Coast Guard Readies for 2nd Oil Assault

That feller on Tierra Blanca Creek says money is a wonderful thing, but it is possible to pay too high a price for it.

Coming down with a bad cold, a man slumped at his desk, clasped his head in his hands, sniffed, and complained, "How can a man feel so rotten from a disease that doesn't even have a National Foundation?"

WE THINK IT WAS great news when Dr. Gerald Payne decided to remain in Hereford! Dr. Payne had made plans to move to Breckenridge, his old stomping grounds, and the newspaper there had already reported his approaching move.

Small communities are having a difficult time keeping and recruiting enough doctors. We join many others in the community in expressing our pleasure that Dr. Payne will remain with HEREFORD'S COVETED Bull Award went to Dianne Pingree, editor of "Texas Woman," when she came here to serve as parade marshall of the annual All Girl Rodeo. How she came to be selected for the job makes an interesting story.

Margaret Formby, chairman of the Hall of Fame Weekend steering committee, happened to be reading a copy of the "Texas Woman" magazine several months ago. In Ms. Pingree's column, the editor related how she and her mother, visiting from New York, went shopping in Dallas and her mother encouraged her to purchase a fancy western outfit. Ms. Pingree wrote that after she got the outfit home, she realized there was no place to wear it. Mrs. Formby immediately sent off a letter, suggesting to Ms. Pingree that she had just the place for her to wear the outfit...as parade marshall of the Hall of Fame Weekend parade! This also led to a cover photo of a cowgirl on the September issue of the magazine, and a report on the Hereford weekend is due in the December issue of the magazine.

I READ SOME interesting statistics recently that indicate how much increased productivity in American agriculture is contributing to our national economy. While the productivity of the American worker in industry has been dropping approximately 3 percent per year, productivity in American ag has been increasing. As productivity in industry goes down. inflation must go up even if wages remain the same. And, as wages go up, inflation goes up even more significantly. This year. American ag will bring in 32 million dollars for ag products sold aborad. Just think how much worse off this countrys would be without agriculture.

Between 50 and 60 billion dollars are going out each year just for imported oil. Approximately one-third of U.S. farmland is being used to produce products for sales overseas. We devote more farmland in the U.S. to producing products for Japan than Japan has in farmland. Approxmately one-half of the wheat and soybeans we produce in this country and about one-third of the corn is exported. Unfortunately, the countries that have the oil that we need can get along without our food.

porting Palestinian "rights" and is School Registration Scheduled Thursday

All prospective students in the Hereford Independent School District will register Thursday at their respective schools for the start of classes next Monday morning.

Elementary school and kindergarten students will enroll with their parents between 8:30 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. Thursday at the schools they will attend during the upcoming year. Parents who do not know which schools their children will attend should contact the administration building today or Thursday:

Elementary and kindergarten students enrolling for the first time must bring immunization records and birth certificates. Students must have up-to-date immunization records.

Elementary students transferring from other school districts are asked to bring their school records.

Students enrolling in the kindergarten program for 5-year-olds must be 5 by Sept. 1 of this year. Migrants enrolling in the 4-year-old program must be 4 by that same date. Junior high registration also will be from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Thursday in their principals' offices at La

Plata and Stanton. High school seniors will register from 8:30 to 10 a.m. Thursday, juniors from 10 a.m. to 12 noon and sophomores from 1-3

Sophomores and all high schoolers new to the district will meet in the high school auditorium for orientation at 1:30 p.m. At the orientation, the high school administration and counseling staff will be introduced, procedures for registration and for the first day of classes will be explained along with general school policies and student handbooks will be distributed.

Any high school student wanting to have a yearbook photo taken at the school, including seniors, may do so during their respective registration times. Students, including girls, must wear appropriate dress for the photos. Teachers' inservice days will be today

A coffee sponsored by the local chapters of Classroom Teachers Association and Texas State Teachers Association was held this morning.

Tuesday that the U.S. position be against passing a new resolution now because of the "hesitation" he found in both Israel and Egypt during recent talks.

Strauss said he expected Carter to endorse the recommendation "that we not go forward" with a resolution. The president, taking a vacation cruise on the Mississippi Riyer, has not announced his decision.

If such a resolution is introduced in the Security Council debate that begins Thursday, the U.S. response will be 'negative." Strauss said on NBC-TV's "Today" program.

In the council, the United States has the power, through its veto, to kill any modification of the longstanding U.N. resolutions affirming Israel's right to exist within defensible orders and deag with the Palestinian issue strictly as a refugee problem. While reaffirming those resolutions, a U.N. committee's draft resolution scheduled for debate Thursday would have the council "affirm...that the Palestinian people should be enabled to exercise its inalienable rights of selfdetermination, national independence and sovereignty in Palestine.'

The recommendation to Carter came after a nearly two-hour strategy meeting at the White House Tuesday chaired by Vice President Walter F. Mondale. Besides Strauss: the other participants include secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance and national security adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski.

Following the meeting, three sources told The Associated Press that the United (See RESOLUTION, Page 2)

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) Coast Guard officials, anticipating a second assault by runaway Mexican oil despite virtually clear seas for two days, have moved protective equipment another 100 miles up the Texas coast to Matagorda Bay.

Coast Guard Capt. Roger Madson said Tuesday that two skimmers and 3,000 feet of booms have been staged in Port O'Connor for use in defending the difficult. two-mile-wide Cavallo Pass from history's worst oil spill.

Reconnaissance flights Tuesday showed that little oil was within 80 miles of the South Texas coast already stained by the brownish-black goo.

A 30-mile area of sheen, with small concentrations of thicker oil, was spotted near the Port Mansfield channel in the southern half of 100-mile-long Padre Island and scientists predicted that oil would come ashore by Thursday on a remote beach in the National Seashore.

The oil from a crippled Mexican offshore well soiled more than 50 miles of Padre Island beaches last week, dealing a harsh blow to the multi-million-dollar tourist industry in a peak vacation time.

However, calm weather has stalled the northward advance of huge oil concentrations south of Texas and given Coast Guard officials time to clean tourist beaches and bolster coastal defenses.

Three passes into the environmentally delicate Laguna Madre that runs behind Padre Island are already protected and the Coast Guard is defending two other passes into bays north of Corpus Christi. Officials plan to allow the oil to hit the beaches, centering their defense on lagoons and bays where important wildlife and marine species live. Meanwhile, 180 laborers used rakes, shovels and plastic trash bags to clean miles of tourist beaches on Tuesday.

Local officials and hotel owners criticized the Coast Guard for not using heavy machinery to do the job faster. But Madson said the rake and shovel method, although primitive, protects against decimation of the thin beaches.

The Armour Foods Co. Hereford beef slaughtering plant may be the target of a Sept. 1 strike by local members of the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of the AFL-CIO, The Brand has

The strike, should it come, would affect not only the Hereford plant, but facilities throughout the Armour chain, according to a local Armour employee who is a member of the union.

The Armour employee, who asked not to be identified, reported that the union is hoping to avert a strike through negotiations for a package of benefits similar to those obtained by another group of packing plant employees earlier this year.

The spokesman claimed that little progress is being made in efforts to negotiate, however. According to the spokesman, a local strike would involve some 424 workers. including personnel from the kill floor, deboning, fabrication, rendering, warehouse and maintenance depart-

The local spokesman reported that union members are seeking a package of benefits which includes a pension plan retirement benefits, and increased wages, although the amount of the wage increase being sought was not disclosed.

Vacation rights were also listed as a grievance. "This would be a strike throughout the chain, and 4,500 workers will be involved in the event of a strike," claimed the

"We are trying to negotiate a package that has already been approved by other packers, including Wilson, Hormel, HyGrade, and Morrel. All of these packers agreed to the contract in June and July. We are asking to get on the same pattern of conditions and other workers in these other plants are already are working under." stated the spokesman. "We don't anticipate any strike at all if we can get Armour to sit down at the table and negotiate, but in the event there is no negotiation for the package. we are set for a strike Sept. 1. If they (Armour) will work on the basic pattern that the rest of the meat packing industry has, we won't strike," the local union spokesman continued.

In addition to the Hereford plant, other Texas Armour facilities that could be affected by the strike include the Garland, Arlington and Brownsville plants. A spokesman for Armour Foods here. who also asked not to be identified. reported that operations are proceeding

"as usual" at the local plant at this time. Negotiations concerning the labor package in question are reportedly being handled by Armour's corporate headquarters in Phoenix.

Carter Takes Push For Plan to Land

ABOARD THE DELTA QUEEN (AP) - President Carter's Mississippi riverboat campaign for his energy program was putting ashore today in Burlington, lowa, where 7,000 "town meeting" tickets were snapped up three hours after they were offered, first-come, first-served. "People lined up as many as 500 at a time" when the tickets were offered by the White House advance team at 9-a.m. Saturday, said Peggy McCormally of Burlington, whose husband, John, publishes the Hawk Eye - touted as the first newspaper to support Carter's 1976 presidential bid. By noon, folks from Burlington and nearby towns in Iowa, Illinois and Missouri had cleaned out the supply, she said.

On Tuesday, the fourth-day of his seven-day cruise. Carter spent 41 minutes as host of a radio talk show in Davenport, Iowa. The "call-in" format was reversed for the guest host, as Carter dialed 13 persons pre-selected by the League of Women Voters from 1,000 applicants. His questioners were all friendly and generous with their praise. Cindy Wolf, "just a little person," asked what she could do as an individual to improve America. The president, after suggesting several ways to save energy, told her:

"You can inventory your life ... and use your own initiative, instead of waiting for a public official, even a president, to tell you and others what must be done."

Another listener, confused, asked. "Who is this?"

"My name is Jimmy Carter," the guest host said.

The woman's question: "How do you like Davenport?"

Carter's answer: "Davenport is one of my favorite places.' In response to another question, the president denied he is thinking about importing nuclear wastes from other countries for storage in the United States.

From Davenport, Carter traveled across the river to Moline, Ill., where he toured a John Deere farm implement plant and watched a demonstration of a "biomass converter." which the company is trying to perfect. The machine, bigger than a house trailer, burns chopped corncobs in a special furnace, producing a low-grade combination of flammable gases used to help power a 212-horsepower diesel engine that in turn, powers a 100-. kilowatt electrical generator.

Carter, who asserted his campaigning is on behalf of his energy program rather than for his own re-election, said the experimental machine represents the sort of private initiative needed to develop alternatives to imported oil.

OPEC Lawyer Says Blame Unjustified behalf of the oil producing nations and

LOS ANGELES (AP) - The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries is unfairly taking the blame for U.S. economic woes, says a lawyer in a price-fixing suit against the oil cartel's member nations.

And U.S. District Judge A. Andrew Hauk, who is hearing the unique case, suggests that members of cartel might have raised crude oil prices to protect themselves.

The comments came Tuesday as Dr. Stanley Foster, an international economist, testified in the second day of hearings on the suit, filed last December by the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers.

The suit alleges OPEC and its 13 member nations violated the Sherman Antitrust Act by meeting together to fix oil prices. The union contends the oil producers are subject to U.S. antitrust laws because they do business in this country. The union is seeking an injunction barring future oil price increases in excess of U.S. inflation rates.

In questioning Foster, Khalid Abdullah Tariq Al Mansour, an attorney for a group called Concerned Black Americans in Support of Africa and the Middle East, charged that "OPEC is an expedient scapegoat for American economic troubles.'

Concerned Black Americans has filed friend of the court briefs in the case on has been allowed to question union

Foster contended that OPEC increases in crude oil prices - the most recent in June - have helped to fuel double-digit inflation in the United States. The attorneys for the Concerned Black Americans suggested the Vietnam war and price increases by American oil companies were principally to blame.

Hauk asked Foster if the devaluation of the dollar might have led OPEC to increase its prices to the United States.

"If the gold you can buy is worth 1,000 percent less than it was 10 years ago, doesn't OPEC have to keep its prices up to p up with the dollar's devaluation?" Hauk asked.

"I think it is a question of whether the chicken or the egg came first." Foster

Hauk began grappling with the complexities of international oil pricing after removing OPEC on Monday as a defendant in the suit and ruling that the machinists' union was not entitled to collect damages. Hauk said OPEC itself could not be served with a copy of the suit. but left its 13-member nations as defendants because they have been served through their embassies.

The judge said he hopes to make a ruling in the suit on Friday.

10 Banks Robbed In New York Tuesday

NEW YORK (AP) - Ten more New York banks have been hit by armed robbers. and gunmen pulled off a $2 million heist while police were declaring war against the daring daylight raids with the formation of a 30-man shotgun squad.

Within four hours Tuesday, robbers attempted to hold up 10 banks in Manhattan, the Bronx and Queens, raising to 120 the number of bank jobs in the city since Aug. 1. The old August record was 84 in 1977.

In another holdup, three skimask hooded gunmen using a fish delivery truck scooped up money bags being loaded into a Brink's armored truck at the Chase Manhattan Bank's main headquarters in the city's Financial District.

They took two hostages, a Brink's security guard and a restaurant employee, who later were released unharmed.

Brink's offered a $100,000 reward.

Tuesday's bank robbery total was three short of the city record for robberies in one day - 13. set July 27. Authorities say there have been 575 bank robberies in New York so far this year.

USDA Stands By Soil Runoff Figures

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Agriculture Department is standing by its figures released earlier this year that showed, on the average, soil lost to water runoff is much less than had been estimated said on May 9 that nationally an average of 4.8 tons of soil are lost yearly to water erosion. That was about half the rate of soil loss the agency had earlier estimated.

Based on a new survey, the department's Soil Conservation Service

The reduced rate of soil loss was challenged by a number of critics. including the National Association of Conservation Districts, which pointed to what it considered were faulty methods used in tabulating erosion effects.

But the agency, in a new "issue briefing paper" distributed by USDA's Office of Governmental and Public Affairs, said it has "checked and rechecked" the information and is convinced the figures "are reliable and will guide conservationists in carrying out the fight against erosion to those areas that need it most."

The survey showed that regionally, for example, losses of cropland soil ranged from a high of 10.6 tons an acre annually in the Appalachian states to a low of 1.3. tons in the Pacific Coast states.

Legislators Probe Effects of Oil Spill

AUSTIN. Texas (AP) - Texas lawmakers want to find out who has been hurt by the oil spill damage on Texas

Speaker Bill Clayton, as acting governor of Texas, will make an inspection tour Thursday afternoon between Port Aransas and Corpus Christi as a prelude to two days of public hearings by the House Environmental Affairs Committee in Corpus Christi and South Padre Island.

Clayton's office said Tuesday the Springlake Democrat would land in Port Aransas early Thursday afternoon, tour a part of the oil spill area, then hold a news conference.

Thursday night. Clayton speaks to the Brownsville-Port Isobel Shrimpers Association in Brownsville.

Clayton will be acting governor through this weekend because Gov. Bill Clements is in New Mexico on vacation. Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby is on vacation in Wyoming, and Rep. Bill Braecklin.

D-Dallas, Senate president pro tempore who is third in line of succession, is in Alaska.

On Friday the House Environmental Affairs Committee, headed by Rep. Bennie Bock, D-New Braunfels, opens a public hearing on the effect of the oil spill at the Corpus Christi city hall.

Tapes Introduced

In Davis Trial

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) Prosecutors have set the stage toplay the first of several hours of tapes - the most damaging evidence the state has against millionaire Cullen Davis, being tried here on murder conspiracy charges.

Dallas-based FBI agent Jerry Hubbell laid the foundation for the introduction of the tapes Tuesday, demonstrating the $3,000 body microphone used to recorded meetings between Davis and informant David McCrory on Aug. 18 and Aug. 20.

McCrory. Davis' one-time pool shooting buddy, is the state's star witness in its second attempt to convict the industrialist.

McCrory went to the FBI just over a year ago, claiming Davis had ordered him to hire the murders of State District Judge Joe Eidson and others.

Hubbell testified he strapped a body recorder to McCrory and secretly taped McCrory's meetings with Davis. To demonstrate the use of the recorder which is about the size of a sardine can -Hubbell taped it to the left calf of assistant Tarrant County District Attorney John Bankston.

University of Texas scientists in Port Aransas are studying the oil's long-term effects on the Texas coast.

Dr. Patrick Parker, director of the University's marine laboratory, has found in early lab tests that the oil isn't toxic enough to kill adult fish and shrimp. but still strong enough to kill fish eggs and hatchlings.

Parker said the study will attempt to outline where the oil will go and what will finally happen if it stays offshore. Scientists are concerned that the oil will stay offshore, sink, and ultimately find its way into the food chain.

"We're worried it might come to reside in the sediment offshore and be detrimental to the fisheries. It has to go · . somewhere, and wherever it goes, it's going to be a problem. If all the oil sinks in one place, it could be a vey big problem." Parker said.

Scientists, however, say they have detected no serious environmental damage at this point.

The Ixtoc I well that blew out June 3 has been spewing thousands of barrels of oil daily into the Gulf of Mexico, covering thousands of square miles with the slick. An official had said Monday that Mexican engineers could have the well capped by this week, three weeks ahead of schedule.

other Arab governments. By mid-September, Sadat and Begin will have met again and Strauss will have completed another Mideast trip, one that might take him to Jordan and Saudi Unionization Speaker of the House Bill Clayton, also addressing the TPEA meeting, warned that unionization of state employces would result in disruption of government and dissension among workers.

"Any fight for unionization would pit state employees against state taxpavers Any such fight would produce only losers.

The 31,800-member TPEA is Texas' largest state employee organization and officially opposes unionization of state workers.

Clayton now joins Clements and Hobby as topranking state officials who oppose the unionization concept proposed by State Comptroller Bob Bullock at a recent Texas AFL-CIO meeting.

Bullock defended his concept again last week, saying that private firms were hiring away top state workers. because state pay is too low.

"Thousands of our state workers are eligible for food stamps, but are too proud to apply for them." Bullock told reporters on a television program.

Bullock called on Clements to include "a living wage" in the special session.

Border Oil Commission?

Railroad Commission Chairman John Poerner has raised the idea of a border oil commission between the United States and Mexico to oversee oil drilling in the Gulf of Mexico.

Poerher last week wrote to President Jimmy Carter and Mexico President Jose Lopez Portillo urging them to consider the joint, commission to develop petroleum resources in the Gulf. Drifting oil spills could be prevented or minimized, he theorized.

IN WASHINGTON

Richard E. Cohen.

On with cost overruns?

WASHINGTON (NEA) - In addition to the well-publicized energy issue, Congress left several major, and some not so major, issues unresolved before it left town for its August recess. Here is the status of a few of them and their likely prospects:

The House caved in to the traditional respect the House and Senate pay each other's internal decisions and operations as it narrowly voted to give what supporters said would be enough money — a total of $137.7 million — to complete construction of a stripped-down version of the Senate's mammoth third

But the action came after the House slashed $4.9 million intended for a rooftop dining room and wood paneling for senators' offices. Critics contend Congress eventually will restore these and other cuts and spend $200 million to finish the building.

Rhetorical flourishes filled the late night debate as lawmakers mocked the majestic touches and gross overspending that have characterized the building.

You cannot find any of the great cathedrals of Europe or Asia Minor surpassing this extravaganza," claimed Rep. Robert Dornan, a California Republican. "Not only the exquisite Parthenon itself, but verily all the buildings across the entire Acropolis did not surpass this costliness.

The House is hardly innocent when it comes to building pink elephants: construction of its Rayburn Office Building, which has some of the grandest corridors and stairways in the Western world, was also marked by huge cost overruns and delays.

Victim of politics?

President Carter rejected the proposed nomination of former Watergate Special Prosecutor Archibald Cox for a federal appellate court judgeship in Boston. Although White House aides deny the claim, a strong suspicion abounds that politics did in Cox, whose intellectual qualifications are unchallengeable. Cox's problem is that Sen. Edward Kennedy has been his chief sponsor

However, the fight may have just begun. Reports are circulating that Carter will nominate for the seat a Hispanic woman from Puerto Rico who local leaders say is a Republican and "insensitive" to individual needs. Should Kennedy - who chairs the Judiciary Committee, which must approve all judicial nominations - decide to oppose her, a nasty battle could

What price parking?
In a gesture to demonstrate his support of energy conservation. Carter ordered earlier this year that federal employees should pay full price for their prized parking spaces. One reporter termed the resulting explosion in the bureaucracy the hottest issue in Washington.

Federal personnel managers are still drafting the regulations to guide this complex new policy. Resentment has beenparticularly strong in Congress where nearly 8,000 free parking spaces are filled every day. Minority Leader Ted Stevens of Alaska said that if automobile problems are so bad in Washington, then the Capitol should be moved to Kansas or. somewhere else in "middle America" where people get around more easily.

Restraining restraint

Republican Reps. Jim Leach of Iowa and Tom Loeffler of Texas called for a 10 percent cutback in congressional committee staff. "Like so much in government, the congressional staffing system has generated a vicious circle work begets work, with the taxpayer picking up the price tag," they said. "It's time for Congress to set a model of restraint for the

Needless to say, their proposal has not seen the light of day.

Wallpapering Within Your Powers

NEW YORK (NEA) - Venetian canal scenes, that's what this room needs, so you're going to put up wallpaper.

A snap, say industry experts. First multiply the width of each wall by the height. Then divide by 30. What you come up with is how many rolls of wall covering

Some covering is pre-past-ed, some isn't, but in both cases read the directions. And keep in mind before buying that dry stripable paper pre-pasted or not - can be removed just by pulling in case the gondolas start to get on your nerves. Next, cover the floor and prepare the walls with some kind words and a good going over. If there's flaking paint or bits of old paper on it, sand the wall down. Then use a primer or wallsize, which is a powder or liquid that "seals" the wall and makes it irresistable to the covering. Now find the most inconspicuous corner in the room to start from. Where the long wall communicates with the short wall this side of the closet is good. By the time you paper around the room, your gondolas will stop matching there but who'll notice?

Providing it's the right corner, put your ladder there. Right-handed people work better right to left and vice versa for lefties, the experts Next, you do some measuring. For one thing, each sheet should be 3 inches longer than the wall for spillover at the ceiling and the baseboard. Now, assume your wall covering is 27 inches wide. Measure 26 inches onto the long wall from the corner and mark it with a pencil. That's where you'll drop a plumb line. You want the extra inch of paper to spill into the corner onto the short wall.

The plumb line ritual goes as follows: Call in Harry. Take a piece of string as long as the wall is high, put a weight on one end, chalk the string, climb the ladder at the pencil mark, hold the string and let the weight drop straight down from the ceiling along the wall. When the string stops jiggling, tell Harry to pull it taut and snap it. The chalk will leave a straight line against the wall.

That line is where you align your first sheet of covering, so paste that area if you must or take your sheet of wet wall covering and climb up the ladder again. You're going to work from top to bottom.

Align the sheet along the plumb line (on your left if you're righthanded) and pat it onto the wall down to the floor. Not the whole sheet, just that margin. Then, take your smoothing brush and again, working from top to bottom, smooth the paper forcefully from the center ou to both sides. That should prevent air bubbles, but if they develop just pull away the paper and smooth it out again.

Next, you take something 24 inches wide called a "metal straight edge" and jam it against the paper where the ceiling and wall meet. Hold it there like a ruler and with a single-edge razor blade cut away the excess paper. You only get four clean cuts from one blade, so make sure you've got a supply on hand before you start.

Cut away the excess from the baseboard the same way and, hallelujah, your first

Follow the same procedure with the second sheet, only line it smack next to the first, on the right if you're right-handed. Don't overlap. For perfectly matched canal scenes, without nervous breakdown, the smart thing to do is cut your sheets on the floor beforehand.

Take the first sheet from roll A, the second from roll B. the third from roll A, etc., and you won't have to worry about lining up the gondolier's

You can just worry about the window coming up. Paste the area as yet and any close the window itself, of course).

In 1975, an average of 11.2 cigarettes a day were produced for every person in the United States over the age of 18, reports the U.S. Federal Trade

We Have our New Fall Dresses & Tops. 'Juniors is a a size not a style

385 & Moreman

Then hang your sheet from the top next to the one already up, patting it down on the right margin to the floor. Don't smooth

Now, starting at the center of the sheet as it floats over the window, make a diagonal cut with a seissor to the top righthand corner of the window and another to the righthand bottom corner. That cuts the window into three triangles of paper. Pull back each triangle and with the smoothing brush fit the paper snugly against the molding of the window. Then cut away each triangle. You should be able to see the window again.

Hang the next sheet the same way - diagonals to the left - and you've done the window and only have, say, 14 inches of wall left. But your paper is 27 inches wide. So measure that 14-inch area at the ceiling, in the middle and at the baseboard. You may get 14 inches on top, 14 inches in the middle and 15 inches at the bottom. In that case, cut a 15-inch wide sheet from the 27-inch sheet (the widest measurement) and hang it like the others in the 14-inch area, letting the irregular margin spill over onto the next wall. Do in the spillage with your straight edge and razor.

What you've got left now is a 12-inch wide sheet. So measure 11 inches into the new wall, drop a plumb line there and hang the sheet. Once you cut away the strip spilling into the old corner, you've covered one whole wall and then some, and should know your way around the room. Only two points remain.

The only time you start in the middle of a wall and work out is if you're hanging a mural And, the experts say, married couples should never put up wall coverings together unless they have a very strong mar-riage or very thick walls.

Waters Out for

Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP) - Charlie Waters probably didn't even think about it as he hobbled around in a walking cast that surrounds his torn-up knee.

But the sidelined All-Pro safety is responsible for some lucky player's football future running back. Scott Laidlaw's with the Dallas Cowboys.

The Dallas roster is down to 50 after Tuesday's cuts. There will be another cut before the final roster is set.

Tuesday, Coach Tom Landry ecided that Waters would be out for the entire year, opening up a spot on the team for someone else - whoever it may be. Only hours before announcing that Waters would sit out the current reampaign. Candry said. "The decision on Waters hasn't been made yet. It's my decision ... mine and Dr. (Marvin) Knight's.' Landry, whose imaginative offenses somehow spring from a nevertheless conservative mind. had given a hint as to what he might do. "The conservative thing to do would be to put him (Waters) off for a year." Landry

The Super Bowl rematch will. be played minus Waters and running back Tony Dorsett. who's out with a broken toe. There was some good news at hamstring troubles have cleared up enough for a return to action.

Backup quarterback and punter Danny White will be there, but only as a punter, thanks to a broken thumb. Landry cut punter Duane Carrell Tuesday, saying that White would be able to kick but would not be ready to steer the team for several weeks.

The Cowboys made three more cuts Tuesday afternoon: happenings in the Mets' 19-year linebacker Gary Cobb: a ninthround draft pick, cornerback lost games in some strange Mark Washington and running back Doug Dennison. Earlier, they had to go through a do-over the Cowboys waived free agent to end a ballgame. Suffice to say rookie wide receiver Chris that Doug Flynn drove in three DeFrance of Arizona State and rookie lineman Ralph DeLoach. of California.

Waters' backup. Randy Hughes, had clear fluid drained from an old knee injury Monday Astros 5-0.

The decision on Waters was and was listed as "quesjust one item on Landry's worry tionable" for Saturday's game. If Hughes isn't able to go, Bennie Barnes would shift to free safety from his cornerback slot.

Dallas Still NFC East Favorite

DALLAS (AP) - There is a wing of power in the National Conference Eastern Division, but it's not at the top where the Dallas Cowboys' title flag remains firmly implanted.

Charlie Waters may be out for the regular season with a knee injury and Tony Dorsett may be hobbling around on a broken toe but Coach Tom Landry somehow prevails,

"Tom likes it when the going gets gritty." says a front office worker. "He really has his game face on now."

The Cowboys, who have made the playoffs 12 out of the last 13 years good for five tickets to the Super Bowl, are deep enough for two National Football League teams.

What team can put a five-year veteran like Randy Hughes at strong safety for Waters? Or trot out a 14-year vet like Preston Pearson for Dorsett?

What team can lose Ed (Too Tall) Jones and Jethro Pugh to retirement and still have athletes like Larry Cole, Dave Stalls and Larry Bethea to count on?

If there is an heir apparent in the NFC East, it could be the young Philadelphia Eagles, who made the playoffs as a wild card team last year, losing to the Atlanta Falcons.

But Eagle Coach Dick Vermeil figures Philadelphia is still three or four years away from the Super Bowl.

The Eagle rise comes as Washington washes out its "Over-The-Hill" gang, Bud Wilkinson tries to rebuild at St. Louis, and Ray Perkins takes over a struggling New York Gi-

The Eagles still don't have the offense to match the Cowboys, who were No.1 in the NFL last year with quarterback Roger Staubach leading the league in touchdown passes.

Fullback Mike Hogan and reserve running back Jim Betterson were lost in the offseason to the Eagles when they were charged with violations of cocaine possession laws. Vermeil is hoping for young Cleveland Franklin, third-year vet Larry Barnes or Billy Campbell to come through.

Five Seeking TGSPB Positions

Four directors will be elected to the Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board in an election which is currently underway. Ballots are being mailed to grain sorghum producers throughout the 29-county TGSPB area of the Texas High Plains.

Every two years, the terms of four members of the Board expire. Current members of the Board who have chosen not to seek re-election are: A.W. "Dub" Anthony, Jr. of Friona; E.C. Witten, Edmonson; and Don Nelson of Tulia.

According to Jerome Friemel of Hereford, those attending the meeting will discuss the feasibility of constructing a processing plant with a production capacity of 20 million gallons of alcohol per year.

Cost of the plant is estimated at $30 million.

The first step toward such a plant would involve a feasibility study to determine the accuracy of productivity and potential return figures.

According to Friemel, a plant located in the area would consume seven million bushels. of grain annually, and the plant would produce 200-proof alcohol from grain and other agricultural products.

We felt we should at least hold a meeting in the local area to determine if there is any interest in constructing such a plant," commented Friemel.

The USDA estimates 5.082, seeds is used in products ranging from cooking oil to cosmetics and paints, and the absence of poly-unsaturates in the product has won it acceptance in food products.

Sunflower plantings in the Panhandle and on the South Plains mushroomed to an astounding level in 1975 as many farmers gave a try to a new crop option, but a shortfall in the actual price delivered on. contracted sunflowers all but killed interest in the crop over most of the Panhandle for the following year. Area sunflower industry spokesmen indicate the renewed interest in the crop is due in large part to vastly improved sunflower varieties that are true hybrid self-pollinators. Sunflowers grown in the area in 1975 were open-pollinated Rumanian varieties, and yields often proved disappointing. Coupled with the improvement in sunflower varieties is the opening up of new markets for the product.

Oil derived from sunflower

Yields of sunflowers grown in the Panhandle area have ranged as high as 2970 pounds per acre, and most producers considering the crop are hoping strong yields can make the crop a workable alternative.

Currently, sunflowers have shown their greatest value in the Panhandle and on the South Plains as a "catch crop" planted when cotton or other crops are hailed out or damaged in some other manner, and a quick growing crop is needed to obtain some poduction from the land for that growing season. Sunflowers are also gaining acceptance as a crop to be used under limited water or dryland conditions. They have a long tap root and exhibit a tendency to go semi-dormant during extreme drought conditions. The upcoming field day will highlight the strengths of sunflower production and point up some of the new varieties which should help sunflowers maintain a place in Panhandle plant, designed primarily for sizing sunflower seed, will also be featured during the field day.

FU Threatens Suit Over Grain Sales Suspension

WASHINGTON, D.C. - The Farmers Union has charged that the federal government has "suspended" sales of grain to the Soviet Union and demanded that the price support loan rate for wheat and corn be raised immediately to 90 percent of parity in accordance with section 1002 of the Food and Agriuchture Act of 1977.

In a statement issued simultaneously in Denver. Colorado, and Washington, D.C., Tony Dechant, National President of the Farmers Union. declared that the Farmers Union is contemplating legal action to compel the government to raise the price support loans under terms of the law, or to cease its restriction against additional sales of corn and wheat to the

Ninety percent of parity would be $5.38 a bushel for wheat and $3.75 a bushel for corn. Average prices received by Farmers in the U.S. in July were $3.95 for wheat and $2.73

Dechant noted that Section 1002 of the 1977 Act provides that "Whenever the president or any other member of the executive branch of the federal government causes to be suspended, based upon a determination of short supply. the commercial export sales of any commodity (wheat, corn, grain sorghum, soybeans, oats, rye, barley, rice, flaxseed and cotton) to any country or area with which the United Staes otherwise continues commecial trade, the Secretary of Agriculture shall, on the day the suspension is initiated, set the loan level for such commodity... at 90 per centum of the parity price for the commodity."

"This isn't a question of whether the president has authority under the Export Administration Act or the Five-Year Russian Grain Agreement to limit shipments when supplies are deemed to be short." he explained. "But the law is clear that when there is such interference on the grounds that supplies are short, the support rate must at once be lifted to 90 percent of parity.'

Dechant said that it is obvious from the legislative history of Section 1002 that it was not the intent that this should be applicable only when there is a total embargo in shipments of a commodity. He noted that the House

Agriculture Committee Report on the Farm Bill, said in its reference to the language of Section 1002 that the provision is intended to apply whenever the suspension is made "directly or indirectlly." The committee report also explains that "this provision is intended to discourage embargoes or the suspension of export sales by the executive branch of government. It does not, of course, prevent such action here an overriding national interest exists. However, the committee feels that if the public interest is served by such drastic and disruptive action, then the public, not just grain producers. should pay for that public policy.'

Section 1002 was proposed originally in the House Agriculture Committee by Rep. Glenn English (Okla.) who termed it necessary "to protect producers from government interference with the export of American wheat."

Originally, the English amendment was to require a raise in supports to 100 percent of parity and this was the provision when the bill went to the House floor. And manager of the bill, said in presenting the bill to the House that the price supprt adjustment would be required "if the executive branch or the federal govenrment should suspend or cause suspension of exports."

The House approved the English provision and it was later scaled down in conference committee to 90 percent of parity. The conference committee report declares that "the provision is to be operative whenever any member of the executive branch causes to be suspended--based on a determination of short supply--the commercial export sales of any of the above named commodi-

"There is no question that the executive branch has suspended grain sales to the Soviet Union because of concern about supply conditions." Dechant explained. "In making his announcement on August 1 (one). following the consultations. Secretary Bergland explicit ly reported the quantity limits imposed by the U.S. on grain sales and further stated that any consideration of increasing those limits would be delayed to October. In Bergland's own words, 'by that time, we will have more precise information on the size of this year's corn and other feed grain crops."

Dechant added that it is common knowledge from trade sources that the Soviet Union wants to buy more grain in the fourth year of the Grain Agreement, which begins October 1. than it has so far been given permission to purchase.

Soy Growers Endorse Free Marketing System

ATLANTA. GEORGIA -Sovbean producers meeting at the American Sovbean Association (ASA) National Convention in Atlanta last week (Aug. 12-15) reaffirmed their strong support of an open market system, free of government controls, as the most efficient means of marketing the record

'79 soybean crop. In a special session for convention delegates. 170 representatives of 24 state soybean associations strongly endorsed a resolution urging that soybeans be kept free of government programs such as acreage allotments, marketing quotas, target prices, and setaside programs. The resolution also strongly opposed government involvement, through the Commodity Credit Corporation or any other agency, in negotiating export sales of American soybeans or other crops.

Record attendance at the convention topped 1500 soybean growers and their families who participated in a three-day program that included meetings, seminars and activities for the entire family. Soybean tion heard speakers describe current ASA market development efforts and presentations on the challenges ahead for the soybean market, particularly from competing oil seeds such as rape seed, sunflowerseed, and palm oil.

Convention delegates commended the USDA Foreign Agricultural Service (FAS) and Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland for their strong support and "invaluable assistance" in expanding export markets for soybeans. They also urged that because of the importance of agricultural exports to the nation's economy. foreign market development funding should be continued and increased at an annual rate commensurate to world inflation rates and increased sales needs.

Delegates urged government. private industry, and growers increased support for soybean research to reduce production costs and find new uses for sovbeans and soybean products. Citing the large crop and the worldwide need for protein. delegates urged that funding be increased for research on improving the quality and general acceptability of soy oil, finding new uses for soy oil. improving the nutritional value of soybean meal and expanding the use of soy protein.

In an expression of concern for adequate transportation systems to move agricultural commodities, delegates urged the Department of Transportation and the USDA to take steps to assure adequate rail transportation for areas dependent on railroads. Delegates also urged Congress to pass legislation to facilitate users buying railroads before they are abandoned. The resolution requests that such groups be given a minimum of one year to form a user organization to

Delegates urged that energy priorities continue to be given to food production and called on the Department of Energy to designate soybean processing and transportation as a priority use for gasoline, diesel, fuel, hexane, and other energy

Finally, delegates set membership development as a number one priority of ASA in 1980. In a resolution on membership, delegates urged statewide membership activities including development of county soybean organizations.

For instance, the 1978 Revenue Act increased by 10 percent the net capital gain a noncorporate taxpayer may deduct from his gross income. The previous 50 percent deduction of net long-term capital gain over net short-term capital loss no longer applies. notes Lovell.

So producers should review holding periods for various assets such as breeding cattle. speculative commodity futures and farm machinery with respect to capital gains or losses. The economist suggests that producers review purchase dates of assets that are expected to be sold to determine if holding period requirements are Acquisition dates are important when assets are to be sold and investment credit claimed. Livestock producers must also actions. Cost of replacement livestock must be reduced by the amount received for substantially identical animals. Lovell says this provision applies only if substantially identical animals are sold within six months either side of the date replacements are purchased and investment credit is not recaptured.

Producers trading or buying and selling used property in 1979 should recall an existing provision in the Farmer's Tax Guide. If within 60 days of the sale date, similar used qualifying property is bought as a replacement and the basis of property to be bought is not determined by reference to the adjusted basis of the old property, then only the amount exceeding the basis of the old property should be counted. In this situation whether or

Reach $3.7 Billion In '78 AUSTIN--Cattle, sheep for beef and the fewer beef and hog prices took a welcome upturn in 1978, according to the latest statistical report on Texas meat animals. Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has said.

Total cash receipts for meat animals in Texas reached $3.716 billion, compared with $2,707 billion the previous year, he noted. These figures are part of an annual survey conducted by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting

These figures reflect only total cash receipts, and are not a measure of industry profits. In many cases, substantial price increases are due to extremely low price levels of the previous year, with which they are compared. .

"Cash receipts for cattle and calves were up by about $969 million over 1977," Brown said, "which indicates the continued strong demand animals available to meet this demand."

Total beef cattle output dropped by 9 percent last year, he noted, as cattlemen sharply trimmmed their herds. Overproduction has kept cattle prices at rock bottom for over four years. and forced many producers out of business. Many livestock experts now believe this herd reduction phase is nearing an end, and producers soon will respond to higher prices by rebuilding their herds.

"Although the financial picture has certainly improved for many cattlemen, it has happened only after years of losses," he said. Brown noted that only about 60 cents out of each retail beef dollar goes to the producer. Inflation, taxes and old debts also combine to deplete a large portion of potential profits.

Fed Cattle Marketing Expected to Decrease

COLLEGE STATION -There is little doubt that fed cattle marketings will decrease in the second half of this year. says Dr. Edward Uvacek, Jr.

"The real question is whether or not this decrease will offset large quantities of other meats." believes the livestock marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Texas A&M University System

Cattle on feed are down six percent from last year. Uvacek says placements into feedlots are also down substantially. indicating fed cattle marketings for October-December will probably be 6.2 to 6.4 million head-down 4 to 7 percent from year ago levels.

Although these projections look encouraging. Uvacek reminds producers that prices fell from the high $70s down into the $60s during the past April-June period when fed cattle marketings were down eight percent.

"Larger pork and broiler supplies obviously have hurt beef prices." contends the specialist. "Unfortunately, the second half of 1979 will have even more pork and poultry production.

"Double digit inf ation further compounds the problem." Uvacek adds. "That plus a business slowdown. reduced restaurant sales because of the fuel crisis, and the lingering threat of government controls, will combine to make it a long. hot summer."
