Schools to Open Monday; Will Issue Books Friday

HIGH SCHOOL CLASSES TO START OPENING DAY

With the issuance of books tomorrow, the way will be cleared for the formal opening of Hereford schools Monday morning and for the beginning of high school class work.

Grammar school students will meet for a short time Monday morning for the purpose of receiving books and being classified. Following this work, they will be dismissed for the remainder of the day, to begin regular studies Tuesday.

Advance Registration. Advance registration has been going on this week at the high school. This work will be completed this week, and regular classroom work will begin with a room

299 REGISTERED THROUGH TUESDAY

Two hundred and ninety-nine pupils had registered for high school and sub-freshmen work here through Tuesday, a gain of 18 students over the number registered for the same period last year.

The enrollment included 50 seniors, 62 juniors, 78 sophomores, 75 freshmen and 25 sub-freshmen. Last year 40 seniors, 51 freshmen and 18 sub-freshmen had been registered at the same time. No figures were available on juniors and sophomores last year.

Following the custom of recent years, the schools will go into regular work with preliminary or opening exercises. Superintendent C. H. Dillehay announced.

Issuing of books in high school will be accomplished tomorrow, starting at 9 o'clock and running as long as required.

A teachers' meeting will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the high school, at which time all announcements for the opening will be completed, Mr. Dillehay said.

How Grades Divided.

The first seven grades will be included on those to receive books and to be classified Monday morning, later being dismissed for the day. Pupils in the low fifth grade and below will go to Central school on opening day, starting at 9 o'clock. High fifth pupils and above will convene at high school at 8:45 o'clock.

The advance enrollment is under the supervision of Superintendent Dillehay, assisted by James M. Wilson and Miss Sayde Rigler.

Star Training.

As part of the school work, athletes will begin football training Monday afternoon. Coach Tommy McCollum will issue uniforms tomorrow.

All teachers in the local schools are expected to be on hand before Saturday. Principals O. M. Hudson, of the high school, and Jimmie Gammill of the grammar school, were to arrive from Lubbock, where they have been attending Texas Tech, this afternoon. B. H. Hopkins, agricultural instructor, returned to Hereford Sunday night.

Cecil Walker Renamed Head Of Cowhands

SEVERAL HEREFORD OLD TIME BRONC BUSTERS ATTEND ROUND-UP

Cecil Walker, of Hereford, last Thursday was re-elected president of the Panhandle old-time cowboys at the 14th annual Old-Time Cowpunchers Roundup at Canyon.

Walk Bradley, of Hereford, also was re-elected to the executive committee. All officers were re-named.

Among the old-time cowhands who attended the round-up from here were Henry Cox, the first white boy born in Deaf Smith county; J. W. Bradley, R. W. Baird, members of the old T-Anchor outfit, and Charlie Smith, a rider for the old LX ranch.

Other officers re-elected were Judge L. Gough, Amarillo, secretary-treasurer; J. T. Christian, Claude, vice president; Tom Dowlen, Canyon, committeeman, and honorary committeemen, John Arnot, Amarillo, and Ed Baird, Canyon.

The old-time cowhands were served barbecued beef at Wragge Park, one mile north of Canyon. One hundred and seventy-five people who came to the Panhandle prior to 1896 registered for the occasion. The singing of cowboy songs, short talks and a lively discussion of present day rodeo performers as compared with the old-time bronc buster furnished the program.

Merchants Have Luncheon Today

Business men of Hereford held a luncheon at the First Presbyterian church at noon today for the purpose of planning the future of Trades Day here.

The luncheon was sponsored by the chamber of commerce for all business men here. About 50 had been expected to attend.

EROSION MEETINGS ARE SLATED THIS WEEK-END

Three meetings had been called in the county Wednesday morning for the purpose of studying the erosion bill to be voted on September 7. The first meeting was held at Westway Wednesday night, with District Attorney James W. Witherspoon and County Judge C. W. Humble as the principal speakers in favor of the bill.

Two meetings were scheduled for Friday night. They are to be held at Ward and Ford. Erosion meetings will be held in each community. Judge Humble stated, prior to the election, but others had not been set Wednesday. Local leaders will speak at each session.

Hereford Nine Loses Contest

Hereford baseballers tasted defeat in their first game in the Clovis tournament Wednesday morning, after their first attempt was rained out. They were defeated 7 to 0 by the Elida, New Mexico, club.

Hereford led the same club 1 to 0 into the first of the fifth inning Tuesday when the game was called on account of rain. Two were out when the game became no contest. The local nine plays again tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the two-game elimination tournament.

Closed Season On Doves Draws Ire of Hunters

More than 125 local citizens took up the fight against closing the dove season in the Panhandle, last week signing a petition asking for a change in Federal regulations covering the shooting of doves.

The petition, circulated here by H. V. Hennen, secretary of the chamber of commerce, was filled in a short time and he "could have filled another one." It was mailed to Amarillo last week-end to join similar petitions from every Panhandle city to be presented to officials at Washington.

Panhandle sportsmen are fighting the new Federal regulation that calls for the opening of dove season on October 1. The state law has the open season in this section from September 1 to October 1, thereby closing the season here altogether. The doves are raised in the Panhandle but migrate south about October 1, making excellent hunting for the southern hunters but preventing local sportsmen from shooting the birds raised in this area, the petitioners complain.

PARKER HAS THEATRES AT SPUR, INVITES FRIENDS

J. C. Parker, former manager of the Star Theatre here, this week is moving to Spur, where he has purchased two theatres. He invited all his friends in Hereford to come to Spur Sunday to the opening of the theatres to see Will Rogers in "Steamboat Around the Bend" as his guests and to have dinner with him.

RELIEF OFFICES TO OPEN ONLY DURING AFTERNOON

Due to the reduction in the local relief office staff, the office will be opened only in the afternoons, effective September 3, Mrs. Dyalitha Bradley, case worker in charge, announced this morning. Mrs. Bradley said this procedure is being followed in many counties throughout the state.

She also announced that September relief information will not be released until after a meeting called in Amarillo Saturday.

Scouts Are Treated.

The 32 members of Boy Scout Troop 1, following their regular meeting last Friday night, visited the Farmers Creamery, where they were shown through the plant and treated to ice cream.

The Scouts are working for their tenderfoot tests under Scout Master Ray Conaway, who organized the troop recently. As soon as the tests are completed, they are to have tenderfoot investiture services.

Mrs. Patton Improved.

Mrs. N. M. Patton, pioneer resident of Hereford, was reported slightly improved this morning, after becoming seriously ill early Sunday morning. Three of the children came this week to be with their mother. They are Mrs. W. A. Trotti, Fort Worth; Mrs. W. J. Todd, Canadian, and Fred Patton, Chicago. Mrs. Patton has been in poor health for a year and a half.

Wheat Acreage To Be Reduced Five Per Cent

WILL INCREASE THE 1936 PLANTINGS OVER 5 MILLION ACRES

Wheat contracts for 1936 call for a reduction of only five per cent in base acreage as compared with the tentative 15 per cent reduction announced on July 31, the county agent's office has been notified by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

This makes possible an increase of 5,200,000 acres in wheat plantings of contract signers for the 1936 crop over the tentative requirements.

"This step is taken primarily to assure domestic consumers of continued ample wheat supplies, and in addition is expected to benefit farmers by placing this country in a strengthened position in the world export market," the AAA announcement stated. "This is considered especially important in view of the smaller world supplies of wheat."

The potential acreage increase of 5,200,000 acres is 10 per cent of the 52,000,000 acres which may be placed under contract and represents the effect of changing the maximum acreage that may be planted from 85 to 95 per cent.

The production on this increased acreage is expected to serve as an offset to the decrease of 123 million bushels in the Federal wheat crop estimate from July 1 to August 1, as shown by the crop report made public August 9.

In the light of this sharp decrease in the crop estimate, the AAA considered that a larger volume of production in 1936 would be desirable insurance to both the farmers and the consumer against the contingency of another year of bad wheat weather.

The 1936-1939 wheat adjustment contract is now in its final form, it was announced, and regional conferences, to get the sign-up under way, are expected to be scheduled soon.

Expect Charges In Case Today

Charges in the case of Mrs. O. F. West vs. the Texas Utilities Company, suit for damages, were expected to be given to the jury in 69th District Court here today, possibly before noon. Testimony was completed Friday, and at 9 o'clock this morning attorneys had been wrangling over the charges 12 1/2 hours.

Arguments were expected by some close to the case to be completed either this afternoon or tonight.

WHITEFACES TO START DRILLS MONDAY; M'COLLUM OPTIMISTIC

With six lettermen, four of them regulars from last year's team, Coach Tommy McCollum will start his 1935 Whiteface gridders to work next Monday afternoon. Despite the dearth of experienced men and contrary to custom, McCollum is optimistic over the prospects.

Included in the list of old men are J. D. "Nasty" Clayton, Wilburn Bengo, Meade Smith, R. A. Daniel, Elmo Hicks and Herbert Boardman. Clayton has starred the past two years at fullback and end. This season he is slated to fill the quarterback slot. Bengo, a back the past two years, is being moved to tackle. Daniel, a letterman at guard, will move to the backfield.

Expect Smith to Star.

Meade Smith will be playing his second year at half back and great things are expected of him. Smith is the state high school sprint champion and is undoubtedly the fastest boy who will appear on the Texas high school gridiron this fall. With Daniel and Clayton to block, Smith will go plenty places, McCollum thinks.

Hicks is going to get a thorough trial at center and Boardman will be back at his old job as tackle.

Deaf Smith County Favors Four of Seven Amendments

Fritz Resigns Bank Position

Harry R. Fritz, acting vice-president of the First State Bank, has announced his resignation from this position, to be effective September 1. He plans to leave Monday, with Mrs. Fritz and their two daughters, to make their home in Missouri.

Mr. and Mrs. Fritz came here in 1927. During the eight years here, they have been active in civic and social activities, taking a great interest in the advancement of Hereford and the surrounding territory. Their many friends regret to learn of their departure.

Canning Plant Exceeds 6,000 Mark Recently

With over 6,000 cans of vegetables put up since opening on August 15, the local canning plant is preparing to start handling all share canning work after September 1.

The foodstuff put up since the opening date has consisted mostly of products of the community garden. However, over 1,000 pounds have been prepared on shares for other producers. Mrs. Pink Gilliland, manager of the kitchen, said that products from the garden are to be almost entirely exhausted this week, and share canning will be started in earnest next week. The canning of tomatoes was started Tuesday.

According to Mrs. Gilliland's report, the kitchen has canned 250 pounds of chard, 1,744 pounds of string beans, 1,800 pounds of squash, 861 pounds of beets; 895 pounds of carrots, 200 pounds of beet greens, 923 pounds of green limas, 600 pounds of dried limas, and 150 pounds of corn. These produced 2,870 cans of beans, 877 cans of carrots, 249 cans of limas, two bushels dried limas, 784 cans beets, 69 cans greens, 238 cans peas, 1,500 cans squash and 100 cans corn, making 6,689 cans put up from the community garden.

The toll received and canned on shares included 50 pounds of rhubarb, 60 pounds of squash, 250 pounds peas, 640 pounds beans, and 150 pounds corn.

Hold Annual Picnic.

Masons and Eastern Star members will hold their annual joint picnic tomorrow evening at the Bradley ranch. Members of the two orders and their children will partake of an old-time basket picnic.

General Rains Soak Most Of Hereford Area

THREE INCHES RECEIVED HERE DURING EARLY PART OF WEEK

Greatly beneficial rains fell over the entire Hereford area early this week, bringing needed moisture to every section of the territory, and relief from heat.

The rains, falling Sunday night, Monday and Tuesday night, ranged from "good showers" to heavy downpours in every section of the territory. Continued cloudiness Wednesday held promise of additional moisture before the spell is broken.

A total of three inches fell here during the three periods, according to an official report from the First National Bank. The precipitation started with a third of an inch Sunday night. A heavy downpour lasting a short time Monday afternoon added a full inch. This was accompanied by night hail that did little or no damage. Steady rainfall throughout Tuesday night swelled the total by 1.6 inches.

Reports from over the area brought news of greatly beneficial showers. Sunday night's downpours were heaviest in the vicinity of Easter, with the precipitation being estimated at from three to four inches. An inch of rain was reported at Westway Monday afternoon, and good rains were also reported at Black, Daniel and Fairview.

Monday's showers extended from Hereford to Clovis, where a Hereford ball game was rained out, but little moisture was received east of here. Umbarger reported heavy rains Sunday night.

Tuesday night's rain apparently centered on the area north and northwest of Hereford, with reports of fine rains coming in from those directions. Showers were general over the Panhandle during the same period.

WHEAT LOANS LEFT OUT AS CONGRESS ADJOURNS

The first session of the 74th Congress adjourned Monday night with the important third deficiency bill still unacted. The bill carried a rider calling for 90 cents a bushel loans on wheat and 12-cent loans on cotton.

Congressional authorities held that failure to pass the $100,000,000 third deficiency bill may delay operation until January of the bulk of the New Deal legislation enacted during the last two months of Congress. The bill was blocked by Senator Huey Long of Louisiana, who filibustered through the closing six hours of the session.

WITH STATE ON SIX ISSUES; OPPOSES REPEAL

Deaf Smith favored four of the proposed amendments in Saturday's election, while opposing three. However, it went with the remainder of the state on six of the seven issues, opposing repeal, which carried in the state.

The county favored old age pensions, commitment of insane, suspended sentences and abolition of the fee system in certain counties, while opposing repeal, amendments at special sessions and textbooks for private schools.

Planning Board Okehs Project

Word that the Government colonization project in Deaf Smith county, under the Rural Rehabilitation division, has been given the approval of the State Planning Board has been received by the chamber of commerce here from Wilbur C. Hawk of Amarillo, a member of the board.

This is the first step in the long line toward final operation of such a project. B. H. Hopkins, president of the chamber of commerce, explained. The project has been turned over to the state resettlement division. When approved, it will go to the regional office in Oklahoma and thence to Washington. If it receives Federal approval, it will be turned over to the Land Utilities Division to be returned to Austin for the Rural Resettlement Division, from where it will be put into operation.

Dr. C. A. Wiley, director of Resettlement in Texas, with offices at Austin, last week assured Mr. Hopkins that the local project had progressed as far as any other of this nature.

The project calls for the purchase of 4,000 acres of land in the county, dividing it up into small irrigation units, equipping each unit with homes and irrigation facilities, and then selling them on long time terms to individuals for the purpose of supervised rehabilitation.

Clean-Up Campaign Opens Here Monday

Mayor C. J. Paddock returned to Hereford this week after an absence of two weeks to announce the fall clean-up campaign for next week.

The campaign is to start Monday, but citizens are urged to clean up their property before that time. City trucks will pick up all garbage piled neatly in alleys. Since the truck will start out Monday, it is not safe to wait until after that time to start cleaning up. If any trash is missed by the truck, it probably will not return for it, it was announced.

Mayor Paddock urged that all people of Hereford cooperate in the campaign so that it may be of maximum benefit to the city. The campaign will run throughout next week. The probable route of the pickup truck was not announced, making it necessary that everyone give the work attention this weekend in order not to be passed up early next week.

SATURDAY FINAL DATE FOR WHEAT SEED LOANS

Saturday will be the final day for farmers to submit applications for summer fallowing or wheat seed loans, according to an announcement recently by the regional crop loan office. There definitely will be no future extension, officials stated.

Many farmers have made applications and others who are planning to do so are urged not to delay too long. Miss Mary Kate Brotherton is taking applications at the chamber of commerce office in the city hall.

Hereford Grad Gets Position.

Miss Myrtle McGowan, 18, graduate of Hereford High School in 1933, who has recently returned from Los Angeles, has been elected to teach primary grades in the Washburn school.

STATE PARK SHOWS RESULTS OF YEAR OF LABOR BY C. C. C.

Following a year of unremitting work, the Herford State Park is showing the results of the labors and efforts of the men of Company 1862 and the supervisory personnel. A year ago the area now comprising the park was but a dumping ground and a barren patch of sun-scorched earth, with a small creek running through it. Today 1,100 trees have been planted and of which a large majority are thriving. The combination building, clubhouse and concession is nearly completed and represents some of the finest architectural work in the National Park Service.

The work is being pushed to completion with all possible speed. This week four construction foremen of the State Park Service of Palo Duro were added to the supervisory personnel of the local station. They are P. L. Bottoms, W. J. Caserta, K. Childs and R. E. Lee.

The outside stone work on the club house, city park, and the combination building have been completed. Several members of the stone crews have been transferred to the park unit detail which is constructing the latrine. The latter will be of the same type construction as the other buildings.

The air compressor with air hammers and drills were transferred to Brownwood State Park Sunday, which is in line with the policy of the National Park Service of keeping equipment, in use, transferring it from one location to another as soon as its need is complied with.

In order to promote friendly relations between officers of the C.C.C. and the business men and officials of Herford, a dinner was given Thursday evening in the mess hall by officers of Company 1862 C.C.C. As well as giving the officers of the new Lubbock district an opportunity to meet with local business men, the affair was in honor of Capt. Roy Adair taking over the command of the company and as a farewell to Lieut. Sidney R. Swaller, who is reporting to inactive status upon the completion of his tour of duty here.

A feast of fried chicken with all the trimmings was prepared by Stewart Morgan and staff and served to Capt. W. T. Bolton, sub-district commander; Capt. I. C. Eldridge, district surgeon; Capt. R. E. Adair; 1st Lt. L. D. Hancock; 1st Lt. S. R. Swaller; 2nd Lt. H. G. Hall, district welfare officer.

J. H. Olson, A. H. Streu, Bill Smith, S. P. Rosson, DeWitt Landis, R. J. Richardson, L. R. Bradley, A. R. Posey, C. C. Acker, Jno. McLean and H. P. Sinds, all of Herford.

Declared by old settlers to be a "strange critter," a turtle or something similar to one, but having distinctive prehistoric features, was captured Saturday by Assistant Leader G. D. Gilmore and C. E. Love. The catch was made while the men were draining a hole in the creek preparatory to building a retaining wall across the stream. The reptile differed greatly in appearance to turtles generally caught in this vicinity. According to Gilmore, who caught the creature, it was exceedingly pugnacious and attempted to bite the two men. Scales a quarter of an inch in diameter protected the legs and tail, and claws two inches long protruded from the five-toed feet. The head was extraordinarily large, with a wide sharp-beaked mouth. The miniature "dinosaur" could raise itself upon its horny legs nearly a foot from the ground and would make short leaps in attempts to reach its captors. The back was covered with a long moss-like substance. When shown to residents who have had knowledge of the Tierra Blanca and its inhabitants for years, they said that they had never seen anything like it.

In a smashing ninth inning rally, Co. 1828 evened honors with Co. 1862 by a score of 16 to 15 at the new ball grounds of Co. 1828, 16 miles north of Amarillo. The Herford veterans had the game in the bag until the last half of the

Tri-State To Be 'Top' Fair This Season

TO LEAD STATE SINCE DALLAS EXPOSITION CALLED OFF

From both an educational and entertainment standpoint, the Tri-State Fair in Amarillo September 14-21, will be "tops."

This year the fair holds undisputed rank as the largest exposition in Texas and to entertain the crowds the management has arranged for many attractions, including a three-ring circus.

With this circus, formerly known as Bailey Brothers, but now owned by Hagley Sadler, well known for his amusement enterprises, is Jack Hoxie, western screen star.

Hoxie, who has had the leading role in such pictures as "Outlaw Justice" and "Trouble Busters," will appear in person at each circus performance. Jack Hoxie, one of the favorites of western fans, also was starred in "Law and Lawless," "Via Pony Express," and a number of others.

While giving performances daily at the exposition grounds, the circus will stage a mile-long parade every other day, September 16, 18 and 20.

Other entertainment features will be Beckman and Garey shows, largest of midway attractions, daily horse races and a variety of other amusements.

Exhibitors from every section of the exposition's vast territory and many from distant states already have made entries.

Officials of the fair association predict there will not be only more and better exhibits, but also larger crowds at the 1935 exposition. Many cities served by the exposition already are making plans for huge motor caravans and special trains to the fair.

ninth when a battling attack led by Van Leon smothered in three runs giving the soil erosionists a one-run lead. The next game of the five-game play-off for the district trophy will be played at the '28 field. The following game will be played at Herford.

1st Lt. and Mrs. S. F. Swaller left Herford Sunday for Houston where they expect to stay for some time. Lt. Swaller had just returned from Fort Sill hospital where he received treatment for minor injuries received while helping quiet a temporarily insane man. He will revert to inactive status September 5. Until then he will be on official leave from Co. 1862.

Twelve members of '62 helped Co. 1828 and 1821 move to their new locations the past week. Co. 1828 moved to a point 16 miles north of Amarillo, Co. 1821 going to Memphis.

The wading pool for children at the crossing near the picnic unit is about complete, according to Assistant Leader A. A. Leaverton, who has had charge of the project.

Mrs. R. A. Adair and son, James, accompanied by Mrs. Wick Adair and daughter, Billie Frank, of Ada, Okla., arrived Sunday to spend several days with Capt. Roy Adair.

First Aldman F. D. Clift set a new record for "Ike Waltons" of the company to shoot at Saturday night when he caught 16 catfish ranging in size from one and a half pounds to a half pound.

While members of Company 1862 have serious doubts as to the favorable representative comparison, a pet skunk threatens to become the company mascot. This animal was caught when about two weeks old by Gale (Cowboy) Baber and has since been fed and petted by him daily. He takes the striped animal away from its cage and makes it "do tricks." It has become quite friendly with the men, even the camp dogs have fallen to excite its instinctive odoriferous tendencies. However, it is doubtful if the animal will ever make a public appearance without considerable misgivings on the part of most of those in the immediate vicinity.

K. D. Vernor, architect for the Herford State Park, received a letter of commendation from Senior Inspector Geo. Mason of the National Park Service. The letter complimented Vernor on the excellent appearance of the park buildings and the manner in which they were constructed.

TREE THAT INSPIRED POEM IS CUT DOWN

Larchmont, N. Y.—Immortalized by the late Joyce Kilmer in his poem, "Trees," a magnificent 200-year-old elm on the estate of Mrs. Frederick W. Stevens was cut down this week by order of forestry officials.

The lordly tree, which inspired Kilmer to write his celebrated poem three years before he was killed in action in France, was stricken with Dutch elm disease, and was condemned to prevent the spread of the disease to other plants.

Schools Open Monday

School will open Monday and hundreds of children will be going and coming every day . . . your children and our children . . . and it is the duty of every motorist to drive carefully, . . . to always have his or her car under perfect control. The accident toll for 1935 is already appalling and now with the added danger . . . DRIVE CAREFULLY!

A Proclamation By Mayor Paddock

Whereas, at the opening of school, hundreds of Hereford children will be going to and from school five days of each week, I, Charles J. Paddock, Mayor of Hereford, do hereby call on every citizen to aid in the campaign for safety in which the city government, as well as individuals and other groups, have profound concern.

May every driver of a motor car exercise special care for the protection of life at the approaching season which in the past has brought an increase in the toll of accidental deaths and injuries. Likewise, it is appropriate to warn children to employ caution when crossing thoroughfares, or wherever accidents are likely to occur.

CHAPTER III

SOPHRONIA WILLARD had driven a half mile from the limits of Heron River before she spoke to the girl, who sat beside her straight and white as an icicle. Then Phronie said between her long white teeth, "D—n them! The ignoramuses. Don't you mind 'em, child! You've done nothin' wrong. Don't let 'em scare you!"

"I know," the girl said in that same level voice. "It must have been a great shock to you, Aunt Sophronia."

"It was."

For a little time there was no conversation between them. Sophronia almost wished the girl had thrown a fit of hysterics—anything rather than this frozen silence. It was unnatural in such a young thing.

"But we won't do any talking tonight, Silver," she said presently. "You must get a good rest. I am sorry Roddy—he's my oldest stepson—I'm sorry he's away in the good car. This is an awful rattle-trap for you to be comin' home in!"

Silver seemed to have been thinking her own thoughts. "Your stepson—Roddy," she ventured, "will he mind very much—my coming?"

"He won't mind anything, unless you sell your land to a cash buyer," Sophronia said grimly, and then could have bitten her tongue out. She had just said that tonight they wouldn't do any talking.

"Oh!"

"I didn't exactly mean that," Sophronia shouted. "It's just that he's tilled your section, with his dad's until he feels that it's his own. Don't pay attention to me tonight. I'm a little scattered, I guess."

"I don't think I shall want to sell the land, Aunt Sophronia," Silver said monotonously. "If you will just let me stay with you, I'll be ever so grateful."

Sophronia's heart leaped. Well, if it was going to be as simple as that!

"Stay!" she exclaimed. "Isn't this your rightful home? And ain't it your closest kin? I'd be a fine one, I would, if I didn't insist on your living with me!"

"Thank you, Aunt Sophronia," Silver said, "I can't say any more."

"You don't need to," Sophronia remarked tersely. "And don't call me 'Sophronia'! It's too much like me. I get 'Phronie' from them that likes me. You can cut out the 'aunt' too. It makes me feel old."

"Phronie," Silver repeated very thoughtfully. "Dad called you that, but I wasn't sure—"

"If it was moonlight," the older shield. Qualms were unusual with Phronie, but she experienced them now.

"We've got to buck up, Silver," Sophronia said violently. "I know how you feel. Jim was my only brother. If he'd been my father I couldn't of felt worse. We've got to keep a stiff upper lip, my dear!"

"I know," the girl said in that same level voice. "It must have been a great shock to you, Aunt Sophronia."

"It was."

"Phronie," Silver repeated very thoughtfully. "Dad called you that, but I wasn't sure—"

"If it was moonlight," the older woman interrupted, "you could see a stand of white birch against that rise there. The old house—your great-grandfather's homestead—sits back a ways. It's part furnished still, just like it was when he built it—seventy-five years ago— We use the place for the crew now durin' thrashin'. Well, we're getting home."

The girl stirred slightly and glanced back down the slope. "I remember this hill," she said.

"Yes, you was born in that old house," Sophronia declared promptly. "And your mother died in it."

Out of the sultry darkness, old Roderick came toward them from the big house, where one light was burning in the living room. Sophronia saw his arms outstretched toward Jim's daughter, and heard the booming greeting of his voice, and was suddenly afraid. But Jim's daughter did not break down. There was something uncanny about the girl, Sophronia thought in confusion.

In the house Phronie relieved Silver Grenoble of her wraps and the men took her luggage upstairs. With the firm belief in the efficacy of food to dull the sharp edge of grief, Phronie then busied herself preparing a plate of sandwiches. Jason went to the cooler in the vegetable cellar outside, and he brought in a stone jug of ginger beer, while old Roderick kept Silver company in the living room.

When Sophronia returned with the sandwiches, she saw a bit of color on Silver's cheeks, and although her eyes were darting about the room like dark flames, they were no longer the eyes of some stricken animal.

Sophronia placed the sandwiches and glasses on the table with its crocheted dolly, and Jason poured ginger ale into the glasses.

"Now, Silver," she said stoutly, "you must have a bite. That darned old car must have played you out—I sure did me!"

The men helped themselves, reaching out to the decked table in painful fastidiousness with their large brown hands.

Sophronia took in Silver's appearance in detail. The girl was slender, but not as frail as Phronie had at first supposed. Her eyes were dark blue, although by the light of the acetylene lamp they seemed almost black. He hair was what would be called ash-blond, she decided, and it waved slightly and was dressed in a plain fashion low upon her neck.

Then Sophronia looked about the room and saw it, in a twinkling, as she had not seen it in years. She saw it now because she was wondering what Jim's daughter was thinking about.

She saw the unobtrusive, faded tan of the wall paper, with the silver stripe in it. That was not in bad taste, she thought stoutly. The curtains were of ecru net, with side strips and valance of plain blue rep; that had been Roddy's idea. She saw the upright piano of black walnut, the keys yellowing, and recalled that until Roddy had removed it there had been a handsome green velvet scarf on its top, hand-painted in pink roses. Sophronia looked at the wall and thought how much cosier they had been with the pictures and mottoes on them, and the burnt leather panel with the head of Pocahontas and the little calendar below. Now, on the wall opposite her were three smallish etchings, placed step-ladder fashion. Black and white—no color or life to them! One was only land and sky, the second the same with a windmill stuck in it, and the third was an old horse plodding across a frozen pond dragging a two-wheeled cart.

"And is this lawyer—this Benjamin Hubbard you speak of—" old Roderick was saying—"is he looking after all the arrangements?"

"Yes," Silver replied softly but very clearly. "Ben is looking after everything. It was Dad's wish that his body should be cremated and his ashes sent here—to be near Mother's grave."

"And did he live long enough to tell you that?" Phronie asked, clearing her throat.

"Oh—he spoke of that some months ago," Silver said, "right after he had his first heart attack. But he mentioned it again—before he died."

"I see," Phronie winked rapidly several times.

The men shifted their feet in awkward silence.

Sophronia kept her eyes on Silver as the girl continued speaking in the same subdued tone. Almost as though she had been there, Sophronia experienced in Silver's telling, the events of the summer. She saw the scorching day in June when Jim Grenoble had crumpled forward on the street and the doctor had warned him. She saw Jim's eyes as he had looked then—levelly into the face of doom. She heard the doctor's voice telling Jim that one of these days his heart would snap like a rubber band that has been stretched too far. She heard Jim asking his daughter, Silver to see to it—if anything happened—that his ashes should rest in the country cemetery at Heron River. Sophronia could hear Silver promising—and pleading desperately with him then to go away with her to some quiet place, away from the tension and fever of the life they were living. And she could see him patting his daughter's hand gently and telling her that they would go soon—just as soon as they had enough money put by.

Phronie said, "Did Jim never mention wantin' to come back—I mean—before he knew he was dyin'?"

ginger ale into the glasses.

"Now, Silver," she said stoutly, "you must have a bite. That darned old car must have played you out—I sure did me!"

The men helped themselves, reaching out to the decked table in painful fastidiousness with their large brown hands.

Sophronia took in Silver's appearance in detail. The girl was slender, but not as frail as Phronie had at first supposed. Her eyes were dark blue, although by the light of the acetylene lamp they seemed almost black. He hair was what would be called ash-blond, she decided, and it waved slightly and was dressed in a plain fashion low upon her neck.

Then Sophronia looked about the room and saw it, in a twinkling, as she had not seen it in years. She saw it now because she was wondering what Jim's daughter was thinking about.

She saw the unobtrusive, faded tan of the wall paper, with the silver stripe in it. That was not in bad taste, she thought stoutly. The curtains were of ecru net, with side strips and valance of plain blue rep; that had been Roddy's idea. She saw the upright piano of black walnut, the keys yellowing, and recalled that until Roddy had removed it there had been a handsome green velvet scarf on its top, hand-painted in pink roses. Sophronia looked at the wall and thought how much cosier they had been with the pictures and mottoes on them, and the burnt leather panel with the head of Pocahontas and the little calendar below. Now, on the wall opposite her were three smallish etchings, placed step-ladder fashion. Black and white—no color or life to them! One was only land and sky, the second the same with a windmill stuck in it, and the third was an old horse plodding across a frozen pond dragging a two-wheeled cart.

"And is this lawyer—this Benjamin Hubbard you speak of—" old Roderick was saying—"is he looking after all the arrangements?"

"Yes," Silver replied softly but very clearly. "Ben is looking after everything. It was Dad's wish that his body should be cremated and his ashes sent here—to be near Mother's grave."

"And did he live long enough to

BACK TO SCHOOL

Approximately 1,000 Hereford children will return to school Monday. Until school is actually under way, we seldom realize just how great a difference it makes in the lives of everyone in the community.

We provide the children with the finest schooling facilities we can afford, but our responsibility does not end there. Unless we show enthusiasm and every consideration possible, we have not fulfilled this responsibility.

The greatest change comes with the children themselves. Vacation time ends, and they must forget the carefree summer days and accustom themselves to studying, keeping quiet, obeying instructions and getting plenty of sleep at nights. Here the parents must cooperate in order for the children to receive the greatest benefits from their school work. A child left to form its own habits will be handicapped from the start.

Do not let physical defects handicap your children and destroy or hamper their chances of being the top-notch pupils. Be sure their eye-sight, hearing and physical comfort are not retarded by defects.

Each year a safety campaign is pushed in almost every community in the United States just as school opens. This is not "a stunt" or promotion scheme. It is done in all seriousness and should not be passed over lightly. When children return to school, new hazards face motorists and children alike.

If these children are worth educating and developing, they are certainly worthy of protection. An accidental death or the maiming of a child on its way to or from school is one of the most tragic occurrences of community life. Everything possible should be done to prevent it. This is the outstanding responsibility of the citizens who make the advantages of schooling possible.

There is little need to urge support of all school activities. We give the students the privilege of entering into these activities by footing the bills. We are not likely to leave them entirely to their own resources with our investments.

By Their Words AND OURS

"While the big boys howl against Roosevelt policies, farmers, long a disinherited group, can now, through the administration's aid to agriculture, borrow money to redeem their mortgages at four per cent. A new faith in agriculture has been brought about by the administration's measures. That in turn has increased the confidence of investors in farm credits as a profitable field for investment. Previous administrations promised much to agriculture but the Roosevelt regime has fulfilled its promises."—The Curry County (N. M.) Times.

"Tax payers of this community might find some comfort in comparing their taxes with those of other counties, providing there is any comfort to be found in the thought of taxes at all. Wheeler county recently set their rate at $1 with a valuation of 11 million dollars. The rate in Collingsworth county is 88 cents, with a valuation of less than seven million. In other words, it costs up approximately half as much money to operate the county government in Collingsworth county as it does in Wheeler county."—Wellington Leader.

"George Washington concluded that he would 'sooner be in his grave' than continue to be president. A lot of his successors have had reason to feel the same way."—The Tulsa Herald.

"Farmers of this area are preparing to harvest the biggest feed crop in years, according to comments by farmers on the streets here the last few days. Timely rains during the growing season insured excellent yields for many fields, they report. Only a few spots in this territory show need for moisture and prospects are that almost every farm will have full grain and feed bins this winter."—Abernathy Weekly Review.

"Everyone puzzles at times over the great mysteries of existence. Why are we here, where did we come from and where are we going? One has expressed the inconsistencies of life in these words: 'Man comes into this world without his consent, and leaves it against his will. During his stay on earth his life is spent in one continuous round of contraries and misunderstandings. When he first arrives everyone wants to kiss him. Before he passes out everyone wants to kick him. If he dies young there was a great future before him. If he lives to a ripe old age he is simply living to save funeral expenses, and is in the way. This life is a funny road. But we all like to travel it just the same.'"—The Mallesh Journal.

I was talking the other day to the man I consider the shrewdest political observer in the state and this is what he said: "I intend to vote wet in the election in August, but Texas will vote dry. There is no fight being made for the wet cause. The ministers, the brewers and the bootleggers are against us. The ministers, of course, are opposed. The brewers who make beer are satisfied. The bootleggers don't want to go out of business. It's an actual fact that in practically all the cities of Texas liquor is being sold cheaper than in New Mexico, where they have to pay a heavy state tax. The rank and file of the men who drink are obtaining all the liquor they want in Texas at a reasonable price, and they are not kicking, and have no reason to kick. The only ones who are fighting for repeal are distillers of whiskey and those who would

A LONG TIME AGO IN HEREFORD

(From The Hereford Brand, September 2, 1904.)

The Santa Fe was advertising a homeseekers train out of Chicago, Kansas City and intermediate points to this region on September 13 and 27.

The editor was wrought up because a report by the state treasurer showed Texas to be in the red some $300,000. He believed state funds were not being judiciously used.

Dr. W. J. Rogers had grown and placed on exhibition a cabbage head which weighed an even 15 pounds.

Cotton culture was attracting much attention on the High Plains. Gins were going up everywhere, and a bumper crop was predicted.

Tucker and Jacobsen advertised installation of a new machine to be used to make repairs on rubber tires for bug-gies.

Dr. Addison Clark had resigned as pastor of the Hereford Christian church to accept the presidency of Jarvis College at Thorp Springs.

(From The Hereford Brand, September 4, 1914.)

Commissioners Court had met and perfected plans for a new jail in Deaf Smith county.

G. L. Abbott of Umbarger visited in Hereford, and told of a big wheat crop he was preparing to sow. The field contained 60 acres, half of which was ready to plant.

Music by band, welcome address by Judge L. Gough, an address by Hon. John H. Stephens, dinner at 12:30, all followed by tournament, roping contest, baseball game, bronco riding and races comprised the program of the big picnic rally in Hereford Saturday, September 3.

(From The Hereford Brand, September 4, 1914.)

Jessie, Bessie, Helen and Cotta Sisk, Mary Gallaher, Clara Lambert, Jennie Carter, Anna Garrison, Annie Price, Ethel Fuqua, Waldine Wilson, Hazel Wilson, Glenn Coulson, Frances Dameron and Meda Woodburn, Mary and Irene Williams, Edith Rayzor, Bertha Dameron, Harriett Shirley, Clara and Letha Edwards made up Hereford's quota of teachers in the various schools of this area.

George Bippus had been killed in an accident in which two row binders drawn by runaway horses had collided.

C. T. Gann of Cameron, N. M., had marketed his wheat crop in Hereford, it requiring ten wagons to transport the grain. His crop average 22 bushels per acre, and he reported on farmer in his vicinity who made 40 bushels per acre.

Members of the First Christian church were making preparations to complete the basement of the church building.

Monday, September 8, was the date set for opening the Hereford schools. All teachers were on hand and a very successful term was predicted. J. H. Bright was superintendent.

SUBSCRIBERS ARE CARRIED AWAY WITH QUINTS' PICTURES

Brand subscribers are being carried away with pictures of the Dionne quintuplets, and, incidentally, are carrying away calendars bearing an attractive, colored photograph of the famous children.

These calendars are free to subscribers of the Brand with each new subscription or with each renewal. Because of the expense of obtaining these calendars, the Brand cannot give them to anyone other than subscribers.

The picture is one of the best ever taken of the five Canadian children. In addition, the calendar gives a brief history of their short, interesting lives.

The lone license was issued on August 22 to Clifford Stewart and Miss Willie Lois Harris. Births and deaths were also conspicuous by their absence from the county records during the past week.

STUDY

Is The Secret To School

SUCCESS

and Proper Lighting Saves His Eyes

Johnny was such a bright pupil when he first started to school. He studied hard and made excellent grades—he was at the head of his class until he entered high school. But he seems to have lost interest somehow. He complained all of last year. "Didn't want to study. It made his head ache. His eyes were weak. Will he be the same again this year, or will he get over his excuse making? He is such a problem. May even get behind his class—What can be done about him?"

but was he making excuses?

Under what conditions does he have to study? Does improper lighting make his homework easy for him? Or has he lost interest in study because the previous years of hard work have weakened his eyes, made his head ache when he tries to read?

Before he starts to school this year, be sure he is given the advantage of ideal lighting at his study desk. Make him comfortable with a modern reading lamp, placed correctly, and with the proper amount of light. Tired eyes and headaches gone, he will find new interest in his homework. No boy wants to drop behind his class.—Give him the chance he needs, and he'll prove that himself.

CARE IN HANDLING FOOD URGED BY HEALTH HEAD

It is a matter of vital importance, particularly during the warm summer season, that sanitary measures be applied to prevent contamination of perishable foods, stated Dr. John W. Brown, state health officer. Various intestinal disorders result from food which has in some way been rendered unwholesome. Summer diarrhea or "summer complaint," affecting old and young, is a serious type of stomach and bowel condition. So called "botulism poisoning," in nearly all cases, is none other than a food infection due to the presence in food of harmful bacteria or germs.

Perishable food, if contaminated, endangers human health. This hazard is greater in warm weather, because germs or their products multiply or develop more rapidly at high temperature. Some of the most valuable foods are of perishable nature. Such foods demand the exercise of safeguards. Among well known precautions, which need to be used if perishable foods are to be kept wholesome, are the following:

First, some form of modern refrigeration or cooling is necessary to preserve food from day to day. Lack of an effective cooling process causes meat to spoil and milk to contain a dangerously large number of bacteria.

Second, resort to thorough cooking or boiling is the simplest and yet most useful method of preventing illness of food-borne character. This precaution applies especially to food prepared for infants and children.

Third, contamination of perishable food is avoided through the constant exercise of cleanliness on the part of those who handle food.

Fourth, pastries and other food products make a far greater appeal to the consumer or patron if there is an entire absence of flies. Adequate provision for fly screens and application of every known means of fly and insect extermination are worthwhile.

The rewards of improved sanitation include tangible assets of good health and sound business.

When Emotion is Dangerous Emotion which is not disciplined by thought is always dangerous.

Former Farm Agent Lauds People Here

Dewey Reed, former county agricultural agent here, who resigned recently to accept a customs position at Laredo, compliments local people and institutions for their work and assistance in carrying out the farm program in this county.

In a letter to Mrs. Seth B. Holman, publisher of the Brand, Mr. Reed stated:

"As you were gone when I was called away, I did not have the opportunity to express my appreciation for the help given all agricultural programs through the publicity furnished by your paper. Because of the information carried in your paper, the Deaf Smith county people were well informed on all phases of the Triple A programs.

"Mr. Landis was careful to see that all information published was correct; and he is to be commended for his good work.

"I wish it were so that every person interested in the Government agricultural programs could subscribe to the Hereford Brand. The information given out by your paper could save some of them many dollars because they would be more thoroughly familiar with the different programs and would know how to take advantage of them.

"The publicity afforded by your paper plus the cooperation received from the farmers and business men made this work a success in Deaf Smith county. Much credit should go to Judge Humble and the Commissioners Court for they certainly backed every move that meant something to the people of that county.

"I think Deaf Smith county has the best people to be found anywhere. They can take more reverses, hold their heads up and complain the least of any people I ever came in contact with.

"If my successor received the same cooperation and encouragement I received, he will make a success of his work."

Joe E. Brown in "Alibi Ike" OPENS AT STAR ON SUNDAY

Joe E. Brown is coming to town Sunday. He will appear at the Star Theatre in "Alibi Ike," Warner Brothers' home run comedy, based on the popular story by Ring Lardner.

Joe, in the title role, is both a crack pitcher and the best batter of his club. He has an alibi for everything—not just for mistakes—but for plays any other player would have been proud of.

Joe falls in love with the sister of the captain's wife, but when he alibis on his romance, the girl hears him and turns him down cold.

Thrills follow in which Joe is kidnaped by a bunch of crooks, but he escapes, and the romance is patched up by the players in one of the most comical climaxes imaginable.

Would Create Districts for Wind Erosion Conservation

HOUSE BILL No. 978
AN ACT
AUTHORIZING the creation and incorporation of Wind Erosion Conservation Districts coextensive with the area of any county in this State; prescribing the methods of creation of same and designating the powers and duties of such Districts; prescribing that the County Judge and Commissioners Court shall constitute the Governing Body and that the County Treasurer and County Clerk shall be the Treasurer and Clerk of such Districts; making such Districts agencies of the State; prescribing the nature of work that may be done by the Districts and providing that a portion of the costs thereof may be assessed against real property in such Districts and prescribing the method of making such assessments; providing for the issuance of assessment certificates and the creation of liens to secure same; and providing for suits on such certificates and for the foreclosure of such liens; committing the use of twenty (20) per cent of automobile registration fees collected by counties where such Districts are created and authorizing the transfer of Road and Bridge Special Taxes to such Districts; providing that the Districts can not levy ad valorem taxes, and declaring an emergency.

Be It Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas:

Section 1. The creation and incorporation of Wind Erosion Conservation Districts coextensive with the boundaries of any county in this State is hereby authorized under and by virtue of Section 59, Article XVI, of the Constitution. The area of any county may be formed into such a Conservation District when the qualified tax paying voters of such county, voting at an election to be held for such purpose, by majority vote sanction and authorize the creation and incorporation of such District. The creation of such Districts is deemed essential to the accomplishment of the purposes of the above mentioned Section of the Constitution and when any such District is created as herein provided the same shall be a governmental agency and body politic and corporate with the powers of government and with authority to exercise the rights, privileges and functions as are conferred by this Article. Such a District shall bear the name of the county creating same and shall be so designated.

Sec. 2. When petitioned by not less than fifty (50) duly qualified property tax paying voters, the Commissioners Court of any county in this State shall call an election to be held throughout such county to determine whether a majority of the legally qualified tax paying voters of such county favor the creation and incorporation of the area of such county into a Wind Erosion Conservation District. The procedure for holding and declaring the result of such an election shall be in substantial compliance with the requirements for elections to vote bonds for public improvements. All persons who are legally qualified property tax paying voters shall be entitled to vote at such election. Each voter favoring the creation and incorporation of such District shall have written or printed on his ballot "For the Creation and Incorporation of the Deaf Smith County Wind Erosion Conservation District," and each voter who opposes the creation of such District shall have written or printed on his ballot "Against the creation and incorporation of Deaf Smith County Wind Erosion Conservation District."

Sec. 3. When the returns of the election mentioned in Section 2 have been canvassed by the Commissioners Court, the result of such election shall be declared by order entered on the Minutes of said Court and, if the result is in favor of the creation and incorporation of the District, the County Judge shall issue an order declaring such District to be created and incorporated and such order shall also be entered in the Minutes of the Commissioners Court and a certified copy thereof entered in the Deed Records of the county. Thereupon, the District shall be deemed legally created and incorporated with all the rights, powers, authority and privileges herein conferred and authorized by Section 59, of Article XVI, of the Constitution, for the purpose of conserving and reclaiming the soil in such District.

Sec. 4. When a Wind Erosion Conservation District is created, the County Commissioners and the County Judge will thereupon become the Governing Body of such District. The County Judge shall be chairman of the Board, with authority to vote in case of a tie and charged with the usual and customary duties as presiding officer. The County Treasurer will be the Treasurer of the District and the County Clerk shall become the Clerk of the Governing Body. The Treasurer shall have the care and custody of all funds, obligations and securities of the District and shall disburse and dispose of same in compliance with the orders of the Governing Body.

The Treasurer shall execute and deliver to the County Judge a good and sufficient bond in the penal sum of not less than Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000) nor more than Ten Thousand Dollars ($10,000), conditioned for the faithful discharge of his duties and the disposition of all funds and obligations of said District as required by law. The bond shall be signed by a solvent Surety Company authorized to do business in this State, and the premiums thereon shall be paid by the District. The Clerk shall keep an accurate record of all orders, minutes and resolutions of the Governing Body and shall countersign all vouchers and documents and perform such other acts as may be directed by the Governing Body. The duties herein imposed upon the County Judge and Commissioners, the County Clerk and Treasurer shall be ex-officio duties. By vote of the Governing Body may allow the County Clerk and County Treasurer a monthly compensation of not more than Twenty-five Dollars ($25), which shall be paid by the District.

Sec. 5. The function of a Wind Erosion Conservation District is to conserve the soil by the prevention of unnecessary erosion caused by winds, and the reclamation of lands that have been depreciated or denuded of soil by reason of the foregoing, such a District shall have and is hereby authorized to exercise the following rights, powers, privileges and authority, viz:

(a) To prevent or aid in the prevention of damage to lands and the public roads and highways due to the unnecessary movement of sand, dust and soil originating from lands within or without such District.

(b) To construct improvements and maintain any and all facilities to arrest or prevent the erosion of soils or lands within such District by reason of winds.

(c) To have the right to enter upon any lands in the District for the purpose of treating same to prevent the spread of soil erosion and damage to other lands in such District.

(d) To borrow money for the corporate purposes of such District and to pledge any certificates, titles or securities held by such District as security therefor, and to pledge and assign any and all revenue or income to secure the repayment thereof. In this connection, any such District may issue its obligations, warrants, bonds and debentures or other evidences of indebtedness, with interest not to exceed five (5) per cent per annum, maturing within ten (10) years and payable out of and secured by the revenues and incomes of such District, with the reservation or provision that no such obligation shall be paid out of ad valorem taxes.

(e) To accept grants and to borrow money from the United States of America or from any corporation or agency created or designed by the United States of America to loan and/or grant money, and in connection with such grants and/or loans to enter into such agreements as may be required for such purpose.

(f) To sue or be sued in its corporate capacity.

(g) To adopt a corporate seal.

(h) To adopt by-laws and rules and regulations incident to or necessary to the dispatch of business and the discharge of corporate functions.

Sec. 6. The Governing Body of each Wind Erosion Conservation District shall consult and advise with the Director of Texas Experiment Station of A. and M. College, the County Agent, the Department of Agriculture of this State, and the Soil Erosion Service of the United States of America, and may generally conform to and cooperate in any regional plan determined upon in connection with the application and operation of this Act. Such Districts shall be agencies of the State of Texas charged with the responsibility of conserving the natural resources in soil.

Sec. 7. The Governing Body of such Wind Erosion Conservation Districts shall have authority to accept gifts, grants, donations, advances and services from the United States or any other governmental agency, or agencies, in furtherance of the purposes for which such Wind Erosion Conservation District shall have been created, and shall administer and disburse such funds and all other money and property coming into its hands in the exercise of its sound discretion and in accordance with law. In the expenditure of funds, said Governing Body shall adhere to and be governed by the laws applicable to Commissioners Courts. All accounts shall be audited annually and a copy of such audit filed with the County Clerk for public inspection.

Sec. 8. When a program of work shall be determined upon and an assessment against property is contemplated, the Governing Body shall make up an estimate of the cost of such work and tentatively allocate a portion of such cost to the land and the owners thereof that will derive benefit from such work. The Governing Body shall enter an order on its minutes fixing the date for a hearing to determine whether or not assessments shall be made; and no assessment shall be made until a full and fair hearing shall first have been given the owners of such property, and in no event shall an assessment be made against any person or property in excess of the actual benefit to such owner in the protection given his property. Notice of the intention to make such assessment shall be given to the owners of all property against which a lien or assessment is contemplated, and such notice may be served in person upon the owner or the same may be published for two (2) weeks in some newspaper of general circulation published in the county, the first publication to be not less than ten (10) days prior to said hearing. The names of the owners, lienholders or interested parties need not be specifically set forth in such notice, but the parcel or parcels of land against which such assessments shall be made shall be briefly described in said notice by survey and block numbers or any other description reasonably identifying the same, but the amount of the proposed assessment shall be stated. Said notice shall command all parties to appear at a hearing to be held at the courthouse in said county and contest any proposed assessment against any particular piece of property, and at such hearing the Governing Body shall finally determine the amount, if any, of all assessments. If at such hearing it shall be determined that any particular piece of land will derive a benefit equal to or in excess of the amount of the assessment, then in that event the assessment shall be levied by order of the Governing Body. The assessment may be divided into three (3) equal annual installments which shall bear interest at the rate of five (5) per cent and shall be evidenced by certificates issued by the Governing Body, signed by the County Judge as Chairman, and attested by the Clerk under corporate seal. When so executed and levied, such certificate shall constitute a valid and binding first lien upon the property against which the same is made, and shall be recorded in the deed records of the county and, when so recorded, shall constitute notice to all subsequent purchasers.

Sec. 9. No assessment shall be made against any property used, claimed or occupied as a homestead, but the Governing Body is authorized to take liens securing such assessments in the manner now provided by law for fixing liens upon homesteads to secure the costs of improvements thereon.

Sec. 10. In the event any certificate issued by the Governing Body of any such District is not paid at the maturity thereof, suit may be instituted thereon in any Court of competent jurisdiction and the lien securing same foreclosed, and the property sold in the same manner and under the same procedure as provided for the foreclosure of other liens on real estate.

Sec. 11. Due to the fact that the highways in many counties are rendered useless by reason of the accumulation of sand, soil and dust from adjoining lands, the Commissioners Court of any county, the area of which comprises a Soil Erosion Conservation District, may, in its discretion, transfer to such District as much as twenty (20) per cent of the automobile registration fees accruing to such county, and the Governing Body of the District may then expend the funds so transferred in defraying the cost of soil erosion work. In like manner the Commissioners Court is hereby authorized to transfer to such District all or any part of any Road and Bridge Special Taxes that may be authorized by vote of the people of such county.

Sec. 12. Wind Erosion Conservation Districts created under and by virtue of this Act shall have no power to levy ad valorem taxes or create obligation payable out of funds raised by taxation, save and except to the extent herein specifically provided.

Sec. 13. The fact that unprecedented damage has resulted to the soil of the counties hereinafter named by reason of soil erosion caused by wind, which has been so serious as to drive people from their homes and to render vast areas of valuable land untenable; and the further fact that vast clouds of dust have been carried by winds for hundreds of miles and have caused practically every section of the State to suffer therefrom; and the further fact that such condition has seriously jeopardized the health of a great many people has resulted in a public calamity to the counties hereinafter named; therefore, to aid and facilitate the work to be performed by wind erosion conservation districts, the State ad valorem taxes that will accrue and be due and payable to the State of Texas for the years 1935 and 1936 from all property located in Dallam, Hartley, Oldham, Deaf Smith, Sherman, and Moore Counties, and fifty per cent (50%) of the ad valorem taxes that will accrue and be due and payable to the State of Texas for the years 1935 and 1936 from all property located in Lipscomb, Hansford and Ochiltree Counties, are hereby diverted to the conservation districts that may be hereafter formed in said counties, and the Governing Bodies of such conservation districts are authorized to use said sums to defray the necessary costs and expenses incident to the purpose for which such conservation districts are formed. As and when taxes from said counties are collected and paid into the State Treasury, the State Treasurer shall transfer and pay over the same to the Governing Body of the conservation districts formed in said counties and shall require such receipt as he may specify to evidence the receipt of said funds, provided that in the event either of said counties fails or refuses to form such conservation districts on or before October 1, 1935, then in that event the State Treasurer shall retain the State ad valorem taxes collected from said county as is required by general law. It is distinctly specified that the foregoing provision shall not in any case apply to the ad valorem taxes collected for school purposes or collected for the payment of Confederate pensions.

Sec. 14. The fact that a large portion of the State is suffering from soil erosion caused by wind and from dust clouds originating upon lands within this State; and the further fact that the serious consequences of such soil erosion can be arrested to a large degree by intelligent treatment of the affected areas, which are now rapidly deteriorating, create an emergency demanding the suspension of the Constitution Rule requiring bills to be read on three separate days in each House, and said Rule is hereby suspended, and this Act shall take effect from and after its passage, and it is so enacted.

Explains Loans For Irrigation

"The Congress has recently passed a measure amending the Farm Credit Act, under which authority is conferred upon the Land Bank Commissioner to make loans to individuals for physical improvements, including such things as wells." Congressman Marvin Jones said in a letter to H. V. Hennen, secretary of the chamber of commerce, in answer to an inquiry concerning loans for the installation of irrigation plants. "I think it would be well for interested individuals to consult the local secretary - treasurer of the National Farm Loan Association for information concerning the filing of an application for loans for such purposes. I believe he will be in position to furnish full information," he stated.

Mr. Hennen said a mechanic's lien would have to be given for such a loan for homestead improvements because of the homestead law, but that a mortgage would be sufficient on property other than homesteads, he believed.

Swimming Pool Plans Complete

Plans for the swimming pool at the Hereford State Park were completed Saturday by Kelso Verner, park architect, and mailed to Austin to be passed on. The pool, if constructed, will be a PWA project sponsored by the State Park Board. It may be grouped with several similar projects over the state.

Mr. Verner stated that the clubhouse at the city golf course will be completed in about a month, and that the park clubhouse probably will be finished early in December. George Nas, senior regional inspector in Texas, viewed the clubhouse last week-end and complimented the architect highly, saying that it is far above the average for such work.

Work was started last week-end on the retaining wall that is to hold up the road connecting the two sections of the park where Tierra Blanca flows under the bridge. This work, however, was held up the first part of the week because of rains that filled the creek.

Ford's Dearborn Plant Is Being Air-Conditioned

Ford Motor Company's Rouge factory at Dearborn, Michigan, the largest industrial plant in the world, is now being equipped with air conditioning throughout.

The purpose is three-fold, according to Ford officials—to control the accuracy of fine machining operations, such as cylinder lapping, to increase the comfort of the workmen, and to protect the processes from dust and dirt. For several years the company has controlled the temperature in its gages, some of which register in millionths of an inch, shall be insured. Within recent months temperature regulation has been extended to inspection rooms, and a few weeks ago the cylinder lapping room was air-conditioned. Installation of air conditioning in various mould rooms of the factory is now in progress.

While it will be impossible to control the temperature exactly in the casting room because of the great heat radiated from the ladles of molten steel while casting is in progress, it will be possible to reduce the temperature and humidity greatly and so increase the comfort of the men.

It is planned to extend temperature regulations to the rooms where cylinder blocks are bored out before lapping, and to rooms where cranks, shafts, camshafts, pistons and flywheels are finished.

Air conditioning is now being installed in the executive and other offices of the company at Dearborn.

Noel Bryant left last week with his sister, Mrs. O. W. Carter, for Haskell where he will lead the singing in a two weeks gospel meeting, before going to school at McMurry College in Abilene.

While the future of all the amendments, either going into the laws or dying, seemed assured, the repeal issue is expected to create considerable controversy before it becomes law. State officials have warned liquor dealers to remain inactive until the legislature decides how the traffic will be handled. Counties with local option will continue to be dry until repeal is affected within the county.
