"Look pleasant, huh? How about this? I've been on earth only three minutes and along comes one of those pesky cameramen!" So the new daughter of Photographer Walter Materna, Sault Ste. 300 ATTEND PECAN MEETING FRIDAY ON MILLS COUNTY FARM
More than 300 people from 15 West Texas counties attended the meeting of the West Texas Pecan Growers Association held last Friday at the J. J. Cockrell farm in Mills county.
Pecan bleaching, a new process never before perfected, was explained at the meeting by W. J. Ernest of St. Louis, sales manager of the National Pecan Marketing Association, of which H. G. Lucas of Brownwood is president. The bleaching process makes the pecans of more uniform color, and more attractive to the buying public.
Jack Shelton, manager of the Luling Foundation Farm, Luling, told growers of experiments conducted on the farm. Dr. C. L. Smith of the pecan experiment station at Austin and Brownwood, spoke on pollenization of pecans, and Dr. Oscar Gray of the North Texas Agricultural College, Arlington, gave advice on selection of pecan orchard sites.
Mr. Lucas explained the pecan marketing agreement and surplus control plan which the national association wants the Agricultural Adjustment Administration to adopt. The plan was endorsed in resolutions adopted at the meeting.
It was announced that the Texas Pecan Growers Association will hold its annual meeting at Stephenville July 10, 11 and 12.
An interested visitor at the meeting was L. E. Phillips of Bartlesville, Oklahoma, chairman of the executive committee of the Phillips Petroleum Corporation, who raises pecans as a hobby.
Those attending the meeting from Brownwood were Mr. Lucas, Miss Elma Petty, secretary of the association, Rev. I. K. Floyd, editor of The Pecan Grower; J. T. McDonald, Joe Hamilton of the local pecan experiment station, A. A. McKinney, all of Brownwood, and Tom Hurst of Winchell.
The summer meeting of the association will be held in Brownwood, with dates to be announced later.
Twenty-four farm women in St. Louis Home Demonstration Club in Jones county have been taught to make foundation patterns by Mrs. Edgar Bradley, one of the club members who is a wardrobe demonstrator. The foundation pattern makes dressmaking easy.
Everything purchased for the company or for any of its branches will be purchased from the local purchasing office, and requisitions for supplies must be drawn on the Brownwood stock.

BROWNWOOD BANNER

BROWNWOOD, TEXAS, THURSDAY, MAY 3, 1934

DR. B. E. BELL
has moved to New Offices, on ground floor, across from Austin - Morris and Post Office.

TELEPHONE COMPANY HOME OFFICES MOVED HERE ADDING 200 TO POPULATION OF CITY

MOVEMENT of the general offices of the Southwestern States Telephone Company from Dallas to Brownwood was practically completed this week. The move makes Brownwood the focal point for operations of the telephone company in the four Southwestern states of Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Louisiana, and brings to this city an added population of approximately 200 people.
The movement of thousands of dollars of equipment to Brownwood was begun last week, and Monday saw the bulk of the telephone equipment in this city. Practically all of the 38 employees of the company being transferred to Brownwood were in the city the first of the week, taking up their accustomed work in new surroundings, and completing arrangements for making Brownwood their permanent home.
Executive offices of the company have been established in the telephone building, corner of Brown and Anderson streets, while the accounting offices are located in space leased in the Masonic building, two blocks south of the telephone office, on Brown and Adams streets. Supplies are being kept at the telephone building, with store rooms being located in the building to the rear of the telephone building. The lot just to the rear of the telephone building has been cleared and fenced to take care of heavy equipment, parking of cars and other needs of the general offices and of the district and local offices, which also are located in the telephone building as in the past.

Thirty-Eight Who Move To Brownwood

Executives of the general offices who have moved to Brownwood or who will move within the next few days are:
D. T. Strickland, general manager; S. A. McKie, general plant superintendent; C. R. Lee, general traffic superintendent; C. B. Langham, general auditor; W. M. Hemphill, sales manager; F. M. Ramsey, revenue accountant; Burt Harbut, supply supervisor; R. H. Lish, assistant general auditor and H. N. Hammond, engineer.
Other employees brought to Brownwood by the move are: P. F. Duncan, D. J. Skiles, W. F. Lehde, C. R. Swiger, Jr., Lloyd Womack, John D. Allen, E. M. Dumas, C. B. Hollingsworth, I. H. Humphreys, E. H. Whitley, Leo Marlenfeld, Arthur D. Scripture, Edwin Frederick, Delmar Read; Misses Bernice Gumm, Willie Campbell, Clarine Adams, Billie Dove Furr, Clio Ritchie, Louise Baird, Sue Amis, Minnie Pittman, Christine Henry, Pauline White, Josephine Murray, Mary Agnes Corbitt, Lorena Fleeman, and Mrs. Pauline Mings; and Vastine Harris, negro porter.

Offices Handle A Variety Of Work

The general offices of the company handle a large variety of work. All relations between telephone users and the company are handled by the local office, except billing, but transactions affecting the 187 exchanges of the company in the four states will be handled from the Brownwood offices.
All billing for the approximately 40,000 subscribers of the company is to be done from the local offices. Bills will be prepared in the Brownwood office and mailed from here each month.
In addition to the regular bills, toll tickets from each office will be mailed to the Brownwood offices each day, checked and billed to the subscribers. In the course of a month, the local office will handle some 200,000 toll tickets.
Rules and regulations governing the conduct of the various exchanges of the company will be formulated here, and passed on to the field, as will methods of operation, policies of the company and similar matters governing the entire system.
Everything purchased for the company or for any of its branches will be purchased from the local purchasing office, and requisitions for supplies must be drawn on the Brownwood stock.

System Is Divided Into 4 Departments

To facilitate the work, the operations of the telephone company are divided into four departments, Commercial, Plant, Traffic and Accounting.
The commercial department is the one with which the company comes in contact most often. This department has charge of the pay-

NEW WORK RELIEF PROGRAM WILL BE LAUNCHED TUESDAY

The new work relief program, long awaited by those on relief rolls, will be launched in Brown county next Tuesday, it was announced this week by C. E. Boyett, county administrator.
Five projects, one in the city of Brownwood, and one in each of the commissioners precincts in the county, will get under way next week with relief labor working under the new budget plan. Each family on the relief rolls has been budgeted, and one member of the family will be allowed to work to the amount the budget specifies each month.
The four county projects are continuation of CWA projects which were begun in CWA days. The city project is new work.
The city project calls for removing and laying 400 feet of three-quarter inch water line on Belle Plain Avenue; replacing 1200 feet of three-quarter inch with 2-inch line on Idlewild Drive and Sixth Street; replacing 1500 feet of 2-inch line with 4- and 6-inch line on Norwood Street, and laying 460 feet of new 8-inch water line on West Chandler Street.
This project calls for 1120 working hours for unskilled labor, which under the new labor wage scale will be paid 40 cents per hour. Material, which will be furnished by the city, will cost $895, and supervision, also paid by the city, will cost $40. From relief fund, labor will be paid $448, making the total cost of the project $1383.

County Projects

All county projects call for cash or topping of lateral roads. These roads were begun with CWA labor.
Precinct 1 project: Caliche top 18 feet wide and six inches thick on two miles of lateral roads. This will furnish 5,250 working hours, and cost of the project is $2,794.20.
Precinct 2 project: Caliche top 18 feet wide and six inches thick on five miles of lateral road, furnishing 10,390 working hours and costing $5,652.15.
Precinct 3 project: Caliche top 18 feet wide and six inches thick on three miles of lateral road, furnishing 8,077 working hours, and costing $4,345.25.
Precinct 4 project: Caliche top 18 feet wide and six inches thick on 2 1/2 miles of road known as the McDaniel School bus and Mail route. This will furnish 6,593 hours of work, and will cost $3,590.55.
Park Approval Expected.
These are the only work-relief projects that have been approved up to the present time, although approval of other projects, including the work at the park on Lake Brownwood, is expected soon.
Just how much work can be done on the above projects is uncertain at the present time, due to scarcity of funds. The local relief office has only about $5,000 on hand at present, and unless additional funds are secured from Austin, little can be accomplished on the work.
Curtailed operations at the relief office has caused the dropping of nine more employees from the office force this week, making 18 that have been dropped from the office payroll during the past two weeks. This leaves the office with only 18 employees, who are finding it difficult to take care of the volume of work attached to keeping the many records required by the state office.

Company Began Business In 1928

The Southwestern States Telephone company was organized in 1928. It was formed through the purchase and consolidation of a number of independent telephone companies in the four southwestern states, including the local telephone company, which owned exchanges in Brownwood and a number of nearby towns. Contrary to general opinion here, the company was not organized in Brownwood, although a number of employees of the general offices formerly were connected with the Brownwood company, and in moving here will be returning to their former homes.
The company now consists of 187 exchanges, grouped into 18 districts. Brownwood, in addition to being the location of the general offices, remains headquarters for one of the districts. J. H. McKee remains as district manager, and R. P. Canady, manager of the Brownwood exchange. The local district employs 64 people.
The exchange farthest from Brownwood is located more than 800 miles from Brownwood, at Corning, Arkansas, on the Missouri state line.

Cross Cut School Trustee Dispute Is Settled By Court

The contest over the school trustee election in the Cross Cut Consolidated district was decided by the commissioners court Monday by certifying the election of L. D. Anderson and H. A. Dozier.
By the action L. D. Westerman, who received 59 votes, was denied a place on the board as representative of the Gunn district, the court having received a ruling from L. A. Woods, state superintendent, that the Gunn district was not entitled to representation on the board. The two successful candidates received 53 votes each.

Man and Wife—In Play, Anyway

Maybe it's because Director Lewis Casson (center) is telling them how to play man and wife in a forthcoming London play that Miss Gertrude Lawrence, noted British actress, and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., are looking at each other so happily. It's been rumored that they'll play man and wife soon in real life.

FIRST VOTE COUNT ANNOUNCED IN BANNER'S 'EVERYBODY WINS' CONTEST; BIG PRIZES OFFERED

Today the first count in The Brownwood Banner great "Everybody Wins Something" competition for two handsome cars and purses of gold and silver is printed in display space elsewhere. Hereafter the vote will be changed weekly and will include votes cast up to noon of the day before publication.
Back of the list, however, is a strange condition. Persons coming to the Banner office to renew subscriptions or to subscribe newly have cast the votes at their option for some candidates who have as yet made no apparent effort to aid themselves. Neither the list of candidates nor the recorded vote today is a fair indication of how the race will turn out. The campaign has yet to narrow down to the real voters.
Really it is regrettable that more votes have not been cast. Despite the extraordinary nature of the prizes: despite the easy plan with its premium upon early effort; and despite the unique rule which insures absolutely fair play by forbidding any candidate to spend money for subscriptions other than his own, the participants in this remarkable gift election have not gotten busy as yet in earnest as they should.
Of course, this situation creates a decided unusual opportunity for someone to enter now and nullify all (or rather the little) that has been done. Why today, an absolute new entrant can bring in his nomination blank and with a half dozen or so subscriptions can sprout up and gain a clear lead over everyone. Notice how quickly the votes would count up: Six new yearly subscriptions to The Banner would give 684,000 votes. Then for every club of 15 worth of subscriptions turned in the candidates gets 100,000 extra votes, so this would be 300,000 votes added to the 684,000.
Naturally the same thing can be done by any candidate now in the race for there are no distinctions and no handicaps. The important thing is to get busy immediately—whether you are a newcomer or not.

NO ACTION TAKEN ON BEER PETITION

No action had been taken this week on a petition filed with the commissioners court requesting the calling of an election to legalize the sale of 3.2 beer in Brown county.
Names of those signing the petition were being checked against the county poll lists, a tedious process which will require some time as the poll lists are made out by voting precincts.
There were 540 signers of the petition. Five hundred will be sufficient to call the election, provided they are qualified voters.

STUDY NEW PLANS FOR DAIRY RELIEF

The recent decision of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration to abandon the main features of the dairy production control plan which promised benefit payments to dairymen does not mean that no effort will be made to relieve distressed producers, the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service has been advised from Washington. A limited disease control program and relief purchase of surplus milk for underfed city children are features of the old plan which are to be kept.
It is also pointed out that the fluid milk marketing agreements will still be used for the benefit of producers in milk sheds where such agreements have been adopted. These agreements guarantee minimum prices to producers.
The administration is continuing its study of the dairy situation and is prepared to initiate a program which may seem sound if it appears that the dairy industry as a whole is agreed on such a program.
Texas dairymen, as represented in the Dallas regional meeting ear-

Convention Dates For Walton League Are Announced Here

The state convention of the Izaak Walton League will be held in Brownwood May 25 and 26, it was announced by C. A. Wheatley, state president, at a barbecue held in his honor by the local chapter at Lake Brownwood last Friday.
The convention will bring several hundred sportsmen to Brownwood for the two days, and they will be given an opportunity to see Lake Brownwood and the work the local chapter has been doing toward improving the lake.
Mr. Wheatley praised the work of the local chapter, which he characterized as the most active in Texas, in a speech at the barbecue. Roy E. Lane, architect in charge of improvement work at the park, also spoke.
What a small bit of rented cotton land can do toward living at home was illustrated last season by Mrs. J. H. Hitchcock, Laneview, Ellis county. From 25 cents' worth of pinto beans 9 bushels were gathered and 118 quarts of snap beans canned.

Committee At Work Revising Contract Terms

All Cotton Contracts In County Must Be Redrawn To Meet Stricter Requirements
The Brown County Cotton Allotment committee this week is at work revising all cotton contracts of farmers in Brown county. Some 1907 contracts are involved, and new acreage allowances and lint allowances must be figured up for each contract signer.
The action followed instructions received from the government that the Brown county cotton contracts for 1934 were too high both in acreage and lint allowance per acre. The committee was advised that the contracts for this county were 7.7 per cent too high in acreage and 21 per cent too high in lint allowance per acre.
The huge task of revising the 1907 contracts and reducing the amount of acres and lint in each contract by the specified amount was begun by County Agent C. W. Lehmburg last week, and this week notices of the new allowable were being mailed to every signer in this county.

New Agreements Drawn

New agreements have been drawn up, and the signers are requested to sign an agreement which reduces the acres and lint. This new agreement becomes a part of the contract, and will be attached to it.
It is not mandatory that the agreement be signed. However, failure to sign the contract with the new reduced allowances will mean the farmer must go under the provisions of the Bankhead law, which forces cotton reduction throughout the cotton states.
There are, in addition to the 1907 contract signers, 613 cotton farmers in the county who have not signed government agreements to reduce their acreage. These farmers automatically go under the provisions of the Bankhead law, which reduces the amount of cotton that can be legally produced to 10,000,000 bales. The five year average for the United States is 14,000,000 bales.
According to the instructions received from the State Board of Review, Brown county was allotted 4,025,770 pounds of cotton for 1934. The contracts claimed 5,895,688 pounds, leaving the county an excess of 1,869,918 pounds, or 21 per cent. The contracts as revised bring the total down to the amount specified by the government.
Brown county was allowed 38,147 acres to plant to cotton in 1934. The reduction contracts claim 41,985 acres, leaving an excess of 2,938 acres that must be eliminated before the Brown County contracts will be acceptable to the government.

Four Million Pounds Allowed

The government has offered two alternatives: To revise the contracts in the county so that the yields will be in line with the figures drawn up for this county, or to withdraw the contracts or allow them to be cancelled and become subject to the terms of the Bankhead law.
"Either plan means cotton acreage reduction," Mr. Lehmburg says, "the former brings a rental plan; the latter, none."
Mr. Lehmburg expects the work of the committee, in sending out the notices, to be completed this week. It will be another week before he will be able to state what percentage of farmers agree to the reduced allotments and what percentage will go under the terms of the Bankhead law.
In April approved the main features of the original plan, Extension Service workers state. Farmers in Texas are anxious that some steps be taken to relieve the very real distress that exists on dairy farms, they add.

Coca-Cola Served in 76 Counties

The consumption of over nine million Coca-Colas daily in 76 different countries of the world, and its use in metropolitan hospitals, testify to the claim that it is the world's most popular soft drink. Bottled and distributed by the Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Brownwood, H. T. Latham, Manager.

Coca-Cola is a name that is known where ever soft drink are sold. The late Asa G. Candler first put it on the market 49 years ago and it sky-rocketed into an unprecedented popularity wherever it was introduced.

There must be some good reason for the fact that over nine million Coca-Colas are daily consumed; that many hospitals in the larger cities have adopted the practice of serving Coca-Cola to convalescents—that only one Coca-Cola bottling plant has failed in the 44 years it has been bottled.

The answer is that Coca-Cola is the delicious, all-sufficient drink that quenches thirst completely of itself. Its ingredients, which are taken from nine different countries of the world, are all pure products of nature and its natural purity is protected by 22 laboratory tests and by sterilized bottles filled and sealed by automatic machinery. It is as pure as sunlight and contains a food value that would keep one living many days. Each bottle contains more calories than the average egg. 76.6 calories in the Coca-Cola as against 66 calories in the egg, this by actual test.

The Coca-Cola Bottling Company of Brownwood, strictly conforms to the standards laid down by the parents company of Atlanta, Ga., for bottling Coca-Cola and the finished products is regularly inspected by their representative from Atlanta. Their inspectors also make regular trips to Brownwood to test the bottled product and to inspect the plant for sanitation.

The Coca-Cola Bottling Co. of Brownwood, operated by Mr. Latham, is equipped with the most modern equipment available for mixing, sterilizing and bottling soft drinks. No time or expense is spared in maintaining a plant, product and service, which is considered outstanding among those of the southwest.

These are only a few of the reasons why Coca-Cola has become the world's most popular soft drink, and why it should be kept in every home, especially where there are children.

The Coca-Cola Bottling Co., cordially invites you to visit and inspect their plant and products at any time. They are also manufacturers of a complete line of high grade carbonated beverages.

MAKING Smart CLOTHES

Every woman, whether she is a debutante, a busy mother, or a club-woman, needs one simple dress of classic smartness in her wardrobe. Here is a dress that is just as appropriate for shopping in town as for bridge in the afternoon—or tea. You can make it in almost any silk or lightweight dress wool, but it is terribly smart in black or navy or dark green.

Singing Is Held At Owens

Clio Singing was held at Owens Tabernacle last Sunday. There were not a very large number of singers on account of there being a number of stings in the area which drew heavily on their own County singers.

They were a little late at the hour, but immediately when they did come every car was loaded with filled lunch basket. Ladies of Owens sure know how to prepare good things to eat.

SUGGESTED PLAN OF 1934 PLANTING FOR WEST TEXANS

Following is the suggestion of the Extension Service of Texas A. & M. College, for planting in West Texas by farmers on typical West Texas farms, assuming the farmer has cooperated in the governmental crop reduction program:

Ever since last January when John Doe, West Texas cotton farmer, signed a contract with the Government to reduce his cotton acreage he has been figuring on how best to shift his farm system to meet the new conditions.

John has a 120-acre farm on which he has been growing 60 acres of cotton the past few years. In addition he has had 35 acres of grain sorghum, 10 acres of sorghum hay, 10 acres of native pasture, and 5 acres in the farmstead for house, barn, lots, and garden.

He has contracted with the Secretary of Agriculture to take 24 acres out of cotton production leaving him 36 acres for his crop this year. How shall he use the remaining 84 acres?

With the help of the county agent he has worked out a farming plan which he thinks will help him a lot this year. The new plan will give him a better living at home than he has had before, and let him terrace his entire farm without interference with the crops.

He has found that the 45 acres in feed crops is enough for a home living if he works it right. He does not need any of the 24 acres rented to the Government to make his living at home. He cannot, therefore, plant feed on that land if he complies with his contract. He doesn't want to plant crops that he can't harvest. He knows he ought to sow some clover or other cover crop and plow it under, but hesitates to go to the expense.

His farm needs terracing, and the county agent has shown him a neat way of doing it at his leisure this year through a proper use of contracted acres. The plan is to lay out the entire terrace system and to plan all the land except strips 30 feet wide or more along the terraces. This is a form of strip cropping. The contracted acres will be along the terrace tops and will be left bare, but the crops on either side will prevent blowing. The lines have been run this spring but the terraces may be built anytime during the season.

The way John gets his 24 contracted acres on terrace tops is this: 24 acres times 42,560 square feet per acre gives 1,041,440 square feet to take out of production. Dividing by 30 feet, the average width of bare strip along each terrace top, gives a total of 34,850 feet or 11,616 linear yards of terraces that will be required to occupy a total of 24 acres. John simply measures the total length of his terrace lines. If he has more than 11,616 yards he can plant on part of them; if he has less than 11,616 yards he will probably widen the bare strips enough to get his 24 acres.

His cropping system this year will be 36 acres of cotton; 23 acres of grain sorghum; 10 acres of sorghum hay; 10 acres of temporary pasture (sudan grass next fall and winter); 2 acres of potatoes, beans, melons and cane for syrup; 10 acres in pasture; a large garden and a home fruit plot in the 5-acre farmstead; and 24 acres along bare terrace tops. Early next fall he will probably seed small grains on the bare strips to prevent winter blowing.

This live-at-home system John got from studying Extension Service plans, and is convinced that with the help of his wife in following it the five members of the Doe family can just about produce their own home needs for food. It would cost them about $600 to buy this food in the store.

John is figuring on putting in a few hundred feet of home-made concrete tile to sub-irrigate part of the garden and to start an orchard in the fall.

This is only one way of shifting 1934 cotton farming to meet the new conditions. County agents are ready to help farmers develop farm demonstrations in readjustment, and home demonstration agents can help in planning and using the home food supply.

Archer City — "The tomatoes I raised on subirrigated soil last year were more uniform in size, were smoother and bore much more than those that grew beside them with surface irrigation," reported Mrs. E. A. Herndon, garden demonstrator for the Dundee Home Demonstration Club to Miss Genavieve Derryberry, home demonstration agent of Archer county.

Gilmer — "From breaking the land to covering the trench, this feed cost me $1.02 per ton," Dr. J. G. Daniels, Upshur county dairy demonstrator, told a group of farmers inspecting his trench silo recently. "Now is the time to plant your crops and dig your ditch for trench silo, before the ground gets too hard for easy digging," he added. In his report on the dairy demonstration to Marion Burkes county agent, Dr. Daniels said he made 50 tons of Texas seeded ribbon ensilage from 10 acres of land. The ensilage cut his cost of dairy production to the lowest figure it has ever been. He is planting 25 acres to ensilage crops this spring.

BEAUTIFICATION OF HIGHWAYS IS OBJECT OF NEW ORGANIZATION

Beautyification of Brown County highways is the object of the newly-organized Brown County Citizens Highway Beautification Association. The association was formed at a meeting of interested citizens Saturday afternoon in the county court room. Mrs. H. H. Negus was named county chairman, some time ago by Mrs. W. R. Roberts, district chairman. Henry Mount is general vice chairman; Mrs. A. J. Florey, secretary; Gilbert N. Harrison, treasurer; Mrs. James R. Beadle, publicity chairman; Mrs. Earl D. Byrd, chairman from the county council of home demonstration clubs, and Miss Mayes Malone, vice chairman at large.

The work of the Brownwood Business and Professional Women's Club in planting a large number of trees and shrubs along the highways in District 23 was commended by the organization, as was the action of the Brownwood Floral company in donating the shrubbery.

County Judge Courtney Gray promised cooperation of the county for the new organization and Mrs. Roberts told of the general plan of the state association.

Co-operative Plan Succeeds

The Southwestern Poultry Association, with offices at 210 Pecan Street, is an example of a successful Co-operative Enterprise which through Co-operative Marketing Increases the Profits in Poultry Raising.—Mrs. Lila Saltyer, Manager.

Organization and co-operation has always been the key to the successful solution of the difficulties of any group of individuals when those problems were of a nature common to all. The problems of the American farmer are many, but a most important one is the fact that in no case is he able to set the price of his products. He pays what he is asked by the manufacturer, and takes what is offered for what he produces. Nationwide organization of farmers is obviously an impossibility because of the dissimilarity of different parts of the United States face. However, the day when farmers could be strictly individual in their buying and marketing policies and realize the maximum in profit has passed, with the result

THE BANNER'S SCRAP BOOK

DUMB, DUMBER, DUMBEST (From the Houston Post)

There are four—or possibly five—ways of being dumb. Now, that may seem to you an ultra-conservative estimate, like the Little Woman's invariable calculation of the cost of a new spring outfit.

Dr. C. H. McCloy, professor of anthropology at the University of Iowa, assures us it is not. There are four, or five, ways of being dumb—heaven help us!—just as there are the same number of ways of being intelligent.

But the dumbs, like the Democrats, are in the majority. Dr. McCloy submitted his findings to the American Physical Education society recently at Cleveland. We pass them on to you because they are so consoling.

If you are dumb in two or three ways—and aren't we all?—you are not to go in immediate search of a psychiatrist or dash off to volunteer for incarceration in an institution for the mentally afflicted.

But if you are dumb in all four—or five—ways, we should advise you to wear blinders when passing asylums for the moronic. You are practically hopeless, but you will never suffer from the misery of loneliness.

Dr. McCloy defines degrees of dumbness. For instance, if you do not grasp the Einstein theory think nothing of it. No one does, anyway, so you won't be regarded as quaint for Einstein's intelligence is abstract. Is Dr. McCloy telling us?

Again, if you don't know what to do when your automobile breaks down on a lonely, lovely road, it means you lack the second kind of intelligence—concrete. That's bad. Once we did not know what to do, and a girl told us.

If you make a faux pas at a party, such as disappearing with the hostess until far into the night you are lacking in social intelligence, meaning tact. In that case you will not be long in the dark; your wife will enlighten you.

If you pick up a football and gallop 98 yards in reverse, scoring a touchdown for your opponents, there is something pitifully wrong with your athletic intelligence. All athletes have it, especially wrestling athletes.

Fifty Famous Frontiersmen by Elmo Scott Watson

- Big Bat and Little Bat In the post cemetery at Fort Robinson, Neb., among the long rows of little headstones, all of which look exactly alike, is one that bears this inscription: "Baptisto Garnier, Employee Q. M. D." And this marks the end of the trail for a really great frontiersman—a simple slab of granite which records the fact that here lies buried an "employee of the quartermaster's department" and doesn't even spell his name correctly! For Baptiste (not Baptist) Garnier was the "Little Bat" or Sioux Indian war days, a scout for our hard-riding, hard-fightin' troopers in the seventies, eighties and nineties, a guide for many a party of big game hunters and an interpreter in many an important council—certainly a man who deserved a better memorial than this. Officers of the old army will tell you that there were two "Bats"—"Big Bat" and "Little Bat"—both of them good men and true. "Big Bat" was Baptiste Poirier, scout for General Crook during the campaign of 1876 and hero of a daring escapade at the Battle of Slim Buttes. "Little Bat" was the son of a French father and a Sioux Indian mother and he grew up among his mother's people near old Fort Laramie. Valuable as were his services to the white as a scout during the Sioux war of 1876-77, they were even more valuable as interpreter when Red Cloud's Ogalalas were finally penned up on a reservation and started on "the white man's road" during the eighties. When the Ghost Dance excitement started among the Sioux in 1890, "Little Bat's" advice that the Indians be left alone until they had "danced themselves out" had been followed, it might have averted some of the tragedies which followed. One of these tragedies was the Battle of Wounded Knee and there "Little Bat" had one of his narrowest escapes. Acting as interpreter he walked among the lodges of Big Foot's camp, unarmed, to impress the Indians of his conviction that they were in no danger. Then the firing started. In the storm of bullets his clothing was pierced several times, but by some miracle he escaped death. Eight years later a murderer's bullet accomplished what those fired in battle could not do. For "Little Bat" was shot down in Crawford, Neb., by a barkeeper whom he had regarded as his friend and who was never punished for the cold-blooded murder of a man noted for his peaceable disposition, as well as for his stark courage in time of danger. A food and feed contest for both white and colored farm families has been launched by county farm and home demonstration agents in Harrison county with the help of local civic organizations and the railroad agricultural agent.

Beautifuling Highways

Brown county, through the organization of the Brown County Citizen's Highway Beautification Association, is gratifying.

A high sounding title, this new organization has, but it has a high purpose, and is in charge of worthy citizens, who are sure to see the program through.

The highway commission has given impetus to the movement to beautify all state and federal highways in the state, and trees planted at highway intersections and at culverts and streams already are beginning to bud. With the planting of blue bonnets and other wildflowers along the highway, and an increased planting of trees and shrubs, Texas soon should have a beautiful as well as a complete system of roads.

We are heartily in favor of the movement—highways have become entirely too prosaic, anyway, since the removal of bill boards from the right of way.

Actual Benefits

That Mr. Roosevelt certainly meant to bring recovery to everyone, and not alone to big business interest as had been the program in the past administration, is indicated in figures published last week in The Banner, relative to agricultural benefits to this county of the New Deal.

All of us understand figures, especially when these figures are preceded by a dollar mark. That's why it is easy to understand the benefit of the New Deal to Brown County farmers when we say that more than $325,000 has been paid out to farmers of this county during the past nine months by the government. This is cash money that the farmers have been paid or will be paid for products that they did not produce.

But there is much more. For example, cotton now is around 11 cents. During the months when most of the cotton was sold in this county, it averaged slightly under 9 cents a pound. During the selling season of 1932, the average was only slightly above 5 cents per pound. This is an increase of $20 per bale on every bale of cotton sold in the county during this selling season—or nearly $30 a bale for cotton held and sold as the price went up to 11 cents. Wool and mohair showed an increase, after the Roosevelt policies were put into effect, of some 400 per cent.

These are figures we all can understand, and for which we should be grateful.

Retail business, on the other hand, has not shown the improvement for which we had hoped. To a large extent, business has been handicapped rather than helped by the NRA movement, and the succeeding codes for the various industries. The program is not complete, however, and we are firm in the belief that business eventually will be assisted in proportion to the assistance given agriculture.

In the meantime, retail business must be content with the increased amount of money put into circulation through the agricultural agencies and the CWA program.

Unexpected Opposition

In view of the cooperation that has been given the administration from almost every source, it is a bit surprising to note the constant harangue directed toward Rooseveltian policies by the Saturday Evening Post. This distinguished journal never loses an opportunity to point out what it classes as weaknesses of the Administration, unwise policies and unmerited appointments.

Some years ago The Post created a mild sensation by deserting an age-old policy of neutrality with regard to national politics, and came out as an advocate of the Republican party. It is to be expected that the magazine would continue to lean toward the moneyed interests that dominate the political party of its choice.

Yet, in view of the support accorded Roosevelt by the Republican press throughout the country, the efforts of The Post to discredit the Administration with the American public is a bit surprising to us. Especially so when it seems generally agreed among Republicans and Democrats alike, that Roosevelt is sincere and honest, and a bit effective, in his policy of endeavoring to bring America out of the depression.

Announcement that the state will spend $23,000 in the construction of new buildings to house the offices and warehouses of the highway division here comes as welcome news to Brownwood. Aside from the fact that the new construction will mean employment and spending of money here, and the new structure will add to Brownwood's physical appearance is another consoling thought. With money invested in permanent construction here, it is unlikely that efforts will be made to move the division headquarters to any other location any time soon.

Not that such a move is contemplated, so far as we know. To the contrary, we feel sure that all concerned in the location are as happy to be in Brownwood as we are to have them. But any agency that depends upon the whims of political overlords is likely to be moved at any time, especially with changing administrations in prospect every few years.

We're glad to have the building, but more than that, we are glad to know that the highway commission considers Brownwood a good location for a permanent building to house its division.

Many beautiful selections were led by class leaders of Brown, Comanche, and Mills counties. Several special selections were rendered by the following quartets: The Brooks Quartet of Bangs, the Blanket male quartet, the Blanket Ladies Quartet, composed of Misses Verna May Hall, Dorothy Brewster, Margaret McQueen and Mrs. Marvin Petross.
Two ladies quartettes from Brownwood first one, Misses Miller and Miller, Avenger and Cadenhead. The second one Misses Rundles, Harris, Jones and Mrs. Cadenhead. My, it was grand to hear these Ladies Quartettes as well as the little misses and lady leaders.

Then a special each "Beautiful Texas" by Master Francis Murray, and "On the Jericho Road" by little 4-year-old Billie Neal Davis, both of Brownwood. Will not make mention of each leader only that all did real well. A number of good talks were made during the session.
Hospitality was away above par. Cummings of Brooksmith preached the opening sermon Friday night to a splendid congregation. Rev. B. A. Fox of Brownwood brought the message Saturday night, which was greatly appreciated by a large and attentive audience.
Services began promptly at 9:00 o'clock Sunday morning with J. C. Edwards of Brooksmith, president of the association, in charge. After the devotional hour was over a very interesting Sunday school lesson was given by the teachers of the various classes, after which a beautiful and timely message was brought by Rev. C. A. Wilkerson of Winchell. This message was very instructive and inspirational and enjoyed by a large and appreciative congregation. At noon the hospitable people of Trickham spread as fine a basket lunch as the eyes of man ever beheld, which was enjoyed by all present.
At 1:30 an old fashioned prayer and testimony service was indulged in which is always enjoyed and is a big feature in these services. The many beautiful songs and sermons given by the various preachers and visitors was much appreciated. Many visitors were present from Brown, Coleman and McCulloch counties. Rev. R. E. Cummings brought the closing message Sunday night, which brought to a close one of the best meetings in the history of the organization. course, the second and third hand need not be turned on until they are needed. Avoid Unshaded Bulbs It is not enough to have enough light. To insure "safety" seeing, the eyes require light of a comfortable quality as well as a sufficient quantity. Raw light from bare bulbs is harsh and unpleasant. Hence all fixtures should be shaded, and both floor and table lamps should be placed with relation to chairs, so that those sitting down are not annoyed by a view of the bare bulbs. This means that the very tall lamp should not be used with the very low chair or davenport unless it is placed slightly behind. Shades should be deep enough to hide the bulbs underneath, broad enough to throw a wide circle of light down on the book or paper of the person sitting in the chair, and light in feeling. This last qualification is one you must insist upon, if you are going to get the most light for your money. A dark shade will absorb light, and cheat your eyes, and incidentally it will give your room a gloomy appearance too. But, for the bride table, the most efficient light is that provided by the indirect portable lamp. It satisfies all the requirements of safe seeing since it provides enough light of a pleasant quality for any close work, and has the advantage of being so shaded so that it could annoy only the eyes of a fly on the ceiling. Only at the desk, where the lamp must be placed right in front of and on a level with the eyes, is the dark shade recommended, and incidentally, be sure the desk lamp is placed, on the left — unless you are left handed, in which case it should be placed at the right side of the desk. For the bride table, the most efficient light is that provided by the indirect portable lamp. It satisfies all the requirements of safe seeing since it provides enough light of a pleasant quality for any close work, and has the advantage of being so shaded so that it could annoy only the eyes of a fly on the ceiling.

Light for the Living Room

Wherever there is a place for people to sit down, there should be some provision made for light—enough light to insure safe, comfortable seeing. THIS living room has a fireplace, that living room has none. This one has a piano and a davenport, that one a radio and a love seat. Because they are all different, it would be impossible to give hard and fast rules for lighting a living room as a whole. But if it is to live up to the solid comfort its name implies, every living room must provide light for every place it makes provision for people to sit down. And it is easy to tell how to light a chair for reading, a desk for writing, a table for bridge and so on. Eye Requirements Vary Researches conducted by scientists enable them to prescribe a minimum of ten units of light on our book if we are to read comfortably and without eyestrain. For sewing they prescribe twice that amount of light, since sewing is often done in dark materials that absorb light, and with thread that matches and so offers no contrast to help the eye along. It has been demonstrated further that the pupil of the eye grows smaller with age, permitting less light to enter to enable the eye to form the image. So a person fifty years of age requires twice as much light to see easily as a 20-year-old person. The print in little Mabel's primer is large and easy for Grandmother to read. But even so she must double the light on the page if she is to see the words as easily and quickly as the child at her knee. A wife darning at one end of the davenport needs twice as much light as her husband who is reading the evening news at the other. Obviously, the living room that is well lighted will take cognizance of these facts, and the lamps here and there will have two or three sockets and thus be equipped to give more light as it is needed. In general it may be assumed that one 60-watt lamp bulb in a reading lamp, provides the minimum of ten units of light necessary for comfortable reading. The lamp with two or three sockets makes it possible to double the light at a twist of the wrist, and

Judge E. M. Davis Announces As Candidate For State Senate

Judge E. M. Davis, former County Judge of Brown County and former member of the Legislature from this district, this week authorizes The Banner to announce his candidacy for the State Senate from the 25th Senatorial District. JUDGE E. M. DAVIS was reared by farmer parents in Burnet and Lampasas counties. In his young manhood, he taught school in Lampasas and Mills counties, and later worked his way through the University of Texas, graduating in the Law and Academic Department in 1912. The same year, he announced for county attorney of Lampasas county, and served four years in that capacity, after which he engaged in the private practice of law until the summer of 1917, when he volunteered for the Second Training Camp at Leon Springs. After his discharge from the Army, he came to Brownwood, where he has since lived. He served one term as city attorney of Brownwood, and six years as county judge of Brown county. While county judge, he was elected president of the County Judges and Commissioners Association of Texas, during which time he took a leading part in procuring legislation whereby the counties now receive the larger share of automobile license fees. During the time he was county judge, a road program was launched which eventuated in one of the most complete road systems in Texas. Judge Davis also served as a member of the 42nd Legislature, and he was largely responsible for the passage of the law which puts limitations upon commissioners' courts and city councils creating long-time indebtedness, and also the Pipe Line and Common Purchaser Bill, which requires the major pipe line companies to run and purchase oil ratably from all producers in any given field. Judge Davis is an elder in the Presbyterian Church, a member of the American Legion, the Masonic Lodge, is captain of Company A, 142nd Infantry, Texas National Guard, and has been active for many years in scout work and all other work in town and country. In announcing his candidacy, Judge Davis issued the following statement: As opportunity permits, I expect to discuss the various issues of the day in my campaign, but I list the following as a few of the things for which I stand, if you see fit to honor me with this high position: First and foremost, I stand for reducing and simplifying all governmental agencies, in city, county and state, to the end that the cost of government may be materially reduced. I favor abolishing the office of county treasurer, and requiring the county clerk to issue vouchers payable directly by the county depository. This is a small item, but means a saving of more than half a million dollars each year in Texas, and is one step toward reducing governmental expenses. I favor consolidation of the offices of county and district clerk, which would mean an annual saving of many more thousands of dollars. I favor consolidating all the law enforcing agencies of the county. This will not only mean a saving to the tax payers, but it will eliminate the petty jealousies which frequently impair the enforcing of the law. I favor the ultimate consolidation of all tax assessing and collecting units of each county, and thus reduce by half the enormous expense of assessing and collecting taxes for the various taxing units. This is fraught with difficulties until we eliminate the state ad valorem tax, and I am in favor of such elimination at an early date. We have many state law enforcing agencies. I am in favor of the consolidation of all, or most, of these bodies into one trained body, with the duty of enforcing all laws, like the sheriff of the county; but I am not in favor of building up a large state patrol until the various agencies now existing are eliminated. I believe that half of the force now employed by the various departments, if consolidated into one trained body, would do vastly more, at less expense, toward enforcing all the laws of the State. I favor simplifying our governmental machinery by consolidating and eliminating various boards and bureaus, and we should start now, instead of talking about it, as we have done in the past. We must have some drastic reforms in court procedure. I favor laws permitting the State to amend indictments, and not permit indictments to be quashed, and defendants released, because of the omission of some stereotyped words or phrases. I favor the repeal of all laws which permit defendants charged jointly to demand a severance. The federal law now requires those indicted jointly to be tried together. This will eliminate thousands of separate trials each year, and save millions annually to the state and county, and will go a long way toward bringing the criminal element to justice. I favor enactment of such laws as will guarantee the public adequate service by all public utilities at reasonable rates, with penalties and procedure simple enough to enable cities and towns easily to enforce the same. There is an agitation for the repeal of the State prohibition amendment. I will vote to submit this question to the people at an early date. Personally, I am opposed to the return of the saloon. If said amendment is repealed, I will favor strict control of the liquor traffic. I favor legislation which will enable farm co-operatives to conform to Federal regulations and participate in Federal aid through the Federal Aid Co-operative Banks. I also favor a State system of rural credits. This senatorial district is in the heart of the great undulating country which extends from Austin to Lubbock; and in my humble opinion, no lovelier land, no happier conformation, was ever penciled by the sunlight and the rain. It is the land of my birth, and that of my parents and my children, and to me the choicest spot on earth. But its productiveness is being destroyed through erosion; and unless steps are taken at once to protect it, within the next fifty years, it will be as desolate as Goldsmith's Deserted Village. Terracing requires machinery too expensive for the individual to own. I am in favor of laws which will permit and require the state and county to furnish equipment for terracing our farms, and thus conserve the fertility and insure the prosperity of our hill country for our children's children. If elected, I pledge the people of this district that I will co-operate with the national government and the governor whom they elect, and will cheerfully give them four years of unselfish and untiring service.

To Inspect Farms Of Contract Signers By Novel Method

Some idea of how government cotton and corn-hog contract signers' farms may be inspected this spring to insure compliance with contracts may be gained from the wheat farm inspection now beginning in Texas, says H. H. Williamson, vice-director and state agent in the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service.

County agents are being trained in wheat counties in a unique method of acreage measurement which they in turn will pass on to inspectors. Both the retired wheat acres and the total wheat acres are to be measured, and inspectors are also to make note of the uses made of contracted acres. The field notes are to be checked with the contracts by the county wheat production control association officers. The cost of the inspection is to be paid by the associations.

The method of measuring acreages was worked out by the U. S. Bureau of Agriculture Engineering. It consists of pushing some kind of old wheel about the sides of the field and recording the number of revolutions. The wheel is properly calibrated and clicks off each revolution loud enough for the inspector to count. As 100 revolutions are counted the inspector shifts a marble from one pocket to another and thus gets the total for each side of the field. The angles at each corner of the field are also measured by a homemade device. These figures together with notes on the crops growing on contracted acres are delivered to the county wheat allotment committee for checking.

This same system of measuring acreages and of checking compliance with contracts will probably be used with cotton and corn, Mr. Williamson states. Wheat contract compliance work in Texas is in charge of John R. Edmonds, extension service district agent who has made temporary headquarters in Amarillo.

COVEY—Mrs. Cordie Covey died at the family residence in Bangs at 5 o'clock Friday, April 27. Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Church

WHAT GRADE A MILK MEANS TO CONSUMER

Last week The Banner published the requirements for Grade A milk sold in the City of Brownwood. The article attracted considerable favorable comment from readers, among which is the following letter from J. M. Bowman, city milk inspector:

"Editor, The Banner:
I have read with considerable interest an article published under the date of April 26, entitled 'Requirements For Grade A Milk Sold in Brownwood.'
I want to submit the following in connection with this very important matter, with a view of passing it on to the consuming public:

"What Grade A Milk means to the Consumer, when produced under the Standard Milk Ordinance: 'Grade A means that the tuberculin test has been applied to the dairy herd, and reactors removed; that a physician has examined the dairy personnel and that none were found to have any disease which might be transmitted through the milk to the consumer; that the construction of the barn is such that certain sanitary arrangements have been observed such as providing for plenty of light, ventilation; inside walls are painted or whitewashed; that the cows milked on a clean and well drained concrete floor; that the milking process has been done in a clean manner by removing dirt or loose hairs from the cows' flanks and udders; that milkers' hands have been disinfected and are clean, milk stools and milkers' clothes are clean and the milk not exposed to contamination by straining in the barn, but that it has been strained, cooled, handled and bottled in a clean, well-lighted, fly-proof, sanitarily constructed and maintained milkhouse and bottled in a sanitary manner.
It means that the milk utensils and bottles or cans have been cleaned and thoroughly sterilized that safe water is used; that toilets are so constructed as to prevent access to germ carrying flies or disease transmitting agents; that the milk has been produced and handled in clean surroundings and all practical safeguards taken to prevent disease-producing infection.
It means further that the milk has been produced, bottled, handled and labeled under the supervision of the city and state health authorities and the United States Public Health Service.
The same supervision applies to the milk if it is pasteurized. No other milk regulation has the advantage of such a triple supervision by local, state and United States health authorities, and this is the best guarantee the consumer could have that Grade A milk is the safest and highest quality practicable to produce, and that the label more clearly represents its sanitary quality on account of so many reliable check-ups.
Very truly yours,
"J. M. Bowman,
"City Milk Inspector."

Regular Vision Test Important

Dr. Mollie W. Armstrong with offices at 402 Center, is equipped with the Training and Experience Necessary to Correct Most Any Impairment or Defection in Vision which You May Possess.

What has always seemed a lamentable trait in human nature is the aversion the average person has toward wearing glasses. The majority of people, unfortunately never consult an optometrist until their vision has become substantially impaired with the result that in many cases it is not only more expensive, but it is also difficult to correct or improve their vision.
According to the National Society for Prevention of Blindness it is estimated that 114,000 persons in the United States are blind and that more than half of them need not have lost their sight.
If you have not had your eyes examined within the past two years you may be unduly straining them at this very moment. Only an eyesight specialist can tell if it is wise to use your eyes

FIRE CHIEF POPULAR GASOLINE

Wholesale by W. B. Cain and Retail by numerous Texaco Service Stations in Brownwood and vicinity, Greater Fire Chief Gasoline and other Texaco Products have gained an Envyable Reputation.
The growth of oil companies during the past quarter century has been one of the marvels of modern business and in this respect none has shown a more rapid expansion than the Texaco Company.
This company was established over 39 years ago and has grown in that time from a small corporation to one now operating in every state in the union and 46 countries of the world. It is a thoroughly independent organization, with over 90,000 stockholders, scattered throughout the United States and many foreign countries.
The Texaco Company through its local agent, Mr. W. B. Cain, wholesales Texaco Crack-Proof Motor Oil, Havoline Wax Free Oil and their greater Fire Chief Gasoline. Fire Chief gasoline was developed over two years ago because of the U. S. Government's desire to secure a fuel with a high octane of anti-knock rating and one providing quicker starts and speed with no sacrifice in power. Government specifications were used and Texaco Fire Chief Gasoline was the result. It immediately gained popular favor and today it is an even better gasoline for within the past eight months the Texaco Company has added lead to its making Greater Fire Chief Gasoline, which greatly increases its anti-knock rating as well as mileage results.
Texaco Service Stations of which there are a number in Brownwood and vicinity and which can be identified by the familiar Texaco Red Star and Green "T", now have this gasoline for the convenience of all motorists. Attendants at these stations fill tires, batteries, radiators and extend other courtesies in keeping with good service.
Mr. Cain acts in the capacity of commission agent for the Texaco Company, owns his own equipment, employs his own personnel and is justly regarded as a local business man not subject to being transferred to some other community at the direction of the Texaco Company. One tank of Fire Chief Gasoline will convince you of its merits.

GOOD TIRES IMPORTANT

The Safety Tire Company at South and W. Broadway in Brownwood wholesale and retail a complete line of Goodyear All-Weather, Pathfinder and Speedway Tires also Exide Battery service. Mr. D. C. Pratt, Manager.
One of the greatest risks to which the average automobile owner subjects himself is the thoughtless inattention he pays to the safety and quality of his tires, particularly as they become badly worn.
As a matter of fact, no particular part of your automobile should be given more careful and serious attention than your tires. None is of more importance to your safety or that of members of your family. Statistics show that over 50 percent of the really serious motor car accidents which annually kill and maim thousands of people in the United States result from tire blow outs while driving at a high rate of speed.
In this respect the Goodyear tires which are handled and distributed by the Safety Tire Co. in Brownwood have become known as the world's leading and safest tire. Tires on trucks are conceded given harder use than those on passenger cars and the fact that more tons are hauled on Goodyear truck tires than on any other kind is indicative of the superiority they possess. The chief reason for

FARM HOUSING BAD SURVEY IS SHOWING

Farm housing conditions in Texas leave much to be desired and are far below the minimum requirements for a decent standard of living on half or more of the farms, figures now being compiled on the rural housing survey are showing. The survey covered most of 56 counties selected as being representative of the State. It was a Civil Works Administration project in which the United States Department of Agriculture and Texas A. and M. College Extension Service cooperated.
Total state figures are not yet available but preliminary figures indicate that it would probably take at least one-half billion dollars to rehabilitate all Texas farm homes to only a moderate degree of comfort, according to Mrs. Bernice Claytor, extension home improvement specialist. Running water, new roofing, screens for windows and doors, and painting are listed as the most pressing needs.
More than one-fourth the farm people interviewed would borrow money at low interest rates if it were offered them for improving their homes, same to be paid back over a long period of time.
"The deplorable condition of many of our farm homes is a symptom of long standing agricultural distress," comments O. B. Martin, extension director. "It shows that the country is in need of the re-adjustment in farm and home life that the demonstration-fostered by county farm and home demonstration agents are bringing. It also shows that the effort of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration to bring quick cash relief to farmers, followed up by long-time re-adjustment of farm systems, is the need of the hour. The survey confirms what has been known by those who are most familiar with farm conditions. It gives added proof that the conditions which our army of farm people enrolled as demonstrators and cooperators are struggling to overcome are real and not fancied."

Cash payment in the form of government checks totalling $30,250 will come to 144 Ochiltree county farmers this year who signed corn-hog reduction contracts, the county agent estimates. They are taking 2015 hogs off the market.

Science of Chemistry
The science of chemistry had its origin in remote antiquity. Many of its earlier secrets form the basis of modern knowledge. Early chemistry developed from gradual findings usually relating to the extraction of various metals from ores. Modern chemistry had been largely developed along industrial lines during the Nineteenth century, and since the World War enormous progress has been made.
