insult to a man in political life. It was practically equivalent to accusing him of imbecility. The worldly wise were so impressed with the concept of one-world and our nation's destiny of leading that world that they could not tolerate the idea of permitting anything to happen anywhere else without Uncle Sam sticking his nose into it. Nor could they tolerate our taking a stand on an issue unless they felt reasonably satisfied that we had the approval of the rest of the world.

So we joined the United Nations, erected its magnificent headquarters on American soil, and paid the greater part of the expense in financing its activities. When communists crossed the 38th parallel we assumed about 90 percent of the UN burden of assisting the South Koreans to repel the invasion. When other UN members decided we must not fight to win, or when they double crossed us by trading with the enemy we did not put up a kick. We strung along with the other nations no matter what it cost us. Uncle Sam was the meek, cooperative member of the big world family, too good natured to stand up for his rights when picked on by the brats of the family. We have been anything but isolationist.

And the situation still has not changed. After United States, in spite of the handicaps, had finally deadlocked the war so that an armistice could be considered, the UN presumes to take over again and handle the negotiations. First it chooses to disregard the wishes of President Rhee, whose country and men bore the brunt of the war. Now it insists that Russia, Red China and India be allowed to take part in the peace party.

If events since the last world war have taught us anything at all it should be that this noble spirit of internationalism has served more than anything else to make Uncle Sam the world's greatest sucker. If that continues to go on we may see the day when our top statesmen will be proud to be called isolationists... when they will have the spunk to stand up for principle, and our country's prestige and welfare, regardless of what any other countries want to say or do about it.

As regards the Korean peace treaty, we have a right to insist that every country will participate exactly in proportion to its official participation in the war. Nations which sat it out can also sit out the settlement. Those which made a feeble effort can have a feeble voice. As regards the enemy, that was North Korea only, so it will be the only representative at the parley. Red China and Russia are ruled out because neither officially entered the war. They only "allowed volunteers to help" the North Koreans. That's the only way to settle it right. At the rate it has started the UN with its international horse trading will only cause more of a mess.

The stunts we pull in our foreign dealings make us wonder at times whether Uncle Sam should not have his head examined. For years Britain has been trading with the reds knowing that her trade was damaging us and all other UN fighters in Korea, including herself. Meanwhile we allowed Britain to continue its sabotage and did not so much as threaten to quit subsidizing her tottering economy. Then, in dealing with Iran we show our pathetic inconsistency.

First Premier Mossadegh socialize the oil industry, taking over British possessions. According to England's own standards that should have been OK. That's how England socialized its own industry. Instead of admitting that England merely got a dose of its own medicine, we decided to put on pressure in England's behalf. And now when Mossadegh considers trading with Russia in self defense we threaten to cancel all aid to Iran. Why didn't we threaten England the same way for trading with the reds? Is this the way of our glorious internationalism?

Is This a Record? 7 Sons, 1 Daughter In Armed Services

This item isn't news, but an admission that a good news story was overlooked long ago.

The reminder came last week in a release from some town in Illinois saying that it was old stuff for a couple there to say goodbye to a draftee son. Of nine sons the youngster was the seventh to enter the armed service in the past eleven years.

If that was worthy of nation wide mention over wire services, the Joe Lehnertz family here deserves at least a local mention.

Floyd, who entered the Navy about a year ago is the eighth of ten children to serve in the armed forces. Jim, Earl, Gene, Giles, David and Quentin were all in the Army and Dolores was in the Army Nurses' Corps.

The Illinois story adds that two children are still at home, but does not say whether they are prospects for the armed forces. The remaining two Lehnertz youngsters, Donald and Claude, are prospects if the present draft law continues a few more years.

Fire Razes Bridges Home at Bulcher

A fire of undetermined origin razed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tillman Bridges in the Bulcher community Sunday night at about 8:30.

No one was at home at the time. Mr. Bridges and three children were visiting Mrs. Bridges at Gainesville Sanitarium. She had undergone major surgery a few days before.

Muenster firemen left their benefit picnic in the parish hall and raced to the blaze with the city's tank truck as soon as word reached them but found the fire in its last stages.

The blaze was far advanced when it was discovered by members of the Shiloh Baptist church attending services. A group rushed to the scene but the roof had already fallen and nothing of value could be reached except a radio. All furnishings were destroyed along with all clothing, bedding and canned goods.

The house belonged to Bridges' grandmother who lives in Olton. There was no insurance on the building or the furnishings. The family needs clothing, bedding and other items. Anyone wishing to contribute articles may leave them at Mrs. John Huchton's in Muenster or at Mrs. R. J. Samples' home in Bulcher. The children are a boy 18 months old, a boy about five, and a girl seven.

REVIVAL AT SHILOH

A 10-day revival began Wednesday night at the Shiloh Baptist church with Rev. Bruce Hibbet of Denton conducting the services.

John Tempel's home has just received an outside paint job.

About the middle of May he was here on a 10-day overseas leave before going to Camp Stoneman. He left the west coast on June 13 and arrived in Korea on July 7 after spending a few days in Japan. He is the third son of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Yosten to serve in the armed forces. Tony Yosten is a veteran of world war II and Herbert Yosten served during the Korean war with duty in Germany. Gilbert's address is: US 54103287; Co. H, 179th Regt., 45th Inf. Div.; A.P.O. 86 c-o P.M., San Francisco, Calif.

Firemen Use Picnic Fund for Equipment

Folks who attended the firemen's picnic Sunday have the satisfaction of knowing that they contributed to the purchase of some much needed equipment for the firemen.

Fire Chief Marty Klement said this week that the proceeds will be used to buy helmets, slickers and smoke masks. He also extends the firemen's thanks to the community for its fine cooperation in making these purchases possible.

Fish Story: If It Won't Bite Put the Hook in Its Mouth

Stalking a fish and snagging it with a hay hook may be an unorthodox method of hauling in a prize catch, but when a fish ignores bait for several days a fellow just has to figure out something else.

That's what Lt. Bill Eberhart, on leave from Fort Hood, and his brother-in-law, Bill Flusche of Lindsay decided while fishing on Red River northeast of Gainesville. Several days of tending their trot lines brought only fair returns, and on each trip they saw a fine yellow catfish swimming leisurely near the surface. Eberhart couldn't stand it any longer, so he decided to go after the fish.

After several dives he located the fish under a bank. Then he went down with the hay hook attached to a rope. He just "slammed the hook through the lower jaw" and joined his companion in the two hour tussle. The cat weighed in at 34 pounds.

Lt. Eberhart has a yen for rugged action. During World War II he served as a paratrooper. Early in the Korean War he and his bazooka emerged as winners in a skirmish with red tanks.

The addition will be strictly a Christmas store during the holiday shopping season. The rest of the year it will serve both as a toy room and a store room.

The man with 248,404 different names

Idly toying with pencil and paper, we just figured out what it would cost to buy yourself a certain electric manufacturing company. Complete with factories, machines, raw materials in the bins, and so forth.

Write your check for 2 billion dollars, please. (That's at recent price per share quoted on the Stock Exchange.) But don't send the check to the company. It doesn't own the stock.

You'd have to buy back the stock in bits and pieces from 116,000 women share owners. And 83,000 men. You'd have to get in touch with about 25,000 trustees and guardians. And a few thousand insurance companies, universities, hospitals and pension trusts to buy back the stock they own.

We wouldn't blame these people if they didn't sell to you. They don't have to, you know. Maybe they want the stock for the same reason you do.

Not even a thousand millionaires, each putting in a million dollars, could "own" General Electric. The "man" who owns General Electric has 248,404 names. There are that many owners on the books.

Simple mathematics can shoot a large round hole in the childish misconception that America's basic companies are owned by a few lucky people.

Suppose there were the fantastic total of 100,000 millionaires. Even they couldn't buy the "people-owned" businesses on which America depends for goods. But already six and a half million individuals have a direct investment in America's production.

The only thing bigger than America today will be America tomorrow. And the only collection of people rich enough to finance this growth and share in its success is the public.

You can put your confidence in—

For cause of action the plaintiff pleads that on or about the 10th day of November, 1950, defendant without any provocation or cause whatever, voluntarily left and abandoned the bed and board of this petitioner, with the intention of finally separating and living apart from him, and has continued so to do up to the filing of this petition, though often requested by petitioner to return to his bed and board and live with him as his wife. ## The American Way

REPAIR, NOT SCRAP

By George Peck

In the United States of America, prior to World War II, the average worker earned enough money in one hour and twenty minutes to feed a family of five for one day. In Great Britain and France, it took a worker more than three hours; in Belgium almost four hours; in Italy six hours; and in Russia ten hours to accomplish the same purpose. Due to the many raise hikes in this country since the war, the American worker enjoys today even a greater advantage over workers in other countries.

There are two principal reasons why the American workingman is able to achieve so much more in a given time than the workers in any other country:

(1) America has the finest system of producing and distributing wealth among all classes that has ever been devised.

(2) We have developed man's friend, the machine, to a higher degree of efficiency and productivity, than has any other nation.

This American system (call it by any name you prefer) enabled this nation during World War II to produce the materials of war, not only for our own armed forces, but for our Allies as well, which played such a tremendous part in winning victories over Germany and Japan. Since the war, that same system has enabled us to supply the needs of our own citizens and to send billions of dollars to other less fortunate nations.

Yes, in spite of these glorious achievements there are still some among us who deign to suggest that we abandon this system of private ownership, individual initiative, opportunity and competitive enterprise—a system which has stood this nation in such good stead both in peace and in war; to have us adopt one of the systems such as are in effect in countries that have needed and have been given, some of the fruits of our system.

It hardly seems credible that one single American workingman, who has thought the matter through, would chose to work from three to ten times as many hours, in order to earn enough money to obtain creature comforts for himself and family. But, that is exactly what he would be forced to do, if this country ever is foolish enough to discard the American System and replace it with Communism, Nazism, Fascism, Socialism or Fabianism (all the same under the skin.)

Knowing that we now have the finest system, and also realizing full well, that in spite of this superiority, it is still far from perfect, let's put our heads together to devise ways and means for eliminating its imperfections and weaknesses.

When some mechanical part of an automobile gets out of order, do we impetuously throw the whole machine away, overlooking the past marvelous and efficient performance of the car? Or do we exchange it for another vehicle which we definitely know to be inferior? Certainly not! We proceed to do something about that out-of-order part. We repair it.

By the same token, we are not going to throw away or exchange our American System because it needs a few repairs. The American Way always has been to go on from here, not to scrap what has been tried and proven, but to build better and sounder, learning from the past mistakes how to avoid them in the future.

England made the sad mistake of letting the socialists take over. The English standard of living deteriorated. Almost too late our British cousins realized their error, that government in business is bad business. They voted out the socialists and elected the Churchill government in the hope that it could repair the damage. Even the great Winnie is finding that it is much easier to socialize than to de-socialize. But he is making a valiant effort and already the lot of the English has improved greatly since he was restored to leadership.

With England's unfortunate experiment confronting us, if we are the smart people we believe ourselves to be, we will turn deaf ears to the glib-tongued collectivists who sneer at the American System under which we became the greatest nation on earth, and which has provided the most things for the most people. Surely we will continue to repair and improve, not scrap, the American System, just as we have done ever since the Founding Fathers, in their wisdom and with God's guidance, gave it to us.

The average farm kitchen requires 20 to 30 tons of water each year; carrying it from an outdoor pump would require about 30 eight-hour days of labor.

Men Find Peace When They Find Prayer

A FATHER says to his child: "If ever you are in trouble, come to me." Each of us has the same invitation from God: "Cry to Me and I will hear you" (Jeremias 33,3). He, the great God, will pay attention whenever we speak to Him.

When a man looks at his child he sees a reflection of himself. He loves his child and wants his child to love him; he watches over his child, and takes care of his child. According to Jesus, our Heavenly Father does all this for each one of us. "If you then being evil, know how to give good gifts to your children: how much more will your Father, who is in Heaven, give good things to them that ask Him?" When God looks at us, His children, He sees a reflection of the Divine Image in which He made each of us. He hungers for each of us to love Him.

WHEN ONE of us suffers, God is moved. More than any earthly father, He is grieved when we depart from Him; He is full of joy and tenderness when we return to Him; and He can do anything that we ask of Him.

In trouble, therefore, turn to God. There is no peace in life or death except the peace that is in Him alone. That peace renders us equal to the greatest trials of mind or body; that peace brings joy into our hearts. But there is only one way His peace may be obtained. That way is by praying for it.

THE SCIENTIST, Dr. Carrel, says of prayer that it "lifts men above the mental stature which belongs to them by their heredity and their education."

This contact with God impregnates men with peace. Peace radiates from them; they carry peace wherever they go.

"Ask, and it shall be given to you; seek, and you shall find; knock, and it shall be opened to you." For God became Man at Bethlehem, and His face was not vengeful, but full of kindness.

It was to rescue sinners, not to condemn them, that Jesus lived and died. To rescue sinners He suffered a violent death on the Cross. In His death He revealed His boundless love for men: "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do."

God loves us, and asks for our love in return. He holds out His hand to us and says, "Come to Me, all you that labor and are burdened, and I will refresh you."

THEN WHO, wanting God, should hesitate to approach Him? Speak to Him; pray to Him. He will listen! He will reassure you as He did the disciples in Galilee: "It is I; be not afraid."—(By Rev. Patrick Peyton.)

You're "sitting pretty" behind the wheel

Take this Bel Air model. First thing you'll notice is the quality of the interior. Rich-looking appointments. Roomy seats with foam rubber cushions. Turn the key to start the engine and you're ready to go.

You can see all around

You look out and down through a wide, curved, one-piece windshield. The panoramic rear window and big side windows provide a clear view in all directions.

You get more power on less gas

That's because Chevrolet's two great valve-in-head engines are high-compression engines. In Powerglide* models, you get the most powerful engine in Chevrolet's field—the new 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame." Gearshift models offer the advanced 108-h.p. "Thrift-King" engine.

Biggest brakes for smoother, easier stops

An easy nudge on the pedal brings smooth, positive response—right now! Chevrolet's improved brakes are the largest in the low-price field.

I was ahead in every way after this demonstration!

I figured on paying about $200 more for a new car... until I discovered all that Chevrolet offered me.

It's heavier for better roadability

You're in for a pleasant surprise at the smooth, steady, big-car ride of this new Chevrolet. One reason is that, model for model, Chevrolet will weigh up to 200 pounds more than the other low-priced cars.

You get greater getaway with the new Powerglide*
A lot finer performance on a lot less gas. That's what you get with the new Powerglide automatic transmission. There's no more advanced automatic transmission at any price.

And it's the lowest-priced line
A demonstration will show you that Chevrolet offers just about everything you could want. Yet it's the lowest-priced line in the low-price field.

*Combination of Powerglide automatic transmission and 115-h.p. "Blue-Flame" engine optional on "Two-Ten" and Bel Air models at extra cost.

Let us demonstrate all the advantages of buying a Chevrolet now!

FISHY, BUT TRUE—Frank Bracker, of Davenport, Ia., caught a minnow that caught a catfish. While Bracker was pulling a one-pound minnow from the Mississippi River, a 25-pound catfish tried to swallow it. The big fish didn't stand a chance once its meal was half swallowed. The minnow's expanded gills served as a harpoon.

Clowning in Skirts Nets $96 for Lions

The Gainesville Lions excelled in appearance if not in skill when they took on the Muenster Lions here Friday night in a farce ball game to raise funds for the Muenster band. With more complete costume and more gaudy makeup they did the better job of making themselves ridiculous in women's attire.

Likewise they excelled in antics, so they win acclaim for the better performance even though Muenster batters made a race track out of the diamond. The umpire was not impressed by runs, however. He declared the Muenster team the winner by a one run margin.

The total benefit to the band uniform fund amounted to slightly more than $96. Admission charges accounted for $75 and the concession stand netted the remainder.

Mrs. Ray Evans and Mrs. Ervin Hamric were in Dallas at market Monday.

Rain Measures .48

More rain and more cool weather are making the traditionally hot and dry month of August delightfully different this year, but still considerably less different than in 1950 when rainfall of the month broke all records for a total of more than ten inches.

Prevailing cloudy weather for the past several days has kept temperature down to a pleasant level besides adding .48 inch to the 2 inches previously recorded since the beginning of the month. That's at Steve Mosters' official rain gauge. On all sides of town farmers report that they got considerably more in last Sunday's early afternoon shower.

The year's total now stands at 19.55 which is still below normal up to this time. Nevertheless vegetation looks good and offers hope for more good grazing and more hay cuttings before winter. Lawns and flowers are thriving too, and a number of fall gardens are looking good.

Marysville Trims Auctioneers 5 to 1

The Muenster Auctioneers got a surprise last week Thursday when the Marysville boys avenged a previous one sided loss with a clean-cut 5-1 victory.

Leonard Quick, a newcomer on the team, turned in a fine pitching performance which accounted mostly for his team's win. He racked up 15 strikeouts in the seven inning game and faced a total of only 26 batters, allowing only 3 hits.

Tuesday night against the Gainesville Bears the Auctioneers racked up an easy 12-3 victory to even their record for the week. They took a 4 run lead in a strong first inning and widened their margin steadily for the rest of the game. However they had to hustle every minute to keep the visitors under control. The Bears put a total of 16 men on base during the nine innings.

The Muenster team has been helped considerably by the return of William Walterscheid this week. He relieved Mollenkopf as pitcher Tuesday night.

Next on schedule are Marysville here Thursday night and Windthorst here Sunday afternoon.

MARJORIE ANN GOSSETT HAS BIRTHDAY PARTY

frightening. They make us wonder what's ever going to become of our country if we lack the character to demand our own rights and to tell other countries that we will have no part of their double standard of world ethics. A nation, like a man, has to stand on principle. It has to chart its course according to standards of right and wrong as laid down by Almighty God in the Ten Commandments and the laws of nature. After all, this is God's world, and the only way man can avoid confusion in it is by living in His way.

So Uncle Sam's main concern now should be to make sure first of all that he's conducting himself according to the dictates of Divine law, then to stick by his course in all dealings with other nations. If they don't want to go along under that condition, let them know that he's ready to go it alone. That's isolationism, we have to admit. But it's respectable, and far better for us in the long run than the kind of confusion we have been indulging in.

The Berends returned home Sunday accompanied by their son, Leroy, who had spent the summer with his uncle and family. Mr. and Mrs. Mages remained for a longer visit with their son.
