

BEER ELECTION WILL BE HELD NEXT SATURDAY

Will be Held in Connection With Democratic Primary Election

A county-wide election for the purpose of deciding whether the sale of vinous and malt liquors, that do not contain alcohol in excess of four per cent by weight, be legalized, was ordered by the commissioners' court in regular monthly meeting Monday.

The action was taken when a petition bearing the required number of signatures of qualified voters was presented.

The election was ordered for Saturday, July 23, 1938, which falls on the date of the state Democratic primary election.

In the past two years, the county voters have rejected all proposals for the sale of light wines and beer. A proposal for beer legalization of 3.2 per cent strength was rejected in February, 1936, by a two-vote margin.

Again in May of the same year a proposal to legalize the sale of malt and vinous liquors of not more than 14 per cent strength was defeated by a margin of 377 votes.

The last election was held on March 20, 1937, at which time a proposal for the sale of 4 per cent beer was defeated by a majority of 312 votes.

JUDGE RAY WINDER SEEKS RE-ELECTION TO PRESENT POSITION

I take this opportunity of announcing my candidacy for re-election as county judge of Cooke County and to thank the citizens who two years ago gave me the overwhelming majority of more than 2500 votes over my opponent.

Your confidence has been deeply appreciated and I have consistently tried to make you an able and energetic administrative officer and judge.

Thru a refunding program in 1936, an outstanding indebtedness of $45,000.00 court house 4 per cent bonds has been paid down to only $21,000 at 3-1-2 per cent interest. This $21,000 is our only county-wide debt.

Your tax rate in 1936 was 45c on the $100 valuation of taxable property, lowest in the history of the county. In 1937 it was 47c, never lower except in 1936.

Cost of operating county farm and jail and for drugs and county hospital bills dropped from $16,000 in 1934 (the year before I came in to office) to $8,900 in 1937. In other words, it cost more than $7,000 less for these items in 1937 than it did in 1934. Other savings too long to enumerate have been effected, and your county stands financially with a half dozen others at the top of the list.

We collect county delinquent taxes from those able to pay but do not pay voluntarily, in order to avoid overburdening those who customarily

GRADUAL INCREASE NOTED IN MUENSTER OIL FIELD ACTIVITY

Oil business of this community has been slightly more encouraging during recent weeks. The return of several oil operators with their families is regarded as an indication that a new spurge of activity is due for the very near future.

Some of that activity, according to popular belief, will be centered about Trumter's recently completed 75 barrel well on Frank Treubach's. Wednesday morning the Texas Company finished a 30 barrel well on another Frank Treubach lease.

Efforts are also being made to regain production on the Voth gas well. After an attempt to strike oil at a lower level proved unsuccessful the hole was cemented back to the gas sand. Re-drilling failed to clear the sand of cement, and a shot of nitroglycerine will be used to break the seal and bring back the gas. Negotiations are also under way to secure a market for the gas, it is reported.

Mudge moved Tuesday to its new location on the Number 5 Clayton after cleaning out its Number 4 well on the Trew lease. Bridwell also spent several days this week cleaning 3 wells on the Parkey lease.

Drilling for Seitz, Comegys, and Seitz, Kingery was down to about 1150 Tuesday on the Number 1 Whaley well south of Muenster.

FAVORABLE REPORT CHEERS FMA GROUP IN MONDAY MEETING

About 85 members of the Farmers Marketing Association expressed satisfaction over a report on the company's activity during the past six months at a regular semi-annual meeting in the Muenster parish hall Tuesday night.

Rudy Hellman, manager of the cheese factory, listed in detail the company's expenditures on its building program and the installation of whey drying equipment to produce a saleable by-product from the large volume of whey which heretofore was permitted to go to waste.

Received with special satisfaction was a report that more than $100,000 had been distributed in milk checks to the cheese plant patrons in the past six months.

Committee members were pleased by an apparent return of the old time spirit of aggressive co-operation thought to be inspired by the recent expansion program. Routine business during the past several years had been taken very much for granted.

Miss Lillian Fette, stewardess for American Airlines, will appear in a small role in the forthcoming "Cowboy and a Lady" starring Gary Cooper and Merle Oberon, members of her family here were advised Monday.

The message substantiates a report that her name was mentioned last week in a radio bulletin as having passed a screen test and receiving a part in the picture mentioned.

Miss Fette has been quite prominent as a personality girl for American Airlines on several occasions since securing her stewardess position in December 1935. At one time she was assigned to accompany the queen of the Frontier Fiesta on a good will flight to cities of the Southwest. Another time she was sent to New York to offer her company's welcome to officials of a German air transport company. In Fort Worth she appeared before the rotary club several times in a series of short addresses in behalf of her company. And only recently she came more definitely to the attention of the movie colonies when she appeared in a newsreel with Shirley Temple after the child favorite had completed her trip east.

FIREMEN DECIDE ON SUNDAY NIGHT JULY 30 FOR ANNUAL PICNIC

This year's firemen's picnic will be held at the Roadside Park between Muenster and Gainesville on Sunday evening, July 30, it was decided Monday night when members of the Volunteer Fire Department met in the City Hall.

To Henry Luke and Al Walterscheid fell the appointment to represent the Muenster unit at a "firemen's school" at A and M College from July 18 to 22. Both will leave next Sunday.

New members accepted in the department were Nick Miller and Matt Schmitz.

Reports from Chief Ben Seyler and John Fisher on the state convention at Amarillo and the election of Al Walterscheid as fire captain completed the business session.

HON. W. D. McFARLANE ADDRESSES MUENSTER VOTERS THURSDAY

In behalf of his candidacy for re-election to the office of Representative for District 13, Congressman W. D. McFarlane addressed the people of Muenster last Thursday afternoon July 7.

He opened his speech with the remark that he was happy to come back to the people of this community and report that he had kept faith with them in every promise made during his preceding campaign. He cited instances to show that his efforts and his votes were cast in defense of farmers and laborers and against monopolistic interests, and called special attention to his 100 per cent support of the present administration.

McFarlane flatly denied his opponent's charge that he favors Communism and sit down strikes, pointing again to the record of his service and his speeches against them in congress.

In concluding the speaker made encouraging comments on the local Rural Electrification project, thanked his audience for their splendid support in the previous election, and asked for their continued consideration on the record of his work.

COMPLETES RECORD WORLD FLIGHT

NEW YORK.—Howard Hughes, millionaire sportsman pilot, is shown with four of the five members of his flight crew at Floyd Bennett Field, Brooklyn, just before their departure on the round-the-world flight that cut the late Wiley Post's record in half. Hughes completed the trip in less than 4 days, Post in slightly less than 8. Hughes' twin motored Lockheed "Flying Laboratory" after a transcontinental test flight from Los Angeles took off at New York Sunday night and completed his flight early Thursday afternoon. His route led to Paris and Moscow then over Siberia to Fairbanks, Alaska and directly across Canada to New York. His average flying speed was more than 200 miles per hour. Pictured left to right are Lieutenant Tom Thurlow and Harry Connor, navigators; Hughes; Richard Stoddart, radio engineer; and Dale Power, flight engineer.

BANNER SALES EVENT OF COUNTY NOW UNDER WAY AT TEAGUE STORE

The banner merchandising event of Cooke County got under way Thursday morning when Teague Company of Gainesville opened its annual July sale.

For more than ten years this clearance has been an institution with the Teague Company, and has come to be regarded as much a part of the store's program as its normal operations during the remaining part of the year. Thrifty shoppers mark the opening as a red letter day on their calendars and gather in throngs to wait for doors to swing open.

While the sale is used to advantage as an opportunity to dispose of out of season stock, it is by no means a strictly clearance sale. Many of the leading items are new, specially ordered for the sale and offered as Teague's special treat to wise shoppers.

"July at Teague's" is a 10 day event, this year extending through Saturday, July 23. The company's sales force has been more than tripled during the sale.

CIVIC LEAGUE LADIES ELECT MRS. MYRICK AS NEW PRESIDENT

Officers for the ensuing year were elected by the Ladies' Civic League at a meeting held in the public school Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. T. S. Myrick was elected president. Vice-president, Mrs. M. J. Endres, who served as president for the league during the past several months after Mrs. John Furbach, the president, moved to Amarillo, declined the nomination for president and was again elected vice-president. Mrs. John Mosman and Miss Mary Becker were re-elected secretary and treasurer, respectively.

Chairmen for the committees were chosen as follows: Mrs. Ben Hellman, sanitation committee; Mrs. Nick Miller, cemetery committee; Miss Olivia Stock, educational committee; Mrs. Joe Luke, flower show and home beautification committee. The last named was formerly two committees which were combined this year. The chairmen are to choose their assistants and announce their names at the next meeting.

Prior to the election of officers the regular business meeting was held. The cemetery committee reported that its work is progressing nicely. Trees and grass are being watered regularly by the ladies in charge. A large number of curbs around graves have been removed and Bermuda sod set out on approximately 100 graves.

According to a survey made by the yard and home beautification committee 100 trees have been planted in Muenster this year, apart from the number planted by the cemetery committee. A number of hedges, including approximately 700 plants, have been set out and one rock garden has been added to the number of attractive rock gardens in the city.

It was mentioned that there are 57 crepe myrtle bushes in Muenster. Since it was chosen the town flower a great deal of interest is being shown in the lovely flowering shrub and many citizens are making plans to plant some this fall.

LUKE TEMPEL SUCCUMBS TO HEART AILMENT

Following an extended illness Luke Tempel died Thursday morning at 11:08 o'clock of lung, heart and bronchial ailments that had been hanging over him for years. His death came as an end to a sinking spell and extreme suffering over the past two weeks. Several times during that period he found breathing difficult and was on the verge of dying.

Funeral services will be held from the Sacred Heart Church Saturday morning, the hour of services to be announced later today.

There is a probability that Mr. Tempel will be honored with a military funeral. He was one of the A. E. F. soldiers serving in the world war.

FORESTBURG DIVIDES HONORS IN WEDNESDAY NIGHT BALL GAMES

Forestburg won a game and lost one Wednesday night in a double header that constituted the only attraction on the week's softball calendar.

In their curtain raiser with Paul Walterscheid's club they took advantage of a 12 to 6 hitting lead and emerged as 8 to 6 victors.

Their encounter with Stony Point was extended two extra innings before the game finally ended with a one point margin. It started with the Stony Point boys gradually taking a substantial lead which stood at 14 to 7 at the opening of the seventh. A spirited rally netted the required tallies to tie the score. Both teams had a scoreless eighth and Forestburg got one in the first frame of the ninth, after which the opponents promptly put over the tying then the winning runs.

COMMISSIONER FELKER COMPLETES 190 FOOT REED CROSSING BRIDGE

Probably the finest rural road bridge in the county is that completed at Reed Crossing last Friday under the supervision of Commissioner "Babe" Felker. It was opened to traffic that afternoon. As regards construction work, the bridge is complete and the application of paint, now under way, will add the finishing touches.

The bridge is 16 feet wide, providing ample space for two way traffic and crosses the creek at an angle so that the sharp curve at the north approach, which defied passage to large, trailer type trucks, has been eliminated. It has a 190 foot span.

Under Mr. Felker's supervision the bridge was constructed at a total cost of $2,500 at a saving of $4,500 to the county. The lowest contract bid, he stated was $7,000 a figure intentionally quoted high because of the danger of losing all previous work in case a flood came before the bridge was completed. Feeling that he could keep his expense below $7,000 in spite of normal trouble, Mr. Felker tackled the job himself, and was favored with lucky breaks all the way through.

Electrification Project Gets Encouragement From REA Official of Washington

RAYMOND KING DIES SUDDENLY OF HEART FAILURE WEDNESDAY

Cooke County was shocked Wednesday night by the news of the sudden death of Raymond King, 42, director and cashier of the Gainesville National Bank. His death occurred about 8 p. m. at the Gainesville airport, where he was accustomed to spending a great deal of his time. Heart failure was named the cause.

Funeral services were held at 5 o'clock Thursday from the First Presbyterian church of Gainesville with Rev. Garland Shell of Tempel conducting services.

Mr. King was cashier of the Gainesville National Bank since 1923 and in recent months, since the resignation of J. A. Hulme, was acting vice-president. He was a member of the city school board and a director of the Chamber of Commerce. He was also a licensed pilot and prominent as the leader of aviation advancements in Gainesville.

He is survived by a wife, 2 sons, a stepmother, and two brothers.

GEORGE DAYTON ASKS SUPPORT IN RACE FOR COOKE COUNTY JUDGE

TO THE VOTERS OF COOKE COUNTY:

Some months ago I yielded to the requests of friends over the county to again become a candidate for the office of county judge of this county.

In seeking this office I do not represent any person or faction and have no political alliance but am running solely on my own merits and my past record.

I served in the Florida senate one term and I am proud of my record there. I also served as mayor of Dade and Dade City. You elected me to the Legislature for one term then to the Senate for one term. I was not a candidate to succeed myself for any of these offices. While serving in the Legislature and the Senate I worked hard and state, not boasting, that I was joint author of the Compulsory Education law, author of the Free-Text Book law and was instrumental in locating the Girls' Training School in this county and passing free library laws. You elected me to the office of county judge and I served you for two terms retiring from that office January 1, 1927. Since that time I spent six years in Florida and returned to my home in Gainesville in 1933. For the past four years I have been living on and operating my farm near Valley View. During all of these years I was a taxpayer in Cooke County.

I believe in efficiency and economy and in levying the lowest tax rate possible to administer the county affairs. I believe that every

KNIGHTS PREPARING FOR GRAND AFFAIR AT THEIR SUNDAY PICNIC

Members of the Knights of Columbus picnic committee are overlooking no details in making their party next Sunday one of the most pleasant this city has ever experienced. In a meeting with officers last Friday each committee member took hold of one feature and laid plans to have it complete and thorough.

It will be held next Sunday, July 17, at the K of C hall. Hamburgers, sandwiches, ice cream and iced drinks will be there in abundance to provide for refreshment wants. Ample seating space will accommodate leisurely visiting, and a tango stand will be there for those who favor games.

Speaking of the tango game, Deputy Grand Knight M. J. Endres, general supervisor of the picnic, stated that Henry Hennigan is taking special pains to make it the best this town has ever known. A speaker system will eliminate the usual difficulty of hearing so that games can progress with less delay, and the selection of prizes will be far above the average. Furthermore winners will have a choice of the articles displayed rather than pick numbers for their articles.

"We hope this picnic will net an attractive figure for our building fund," Mr. Endres said, "but we are just as anxious to offer a really pleasant evening for everyone of our visitors."

Ewel Stone Calls to Assist In Getting Construction Under Way at Earliest Possible Date

Optimism over the local rural electrification project reached a new high mark Tuesday afternoon when Ewel Stone, REA official of Washington, conferred with officers of the Cooke County Electric Co-operative Association. At the present time Mr. Stone is spending several weeks in Texas to assist this and other projects in reaching a satisfactory conclusion at the earliest date.

"Washington has 140 million dollars for REA allotments," Mr. Stone stated, "and it is my business to help get these projects in shape so the money can be put to work at the earliest possible date. Another reason for rushing," he added, "is to have construction under way during the Summer and Fall when less expense and fewer weather hazards are encountered."

Mr. Stone was highly encouraging over Muenster's prospect of working out an approved project. After studying a rough map with J. W. Hess he stated that it will come up to REA specifications as soon as several of the gaps are filled.

At his suggestion Mr. Hess selected several assistants Wednesday and set out on a final, determined drive to bring in every available signature, especially those in areas where other signatures have been secured. Following that he will prepare his map, then summon Mr. Stone to return and help prepare the project for submitting to Washington. Mr. Stone suggested spending about 10 more days on survey work before notifying him.

Mr. Stone was especially encouraging over the project's success after he checked Muenster's record of co-operative spirit in other ventures. He was deeply impressed with the fact that three enterprises, the Farmers Marketing Association, the telephone company and the mutual insurance company are all being conducted efficiently and for the mutual benefit of the community. Success in those ventures was accepted as a virtual assurance that the electrification project would be successful.

"Let's put some extra punch behind this final drive," he said, "get our project under construction, and give our people a chance to use REA current on their Christmas trees."

TONY MORZUCH ENDS ALIEN VISIT BY GIVING UP TO AUTHORITIES

WICHITA FALLS.—Anton Morzuch, 17, a German youth who found his way to this country via a tramp steamer and entered illegally, Thursday was on his way back to his native land after federal authorities Wednesday night took him to Dallas preparatory to deportation.

Morzuch walked into Wichita Falls police headquarters Wednesday afternoon and voluntarily surrendered himself. He wanted to return to Germany, he said, so that he might come back in the United States later by legal means.

It was the end of an exciting escapade for the blond, blue-eyed Teutonian.

About five months ago he landed in "the States" off a tramp steamer at Beaumont. He and a companion were supposed to return to the boat in 10 days. But America was apparently too exciting for them. They set out to find work and did so at one or two places in South Texas. When work played out there, Morzuch alone, started north, eventually coming to Wichita Falls, where he found work in a garage.

Morzuch likes the United States, particularly Texas and Wichita Falls. He's coming back, he says, under the next German immigration quota.

ON BURNING STRAW STACKS

To see all the burned strawstacks along the roads these days just "burns a fellow down." Each one of them is an indication that there are still farmers who either have not learned the value of straw as fertilizer, otherwise are too lazy to return it to the soil.

This matter of saving straw is another important detail in soil conservation, which as most farmers of this community have learned, is absolutely essential to the continued productivity of any farm. Under our very eyes are spots of land that have been consistently losing fertility. Where yields of 25 to 30 bushels of wheat or a bale of cotton once came from an acre we now find only half as much.

No matter how fertile a piece of land is, its productivity will eventually weaken if constantly drawn upon while nothing is returned. Any child can understand that a feed trough must be refilled if stock is permitted to feed upon it. Just as surely land must be replenished if plants are permitted to feed upon it.

When considering the decreasing productivity of our soil it is well to remember that many fields in foreign lands have been in use for centuries and still raise crops that make our fields seem arid in comparison. Such continued productivity has only one explanation—farmers there return as much to the land as they take out in crops.

Economists are alarmed over the gradual desertion of rural communities, and understand full well that the increasing difficulty of making a living on depleting farms is the reason. Making a living would be easier if fertility were preserved.

We are happy to observe that few strawstacks of this community were burned. The majority of our people consider them as too valuable as winter feed for livestock, and as such they are well worth saving. But to see dozens upon dozens of old, decayed stacks no longer fit for feed is some indication that not all are taking advantage of a very good opportunity.

Over in Europe, they say, a farmer's efficiency is judged by the quantity of manure he puts on his land. Over here a farmer should be judged by the same standards. If every farm of this community had a manure spreader to take barnyard manure and decayed strawpiles back to the fields we would never have to worry about our future.

"But we don't have time to do all that," our farmers say. "We've got all we can handle taking care of our crops." Correct! We have lots of big farmers who think they can't get along with less than several hundred acres. And after a few years of their robbing the huge tracts will bring no more than a small total income. Such people could benefit themselves and posterity and the poor unfortunates who cannot find land to work by giving up a few fields and concentrate their extra efforts on land they have been wearing out.

Over here as well as in Europe a man's rating as a farmer should be based upon how well he can work and preserve his land, not on how many acres he can turn into desert.

SIGNS FOR OUR DEATH TRAP

Though we can be justly proud that there have been few accidents here in recent months, we are by no means justified in our disregard for the hazard at Main street and the highway. The person who does not think the intersection is a death trap is invited to spend only ten minutes observing how tourists breeze through. It is not at all uncommon to see cars doing 50 or 60 coming down the overpass.

Those coming from the other direction are no less speedy but differ only in that they constitute less of a menace. On the level they have a better chance of stopping than those coming down a fairly steep grade.

Tourists cannot be blamed so much for their speed as we for our failure to give them proper warning. We should have signs advising that a busy intersection lies ahead. At night there should be the additional warning of a street light as a hint to be careful.

This matter of street lights has been discussed pro and con for years. Once they were in use, then they were discontinued and never lighted again. Whether or not they will be re-connected is a matter for the city council to decide.

The prevalent opinion is they are not needed. Nevertheless, it cannot be denied that Main street would be safer with them. But at the intersection there can be no question. The need for a light there is urgent, in a way compulsory. People coming through usually are not acquainted, therefore need some definite signal for the danger ahead.

Whether or not the city decides that the rest of Main street is enough of a hazard to require lights this one fact is inescapable. Adequate warning must be given for the death trap. And it must be done as soon as possible in order to prevent a funeral.

SKETCH IN MENARD NEWS

"Whenever you find a man finding fault with his local paper, open it up and ten to one he hasn't an advertisement in it; five to one he never gave it a job of work; three to one he does not take the paper; two to one that if he is a subscriber he is delinquent; even odds he never does anything that will assist a publisher in running a good paper, and forty to one that if the paper is a good one and full of life, he is the most eager to see the paper as soon as it is off the press."

"An exchange says every man owes it to his family to take the local paper. Yes, and a lot too many of the men who take a paper owe the editor. If the shoe fits, grab it."

"A western editor has invented an infernal machine which he places in an envelope and sends to those who refuse the paper after taking it for five years without paying a cent. The machine is guaranteed to explode and kill the whole family and the fragments fall back in the yard and kill the dog. Glory certainly awaits that editor when he gets into the Great Sanctum above. He will have an upholstered chair and will be allowed to sit with his feet on the table. Our order is ready for a shipment of these machines."

"Man wants but little here below. The thing for you to do is advertise until he buys that little bit from you."

"We are letting you in on a good way to make money. Take a dollar bill and fold it several times each way. Then unfold it and you will find it increases. Keep the increase but send the bill to the editor who put you on to the scheme. Then take a silver dollar and drop it on the counter and notice the ring it makes. Send the ring to your best girl and hand the dollar to the editor for your next year's subscription—and everyone will be happy."

"To save an editor from starvation, take his paper and pay for it promptly. To save him from despair, send him every item of news you hear. To save him from profanity, write your items on one side of the paper only and send it as soon as possible. To save him from mistakes, bury him. Dead people are the only ones who never make mistakes."

NIGHT SHIFT

Position Wanted:—Steady night work on dams, weight 35 lbs., height 24 inches, powerful muscles, expert lumberman; used to hard labor and overtime. Labor of wife and four children also included.

Secretary Ickes has accepted the application. Six hundred of these workers have been hired at $8 each and are being put to work on a series of check dams which will prevent soil erosion and increase watering facilities in the State of Idaho. According to reports, these governmental employees are worth at least thirty-eight times the initial cost of trapping and transportation.

Because the beaver is a modest sort (his is a neat dive without splashes), moderns are apt to forget his importance, his dignity and antiquity. But the Indians didn't. According to American Indian legend, the world was originally made by gigantic beavers, possessed of superhuman power. Even today some tribes proudly claim descent from the beaver.

"Man has harnessed the tides," people have exclaimed with great wonderment, but for aeons the beaver has been at work, building a family tradition of co-operative energy while hewing down forest trees, making ponds deep and meadows lush by harnessing streams.—Christian Science Monitor.

THE NEW COMMUNITY COMPETITION

It has been going on for a hundred years, this competition between neighboring communities; but during the years since the World war this type of competition has reached a new "high." It is meaning the rapid growth of some communities, and the gradual death of others.

Today competition is not so much between business men of a community in the same line of business as it is between communities themselves. The business man who looks grudgingly at the business his competitor is getting is wasting his wrath on the wrong party. It is not the competitor in his own town that is taking his business, it is the many competitors in the nearby communities.

What this and other communities in the rural sections of the nation do today to hold their trade and attract new customers will govern vitally the position of the community tomorrow—a few years hence, to be exact.

Today it is a battle of communities for advantage. While one community forges ahead in population, modern conveniences and new enterprises, it does so, usually, at the expense of its neighboring communities. No community can stand still. It must fight other community competition and force itself ahead, or it will find itself, a few years hence, a proverbial wide place in the road, with its citizens wondering what has happened to its population and business.

Communities are built bit by bit, over a period of years. A little advantage here, a little jump there on its competitors make up the aggregate factors that forge a given community ahead of its neighbors in the ranks of growing communities.

No community that has civic pride can afford to remain idle while its competitors gradually take its business.

What builds a community ahead of its competitors is people. Watch a growing community, and you see a community whose citizens are forever active in promoting something that will bring more people to town. It may be good roads, it may be an annual or semi-annual festival, fair or show; it may be monthly trades day. Usually it is a combination of all these things. No community that expects to meet the competition of its neighbors can afford to overlook anything that will tend to bring more people to town—to be amused, to be accommodated or to trade.

We modestly point out that it is high time our local business men ceased to worry about the competition of other local business men and began doing something more concrete about the real competition of neighboring communities.—Menard News.

BOUQUETS TO THE AVERAGE STUDENT

Scholastic honors are being announced in schools throughout Texas. Colleges announce scholarships and other incentives to the mental giants. Somehow the fellow who has just been a good mediocre student, who hasn't had his name on the honor roll, hasn't received much attention.

Here's a little applause for the individual who has found the going difficult, who had to dig in for the record he made. He has formed a worthy habit therein that can be turned to good account in later years. Stick-to-it-iveness is an asset worthy of as much consideration as a long record on an honor roll. And most of us would feel sadly out of place if we were entirely surrounded by mental giants. — Mt. Vernon Optic-Herald.

THE VOTER FACES A PROBLEM

The time is fast approaching when Texas voters will be called upon to make their nominations for the various precinct, county, district and state offices.

This nomination, as we well know, is virtually equivalent to election. Consequently, it is important that we make as few mistakes as possible in the selection of our representatives in governmental affairs.

Just now, and continuously so until the July and August primaries, hundreds of office seekers will swoop down upon Texas voters, asking for their support, many of whom we do not know but for whom we must cast our ballot.

Experience has taught us that little faith can be placed in campaign promises. In the main, we shall have to rely on past records, which for a fairly solid basis upon which we can judge the candidate's probable value for the office he seeks. Hence, it behooves the intelligent voter to inform himself of the records and achievements of the office seekers, and vote for the one who is qualified to give the best service.

Too much idle talk has already been made reflecting upon the character and honesty of the office seeker. The large majority of those who seek the ballots of the Texas voters are honest, but honesty is not enough. Not only honest men, but men of experience, intelligence and vision are needed.—Gainesville Register.

A HUNTER'S SORROW

Mr. Geagan, a newspaper correspondent, tells of his visit with a well-known hunter who put away his gun forever after one sad hour that ended his hunting career. This is the story:

"One blue and golden day last fall I watched the blood-spattered body of a handsome cock partridge squirming in the dead leaves. The great fan-like tail was spread, the short powerful wings, tensed in the death struggle, beat rapidly against the mottled breast. Loose feathers fluttered in the bars of golden sunshine that streaked down through the pines and birches and with its little grey feet clutching nervously, life left the body of the old cock partridge. Then and there in that sun-streaked woods a strange feeling swept over me. I stroked the gorgeous plumage of the dead bird and slowly pushed the fallen monarch of the ridges into a pocket of my hunting coat. A mile of forest-rimmed meadowland separated me from my automobile. With every step my sorrow grew. By the time I reached my car I was heartbroken over my deed. Then and there the resolve was made that I would never again kill for pleasure."

Never again will this hunter molest the wild things of the woods, but, he says, will regard them as his friends—his companions, in a world of beauty and peace.—Our Dumb Animals.

Another thing the city man can't understand is how a farmer gets grass to grow without sprinkling it.

Confetti
By CON FETTE

Well, our friend Tony Morzuch is on his way back to Germany. It seems that he finally tired of worrying when some immigration official would put him in irons and send him back in disgrace, so he marched up to the Wichita Falls police station and gave himself up. Said that he wanted to return in the good graces of both this nation and his own so that he would be able to join in the next immigration quota and come over the way he's supposed to, and then stay. Tony likes America, and Texas, and Muenster, even though he was disappointed at not finding the state overrun with steers and pistol toting cowboys like the movies showed them. He leaves a lot of friends at Muenster. He was tops in every way. We hope he will come back here if and when he gets out of Germany again.

What's this we hear about our air hostess girl friend? All we have is hear-say but, whether or not it is true, it's good enough to be passed on to her home town friends. One day last week, so they say, a radio report mentioned her as a new find who passed the screen tests and all that, and has been assigned a part in Gary Cooper's new picture "Cowboy and the Lady."

If all this is true it will give her the laugh on quite a number of friends who have been kidding her about flicker ambitions ever since she heeded Horace Greely's advice. Not to be completely outdone she casually remarked that she was being considered for Scarlett O'Hara in "Gone With the Wind." Norma Shearer sorta squelched that line, but it's beginning to seem our little heroine had at least some method in her madness.

Betcha didn't know that the annual candy consumption in the United States is about one and a half billion pounds, or about 13.5 pounds per person. That's why we see candy counters so prominent in stores. That's why the University of California sees fit to institute a special candy making course in its curriculum.

We have another kind word for the pesky chicken hawk. Most of us are not disposed to forgive him for his raids on poultry flocks, but at the same time we grudgingly admit that he is entitled to credit for exterminating many a destructive rodent. The other redeeming quality came to light the other day when one fellow recalled his experience during one of the usual gab-fests.

One day, our narrator tells, he levelled the old blunderbus on a hawk and just winged him, then took the bird home and displayed him a while before coming upon the novel idea of letting his chicken-eating hogs complete the execution. When he threw the hawk in with the carnivorous porkers the fun began. A vicious old sow took one glance at the prospective meal and launched her attack. But when she reached the bird she received the surprise of her life. In a flash the hawk had firmly imbedded two feet of talons in her jaws and had gone to work with its cruel beak. After administering punishment while the porker made three squealing trips around the pen the hawk was accepted as boss. Thereafter when he was prodded to the hogs' corner they moved. They had lost all desire for another encounter with a member of the feathered tribe—and they never killed another chicken.

Moral: The next time you wing a hawk don't be hasty about administering the coup-de-grace. Take it home to civilize your chicken-eating hogs, or hire it out to neighbors. Almost any farmer would be willing to pay a fair fee to break his hogs of bad habits.

News of how a young man out in California turned his evening hours into a substantial income serves as just another example of how profitable a hobby or an original idea can be. Riding around one evening that fellow observed that about one car out of every forty on a busy road had defective head lights or tail-lights. The next night attired in a neat white uniform, equipped with tools and flashlight, and mounted on a motorcycle bearing the sign "Road Service," he set out after offending cars. "Draw up to the curb and I'll fix it in a minute—and for only 50 cents. Keep you from getting pinched and maybe fined," he would smile. The 50 cent charge seems reasonable enough and nine out of ten drivers say "OK fix it."

As a tip to school kids who think that grammar and especially punctuation is not important we submit this incident in the life of a small town editor. One day his paper carried the following item "Two young men went with their girls to attend the church social and as soon as they left, the girls got drunk." Naturally, there was a howl, so his next issue carried the explanation that the comma should have been placed after "girls."

While we're borrowing from other editors we may as well present a few more of their ideas. Look 'em over and take a hint:

If you have frequent headaches, dizziness, fainting spells, lame back, accompanied by chills, cramps, buntions, jaundice, chilblains or epileptic fits, it's a sign you are not well and are liable to die any minute. Hasten to this office and pay your subscription a year in advance, and thus make yourself solid for a good obituary notice.

Stationery printed at this office continues to give the best of satisfaction. Last week we printed a thousand statements for a man who has since collected a small fortune from a dead aunt. Two months ago we sold a young man some paper to use in writing to his sweetheart. A month later we printed wedding announcements for them. Last week we printed sale bills for the bride's father, and this week we printed postal cards for the sheriff who is looking for the whole bunch. Another young man stole some of our paper for cigarette wrappers and he is dead. By using our stationery and printing you can collect old accounts, tell fortunes, make rain, change the color of your hair, be successful in business, triumph over your enemies and get elected to office.

REV. FROWIN ENTERS 21ST YEAR AS PASTOR OF MUESTER PARISH

The past July 6 was a memorable date for Father Frowin in that it marked the completion of his 20th year as pastor of the Muenster parish and gave him a record of service longer than that enjoyed by any other Muenster pastor.

During those years Father Frowin has endeared himself to the people of the Sacred Heart Parish as a devoted spiritual leader and an able administrator for the congregation's financial affairs. Attendance at services and reception of the Sacraments have increased steadily during his pastorate, and the Parochial school, now completely free of debt and paid for mostly during depression years, stands out as a monument to his determination and far-sightedness.

Father Frowin's efforts are now being directed toward the erection of a new church, which he hopes, will be a magnificent structure thoroughly representative of Muenster's widely scattered and prosperous flock.

IF gas cost nothing AT THE WELL

Even if gas could be had for nothing at the well—the cost of using it in your home would not be greatly changed. A large part of what you pay for gas service is the cost of delivering it to your burner tips—and keeping it there every minute. To properly serve you, there is necessary a vast investment in gas reserves sufficient enough to meet any demand, in pipelines and equipment for its transportation and control. Money must be spent to maintain all this equipment at a high standard for dependable service. A skilled organization must be on duty day and night.

There's a difference between "raw materials" and a finished, usable service.

Your home and this community could not risk anything less than the best in gas service. Life and health in the home depend more than ever on the efficiency and quality of service. Yet today, in spite of the fact it is costing Lone Star Gas System more to operate because of rapidly mounting taxes and other new costs, your gas dollar buys more than ever before.

MRS. FELIX WATSON
FORMERLY OF MYRA
DIES AT HENRIETTA

Funeral services for Mrs. Felix H. Watson, 27, who died at a Wichita Falls hospital Monday night, after a short illness, were held from the First Methodist church at Henrietta at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon under direction of Rev. L. G. Haggard and Rev. Ernest Piott.

Interment was in Fairview cemetery in Gainesville at 4 o'clock.

Mrs. Watson was born Frankie Marie Wilson, August 18, 1911, between Muenster and Myra on the Wilson estate farm. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. O. Wilson, later moved to Myra to reside and it was there that she married Mr. Watson in 1929. They have been making their home in Henrietta for the past four and a half years where Mr. Watson engaged in the banking business with Charles Graham.

Survivors include the husband; one daughter, Mary Anna, 8; her parents of Gladewater; two brothers, Leroy and Thomas Wilson of Gladewater; and several uncles and aunts including Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wilson of this city and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Graham of Henrietta.

Mrs. Watson was prominent in church work at Henrietta where she was a member of the board of stewards and a Sunday School teacher at the First Methodist church. She had a large circle of friends in Muenster, many of whom attended the funeral.

TRIED TO SHINE ROOSEVELT'S SHOES

OKLAHOMA CITY. — Woody Hockaday who once showered feathers upon Secretary of War Harry Woodring, caused a flurry of excitement among spectators when he attempted to enter President Roosevelt's car as the Presidential cavalcade drove through the streets of this city. Hockaday was quickly overpowered by the secret service police and taken away. His reason for the act was a desire to shine the President's shoes. A year ago Woody went to the White House and vainly sought to polish President Roosevelt's boots. Photo shows Woody Hockaday of Wichita, Kansas being overpowered by a policeman after attempting to enter President Roosevelt's car for the privilege of shining the President's shoes.

ate audit so that you will know where and how your money is being spent. These audits obviate waste and catch any fraud that might be attempted; it is a detailed check-up of the finances of the county. It is good business—something done by every large firm—and you will remember that your county is one of the large businesses handling between two and three hundred thousands of dollars per year.

Holding a majority vote in the commissioners' court, I have often taken an unpopular stand when I deemed it to be the best interest of the county as a whole. I have not always been right and on those occasions when I have recognized my error I have not hesitated to change my position. Yet because I have studied questions of public importance carefully, I feel that I have made few errors in judgment on matters of substantial importance.

I do not hesitate to say, because it is absolutely true, that due in considerable measure to my efforts, hundreds of thousands of dollars have been brought to Cooke County through WPA projects and many men and women have been working who otherwise would have been out of work. This is also true as to highway improvements. Insofar as I have been able to control the situation, only Cooke County men and women have been employed in this work. Where this was not possible, in numerous cases local men have been given work on projects in other counties.

If re-elected, I assure you of my continued efforts to operate the county affairs on a business-like basis, and a continuation of my unprejudiced and unbiased decisions in the court as a judge and in the commissioners' court as chairman of that body.
