"Gasohol, Boon or Boondiddle?" is the title of an interesting item featured in this month's newsletter of the Texas Good Roads/Transportation Association.

It reminds us that controversy continues to rage over the production and use of the material, a nine to one mixture of unleaded gasoline and alcohol. This idea gets much of its appeal from the fact that the alcohol can be made from a variety of agricultural products, many of which normally go to waste and some of which are periodically in over-production. Such products are corn, grain sorghum, wheat, potatoes, sugar beets, sugar cane, timber and even manure.

Gasoholics, the enthusiastic advocates, claim gasohol will stretch energy supplies, reduce pollution, increase mileage and create new markets for farm products. But the gasohol temperance league, including many agricultural experts, say that it takes more energy to produce the alcohol than you get when you burn it, so the cost is too high to be economically feasible.

This statement, according to Texas Farm Bureau, is supported by a study at Oklahoma State University showing that the costs of making alcohol from wheat would be prohibitive. The OSU scientists learned that only half as much energy is returned as must be applied in modern high yield production and distilling processes.

A related problem in the production of alcohol is the cost of a substantial grain reserve, which is complicated by fluctuating grain prices. Needless to say, the volume of grain needed for the enormous alcohol production program would have undesirable side effects on the grain market. Prices would go up, causing a cost increase in the production of beef, pork, poultry and dairy products. Of course, these higher prices would also cause an increase in the cost of alcohol, making it less competitive with other fuels.

Along with high production cost and ill effect on the grain market, there's also the matter of capacity to distill enough alcohol. Texas Agriculture quotes Herb Karner of the Tulsa World as saying that US would need to use all of its wheat barley and rye crops and half of the corn crop, plus 120 times our present distilling capacity, to furnish enough alcohol for the nation-wide gasohol program. To put the issue another way, Karner points out that all of the nation's distilled products last year amounted to about 60 million gallons, and the total of gasoline consumption was 300 million gallons a day. Used in gasohol at a rate of ten percent, our entire production of alcohol would be enough for only two days.

To carry this subject a bit farther, we need to remember that vast amounts of energy are used in planting and harvesting grain crops continued on page 16...

It's Time to Change Clocks

Clock changing time is here again. At 2 a.m. Sunday the nation will officially discontinue Daylight Saving Time and return to Standard Time, in which noon comes in the middle of the day, like it did long ago.

Getting back in tune with the sun involves setting clocks back an hour some time during Saturday night. Failure to do so may result in being an hour early for church service Sunday.

DST is observed for six months a year in accordance with the 1966 Uniform Time Act. It becomes effective on the last Sunday of April and ends the last Sunday of October.

County Farm Bureau Elects John A. Klement

John A. Klement is the new president of the Cooke County Farm Bureau succeeding Ray Sicking. He was elected last Thursday at the organization's annual local convention at Cooke County College.

Also elected at that time were Elmer Fox as first vice president and Lany Lewter as second vice president.

Headliner of the meeting was Carrol Chaloupka, state president of the Farm Bureau. Speaking to a disappointing crowd of less than 100 persons out of the 1300 membership, he touched on a number of issues that concern the welfare of agriculture on state and national levels.

Regarding initiative and referendum, a proposal favored by Governor Clements, he suggested that restraints be assured.

For instance the new law taxing agricultural land on production could be repealed if urban interests, with their larger voting strength, decided to revive the old taxing system. Reapportionment too could be adversely affected by a disproportionate division of rural and urban voting strength.

On the national level the FB leader attacked deficit spending as the principal cause of inflation, endorsed nuclear energy development as essential to sustain the high US standard of living, assailed the loss of agriculture's fuel priority, and added that the trucker problem was a shortage of pay rather than shortage of fuel.

Alumni Outlines Homecoming Plans

Plans for the SHH Homecoming Game, a social hour and the SH Alumni meeting were completed at the SH Alumni meeting on Sunday night, October 14. President John Bartush presided and announced that graduates of 1939, '49, '59 and '69 will be honored.

A 5 p.m. Mass will be offered in Sacred Heart Church. The social hour, and buffet, open to all SH graduates and spouses, will begin at 6 p.m. in the Community Center.

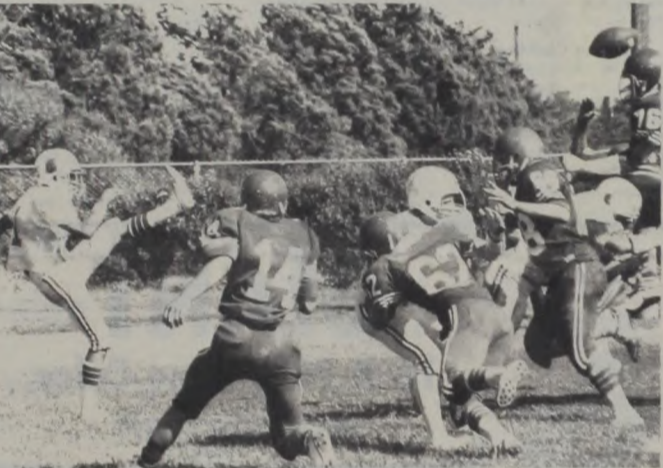

The dance following the game will be open to the public. Tickets will be $3.00 per person and $5.00 per couple. No advance tickets or reservations will be made. Beer, set-ups and ice will be available.

There will be an Exes football game on November 24. More information is available from Mark Hess or John Bartush.

The alumni expressed thanks to all who donated time and materials to the construction of the new Tiger Press Box.

Angelo Nasche announced a chartered bus for the Tiger - Tyler game on Oct. 26 and said that the Alumni will raise funds to pay for the Tigers' meal following the game.

Adjournment followed prayer. Members enjoyed a social hour.

This blocked punt by John Hartman, 76, resulted in a safety for the Tigers in their game with Christ the King. Also in the action are Kenny Hartman, 14, Phil Walterscheid, 62, and Teddy Walterscheid, 68.

Tigers Start TCIL with 23-12 Win over Trojans

A highly successful season continued for the Sacred Heart Tigers Saturday as they started their TCIL schedule with a win while extending the season record to 6-1.

They set back the Trojans of Lubbock's Christ the King by a count of 23-12 in an action packed second half that put four touchdowns and a safety on the scoreboard. At the same time they led the statistics with 16-9 in first downs and 169 to 134 in total yardage in spite of being at the short end of 3 to 1 turnovers.

Their good work started with first possession. With Brian Bednorz as quarterback and Kirk Mollenkopf, Kenny Hartman and Mark Nasche as running backs, they gained 36 yards and got 15 on a penalty in 12 plays to reach the 9 yard line. From there Nasche made 6 in two tries and Hartman scored from the 3. Bednorz added 2 points in a scoot around right end. SH led 8-0 as the clock read 5:33.

That's how the score remained for the balance of the half. However there were anxious moments for the Tigers starting with an interception by Washburn near the end of the first quarter.

Starting on the SH 45, the Trojans advanced in six plays to first and goal at the 3. Two tries there lost 5 and a pass went incomplete and a fourth down score was barely avoided when Steve Hennigan and Bednorz pushed Steve David out of bounds at the 1.

That was the Tigers' first defensive test and the second was about to come. Washburn intercepted Bednorz putting the Trojans back in business at the 2 with four more tries at the goal. Again the Tigers stood pat for three tries, and on fourth they did better. Phil Walterscheid and Paul Bartush nailed the CK quarterback for a 5 yard loss. The remainder of the half was uneventful.

But the tempo picked up quickly after intermission. Trojans kicked on first series and so did the Tigers. Hartman's effort into the wind was partly blocked ending with fine field position for CK on the SH 32. Three plays netted 4 yards and a pass for 14 reached the 14. And two plays later Kitten passed to Washburn for a touchdown. Tigers still led 8-6 at 7:01.

The Trojans second TD started the same way. Tigers had to kick on first series continued on page 10...

Bloodmobile Will Collect Wednesday

Another day of blood collection for the Muenster blood bank is scheduled next Wednesday, October 31, 2 to 7 p.m. in the Muenster K of C Hall.

Then there a bloodmobile unit from the Red River Region of Red Cross Blood Service from Wichita Falls will be on hand to collect and package the blood, which is taken to Wichita Falls and stored for distribution to 41 participating hospitals in 28 counties of North Texas and South Oklahoma.

All 41 areas of the system call on the Wichita Falls facility for their needs and all take their turns at having a visit by the bloodmobile to help provide for the entire system. The schedule is arranged so that the center's blood supply remains as fresh as possible at all times, and the goal for each visit is determined by the amount used in that locality.

Muenster's goal next Wednesday will be 100 pints.

Though the bloodmobile visit has been routine for several years, it's going to be different this time. Red Cross now has a new set of equipment, easier to transport and set up and take down, and especially more comfortable and efficient.

A specially noticeable difference is that donors will occupy lounge chairs instead of cots. They will be seated, able to see and speak to others instead of just lying there looking at the ceiling. Also the lounges, nurses' chairs and other equipment will be on rollers so that it can be moved around more easily. The entire facility is built for convenience and comfort in blood collection.

The Red Cross blood program is a definite asset to the Muenster Hospital and the hospital district. Because blood is donated there is no continued on page 16...

Muenster Nudged 7-6 By Callisburg Wildcats

Lady Luck frowned on the Hornets Friday night in their game at Callisburg, allowing the Wildcats to hang on to a narrow 7-6 lead and put a bit of sweetening into the homecoming festivity.

The game was a defensive tussle most of the way with statistics about as close as the score. Muenster was ahead 18-10 in first downs whereas Callisburg led 198 to 193 in total yardage and recovered one Hornet fumble, the only turnover of the game.

The Hornets' great disappointment was in missing four opportunities to win. Following their touchdown they tried for a 2 point PAT and missed. Later they were pounding on the goal line with a set-up on the 4 yard line and got penalized to the 19. And when three runs fell short of the distance they tried a field goal, also unsuccessfully. Also, before their score a long drive played out only 11 yards short of the goal. The sad result is that MHS was on the unhappy end of the 7-6 score and that its season record now stands at 3-4 and the 14-A record at 1-3.

Callisburg's score came late in the first quarter after Muenster's short kick inside its 10 and against the wind was returned to the 20. Two short plays there gained 3 and Williams got 12 more to the 5. Tim Hoyt scored on the next play and Tracey Wilson's kick added the point which was to become the margin of victory. The time was 2:41 in the first period.

Muenster came back with a drive that looked great. Todd Richey, Kevin Klement, and Tim Hermes gained consistently in a 59 yard drive using 10 plays and then ran out of steam. The next four plays, starting at the 21, fell 6 inches short continued on page 11...

Tim Hermes, 21, and Dale Swirczynski, 33, combine efforts to bring down Daven Overstreet in last Saturday's game with Callisburg. Also there are Mark Felderhoff, 81, and Floyd Felderhoff, 80.

WASHINGTON, D.C. — In response to the rapid rise in hospital costs, the House Ways and Means Committee recently reported the Hospital Cost Containment Act. This legislation would place mandatory controls on hospital bills if price increases go above a certain rate.

The bill, as proposed, establishes a cumbersome method for reducing the cost of health care by placing a lid on revenues, but does nothing to decrease the expenses that hospitals must pay.

No one can dispute the fact that rapid cost escalations have occurred in the health services industry because of a combination of factors. The cost of malpractice insurance has risen from $100 million in 1972 to $1 billion a year. The hospital industry is subjected to an extraordinary amount of regulation by government agencies. A recent study found that over $1.1 billion was spent in New York alone to comply with regulations. This amount represents 25 percent of hospital costs in New York state. Also Medicare and Medicaid reimbursements have greatly increased the demand for services by the poor and the elderly. From the inception of Medicare in 1965 to 1977, admissions of persons over 65 increased 62 percent and the number of inpatient days increased 39 percent.

In recent years we have seen a dramatic expansion and improvement in medical care. We have been paying higher prices for what we receive, but people are receiving more and better services. If hospital revenues are curtailed, then the quality and amount of care will be diminished. The implementation of technological innovations would be hampered because their introduction might increase costs. If a revenue shortage became severe then services would have to be rationed and could even be canceled. There is an alternative that is worse than high priced service and that is no service at all. We should give high priority to our health and not take actions that will prevent the delivery of health care.

Hospital Cost Containment could be particularly detrimental to our rural areas where medical services are scarce. The construction of new hospitals and the improvement of treatment has to be paid for. These necessary services cannot be provided if the money is not there.

The rapid rise in hospital costs must be confronted in the true spirit of free enterprise. Measures need to be taken to help lower the expenses that hospitals must pay. A more responsive and consistent regulatory policy that recognizes the needs of the patients and the health care industry would be a step in the right direction. Better utilization of existing services and the prevention of needless care must be addressed.

Legislation that confronts the results of high costs instead of the causes is doomed to failure. Hospital Cost Containment will not be effective and would provide an entirely inappropriate mechanism for attempting to reduce the rate of increase in hospital costs.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — The curtain opened last week on the second act of a political drama that has promised for weeks to put the Governor of Texas and the Texas Attorney General on a collision course in the courtroom.

Attorney General Mark White filed suit in a Houston federal court last week seeking $10 million in damages from SEDCO, the oil drilling firm founded by Gov. Bill Clements, and a Mexican drilling firm, Permargo.

White told reporters he will seek to prove negligence on the part of both drilling firms in connection with the Ixtoc I oil well blowout, the largest in history, which washed millions of barrels of crude oil onto Texas beaches this summer.

Although the well is still flowing, engineers last week managed to slow the flow with a giant metal cap placed over the wellhole on the Gulf floor.

White told reporters he declined to sue PEMEX, the Mexican government-owned oil company, because he did not want to interfere with U.S.-Mexico negotiations for damages in regard to the oil spill.

However, he left open the door on such legal action, should the negotiations fail to satisfy Texas interests. "We are refraining (from suing PEMEX) until it is certain that all negotiations by the U.S. Department of State for damages from Mexico have been exhausted," he said.

Clements Says "Politics"

White said several weeks ago, after he discovered SEDCO had scuttled the damaged drilling rig in deep international waters, that he would include SEDCO in the negligence lawsuit.

The Dallas-based drilling firm was founded by Republican Gov. Bill Clements, who turned it over to his son in a blind trust when he took office. Clements has charged that the suit is "politically motivated."

U.S. Gov. Bill Hobby and House Speaker Bill Clayton are two leaders whom Democrats are considering running against Clements in 1982. Several Clements supporters think White is maneuvering to have himself become a third choice, but so far White has mentioned only lawsuits, not gubernatorial races.

Meanwhile, SEDCO filed suit early last month to have all liability limited in a suit against SEDCO.

Fuel Tax Increase

Regarding tax issues, Clements last week said he will propose that the next Legislature increase the state gasoline tax, the lowest in the nation.

In concurrence with Hobby, Clements said the drop in gasoline sales has caused a shortage of revenues for highway construction. The nickel-a-gallon tax is levied on every gallon sold at the pumps, and recent curtailments in driving because of the fuel shortage is blamed for the loss.

Sales Tax Boost

Earlier, Clements told a group of Texas mayors he would consider backing an increase in the local option sales tax for cities from one cent to three cents.

The Mayors' Advisory Committee had urged him to boost the tax in order to replace all or part of the property tax revenues. Currently, cities may collect a one-cent sales tax in addition to the four-cent state sales tax.

The mayors would like to drop or lower property taxes in concurrence with the sales tax increase. Clements said he had no opinion on the issue at this time.

Grassroots Candidates

In the Panhandle, two farmers who were prime movers in grassroots organization of the American Agriculture Movement are moving into politics.

Gerald McCathern of Dalhart announced he will run against incumbent State Sen. Bob Price, R-Pampa.

R.C. Porter of Spearman announced for the House seat being vacated by Rep. Bob Close, R-Perryton. Close, a lawmaker highly respected by his colleagues, said last month he was getting out of politics to stay closer to home.

Bullock Heart Attack

State Comptroller Bob Bullock is in stable condition in an Austin hospital following a heart attack last week. Bullock, a hard-working politician who sometimes is thought to burn the candle at both ends, was reportedly reading press releases as he was wheeled into the intensive care unit for treatment.

AG Opinions

Mark White issued four attorney general opinions last week, including one ruling public junior colleges, in order to be eligible for state appropriations, must charge foreign students the same tuition rate charged by state senior colleges.

White also ruled the Texas Tech Board of Regents must comply with the terms of Senate Bill 213 in order to sell the land to which the bill relates.

And, the coordinating board and the governing boards of state-supported colleges and universities may not change the legislatively established name of an institution under their jurisdiction.

Finally, water supply corporations removed from the jurisdiction of the Public Utility Commission as of April 19, 1979, must pay assessment imposed by state law for the period during which they were subject to PUC jurisdiction.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN ON RELIGION IN AMERICA

Benjamin Franklin recognized the necessity of religion and morality for the advancement of our country. He published in 1789 an Address to the Public in which he proposed for youth, such learning as is necessary for their future situation in life, and especially a deep impression of the most important and generally acknowledged moral and religious principles.

In a letter to President Stiles of Yale College, Franklin briefly set forth his views on religion. "You desire to know something of my religion. It is the first time I have been questioned upon it. But I cannot take your curiosity amiss, and shall endeavor in a few words to gratify it. Here is my creed, I believe in one God, the creator of the universe. That He governs it by His Providence. That He ought to be worshipped. That the most acceptable service we render to Him is doing good to his other children. That the soul of man is immortal, and will be treated with justice in another life respecting its conduct in this.

These I take to be the fundamental points in all sound religion, and I regard them as you do in whatever sect I meet with them.

As to Jesus of Nazareth, my opinion of whom you particularly desire I think His system of morals and His religion, as He left them to us, the best the world ever saw or is like to see."

Franklin emphasized the necessity of religion in a letter which likely was written to Thomas Paine who wrote a book against Christianity. Franklin said: "I have read your manuscript with some attention. By the argument it contains against a particular Providence, though you allow a general Providence, you strike at the foundations of all religion. For without the belief of a Providence, that takes cognizance of guards and guides, and may favor particular persons, there is no motive to worship a Deity, to fear his displeasure, or to pray for his protection. "I will not enter into any discussion of your principles, though you seem to desire it. At present I shall only give you my opinion, that, though your reasonings are subtle, and may prevail with some readers, you will not succeed so as to change the general sentiments of mankind on that subject, and the consequence of printing this piece will be, a great deal of odium drawn upon yourself, mischief to you, and no benefit to others. He that spits against the wind, spits in his own face.

"But, were you to succeed, do you imagine any good would be done by it? You yourself may find it easy to live a virtuous life, without the assistance afforded by religion; you having a clear perception of the advantages of virtue, and the disadvantages of vice, and possessing a strength of resolution sufficient to enable you to resist common temptations. But think how great a portion of mankind consists of weak and ignorant men and women, and of inexperienced, inconsiderate youth of both sexes, who have need of the motives of religion to restrain them from vice, to support their virtue, and retain them in the practice of it till it becomes habitual, which is the great point for its security.

"Perhaps you are indebted to your religious education, for the habits of virtue upon which you now justly value yourself. You might easily display your excellent talents of reasoning upon a less hazardous subject, and thereby obtain a rank with our most distinguished authors. For among us it is not necessary, as among the Hottentots, that a youth to be raised into the company of men, should prove his manhood by beating his mother.

"I would advise you, therefore, not to attempt unchaining the tiger, but to burn this piece before it is seen by any other person; whereby you will save yourself a great deal of mortification by the enemies it may raise against you, and perhaps a good deal of regret and repentance.

"If men are so wicked with religion, what would they be if without it. I intend this letter itself as a proof of my friendship, and therefore add no professions to it; but subscribe simply, Yours, B. Franklin."

Forestburg News by Myrt Denham

Wonder what ever happened to our beautiful cool fall month of October? Seems as if August made its second debut. None of us are really looking for winter; however, most of us could do with cooler weather.

My partner and I departed this part of Texas Friday morning October 5th for New Braunfels where we visited with my relatives and some of our friends. We were house-guests of my brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy O. Zunker. Perryman enjoyed two afternoons of fishing on beautiful Canyon Lake—his luck was as usual but he did enjoy his outings on the lake. As usual one must return home which we did late Monday afternoon October 15th.

Heading for San Antonio on Saturday morning October 6th were Mr. and Mrs. A.G. Barclay to visit with Mrs. Barclay's relatives in the area. They visited with Mrs. Barclay's mother—Mrs. Archie Linder, also a sister and family plus cousins in S.A., a sister and family in Boerne. Then on to Port Lavaca to visit with daughter Glenda and family, on to Louise to visit daughter-in-law Mrs. Jane Barclay and children, on to Edna to visit Mr. and Mrs. Miller Rutledge and family, returning home Wednesday October 10th.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Sockwell departed D/FW Airport on Monday October 8th for O'Hare Airport, Chicago where they met up with 351 other folks of the "World Travel Group", made up mostly of farm and ranch folks. Roy Ray Reiman, publisher of Farm and Ranch Living and Farm Wife News, and his wife were the group tour escorts. They arrived in Zurich, Switzerland on Tuesday October 9th. They toured farms, villages, went sight-seeing and shopping in five countries that border Switzerland. The Sockwells returned home late Wednesday October 17th and are most elated over their trip and reported having had a marvelous time.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Carter

departed the Dewey area Monday morning October 15th and headed for Rock Springs, Wyoming to visit with their daughter and husband Mr. and Mrs. John Cowden. By Friday p.m. October 19th Jack and Vesta were back in "their nest" at Dewey. Vesta says the weather was "threatening" in that North Country so didn't tarry long. Vesta tells us this trip was the farthest and longest she had ever been away from home.

Mr. and Mrs. Billy Scott and Joe Don attended the Folk Life Festival in Livingston on Saturday Oct. 13th. There they attended a play—"Pardon Me Boys" put on by the town-folks. On Sunday October 14th they attended the Prison Rodeo at Huntsville.

Mrs. Larry (Debra) Dill was honored with a beautiful Pink and Blue Shower in the Annex of the Forestburg United Methodist Church on Sunday October 14th. Debra is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Steadham.

Recent visitors of Mrs. Mollie Howells were Mrs. Lillie Tinney, Mrs. Christine Wittingham and Mrs. Jackie Wagner all of Boyd.

On Monday night October 15th Miss Phyllis Lanier honored her sister Janice with a birthday party on her 17th birthday in the home of their parents Mr. and Mrs. Gene Lanier. Other guests were: Mrs. Cleo Lanier and Mrs. Lenora Moore—grandmothers of Janice, Mrs. Olita Lanier, Jeff and Tracey, Mrs. Travis Moore, Mrs. Dorothy Moore and Jennifer of Saint Jo, Chris Gresham and Gordon Griffin.

Mr. and Mrs. Troy Barclay of Alvord visited with Mr. and Mrs. A.G. Barclay on Saturday night October 13th—the two couples motored over to Saint Jo to eat supper out.

Mrs. Minnie Lou Martin of Saint Jo visited with Mrs. Olita Lanier and family recently.

Recent visitors in the home of Mrs. Oma Wakeman were Mrs. Libby Hancock and Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Chrestman of Alvord.

Mrs. Vera Mae McGee was hostess to a birthday party honoring Mmes. Decie Ellzey and Alice Shears in the Annex of the Forestburg United Methodist Church Friday night October 19th. Enjoying a very delicious supper, singing of old time songs, playing games and just good fellowship were: Mmes. Merle Hudspeth, Betty Reynolds, Ti Cook, Wanda Perryman, Cleo Lanier, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Jackson, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Littell, Mr. and Mrs. Denham, the guests of honor and the hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. David Klein of Alvord visited with Mrs. Kleins aunt and uncle—the A.G. Barclays Monday night October 15th. The four journeyed over to Saint Jo to dine out. Mrs. Klein is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Barclay of Alvord.

Mmes. Vera Mae McGee, Decie Ellzey, Laura Belle Jackson and Cleo Lanier visited Mrs. J.P. (Ora) Embry in the Muenster Hospital on Wednesday afternoon October 17th. Mrs. Embry underwent leg surgery on Monday October 15th and was released on Saturday the 20th. While visiting Mrs. Embry the group had the pleasure of meeting Dallas Cowboy Rookie Richard Gomez who was also a patient there.

Twentieth Anniversary Observed by Library

The Muenster Public Library is observing its twentieth anniversary of service to the community. The first books were offered to the public in September 20 years ago. The first public location was one room in the City Hall and the first books were from the Catholic Daughters of America who started the library as a civic project.

Previous to the move to the City Hall, the books were in the J.M. Weinzapfel home for several months with Mrs. Weinzapfel as librarian. These were available to everyone, but circulation was not as expected so steps were taken to move the library to a public location. Soon after its opening in the City Hall, books were donated by local and out-of-town friends, businesses and also by neighboring libraries. Mrs. Weinzapfel served as librarian for approximately five years, and is credited for the steady progress of the library during the first few trying years.

Mrs. Joseph A. Luke was her successor and held the job approximately nine years until her sudden death in January 1974. From one small room in the City Hall, the library expanded to a larger room, then to a residence on West 4th Street, and then to the present location which has housed the library for the past ten years. While Mrs. Luke was librarian the two changes of location occurred. This involved much planning and many, many additional volunteer hours.

In October 1965, the library was adopted by the City Council and officially became the Muenster Public Library. In 1974 definite steps were taken by the Library Board, with Sylvia Hofbauer Bayer as president and City Councilwoman Sue Endres as Library and Park Commissioner, to apply for membership in the Texas State Library System. The following year the library was accepted and has continued to expand ever since.

As a member of the Texas Library System, and more specifically, the Northeast Texas Library System with Dallas as the major resource center, the library is recipient of many services, some of which are: a film service from a catalogue of about 3,000 films, books, audio-visual materials and inter-library loan of print material. Audio-visual equipment: record player, 16mm projector and two tape player/recorders are also part of the library collection and can be used by local schools and organizations. Book stock is approximately 13,500 and nonprint material consists of 60 LP record titles, 47 cassettes and 34 filmstrips. "Friends of the Library" purchased a filmstrip projector and screen which is used for library programs including pre-school activity and summer story hour.

Present volunteer staff and the number of years service are: Mrs. Evelyn Schilling 15 years; Mrs. Teresa Fowler 6 years; Mrs. Betty Felderhoff 6 years; Mrs. Regina Pels 2 years and Mrs. Lois Marquardt 4 months. Victoria Gremminger and Mary Mosler, two of the original staff, are also serving at present, with the latter being the Librarian. Others with many years of volunteer service are Elizabeth Toothaker 14 years; and Lee Toothaker 10 years.

Elizabeth Herr had 12 years of service at the time of her death. Many others have assisted during the past 20 years by donating books, magazines, furniture, equipment, and material; by serving on the library board; by giving regular sizeable cash donations; by building shelves; and by helping with the actual library routine work. To all who have helped in any way, the library owes a great deal of gratitude and thanks.

Present library board members are Robert McDaniel president; John Yosten vice president; Earline Tisdale secretary; Loree Bruns treasurer; and Jim Gehrig, Ruth Felderhoff and recently resigned Mrs. Alice Roark.

The library's source of income is from city and county taxes, donations and fines. State and federal financial assistance is in the form of books and audio-visual material.

What Do Trees Do for Us?

What's a tree done for you lately? For most people, it has put a roof over their heads, clothes on their backs, produced clean air to breathe, and improved the environment for a better place to live.

Think about it. Your everyday life is dependent upon forest products. Pencils, laminated beams for construction, clear drinking water, cleaner air—all these things can be attributed to the forest and its products.

That's why the week of October 21 is proclaimed National Forest Products Week. It's a time to remember and appreciate the forests, industries, organizations and individuals that make our world a better place to live.

According to Texas Forest Service statistics, Texans are taking their forest land seriously. Although more than a half million acres of forest land were consumed by highways, cities, residential development and recreational lakes since 1965; Texas produced 103 million cubic feet more wood in 1978 than in 1975.

Demands for forest and wood product usage is increasing at alarming rates, but land for growing trees is decreasing. Individuals and private forest landowners must practice good forest management, or soon there will be fewer forests and less wood products to serve our needs.

Every week can be Forest Products Week by conserving paper and other wood products and encouraging others to do the same. If you own forest land, talk to a forester and find out what you can do to make you land more productive and profitable. If you don't know a forester, write the Texas Forest Service, College Station, TX 77843.

Without everyone's help or concern, Forest Products Week is just another week.

Among those adopted was a statewide sales tax to help lower property taxes as well as to get revenue from people who escape tax by having wealth in forms that are not taxed. A state income tax proposed for the same purpose failed to get support.

Karen Schilling and Richard Moster Exchange Vows in Two Ring Nuptial

Miss Karen Schilling became the bride of Richard Moster Friday, October 19 in a double ring ceremony and Nuptial Mass in Sacred Heart Church. The groom's brother, Father Jim Moster of Hays, Kansas officiated at 6 p.m.

The bride is a daughter of Carl J. Schilling and the groom is a son of Mrs. Elizabeth Moster. Both are graduates of Sacred Heart High School. She is employed by Jr. Elite and he by Muenster Milling Company.

The altar before which their vows were exchanged was decorated with arrangements of white gladioli and lighted candles.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father. She wore a formal wedding gown of dacron polyester organza, fully lined with acetate taffeta. A lace stand-up collar and front and back lace ruffles trimmed the venise lace bodice. The long illusion sleeves were also trimmed with lace inset bands and were finished with lace cuffs. Her fingertip veil of illusion was lace trimmed and attached to an open caplet of matching lace. Her bridal flowers were carried in a nosegay of roses, carnations and lilies of the valley.

For "something old" a rosary from her late mother was entwined in her bouquet, and for "something borrowed", she wore a gold cross belonging to an aunt, Mrs. Ed Endres.

Attendants

The matron of honor was Mrs. Allen Truenebach, the bride's sister, Carla. She wore a long gown of rose and light pink designed with flutter sleeves formed from the top of three tiers of bodice material and she carried a long stemmed white rose edged in pink.

The best man was Damien Moster, the groom's brother. Ushers were J.T. Pagel and Ronnie Yosten, friends of the groom. Mass servers were Lonnie Henscheid and Ronnie Truenebach.

Presenting wedding music were Mrs. Linda Flusche, organist and Mrs. Janet Voth and Gayle Miller, cousins of the bride, who sang with guitar accompaniment.

Nieces of the couple April Truenebach, Angie Eldred, Cher Moster and Kathy Moster participated in the Offertory procession. The bride and groom presented a floral tribute at the Blessed Mother's altar.

Reception

A reception and dinner followed in the Sacred Heart Community Center. The guest registration table held the couple's memory candle, the bride's wedding book, and a floral arrangement centered by two white doves. The bride's table held silver candelabra with pink candles.

The three tiered wedding cake was served by Betty Rose Walterscheid, Charlotte Hermes, Joie Reed, and Doris Klement.

From the reception, the couple departed for their wedding trip to Galveston and Houston, and will reside in Muenster.

Among pre-nuptial parties was a shower in the home of Carla Truenebach with Joie Reed, Doris Klement and Charlotte Hermes as co-hostesses. Another shower was hosted by Lou Moster and Birdie Dickerson in the TP&L Building; and Connie Bezner hosted a luncheon in her home in Gainesville on October 13.

Hazards Haunt Halloween

In recent years Halloween has been scarier for adults than children. Children can imagine a world of spooks and goblins. Adults must face the very real threats of poisoned candy, vehicle accidents, dangerous costumes and other hazards endangering children. Seeking ways to avoid these problems and decrease vandalism, parents increasingly are steering their children toward organized activities such as school carnivals and parties.

Such efforts have been at least partially successful — or maybe children simply are forbidden to go out on Halloween. In any case, the number of trick-or-treaters in many places has declined dramatically.

Yet Halloween is too well established to die out completely. Since people probably will continue celebrating it in some form or other, here are some tips from the Texas Medical Association (TMA) to cut down on Halloween hazards.

Giving balloons, pencils, coins or other small, inexpensive items probably will please children as much as receiving candy. Some inedible treats may even be cheaper than candy and will not be wasted by parents who have to throw away treats that might be poisoned.

Adults can decrease the possibility of poisoning by giving only treats in their original wrappers that could not be poisoned and then re-wrapped. Parents should use the same standards when inspecting treats. Parents also should throw away fruit and other treats that could be injected with dangerous substances because they easily could overlook the pinhole a needle would make.

Costumes are another responsibility parents have. They should avoid costume masks that could slip and block a child's vision or breathing. Painting a child's face with cosmetics, grease paint or burned cork and be a good substitute.

The costume itself should be light-colored to help motorists spot children, flame resistant and not so loose or long it could trip a child or catch on obstacles. Costumes also should not include sharp objects, torches or candles. Adults can improve safety by putting reflective tape or luminous paint on costumes and objects children carry.

People can make their property safer and cut down on vandalism several ways. For instance, keep the property well lighted and put away hoses, lawn furniture and garbage cans. If possible, put cars in the garage and lock them. Bring pets inside to protect them and children from each other.

Simple preparations such as these can help both children and adults survive the season, TMA says.

Busy Texas Bees to Produce 7.5 Million Pounds of Honey

AUSTIN—With both the number of bee colonies and average yield per colony up substantially, Texas beekeepers are expected to harvest some 7.5 million pounds of honey in the state this year, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has announced.

"Reports from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service show that honey harvest for 1979 should increase by about 1.7 million pounds over the previous year when drought conditions severely cut into honey output," Brown said.

Texas production for the current year is up despite an overall decline in honey production nationwide. Texas is currently ranked third in the nation in total number of beehive colonies, Brown pointed out.

In the 20 major honey-producing states, production from commercial apiaries will drop 2 percent this year to 144 million pounds. These states (Texas included) harvested just over 147 million pounds last year. An estimated 1.95 million colonies of bees were held by these apiaries in 1979, up 2 percent from the 1978 level of 1.92 million colonies. Average yield per colony nationwide should be down by 2.8 pounds.

Brown noted that while Texas honey production suffered from drought in 1978, California recorded unusually high yields. This year, however, production in that far western state has declined to more normal levels.

Great bad books flawed favorites

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — They're teaching a course on "Great Bad Books" at The University of Texas.

The American Studies course has assigned books not usually studied in universities but which have become long-time favorites—"Gone With the Wind," "Dracula," "Tarzan of the Apes," "How to Win Friends and Influence People," among others.

Dr. William Stott, who teaches the course, says some of the books are "works of remarkable feats of imagination" even though most are flawed by sentimentality in some way. In trying to make students more aware as readers, he wants them to analyze how even "Great Bad Books" can satisfy readers' emotional and imaginative needs.

COLLEGE STATION — A record 202 National Merit scholars are attending Texas A&M University this fall, an increase of 31 over last year when Texas A&M ranked first among public institutions in the Southwest in enrollment of these high-achieving students.

The 1979 National Merit Scholar total represents an 18 percent gain, as opposed to a 3.6 percent increase in overall enrollment.

What Happened To The Typewriter?

Christopher Latham Sholes would probably never have believed it: the familiar typewriter transformed into part of a system known as "information processing."

Information processing. In case you haven't heard the name before, better get used to it. By all indications, it's here to stay.

Sholes perfected the first practical typewriter in a Milwaukee shop in 1868, but he was not the first to invent the machine. Matter of fact, by count, Sholes was the fifty-second "inventor."

It is believed Samuel L. Clemens, America's Mark Twain, was the first author to submit a typed manuscript of his work — for "Tom Sawyer."

The typewriter quickly gained popularity and, by the turn of the century, it had no less than 30 manufacturers in the United States alone.

The next step in the evolution to information processing probably came with the introduction of automatic typewriters in the 1930s. The machines used a punch paper roller storage mechanism similar to those found on the then-popular player-piano.

In the 1950s, punched paper tape was used to store information for later play back. The subsequent development of computers and microelectronics provided the basis for modern information processing systems.

Today, a little more than a century after Sholes' first typewriter, first word processing — and now information processing — is capturing the attention.

Here is how a typical word processing system functions, according to researchers for the 3M Com-

F.H.A. members assisted Flowers By Dolores, by taking orders for Homecoming mums. Those who helped with this project were Carol Klement, Toni Dittfurth, Judy Walterscheid, and Denise Sicking. A percentage of the money collected was earned by F.H.A. for their treasury.

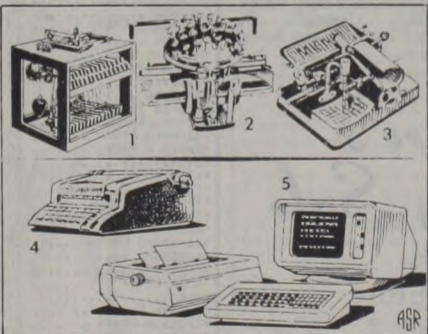

Family Living class is completing a project this week on the cost of getting married. The class divided into pairs and found out what the responsibilities of the bride and groom were. Every detail was investigated and a booklet was made itemizing the total cost, and describing the wedding plans in detail.

Halloween Dance

Plans have been finalized for the F.H.A. Halloween dance, next Tuesday, October 30 in the Muenster Public School gym. Prizes will be given for the funniest spookiest, most original and most authentic costumes. Those in costumes will meet at 7:00 p.m. to make their annual Halloween visit to Saint Richard's Villa. The dance will be from 8:00 to 10:30 p.m. and admission will be seventy five cents. A donation from the proceeds will be made to the Leo Hesse Fund. All high school students of Muenster are invited to attend and help make this project a success.

Mrs. Joni Sturm, Muenster Public School Home Economics teacher will attend the Area V In-Service Education Conference for Homemaking teachers, this Saturday at O.D. Wyatt High School, Fort Worth. The theme of the workshop is "Home Economics: Your Creative Turfs". Area V is joining the other nine areas over the state in a unified effort to strengthen one of the facets of vocational homemaking education. This year the state-wide thrust is on Consumer Nutrition Education for the purpose of improving nutritional status of individuals and families over Texas.

In some arid regions of the west, the chipmunk has learned to do without water for months at a time. It extracts moisture from succulent green plants and from the starch of seeds.

Early type writing machines were a far cry from sophisticated word processing systems in use today. (1) kitchen table model typewriter developed by Christopher Sholes in 1868; (2) 19th century Hansen Skrivekugle Writing Ball; (3) type sleeve MIGNON, popular until the 1930s; (4) streamlined electrically operated and self-lighted typewriter once thought of as the "machine of tomorrow;" (5) modern 3M System 84 Information Processor.

pany, a leading producer. Instead of typing directly onto paper, in word processing typed information appears on a TV-like screen and is recorded — usually on a "diskette" (which looks something akin to a phonograph record). Work is easily edited or revised before finished copy is printed out on paper. And, because material is recorded and doesn't have to be re-typed each time, additional "originals" can be made as often as needed. Additional material can even be recorded while the system is printing previously recorded material. Typing costs are substantially reduced.

What's next? Enter the "information processor." The researchers have now taken the word processor to its next logical step and developed a second generation system — the 3M System 84 Information Processor — combining word processing with data processing. The system uses a three-stage "building block" approach, upgrading and customizing to meet changing needs.

The typewriter has come a long way since Sholes perfected that first practical model. Experts now predict the day is not far off when there will be information terminals in many American homes — even yours. But, rest easy, Mr. Sholes — your typewriter never looked better!

63 - Day Fight Ends For Cindy Morris

Cindy Morris, the 17 year old Celina High School cheerleader who lay paralyzed for 63 days after a fall which broke three vertebrae, lost her fight for life Tuesday morning in Presbyterian Hospital of Dallas. Funeral service for her was held at Celina Wednesday afternoon and burial was at Van Alstyne.

In spite of her serious condition her death came as a shock because she had been off the respirator for two weeks and appeared to be improving. She died of internal bleeding.

For a Safer Halloween

This Halloween, check safety features for children's "trick or treating" costumes, advises Claudia Kerbel, a consumer information specialist.

Ms. Kerbel is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A & M University System.

She suggests these Halloween costume safety features:

- (1) Consider using make-up to decorate the face rather than wearing a mask which may block vision. Apply cold cream before putting on make-up for easy removal.
- (2) Sew or glue reflective tape to both front and back of the costume. Be creative and incorporate the tape into the costume design.
- (3) When possible, choose light-colored costumes — they will be more visible to motorists.
- (4) Check labels or packaging on bought costumes for flame-retardant finishes. Children may be exposed to many direct sources of fire such as lighted pumpkins, colorful candles or open fires for roasting marshmallows.
- (5) For home-sewn costumes, select fabrics with a flame-retardant finish.
- (6) If costumes are too long, shorten them by hemming or cutting them off with pinking shears. This will lessen the chance of a child tripping or falling.
- (7) If possible, give each child a flashlight to use at night. If he/she wants to carry a jack-o-lantern, put a flashlight inside — never a candle.

ter kickoff and CK got its second blocked kick. Riojas did it, setting up his team on the 20. A penalty and two plays reached the 9, then another penalty and Steve David's 5 yard effort reached pay dirt. Again the try for bonus points failed, but the Trojans were ahead 12-8. The time was 4:04.

An inspiring return by Bednorz on the next kickoff seemed to lift the Tiger morale. From the 5 he almost got away and was stopped on the Tiger 40. Three tries then gained just a little after which Hartman, on a fake kick, passed to Mike Hesse for 20 yards. Three short gains plus a face mask penalty then went to the 12. Then a 5 yard gain plus another penalty reached the 4. Nasche made that distance in two tries. The try for extra points failed and SH was ahead 14-12 at 0:18 in the third period.

Following the next kick off the visitors had to punt on first possession. So did the Tigers, however their effort turned out to be a big play. Kenny Hartman got off a good kick with the wind and John Hartman got downfield in time to kill it on the 2 yard line. It was a 73 yard punt.

Defense again rose to the occasion there. SH held for three downs and then John Hartman blocked the kick. Kitten recovered it in the end zone, giving SH a safety, and a lead of 16-12.

The Tigers had momentum, and proceeded to improve their score in the remaining 7 minutes and 50 seconds. Following the Trojan free kick after safety, SH went to work in midfield and gained 15 on the first play, a pass from Hartman to Monte Endres. Next a pass interference call moved them 7 yards to the 28. A screen pass to Nasche and three short gains went to the 16. And finally Mollenkopf got around right end on an option pitch out from Hartman. Mike Hesse's kick added a point and the Tigers led 23-12.

As the final 5:24 ticked away Sacred Heart threatened again. Trojans kicked on first series and Tigers were 20 yards from the goal. However the drive ended abruptly with a fumble recovery by David on the 5. From there CK went upfield until an interception by Nasche on the last play.

Odds are Stacked Against Hornets in Pottsboro Game

Regardless of the record and the odds, Coach Stinson and the Hornets still have their chins up for the game this week with Pottsboro. They have a confident feeling that if they can shake off their recent jinx they will be able to get back into the win column.

A sample of their problem is the disaster at Callisburg last week when they did a good job of holding the Wildcats and led the offensive stats but missed at least four fat opportunities to score the winning points.

Of course, they are also aware that the odds are stacked against them this time. Pottsboro is 3-1 in the district, whereas Muenster is 1-3. The Cardinals' only loss was 12-0 to undefeated Celina, and the wins include 14-0 over Callisburg, which has just nudged MHS. The signs point to a harder game than last week for MHS, but a change in fortunes can overcome a lot of the odds.

On the positive side for the Hornets is the fact that all players are in good physical condition and the rushing game has been improving since Richey returned from his early season injury. Another plus factor is homecoming with its customary inspiration.

Results of last week's 14-A games were Pottsboro 22, Sanger 13; Pilot Point 20, Aubrey 0; Celina 17, Lindsay 12; Callisburg 7, Muenster 6.

District standings after the fourth week are Pilot Point 4-0, Celina 4-0, Pottsboro 3-1, Callisburg 2-2, Muenster 1-3, Lindsay 1-3, Aubrey 1-3, Sanger 0-4.

Joggers warned to be careful

COLLEGE STATION — As the number of joggers hitting the track increases daily, a Texas A&M University expert assures that jogging doesn't have to hurt to be helpful.

"If you can't carry on a conversation while jogging, you are doing it too hard — slow down," says Dr. George Jessup, assistant professor of health and physical education.

Jessup, an authority on exercising to improve the cardiovascular system, advises the novice jogger to start slowly, running only until the body begins to feel tired. The purpose is to get the heart rate up, which can be accomplished with moderate exercise, he emphasizes.

Volley Teams Take 2 from Callisburg

Muenster High's volleyball team improved its district record to 2-1 Tuesday in a pair of matches with the girls of Callisburg. Junior Varsity started the good work by winning two straight games, 15-6 and 15-8 and the varsity did likewise by more decisive counts of 15-2 and 15-5.

The record now shows wins over Callisburg and Aubrey and a loss to Sanger. Pilot Point, which started the season, has pulled out.

Callisburg Blasts Muenster Juniors

Dismal seasons for the Muenster junior teams continued through the past week when they were victims of the Callisburg teams.

The Little Monsters were clobbered 26-0 in the opener and Junior Varsity Hornets went down 14-6 in the second game.

The first game was hopelessly one sided with the visitors having all the physical advantages. Muenster kids did a good job in holding them to only one touchdown in the first half.

Game No. 2 was more interesting, but still leaned definitely in favor of Callisburg. The visitors scored first by topping a drive with a 2 yard plunge into the line.

Also in the second quarter the Hornets got on the score board with a 23 yard touchdown pass from Kevin Felderhoff to David Flusche. And in the third period Callisburg completed a drive with a 6 yard touchdown.

The action so far has been mostly for practice, however. The district title will be determined by a tournament in the MHS gym on Saturday, Nov. 3. It will consist of only three matches, two to determine semifinal winners, then the two winners contending for the trophy.

SH Junior Teams Lose Two at Boyd

Junior teams of Sacred Heart lost a double header Thursday night at Boyd, the Cubs by a score of 22-0, and the Junior Varsity Tigers 8-0.

The SH junior high boys did not have a chance in the face of superior power which did about as it pleased all the way.

The home team got organized late in the first period, completing a drive with a 2 yard plunge and circling end for 2 more points.

Next one was late in the second quarter, a 45 yard drive in 8 plays ending in a 5 yard plunge into the end zone.

The third TD, in the third quarter, came on a 55 yard breakaway and a run raised the score to 22-0.

The Cubs failed to make a first down or to advance beyond mid field.

The second game was more interesting as both teams threatened but only Boyd was able to get across the line.

Boyd used the first quarter on a 65 yard drive that was interrupted three times by turnovers. SH recovered a yellowjacket fumble on the 22 and had to kick on second series, Boyd's good run back reaching the 30. Next a 21 yard pass went to the 4, and an exchange of interceptions followed. Then Boyd scored from the 19 on the first play of the second quarter. A run added extra points, and that was the end of the scoring.

Near the end of the period Boyd moved again until stalled by a 15 yard penalty. Possession went over to the Tigers and was given back on a fumble the next play. Then Boyd moved again and ran out of time on the 4 yard line.

SH missed a pair of opportunities in the third period. A pass Curtis Henschel to Gene Haverkamp gained 29 to the 12 but the next series ended on the 5. Boyd also had a problem. Pushed back by defense to the 1 foot line, it kicked and Sacred Heart returned to the 12. Then the Tigers too went the wrong way and lost 2 yards on the series.

Hornets...

of making first and ten, so Callisburg took possession at the 11.

The remainder of the quarter was featured by the game's only fumble, recovered by Steve Hott of Callisburg, a major penalty on each team and pass interference by Callisburg. Just before the period ended Richey's 50 yard kick with the wind along with the Wildcats clip penalty on return set Callisburg back to its own 4-yard line.

Following the second half kickoff, the Hornets got going on their second long distance drive and their only successful one. Klement, Richey and Hermes again did the leg work on the 64 yard push in 10 tries and got 15 yards free on a penalty. Richey made the big gain of 20 yards and also scored the TD from the 4.

MHS went for a pass in the PAT attempt, trying for the two points that could have put them ahead. But it went incomplete. The Hornets remained behind.

From then until about midway in the fourth period the teams resumed their defensive playing, until Muenster suddenly got its big chance to get out in front. Phil Wolf's try for a home-run pass was broken up by a Wildcat, but an official ruled it was defensive interference and gave possession to Muenster just 4 yards from the goal.

But luck would not last. On first play of the series

Muenster was penalized back to the 19 for holding. However, hopes were still strong as Richey got back to the 5 on the first play of the series. Kevin Klement then hit the line twice for 2 and 2. The Hornets, with a last chance play remaining and a yard to go, had to choose between the try for TD or for a field goal. They went for the field goal, and a possible lead of 9-7, and barely missed.

Richey was the leading rusher of the contest with 92 yards in 13 carries and Callisburg's Overstreet was next with 82 in 21 carries. Klement gained 73 in 22 carries.

TCIL Title Is on The Line as Tigers Meet Tyler Gorman

The championship of TCIL District 4-AA may be on the line Friday when Sacred Heart and Gorman High square off for their annual contest. According to early predictions, as well as performance in a tough schedule, the Tyler boys are district favorites.

However, that opinion is sharply disputed by Father Stephen Eckart and Virgil Henscheid, who regard the Tigers as real solid contenders for the top honor.

Comparative records are hard to come by because of the difference in opponents that have been met. Though losing to powerhouse outfits like Troupe and Lynch High of Dallas, to Gormanites still displayed power that deserves respect, especially by the smaller schools. According to word received by Henscheid the Tyler line will be husky, including two over 200 pounds, and two of the backs will be speedy. Physically the home town gets the nod.

On the other hand the SH boys have a combination of ability and hustle that hopefully will be able to handle the challenge. Defense has been great all season, with a record of five shutouts.

Another show of ability came last week in two stubborn goal line stands.

A well balanced attack is the Tigers best offensive asset. Though not outstanding, both rushing and passing have been effective, and coaches this week are adding polish to both. Passing problems last week can be charged mostly to the high wind.

Regardless of all the guessing, Henscheid feels certain that a hot contest can be expected, with mistakes and breaks possibility becoming the big factors.

Lots of fans were there to see the Tigers win their TCIL opener Saturday afternoon with Christ the King of Lub bock. —Janie Hartman Photo

Jaycee Activities

Muenster Jaycees, with their fine record of giving aid when and where there is a need, are presently engaged in a fund raising project for the Leo Hesse Fund.

Seventeen members attended the regular meeting last week Thursday and developed plan of action.

They also arranged to plant Fescue-31 grass in the Jaycee City Park with the assistance of the Muenster Volunteer Fire Department.

Looking towards December and the holidays they discussed the annual Christmas Parade and Jaycee Christmas tree, naming Bert Walterscheid as tree chairman and Kent Fuhrmann and Chuck Bar-tush, Jr. as parade co-chairmen.

A guest at the meeting, Marty Klement spoke to the group, expressing his appreciation for the Jaycees operation of the PP&K contest.

Financial failures

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — A University of Texas finance professor is convinced that "mismanagement of financial affairs" is the chief cause of failure among small firms.

Dr. Ernest Walker, a national authority on the financing of small businesses, says lack of knowledge about managing cash flow is one of the major shortcomings, but others include getting the wrong kind of debt mix, having too much money tied up in accounts receivable and not expanding the management staff once the firm begins to grow.

He teaches a graduate course on Financing the Dynamic Small Firm, wherein students use small business firms in the Austin area as their "laboratories."

Even a rich nation like the U.S.A. has a limit to the amount it can spend.

Camp Scouts Work On Merit Badges

Reports of the weekend camp-out by Muenster Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts were given at the regular meeting Monday night.

The group hiked 3 1/2 miles to the Trubenbach site south of town. All scouts worked on the Hiking Merit Badge and some on the Orienteering (map making) Merit Badge.

Camp-out activities included a Field Mass offered by Father Stephen Eckart at 1:30 p.m., followed by a picnic lunch. Both were attended by parents and guests.

The Monday night meeting included a presentation of slides of the Philmont Scout camp in New Mexico, by Scoutmaster David Bright.

Bumper Pecan Crop Expected in Texas

Without a doubt, Texans will have at least one thing to brag about this year. That's the state's pecan crop.

Pecan trees are loaded to the hilt this year; in fact, limbs have broken on many trees due to the heavy crop.

And now the shucks on many varieties are starting to split and the tasty morsels are beginning to fall to the ground.

"All this means that there will be plenty of good quality pecans available at reasonable prices this year," points out Blueford Hancock, horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A & M University System.

"Reports from all corners of the state indicate that a bumper crop is in the making," notes Hancock. "This has been an excellent year for pecans as moisture conditions generally have been favorable and insect problems have not been severe. However, the major foliage disease, scab, has been a problem in some areas due to unusually high rainfall this spring and summer.

"There is no question that the 1979 pecan crop will be the largest ever in Texas," says the horticulturist. "The U.S. Department of Agriculture is currently estimating a crop of 95 million pounds. This compares to 26 million pounds last year."

While the Texas crop is expected to set all kinds of production records, the situation is not as bright in most of the other top pecan producing states. Crops in Alabama, Mississippi, Florida and Louisiana were damaged severely by Hurricane Frederick. The crop in Georgia is down from earlier estimates.

While the market situation at this point is still uncertain, one thing is definite — there will be plenty of good quality pecans in Texas. And Hancock urges consumers to take advantage of the situation and to stock up on pecans for the coming holiday season as well as for use throughout

Now's the Time for Fertilizing Lawns

If you haven't fertilized your lawn lately, it's not too late to do so, says a turfgrass specialist.

"A fall application of fertilizer not only prolongs green color in lawns but also stimulates root growth, reduces winter injury and promotes early spring recovery," points out Dr. Richard L. Duple with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "Fall fertilization also increases turf density and reduces weeds."

Warm fall days and cool nights provide conditions favorable for grass to accumulate carbohydrates that promote root growth and help the grass survive winter months. Leaf growth is also less during the shorter fall days, says Duple.

The specialist recommends applying a fertilizer high in nitrogen and potassium and low in phosphorus. "Both nitrogen and potassium are important to leaf growth and color and root growth. Potassium is also important to winter survival, disease resistance and drought tolerance. While phosphorus is essential, it is required in much lesser amounts than the other nutrients," points out Duple.

"Use a fertilizer with a 15-5-10, 12-4-8 or similar analysis for the fall application," suggests the specialist.

Base the rate of application on the nitrogen content, the first number in the fertilizer analysis. Apply 1 to 2 pounds of nitrogen per 1,000 square feet of lawn. So, with a 12-4-8 fertilizer, use 10 to 15 pounds per 1,000 square feet, depending on when the last fertilizer application was made. If the lawn has not been fertilized for the past eight weeks or longer, use the higher rate.

"Lawns can be fertilized through October in most areas of the state," points out Duple. "In South Texas lawns can still be fertilized in November without adverse effects."

"For the homeowner interested in an attractive lawn this fall and early recovery next spring, fall fertilization is a must," contends Duple.

YOUR ELECTRICITY... STILL A GOOD VALUE!

Here's how to figure what it cost you today.

When you break down your charges for electricity on a per-day basis, the value you're receiving for your dollar comes into much sharper focus. On your monthly electric bill, first look at the date your meter was last read (PRES. READ DATE) and, then, the date it was read previously (PREV. READ DATE) and count the number of days between the two. Divide that number into your total charges for the month (TOTAL CURRENT MO. BILL). The result is the small amount you spend each day to enjoy all the things that dependable electricity makes possible in your home. Electricity... one of today's best energy values.

Don't Let Lightning Strike You Out!

Contrary to a popular misconception, lightning can strike twice — perhaps even more — in the same place. This isn't difficult to believe, considering that the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration estimates that lightning strikes the earth 100 times each second. In the U.S. alone, which receives its fair share of hits, some 10,000 forest fires are started every year by lightning. Property losses due to lightning figure in the hundreds of millions of dollars. More important, lightning kills at least 125 Americans and injures another 500 annually. Most deaths and injuries from lightning may be avoided by taking some basic precautions at the first sign of an approaching thunderstorm, said Milt Nachbar, Director of Loss Control for CNA Insurance.

"Lightning can hit in a wide area surrounding a thunderstorm," he warns, "so safety measures should begin as soon as thunderclouds are heard or seen nearby. Don't wait until it begins to rain, because a lightning bolt can jump from the side of a thunderstorm and strike an area miles away."

Since lightning follows the path of least resistance, the bolt tends to seek out the closest object when it hits, he said, and that usually means the tallest object, such as a person in an open field, an isolated tree, a telephone pole, a house on a hilltop or even a fishing pole. Lightning also prefers the most conductive route, such as water or metal, rather than air. It's therefore imperative that golfers put down their clubs and swimmers get out of the water at the first indication of an impending thunderstorm.

"Although direct hits by lightning are the most dangerous, the most frequent injuries result from the spreading of the electrical current after it strikes," Nachbar said. "Tall trees are therefore particularly dangerous to be standing under, since if the tree is struck, fingers of the electric current spread along the ground. Likewise, the current can flow into nearby water should you be swimming when lightning hits."

The National Weather Service recommends other precautions against lightning:

- If caught outdoors, get indoors — a house, or large building or a closed all metal (not convertible) vehicle. Your car is one of the safest places since the metal structure provides the lightning current a preferred pathway to the ground. Don't hold onto metal parts, lean against the doors or use your CB (except in emergencies) until after the storm has passed.

- Don't watch a lightning storm indoors through an open window since a bolt can come inside. (It's safe, however, to watch through a closed window.)

If inside, don't use your telephone (except in an emergency), especially in suburban and rural areas where lightning frequently strikes telephone poles. The lightning's current can travel through the telephone wire and burn your face and damage your hearing.

Do-It-Yourselfers:

Choosing Sandpaper Can Be Critical

In just about every kind of finishing or renovating job you undertake you'll find sanding is needed. Traditionally, sandpapers have been coded with letters of the alphabet indicating different weights for different uses. But even experienced do-it-yourselfers find the coding confusing.

To end the confusion, researchers at 3M — makers of the "Sand Pak" line of sandpapers — have organized the line by type and use. Every possible home sanding job has been charted in plain English to help you pick the right paper for the best results.

Production sandpaper is ideal for hand or machine sanding on most surfaces found in the home, among them wood, metal, paint, plastic and fiberglass. Coarse is used for heavy stock removal or the shaping of wood or plastic. Also for removing paint, varnish or rust from metal or wood. Medium is perfect for moderate stock removal and leveling of wood, metal and plastics. Fine is for final sanding of bare wood before priming or sealing and for cleaning metal and preparing for priming. Extra Fine can be used for sharpening tools and for finishing metals. It is also used to prepare a surface for painting.

Emery Cloth is a work horse for removing rust or sanding metal. It too comes in three grades: Coarse for removing corrosion, rust or paint from metal; Medium for light sanding or deburring of metal and for cleaning garden or shop tools; Fine for finishing or polishing metal before priming or painting. In addition, it is used to clean electrical contacts and to prepare metal for soldering.

Flint is an all-around utility sandpaper made for light hand sanding and cleanup. Coarse flint is used for hand sanding soft wood to eliminate scratches and defects and for removing paint, corrosion and other deposits from wooden surfaces. Medium is used to remove defects and blemishes on wood and other surfaces where the material sanded tends to clog the abrasive. Fine is for sanding soft wood

Texans warned of water shortage

COLLEGE STATION — While the rest of the country struggles with the energy shortage, oil and gas-rich Texas is facing a potentially greater crisis: lack of water.

"We are simply drawing on our underground water supply faster than it is being replenished," warned Dr. Jack Runkles, director of the Texas Water Resources Institute at Texas A&M University.

"If the state continues to grow at its current pace, we may in fact have to consider bringing in water supplies from outside and that would be very, very expensive," he said.

Runkles predicted by the year 2,000, Texans will be consuming 24 billion gallons of water a day, up from an estimated 15 billion gallons a day currently.

Lather Shaving Uses About 50 Times More Energy Than Electric Razors!

How can you save energy and still get a shave "as close as you can get?" With a new electric razor just recently introduced.

Electric razors are energy-savers, not energy-wasters, a Sunbeam study has shown. Shaving electrically can conserve energy when compared to lather shaving using hot water.

Less energy is required to shave with a Sunbeam Groomer Razor four minutes a day all year long than is required to heat two gallons of water from 60-degrees Fahrenheit to 140-degrees Fahrenheit.

Two gallons of water probably would not last the average lather shaver a week, much less a whole year. That means an electric razor uses about 1/50th the energy needed for wet shaving.

The new Groomer Razor 800B series combines the thinnest shaving head in the industry — nominally .0019-inch thin — and 12 stainless steel blades for a shave "as close as you can get." Cord and cord-cordless models are available.

In addition to close shaves, the new razors offer grooming of sideburns, beards, and mustaches with a special feature.

"Eliminating a product just because it uses electricity isn't energy conservation if it leads to more consumption of energy to get the same job done," Sunbeam pointed out.

Beta Kappa Has Program on Love

The Beta Kappa Chapter of ESA heard a program on developing love and charity in members' own lives, emphasized by interpretive readings on love and charity, presented by Mmes. Loretta Felderhoff, Mary Lou Hess and Martha Koessler. Selections were from poet Rod McKuen and the Bible. Mrs. Louise Fisher presented the theme of educational programs whose purpose is to expand the growth of love and charity. Mrs. Loretta Cash, president, was hostess in her home on Wednesday, October 17. She reported on the district meeting she attended in Burkburnett on October 13-14, when she accepted special awards for the Muenster Chapter, including a first place award for the outstanding educational program in August, and second place for the same award in September. Louise Fisher is educational chairman for Beta Kappa.

Member voted to contribute $50 from the Love Fund to the Leo Hesse Fund. Beta Kappa's Love Fund aids members of the Muenster community in difficulty due to illness, death, or accident or extreme personal hardship caused by loss of income. The love fund also includes aid to community members suffering fire, tornado or flood loss.

Members of Beta Kappa raise money for the fund by sponsoring the Miss Muenster Pageant during Germanfest.

During the business meeting members also discussed the State Convention of ESA to be held in Fort Worth on May 16-18, 1980. The Muenster chapter will host the mixer party on May 16, using the theme "Lasso a Friend."

The next meeting of Beta Kappa will be held on November 14 in the Lake Kiowa home of Mrs. Louise Fisher, when a pledge ceremony will be held for new members Mrs. Pam Fette and Mrs. Marsha Atchison.

YOU CAN BANK ON IT!

Personal Financial success is usually the result of a combination of factors. Rarely included, however, is the one factor most often attributed to it... luck. Most of the successful businesses in our area, including the agricultural producers, are models of the success formula. Hard work, creativity, hard work, logic, planning, hard work, implementation, hard work, and an occasional dash of bravado. Notice how often luck wasn't mentioned. The reason we hear about the "lucky" person who has attained overnight success is when it does happen it is unusual enough to be news worthy. There is a lot of truth in the inscription many of us have seen posted in the homes and offices of successful people, "The harder I work, the luckier I get." You Can BANK On It!

Schedule of Meetings

Blood Pressure Check
The free blood pressure check sponsored by SNAP will be held next Tuesday, October 30 at the SNAP Center, in the Sacred Heart Community Center.

Children's Activity
The Children's Activity Program is today, Friday, Oct. 26 in the meeting room of the Community Center, 10 to 11 a.m. Children should bring crayons. The next program will be on Friday, Nov. 2 and again on Nov. 16 to avoid conflict with Thanksgiving and other events.

A serious impediment to marriage is the difficulty of supporting the government and a wife on one income.

FOOD for THOUGHT

While fewer farmers become more efficient in growing food, more people become less efficient in selling it.
Farm productivity has increased at about 3 percent per year due to efficient mechanization and improved agricultural practices.
Productivity at retail food stores has decreased 1.3 percent a year during the same time.
The drop has been due to increased services, such as longer operating hours and conveniences like delicatessens and bakery shops in food markets. These are designed not only to attract consumers from other food stores but away from fast food outlets which are receiving an increasing share of food expenditures.

Presented by this publication and Sperry New Holland to promote a better understanding of the modern farm to family food supply system.

Planning Proceeds For Thanksgiving Dinner and Picnic

The community's Thanksgiving dinner and picnic plans are in full swing, according to Mrs. Arthur Bayer, publicity chairman.

All committees are reported to be moving smoothly. A complete turkey dinner, with dressing, sausage, vegetables and various desserts and drinks, will be served. Lots of games and booths promise all day enjoyment for everyone. Something new is a play for the youngsters and a puppet show in the afternoon.

The committees are hoping everyone will make this a family day and will invite friends from a wide area to accompany them. Items are needed for the Arts and Crafts booth. Margie Starke may be phoned at 759-4194 after 5 p.m. Baked foods and canned foods are needed for the Country Store. Ruth Knabe may be phoned at 759-2884. Grocery items are needed by the kitchen for the dinner and may be placed in baskets at Hofbauer's and Fischer's. Large items are needed for the Auction. Angelo Nasche, Sr. is general chairman.

and petroleum is used in making fertilizer for the grain crops.

Facts like these cannot be reconciled with political statements from people like Senator Birch Bayh. He says "I have no doubt alcohol fuels can become efficient and economical energy supplements with a relatively small federal investment. Benefits are enormous. Indeed we cannot allow ourselves not to make the investment." Nor with the legislative effort of Senator Henry Jackson, who has drafted a bill to require that all gasoline be gasohol by 1990.

As Kamer concludes, "What we cannot allow is to lead the public into believing our energy problems are going to be solved by throwing taxpayers' money around on schemes that won't work. It's a disservice to farmers to let them believe gasohol is a solution to overproduction and low prices."

In spite of those opinions there are reports of plans to proceed with the construction of plants for the manufacture of alcohol. It makes a person wonder what's to be used as a material, or a fuel, or both. We can imagine, for instance, that there are possibilities in using feedlot manure as a source of both material and fuel, but there must be questions about yield as a material and efficiency as a fuel. Crop residue is also mentioned, but with that as well as manure the value of organic matter on the soil should not be overlooked.

Though it seems that special circumstances may make it possible to produce small quantities of alcohol for gasohol, the over-all indication is that it will not be economically feasible or physically possible to have gasohol on a large scale, in 1990 or the far distant future.

We hope the Energy Mobilization Board, now under legislative consideration, will have the good judgment to avoid the gasohol proposals and give the green light to programs of known value...like expanding domestic oil production and nuclear construction, also like processing shale and low grade coal into gas, and like allowing less obstruction from Ralph Nader and EPA.

I had no idea who the artist was, but I knew the girl. It was my mother.

The Lady In The Painting.

I walked out of the searing sun into the shade of the art gallery and stopped. Not that I was in the market for a painting. It's just that it was cooler there, so I lingered and examined the paintings in the window. Then I saw it... a painting of a young girl in a blue gown. I had no idea who the artist was, but I knew the girl. It was my mother.

"This one is from the artist's own collection. Only been shown once. The story goes he was in love with that girl. But she was only 17 and her family disapproved. They took her off to Europe. Broke his heart. And he never sold the painting." The gallery owner paused to see if he had me hooked. "Care to see his other paintings?" "No, I'm only interested in this one. How much?"

As he showed me the price tag, I was thinking what a great gift this would make for my mother. The price was reasonable. And I did have a stack of U.S. Savings Bonds that I had been putting aside for an extended vacation. But I figured for this once-in-a-lifetime gift, the vacation could wait.

As we closed the deal, the owner said, "You're making a terrific investment!"

He was right. The family gave Mom a party. And after dinner, we marched her toward the living room.

I whispered as I held her arm, "I bought you a little painting." She smiled. "I hope it's flowers... or a seascape. I love... Ooooooh! Where did you find it? I never knew what happened to it. You couldn't have made me happier. It's the nicest gift ever." I never saw anyone so happy in all my life.

Of course, this year I'll probably spend my vacation in the backyard. But when I finally do get to Bora-Bora, I'll enjoy it even more. Knowing I was able to give something to the lady who gave so much to me.
