

Reagan Wants to Kill LSC Funding

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, who clashed with a poor peoples' legal aid group when he was governor of California, is calling for elimination of all federal money for free legal help for the poor.

Reagan's budget proposals for 1982 also would give states direct control for the first time over 40 health and social programs — such as rat control and alcohol abuse — but provide 25 percent less money from Washington to run them.

Initially, that group was to include the Legal Services Corp., a program stretching back to the Johnson administration's anti-poverty initiatives of the mid-1960s.

But a spokesman for the Office of Management and Budget, who asked not to be identified, said Thursday that Reagan now wants to abolish Legal Services altogether.

The legal services agency, which provides free legal help in civil disputes to some 1.5 million people a year, has a $321 million budget for 1981 and requested $399 million for fiscal 1982, which begins Oct. 1.

Local legal aid groups who receive the money represent poor people only in civil disputes, such as divorces, tenant-landlord cases, consumer problems, minimum wage violations — particularly those involving farm workers — and suits against the government. The agency does not deal with criminal matters.

Reagan's attempt to abolish it reopens a fight that he fought and lost as governor of California.

In 1971, then-Gov. Reagan vetoed a $1.8 million federal grant to California Rural Legal Assistance, which he charged was illegally helping United Farm Workers President Cesar Chavez organize field hands.

Reagan, who frequently attacked the legal organization, reversed himself after a federal review group exonerated the California agency.

"We would be strongly opposed to any move of this kind," said Robert Evans, a lobbyist for the American Bar Association. "It would result in a serious denial to equal access to justice. ... Many view this as a keystone to the basic rights of people in this country."

Reagan also may encounter opposition to his plan for saving $2.2 billion by consolidating the 40 health and social programs into state grants for basic health, preventive health, social services and emergency aid.

Spending on the programs — totaling nearly $9 billion this year — would be reduced to $6.8 billion in the next fiscal year, with each state given the power to decide how its share should be spent.

Reagan, who will unveil complete details next week of his proposals to cut 1982 spending by $45 billion, has promised that the neediest Americans would not be hurt by the budget cuts. But opponents of increased state control argue that the federal government has shown itself to be a better guardian of needy Americans.

By letting the states run the programs, Reagan estimates the federal government can eliminate several agencies and more than 3,000 employees who now do the administering. In turn, the administration contends, the programs would be more efficient, avoiding much of a reduction in actual services.

Among the programs involved are:

—Fourteen Health Services Administration programs, including community health centers, sudden infant death, family planning, emergency medical services, high blood pressure and genetic services. Spending in this area is expected to approach $2 billion this year.

—Mental health and alcohol and drug abuse services, for which spending should total $1 billion this year.

—Center for Disease Control programs, such as health education, venereal disease control, fluoridation, immunizations, rat control and lead paint. Total spending in this area is put at $292 million in 1981.

—More than a dozen Human Development Service programs, including child day care, homemaker aid, foster care, child welfare, child abuse, runaway youth and counseling. Spending in 1981 is estimated at about $1.7 billion.

—Low-income energy assistance, which provides money to help poor people meet vital energy needs, such as home heating costs. Spending for 1981 is estimated at $1.85 billion.

—Special education rehabilitation services for the handicapped. Spending for 1981 is estimated at $960 million.

—Community Services Administration, which provides social services for poor people through grants to some 900 local community action agencies. This agency, one of the last remnants of the Johnson administration's war on poverty, has a $584 million budget for 1981.

80th Year No. 178

Highway 60 Project Opinions Aired Here

By JIM STEIERT
Managing Editor
A gathering of some 50 local residents received word at a public hearing here last night that any proposed improvement work on Highway 60 in the Hereford vicinity will depend on what action is taken concerning discretionary highway funds.

According to Mike Carr, executive vice president of the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce, "Any action will depend on the discretionary highway funds, Texas is vying with other states for those funds, so it's not like they are there waiting for us," said Carr.

Last night's meeting centered on proposed routes for a loop around Hereford.

Texas Highway Department officials reported that a proposed 10 mile loop north of Hereford including two overpasses would bear a $17.5 million price tag in 1980 dollars.

A south loop, eight miles in length and including a bridge and three grade separations, would cost $17.2 million.

A third alternative, involving widening the present Highway 60 system through Hereford, would carry a $3.5 million price tag.

According to studies, the north route could displace up to four homes, although the actual path of the roadway could vary 100 yards to either side of present proposals.

The south route would displace from 5-14 homes and one to three mobile homes.

Maintaining the roadway as-is, and widening would displace some 14-16 Highway 60 businesses, according to the study.

One business would be affected by either the north or south loop route, according to the study.

Carr reported that the Chamber's Transportation Committee may offer yet another alternative, providing for the use of existing roadway in a loop system.

Members of that committee met with highway engineers today to further study alternatives for the proposed highway project.

Reagan Seeks More Cut Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — Anticipating more economic bad news, the Reagan administration is trying to whip up more support from business to rush its tax and budget cuts through Congress.

Treasury Secretary Donald T. Regan told the U.S. Chamber of Commerce on Thursday "we know that inflation will come down" if the administration's package is passed.

He asked the businessmen to write members of Congress to assure continued pressure when general public interest in the program diminishes in coming weeks and months.

Administration officials predict that if the president's program is approved by summer, results should show up late this year.

In the meantime, though, there are no signs that the economy is getting any healthier.

The government was releasing new figures today that were expected to show inflation still rising rapidly at the wholesale level in February. New unemployment figures, also to be released today, were not expected to change dramatically from the 7.4 percent to 7.6 percent range they have held since last spring.

Wholesale prices rose 0.9 percent in January, while unemployment remained steady at 7.4 percent of the labor force.

The Reagan administration argues that its program will spur investment, improve productivity and generally put Americans on firmer economic footing. If that happens, officials contend, there will be an easing of the "inflation psychology" which drives people to buy more and more goods because they believe prices will be much higher if they wait very long.

Regan told the Chamber of Commerce that fiscal discipline by the government "will create a better climate for business...to attack unemployment."

Before the February figures were released today, economists predicted that energy costs would lead to a new sharp rise in overall wholesale prices and that unemployment probably would not change dramatically.

Donald Ratajczak, director of Georgia State University's Economic Forecasting Unit, said "sharply higher energy prices, in response to the (oil price) decontrol announce-

Landers Files

At Walcott

One additional candidate filed for an unexpired term on the Walcott School Board prior to the March 4 filing deadline according to Eddie Derr, superintendent of Walcott School.

Shane Landers has filed for the unexpired term and will challenge John Frank Martin Jr. for that position.

Buel Monroe and Bobby Hammock are unopposed in bids for full three-year terms on the school board.

No additional candidates filed in the race for Hereford School Board positions, leaving eight individuals vying for three seats.

None of the incumbent board members are seeking re-election.

Among candidates in the at-large election are Tom Simons, James Self, Bill Townsend, Jerry Walls, Anne Ivey, R.C. Hoelscher, Don T. Martin and Johnny Frank Gamez.

The top three vote getters will be elected to the school board.

Incumbents Warner Lawson, Jerry Payne and Ed Reinauer Jr. are seeking re-election to the board of directors of Deaf Smith General Hospital.

In For Two

Hereford senior Alan Wartes bounds down the baseline and past Monterey's Mark Lambert (32) for a layup in the opening round of the 4-5A conference tournament Thursday night in Plainview. Hereford out-gunned the Plainsmen from the field, but lost the season finale 61-50 after Monterey wielded a more consistent performance from the free-throw line. The Lubbock squad hit 75 percent from the charity line (25-33) while the Whitefaces could only complete 36 percent of their attempts.

Building Permit Totals Climb

Building permit totals for the city of Hereford surged upwards appreciably during February, according to city records.

A major factor in the $634,300 building permit total for the month was issuance of a permit for a $600,000 construction project on the part of the First Church of the Nazarene.

That permit represents the initial phase of a building project on the part of the church.

A total of 13 permits were issued in February, duplicating the 13 permit total for January of this year.

All similarity ended there, however, as the January construction total amounted to only $243,900.

Included in the February permit totals was $10,000 for two mobile home move-ins, $650 for two parking garages, $3,500 for a store and $1,650 for non-residential construction.

Five permits for repairs to residences also accounted for $18,500.

Deaf Smith REC Meeting Scheduled for Saturday

The Deaf Smith Rural Electric Cooperative will hold its annual membership meeting beginning at 5 p.m. Saturday at the Bull Barn.

Registration and a barbecue dinner, served by the Catholic Daughters Society of Nazareth, will begin at that time.

The business meeting will get underway at 6 p.m.

Over $400,000 in capital credit checks will be distributed during the meeting to purchasers of electric power from throughout the area served by REC.

An election of directors will also be held.

Door prizes valued at over $1,000 will also be awarded to those in attendance.

Young Farmer Auction Saturday

A full day sale is in store as the Hereford Young Farmers stage their first annual consignment auction tomorrow beginning at 10 a.m.

The auction will be held on South Highway 385 in the area fronting Case Power and Equipment Co. and New Holland Hereford.

Farm tractors, combines and assorted machinery, tools and implements make up the bulk of the sale list.

Items in the auction have been screened for quality prior to being placed up for sale.

Ted Walling of Walling & Associates has donated his services to the local chapter as auctioneer for the event.

The local Young Farmers

chapter will receive a six percent commission on items sold in the auction.

Those proceeds will be used to improve the annual junior livestock show, sponsored by the organization, as well as to beef up the agriculture scholarship program sponsored by the HYF.

A senior student at Hereford High School is awarded the scholarship each spring to assist the individual in furthering studies in agriculture.

Deaf Smith County 4-H members and their parents will be providing lunch at Saturday's sale and a winch truck will be available to assist in loading implements and equipment.

Winter Storm Watch is Posted

By The Associated Press

A winter storm watch was posted for the Texas Panhandle for late tonight and Saturday as a winter storm moved out of the Southwest.

Forecasters warned that the storm might dump as much as four inches of snow on the Panhandle beginning late tonight and Saturday.

As the storm system approaches, forecasters are calling for showers and some thunderstorms to spread across West Texas today and across the remainder of the state tonight and Saturday.

It is expected to turn much colder in the Panhandle tonight and the rain is expected to turn to snow.

The remainder of the state was to have mostly cloudy skies with some scattered showers and thunderstorms.

Highs were to range from the 50s in the Panhandle to the 70s in South Texas with most areas to have highs in the 60s.

Mostly clear and calm weather was reported over the state early today although some high clouds were reported over Central Texas.

Early morning temperatures were mostly in the 30s and 40s except in South Texas where readings were in the 50s. Extremes ranged from 30 at Dalhart to 59 at both McAllen and Brownsville.

Coastal Tensions

Are Easing

By LAURA RICHARDSON
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Tension between Vietnamese and American shrimpers has eased after a series of weekend meetings on the Texas coast, Gov. Bill Clements says.

"Hopefully, we have poured some oil on these troubled waters," Clements told his weekly news conference Thursday.

He said the meetings of the fishermen, his aide Allen Clark, and Sen. James E. "Buster" Brown showed that many of the embattled Southeast Asian refugees are ready to quit the shrimping business.

Recently, American fishermen have loudly complained the refugees are driving them out of business. Then the Ku Klux Klan entered the fray, charging the Vietnamese are Communists.

The KKK sponsored a demonstration at which a Vietnamese shrimp boat was burned in effigy.

"There is strong evidence that a good many of the Vietnamese would like to sell their boats and leave the area," Clements said. "And we'll continue to try to establish a living and fishing environment that will allow those who want to, to stay."

He deplored the presence of the Klan and its role in the controversy.

"Taking up another hotly debated coastal issue, Clements said he supports the redfish protection bill lawmakers are now considering even though passage would mean the tasty fish couldn't be served in Texas restaurants.

"I think the position of the Parks and Wildlife Department is correct," Clements said, adding that he, too, enjoys eating redfish. "I guess this means I'll have to travel to New Orleans more often to get it."

Asked what he suggested for fish fanciers who can't afford the trip, Clements said:

"They can eat catfish. It's good."

Brilab Trial

Set for April 27

HOUSTON (AP) — U.S. District Judge Robert O'Connor has set April 27 for the trial date of Houston labor leader L.G. Moore, one of four men originally indicted in the Texas Brilab investigation.

Moore, regional director of the Operating Engineers union, was indicted by a grand jury on charges of racketeering, fraud, conspiracy and extortion.

Three other defendants, Texas House Speaker Billy Clayton, and Austin attorneys Randall Wood and Donald Ray, were found innocent of all charges last Oct. 22 by a federal court jury.

The allegations centered on $5,000 in cash Moore and FBI informant Joseph Hauser gave Clayton during a meeting in the speaker's office on Nov. 8, 1979.

The indictment alleged Clayton also was promised $600,000 in exchange for his assistance in re-opening bids on a multimillion dollar health insurance contract.

Clayton said the $5,000 was put in a safe place until he could return it to Moore at a later date.

Since that time, Clayton has been re-elected speaker for a fourth term.

CDC Investigates

College Illnesses

DALLAS (AP) — It is not considered a "firefighting emergency," but an officer with the national Center for Disease Control is visiting here to see if he can pin down the mysterious illness that struck six college students last fall.

"After looking through a lot of statistics, we've found nothing statistically significant," said Edward Kilbourne of the Atlanta-based center. "But we haven't exhausted all the things we want to look at."

Kilbourne said the investigation is not an emergency status but said center directors are concerned the illness may emerge in other parts of the country.

"For example, it could be that there was some new compound involved that should be banned from the market or something along that line," he said.

The students, who shared nothing in common but enrollment in the Southern Methodist University art school, reported hair loss, numbness in their limbs, nerve damage and anxiety.

State and local experts first suspected they had been poisoned by thallium, a toxic element once used in rat poison. But no trace of thallium was found and air samples showed no signs of toxins.

"The people who got ill had peripheral nerve problems and hair loss and that is not a usual syndrome," Kilbourne said. "It's not easily prescribed to any known thing."

He said he is spending his time reviewing data collected over the last two months by a team of experts from the University of Texas Health Science Center and the Texas Health Department.

"The workup is very extensive and I'm not sure we'll be able to add that much, but people sat down and asked if we've left any stone unturned. That's what we're checking now," he said.

Weather

West Texas — Winter storm watch Panhandle late tonight and Saturday. Partly cloudy with scattered showers and a few thunderstorms moist sections, ending from west Saturday. Rain changing to snow Panhandle late tonight with accumulations of 4 inches or more possible tonight and Saturday. Turning much colder Panhandle tonight and other sections Saturday. Highs mid 50s north to low 70s southwest. Lows mid 20s north to mid 40s south. Highs Saturday mid 30s north to upper 50s south and mid 60s southwest.

Warsaw's Labor Leaders Warn Against Second Strike Alert

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Apparently heeding one of the strongest Kremlin threats yet to Poland, leaders of the independent labor movement in Warsaw warned another local against calling the nation's second strike alert. Meanwhile, the Reagan administration expressed renewed concern over the Moscow declaration.

A strike alert remained in effect in Lodz, Poland's second largest city, and local leaders of the Solidarity labor Federation said they would decide Saturday whether to call a strike to protest the firing of five hospital workers. Four of them Solidarity organizers.

But the Warsaw chapter of Solidarity warned the local in Plock, an oil and industrial center west of the capital, against posting a strike alert to protest censorship of a local union bulletin.

The Warsaw local said it "passed along the news from Moscow." It was not immediately known if the union in Plock would heed the warning.

Soviet leaders expressed confidence in a joint communique Wednesday with Polish Communist Party leaders that the Polish Communists would "reverse the course of events" and "liquidate the perils looming over Poland's socialist gains."

This was coupled with a warning that defense of the socialist community "is the cause not only of each state, but also of the entire socialist coalition." This appeared to be a reiteration of the Brezhnev Doctrine that intervention in another Soviet Bloc nation is justified if necessary to protect the communist system there.

Diplomatic sources in Warsaw said the communique represented a hardening of the Soviet position. One source said the reference to "reversing the course of events" was the sharpest Kremlin warning yet on Polish labor unrest. In Washington, officials of the Reagan administration expressed renewed concern that the Soviet army might intervene in Poland. "Poland should be free to solve its own problems without any outside interference," said State Department spokesman William Dyess. He repeated the administration's earlier warning of "grave consequences" for East-West relations if the Soviets invade Poland and said such intervention is not inevitable, imminent or justifiable on any grounds.

Dyess also said the administration would keep a close watch on the coming spring maneuvers of Warsaw Pact troops in and around Poland. "If we had not had the concern about Poland, then these maneuvers would not have raised any eyebrows," he added.

Meanwhile, a Solidarity spokesman reported that the Warsaw police detained leading dissident Jacek Kuron for several hours and told him new charges of slandering the state would be brought against him. Charges of anti-state activities are already pending against Kuron, the founder and chief spokesman for the Committee for Social Self-Defense, or KOR, and an adviser to Solidarity.

Drug Traffic in Small Towns on Increase

Associated Press

The use of marijuana, cocaine and even heroin is increasing rapidly in small-town America and may soon equal the levels that have made drugs a scourge of big cities, according to a new federal report.

Dr. Adele Harrell, who led the drug study for the National Institute on Drug Abuse, said researchers "found a slowing of growth of drug use in metropolitan areas but a steady growth in rural sections of the country, and chances are that we will soon see an equal level of drug use throughout the nation."

The report, obtained by The Associated Press, describes a study of the use of marijuana, hashish, cocaine, heroin, hallucinogens and psychotherapeutic drugs by 3,253 people 12 years old and older in "non-urban" communities of fewer than 25,000.

According to the study, one out of every four youths in rural areas had used marijuana at least once, and more than half of those using marijuana went on to use at least one other drug.

"It's clear from the study that states with large rural or non-urban populations have a growing problem and should be making a significant investment of efforts toward the problems of drug abuse," said Dr. Barry Brown, chief of the institute's treatment, research and assessment branch. "Young people in rural communities should be the prime target."

Brown said the survey, done in 1979 and compiled last year, indicates the rural drug problem is greatest in the Northeast and the West.

Highway

Two individuals voiced opposition to any change in the present Highway 60 system during last night's session, pointing out that such action would be a detriment to

Highway 60 businesses. According to Carr, individuals who would like to express a view on the matter or obtain information on proposed routes may contact the Chamber office at 364-3333. Letters may also be forwarded to the Highway Department within the next 10 days.

Carr pointed out that a formal public hearing on the proposed highway work will be held in the fall, probably in October, and that a 90-day public response period will be in effect following that hearing.

Construction could proceed after that period.

"An environmental impact study on the proposed project will be launched soon. Improvements for Highway 60 are definitely in the planning stage now, although no exact route has been selected," said Carr.

He added that maps of proposed routes are available from the Chamber office.

ment of the Reagan administration, pushed producer's prices for finished goods into solid double-digit territory in February.

Food prices, which were expected to rise in February, actually eased in most categories," Ratajczak said.

However, the winter freeze caused a dramatic increase in prices for fresh fruits which nullified the more favorable price performance in the meat and poultry areas," he said.

In Congress, meanwhile, the chairman of the House Budget Committee said Thursday that President Reagan has overlooked billions of dollars in waste, fraud and abuse which should be eliminated before valuable programs are destroyed.

Rep. James R. Jones, D-Okla., said his committee will move to cut at least $5 billion from the 1982 budget "by developing specific proposals to combat fraud, waste and abuse."

Reagan Dismantles Carter's Four-Year Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — It took President Reagan just six weeks to dismantle one of the hallmarks of Jimmy Carter's four-year foreign policy.

Without making any major speeches on the subject, the new administration sent clear signals to authoritarian regimes that it will not take a harsh view of transgressions of human rights — so long as the regimes are friendly to U.S. interests.

Item: The Reagan administration lifted the ban on Export-Import Bank financing of trade with Chile. Carter imposed the prohibition to protest Chile's lack of cooperation with the investigation of a terrorist attack on one of that country's former diplomats — an opponent of the Chilean junta — in the streets of Washington.

Item: The second foreign leader received by Reagan was Chun Doo-hwan, a South Korean military strongman then awaiting election as president of his nation after squelching the opposition.

Item: Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. has made clear that human rights will not be given high priority when policy is written. He says "international terrorism" is the ultimate violation of human rights and that is his target.

Item: The most-outspoken critic of the Carter human rights policy — Ernest Lefevre — is Reagan's choice to head the State Department's bureau of human rights and humanitarian affairs. Two years ago, Lefevre told a House subcommittee that the United States should have no laws establishing human rights standards for other nations to meet. Last Tuesday, Reagan was asked whether he agreed with this; he said he had never discussed the matter with his nominee.

Such items send clear messages to other nations. "It's fair to say that much of what a government will or won't do in the way of repression stems from the atmosphere they sense in Washington," says an official in the Washington office of one major human rights organization.

Reagan, in his lengthiest comments on the subject, said Tuesday that he believes human rights are "very much a part of our American idealism."

In 1979, however, the Board was "sunsetted" and the statute authorizing the distribution of the fund moneys was automatically repealed by virtue of the Sunset Act, explained Sam Clonts, executive director of the Texas Association of Counties.

Nevertheless, Clonts said, the Comptroller was still depositing more than $608,000 every month into the road

But, he said in an interview with Walter Cronkite of CBS News, the Carter administration "took countries that were pro-western, that were maybe authoritarian in government, but not totalitarian," and punished them because they did not meet all of our human rights standards." At the same time, he said, "we were claiming detente with countries where there are no human rights."

In the view of human rights activists, too, Carter's record was far from consistent. His frequent discussion of human rights sometimes was backed up by action cutting off military assistance. But at other times it amounted to little more than lip-service.

State Grant for Road Maintenance Restored

AUSTIN -- The State Legislature has approved a measure restoring a state grant program to county governments to aid in the construction and maintenance of county roads.

The program will give counties more than $24 million in fiscal year 1982.

The program, commonly known as the lateral road program, was abolished by the provisions of the Texas Sunset Act on Sept. 1, 1979, according to Garza County Judge Giles Dalby, president of the County Judges and Commissioners Association of Texas.

The reenactment of this program will significantly help dozens of Texas counties, which faced the possibility of local ad valorem tax increases without this program," Dalby said. The grant program will particularly benefit counties without an industrial or oil base, he added.

Dalby explained that since 1951, Texas tax statutes have directed the State Comptroller to credit the County and Road District Highway Fund in the state treasury with $7.3 million annually from motor fuels tax receipts. Another statute directed the Board of County and District Road Indebtedness to distribute moneys appropriated by the Legislature from this fund to every county in the state, he added.

In 1979, however, the Board was "sunsetted" and the statute authorizing the distribution of the fund moneys was automatically repealed by virtue of the Sunset Act, explained Sam Clonts, executive director of the Texas Association of Counties.

Nevertheless, Clonts said, the Comptroller was still depositing more than $608,000 every month into the road fund, even though no agency was authorized to distribute or spend the money.

The bill, Senate Bill 151, which cleared the House of Representatives on a final vote on February 26, was authored by Sen. Ray Farabee (D-Wichita Falls). It was carried in the House by Rep. W.S. "Bill" Healy (D-Paducah), dean of the House of Representatives. Gov. William P. Clements, Jr., had earlier designated the measure as emergency legislation.

Dalby said the legislation would correct the problem by designating the state treasurer as the agent to distribute moneys appropriated by the Legislature from the fund to aid county road programs.

The West Texas county judge also noted that the bill appropriates the money which had been credited to the fund since September 1979, together with its accumulated interest, long with the $7.3 million, representing the fiscal 1982 fund allocation, to the state treasurer for distribution to the counties in fiscal 1982. Some $24 million will be distributed.

Wheat Shipments To Iran Reported

NEW YORK (AP) — The United States has resumed wheat sales to Iran that were terminated after Americans were taken hostage in Tehran, according to ABC News.

ABC reported Tuesday that the U.S. Department of Agriculture inspected 25,000 tons of wheat at Pacific ports last week before its shipment to Iran.

Trade restrictive imposed by the Carter administration after the hostages were taken in November 1979 did not include an embargo on food shipments. But no food went to Iran because dockworkers refused to load cargo for shipment there while the captives remained in Iran.

Thomas W. Gleason, president of the International Longshoremen's Association in New York, said he knew nothing about the resumed wheat sales. "This is the first I hear of it," he said when reached for comment.

State Department spokesman David Passage said in Washington, "I don't know of any U.S. government sales of wheat, but I think there are some private sales of it."

Short Change Artists Circulating This Area

Short change artists are circulating in the Hereford area, according to police who said two quick change operators struck Hereford businesses yesterday.

Two black males attempted to short change both K-Bob's restaurant, 215 S. 25 Mile Ave., and Hobo's Fried Chicken, 811 N. Main, Thursday evening.

Neither business lost any cash in the transactions, police said.

The Senior Citizens Center reported that a back window was shot out of a van with what appeared to be a BB gun.

Police issued 4 traffic citations, arrested two people for driving while intoxicated and answered two miscellaneous calls.

Federal Money May Be Key to Public Safety

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Attorney General Griffin Bell, co-chairman of a new government task force on violent crime, says the big question in helping local police make America safer is whether to use federal money, not manpower.

"The great issue is whether there is going to be a federal grant program, like revenue sharing, for cities and even states," Bell said in a telephone interview from his Atlanta law office. "A lot of interest groups will want that."

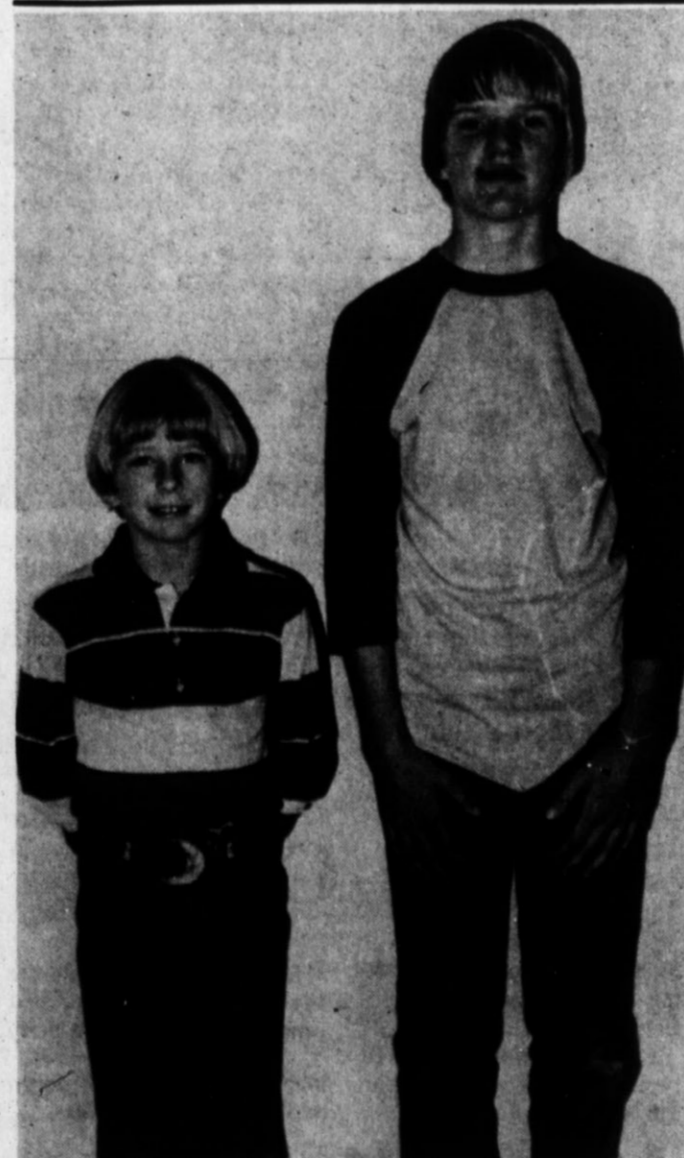

Attorney General William French Smith, citing an "alarming and continuous" increase in violent crime, created the special task force Thursday. Bell, a Democrat, and Illinois Gov. James Thompson, a Republican, were named co-chairmen.

"There has been no comprehensive examination of the federal role in this area for many years," Smith told a news conference. "The climate of crime today makes such a review necessary."

Bell, who was former President Carter's first attorney general, said the eight-man task force of academic and state and local criminal justice officials will decide first if there should even be an expanded federal role in fighting violent crime, given the traditional local responsibility for street crime.

"I doubt there would be an effort to expand the federal jurisdiction over additional crimes," Bell said. "The big question then is money. The state governments have money, but many urban areas are almost overwhelmed with crime and are having a tough time."

Ann Landers

Holiday Guests

DEAR ANN LANDERS: How I hope you will publish this letter! I have not been able to calm down since Christmas. I will try to be brief and come to the point. I worked like a dog to prepare the traditional holiday dinner for my sisters and brothers and their respective spouses, as well as my own immediate family. Everything was made with special care. I prepared two desserts.

What I want to know is this, Ann Landers: How can a whole bunch of relatives sit down at a table and eat a delicious holiday meal and not one of the guests say a single word about anything that is served?

Also, what is the matter with these people that not one of them got off their rumps to help me clear the dinner dishes for the dessert and coffee? And, how can people show up for a holiday feast and not bring a bottle of wine or a little box of candy?

I do not want to separate myself from my family, although I think they are a bunch of clods. If I tell them how I feel it would certainly cause hard feelings. Yet I would like them to know how their slob-like behavior affects a hostess. So I am asking you to print my letter and I hope they will see themselves - Can't Get Over This Crowd

DEAR CAN'T GET OVER: Part of the problem is you, my dear. If you want help in clearing the table, you can and SHOULD suggest that someone - ANYONE - give you a hand.

As for bringing a small gift or making some comment about the food - it's pathetic that they are so ignorant. You shouldn't be angry. They don't know any better. And that's sad.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm writing about my only child - a charming, red-headed, freckle-faced 10-year-old boy. His father travels a great deal, so I must do all the disciplining. I could manage quite well if it weren't for my mother, who lives two blocks away. She adores this child, and whenever I punish him he

Economic Advice Given At Homemakers' Meeting

A four-member panel presented economic advice to members of the Hereford Young Homemakers during their regular meeting recently at the Pioneer Natural Gas Flame Room.

Panel members included Joy Gibson, Anne Rayburn, Steve Gilbert and Greg Black.

Ms. Gibson, consumer information specialist for Pioneer Natural Gas, provided information to help young homemakers find ways to save time and energy in their homes. She also presented a booklet which she has compiled in an effort to aid home economists.

Getting the most of one's clothes was the topic discussed by Anne Rayburn, local homemaker. She included what could be expected in the new spring and summer fashions.

Steve Gilbert, vice president of operations for the Hereford State Bank, emphasized the importance of a budget when he spoke to the group. Tips on better money management was also presented.

Greg Black, Deaf Smith County Co-op area manager, informed the club members about the home energy audit program the co-op provides for the area.

During a business session of the meeting, members voted to have a skating party for their children during the week of March 18. Preliminary plans were made for the April 25 Young Homemakers and Young Farmer Banquet.

Refreshments were served by Karen Smith and Linda Goss.

Additional members present at the meeting were Gail Blain, Cara Dearing, Ann Kemp, Brenda Campbell, Marilyn Culpepper, Connie Gilbert, Shirley Carlson, Cathy Haney, Barbara Durham and Mrs. M.T. Burelsmith, advisor.

Six-Year Fight Nearing Success

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Bellevue, Wash., couple may be nearing success in their six-year fight to win access to secret information the government says could help tax cheaters avoid getting caught.

A member of the nation's highest court cleared the way Tuesday for Susan and Philip Long to obtain from the Federal Bureau of Economic Analysis 58 computer tapes first sought under the Freedom of Information Act in 1975.

Supreme Court Justice William H. Rehnquist refused to postpone the effect of a court order requiring the surrender of the information to the Longs.

A Justice Department lawyer said the government was considering whether to ask another member of the court for emergency help, but that such a determination likely would not be made until this afternoon.

Stephen Strong, the Longs' lawyer, said hours after Rehnquist's action that a demand for the tapes would be made sometime today.

He said Mrs. Long, a social scientist now doing research at Princeton University in New Jersey, might personally appear at the Bureau of Economic Analysis to collect the computer tapes.

She has said she wants the tapes to aid in her research. Her husband has said he would like to open a center to make the information on the tapes available to the public.

The tapes contain information concerning the Internal Revenue Service's Taxpayer Compliance Measurement Program.

A federal trial judge last year ruled that the Longs are entitled to the information, and the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals refused to let the government withhold it pending review of that ruling.

The computer program in question is a statistical investigatory technique devised by the IRS to measure compliance with federal tax laws. About 2 million tax returns are subjected to IRS audits each year, and the program being sought by the Longs is designed to select the returns of persons who are most likely to have understated their tax liability.

In unsuccessfully seeking help from Rehnquist, government lawyers contended that public release of the tapes could allow "persons knowledgeable in statistical procedures and methods" to use the information "to reduce the likelihood that their returns would be audited by shifting income or deductions to other categories."

House Okays Prison Plan

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Gov. Bill Clements' plan for a quick, but costly, solution to prison overcrowding has made it through the House Appropriations Committee on its way to the House floor.

Rep. Rodney Tow, D-Woodlands, is carrying Clements' request for a $35 million emergency appropriation to build dormitory housing for 2,880 inmates at existing prisons. He told the committee Clements' plan would help get 2,200 inmates off the floors.

U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice, citing overcrowding as a major problem, has ruled Texas prisons violate inmates' rights.

"This will help us get our inmates off the floor. This is going to be one of the requirements Judge Justice will put on us," Tow said.

The committee, in a 13-1 vote, sent the measure to the full House.

Tow warned that the governor's construction plan by itself would not end overcrowding. He said it must be part of a plan that includes a proposed work-furlough program and continued construction.

The work-furlough program, backed by Texas Department of Corrections Director W.J. Estelle, has been questioned by Clements. Estelle wants a 30-month program that would allow 2,500 inmates to live and work outside prison walls.

Rep. Bill Hollowell, D-Grand Saline, made it clear he opposes work-furlough, and said Estelle does not have the authority to start such a program. Tow said Estelle does have the power.

"That's Estelle's opinion,"

Hollowell snapped. "I don't think he has it or should have it."

He said Estelle wants to be "czar" of the prisons, deciding who should be released. Hollowell said that is up to the Board of Pardons and Paroles and the governor.

Veteran legislator Bill Heatly, D-Paducah, said a "never been used" statute gives Estelle the right to start a work-furlough program.

Tow's bill does not specify where the metal dormitories would be built. Clements, in announcing the plan, named the Coffield and Beto Units in Anderson County, and the Ellis Unit in Walker County.

Clements wants the state to pay a contractor to build the dormitories, instead of using inmate labor as is customary in TDC.

The only negative vote was cast by Rep. Jim Rudd, D-Brownfield, who said overcrowding is not a new problem.

"You want to buy our way out," he told Tow.

"What we are buying is a hurry-up labor project," he said to Eugene Shepherd, TDC assistant director for construction.

"Amen," said Shepherd.

Clements vetoed prison construction money for this year, saying it was unlikely TDC building projects would move fast enough to need the funds.

Shepherd said the overcrowding might have been remedied had not local opposition stymied TDC's search for a new prison site.

Walter Cronkite Leaves CBS after 2 Decades

NEW YORK (AP) — He told you about men on the moon, about the murder of a president, about the violent birth of civil rights. He told you about rice paddy warfare, campus bloodshed and landslide elections.

Now he is telling you goodbye.

Walter Cronkite, "Uncle Walter" and "the most trusted man in America" to a generation that scarcely remembers when he was not there to wrap up the day with "And that's the way it is," signs off the CBS "Evening News" Friday March 6 after 49 years behind the anchor desk.

The following Monday, Cronkite's place will be filled by Dan Rather, a former CBS News White House correspondent and co-editor of the network's "60 Minutes" news magazine since October 1975.

"I don't doubt that I am going to miss this a great, great deal," said Cronkite, who took over the "Evening News" April 16, 1962, when the program was 15 minutes long.

"And I'm not sure that in six months I won't say, 'I made a big mistake.' I don't think that will happen."

It would be difficult to overstate the significance of Cronkite's departure from the "Evening News" to both CBS and journalism.

The "Evening News," delivered by Cronkite in what is usually described as an "avuncular" manner — that is, like an uncle — reached an average of 18.5 million viewers each night in the last three months of 1980.

Cronkite's boss at CBS for nearly 40 years, William S. Paley, once said, "Walter is so objective, so careful and fair in his presentation of the news, that he has been characterized — if not immortalized — with the oft-heard line, 'If Walter says it, it must be so.'"

"I think that only recently, maybe, have I gotten any real sense of the fact that a lot of people do depend on the 'CBS Evening News,' and me," Cronkite, who is 64, said in an interview in his book-lined office, now cluttered with boxes and files.

"I've never felt any sense of authority, though I am aware that anything said on television carries a weight far beyond its real meaning. Because of that, I've always tried to be fair in the selection of items to be used on the news, and in the way they are presented.

"I think anybody who walks around feeling he or she is an authority figure, well, they would be impossible to live with," Cronkite added with a chuckle.

Last year, when he was mentioned as a possible running mate for John Anderson, the independent candidate for president, Cronkite was quick to wave off the notion.

"I think it would be an awful, awful mistake," he said on reflection, "for anyone to move into public office out of the anchor's job."

"From then on, every anchorman's motives would be suspect — even though we know ourselves that most of us would never consider such a thing, and never let politics cloud our judgments."

Cronkite, who is not retiring, will maintain a full schedule for at least the next three months. His primary responsibility will be the production of a dozen editions of "Universe," CBS News' new science series, which he will anchor.

He has also agreed to take on other assignments and plans to fly almost at once to the Soviet Union to begin work on an upcoming special report on U.S. military preparedness.

"Beyond that, I intend to do a lot of cruising in my sailboat," he said. "I still harbor the dream of sailing around the world, but that really means total retirement, and I don't think I'm ready for that yet."

Walter Leland Cronkite was born Nov. 4, 1916, in St. Joseph, Mo., a descendant of early Dutch settlers who lived in upper New York state until the late 19th century. His family moved to Kansas City shortly after he was born. When he was 10, they resettled in Houston.

While still a very young man, he considered a career as a mining engineer. He abandoned that objective while attending the University of Texas, then left school in his third year for a job with the Houston Post. In 1937, he returned to Kansas City to work for United Press.

Cronkite made his name as a UP correspondent during World War II, and in 1946 was assigned to the Moscow bureau. He left UP in 1948 and returned to Kansas City a second time to create a new job — as correspondent for a small group of radio stations.

When war broke out in Korea, he was lured to CBS News by an acquaintance from his war days in London — Edward R. Murrow.

"My philosophies haven't changed much over the years," Cronkite said, his feet propped on his desk. "The practice of journalism is better today than it was 50 years ago. The average newspaper person is more responsible today, better educated, and the newspapers themselves — though there are far too few of them, I regret to say — are more responsible."

"On the other hand," Cronkite said, "I worry about the truncated nature of much of broadcast journalism, that people believe they are getting all that they need to know from television."

"That has led to a whole class of people, many of whom are capable only of doing the first paragraph of a story. I am afraid now that many are not well enough trained to cover a story in depth.

"I've always felt," he continued, "if you don't know what belongs in the 34th paragraph of a story, how can you know what belongs in the lead?"

Cronkite's colleagues often said the CBS anchorman maintained the attitude of a print reporter through his career.

"Coming to radio and then television was not a technical problem for me," he remembered. "I adjusted fairly quickly to that."

"I did have a problem with my immediate superiors, my editors. I would dip way down into a wire story for what I felt was the lead. I had plenty of experience at UP rewriting one story for the next news cycle, and often that was where you found your second-day lead."

"They would say, 'Where did you get that idea?' and I would point to the 25th paragraph of a wire story, or wherever, and they would say, 'Well, the wires say this is the lead, so we'll go with that.' Often, what I had chosen would be the lead in the next morning's papers."

Cronkite established himself in areas other than what he would call the "headline" service of the "Evening News." He anchored CBS coverage of the space program, and was a familiar figure at political conventions every four years, beginning in 1952.

When he signed off after the Democratic National Convention in August 1980, he had logged more than 450 hours of CBS coverage in 28 years.

Through it all, Cronkite, married since 1940 to the former Mary Elizabeth Maxwell — Betsy — and the father of three children, has remained a private person away from the CBS newsroom.

"I do not have the gift of openness," he told interviewer Oriana Fallaci in 1970. "I am overcautious to the point that people think of me as kind of remote ... of being too slow at friendship. Which certainly is not intentional."

Former Superintendent Named Citizen of Year

Roy Hartman, former superintendent of the Hereford Independent School District, was named Citizen of the Year by the Southwest Daily Times of Liberal, Kansas.

Hartman served as superintendent at Hereford from August 1969 until July 31, 1976 when he moved to Grapevine, Texas as superintendent. He then moved to Liberal where he has served as USD 480 superintendent for three years.

The Liberal newspaper cited Hartman for his leadership in accomplishing the goal of a successful vote for a new high school and in updating curriculum for the school system.

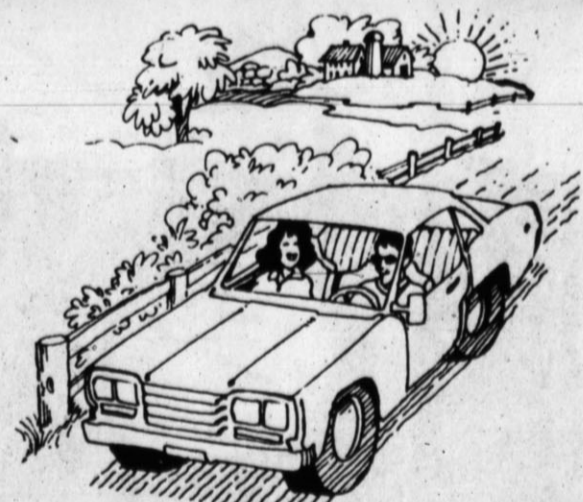

He and his wife, Maxine, who is employed with the Special Education Cooperative, have two daughters, Angela, a junior at West Texas State University and Genell, a freshman at West Junior High.

To Monterey Plainmen

Hereford Loses Season Finale

By MAURI MONTGOMERY
Brand Sports Editor
PLAINVIEW
Beforehand, district 4-5A basketball coaches unanimously agreed anything could happen in the conference tournament here in the first round of play Thursday night.

Even Hereford, the league's lone underdog with a 1-7 regular season mark, seemingly couldn't be discounted following a win over Lubbock Monterey a week ago (that win destroyed MHS's hopes for the regular season title in lieu of giving Plainview hosting honors of the tournament ordeal).

But everything that could conceivably happen in the rags to riches affair, didn't, for Hereford. The Whitefaces, undermined by a 12-33 performance at the free-throw line, dropped its final clash of the year to Monterey 61-50.

The loss rounded out Hereford's season mark to 3-28 while the win, besides silencing Hereford in the conference feud, pushed Monterey's ledger to 25-8 on the year and advanced the Lubbock squad further into the conference tourney.

The Plainmen will now pair off against the league's other semi-finalist, Lubbock High, today following the Westerner's 58-46 victory over Lubbock Coronado in the second contest of the night.

Should either Monterey or Lubbock attain a win over round-robin champ Plainview, the two teams will then meet in a final playoff Saturday at 8 p.m. to determine who will meet 3-5A champion Pampa in bi-district competition.

But for HHS coach Dan Gillison, further tournament proceedings were all irrelevant. After watching his crew stun Monterey a week ago, (a win made possible through the efforts of seniors alone — five of those six saw their last moments on high school cage floor Thursday) he had had his faint hopes.

"We shot 12-33 from the line tonight?" he asked almost to himself as he reviewed the official score book. "Man! that was all the difference in the world. We could have won this game." The Whitefaces, indeed, were never out of calling distance of Monterey until the Plainmen out-drilled them 16-10 in the third quarter.

MHS post Gary Hodges, who had been held to five points in the first half before adding 15 in the two remaining quarters — seven of those coming on free-throws in the fourth quarter) gunned in eight total points during the third period en route to Lubbock's leading scorer with 20. Both teams wound down to a 10-10 stalemate (the same score during the two club's last meeting) at the end of the first quarter and battled back-and-forth to a 24-27 halftime score.

But the crucial determinant came from the contrasting performances recorded at the charity line.

Monterey hit 9-12 in the first half to Hereford's 6-12, before crumbling Hereford's 6-21 attempts with a 14-18 showing in the final segment.

Things weren't always so bleak for Hereford however. Bleakness arrived just at certain points.

With the score deadlocked at 29-29 with 4:08 left in the third quarter, MHS's Hodges and Ian Hyslop coupled (Hodges clipped of six points while Hyslop — Monterey's second leading scorer with 19 — netted two) to outscore Hereford 10-4.

Again, Hereford would narrow the gap. This time it was cut to a five-point 50-45 deficit with 2:01 remaining in the tilt, as HHS seniors Norman Hill and Gary Parman (both led all other scorers with 12 points apiece) along with Alan Wartes and Chris Schumacher (added up 16 total points between them) hit their targets.

But Monterey unleashed 11 more points (11-12 from the charity line) to regain the lead and eventually cap the first round tournament victory.

Longhorns Try For Tourney Win

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The late-blooming Texas Longhorns take on the regular season champion Arkansas Razorbacks and the Cinderella TCU Horned Frogs tangle with the Houston Cougars tonight in the semi-final round of the Southwest Conference Basketball Tournament.

The Longhorns, spurred by 21 points and 13 rebounds from towering LaSalle Thompson, rallied in the second half to down Texas Tech, 66-58, and TCU's Jeff Baker came off the bench to score 18 points to lift the Frogs to a 56-47 triumph over Baylor in tournament play Thursday night.

TCU meets Houston at 7:05 p.m. and the Texas-Arkansas tilt will begin 30 minutes after the first game is completed. SWC officials announced 2,500 tickets were still available for the two games and the 8:05 p.m. finals Saturday in the 16,000-seat HemisFair Arena.

Tonight's action matches teams that split during the regular season. Texas downed Arkansas 62-60 in Fayetteville and the Razorbacks won 54-48 in Austin, while the Cougars beat TCU 68-59 in Houston and the Horned Frogs won 78-77 in four overtimes at Fort Worth.

Underdog TCU's victory in the first game Thursday upped its record to 11-17, the most wins for the Frogs since 1972, in the wackiest SWC basketball race in memory.

The surprise Frogs knocked the pre-season favorite Texas Aggies out of the playoffs Monday night, 62-60, on a 38-foot shot by Darrell Browder at the final buzzer.

The tenacious Horned Frogs smothered Baylor with a zone defense behind the scoring of Baker, who got 14 of his 18 points in the second half despite a 3-inch gash in his head, and 16 points from Browder.

TCU, shooting 56 percent from the field, ran up a 28-23 halftime lead over the cold-shooting Bears, who tied Houston for second place in the regular SWC season standings. Baylor ended the season with a 15-12 record.

"Houston is really tough," TCU coach Jim Killingsworth said of tonight's contest. "We split with them and played to four overtimes at our place. If we have four overtimes this time, I told (Houston coach) Guy Lewis instead of shooting free throws we ought to have a spelling bee."

Texas coach Abe Lemmons was relieved that his team came back on Tech, because the Red Raiders led 48-41 midway through the second half until Thompson went to work and scored 8 straight points.

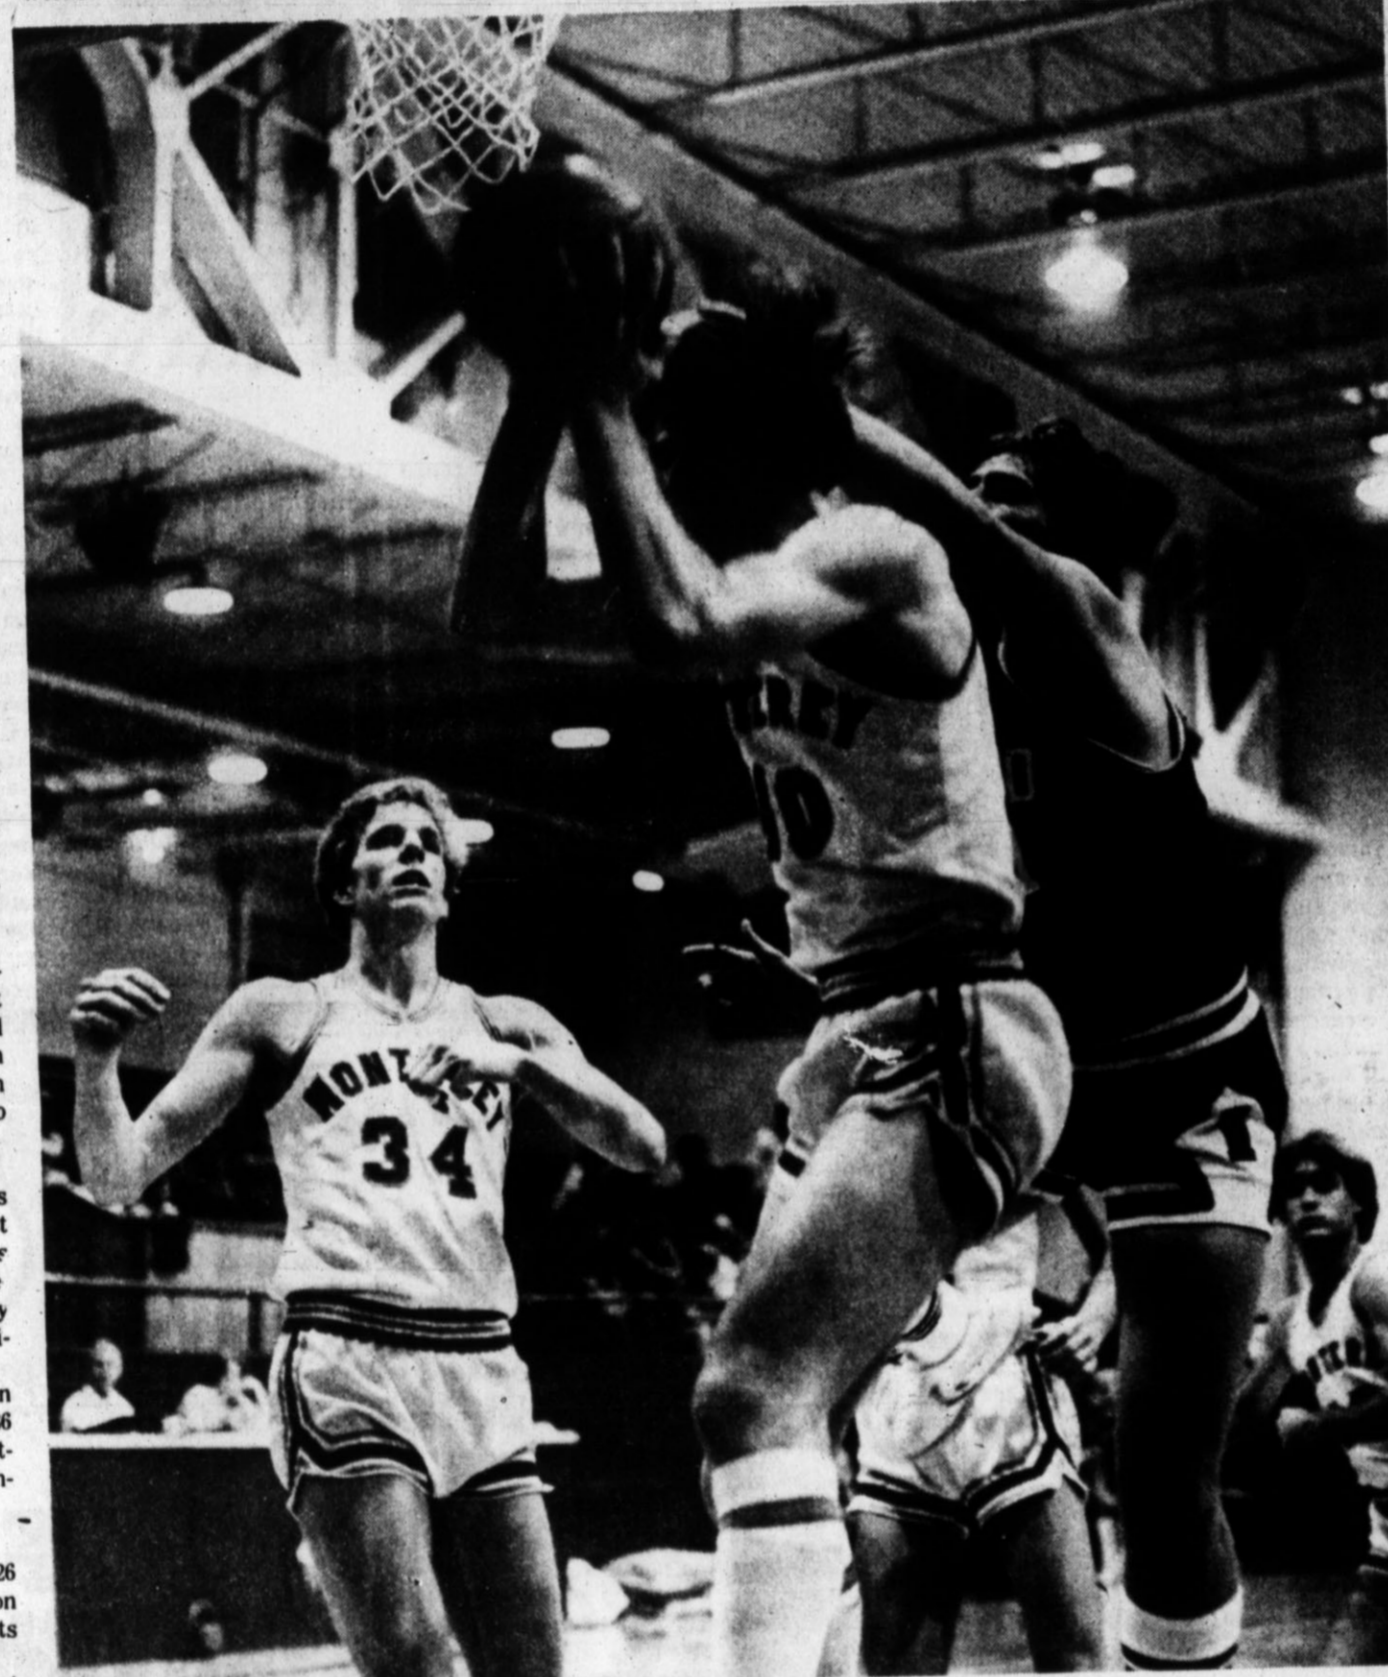

"I got to go home and unpack," Lemmons said. "It looked like we were winning. Then we were losing and might not get back. It could have gone either way," Lemmons said.

The Longhorns, now 14-14 for the year, outshot the Raiders from the field 54 percent to 50 percent and outrebounced them 27-24. Texas turnovers helped keep Tech in the game as the Longhorns miscued nine times to five for the Raiders, who ended the season at 15-13.

"We picked up where we left against the Aggies Monday night," Killingsworth said. "We played very intelligently and we kept our patience... We did a good job defensively."

Despite TCU's late-season heroics, Baker said he was not surprised at his team's success.

"I'm not surprised. Everybody says it's a miracle, but I don't think it's a miracle," said the 6-4 guard who comes off the bench to spark his team. "I was on a small team in high school and we won. I just think the team that wants it the most is going to get it. If we go out and play team ball and work the defense together, our chances are good (against Houston)."

PICK OFF -- HHS post John Josseland reaches over Monterey's Gary Hodges for a rebound in Thursday night's 1st round of the 4-5A district cage tournament in Plainview. Hereford was eliminated from the affair after suffering a 61-50 loss.

Milwaukee Bucks Take Division

The Milwaukee Bucks have conquered the Central Division as expected, and now they hope to vanquish the powerful Philadelphia 76ers and Boston Celtics.

Milwaukee's 107-91 National Basketball Association victory over the Atlanta Hawks Thursday night clinched the division title for the Bucks and assured them of a first-round bye in the playoffs.

Coach Don Nelson said his team's next goal is to finish with the best record in the Eastern Conference, a tall order since Boston and Philadelphia are both 54-15 and the Bucks are 3 1/2 games behind at 50-18. Teams with better records get the home-court advantage in the playoffs.

In other games Thursday night, Kansas City trimmed Portland 106-100, New York outlasted Detroit 104-101 and Phoenix tripped Utah 112-100.

Atlanta is one of the teams the Bucks believe they shouldn't lose to, especially at home, but the Hawks made it interesting after Milwaukee led 81-62 with 7:10 left in the third quarter.

The Bucks managed only two more field goals during the rest of the period, while 5-foot-8 Charlie Criss led a 19-4 rally that closed the deficit to 85-81 with 10:25 in the game.

But two baskets by Harvey Catchings regained momentum for Milwaukee, and a jump shot and layup by Junior Bridgeman gave the Bucks a 99-87 lead with 4:24 to play.

Atlanta tried to double-team Bob Lanier inside. But the Bucks' center still scored 22 points and passed for seven assists, many of them on passes to Quinn Buckner, who led all scorers with 24 points.

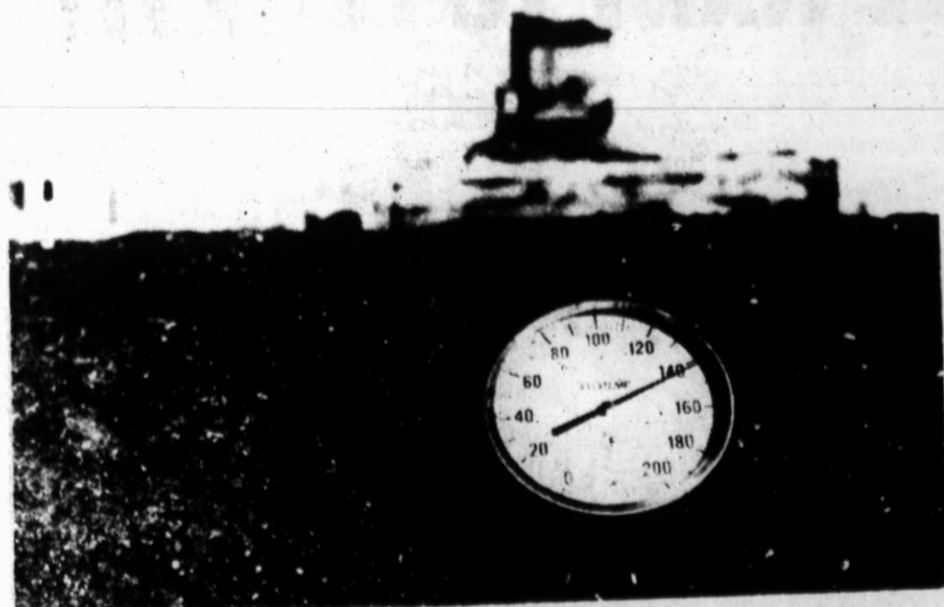

Kings 106, Blazers 100
Otis Birdsong, who has scored 83 points in the last three games, scored 26 points to lead Kansas City to its second victory in as many nights and keep them in position for a playoff berth.

Portland is 36-34, Golden State 34-34, Kansas City 35-36 and Houston 33-36 in the battle for three Western Conference postseason spots.

Suns 112, Jazz 100
Truck Robinson scored 26 points and Dennis Johnson added 17 to lead Phoenix to its victory over Utah.

The Suns led 62-52 at halftime and salted the game away in the third quarter.

WHAT'S COOKING?

This is a fermenting compost pile actually cooking in its own juices. The microbes are breaking down the raw materials and building the elements into new compounds, which will later enhance the soil fortunate enough to receive it. Weed seeds and disease organisms are eliminated during the cooking process and odors are consumed into the fertilizers produced.

When you buy insurance, there are two types of agents you can deal with. A one-company agent who works directly for one insurance company. Or an Independent Insurance Agent who represents several companies. What's the difference? There are quite a few. First of all, if you buy insurance from a one-company agent, he's probably not the person you talk to when you have a claim. Most one-company agents have nothing to do with the claims process. If you have a claim, it's between you and the adjuster.

Hamilton Wins World Title

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Scott Hamilton didn't ask for much, just "5.9s and a standing ovation," after his free-skate program at the World Figure Skating Championship.

He got both the high marks, out of a possible score of 6, and a jubilant response from the crowd Thursday night while winning the world title.

Hamilton exuberantly skating his way past his friend, companion and rival, David Santee, who placed second. Igor Bobrin, of the Soviet Union, was third. Robert Wagenhoffer, of Fontana, Calif., was 10th.

The crowd was excellent," said Hamilton, 22, of Bowling Green, Ohio, who loves to play to the audience and always draws tremendous applause.

"When I hit the last bit of the program, they were already coming up. And that's what they did at the Olympics last year. It's the only two times that's happened to me," he said.

Winning the world championship was "like a dream," and was a prize he intended to savor — especially since the joy of his national victory over Santee last month in San Diego was cut short when his father suffered a stroke during that competition.

Although Santee, who was first overall before the five-minute free-skate, said he was disappointed at not winning the gold medal, the Civic Center crowd was none the wiser.

As he hopped up on the second-place platform next to Scott, they slapped the palms of their hands together over their heads in a "high five" sign, hugged each other and talked and laughed right up until the moment they were awarded their gold and silver prizes and sang the national anthem.

"If I was going to lose, I'm glad to lose to Scotty, because not only is he a great skater, he is also a great person," Santee said later.

Membership fees are $18.50 per year for a single person and $25 for an entire family.

In the event of poor weather Sunday, shooters may verify if the practice session will be held by calling 364-7081.

Some of the poor relatives in the Southeastern Conference are finally getting rich, thanks to inspired play in the post-season basketball playoffs.

Such teams as Vanderbilt, Mississippi and Georgia, who spent the season idling at the middle or bottom of the standings, won quarterfinal games Thursday night in one of the most upset-studded SEC playoffs in history.

Vanderbilt pulled off the biggest surprise, beating seventh-ranked Kentucky 60-55 in the tournament at Birmingham, Ala., as freshman Al McKinney hit seven straight free throws in the final 2½ minutes. Mississippi knocked off No. 10 Tennessee 81-71 as Cecil Dowell scored 22 points, and Georgia, which had lost twice by big margins to Alabama during the regular season, upset the Crimson Tide 88-80 behind Dominique Wilkins' 31 points.

Only third-ranked Louisiana State among the favorites got away unscathed, beating Florida 85-73 as Leonard Mitchell came up with 27 points in the other quarterfinal.

Upsets also marked play in the Big East and Southwest conferences as a variety of college basketball playoffs continued from coast to coast Thursday night.

Regular-season champion Boston College was beaten 67-65 by last-place Providence in the first round of the Big East playoffs as Ricky Turner delivered a final-second shot for the Friars.

In other matches Thursday night, Eric Floyd scored 19 points to lead Georgetown to a 58-52 decision over Seton Hall; Aaron Howard scored all of his 15 points in the second half to lead Villanova past Connecticut 65-64, and Erich Santifer and Leo Rautins each scored 18 points to lead Syracuse past St. John's 71-66.

In the SWC quarter-finals, Texas Christian stunned Baylor 56-47 as Jeff Baker came off the bench to score 18 points. LaSalle Thompson scored 21 points and collected 13 rebounds to pace Texas over Texas Tech 66-58.

In the SWC quarter-finals, Texas Christian stunned Baylor 56-47 as Jeff Baker came off the bench to score 18 points. LaSalle Thompson scored 21 points and collected 13 rebounds to pace Texas over Texas Tech 66-58.

All of the favorites won in the opening round of the Atlantic Coast Conference playoffs, and No. 4 Virginia led the way with a 76-47 romp over Georgia Tech. Ralph Sampson scored 20 points for the Cavaliers, despite drawing two technical fouls. The contest was a virtual shoving match that has become a hallmark of Virginia-Georgia Tech games.

In other ACC games, Frank Johnson scored 32 points to lead 11th-ranked Wake Forest over Clemson 80-71; Sam Perkins ignited a nine-point run midway through the second half to lead No. 12 North Carolina past North Carolina State 69-54, and Greg Manning's free throw broke a tie with four seconds left as 20th-ranked Maryland defeated Duke 56-53.

In first-round play of the Metro Conference tourney, Dale Solomon scored 25 points as Virginia Tech beat Memphis State 72-66; Kevin Gaffney hit a jumper with 13 seconds left to lift Cincinnati over Tulane 67-66, and Mickey Dillard's 23 points triggered Florida State past St. Louis 84-77.

Antoine Carr scored 25 points to pace Wichita State to an 88-74 decision over Drake, and Daryl Stovall hit two free throws with one second remaining to provide Creighton with a 66-64 triumph over Tulsa in the semifinals of the Missouri Valley Conference playoffs.

In first-round action of the Pacific Coast Athletic Association, Craig Dykema scored 16 points and grabbed nine rebounds in Long Beach State's 83-77 victory over the University of Pacific, and Doug Murrey had 15 to lead San Jose State over Fullerton State 63-54.

In the opening round of the ECAC Metro Division tournament, Earl Fuller scored 14 of Long Island University's final 24 points to lead the Blackbirds to an 85-78 triumph over Fordham, and Iona stopped St. Peter's of

New Jersey 41-38 with the help of Gary Springer's tie-breaking jumper with three seconds left. In the ECAC North, Eric Jefferson and Pete Harris each scored 18 points as Northeastern beat Vermont 76-69 in overtime, and Tom Seaman scored 21 points to pace Holy Cross over Maine 63-54.

Oklahoma City beat Loyola of Chicago 73-71 behind Eric Watkins' 21 points and Xavier of Cincinnati stopped Evansville 72-69 as Anthony Hicks had 26 in the semifinals of the Midwestern City Conference tourney. Grambling whipped Texas Southern 68-66, Alcorn stopped Prairie View 90-79 and Jackson State beat Mississippi Valley 83-70 in the Southwestern Athletic Conference playoffs. Northeast Louisiana stopped Northwestern Louisiana 79-73 and Centenary defeated Samford 76-69 in the quarterfinals of the Trans America Conference playoffs.

Nicklaus Holds Lead In First Round Play

LAUDERHILL, Fla. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus came into the start of his Florida swing with the idea, as he put it, "the time has come to start putting some numbers on the board."

The game's greatest player did so at the earliest opportunity.

He shot a 7-under-par 65 in gusty winds Thursday to grab a share of the first round lead in the $300,000 American Motors Inverrary Golf Classic. He was tied with Larry Ziegler, a 15-year veteran who scored the last of his three PGA Tour victories five years ago.

"Obviously, I played very well," said Nicklaus, who was opening a string of three consecutive tournament appearances as the final preparations for his annual assault on the Masters in Augusta, Ga.

Nicklaus, holder of a record 17 major professional titles, broke the only real slump of his legendary career with record-setting victories last year in the U.S. Open and the PGA. He took a long break from competition and was not overly concerned that he'd failed to score a finish in the top 10 in any West Coast tournament this year.

Nazareth Cousins Lead Team Toward Championship

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — It's a family affair at the girls' state high school basketball tournament as many of the teams — winners and losers — count on twins, sisters or cousins.

In Class 4A semi-final play Thursday, Bay City rode the Smith sisters 43 points to a 71-51 over Dallas Madison. The Lady Cats will face Canyon, a 64-39 winner over Magnolia, in Saturday's final.

In Class A competition, Nazareth, a Panhandle basketball machine churning towards an unprecedented fifth straight title, used 38 points from the Gerber cousins and 26 from the Birkenfeld cousins to double Larue La Poynor, 70-35.

Nazareth will meet Colmesneil in Saturday's Class A final. Colmesneil, led by 25 points from the three McNeal sisters, beat Weatherford Brock, 55-51. Brock's Phillips twins combined for 33 in the loss.

The 3A final will feature Abernathy, a 56-52 overtime winner over Brownsboro, against Sweeny, a 47-45 victor over Kountze.

Bay City's 4A semi-final win over Dallas Madison was keyed by Annette and Audrey Smith. Annette, a smooth-moving senior 5-11 post, popped for 27 points and gathered 12 rebounds. Sister Audrey, a 5-7 junior guard, added 16 points and some effective ball-handling.

Madison was led by Danielle Wright's 24 points.

Canyon, a tournament rarity with no two players with the same last name, used a well-drilled offense to put Magnolia away early. Canyon rann off 14 points after Magnolia, from Southeast Texas, hit the opening bucket. The victorious Eagles were led by senior post Teri Mayfield's 20 points and 18 rebounds.

The Nazareth machine ran over the overmatched Flyerettes from Larue La Poynor. Cousins Lori and Sharon Gerber combined for 38, backed by 26 from cousins Roxanne, Sharon and Karen Birkenfeld.

The powerful Swiftettes, 34-2 on the year, also have four Hoelting cousins on the squad.

Colmesneil's win over Weatherford Brock prevented Brock from getting a third straight shot at Nazareth in the final. The three McNeal sisters — Leisa and twins Janette and Janice — hit for 25 points.

Brock's Phillips twins — Patti and Paula — combined for 33 in the loss.

In the first 3A semi-final, Abernathy's Lady Lopes erased a seven-point Brownsboro lead in the last 1½ minutes to send the game into overtime. The Lady Lopes, paced by Ramona Irlbeck's 24 points, outscored Brownsboro 8-4 in the extra period to take the 56-52 win.

Brownsboro's Cofers — Danita, Paulette and Ann — combined for 22 points.

Sweeny used a late basket by Jill Burttschell to take the 47-45 win over Kountze. Burttschell, who had only four points, muscled in an inside shot with 1:50 remaining. Sweeny used a spread offense to kill the clock after Kountze missed a shot.

Nancy Jones, a 5-6 senior guard, led the winners with 20. Sophomore post Tracy Turner led Kountze with 15.

FAITH REMINDS GOOD CITIZENS TO OBEY THE LAW

ince religion teaches us to respect the rights and property of others, the good citizens of our free society will gladly obey the laws of the land, which were established to ensure the observance of those very tenets. We are well aware that these laws are working to protect our freedom, not to curtail it; and if it should ever become necessary to change or abolish a law, we can avail ourselves of the legal procedure that has been provided for the purpose. However, this is a rare occurrence, because most of our laws are in accordance with the basic rules of human conduct, as set forth in the Bible and taught by every Church denomination. By attending your own, you will learn the background for the fine system of laws to which you owe your freedom.

The law is the last result of human wisdom acting upon human experience for the benefit of the public.

—Samuel Johnson
