5,000 Join In Celebration Of Centennial Day Friday

Event Is Most Successful Of Local Affairs

OLD SETTLERS HONORED IN COLORFUL FETE; ALL PLEASED

The Hereford area celebrated Centennial and Old Settlers Day in a big way here last Friday. About 5,000 persons took part in the mammoth affair, proclaimed the largest and most colorful celebration in Hereford's history. From 10 o'clock in the morning until midnight they enjoyed the attractions prepared for their entertainment and revelled and danced after the other events had closed. Every event either honored old settlers directly or commemorated the early days in which they started this section on the road of development.

Opening Program. The program started at 10 o'clock with a downtown concert and program at the intersection of Third and Main Streets. County Judge Mal Stewart acted as master of ceremonies. Rev. J. C. Thorns gave the invocation, and Superintendent C. H. Dillehay welcomed the visitors. The program also included a concert by the high school band, singing by the lyric chorus and junior high school chorus and music by the Miller Trio.

Rites Held Here Sunday for Mrs. A. C. Hawks, 24

Funeral rites were held at the First Methodist church Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock for Mrs. Agnes Wanda Hawks, 24, who passed away Friday night at the Deaf Smith county hospital following an illness of seven days. She was a resident of Castro county. The services were conducted by Rev. T. C. Willett, pastor of the First Methodist church. Interment in West Park Cemetery. Mrs. Hawks was born on June 22, 1911, at Oklahoma. She removed to Castro county in 1928, the day following her marriage to Aldon C. Hawks, on August 21, 1928, at Deaver City, Oklahoma. She was a member of the Methodist church.

Survivors include Mr. Hawks and two small children, her mother, Mrs. H. W. Legg, and a brother, Duane Legg, both of Canyon, and two sisters, Mrs. E. A. Wheatley of Danmar, and Miss Mauchett Legg of LaJunta, Colorado.

Attend Bank Convention.

Lions John McLean and Jack Rose attended the District T-2 convention in Childress last week and Mr. Rose read a report of the convention Wednesday at the regular luncheon of the local Lions Club. He proclaimed the convention as highly successful.

HERBERT BOARDMAN PLAYS TODAY IN NATIONAL CONTEST

Herbert Boardman today will compete in the solo events of the national band contest at Cleveland. He is entered in the bass horn division to compete with winners from every state.

Herbert is the only entrant from the Northwest Texas division, although seven were eligible to take part in the national contests. He played in the national three years ago, placing third. He was again eligible last year, but did not attend.

He left Hereford last Sunday night and probably will return Sunday. The trip was made possible by the Hereford Lions Club and Chamber of Commerce.

DISPLAY OF RELICS ONE OF DAY'S LEADING ATTRACTIONS

One of the most interesting attractions of the Centennial Day celebration here last Friday was the series of show window displays of old-time relics, clothing, furniture and other relics. A tour of the displays which attracted widespread attention revealed:

D. R. Gass & Son, a "then and now" contrast of women's petticoats and panties; embroidery work 50 years old done by Mrs. Annie Diebel; men's clothing, pictures, a man's shirt and BVD one-piece combination, and old quilts. Fashion Dress Shoppe, old clothing, featuring an entire wedding outfit made and worn by Mrs. Hattie Rutherford, picture of the Hereford Christian College girls basketball team, 1906, quilt 75 years old. Bobbie's Beauty Salon, old hats.

Baccalaureate To Start Graduation AROUND TOWN

Sights and Faces Seen

Heace M. Russell of Amarillo was among those who did not attend the Centennial Day celebration here last Friday. However, in a letter to the publisher of the Brand, he expressed sincere regrets at not being able to attend. Having been elected president of the Amarillo Rotary Club the previous week, he felt it necessary that he attend the district conference in Fort Worth last week, he stated. He added that Billie Rose, head of Fort Worth's Frontier Centennial, "expressed his enthusiasm for the square dance as he had just seen it performed some where here in Texas." He had never seen one before, Russell stated. "I am sure that he did not see it done better or more beautifully than I saw it performed in Hereford last year," he concluded. The dance this year was said to be better, even, than last, Mr. Russell.

Ray Conaway wants it understood that he was not responsible for the long delay in starting the parade Friday. He blames it on those in charge of the chuck wagon dinner for holding it up until they got ready to feed the crowd. (Continued on page seven)

Local Officers Join In Search

Local peace officers joined in the Panhandle's widest manhunt Sunday which led to the capture of Pete Traxler, Oklahoma ex-convict and jailbreaker, suspected in more than a dozen tourist hijackings that terrorized the Panhandle.

Deputies J. O. Newell and Mike Baird and Constable T. C. Mathis went to Pampa Sunday morning where officers from 22 counties were organized into nearly a score of posses of four or five men each to conduct the search for the desperado.

However, they were not members of the party which blockaded Highway 90 at the Canadian River, halted the bandit when he ran his car into sand in an attempt to circle the barricade and wounded him in three places as he came out of his car with a gun. None of the officers were hurt.

Fire Destroys Barn.

Fire of unknown origin last Wednesday destroyed a barn and five or six tons of maise heads on the E. Carter farm, operated by J. K. Fure, located about two miles south of Hereford. The loss was not covered by insurance.

A. H. Strou was in Clevis Tuesday.

Summer Youth Center Under Consideration

PLAN WOULD FURNISH AMUSEMENT, STUDY FOR CHILDREN

The Central School cafeteria will be closed at the end of next week, with the closing of school, and plans are being made this week to provide NYA employment for the 15 girls now employed in the cafeteria.

At the same time, a plan to furnish worthwhile occupation for the children of Hereford during the summer months is being worked in to the NYA project by the staff of the local office.

Mrs. Dyalitha Brady expects to present the plans to State NYA (Continued on page six)

Glee Clubs Give Operetta At 8:15

PRESENT THE GHOST OF LOLLYPOP BAY AT HIGH SCHOOL

The high school glee clubs will present "The Ghost of Lollypop Bay," an operetta, tonight at the high school auditorium as one of the closing attractions of the school year. The operetta will start at 8:15 o'clock. Both boys and girls glee clubs will take part, under the direction of Miss Theima Mc-Minn.

The setting of the story is a girls summer school camp on Lollypop Bay. Miss Jimina Steel, played by Mary Ann Baird, is principal of the girls school. On the opposite side of the bay is the boys camp where Prof. Alvin Flint, a bashful bachelor, played by Jerry Jewell, holds forth. Three outstanding teachers in the girls school are Gaytha Wilson as Mary, Jean Snyder as Midge, and Mary Tiefert as Molly. Their boy friends from across the bay are R. A. Daniel, Bill Stanford and James Bell, as Tom, Dick and Harry.

Social relations between the camps are greatly restricted by Prof. Flint. Finding group calls unsatisfactory, and when Irene Knox, playing the part of Dinah, colored maid, declares she sees a ghost, the girls get an idea to enlighten matters with the boys return. The ghost is responsible for most of the action. The entire chorus of girls and boys help the situation by singing and dialog.

Admission is 10 and 20 cents, with reserved seats at no additional cost, going to the first to purchase tickets. Proceeds go to pay for glee club music for next year, music festival dues and if possible to help pay expenses of the winners in the Panhandle Music Festival in Dallas.

McCollister Is Seeking Office

T. P. McCollister yesterday announced his candidacy for county judge and ex-officio superintendent of schools in Deaf Smith county. He stated that half his working years have been given to public educational work in some phase, six of them being with the United States Bureau of Education. "Our boys and girls," he said, "are our greatest asset, and the time to live is now." He has studied law and has been admitted to the bar.

Mr. McCollister now is a farmer, an occupation in which he has engaged for the past seven years in this county. He professes knowledge of the problems farmers have been facing, but he takes an optimistic view on present conditions.

BOAT BUILDING IS DRY LAND PROFESSION

Right here where there is hardly enough water to float a toy boat of the bathtub variety, boat building has become a paying profession. Hereford-made boats, so to speak, are in demand.

Bill Borden has constructed four or five boats for sale and it is understood has orders for more. Jack France is constructing his first boat. They are being sold in Amarillo to be placed on the city lake.

While embers glowed the reconstruction started

Before the flames had reached the telephone switchboard in the little Arkansas town—before the swirling wall of smoke had driven operators from their posts—plans for rebuilding the fire-doomed office were under way.

At a great warehouse in a distant city, men were loading a new switchboard, new telephone cable, new office equipment, into express cars. Nearer to the spot, cable splicers and workmen skilled in telephone construction were being taken from their jobs and rushed toward the office about to be destroyed by fire.

While embers still glowed in the fire-twisted skeleton of the old office, the work of reconstruction was under way.

One advantage of the Bell System's far-flung organization is this: When disaster flattens the telephone system, men and money and materials are instantly available for the prompt repair of the damage.

CAUGHT IN THE WILD

"Well, I may at least allow you four-tenths of what your Man Friday sweats out of my placid. The laborer is worthy of his hire—I'm going for a dip. You and Miss Ramill might get your moose bones to roasting. The narrow goes well with the steaks. Let me suggest that you build a large fire in the regular cook hole. When it burns low, rake out the coals and lay in one of the forelegs, thickly smeared with mud. Then rake on dirt, embers and ashes, build a small fire on top and keep it going four or five hours."
Miss Ramill looked down at her slender hands. They were already roughened and grimed, and two of the highly manicured nails had been broken. The large diamond of her engagement ring flashed blue-white fire up into her angrily flashing blue eyes. She jerked her head up to glare out at Garth. He was already disappearing in the brush on his way to the rock pool.

When he returned from his plunge a fire was flaming high in the cook hole. Well away from it, the heiress to millions was smearing one of the moose legs with mud brought up from the lake shore by her father in his expensive soft hat.
Garth raked the thigh bones from the smudge-fire and sat back the spits of the partly burnt steaks. He then dripped melting moose fat into a small twist-cup of birch-bark that he had brought back with him. The cup already held two or three gills of spruce pitch.
Garth offered his hope. "Best cosmetic in the North. You may as well go the limit."
"I'll die first!"
Her father dipped his fingers in the dope and smeared the stuff on his face and neck as Garth had done.
Garth said: "Eat your fill. Miss Ramill will stay to tend the fires. You and I are to climb. You'll wear Huxby's leather trousers outside your own."
"But they're too small for me around the belt."
"They'll not be after a few days. You'll wear the jacket also."
A taste of hot marrow roused the girl's appetite. Hunger overcame her other cravings. She said nothing even when at the end of the meal her father drew on Huxby's flying suit over his clothes and started off with Garth.
Though Garth had spoken of a climb, he first led along the lake shore to the beginning of the muskeg swamp. Then turned and slanted gradually up through the belt of spruce trees until the west side of the trough was reached at timberline. He stopped to look at Huxby while Mr. Ramill caught his second wind. The mining engineer gave no heed to them. He was hard at work panning out gravel, midway up to the discovery stake.

Garth led across to the east side of the trough. After every halt he started the portly millionaire on again as soon as he could draw a deep breath. They kept plodding up the tundra slope until at last Mr. Ramill's legs gave out. He staggered and collapsed. He lay, purple-faced and quivering, spent.
When able to speak he gasped an appeal: "Ka-quit! U'll kill me!"
The exhausted man turned flat on his back and basked. Within a few minutes he drooped off. Garth let him nap a long two hours, then started him on up the long climb.
Three hours later found them still below the lower end of the glacier. Garth at last called a halt to the climb. He headed back.
—Midway down to timberline, Ramill collapsed, so utterly spent that he could not get up even after a long rest. Garth took him on his back and packed him on down to the camp, without a halt.
Huxby and Miss Ramill were feasting. They had prised the moose leg out of the fire hole and broken off the clay shell. The meat had baked to juicy tenderness. Even the gristle was melted into gelatine.
When Garth laid her father in the leanto, the girl brought a big chunk of the best meat. But the millionaire climber was too exhausted even to eat. His daughter turned upon Garth.
"Another of your damnable jokes! He's dying! You've killed him!"
Garth smiled approvingly. "So, after all, you're capable of feeling a little concern for someone else than yourself. Boil the cup two-thirds full of water and put in enough of that sweet tea to cool it for drinking."
"The tea is hot already. I've kept back Dad's share. I'll give it to him straight."
"You'll warm that water."
The mining engineer stoop up. "I've told you to speak respectfully to Miss Ramill."
Garth paid no more attention to him than to the buzz of a mosquito. The girl looked expectantly at her fiancé. He stood waiting for Garth to apologize. When Garth neither replied nor so much as glanced around at him, the engineer's cold assurance gave way to doubt. He turned and went down to the lake.
Miss Ramill's eyes widened. She glanced from his stiff back to the buckskin clad shoulders that had so lightly toted her father into camp. All this had been a matter of seconds. In another moment she was darting over to the rill with the tin cup.
When she came to the leanto with the almost scalding hot mixture of boiled water and tea, her father muttered, beneath groans that he did not want it. "No—no! Oh-oh-h! Let me die in peace!"
Garth heaved up the lax head and shoulders and held the cup to the quivering lips. "Drink, or I'll pour it down your throat."
A few minutes later the "dying" millionaire began to eat. He bolted down the juicy tender meat until sleep overtook him in the midst of a bite.
Though spotted, Lilith was far from being a fool. She had begun to realize that to get what she wanted, something more than wishing was necessary. Her father had gone over to Garth. Even Huxby had failed her.
The rub was over for Garth. Miss Ramill's surrender meant that he was now the acknowledged master of the party. Huxby had almost admitted the fact by going off instead of following up his implied threat of attack. He, however, would require watching.

What is Time Worth To You?

Time, with its infinite capacity for stealing quietly by us without being noticed, is often the cause of insecurity in old age. The fact that one's earning capacities are not everlasting seems of minor importance when young. Too often, however, has this attitude been proved wrong, time IS deceiving, and it DOES pass swiftly, so start now while you can afford it. Open a savings account, no matter how little you begin with, and lay the foundation for that much coveted security in the days to come.

A comic expression that has been used many times to indicate the cause of good fortune, if it is done, and a cause of bad luck, if it is not done—yet the fundamental idea that it expresses is not comical—it is not something to pass over lightly.

We have damned the sand and the winds and moistureless skies; we have cursed the Republicans for bringing drought and pestilence upon us, and now we are deriding the Democrats because these things have not ended. All our damning and cursing and crying unto the high heavens have been of no avail.

It is time for us to change our tactics. Instead of haranguing the bad, it is time to place faith in the good.

We had our seven fat years and squandered them a way. Most of us did that, and to such an extent that the period of plenty has been referred to as "as a world gone mad!" Our seven lean years are upon us and have been since 1930. We had an example before us, but we had to learn for ourselves.

But are we learning? These seven lean years are drawing to a close, but will we be prepared for them to end? Will we, ourselves, bring them to an end?

The government, from county to Federal, is doing all in its power to avert disaster in the Middle and Southwest, but their work alone is not enough. They cannot stop the winds or bring the rain.

Nature, if you please, punishes its offenders and whips them back into line. It is a stern ruler who cannot be overthrown. Yet we attempted to do that very thing, and for a while thought we were getting away with it. We are stubborn. We will not submit freely even now to its laws, which we are learning must be obeyed.

Yet the sooner we learn that lesson, the sooner the country as a whole looks to the skies for solace and aid; the sooner we change our curses into prayer, the sooner the rains will come and the winds calm.

This is not meant to be a sermon. It is a statement of facts. This problem has been treated impersonally, but it is not an impersonal matter. It is so personal, in fact, that it involves the mind and heart of every person in this vast territory.

Until we have become sane we must continue to pay for our folly. The just must suffer with the unjust. The earth, in this case at least, does not yield forth riches, and we must forget the dream of empire. Here we have a country that will provide for us all a wholesome and happy life if we will but accept it for what it is and strive to preserve and protect it as nature dictates it must be protected.

Five thousand people in Deaf Smith, with that as an aim and also mindful of the power from whence these things come, can do more to make this county what it should be than can the combined powers of the Federal Government. That is true everywhere.

POPPY DAY IS ONE OF MOST SIGNIFICANT ON CALENDAR

Poppy Day, to be observed in Hereford and throughout the United States Saturday, May 23, has become one of the most significant days on the American calendar. On that day each year millions of Americans wear little red poppies in honor of the World War dead and contribute toward the welfare of the war's living victims, the disabled veterans, their families and the families of the dead. Behind the observance of the day has been developed a poppy manufacturing industry which gives employment to many hundreds of disabled veterans in 60 poppy making centers.

The idea of the poppy as a memorial flower for the World War dead, sprang up following the war as naturally as the little wild flower itself grows in the fields of France and Belgium. Taken by the women of the American Legion Auxiliary, it was spread throughout the United States in a few years and Poppy Day made a national institution. More than ten million poppies are now distributed annually by the Auxiliary and approximately one million dollars raised for the welfare work of the American Legion and Auxiliary.

A LONG TIME AGO IN HEREFORD

(From The Hereford Brand, May 12, 1905.)

Wilson Harlan and Miss Jessie Turner had been married Tuesday at the Daniel home by Rev. Jesse B. Haston.

Deaf Smith county prisoners, held in jail at Canyon pending completion of a new jail here, had escaped, only to be recaptured near Goodnight while quietly sleeping.

Dalhart was having lots of trouble trying to enforce the Sunday Trade Law as prescribed by State Statute.

Amarillo had voted, 120, to 9, to incorporate into an independent school district.

Hereford and Clarendon baseball teams were to play a game here the coming Tuesday.

A telephone line was under construction from Hereford to old LaPlatta.

The Brand of 1905 covered lots of territory. It had regular correspondents from as far away as Hart and Olton.

Barton, Miller and Co. wanted to buy a small ranch of from 20,000 to 50,000 acres.

One country correspondent was rejoicing over the high winds, reminding readers that on the winds depended the water supply of this region.

According to a statement by County Clerk W. B. Beach, Deaf Smith county had a cash balance of $9,392.81.

(From The Hereford Brand, May 14, 1915.)

District Court was in session. The civil docket had been completed, and a number of criminal cases were to be heard.

Myrtle Bennett, Calvin Barnett, Buford Farmer, Cecil

Cook, Gilbert Fox, Jonathan Pitman, Grace Wilson, Jowell Murchison, Mary Wood, Cassie Phillips, Juanita Caylor, Verdie Buckner, Vera Dillard, Bess Roberson, Goochie Sisk, Gwendolyn Price and Eloise Pitman had parts in the Hereford High School Senior play to be given Thursday night, May 20, at the Pastime Opera House.

Geneva, May 8.—A dispatch from Munich, Bavaria, says the German U-3 sank the Lusitana. Great rejoicing is reported throughout Southern Germany. The towns are decked with flags and school children were given a half holiday.

Some advice: "Don't drive up the sidewalk on your left side. Keep to the right. Go to the street intersection and turn. Be on the safe side."

And they had a BAD dust stormy Sunday afternoon.

TO THE VOTERS OF DEAF SMITH COUNTY

I take this means to announce my candidacy for the office of county judge and ex-officio superintendent of county schools, subject to the Democratic Primary July 25.

I have no lengthy platform to offer or extensive list of promises to make my constituents, but those I do make I faithfully and diligently intend to carry out.

In brief, if elected, it would be my purpose to meet every issue and situation in the discharge of the duties peculiar to the office as my best judgment and ability would dictate—all to which I pledge myself.

I believe in efficient and constructive measures in keeping with progress; and at the same time an economical expenditure of our public funds. Our county educational facilities and the training of our young people is a problem of major importance and one to which much attention should be given. As the material prosperity of us all is dependent, directly or indirectly, on agriculture in its respective phases, every assistance that can be rendered by our county government is imperative.

I ask your earnest consideration of my candidacy and will sincerely appreciate your support and influence.

Roscoe Davidson and son, Earl G. of Clovis were here Friday taking in the celebration. Mr. Davidson formerly lived here, having been associated with the old Western National Bank.

Acid Stomach—Get Quick Relief

If you are suffering from indigestion, atonic dyspepsia, sour stomach, gas pains, "raw stomach," inflammation of the intestines (enteritis), gastric acidity and sick headaches, due to excessive acidity, you can't afford to ignore these warning signs. You should try at once the Doctor's Prescription, known as Gasa Tablets. If you allow these conditions to become worse, the acids may eat into the delicate mucous membrane of your stomach and intestines and possibly cause dangerous ulcers. Gasa Tablets are pleasant to take and they start to work in just a few minutes to give gentle, effective relief of pain and discomfort caused by excessive acidity. They soothe the raw, inflamed lining of the "acid stomach," and help convert starchy foods into dextrose, which is so essential to energy of the body and preservation of health. Because of their remarkable success in many cases of acidity, and digestive troubles resulting from acid conditions, Gasa Tablets are offered now to sufferers under a guarantee that the first bottle must produce results or money back. For only a few cents a day, you may now have the benefits of this Doctor's Prescription which has helped so many other sufferers to a greater joy of living. Ask your druggist today for Gasa Tablets. Take just one or two of those quick-acting, soothing, antacid tablets and see how they help your stomach to "tackle a hearty meal." At Close Drug Store.

E. H. and J. P. Hare of near Vega were visitors here Friday.

Farmer Learns Contour Value

Another Panhandle farmer has proven the benefit of contouring and proper cultivation of land to produce crops while neighbors are failing. He is J. D. Amend, whose farm is located about three miles northeast of Gruver. Although he is entirely out of Hereford area members of the soil conservation staff made a trip to Gruver to study his methods.

Nothing grew on the land in 1934, but Mr. Amend listed with a regular lister in May, 1935, ran four general contour lines across his section of land and started out to make a crop while others failed. He followed the contour lines, but he found four was not enough and plans to run more this year.

In August he listed with a deep furrow drill, and on September started drilling in his wheat. He followed the old lister rows, which may still be found today, and planted approximately 20 pounds to the acre. He did not set September 15 as a permanent planting date. He had plenty of moisture at that time, but he sets the planting date at any time after the last week in August when he has good moisture. He does not practice the dry planting of wheat.

On some of the land were hummocks that had to be leveled in May. This was done with a disc and harrow. The only wind erosion he has suffered this year has been on that small area where the hummocks existed. On the west and southwest portions of the section, however, are a few acres which were covered up by soil blowing from adjacent farms.

Mr. Amend also has another section of wheat adjoining this on the south. This was not listed on the contour last May, and the only wheat he has now on this section is on the lower part of the field where it caught the run-off water last summer. On the first section is a uniform crop of wheat. It has suffered little from the lack of moisture—the last being a light snow in January—but of course needs rain now to make it mature. With a good rain, Mr. Amend believes he will make 15 to 20 bushels to the acre on the section where he followed the contour. On the other section, if it gets rain, the only wheat that will be worth cutting will be on about 100 acres in the lower part of the field.

Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Rosson and Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Acher spent Tuesday at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention in Amarillo.

When, Oh, When Do We Start?

(BY HOMER FOX)

J. M. Posey says when are we gonna start; Harold Close says when are we gonna start; Charles Sowell says when are we gonna start, and on down the road—we well are gonna start when ever you flat heads decide you can make it to first base without giving out or riding a bicycle. Onias Carroll says the Firemen will win the pennant just like they won first prize in the big Parade and if you think they are not ready and rearing just challenge them to a game any time you feel lucky. So why not get the old busted bats out and get down there and start striking out, no use to wait cause it is time to go.

Speaking of parades that baby Friday was a little Lulu and the bunch that is backing Old Settlers Day certainly did themselves proud this year. Just wonder where all those horses come from—didn't think there was that many horses in four counties. Gee, but didn't it sorter make a lump of happiness come up in your neck when you saw Mr. and Mrs. Ellison in there on that same horse? Don't miss the meeting at the White Face printing office for the purpose of organizing a County Club and every one is invited, don't be scared cause it is not going to cost too much to belong. In the mean time you base ball booters get started to fumbling 'em and cussing the umpires.

AN EXTRA ROOM? TRY A WANT AD!

AREN'T YOU GLAD YOU LIVE IN Hereford, Texas

If you lived on a desert island, you'd have to use a crude cook-stove. But YOU can enjoy convenience and efficiency and beauty of a 1936 modern gas range.

Why not decide right now to go down to your gas appliance dealer or your gas company—and SEE the exclusive features of a modern gas range.

Cooking with gas is cheap on the new low gas rate.

The low gas rate recently fixed by the Railroad Commission of Texas, and put in effect by the company, is lower than the rate in 51 of other Texas cities and towns having gas service.

The Texas Company is enlarging Glen Snyder's service station at the corner of Third and Sampson and is fixing it up first rate in preparation for Centennial year. An enclosed wash and grease room is being built on to the station, with a small work room being included. A large sign will be placed in front and the entire building lighted with floodlights at night. Tile floors and walls will be added to the men's and women's rooms.

Remodeling work just completed has greatly improved the Corner Drug and Brown Produce buildings on Main Street, and repair work has been started on the building between the soil conservation office and Texas Utilities Company. All this, along with the Central School project, gives Hereford more construction work than she has had in some time.

Hereford may have a country club soon. A group of men interested in the proposal have called a meeting of every interested person for tonight at 8 o'clock at the Whiteface Printing Co. office. The City Park club house has been made available to such a club, and if it is organized the city golf course will be changed about to have the first tee and ninth hole near the club house. This is an ideal opportunity to secure such a club at no great cost.

The 1903 Ford which appeared in the Centennial parade Friday is owned by Walter Irwin of Amarillo. It is a two cylinder affair with chain drive. It has made several trips to Hereford and was on display this week at the local Ford garage.

A party composed of Opal, C. M., O. C. and Tom Jones, Harry and Walter Meade, Mr. Jasper and Earl Deake drove to and from Friona in the 1910 Cadillac that appeared in the parade.

Wasn't it Mr. and Mrs. Dave Alexander we saw parked at the Main Street railroad crossing eating ice cream cones?

Mary Ann Baird quoted her father as saying he could not tell which end of the alphabet they start grades by looking at her report card.

Emmett Milburn sowed his lawn Tuesday and was out bright and early Wednesday with a lawn mower looking for grass.

Hospital Notes

Mrs. Noel Andrew to be dismissed Friday, recovered.

Mrs. Robert Cantrell, admitted Sunday for medical treatment, improved.

Mrs. A. T. Jones, major operation Wednesday, doing nicely.

Card of Thanks.

I want to thank everyone who cooperated and contributed in any way to the success of the Centennial parade. Especially do I want to thank the members of the parade committee, Mrs. Rosson, Miss Rutherford and Mrs. Hill, who worked so untiringly to carry out the plans. RAY CONEWAY, Chairman, Parade Committee.

Miss Eleanor Pierle spent the week end in Shamrock with her sister, who is a teacher in the public schools there. Mrs. Dolly Robinson of Canyon has been visiting Miss Pierle this week.

Mrs. Lennis Beyer of Amarillo visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Anthony, and other relatives here last week end.

ATTENTION, PLEASE

As the speaker for assembly rises to his feet, several students are usually seen to open their books and start reading. How amusing that students only find time to read when someone is speaking. Conduct of this sort marks the student ill-bred and rude. One should at least offer another the same courtesy which he himself would desire were he to speak. It is even more discourteous to deny courtesy to a speaker than to step on a friend's toe without saying "pardon me".

Not only for the sake of politeness, but also for the purpose of becoming more informed or educated, should the student listen to anyone who is speaking. Few experiences have ever been such that a person who listened attentively to a public address, did not gain or learn anything from it. It is true that some speakers are more interesting than others, but it always pays to listen.

The Whiteface Roundup received a school paper, The Lark, from the Gardenia High School, of Gardenia, California.

It seems that the students, or rather the senior students, have an art gallery every year. The art gallery is filled with the pictures that the students have painted. The art exhibit this year was the ninth one to take place at the school. The 150 pictures are hung in study halls and library, and such picture is lighted individually. The graduating class gets to select two paintings which they purchase to add to the school collection.

COWHANDS

The Cowhands elected new officers April 27, as follows: Jack Barber, boss; Donald Brotherton, foreman; Jerry Jowell, banker; Leonard Halston, scribe; Jowell Butlerford, reporter.

After the election, plans were made for the Cowhand trip. They leave Herford May 24 and return the following Saturday, May 30.

HOME EC CLUB

The home economics club met Monday, May 4, at activity period. The following officers were elected for next year:

President, Ira Jean Ricketts; vice president, Mary Tietel; secretary, treasurer, Virginia Newell; reporter, Mary Lee Alexander. The club desires to do much more in the future than it has done in the past.

WORKING?

Did you ever see a girl taking home economics that actually worked? Perhaps you believe only one-third of what you hear, but the past week the girls in the third year economics class have been actually working. If you do not believe this, drop in on them at some convenient time and you will see them doing the following things: making cushions for the chairs, varnishing the floors (the dirty work), varnishing the desks, planning the budget for next year and making luncheon sets for the dining room.

These girls are having a great deal of fun working on these problems which are not only helpful to them but adds much attractiveness to the department.

HOME PROJECTS

Do you have your home project finished? This is a question commonly being asked about this time each year. Girls taking home, etc. are required to do something for their home projects. This is a problem that has to be worked out at home concerning some phase of work that each girl has studied in her home economics course. These home projects require the following things: 1. Plan, problems involved. 2. Solution of problems. 4. How you solved the problems. 5. Parents' comment.

Many very interesting home projects have been turned in, and many long hours have been spent on these projects.

HARMONY

Monday afternoon, May 4, the pep club had its annual picnic. It was given in Herford State Park and winners, potato chips, pickles, mustard, fresh onions, bread, marshmallows, coffee and lemonade was served to about 25 pep girls and their sponsor. The afternoon was warm and windless so many went wading in the shallow water.

After walking all over the park the girls sat down on the ground and sang to the mellow strumming of a guitar. Nina Burleson played the guitar for all the songs that were sung. The moon was so very bright that the pep girls sat there singing until 9 o'clock.

Those girls who missed this annual picnic will regret it, especially the senior girls who are leaving this year.

The Student Council for 1935-36 has completed its work but will have a new Council elected for 1936-37, the Council for 1935-36 will file.

The Council will have a meeting the latter part of August when plays will be made for the coming school year.

SPEAKERS CONTEST

On May 11, 12 and 13, My Home Town speakers contest will be held in Amarillo. This contest is sponsored by the chamber of commerce. Students from Amarillo and the surrounding territory will represent their schools and towns by participation in the event. The participants compose their own speeches and give them in the contest. There is usually considerable interest in the contest, for valuable prizes will be given. The winner will receive the Etheridge Cup, a cash prize and scholarships to various colleges.

Billie Joe Roberts will represent Herford. She has worked for several days on her speech and will be well prepared to give a good speech.

WILBURN SPEAKS

In drawing an analogy between city traffic laws and the laws governing our own lives, Brother Jas. O. Wilburn, pastor of the Local Church of Christ, speaking before assembly Tuesday morning proved that people should always observe a higher authority.

Brother Wilburn stated that the conscience, unless educated and properly directed, is not always a safe guide; neither is the voice of other people. Therefore, reasons the speaker, leave the questionable things alone.

"Sow a thought, reap an action, sow an action, reap a habit, sow a habit, reap a character, sow a character, reap a destiny," said the speaker. In conclusion, he advised that since the time is drawing near for some to part forever, students should take advantage of every opportunity.

NEW BOOKS

The library received five new books last week. They were Collected Poems, by Vachel Lindsay; John to Kate on the Life Magnificent, by A. E. Phillips; Power Through Reports, by Annie P. Call; Drama and Dramatics, by Helen Fish, and Poems, by John Massie.

These books were necessary and are of great benefit to the student body.

TRIP TO PLAINVIEW

All high school seniors in the Panhandle were invited to a get-together at Mayland College in Plainview May 5. Seven seniors went from here, namely, Sibbie Weckesser, Charles Wilson, Phyllis Arthur, Jean Millard, Gladys Casner, Alma Cox and LaNelle Scheelhaugen. Others who went from here were Mr. and Mrs. Conkright, Mrs. Jack Roberson and Mrs. Carroll Shepherd.

A very interesting and varied program was given by college students and teachers. After the program everyone went to the dining hall for refreshments. Everyone enjoyed the evening and felt that the time had not been wasted.

FIRST FLOOR NEWS

The sixth grade has been enjoying a series of debates under the personal supervision of Miss Thelma McMin. Several humorous subjects have been debated, the most interesting being: Resolved, That arms are more important than legs. The affirmative side consisted of June Dameron, Morris Casley, Donald Conklin and Doris Elaine Dillehay. The negative side was made up of O. G. Hill, Margaret Higgins, Ollie Calloway, and Beulah Mae Wilson. The affirmative won the debate.

LITTLE CHILDREN MODEL

The student body laughed and cheered Thursday, May 7, in assembly as pre-school aged children modeled garments made by the home economics III class. The garments modeled consisted of play suits, sun suits and little dresses. The children looked very becoming and attractive.

The glee club also sang three songs, We Love Texas, Lullabye Moon and another. The glee club girls were dressed in comely evening dresses which added charm to the program.

The student body appreciates the talent shown in the dressmaking and modeling and in singing. Each organization hopes to make a greater success in its work next year.

INVITATIONS

Graduation! The Senior class of '36 is just realizing how near graduation is to the fulfillment of a childhood dream. The invitations have arrived, and graduation is no longer a matter of fact, but a reality. Since a decision has not been reached about the class pictures, we do not hear the statement, "Please give me a picture to remember you by," but we do hear the request, "Save a card for me."

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ellison and daughter, Mrs. Leaton Branson, of Canyon were here Friday to attend the Centennial celebration and visit in the A. E. Ellison and B. L. Branson home.

JUNIOR-SENIOR PICNIC

Approximately 100 juniors and seniors gathered at the park Wednesday evening, May 6, at six o'clock for the annual picnic given by the junior class by the seniors. Several games were played, such as baseball, football, rope jumping, tag and even horseback riding and swimming. Everyone seems to have had an enjoyable time.

The hosts served hamburgers, cookies, potato chips, pickles, coffee and onions. Not many seniors partook of the onions, so the juniors had all they wanted.

The picnic adjourned at 8 o'clock. The junior class wishes to take this opportunity to thank the senior class and sponsors for the effort that was put forth to make this picnic a success, and to say that it was greatly enjoyed and appreciated.

WESTWARD HO!

Wednesday, May 6, was Senior Day, celebrated in remembrance of the pioneers and cowboys and cowgirls of Texas.

The seniors arrived at school early, dressed in varied costumes of the pioneer and cowboy days. Some were dressed in the typical pioneer and cowboy fashion, while others showed more of a tinge of the drug store cowboy. The office was used as a check room for all fire arms, with Mr. Dillehay as official checker.

Aside from several hours, given to persons who could not control their accessories, such as spurs, there were no other serious crimes performed during the day.

MORE GHOSTS

You'll bite your nails, your hair will stand on end, your blood will freeze in your veins, and you'll need some nerve quietener. But doesn't everyone like a thrill, and scare occasionally? Of course he does.

Just keep in mind the date of Thursday night, May 14, and come to see the "sketchy" operetta, "The Ghost of Lollypop Bay."

We have told you the cast before and if you could see the rehearsals, you would know what a cast there is. The price will be cheap, the entertainment rich, so don't miss it.

GLEE CLUB ACTIVITIES

The girls chorus gave an assembled program Thursday morning, May 7. They sang We Love Texas, Lullabye Moon and Texas, Pride of the South. The girls wore their costumes and the program was very effective.

The next time they were heard was Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the parlison. They gave two Texas songs and again were dressed in Easter-dresses. They hope the citizens of Herford enjoyed this program.

FORMER HEREFORD WAR VET AIDED BY POPPIES

The wearing of poppies in commemoration of the World War dead furnishes a means of employment for soldiers injured in that war. One Hereford veteran is included in this group who supplies the poppies.

He is Jim Burton who is in the Veterans Hospital at Muskogee, Oklahoma. His leg was amputated about two months ago. During the time he has been ill, his wife and oldest son have assisted him in the making of poppies. The veterans receive a quarter of a cent for each one made. In this manner the family has made $90. Added to that was an award of $12.50 for the best wreath produced.

and most complete in the history of Hereford, was the feature of the morning. Headed by a characterization of Deaf Smith and the six flags of Texas history, the exhibition of early Texas and county scenes, early day vehicles and an array of cowboys, cowgirls and Indians, extended for eight blocks and included an estimate of 500 people.

Winning Floats.

A float depicting the capture of Santa Anna, prepared by the fire boys, was awarded first place over 12 other entries in the float division. It was a lifelike replica of the capture of the Mexican leader. The Franciscan mission float prepared by St. Anthony's school was awarded second place, and a round-up scene planned by the Music Study Club was third. Honorable mention also went to Austin's conference with the Mexicans, by the Lions Club; Hereford's first home by Central school, early school room by Lone Star Study Club, and the Red Cross float. Judges were Bishop E. Cecil Seaman, Rev. Thorns and Wilson Gyles. Other floats included a clever replica of Deaf Smith county's first court house, entered by the Business and Professional Women's club, the first wedding in the county, Junior Pioneer club; American Legion, chamber of commerce, another cowboy scene, high school; and the Soil Conservation Service.

Immediately following the parade leaders came approximately a hundred cowboys, cowgirls, Indians and old timers riding ponies, covered wagons, oxen-drawn wagon and buggies. These were followed by a modern and old-time bicycle brigade, and then came the floats, followed by Hereford's first fire engine, a 1903 Ford and a 1915 Ford.

Chuck Wagon Dinner.

At noon nearly 800 people partook of the chuck wagon dinner at the Pitman Grain Co. The event was to have been staged at the City Park, but because of a light rain and threatening weather that arose following the parade, it was moved indoors. However this did not detract from the enjoyment of the steak, beans, pickles, onions and coffee.

Immediately following the luncheon came the old fiddlers contest. Marvin Thomas was awarded first prize, W. S. Dixon second, J. F. Stewart third, and the Miller sisters fourth. Each contestant played three numbers, but so close was the running, the first three were required to play two more selections before the judges reached a final decision.

Afternoon Program.

The formal afternoon program at the stock pavilion attracted a crowd that overflowed the seating and standing space and many others were unable to get in. The program opened with a number by the high school orchestra. Mrs. B. F. Guthrie gave Plains Philosophy, the high school girls glee club sang, and a skit of pioneer home life was presented.

Bishop E. Cecil Seaman, of the Amarillo Episcopal church, the principal speaker of the afternoon, paid homage to the pioneers of this country, whom he divided into three groups, the founders, the builders and the leaders. The founders, he said, were the first to arrive, the first settlers, the cowmen and then the farmers. He spoke of the cattlemen as those who instilled into this country their courage, resourcefulness, honesty, generosity and hospitality. He also paid tribute to the pioneer women, who through their hope, courage and love, were the true characters behind the area.

Among the builders he included the men who constructed the railroads and highways, the contractors and the pioneer doctors and nurses. The leaders he called the lawyers, judges, peace officers who played a great part in directing life in the new country in the right direction, "often acting on common sense rather than on knowledge of law or precedent," teachers and preachers.

"The history of the pioneers for the most part is a history of a quiet people," he stated. "Family traditions and traditions of the country make up the history and tradition that are well worth preserving by such occasions as you are having here today."

"I thank God for those who have made this country what it is today," he concluded, "and we should today dedicate ourselves to the continued building and bettering of this country just as they did."

Jack Little, candidate for state representative, also spoke briefly, paying a tribute to the old settlers and congratulating those "who planned and put on such a successful celebration."

Following this program, children of St. Anthony's school presented a beautiful pageant depicting the part played by the missions in the early development of the state.

The old timers turned from being honored when evening arrived at getting on the show and let

Sewing Exhibit Is Of Interest

FIVE UNITS DEVOTED TO DISPLAY HERE LAST WEEK

Sewing with its implications, learning situations and practical principles, was attractively displayed in an objective exhibit arranged by the Deaf Smith County WPA sewing project last Thursday and Friday.

The exhibit occupied over 900 square feet of space. It was divided into five units devoted to the development of commodity garments, garments developed at instruction period, remodeled garments, garments by outside class and notebook work.

Garments in each division were displayed on tables in proportion to the number of garments shown. Spring flowers in bowls and baskets were arranged in each division. Open floor space was covered with hooked rugs.

The exhibit showing commodity garments brought out the development of representative type garments for each member of the family, including women's and girls' dresses, underwear, gowns, men's and boys' shorts, night shirts, overalls, coveralls, playsuits and slacks.
