United Fund Off To Good Start

It dipped to 25 Friday Night!

Muleshoe's 7th grade football team continued its perfect record this past week by nosing Plainview Coronado 8-0. Clodfelter crossed over for the 6th points and tossed to Riley for the extra two points. The 8th graders, however, lost to Plainview 8 graders 24-0.

All boys, eight years of age and their parents who are interested in being Cub Scouts in Cub Pack 620 are asked to be at the Richland Hills Cafe. See Muleshoe p. 8

Muleshoe Area United Fund is off to a good start with two of the meetings - the advance gifts and the rural division - staging their kick-off this past week. The advance gifts division is headed by Jeff Peeler, and the Rural Division by Vic Benedict.

Attending Peeler's meeting were Johnny Shelton, Roger Albertson, Mildred Howell Morris Nowlin, Albert Field, Buddy Parsons, Earl Harris, Leasel Richardson, Clarence Jones, Jim Berry and Buddy Peeler.

The balance of the kick-off series will be held this week, according to John Shelton, general campaign chairman.

Employees' division will stage a luncheon Wednesday in Paul's Restaurant with Curtis Walker as the chairman. Then the Commercial division will have a breakfast Tuesday morning at the Corral Drive-Inn. Myron Pool is chairman. The City Farmer's division, headed by E. T. Ford, will meet for a breakfast at the Corral Thursday morning and the professional division will hold its kick-off breakfast at 7 o'clock Monday, also at the Corral. Co-chairmen are Don Harmon and Neal Dillman.

Class to Serve Chili Supper

Senior class of Muleshoe high school will serve a "chili-en-cobbler" supper next Friday night preceding the Dumas-Muleshoe football game, according to Mrs. Rudolph Moraw, chairman of the food committee of senior class.

Serving time will be from 5 until 7:30 p.m., with prices of $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for children under 12. Menu will include beans, chili, onions, potato salad, tomatoes, tea, coffee and cherry cobbler.

The Pumpkin Has Frost...so--- Christmas Parade Planned

It's almost Trick or Treat time, but Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce, always looking ahead to the next event, also is planning its Christmas parade, slated for Dec. 3 at 3 p.m.

In fact, the Christmas parade committee already has drawn up an entry form for the parade and organizations that would like to enter are urged to pick up one of the blanks at the chamber office, Vi Lindsey and Nelene Morris are co-chairmen.

A letter to civic clubs, service organizations, school and churches has been mailed, urging participation.

The letter reads (in part): "We know you need not be reminded that our annual Christmas Parades in the past have been less than good. However, we feel it necessary to do so, because we as well as hundreds of our citizens in the Muleshoe trade area feel that a parade of this type displays the interest of its people in their community. This interest has not been shown in the past. As co-chairwomen for this year's parade, we ask you to help remedy this situation.

This committee feels it has a partial answer to this problem. This year cash prizes will be offered to first, second and third places in two divisions. Prizes will be $100, $75, and $50. The two divisions See PARADE on Page 10

County's '67 Cotton Quota Is Boosted by 1000 Acres

Area Counties' Also Boosted

Bailey county farmers will be permitted to plant nearly 1000 more acres of cotton next year than they were originally meted out for 1966.

This announcement was made this past week by the United States Department of Agriculture through the ASCS office here.

Charles Daniel, ASCS manager here, said the 1967 quota has been set at 96,157.9 acres. Last year the original acreage set was 95,199 which means that the 1967 total will be 958 acres higher than last year.

However, the ASCS official pointed out, Bailey county ended its 1966 pre-planting period with a total of 96,136.5 acres after Bailey county farmers "bought" acreages from other Texas counties which "released" unwanted cotton acreage. This would mean that the new allotment for 1967 is only 21.4 more acres than this year, but by the same token, the 1967 acreage also will be increased by "buying" other counties' cast-offs, it was held likely. Details of the 1967 program along that line have not been revealed.

The 1967 acreage is still considerably below the acreages of a year ago which ran to better than 110,000 acres.

The individual farm quotas, Daniel said, will be mailed out of his office this week with the office running about the same range as in past years.

Neighboring counties also have had increased in acreage

Voiting Starts Next Thursday

You can vote in the November election as early as next Thursday, says Hazel Gilbreath, county-district clerk, because that's the day absentee voting starts for the Nov. 8 election.

And you can vote absentee right on through Friday, Nov. 4.

And those who are unable to go to the polls on election day should apply by mail for ballots, or those who have just moved out of the county also may vote by the same process. Such written applications must be received by Mrs. Gilbreath before 1 p.m. Nov. 4.

'Plan for the Young, Keep 'em at Home'

Republican Rancher-Businessman Bob Price, who seeks the 18th district congressional seat in the November elections, thinks West Texans should "provide jobs for its young men, and thereby keep them at home."

Price, speaking at a dinner in Fellowship Hall, First Methodist Church Thursday night, termed industry as one of the prime needs of this area. "We've got to plan for these young people," he said, "they can't all run the stores and shops that now exist in our area. That's the reason we need industry to provide work for these young men so they have to go to Dallas or Denver or Houston or San Francisco to get a job. And the congressional candidate also said that the area needs to "take a long, hard look at its water situation." Also, we must find a solution to our water needs now, or by the year 2000 we are going to a desert dry country. We must find a way to conserve our present supply and at the same time build lakes and water storage places. Even the playa lakes must be utilized for water conservation.

"Take Running Water Draw, for example. It should have dams. Instead the water runs across the state and is wasted except for the part that escapes to Oklahoma. Over there they dam it up.

"In fact, Oklahoma is 30 years ahead of Texas in its lake program. And where do they get the water? By trapping the water that has flowed across Texas and smother in their lakes. "But our water wasting is deplorable. Tailwater, for example. And we need a program of research to find the best methods of using water so as not to waste it. Irrigation research is badly needed."

Price touched on many subjects, ranging from Viet Nam to old folks in his hominy speech here. He said, for instance, that the Viet Nam war effort should be "strengthened and brought to a conclusion," and that he thinks the Chiefs of Staff should "run the war, not President Johnson."

He favors also a broadened program for oldsters. "Inever

Expert 'Likes' Area

Muleshoe area has wonderful industrial possibilities, says James L. Bradley, head of the Economic Research Development division of Texas A&M University who was in Muleshoe this past week to confer with MAIF leaders.

"He liked the looks of the Muleshoe area," said the president of the Muleshoe Area Industrial Foundation which invited Bradley to Muleshoe for a quick look at the potentials here. "We took him on a tour of all our facilities," the MAIF chief said, "and he was delighted with what we have to offer."

Bradley met with the board of Muleshoe Area Industrial Foundation for a 1-day session, and afterward returned to Austin to study reports of the 10 MAIF committees, completed recently.

Bradley also will study a

Mrs. Jessie Lewis Has Christmas in Mind

Mrs. Jessie Lewis
...with her dolls and sewing machine

Mrs. Jessie Lewis, a resident of the Muleshoe Nursing Home, is concentrating on a needy child who will not get the joy out of Christmas that many youngsters in the Muleshoe area will. She dresses dolls which people bring to her that have been discarded by their children. Mrs. Lewis repairs the dolls the best she can and with scraps of material brought to her by interested persons, dresses them, puts them in a box, and will turn them over to the Goodfellows to give to some worthy child.

Mrs. Lewis, a resident since August of 1965, lived in the YL community within a short distance of her son and family, the Leon Lewis'. She did sewing for the public as her means of making a living. When it came to the point where she could no longer wait on herself and get about like she would like to, she came to the Nursing Home. She began patching and a few odd jobs which she would beg of her friends to bring her just to keep her busy. Then it came to the point where she was not satisfied with this and began to feel better and started making doll clothes and other hobbies like making frogs, throw pillows and other items. She did all the work with her hands as she wasn't able or didn't have a sewing machine to use.

Seeing the great need for a sewing machine, Harvey Bass machine to Mrs. Lewis' room. At first, it seemed as though she couldn't hold out to master the sewing machine, but as time grew on, a few stitches at a time, and then a longer period of time didn't seem to bother her and she could turn out a complete doll's outfit so much faster.

At the present time, she has dressed 23 dolls and has three undressed. She is hoping for more dolls which people might discard, so she can get them completed by Christmas.

So life in the Nursing Home for Mrs. Lewis, hasn't been like it is for so many, she hasn't given up, but keeps herself busy doing for others and making her life worthwhile as long as she can. Mrs. Lewis comments, "It isn't much, but to make some little one's Christmas happy, makes it worthwhile."

Tower Points Out Further Dip in Value of Dollar

By Sen. John Tower

The Bureau of Labor Statistics has released its latest Consumer Price Index showing the latest cost-of-living figures. It was another all-time high. Here is what the index showed.

Since 1960 the cost of living has gone up 10.27 percent.

Since 1960 the cost of groceries has jumped 13.75 percent.

Since January, living costs in just seven months have jumped 2.52 percent.

And, in the same seven months, grocery costs have increased 3.95 percent.

If you put $100 away in a shoe box in 1960, you have lost $37 in purchasing power on that savings.

If you put $100 away in a shoe box in 1960, you have lost $37 in purchasing power.

If you retired on a fixed income or pension in 1940 of $3000, it is now worth $1,290 insofar as purchasing power is concerned.

And, if you retired in 1960 with a $5000 a-year pension, you already have lost $450.

And, it now takes $22.42 to buy the groceries you could get for $20 just six years ago.

And the 1933 dollar is now worth only 39.6 cents.

The 1940 dollar is worth only 43 cents; the 1960 dollar, only 91 cents.

Now, let no one be misled. The cause of this massive, penetrating inflation is excessive government spending. Without an attack on government spending, further inflation is inevitable. The government has been on a needless, nonsense spending spree. What is needed is a period of restraint—not restraint by farmers and businessmen and housewives, but immediate and effective restraint by the federal government. It is the federal budget, not the family budget that needs balancing.

As Texas' United States Senator, I have sought and will continue to seek to eliminate unnecessary, non-defense federal spending. Since 1961 I have voted to cut more than $57 billion from the red ink of federal budgets. In 1961 I voted to cut $11 billion; in 1962, $9 billion; in 1963, $5 billion; in 1964, $10 billion; in 1965, $17 billion.

During these years the federal budget deficit has been $31 billion, so no votes on behalf of Texans would have resulted in black in that could have offset the pressures that caused our current inflation.

I believe Texans are quite right to expect their government to live within its means and to protect their dollars rather than debasing them.

Tech to Stage Dry-Land Symposium

Dr. Luna B. Leopold, senior research hydrologist of the United States Geological Survey, will be one of the distinguished speakers at a Symposium on Arid and Semi-Arid Lands to be held at Texas Tech on October 31.

Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall and Fr. John W. Gardner, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, will be among participants in the symposium which will precede the Nov. 1 inauguration of Dr. Grover E. Murray as Tech's eighth president.

Other Symposium speakers include Dr. William T. Pecora, Director of the U.S. Geological Survey and Dr. S. Dillon Ripley, Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution.

Dr. Leopold's subject will be "Man and Climate."

Dr. Carey Cronels, Chancellor of Rice University, will present the principal address at the colorful inaugural ceremonies scheduled in Lubbock Municipal Coliseum.

The Symposium is scheduled for the Lubbock Municipal Auditorium.

Texas Academic Vice President Dr. W.M. Pearce will preside at the two-hour inaugural beginning at 9 a.m. Tuesday (Nov. 1).

Dr. Pearce will present Dr. Murray for induction and Tech Board Chairman Roy Furr of Lubbock will perform the installation.

Dr. Leopold's engineering field experience covers numerous aspects of water-resources development, particularly in hydrology. In recent years he had concentrated on research in the field of river mechanics, the hydrologic and physiographic characteristics of river channels and on certain aspects of water-sediment relations in rivers.

He also has conducted a variety of studies in climatology, soils and hydrology including gully erosion in the southwestern United States.

Dr. Leopold holds a bachelor degree from the University of Wisconsin, a master's from the University of California at Los Angeles and a PhD from Harvard.

He has been associated with several governmental agencies dealing with water in New Mexico, Arizona and Washington. Dr. Leopold headed the Department of Meteorology at the Pineapple Research Institute in Hawaii from 1946-56, directing scientific studies of water, including river measurements, ground water studies, investigations of water quality and general hydrologic relations.

Dr. Leopold has co-authored entitled "The Flood Control Controversy," 1954, and with M.G. Wolman and John P. Miller published a book entitled "Fluvial Processes in Geomorphology."

He is the recipient of the Kirk Bryan Award of the Geographical Society of America, the Veth Medal of the Royal Netherlands Geographical Society, the Distinguished Service Award of the Interior Department and the medal of the University of Leuven.

"The Muleshoe Mule - Muleshoe's most remarkable landmark was unveiled around the fourth of July in 1965 to the delight of young and old alike. The lifesize statue of a mule won't be missed by travelers. It's situated right at the crossroads of U. S. Highway 70 and 84. Donations for the Fiberglass mule ranged from $100 to 21 cents - the smaller donation coming from a mule driver in Samarkand, Uzbekistan, in Central Asia. The Muleshoe Mule is modeled after Old Pete, a 20-year resident of Muleshoe."

Strong Cattle Prices Forseen For Rest of '66

COLLEGE STATION—Texas cattle prices will remain favorable for the remainder of 1966 and into 1967, especially for the efficient producer, a Texas A&M University agricultural economist predicted today.

John G. McInaney, Extension economist, said continued strength in the general economy would insure an increasing price trend for beef cattle, beginning very late in 1966. All of 1967, he added, should be favorable if our economy continues to grow and range conditions remain good.

McInaney said feed lot operators at the present were more reluctant than usual to bid up feeder cattle prices. Their feed costs are rising and will be higher in the months ahead than in the first half of 1966 and feed cattle prices have declined to narrow their margins, he said. But taking all factors into consideration, feeder prices are expected to remain near current levels which are much better than for the same period a year ago.

As for fed cattle prices, he said they should hold during October - December period to average near the year-ago levels. Marketings of fed cattle are expected to continue large but the increase over a year ago probably will be less than that which took place in the summer of 1966.

Downward price pressure can develop if range conditions over the nation deteriorate, thus, forcing large movements of grass cattle to slaughter at a time when fed cattle marketings are already heavy. Too, feeding to heavier weights could put continued pressure on fed cattle prices during the remainder of the year.

Another factor influencing fed beef prices will be the increase in the pork supply for the remainder of the year. Pork production later in the year will be well above a year ago and poultry supplies are expected to continue above year-earlier levels, the economist said.

Sadler Schedules Vet Land Sale

AUSTIN—Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler announced that a Veterans' Land Board Forfeited Land Sale will be held on November 15, 1966, in the General Land Office. He pointed out that the Program has exceeded all expectations in its success and value to the people of Texas.

Sadler said that the delinquencies on veteran contract payments are lower today than at any time in the history of the Program. Land prices are higher and the Program is making $2-1/2 million profit per year for the taxpayers of Texas, in addition to helping veterans own a tract of land that they fought to preserve.

We have purchased some three million acres of land for 35,300 Texas veterans and placed $243 million in circulation to boost the economy of this State. Although new purchases under the program are no longer possible, a vast amount of work remains to be done in servicing veterans' contracts. Carving out the surplus, issuing of veterans' severance and paid-in-full deeds, approving oil and gas leases, and issuing easements have to be performed throughout the life of a veteran contract.

"I pledge to the people of Texas, as I have in the past, that I will give them the best service possible here in the Land Office at the least possible cost to the taxpayers of the State. These sales, such as the one scheduled for November 15th, make a few tracts of veterans' land available to successful bidders with financing under the Veterans' Land Program at 5 percent down payment for a forty-year contract and payments being made on the contracts semi-annually at a low rate of interest. Those interested in purchasing land should take advantage of this sale," Sadler said.

In February, automobile insurance will be available, offering teachers a 25 percent dividend the first year, possibly increasing to as much as 45 percent in later years. Home insurance will be made available sometime during the next school term. TCIA is also making statewide deals with automobile dealers whereby classroom teachers can purchase automobiles on a cost plus basis. (Usually plus $50 to $150), varying with the type and make cars and also with individual dealers. Legislation discussed centered around proposed amendments to be presented to the legislature this year. Three-Day Meet Closes "Mankind's greatest need can be satisfied only by an entirely new system of things completely denuded of all the old patches," A. A. Catanzaro said, Sunday, in closing out the three-day training program of Jehovahs Witnesses in Fair Park Coliseum, Lubbock.

Catanzaro, district supervisor, said "Isaiah foretold a child to be born in these words, 'the princely rule will come to be upon his shoulder. And his name will be called Wonderful Counselor, Mighty God, Eternal Father, Prince of Peace,' This child," Catanzaro said, "taught us to pray for this greatest need, 'Let your Kingdom come, Let your will take place as in heaven, also upon earth.'"

The purpose of the Texas 9 circuit assembly was to promote the goal to "Become Spiritual Men With Everlasting Life in View."

Circuit Supervisor, Erwin A. Grover, in his closing talk, "Keep Your Balance With Many Responsibilities," said to the society of ministers, "In these times of frustration, Paul's words are most appropriate, 'keep your senses in all things, do the work of an evangelizer, fully accomplish your ministry.'"

Elmer B. Lowery, supervising minister of the Muleshoe congregation, said, "We look forward to sharing the spiritual gifts we received at the Lubbock assembly with one another and our fellow man."

SEWING MACHINE THREAD
On most sewing machines you can use any thread size from a very fine No. 100 cotton, 00 and 000 silk or a 000 and 0000 mercerized to a heavy thread such as a No. 40-50 cotton or a heavy duty mercerized. Your choice will depend on the fabric used. The size needle should be compatible with the type of thread. For example, a No. 9 needle is used with fine thread, a No. 16 needle with 40-50 cotton or heavy duty mercerized thread is sufficient. Heavier thread and needles are available, but they are usually used for commercial machines.

This County Gets Own Day at TB Lubbock Center

A plea for special Christmas volunteers was made Saturday by the West Texas Tuberculosis Association.

The WTAA set aside specific days for each community in the 23-county area to provide volunteer workers to help with special programs -- preparation of Tuberculin skin testing supplies and preparation for a Christmas Seal "stuffing party" to be held Oct. 27 at the First Christian Church in Lubbock.

Cotton Research Ok By PCG Board

The board of directors of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. has officially endorsed the Cotton Research and Promotion Act.

Twenty-six of the cotton producer organization's directors, representing 16 of the 23 counties, were present for the Oct. 4 meeting where the stand was taken. The vote was 21 to 5.

Donald Johnson, Executive vice president of PCG, said the action "simply means that a big majority of the board members, elected from their respective counties, favor the Act and believe it to be in the best interest of producers of cotton on the High Plains."

He cited statements made at the meeting by both Roy Forkner, chairman of the board, and Don Anderson, PCG vice-president, that as a cotton producer organization, the PCG board has the responsibility for taking whatever action it deems in the best interest of High Plains producers.

In this case each individual producer will have the opportunity to voice his own opinion of the matter in a referendum to be called by the Secretary of Agriculture, probably in early December.

Passage of the referendum will require "yes" votes from either two-thirds of the producers voting or from a majority of those voting, provided that majority represents two-thirds of the cotton produced by voters.

If the referendum carries, all U. S. growers will be assessed a dollar a bale on their production to finance a research and promotion program, with those who request it getting a refund. The law specifies that requests for refunds must be made within 90 days, and that such refunds must be paid to the producer within 60 days.

The Secretary of Agriculture will be charged with the responsibility of seeing that the funds generated under the Act are spent to further the objectives of the Act -- "To enable cotton growers to establish, finance and carry out a coordinated program of research and promotion to improve the competitive position of, and to expand markets for, cotton."

Any other use of the funds is expressly prohibited in the law.

A cotton Board, selected by the Secretary from nominations submitted by state and regional cotton producer organizations, would work out the details of the program.

The money itself would be spent on projects developed by a group of cotton producers, with each state having representation in proportion to its contribution to the fund, which of course would be governed by production.

Research and promotion projects

Tuesday, Nov. 15, is Bailey County day at the WTAA office, 916 Avenue N in Lubbock. Mrs. Clifford E. Sharp, Executive Director of the West Texas Tuberculosis Association said volunteers are needed any time.

"Anyone coming to Lubbock for the day, might drop in and spend an hour or two helping." If they would like to come for the day, she suggested a sack lunch with the WTAA providing the beverages.

jects would be submitted by this group to the Cotton Board for approval. The Secretary, in his role as "watch dog" would have the power to veto. The complete resolution passed by the PCG board follows:

"Inasmuch as cotton's situation and the situation of cotton producers is seriously jeopardized by declining markets both at home and abroad, the need for increased research and promotion is clearly recognized on both regional and national levels, and the board of directors of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., reaffirms its unqualified support for bringing about such increase in research and promotion by the most practical, effective and expeditious method or methods possible.

"Therefore, be it resolved that the board of directors of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., strongly endorses the Cotton Research and Promotion order. Further, to enable cotton producers on the High Plains to make for themselves the most intelligent decision possible with regard to the Research and Promotion order, it is resolved that Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., shall assist in the educational campaign by presenting all information available pertaining to the proposal."

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhills Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm tackles another problem this week.

Dear editor:

Sitting out here on this Johnson grass farm, sometimes you can get a better view of a problem than the people afflicted by it.

For example, take a city problem. I read in an article in a newspaper I borrowed from a neighbor yesterday that city people are having more and more trouble getting from one place in the city to another. It takes them longer to get from the airport to town than the flight took, even in the slack hours.

And at rush hours, when everybody is going to work in the morning or returning in the afternoon, traffic is stacked up so you inch along about half a mile an hour, slower than you could walk.

Of course, I don't guess it ever occurred to them to follow my practice--I don't have a rush hour out here--so I have been giving the problem some thought and I've hit on an idea.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Senator Urges Constituents To Write Cards

Sen. H. J. (Doc) Blanchard, Lubbock, told a district P-TA conference here Thursday that the state senators are "always glad to hear from John Q. Public."

He said: "Even a post card would do -- just anything to let us know how you feel about any matter."

Another speaker at the day's session brought the 'teenage group into consideration when Larry Meyers pleaded for "respect from their parents," but he added that "we want to be supervised by our parents. We look to them for leadership." The one-day session, which had more than 250 persons in attendance from 11 West Texas counties, was one of the most successful staged.

The workshop sessions pointed out the need for additional teachers, some of the principals attending saying that even teachers' aides are being used in lieu of trained teachers. The group pointed to the draft as one of the causes for the shortage of teachers, and to higher pay offered by other states.

Something Worth Watching

An increasing number of Texas communities are turning to junior college districts in order to augment their educational facilities. A good example is Dallas County.

Dallas citizens have approved a $41.5 million bond issue to establish a junior college that, when completed, will have seven campuses dotted about the county.

The first campus opened September 19 in downtown Dallas in the old, eight story building once occupied by Sanger Brothers department store. This "campus" will be called "El Centro," and when classes start, several thousand day and night students will march forth on the road to higher education they perhaps would not have attempted without a junior college close to home.

The President of Dallas Junior College is Dr. Bill J. Priest and he minces no words in underscoring the role of the

Comparing the 1967 base allotment with this year is difficult, Wells said, because leasing and purchasing of allotments were permitted for the first time on the 1966 crop.

Wells added, however, that computations indicate that next year's base allotment will be about 820 acres over the initial 1966 figure of 217,360 acres.

"Our percentage of last year's allotment is 100.49," he said. This means that in conventional cases a farmer with a 100-acre allotment this year could get about 100.5 acres for 1967.

While county-by-county allotments for the South Plains were not available Wednesday, Wells said the allotments in nearly all the counties in this area "will be practically the same as last year."

"This had been expected, he said, because of the need for parity with the rest of the country."

Master of ceremonies at the dinner was Frank Hinkson, and Vice-Benedict, county GOP chairman, and other Republican leaders from this county and adjoining counties were introduced.

Dinner music was provided by Ray Martin at the organ.

pointed out, since the national allotment was left at the legal minimum of 16 million acres and that the state allotment had remained at approximately 6.8 million.

Wells said notices of allotments and projected yields will be mailed to farmers in this county next week. He said this also probably will be true in most area counties.

Lubbock county's projected yield for 1967 is far above the state average of 396 pounds. The national average is 545 pounds.

Projected yields are used in determining diverted acreage and price support payments to farmers participating in the federal cotton program.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has not announced the mandatory acreage cut-back that will be required for cotton farmers to qualify for price support loans and subsidy payments. It was 12 1/2 percent this year.

Also to be announced by the USDA are payment rates. The date of a national referendum on marketing quotas.

The so-called "domestic allotment" for 1967 will be 65 percent of the effective all-ment on individual farms, same as for 1966.

Most South Plains farmers reduced their plantings to "domestic acreage" under the 1966 program, idling 35 percent of their effective allotments.

The Ivory-billed woodpecker may be the rarest bird in the United States if it is not already extinct.

League Opposes Question No. 1 On Texas Ballot

Opposition to the proposed constitutional amendment resolution in taxation of agricultural land in urban areas was registered today by the Texas Municipal League Board of Directors.

The proposed amendment will appear as No. 1 among sixteen on the ballot at the November 8 General Election. If adopted, it would permit land designated by the owner for agricultural use to be assessed for all tax purposes on the consideration of only those factors relative to such use.

In a resolution adopted at a meeting in Austin today the TML Board called proposed Amendment No. 1 "unsound tax policy and detrimental to the cities and other political subdivisions of the state." The west town at Wilton store on Saturday and Sunday.

Board, governing body of the 631 member city League, asserted that consequences of the proposal have not been fully considered.

Five objections were specified in the TML Board's resolution, which stated that adoption of Amendment No. 1 would:

- "Result in a boom in land speculation by holding so-called agricultural land out of development at a low tax value while such land increases in value, and while surrounding land becomes urbanized.
- "Increase the cost of utility service as a result of the necessity for providing service to developed areas beyond such undeveloped land.
- "Cause an increase in litigation as a result of the vague definitions in such amendment.
- "Create confusion in planning for orderly municipal government.
- "Increase the cost of local government and will probably result in an increase in property taxes."

The TML resolution gave formal confirmation to the position expressed earlier by individual board members. A detailed statement of opposition to Amendment No. 1 which appeared in the August issue of the TML's official maga-

Parallel Terraces are Taking Texas by Storm, SCS Here Says

Parallel terraces have taken Texas by storm. Parallel terraces are terraces that are spaced an even number of rows apart without point rows. Although this does not eliminate point rows altogether, it does simplify farming, and helps in conserving soil and water. Parallel terraces can also be spaced to fit the farmer's equipment. For example, terraces might be spaced 24 rows or 72 rows apart depending on the slope. Three, four, six, or eight row equipment can be used on these terraces. These are several reasons why parallel terraces have become so widely used in Texas.

According to reports received from the State Office of the Soil Conservation Service at Temple, Texas have built more than 2200 miles of parallel terraces, enough to reach from Texas to Maine. Bailey county alone built 65 miles of parallel terraces which is twice as long as the length of the county from North to South. Plans this year, according to the local SCS technician, are to build 75 miles of terraces which shows their increasing popularity among farmers in this area.

There are several farmers in Bailey county who have installed parallel terraces. Among those farmers who have, Lester Howard has terraced most of his farm, and plans to terrace the rest this year. Other farms who have installed parallel terraces in Bailey county are Burley Lee Roberts and Maude B. Robinson of Enochs community and Robert Kelton of the Fairview community. Several farmers in this area plan to terrace their farms this year. They include Herman West and John Young of the Baileyboro community who are in the process of installing parallel terraces and Jack Schuster and M. E. Little who plan to install terraces at a later date.

The Soil Conservation Service through their Great Plains Conservation Program and the Agriculture and Stabilization and Conservation Service through their cost-share program have helped farmers install parallel terraces. Farmers Home Administration, through loans have helped with the installation of parallel terraces in some parts of Texas. The SCS is available at all times to give assistance to the farmer on the installation of parallel terraces. Farmers wanting more information on the parallel terraces should contact their local SCS office.
