TO BURY EYESORE

New City Dump Plan Explained by Bayne

A new program for a clean-up of Hereford's city dump, which has been an eyesore at the eastern entrance to the town for more than a generation, was outlined during the city commission meeting Monday night by City Manager Dudley Bayne.

portion of a drylake bed just west of town that has been leased from Carl McCaslin at no cost to the city. Bayne pointed out that a shorter haul to the landfill site should reduce the cost of moving trash.

with just one machine after work at the old dump is completed," Bayne said. He hedged then, pointing out that the present bulldozer has fallen behind on its work due to its being used also to tear out cañons at the city pit and for special jobs other than digging and filling in the dump grounds.

"We'll bury all of that trash with a bulldozer during the next year," said Bayne. A sanitary landfill, which provides for covering of all trash and garbage immediately after it is gathered, is to take the place of the overflowing old dumpground.

BUT THE CITY will need a second bulldozer to operate the new dump, where all trash and garbage will be covered upon delivery, the city manager said. He proposed acquisition of a used machine on a lease purchase agreement.

An earlier plan to clear the dump grounds, which involved a Marble Falls salvage firm, folded after about 200 tons of tin cans was removed. The company paid the city $1 per ton for the metal it salvaged, but its efforts didn't make a visible dent in the mountains of debris, Bayne said.

The landfill will be located in a

New Dial Service To Start Dec. 15

Mayor Ray Godwin will make the first direct long distance telephone call when Hereford's new dial system goes into operation at 1:01 a.m. Sunday, Dec. 15. He will be calling the Mayor of Honolulu, Territory of Hawaii.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. officials began planning the ultra long distance call immediately after learning that Honolulu, over 3,400 miles away, has recently been included in the direct dialing network that will link Hereford telephone subscribers with telephones in hundreds of other cities.

Bill Leavy, Southwestern Bell manager, reported this week that Western Electric equipment installers are now working overtime at the Emerson Building in order to meet the Dec. 15 deadline for starting the new crossbar dial service.

Plans call for operators to begin calling Hereford telephone subscribers on Dec. 5 to let them make dial tests of their instruments and to give necessary information on use of the dial system. Training of telephone operators, now underway in the Emerson Building, is resulting in some lag in service afforded telephone users at the present time, Leavy said.

The telephone company plans to mail out new Hereford directories about Dec. 10.

Three bids on bulldozers over four years old, one from West Texas Equipment Co., Amarillo, and two from Plains Machinery Co., Amarillo, have been obtained on International TD-14A tractors, Bayne revealed. Decision on a lease-purchase agreement for the machine was delayed pending inspection of one owned by Plains Machinery and located at Lubbock. Prices quoted on the tractors ranged from $4,500 to $7,900.

THE COMMISSION meeting was presided over by Dr. R. R. Willis, who was named mayor pro tem by his fellow commissioners, in the absence of Mayor Ray Godwin.

Godwin is in the hospital with "the flu," Dr. Willis said as the session was convened. (He was released from the hospital on Tuesday.)

Also in the hospital for a day to have her tonsils out was Sandra Glenn, a member of The Brand's news staff. Miss Glenn will be at home for about a week and won't be writing her regular column, Potpourri, until she returns to the office.

Two Hereford girls, Jo Eddy Scott and Barbara Dameron were contestants in the South Plains Maid of Cotton contest at Lubbock Monday and Tuesday.

The West Hereford Home Demonstration Club's Thanksgiving dinner will be held at 6:30 p.m. Saturday at the Hereford State (Continued On Page 2)

Funeral Rites for L. M. Williams, 82, Retired Farmer

Funeral services for L. M. Williams, 82, a retired farmer, were held Wednesday afternoon in the Assembly of God Church with the Rev. V. W. Marcontell, pastor, officiating.

Mr. Williams, a resident of Deaf Smith County since 1925, died in his home at 13th and Ave. G at 2:15 a.m. Tuesday. He had been ill for several weeks.

He was born in Hill County on Dec. 22, 1874, and was married to Miss Alice Hamilton on March 7, 1895. They came here from Ranger. He was a member of the Assembly of God Church.

Gilliland Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements. Survivors include his wife; three sons, Jim A. of Clovis and Vernon and L. Elevator Workman Injured by Truck Emmanuel Serrana, an employee of Continental Grain Co., was seriously injured when he was run over by a pickup at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Serrana was described as being in "painful and serious" condition by Deaf Smith County Hospital attendants. They said Serrana has several fractured ribs.

Dennis Wosnitzky, Continental Grain manager, said Serrana was chaining down the pickup's front axle on the unloading platform when the pickup was waved forward. The right front wheel ran over Serrana, Wosnitzky said.

FALTERING PHILLIPS IS HERD'S FINAL OPPONENT

With almost a complete roster ready to go, the Hereford Whitefaces will take on the Phillips Blackhawks here in Whitefaces Stadium at 8 p.m. Friday in the final football game for both teams.

For the first time in several weeks, Coach Jack Harris' squad is almost at full strength with only three players out of action.

Harris had 22 of 25 men at practice Wednesday. Against Levelland last week only 18 players were suited out.

A pep rally for the student body will be held at 7 p.m. today at the corner of Third and Main.

"They'll play just like Phillips always does—hard," Harris said Wednesday. "They've got a good club," he added.

Both Hereford and Phillips are out of the running for the district championship. The title will be settled Friday night at Littlefield between the Wildcats and Levelland. Both teams are undefeated in conference play.

BACK IN THE Whiteface lineup after illness or injuries will be halfback Jim Curtsinger, fullback C. D. Fitzgerald and end Steve Slagle. Slagle, first string right end, suffered a dislocated elbow against Plainview on Oct. 11 and hasn't played since. Curtsinger has missed the last two games and Fitzgerald was out of the Levelland contest.

Still out are fullback James Teas, guard Pete Plank and reserve guard David Brumley. Teas had his neck injured in Littlefield game on Nov. 1 and is still out. Plank has a broken leg and Brumley has a dislocated elbow.

For 13 seniors, the game with Phillips will be their last. The seniors are fullback Robert Brown, quarterback Fred Lookingbill, Curtsinger, halfback Glenn Reeves, guards Charles Self, Don Bomar and Brumley, tackles Nathan Wilson, Bill Drake, Dick Fellers and John Beasley and ends Bobby Burrus and Leslie Sharp.

For the season the Whitefaces have two wins, six losses and one tie. The Whitefaces have not won a district game.

Phillips is under a new coach, Joe Means, who replaced Chester Walker. Phillips runs the T formation with variations.

Local FFA Teams Win Three Awards

Over 200 Future Farmers, representing chapters in 13 Texas Panhandle schools, were in Hereford Tuesday for the district FFA Leadership Contests. Hereford teams competing in four of the six events took one first and two third place awards.

Last Rites Held for Dr. Puckett

Funeral services for Dr. B. M. Puckett, Amarillo physician and Deaf Smith County landholder, were held Wednesday afternoon at the First Presbyterian Church in Amarillo.

Proposed Dam Is Studied by Army

Big Increase for Postal Receipts

Receipts at the Hereford post office for the period ending Nov. 15 show an increase of $1,120.22 over the same period last year. At total of $7,144.50 was shown for Oct. 18-Nov. 15 of this year and last year $6,024.88 was registered. The previous period, Sept. 20-Oct. 18 of 1957 had $6,240.59 total receipts. Postmaster Jim Lipscomb said he could find no particular reason for the increases.

Federal Grant Is Okayed for Sewage Plant Work Here

The state health department has approved a $19,000 federal grant from U. S. Public Health Service funds for improvements at the Hereford sewage disposal plant.

City Manager Dudley Bayne was notified of the funds approval yesterday. He said that final approval of the plans for the plant expansion and improvement program have not yet been received from the state. Cost of the project is expected to be $37,000, with the federal funds paying a third of the total.

The city recently issued $96,000 in bonds to finance improvement of the sewage disposal plant. Funds not used in the plant improvement project, Bayne said will be devoted to expansion of the sewage collection system.

With final approval still lacking for the plans, the need to advance for the construction work and other details still to be completed, Bayne said he does not expect work on the project to begin before February.

GEORGIA KNOWS HER GROCERIES

From U. S. Treasure to Country Store

By FRED MOEN

RICHLAND, Kan. (AP) — Georgia Neese Clark Gray, who used to be responsible for 27 billion dollars as the first woman U. S. treasurer, now may be found cutting meat or counting money in her combination general store and bank in this little community of 250 people.

Mrs. Gray — politician, businesswoman, farm operator and former actress — signed her name on all bills issued by the U. S. government during the second Truman administration, 1949 to 1953. But she says life in this little crossroads, with a own water pump and old-fashioned wooden canopies over the sidewalks, can be more challenging than in the nation's capital. You're most likely to find Mrs. Gray, a dynamic personality in her late 50s with wavy gray hair, sitting at a small wooden desk, with a typewriter at one side, behind the "cages" of the bank, located at the rear of her well-stocked general store. She and her husband, Andrew, also own a cafe, 75,000 bushel capacity grain elevator, an insurance agency and 1,800 acres of nearby farm land.

She's just as adept at cutting up a roast at the meat counter or weighing a load of wheat at the elevator as she is cashing a check or listening sympathetically to a straw-hatted farmer asking for an extension on his cattle loan.

As treasurer, Mrs. Gray was the nation's No. 1 cashier — collecting and disbursing billions of dollars in government funds.

"Most of the work of treasurer is done by rote," Mrs. Gray says. "You don't make any policy decisions. But operating these small town businesses means making decisions, taking risks and always being confronted with the human element."

"You know these people in a small town. You know their background. They know yours. Your emotions often get tied up and you sometimes make a deal that's not good business. But I'm a gambler on people. It's surprising how few people let you down."

She wasn't worried when she made the switch from Richland to Washington because — "If you can succeed in a little town you don't have to worry about succeeding in a city."

Did she find it hard to make the readjustment from life in Washington back to Richland? "No. I never got Potomac fever. Life in Washington means 'glamor, prestige and being in on things. You feel you are a part of government. In Richland you are a vital part of the community and state."

Mrs. Gray has been Democratic national committeewoman for Kansas since 1936. She has never sought elective office but during hot campaigns you'll often find her making fiery political speeches with the best of them.

"My main satisfaction in politics is helping people, whether they are Democrats or Republicans," Mrs. Gray says. She wields considerable influence in the Kansas Bayne reported that the appraisal should not be to increase tax revenue, but to equalize valuations.

The city manager pointed out that since the last such appraisal was completed there have been a number of changes in values of land. He suggested appointment of a special board to undertake the valuation work.

The city now takes valuations of land for tax purposes at 90 per cent of its actual value, or value at the time the last assessments were made, and building valuations at 100 per cent. Bayne suggested equalization of land and building valuations, also, should be undertaken.

Emphasizing his statement that no increase in taxation is contemplated was his report that the city is continuing to operate within its current budget. "I see no need for a change in tax rates, or water and sewer rates for at least two years," Bayne declared.

Commissioner Troy Moore introduced comments on poor drainage of some recently paved streets. The city manager credited the drainage problem to excess gravel on the street surfaces that has collected in gutters and blocks the flow of water. It was suggested that city equipment be used to move the gravel back onto the roadway.

Bayne added that gas storage tanks, which the city will install at the airport and lease to Hill, have now been moved here from Canyon and will be installed this week.

He reported that late in the week Poteet Construction Co. will begin putting down caliche on the main runway and that the city's own crew will begin hauling caliche for the access road to the hangar area.

THE COMMISSION considered a petition from Carl McCaslin to close a designated but unopened street, Roosevelt St. just south of the Santa Fe tracks. The street, which is 400 by 60 feet, adjoins property owned by McCaslin and Jack Renfro.

Bayne said that the adjacent land owners propose to use their present property with that that would be obtained through the closing of the street for a railroad spur to a Renfro vegetable shed and as an unloading site for McCaslin's lumber yard. He said it is unlikely that the street would ever be opened.

Action was tabled on the street pending further discussion with the two property owners.

Sports, adventure and science fiction head the list for the high school boys. Books on these topics are among the new volumes recently received by the library.

Students who are in the category from the first through the eighth grades seem to be more fond of animal stories, fairy stories and mysteries, according to Mrs. Boydston. She also said children in the third and fourth grades have accepted with enthusiasm Carla reene's stories on I Wanta Be.

Current best sellers top the list for adult reading. Books such as The Prodigal by Joseph Lawrence and Untold Glory by Colburn O'Neal are among the new listings at the county library.

Mrs. Boydston said, "We have done our best to acquire suitable reading material for all age levels."

Bank. It was erroneously reported in the Sunday Brand that the dinner had already been held.

Holders of Community-School Concert Series season tickets will be admitted to the Amarillo Symphony's regular concert Tuesday night at the Stephen F. Austin Junior High School auditorium in Amarillo.

"I wanted to go back and see the little green men, but he wouldn't turn the car around," a telephone caller said Wednesday morning. She explained that while returning to Hereford late Tuesday night, the car's speedometer began to go haywire — "Just like some whatnik spotters have reported" — and the car's instrument panel lights changed from a dull blue to a bright red as they crossed the Tierra Blanca bridge on Highway 60. Everything was normal by the time the couple reached the city limits, except the woman's curiosity and her companion's refusal to turn around and search for a whatnik. She is wondering if anything else, not anything strange just west of town late Tuesday.

Indian Worshippers Still Pay on God's 2,000-Year-Old Debt

By R. Satakopan

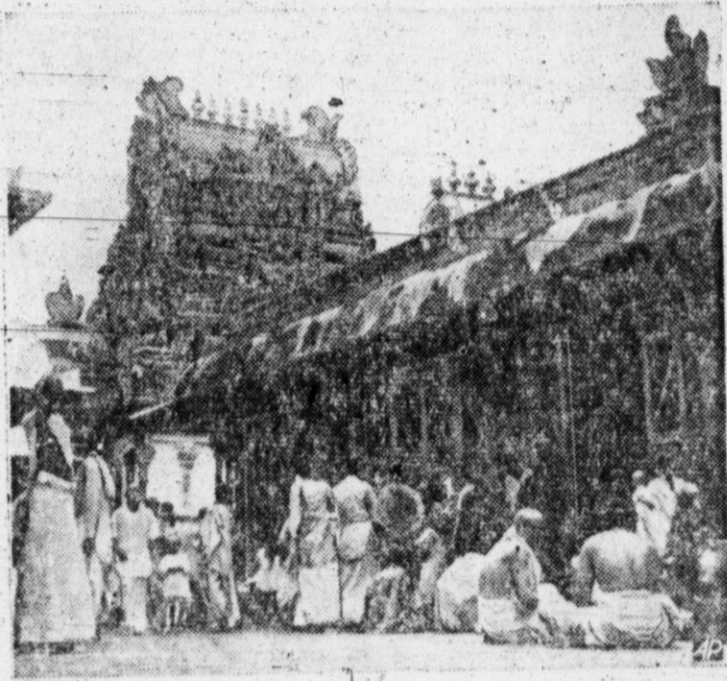

TIRUPATI, India (AP) — A god in the olden days descended to earth to marry a princess and borrowed for the wedding a sum so huge that it can never be repaid.

His worshippers today flock to his temple, giving what they can to help the god pay at least the interest on the irrepayable loan.

This has been going on for 2,000 years of recorded history in the temple built to Lord Venkateshwara. The temple receives an average of 4 1/2 million rupees ($945,000) a year.

In return, the Hindu god grants the worshippers' prayers; heals sickness and pardons sins — or so the devout believe.

Tirupati — Tirumalia — the great temple in the sacred hills — is perhaps the richest temple in all India.

HINDU LINEUP—Hindu worshippers line up for entrance to the temple of their god, Lord Venkateshwara. Followers of the god still are trying to pay off his unpayable marriage debt, contracted 2,000 years ago.

PIGRIMS have thronged to the sacred shrine in grateful recognition of prayers answered, voluntarily giving away their valuables.

Women leave gold and diamond jewelry, gold and silver coins, and even saris, the traditional Indian dress, for the god's wives to wear.

These go into a huge vessel, six feet high. It is emptied twice a day.

In addition to voluntary offerings, the temple management has a fixed rate schedule for different types of invocations.

Pilgrims with receipts for their payments queue up to be present during the prayers.

A POWERFUL committee of priests and laymen keep detailed account of every rupee received and spent.

Most of the income is spent on charities — for the improvement of the 3,000-foot high valley homes of the temple, for construction of a 290-bed hospital, and others.

The upkeep of the idol representing Lord Venkateshwara costs 50,000 rupees ($10,000) a month.

Encasing the stone idol, which cannot be photographed, are gold and silver plates which cost 300,000 rupees ($60,000). The diamond-studded crown alone cost 420,000 rupees ($84,000).

Considered a reincarnation of Lord Vishnu — the protector in the holy trinity of creator, protector and destroyer — Lord Venkateshwara became so famous through history that even Moslem kings and emperors sent gifts to the temple.

THE HEAVILY encrusted stone idol keeps a strict schedule, an 18-hour day from 4:30 a. m. to 10:30 p. m. The day goes like this:

Twenty Brahman priests begin chanting verses in praise of the god at 4:30 a. m., to wake him from his sleep.

The idol is then bathed, clothed and scented and made ready for the day.

dy for the pilgrims to have their "darshan" — holy sight.

Foods prepared of costly items are arranged in huge silver vessels before the deity.

When the offering is over, the food is distributed to pilgrims who line up after prayers. Priests and beggars vie with each other to share the god-touched food.

IN THE AFTERNOON, pilgrims pay 500 rupees ($105) each for a reenactment of the deity's marriage of long ago.

This ceremony is believed to hasten the marriages of daughters and sisters of marriageable age to good husbands.

At sunset, prayers are resumed and continue until late at night.

The god is then laid on a silver bed and lulled to sleep with soft music. Pilgrims disperse after receiving fruit and candy.

The largest spectacle of all occurs each Friday — the holy bath. It costs 2,000 rupees ($420) and probably puts to shame the fabled baths of Cleopatra.

A paste of sweet-smelling sandalwood is spread over the god. This is washed away by clear water from 105 huge silver vessels. Camphor is then rubbed over the idol, and again clear water washes this away.

Rose water is sprinkled on him, and the bath is over.

The water from the bath is collected and sold to pilgrims.

They carry it with great reverence to their homes, taking small sips in time of sickness. One spoonful is always saved for a man's dying hours, to lift him to heaven, when life ends.

HOLIDAY DECORATIONS ARE PROGRAM FEATURE

The use of native materials that can be gathered along roadsides and from pastures and converted into novel Christmas arrangements and holiday decorations is featured in programs given to 4-H clubs this month.

The lovely cucklebur is glorified with metallic spray and glitter, and cotton burs, yucca and milkweed pods get similar glamor treatments in the decoration demonstrations.

Aluminum foil, muffin-eup-liners, string and balloons are household items that are combined to make inexpensive decorations that will appear on a number of Christmas trees in Deaf Smith County as a result of the special 4-H programs.

The use of natural resources, talent and imagination in home decoration for festive occasions, as well as in all other phases of homemaking, is stressed in the current series of programs, according to Mrs. Dorothea Prowell, assistant home demonstration agent.

ABOUT 30 WRITERS are represented in these seven volumes by about 100 short stories — and by many times that number of different topics, attitudes, subjects and incidents.

The short story is supposed to be rigidly unified, yet of course it invariably spills over. If one character speaks for the author, another must answer; if one acts for him, another must behave in contrary fashion. So here is an infinite variety.

The husband who cherishes a pinch of his wife's ashes, the youth who weds the daughter of the man whose head he hacked off, the poet who borrows the cloak of his wife's lover, the teacher who wouldn't marry the girl who instead becomes the Negro's wife, the faith of the aged Indian greater than that of the religious, the grocery boy in love, the lesson taught by the sacrifice of the black ram, the tell-tale unsmirched square of linen.

The last is from "The Blank Page," by that master of the short form, author of "Seven Gothic Tales," "Winter's Tales" and now "Last Tales"; Isak Dinesen, pseudonym for the Danish Baroness Karen Blixen. In it an old coffee-brown, blackveiled woman remembers how her grandmother taught her to tell stories: "Be loyal to the story," and demanded, "Where does one read a deeper tale than upon the most perfectly printed page of the most precious book?" She herself replied: "Upon the blank page."

This precious blank page, the unrecorded part of the story gives wings to the recorded part. Here are the invaluable implications, the super-values.

If anything is wrong with some of these stories, it is this missing blank page.

The short story is probably the commonest art form in this country, and we're expert at it. We may be Johnny-come-latelies on the cultural scene: somebody beat us to music, ballet, painting, sculpture, novel, drama. But if we may lay claim to any pioneering in the arts, it is in three fields: We came first with the steel-frame skyscraper; with jazz — provided always jazz is art and isn't African; and we were very early, if not wholly first, thanks to Edgar Allan Poe, with the short story.

To be sure there was Boccaccio, but the 18th Century saw the real start of this feasible medium. Maupassant led in France, Chekhov in Russia, if he didn't and doesn't still lead in the entire world.

But we have been phenomenally prolific. We had the trick endings of Stockton — "The Lady, or the Tiger?" and of O. Henry and Wilbur Daniel Steele; we had Lardner's merciless satires such as "Haircut" and "The Golden Homonymoon." — We have remarkable writers today: Hemingway is one. Truman Capote did "Miriam" and Shirley Jackson, "The Lottery."

But we have a weakness. We would rather play with the short story than work with it; it threatens to change from means of communication to pastime. We tell the story and forget about the essential blank page. We have reduced the short story on occasion to the short short, thanks to our preference for getting through things rather than relishing them, for enjoying the abridgment in place of the entire opera or novel, the "highlights" of half a dozen symphonies instead of the irreducible substance of a single one.

The best short stories in the group listed at the start — all published within a couple of weeks — are curiously those with the freshest tone and their opposites: those with the most conservative.

Cassill, Gold and Hall are vivid, wide-awake, exploratory writers; they do not tell you what they think you want, or tell it in the familiar way. They dismiss the old, offer only the new, different and unused; they are, for me, better short-story writers than novelists. Gold, for instance, writes with a freedom from restraint and a wonderful buoyancy that perhaps too much care, or too much devout working-over, may eliminate from his longer fiction.

"Fifteen by Three" has a positive, affirmative value which fortunately is not diminished by the unnecessary emphasis, in James Laughlin's forward — helpful though it is — and in Cassill's own introduction, on the supposed faults of what they castigate as the New Yorker magazine formula — a formula which after all has produced some memorable short stories in the last quarter century.

Along with this trio you will rate very highly the creations of Angus Wilson, involved though they are in a manner that seems more suitable for the longer novel; the work of Miss Golden, though it is certainly conventional in form; and the dozen gripping tales by Isak Dinesen, in a form about as old, stately and seductive as the minut.

The short-story dangers are best exemplified in Miss Foley's collection. These writers imply that they do the short story just casually while they wait to try to finish novels; the 20, for instance, 11 are described in brief biographies as "working on a novel." Among them you meet, to be sure, some of the best of this entire lot — Evan S. Connell Jr., Winona McIntic and Flannery O'Connor, to name only three. But along with them are stories lacking the inner meanings that alone make fiction worth your time — and that indeed may make it more worth your time than any other pursuit. They are written by masters of the form; who in the past ever knew more than these moderns about what makes a short story? But they are apt to be one page short — the blank page.

How Can I?

By Anne Ashley

Q How can I go over scratch on wall paper so that they will not show?

A. By moistening a scrap of the paper which has been saved, and then carefully scraping off the coloring with a sharp knife. Apply this coloring to the scratch, and when dry it will scarcely be noticeable.

Q How can I make a novel sandwich?

A. To clean a suede jacket or purse, go over the entire surface with a piece of very fine sandpaper.

Q How can I clean suede articles of clothing?

A. To clean a suede jacket or purse, go over the entire surface with a piece of very fine sandpaper.

Q How can I make a small window have the appearance of extra width and height?

A. This can successfully be done by setting the curtain rods beyond the casing at top and sides, and then using material heavy enough that the casing cannot be seen.

Q How can I make use of left-over tapioca, bread, or cornstarch padding?

A. A good dessert can be made by putting a tablespoonful or two of it into sherbet glasses, pour a little apple sauce over it and garnish with a cherry.

Q How can I make use of white stockings that have turned yellow?

A. Boil them for a few minutes in strong tea, rinse in cold water, and a pretty tan shade will be the result.

Q How can I keep food hot?

A. By covering securely with the lid, or a tin pan, and placing the vessel over a basin of hot water. When vegetables are "cooked," drain and cover securely, then wrap in paper and set in oven without fire. They will keep hot for a long time.

Q How can I remove rust from fabrics?

A. By using lemon juice and salt. Then hold over a steaming teakettle. The steam will aid greatly in removing the spots.

Q What is the easiest way to thread a needle?

A. Try cutting the thread on a slant. This will point the thread and facilitate the task.

Q How can I treat the shoes of children who do not like to wear overshoes?

A. The next best thing to overshoes is to give the soles of the shoes about three good coats of shellac. This not only prevents the water from going through the leather but will add life to the shoes.

ry means to avoid killing another man in self-defense," Brady said. "But Texas law does not require him to retreat one inch before blazing away."

The homicide section of the Texas penal code dates back to the 1880s and was last revised in 1916. Even then, the only change was to omit an article that permitted the killing of hostile Indians.

Texas' Self Defense Laws Make it Easy on Slayers

HOUSTON, (AP) — Self-defense laws that date back to the Civil War are one big reason for Houston's spiraling murder rate which has prompted a grand jury probe.

At least that's the opinion of Dist. Atty. Dan Walton, whose office reported 87 fatal shootings in the first seven months of 1957. Officials estimate two out of every five persons charged in the killings here are cleared by the grand jury. The reason?

"We are still living under laws that were designed for the old days when one man met another in the main street and the one who could draw first won," says

Walton. THESE HEMAN and frontier laws of self-defense make it difficult to get murder indictments, said Asst. Dist. Atty. Joe Guarino.

He estimates that three out of every five persons no-billed in slayings here claim self-defense.

"The self-defense law in Texas makes it very difficult to get murder indictments — when we cannot contradict a defendant's story that the other man was reaching into his pocket for something that may have been a weapon," Guarino said.

Article 1225 of the Texas penal code deals with self-defense. Here's what it says:

"The party whose person or property is so unlawfully attacked is not bound to retreat in order to avoid the necessity of killing his assailant."

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals further has ruled that "one acting in self defense may pursue his adversary so long as he considers himself in danger."

ANOTHER APPEALS court ruling is cited by Walton and other prosecutors as the biggest obstacle to bringing a killer to justice. It reads:

"If at the time of the killing, the conduct of the deceased, viewed in the light of all the circumstances, was such as to create in the mind of the defendant a reasonable apprehension of death or serious bodily injury although in fact no such danger existed, his right to kill would be as complete as if the danger had been real."

First Asst. Dist. Atty. Eugene Brady pointed out that if the prosecution had no witnesses to refute the defendant's claim that his adversary was reaching for a gun, a jury or the grand jury must set the defendant free.

As a possible solution, Walton and Brady suggest a look at the self-defense laws of other states. "Most other states require that the defendant take every necessary

1 KINGS 18:21—And Elijah came near to all the people, and said, "How long will you go limping with two different opinions? If the Lord is God, follow him; but if Baal, then follow him." (RSV)

There were three distinct groups on Mount Carmel as these words were spoken, Elijah represented the all-out servant of God who had convictions and made sure that all men knew where he stood. Ahab represented the all-out opponent of God who was squarely against God, trying with all his power to frustrate His plans. The third group was composed of halting and wavering individuals who could not make up their minds, on one side today and on the other tomorrow.

All three groups are in our communities today. The greatest danger to Christ and His work resides in the hands of the wavering and halting ones, not in the power of the agnostic or atheistic opponent of God. Jesus said, "He that is not with me is against me." It is imperative that we take a firm stand for Christ as the clarion call of Elijah is sounded anew.

Even Movie Stars Know How To Sew

Among the 40 million women who enjoy sewing their own clothes is a good sprinkling of celebrities. Many stars of stage, screen and television find that sewing helps them to relax after a busy day, and also makes it possible for them to add to the extensive wardrobes they need.

One such sewing star is Ingrid Goude, the current Miss Sweden, now under movie contract in Hollywood. For her resort wardrobe, Ingrid has made a gay play suit in a colorful print of big blue and green poppies on a white ground. It consists of brief play suit and separate matching skirt. With the skirt, it's correct for luncheon; without, it's an active sports outfit.

Local sewing center experts point out that such an outfit is easy to make, if you follow a few of the shortcuts used by Miss Goude. She believes in making full use of her sewing machine attachments, and used both the button-holer and the multi-slotted binder to make this costume. The button-holer made quick work of the many buttonholes that march down the front of the play suit and skirt. The binder was used to apply a custom finish accent in the two-color edging for collar and waistband. Mint green and periwinkle blue bias binding were chosen to pick up the colors in the print, and were applied simultaneously with the binder.

For variety, Ingrid made an extra skirt in solid-color blue to wear with the playsuit.

So, if you're one of the millions of women who sew at home, you are in good company. Fashion and economy are as important to stars as to housewives.

Turkey Tournery Is Set for Golfers

A turkey golf tournament will be held Sunday at the municipal course. It will be based on team play with each member of the winning foursome taking home a turkey.

Pro Bud Posey said the tournery will be scored on an 18-hole point system. One point will be allowed for each bogey on each hole, two points for each par, three points for each birdie, four points for each eagle and 25 points for a hole-in-one or double eagle.

Each foursome will be made up of an A player (72-78), a B player (79-86), a C player (87 and over) and a lady player.

Entry fee will be $1.50 plus the usual green fee. Pairings will be drawn at 9 a.m. Sunday and teams may play at any time afterward. Golfers participating are asked by Posey to turn in their usual scores to the clubhouse before pairings are drawn.

Personality, Food and Age

By ARGEN DRAPER

The club meetings this month are on As Birthdays Come and Go. We have a personality test that we take to determine our attitudes on growing older. The conclusion that we have drawn is that we become the kind of older person that we are now. If we have bad habits now, they will be emphasized when we get older and so will our good habits. One of the points in the test is: Within the past five years, I have overcome a serious bad habit or fault of mine.

There are so many good books in the library on personality development for persons of all ages that you should read one book just for systematic study. Two good ones are Managing Yourself by Wright and Understanding Myself by Dickerson. The better you understand yourself the better you can understand other people. While studying how to become a well adjusted adult or senior citizen, the importance of eating properly cannot be overlooked. There is a very popular bulletin in the office: Food Guide for Older Folks. It is published by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. This bulletin tells about older people's food needs and how to meet them. In addition, it suggests ways to meet special problems that often make it hard for an older person to be well fed.

Mrs. R. L. Campbell came by the office this week. She and Mr. Campbell have sold part of their ranch in the north part of the county and have moved to Amarillo. They have been in Kansas City where he has been under medical treatment. They will be in Amarillo a few days before going back to Kansas City and they would like to see their friends. Their address is 4222 Emil.

Babs Ghoslon is one of the most enthusiastic 4H'ers about the demonstration Dorotha Prowell has given on Christmas Decoration. Babs went home ready to go to work and get things decorated. Babs' mother had some good suggestions and a few exhibits on holiday decorations for the club.

While visiting with Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Pinckert I learned that they used to live in northern Minnesota and Pinckert was a guide in the Canadian wilderness. He has a very interesting story to tell about canoeing, fishing and hunting.

There are still some dishes in the office. These have been left from the family picnic, awards program and chit-chat day. If you have missed a dish come by it may be here.

There are copies of the memorographed material annual meeting of County Home Demonstration Councils in the office if you need one in getting your report ready for Council. The office is open every morning.

Here's the apple butter recipe:
4 cups apple pulp
2 cups sugar
1/8 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon mixed ground spices.
1. Combine pulp, sugar and salt. Boil rapidly and stir constantly to prevent burning.
2. As the butter cooks down and becomes thicker reduce the heat to prevent spattering.
3. Test for desired thickness by pouring a small quantity on a cold plate. Continue to cook until no rim of liquid separates around the edge of the butter.
4. Add spices. If a light colored butter is desired, add whole spices tied loosely in a cheesecloth bag while the butter is cooking.
5. Seal while hot.

YEAR END TAX TIPS, NO. 3

Tax-Saving Deductions and How To Time Them

This is the third in a series of four articles on federal income taxes. The articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the Texas Society of Certified Public Accountants.

If you are one of those individual taxpayers who is constantly being collared and dollored for charitable contributions, you may save money by paying particular attention to the timing and planning of your year-end donations.

Before paying-off on any more 1957 pledges you might have made, remember that you will not receive a tax credit for your charitable contributions unless you itemize deductions on your return. You can't take the standard 10 percent deduction and a special deduction for donations to charity. You may take only one or the other; so plan your year-end pledge payments accordingly. If you will be forced to take the standard 10 per cent deduction this year, your best tax move would be to defer payment on your outstanding pledges until after Jan. 1, pyramiding them into 1958 when you may be able to itemize deductions. However, if you have had a better-than-average income year and are trying to bunch itemized deductions on this year's return, you should pay not only the pledges you have made but possibly the pledges you would ordinarily make in early 1958.

Here is an important point to keep in mind as you plan your year-end pledge payments: a charitable contribution will be considered paid — and therefore deductible — in the year when the check is delivered to the charity and not when it is actually cashed. A gift does not have to be in cash to entitle you to a charitable deduction. It can be in property, and since you can claim a deduction for the full market value of a property gift, it may actually pay you to give away items that are now worth more than they cost.

For example, suppose that you own a few shares of stock that cost you $100 a few years ago. Today the stock is worth $150, and apparently fully priced. If you know you are going to be approached by a church, charity, college or the like for a sizeable donation within the next few months, you might consider contributing these securities before the end of the year.

To-he-ha Girls Study Symbols

The To-he-ha Camp Fire Girls met Tuesday, Nov. 12, to study and learn Indian symbols. Games were played with the Indian symbols as the topic.

Refreshments were served to the group. Those present were Virginia Clark, Barbara Clements, Barbara Dearing, Nancy Gripp, Patricia Maxwell, Shirley McNelly, Janis Medley, Linda Morris, Loujana Morris, Linda Perry, Patricia Price, Linda Scott and Patsy Stoy.

Westway H.D. Has Program on Grooming

Mrs. Paul Rudd and Mrs. Joe Wagoner presented a program on good grooming to the Westway Home Demonstration at its meeting Nov. 14, in the home of Mrs. J. C. Morrison.

Mrs. Rudd stressed that brushing the hair is the most important thing. She suggested that the members have their hair styled to suit the shape of their face.

Mrs. Joe Wagoner demonstrated the correct way to prepare nails for polish. She used Mrs. G. C. Merritt as a model. She suggested that the group use spare time or while watching TV to work a cuticle cream in the cuticles.

The club voted to hold its annual banquet Dec. 13, at the Jim Hill Hotel. Mrs. R. L. Wilson gave a report on the proceeds made at the Halloween Carnival. Mrs. P. B. Sowell gave the Council Report.

The club has one new member and she is Mrs. Everett McIntosh. Those present were Mrs. Joe Wagoner, G. C. Merritt, B. P. Sowell, Paul Rudd, George Turrittine, Harold Rudd, R. L. Wilson, T. B. Thomas, M. C. Kaul and J. C. Merritt, hostess.

AUSTIN HIGHLIGHTS

'Last-Resort' Law Against Troops Seen

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

AUSTIN, — Texas' lawmakers are striving hard to forge a new tool for dealing with police powers, insofar as school segregation integration problems are concerned.

Proposed is a "last-resort" law to be used, presumably, in situations where threat of federally-enforced integration is met by strong local opposition. It would allow the school board to shut down the school until "the earliest possible time when peace and order can be maintained without the use or occupation by military forces."

Gov. Price Daniel's call also asked that the law provide (1) that state aid, accreditation, salaries, etc., not be affected by the closing, (2) that school boards may transfer local pupils and (3) that the attorney general be authorized to assist local school districts in contesting integration suits in federal court.

Though Legislative operating funds ran out over the weekend, both House and Senate decided against a "crash" program to enact the bill overnight. Strong opposition was not foreseen, however.

FISCAL HANGOVER — Lawmakers who return for the next regular session in Jan., 1959, face a "morning after" atmosphere with a $12,000,000 headache.

Last summer State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert predicted the state would end this two-year period with a $8,000,000 deficit. His latest estimate doubles that figure.

Calvert revised his figures after voters this month approved a constitutional amendment upping state pension payments. Legislators already are skating on the edge of financial embarrassment in their day-to-day operation. Fund for their salaries, expenses, etc., was down to about $45,000 when the first session ended. With costs running about $11,000 a day, they were due to start drawing this week on the governor's deficiency fund, earmarked for "calamities."

WALTER ROGERS WRITES:

Ceiling on National Debt To Be Raised

To the people of the 18th District: Even B. S. (Before Sputnik), it was the general consensus of opinion in Washington that the Administration would request the Congress to increase the statutory limitation on the national debt. This debt ceiling presently stands at 275 billions of dollars. A few years back, Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey undertook to get this ceiling lifted to 290 billions. This move by the Administration did not meet with success.

The Congress did authorize a much smaller increase on the debt ceiling, but on a temporary basis. This was done in order for the government to meet its obligations which were falling due at a time when tax collections were at a low ebb. However, it was provided that this increase was to meet a temporary crisis. The crisis was met, and the high point in tax collections during the spring of the year solved the problem and brought the debt under control below the 275 billion statutory ceiling.

It has been anticipated for some time that the government could not meet its obligations after the first of the year without borrowing more money. Some people felt this had quite a bit to do with the resignation of Secretary Humphrey and his replacement by Texan R.

B. Anderson. It was generally accepted that such a request would be highly unpopular under the circumstances, and that it should be avoided if at all possible.

It was my personal feeling that, if anyone could work out of the dilemma, it would be R. B. Anderson, a very astute and able gentleman. He took on a tremendous job — probably one of the toughest in the history of this country. He was making good headway, I am told. However, the advent of the Russian sputnik relieved the pressure. It seems to be generally conceded now that Congress will raise the debt ceiling, when and if asked to do so. Such action will be due to the votes of many who will be voting for the increase solely on the basis of national security.

If it were not for the national security reasons, the Administration would have tough going. Many of us, including yours truly, do not believe it is right to increase the national debt simply for the purpose of using the money to pay such items as higher interest rates on the present debt. On Nov. 7, 1957, the daily statement of the United States Treasury reflected that interest on the public debt since July 1, 1957, amounted to 1 billion, 805 million, 476 thousand, 235 dollars and 98 cents. During the same period in 1956, the interest on the national debt was 1 billion, 402 million, 354 thousand, 261 dollars and 28 cents. This was an increase of 483 million dollars in less than five months, while the amount of the public debt, itself, was approximately the same.

In other words, the American taxpayers were required to pay almost 3 million dollars additional each day during the fiscal year of 1958, which began on July 1, 1957, than they were required to pay for the same amount of money during the fiscal year of 1957, which began on July 1, 1956. At this rate, increased interest alone will consume approximately 1 billion dollars for 1958.

Most interesting when compared with the amount that we have been spending on research and development of long-range ballistic missiles. According to recent reports from high officials, the expenditures for this program have been approximately 1 billion dollars per year. In other words, the INCREASE in the interest rate alone on the national debt may amount to more than has been spent on research and development of the long-range missile program.

This caused one fellow to observe that, if high government officials in this country had been as concerned about raising a sputnik as they were about raising interest rates, we would still be a head of Russia.

Chemical Might Stop Evaporation

ABILENE — Recently conducted tests on a chemical used to base of many cosmetics may provide an effective solution to West Texas' water evaporation problems, an article in the November issue of West Texas Today says.

The chemical, hexadecanol, has proved effective in reducing water evaporation by as much as 45 percent, the article in the monthly publication of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce says.

Tests conducted by the Southwest Research Institute in San Antonio, under the auspices of the Southwest Water Evaporation Research Council, have shown the chemical to be highly effective when spread over the surface of a lake or other reservoir to form a "lid" that prevents evaporation.

The tests were started over two years ago in an effort to reduce the evaporation that causes a loss of nearly as much water each year as is used in domestic and industrial consumption.

Explaining that the evaporation process occurs when water molecules become highly active, as a result of a rise in the temperature of the water, and finally move so rapidly that they leave the reservoir, the SwRI scientists state that the chemical cover acts as a "lid" to prevent the molecules from escaping in the form of water vapor.

When spread over the water's surface at a thickness of about one ten-millionth of an inch, hexadecanol becomes completely tasteless, odorless and colorless, the article says. The Public Health Service has certified that the chemical is harmless to human beings and experiments have proven it to be harmless to plant life, animals and fish.

Water which would otherwise be evaporated by the sun can be saved at an estimated cost of half a cent per thousand gallons, researchers say.

If the film is spread apart by a boat, swimmer or wave action, it almost immediately rejoins to continue preventing evaporation.

Grant Hanna Is Named To High Plains Council

Increased interest in the agricultural research activities at the High Plains Station of the Texas Research Foundation at Halfway has resulted in the appointment of new members, including a Hereford man to the advisory council for the station. These appointments approved by the Executive Committee were made to give more widespread representation on the council and to give recognition for efforts made in behalf of the Station.

Warren Embree, Bovina; Grant Hanna, Hereford, and S. B. Whittenberg, Amarillo, are new members on the council. Other members on the board reappointed for 1957-1958 are Dick Gerles, Farwell; W. L. Edelman, Friona, and Woodrow Fleming, Hub. John Paetzold, R. G. Peeler, and Palmer Norton of Hereford, Willis Hawkins, Hart and Ed McLeary and Steve Taylor of Dimmitt.

The executive committee of the advisory council for the station for 1958 includes Harold Hinn, Plainview; Art P. Bralley, Amarillo; Grady Goodpasture, Brownfield; Jason Gordon, Plainview; H. M. LaFont, Plainview; Frank Moore, Plainview; R. V. Payne, Plainview; R. G. Peeler, Hereford; George Pfeiffenberger, Lubbock; Ewald Quebe, Lockney, and Jack Yarborough, Littlefield.

FAMILIAR DONOR — One of the most faithful contributors to the Red Cross blood bank here is Digby Tomlinson. Blind Mr. Tomlinson has made 56 donations in 15 years.

NO EQUIPMENT
ALTUS, Okla. (AP) — Ralph Falls and Gordon Springer drove to Lert Lake, rented a boat and cruised four miles to their favorite fishing spot.

When they stopped the boat, Falls suddenly made a horrible discovery — he had left his fishing tackle at home.

OFFICIAL MIXUP
TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A Tucson police officer walked into the Paso, Tex., police station on official business and said, "I'm William Hogan."

"We're glad you gave you up," replied the desk sergeant. Hogan was about to be escorted to a cell before he was able to explain he was William Hogan, a Tucson policeman, not the William Hogan wanted by El Paso police for a recent shooting.

REMATCH SET FOR SATURDAY

Hans Schnabel and Leo Garibaldi will wrestle two out of three falls with no time limit, winner take all, in a wrestling rematch at the Bull Barn here Saturday night.

The rematch is a result of last Saturday night's battle between the two in which Schnabel won one fall and then stayed out of the ring most of the time to avoid Garibaldi.

First event Saturday will match two female wrestlers, Rita Cortez and Judy Grable, in one fall with a 15-minute time limit.

A mixed match with Bob Gogel and Rita Cortez meeting Sonny Myers and Judy Grable will take second spot on the card. The bout is set for two three falls with a 45-minute limit.

In another bout last week Gogel and Rip Rogers fought draw after each had won a fall.

The Garibaldi-Schnabel lasted an hour and some claimed Schnabel won the fall by holding the canvas. Garibaldi's back instead of his, as the rules say. Schnabel stalled until he was out by crawling out of the ring and then back in just enough to stop referee Phelps from awarding the fall to Garibaldi.

Moisture Aids Wheat, Barley

By MRS. S. N. THWEATT The cloudy and damp weather Sunday and Monday made the dayland farmers out this way happy. They say they haven't received too much. The wheat and barley are looking good.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Burks of Westway were visitors at the S. N. Thweatt's home Thursday night. The Burks have sold their sheep and said it was a good thing as a wolf has been seen around their place.

Mrs. W. L. Potts of Rosedale, N. M., had a heart attack Thursday. She is in a Clovis hospital and will be there at least 10 days.

Davis Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Brown, spent three days in an Amarillo hospital last week with the flu. He is home now.

Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Thweatt visited the Lewis Smith home Sunday night. Lewis and Hoyt Smith had gone to Fortales, N. M., to be with an uncle who is critically ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Pinkerton of Woodward, Okla., visited Mrs. Ruth Coleman and Bruce last week. After being dismissed from the hospital Saturday, Mrs. Coleman went to the home of her daughter, Mrs. D. E. Coltrin in Amarillo. Mrs. Coleman plans on being home today.

the organization you care to favor will benefit by receiving property which they may hold or sell, and you will establish a $150 charitable deduction for your 1957 tax return.

Furthermore, you avoid paying a capital gains tax on the profit. If you must dismiss the idea of giving away a piece of real estate or a block of stock within the next few years, don't overlook the opportunity of building up your charitable deduction by donating such "property" as used furniture, clothing, books and toys to a worthy charity. The value of these items is deductible, too.

The state and local taxes which you pay are also deductible items that often can be pyramided to give a tax advantage. Some taxes that fall due early in 1958 can be prepaid to give you an additional deduction on this year's federal tax return. On the other hand, if it may be to your advantage to delay payments until 1958. Be careful when you do this however. You may incur a late payment penalty.

While businessmen and farmers can do everything that a salaried worker can do to cut their tax bills, they also have special opportunities to time year-end deductions.

A farmer, for example, who reports for tax purposes on a cash basis, can deduct his expenditures in the year paid. By purchasing his 1958 grain requirements in December, he can increase deductions on his 1957 return. If he borrows money to make this purchase, the interest paid on the loan during the year is also deductible.

A businessman, whose year-end tax plan calls for bunching deductions on this year's return, can time the sale of used equipment to establish loss deductions. For example, by selling a truck that has a depreciated value of $800 and a legislators see it, comes year after next when they will have to find a way to give the "busted" budget together again. Most agree, gloomily, that it means new taxes.

NO "THRILL," BUT Legislators' comments on the laws passed during the first special session ranged from "monstrously" to a shoulder-shrugging "better than nothing."

But they did pass — all five that the governor asked. Spokesman for the governor admitted he wasn't exactly "thrilled" with the watered-down water bill, but that he would accept it. In a public statement Governor Daniel commended the lawmakers for their accomplishments.

Briefly, the new laws do this: 1. Set up a water planning division to do research on Texas water resources and report to each regular session. No authority to draw up a statewide plan was conferred, and the appropriation was cut from a recommended $1,200,000 to $900,000. Water Board was given authority to negotiate for state water storage in federal reservoirs — with legislative approval.

2. Require registration of those who seek to influence legislation "by direct communication" and reporting of expenditures over $50.

3. Require registration of those who, for pay, represent others before state agencies.

4. Set up a commission to study Texas law enforcement and report to the next regular session.

5. Appropriate money for a building for the State Insurance Department.

WHAT NOW? — Senate rejection of the appointment of William A. Harrison as insurance commissioner put that department in a quandary.

Without an administrative head, the department cannot conduct even routine business; nor can it pay its employees. Members of the Insurance Board asked Atty. Gen. Will Wilson for guidance.

Under the Constitution the Senate has the authority to pass on all appointments made by the governor to constitutional offices. It does not, however, pass on the appointments of various state boards within their departments.

When the Insurance Department was re-organized last spring, the new law authorized the governor to appoint Insurance Board members and the board to appoint a commissioner. But it was specifically written into the law that the Senate would have confirmation power on the board's appointment of a commissioner.

The Senate approved the governor's appointments to the board, but turned thumbs down on Harrison. A former assistant state auditor, Harrison had been serving in the $20,000-a-year post since early last summer.

Board members asked Wilson's opinion on (1) Does the Senate have the constitutional authority to pass on a board appointment and (2) if so, what'll we do until we can find a new commissioner?

"NO URGENCY" — Insurance Department is being beset by the Senate from another quarter as the real market value of $500, a businessman may claim a tax credit for his $300 "loss." If he sells the truck before Dec. 31, he can take this deduction on his 1957 return.

Last Article: Steps That Could Save A Dependency Exemption.

Investigation into a delayed report continues. Senate committee questioned two department officials on why three months elapsed between receipt of an unfavorable report on Preferred Life of Dallas and department action on the matter.

Paul D. Connor, assistant commissioner, said he saw "no urgency" in the report since it did not involve insolvency. E. B. Kelley, chief examiner, said he didn't think there was "anything significant" about it.

Earlier, the man who made the examination said he had found evidence of illegal stock manipulation involving some $994,000.

COTTON RAINED OUT — Unlikely rains probably have cost Texas cotton farmers some $100,000, says Agriculture Commissioner John White.

Rain kept harvesters out of fields, said White, and greatly cut the quality of the cotton still on the stalks. "It's a real economic blow to many farmers who had prospects of the first good cotton crop in several years," White observed.

SHORT SNORTS — Sen. William T. Moore of Bryan is president pro tempore of the Senate for the second called session. He succeeds Sen. Searcy Bracewell of Houston.

One of the things for which Texans can be thankful this year is that there will be only one Thanksgiving. Governor Daniel proclaimed the Texas holiday for Nov. 28, same as the federal holiday. Governor Daniel has asked President Eisenhower for emergency federal aid for Jefferson, Orange and Fayette counties, recently hit by floods and tornadoes.

A senate-passed bill clears the way for getting land for a Texas Employment Commission building just north of the Capitol. Bill would increase the site-buying appropriation from $350,000 to $1,100,000. Probable location now is occupied by a Lutheran Church.

This sort of patient, who makes a practice of asking a doctor's help at chance street meetings, is a bane of the profession, said Dr. E. Keith Hammond of Paoli, Ind., in a talk to the Michigan State Medical Society.

Dr. Hammond told of one in particular. The cure was quick. "He told me he thought he had a hernia so I told him to strip on the spot for an examination."

Weber's report said he asked the man if he could read a "one-way sign on the next corner and the man answered: "Sure, it says 'wait.'" The officer recommended a new driver's license test.

NEXT PATIENT — GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. — A Hoosier doctor says he knows how to handle a "sidewalk consultation" patient.

This sort of patient, who makes a practice of asking a doctor's help at chance street meetings, is a bane of the profession, said Dr. E. Keith Hammond of Paoli, Ind., in a talk to the Michigan State Medical Society.

Dr. Hammond told of one in particular. The cure was quick. "He told me he thought he had a hernia so I told him to strip on the spot for an examination."

Almond Cake Has Substance

SWEET CAKE—Almond cake is for those who enjoy their cake with substance.

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press, Food Editor

WHAT SORT OF CAKE EATER are you? Do you enjoy the fluffy light-as-a-feather variety? Or do you like cakes that may even be a little on the heavy side?

If you are for cakes with substance, you'll probably enjoy this recipe. Although as American as can be — its base is ready-to-eat crisp rice cereal — it reminds us of European confections such as honey cake.

We like this Almond Cake served warm with a fruit sauce or sweetened spiced whipped cream. If there's any leftover, cut it into small diamonds or finger shapes and store in a tightly covered container; serve the next day because it doesn't keep well any longer than that.

Ingredients: 3 cups, oven-toasted ready-to-eat rice cereal, 4 eggs (separated), 1 1/4 cups sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1/2 pound (1/2 cup) butter or margarine (melted), 1/3 cup light cream, 1/2 cup finely ground or rotary-grated blanched almonds, fruit sauce or sweetened spiced whipped cream.

Method: Crush the rice cereal into extremely fine crumbs. With a rotary beater (hand or electric), beat the egg yolks until they begin to get thick and are lemon-colored; gradually beat in the sugar, then vanilla. Fold in slightly cooled melted butter, cream, rice cereal crumbs and almonds. With clean beater, beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Fold into crumb mixture. Turn into buttered baking pan — an aluminum pan that is about 9 by 12 by 2 inches or a heat-resistant glass pan whose inside dimensions are 11 1/4 by 7 1/2 by 1 3/4 inches. Bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven about 40 minutes or until edges of cake draw away from sides of pan. Place pan on rack to cool a little; cut in squares and serve warm with fruit sauce or sweetened spiced whipped cream. Makes 12 servings.

DRIVING WOES

HAVANA — Police, checking up on Cuban drivers of taxis and private cars, found 48,000 of them had neglected to renew driving licenses since 1951. There are approximately 100,000 chauffeurs in all of Cuba.

OLD FASHIONED REMEDY

MINNEAPOLIS — City foot patrolmen are going back to carrying old-fashioned night-sticks. Police Chief Milton Winslow, in authorizing expenditure of $375 to buy 100 such clubs, said they are needed to handle juvenile hoodlums. The order came after a patrolman was severely beaten trying to break up a fight at a teen age dance.

OVERSIGHT REMEDIED

LANDER, Wyo. — The Lander city council recently passed an ordinance forbidding drinking in the city park.

Then they discovered there was a hitch: The city park is outside the city limits.

The council promptly passed another ordinance annexing the city park.

HIGH COURT RULING

MEXICO CITY — The Mexican Supreme Court has ruled that when a pedestrian struck by a car is drunk, the driver is absolved of all responsibility.

Beauty at Home

By Lynn Carter

Q. What are some dressing hints for the girl who is too thin?

A. Brilliant and light clear colors, splashy prints, bold plaids, bulky fabrics of taffeta, tweed, and sharkskin are good. High necklines, puffy sleeves, wide shoulders, full and gathered skirts, full and fluffy blouses will hide bones and build this girl out. Wide belts and sashes are good, but don't cinch them in tightly. The thin girl could also try a frilly hairstyle.

Q. When an unsightly pimple suddenly pops up on my face, how can I camouflage it?

A. Try covering it with some pink calamine lotion. You can keep this on all day, and when you wash your face you can give it another coating at once. This will not only dry the skin, but it is mildly antiseptic and covers the skin eruption quite effectively.

Q. How can I remove coffee or tea stains from non-washable fabrics?

A. Apply some glycerine and rub the fabric tightly between the hands. Let the glycerine stand on the stain for about an hour, then sponge with water. If a grease spot remains, let the fabric dry, then sponge with some carbon tetrachloride.

Q. How should the skin on the elbows be cared for?

A. It is a good idea, when creaming the face, to do the same thing for your elbows. The skin there, even when young, looks old and wrinkled, and generous applications of cream will prevent its acquiring an even more prune-like appearance.

Q. Do you think that hair-coloring is injurious to the hair?

A. Not if the manufacturer's directions are carefully observed and application is made with some degree of skill and care. Thousands of women tint their hair so successfully at home that friends are never aware of the fact that their hair is artificially colored.

Q. What kind of powder is good for use on feet that perspire excessively?

A. A powder consisting of one scant teaspoon of powdered alum to two ounces of powdered borac acid.

Q. Please tell me how I can help to bleach my facial freckles.

A. One helpful bleach is pure lemon juice. Apply it to the freckled areas with a small brush, allow to remain for 15 or 20 minutes each day, then wash off with a good mild soap and warm water. Because lemon juice has a tendency to be drying, apply a little lubricating cream after washing.

and allow that to remain on for an equal period of time.

Q. How can I treat the enlarged pores in my complexion?

A. More frequent cleansing of your face will tend to shrink these pores. And since large-pored skin usually accompanies oiliness, use plenty of soap and water. Next, apply skin lotion for an extra-careful job of rinsing. Finish with vigorous patting with an astringent. When going out, camouflage these pores, with a heavy makeup base or skin paste.

Joseph Killian Receives Army Medal for Bravery

By MRS. R. L. PINNELL
The Soldiers Medal, the army's highest non-combat award for bravery, has been awarded to Sp/3 Joseph Killian, formerly of Adrian.

Killian, 22, was given the medal recently for saving the lives of three persons during a fire in the Northward Apartments in Fairbanks, Alaska, last January. Brig. Gen. Thomas H. Beck, commanding general of the Yukon Command, made the presentation.

Killian, then a private first class, was on leave in Fairbanks at the time. Arriving at the burning building, he climbed a fire ladder to the seventh story and entered the burning building.

Finding two occupants there, he climbed a hook ladder to the eighth floor and brought three persons to safety. Fire fighting and rescue efforts were hampered by 15 below zero temperatures.

Killian is assigned to the headquarters and headquarters company of the Yukon Command. He has been in Alaska since May 1956. He was raised in Adrian and attended Adrian schools.

A belated Halloween Christian drive was held last Thursday. After the drive the group gathered in the Methodist Church for refreshments. Included in the group were Kippy and Don Morgan, Sam Brown, Perry Dale Grubkey, Paula Creitz, Marlene Williams, George Harwood, Freddie Taylor, Myona Zaring, Vickie and Marsha Burns, Kathy Garrison, Mrs. Johnnie Williams and Mrs. Lora Creitz.

Thursday Mesdames E. N. Jacobsen, N. L. Jacobsen, Robert Jacobsen and Lora Creitz were guests of the Athenium Study Club in the Federated Club Rooms in Amarillo for a tea and a lecture on life in the South Pacific.

Mrs. Johnnie Williams attended the bedside of her mother, Mrs. Albert Romine of Borger, at Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo Friday. Mrs. Romine underwent surgery and is reported improving satisfactorily.

Skeet Fincher re-entered Northwest Texas Hospital Tuesday. Mrs. Anna Witt returned to her home last Thursday after a month's visit with a daughter and a son in California.

Barbara Pinnell, daughter of the K. K. Pinnells, was home last week with the flu. She is in beauty school in Clovis, N. M. Accompanying her was a sister-in-law, Mrs. Wayne Pinnell.

Mrs. John Amason and family of Dumas have been in town most of the week with the Jack Finchers.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred White and son Bob of Fort Morgan, Colo., spent part of the week with Mrs. White's brother, John Proctor.

Mr. and Mrs. John Proctor and Sheldon visited Mrs. Proctor's mother, Mrs. Jim Kelley, in Nara Visa, N. M. Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lee Alexander of Fort Worth, formerly of the Simms community, have announced the birth of a daughter, Charles is the oldest son of the O. A. Alexanders.

The Simms community recently held a party in its community house. Parties will be held on the first Thursday of each month from now on. Cake, cookies and coffee were served to Messrs. and Mesdames Jack Fortenberry and Christene, J. V. Perrin, Glenn Hetzler, Jim Stocks, Jim Cavin, Jim and Jan; N. M. Blankenship, Jim Perrin, Carrol Sue, Joe and Bob, and R. L. Pinnell.

Mrs. Bobby Banks, formerly Esther Grubkey, has been released by her doctor following a five-months seige by rheumatic fever. Her mother, Mrs. Percy Grubkey, was with her during the five months.

Sunday visitors in the R. L. Pinnell home were Pinnell's sister and family, the J. O. Johnsons of Dumas, R. C. Gism and Judy Pinnell, home from West Texas State. Mesdames N. L. Jacobsen, Leland Burns and Lora Creitz attended a program-planning session for the WSCS at the San Jacinto Methodist Church in Amarillo.

Mrs. B. L. Kinsey accompanied by her sisters, Mrs. Alta Evans of Clovis and Mrs. R. A. Gilkerson of Amarillo, made a trip to Collinsville, Okla., recently to visit a nephew, Dr. and Mrs. B. D. Henwood and family. They left Friday and returned home Monday. Kinsey stayed with Ross Gilkerson, a nephew, in Amarillo while she was gone.

Pee Wee and Gabe Barks of Arlington came Saturday to take their grandmother, Mrs. C. B. Griggs, home with them for the winter. Griggs will join them as soon as he harvests the maize crop.

Mrs. C. S. Tomlinson and Sandra of Coleman spent the week-end with the Hershel Tomlinsons. Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Sisk and family spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Sisks of Hobart, Okla.

By JIMMIE GILLETINE

GRAIN SORGHUM was rolling again Tuesday and Wednesday as moisture content fell faster than most people expected.

If they manage to get all of the 1957 milo crop in the bins without undue loss this will truly be a Thanksgiving to celebrate.

Christmas. Folks who are not worrying about Christmas had better start. First thing you know, it will be the last minute.

ABOUT THANKSGIVING, the Ministerial Alliance is planning a big, community-wide Thanksgiving Service.

Jim could wait until he is 70 before retiring, but he says he wants to spend a lot more time on his farm, where he once grew a lot of Pinto beans.

and meaning. Here in America, and especially in this territory, we have plenty for which to be thankful.

Jim Lipscomb, Hereford postmaster since Aug. 15, 1939, will voluntarily retire from his post on Feb. 28, 1958, according to present schedules.

The Lipscombs, incidentally, plan to continue living in town, despite their fishing and farming activities.

THE TOASTMASTER boys did a wonderful job on the Brand comics last Sunday. Not many people have mentioned them, but a lot of the trouble is due to the time; 9:30 a.m. is mighty close to Sunday School.

is probably putting out this farming stuff as sheer propaganda. If I were a fish, especially in Lake Conchas, I would sure watch my step.

CIVIL SERVICE exams are the usual route for filling such vacancies. However, nothing will be done on this one until after the vacancy occurs on Feb. 28, at which time procedure will be announced by the post office department.

Jim could wait until he is 70 before retiring, but he says he wants to spend a lot more time on his farm, where he once grew a lot of Pinto beans.

Any way, we are going to try to tick Clint Formby into a new time for the comics. With the job the Toastmaster boys are doing, it will undoubtedly turn into one of the best programs on the air and, despite our other shortcomings, The Brand does have some really outstanding comics.

A GOOD DEAL appears to have developed in Charley Bell's challenge system for band students. The way I see it, any student can issue a challenge for a better chair—and the other student must accept.

tions as we seem to be trying to support; I sure hope they don't get the U. S. A. for bigamy.

UNHAPPY FURLOUGH

MARION, Ohio — It was a long furlough from the U. S. Army for Victor Howard Berry, 18, but not a happy one.

It started when he came home from Italy for 40 days because his father was injured in an auto accident. That was extended 10 more days.

ter was in an auto-accident. The leave was extended 20 more days. The sister is recovering.

Then Berry himself landed on the recovery list. He shot off his big toe while squirrel hunting.

SHOT OF MERCY

GALESBURG, Ill. — Humane officer Howard Knowles is a good shot and it's a good thing.

He came to the rescue of a bird which had become entangled in a kite string high up in a tree. Officer Knowles shot at the tree limb, bringing down branch, bird and strings.

BLIND SUCCESS

FIFE, Tex. — Nolan Underwood, almost blind, whittled a guitar out of a piece of 4 x 12 lumber and rigged it with an amplifier.

Nolan was almost blinded in 1951 in a high school shop explosion. But he finished high school and two years at Southwest Texas State College at San Marcos, Tex. He writes his own compositions.

Get the Best of Both: 1. Get European small car economy, handling ease 2. Get American big car room and comfort. Go Rambler!

Library Acquires Two New Books

The High School Library has recently acquired two new books of "the birds and bees" type, which should be read by every teenager. One of these, FACTS OF LIFE AND LOVE FOR TEEN-AGERS, by Duval should be read by both boys and girls. The American Library association has this to say about this book, "Straightforward book on sex, giving biological facts in modern, everyday language. Recommended for adolescents, young adults, parents, and youth counselors."

Parents' Magazine says of it: "Seldom, if every, have these problems been faced so helpfully and honestly in a book for adolescents."

The Christian Advocate says, "Even better than just passing the book along to your children, would be for parents to read it first or along with them."

We have two copies of FACTS OF LIFE AND LOVE FOR TEEN-AGERS. It is a seven-day book. The other book is by Frank Howard Richardson, one-time medical editor for Holland's Magazine and boys' camp counselor. The title of this book is FOR BOYS ONLY. In the forward to this book, Dr. Hight C. Moore, Editorial Secretary of Sunday School Board, Southern Baptist Convention says, "FOR BOYS ONLY is for boys first and mainly. While not primarily for parents and teachers, scoutmasters and child specialists, they will find it serviceable to read, and recommend, and place in their home, school, and church libraries. In all his (Dr. Richardson's) talks, and especially in the secrets of sex, he is revealing without repelling; strict, but not stern; sympathetic while restraining wrong desires."

We have one copy for FOR BOYS ONLY. It is a seven-day book.

Jeep the Peeper

Jeep has really worked hard this week, peeping and straining her ears to catch bits of news and gossip. You must all be careful about what you say and where you say it — just a warning — for who knows? Jeep may be lurking in the shadows, listening to everything you say.

Here are a few things you may not already know:
Judy did you lose your car the other afternoon? It's funny how Jimmy Brown just happened to find it!

Have you seen Princes Black-brow lately? You can't miss her because she is also wearing a new hair-do.

Although Jeep is a whiz at finding out news that no one else can, she cannot find the answer to this question: On whom does Gayle Wagener have a crush? She surely has it bad — "and that ain't good."

Monday morning, Nov. 11, Mrs. Buck was certainly surprised when she saw a birthday cake sitting on her desk. The class gave her a pair of lounging pajamas and a bracelet. To show her appreciation Mrs. Buck wrote this poem to the class.

In deepest thought and much contemplation,
This poem was written to express my elation
To all of you sweet ones,
So kind and so true
And tell you how happy my birthday was too!
The bracelet is lovely,
The P. J.'s just fit
And the cake? Well you know,
We ate all of it.
So, here's to the class
That's a constant delight
And don't forget me,
When you board your satellite!
Say! kids, don't you think we have a bunch of pretty fine cheerleaders? They have certainly worked hard on making and putting up all the signs in the halls every week. Jeep would like to take this opportunity on behalf of the student body to say "thank you cheerleaders, you have done a wonderful job."

NOTICE: Ronnie Botkin! Jeep knows someone that really likes you. If you want to know badly enough, you will come to Jeep with a shoe stamp, and on receipt of this coupon, Jeep will tell you who it is.

I think Gale Blythe was just about as surprised as Mrs. Buck was when the 1st period Civics class sang "Happy Birthday" to her Friday, Nov. 15. The class enjoyed a movie on this occasion. This is Jeep signing off for now.

When I'm stuck in the North
And want to go South;
When the world seems a blank
And there's no one I love,
And it seems even God's
Not in heaven above;
I've a cure for my grouch
And it works like a shot,
I just think of the things that
I'm glad that I'm not.

When I think of the hundred of things I might be,
I get down on my knees and
thank God that I'm me,
Then my blues disappear, when
I think what I've got,
And quite soon I've forgotten
the things, I have not.

he's gone at last."

Caddy — "It isn't the ball

"Papa," said the small boy,
"what do they mean by college-bred? Is it different from any other kind of bread?"

"My son," said the father, "it's a four-year loaf."

Father — "Did you have the car out last night, son?"

"Yea, Dad. I drove several of the fellows downtown."

"Well, tell the fellows one
in the front seat."

Mrs. McDougal — "Bobby, please tell me what it is when I say 'I love, you love, he loves.'"

Bobby — "That's one of them triangles where somebody gets shot."

She — "You'd be a good dancer, but for two things."

He — "What are they?"

She — "Your feet."

"Guess my pen will have to go on itching."

"Why?"

"I'm out of scratch paper."

"Do you exercise after the morning bath?"

"Yes, I generally step on the soap as I get out."

Teacher — "This makes the fifth time I've punished you this week. What have you to say?"

Student — "I'm glad its Friday, sir."

Aunt — "And how did Jimmie do on his history exam?"

Mother — "Oh, not at all well, but there, it wasn't his fault. Why, they asked him things that happened before the boy was born."

Teacher — "Correct the sentence, 'Before any damage could be done the fire was put out by the volunteer fire brigade.'"

Boy — "The fire was put out before any damage could be done by the volunteer fire brigade."

Willie — "Mother, do fairy tales always begin with 'Once upon a Mother — "No dear, not always.

They sometimes begin with 'My love, I will be detained at the office tonight'."

Thanksgiving Day Is Here Again

Thanksgiving Day, in the United States is an annual festival of thanksgiving for the mercies of the closing year. Practically it is a national harvest festival, and is proclaimed by the president and the governors of states, and ranks as a legal holiday. In 1789 the Episcopal Church formally recognized the civil government's authority to appoint such a feast, and in 1888 the Roman Catholic Church also decided to honor a festival which had long been nearly universally observed — though nowhere with such zest as in the New England states, where it ranks as the great annual family festival, taking the place which in England is accorded to Christmas.
The earliest harvest thanksgiving in America was kept by the Pilgrims at Plymouth in 1621, and was repeated often during that and the ensuing century. Congress recommended days of thanksgiving annually during the Revolution, and in 1784 for the return of peace — as did President Madison in 1815. Washington appointed such a day in 1789 and again in 1795. Since 1817 the festival has been observed annually in New York. From 1863 to 1895 the Presidents issued proclamations appointing the last Thursday in November as Thanksgiving Day. In 1909, 1940, and 1941, President Roosevelt proclaimed the day a week earlier.

TELEPHONE TALK

by W. L. Leavy, Manager

KNOW ANY HAWAIIANS?

If you have friends in Hawaii, you will be able to dial them next month.

On October 8th, the undersea cable between the U. S. Mainland and the island of Oahu (where 80% of Hawaii's telephones are located) was opened to the public. It is now equipped to receive direct distance dialing impulses from cities like Hereford will be after the cut-over.

So, after December 15, if you are trying to dial Amarillo and hear a ukulele in the background, maybe you should find out where you have called.

Actually, long distance dialing mistakes will be pretty rare. In most towns where "DDD" is in use, errors occur less than once in 100 calls. If you find you have made a mistake, the operator can correct it as soon as you let her know about it.

A THOUGHT FOR THANKSGIVING

Remember that old, Thanksgiving song, "... over the river and through the woods, to Grandmother's house we go?"

A short, sleigh-ride was all it took to get to Grandmother's in those days. Today, it seems as if everyone lives so far away—even when we travel by car.

This Thanksgiving, why not go "over the river and through the woods" the modern way—by telephone.

True, we won't be there to enjoy that wonderful food—the golden-brown, stuffed turkey, the cranberry sauce, the homemade bread and rolls, but we can gladden the hearts of those dear to us with a phone call.

Long Distance is a wonderful, personal way to visit during the holidays. Low Station-to-Station rates make Long Distance economical too. And remember, call by number—it's twice as fast.

COLOR FOR CHRISTMAS

Self-Sufficient Forrestal A Noisy, Floating City

MISSION'S END—A Navy fighter, its wings folded, returns to its nest deep inside the USS Forrestal. In its two years of service, the huge carrier has launched and recovered more than 14,000 aircraft.

AP Newsfeatures

The captain and executive officer of the 60,000-ton USS Forrestal are administrators of the biggest, busiest and noisiest "city" afloat.

Almost 4,000 men live and work in this sea-going city. Everything for living, entirely cut off from land, is at hand on the supercarrier. Stores which sell everything from cashmere sweaters and jewelry to soap and cigarettes; a library, a tailor shop, a library, a hobby shop, places for church services of all faiths, a dozen different movies every night.

On this ship, the men responsible—the "mayor" and his principal aide—are Capt. Richard L. Kibbe, native of Sullivan, Ill., and his executive, Cmdr. George C. Duncan of Arlington, Va.

The captain almost never leaves the area of the bridge while the Forrestal is at sea. The "exec" divides his time between the bridge and the multitude of big and little problems of "Forrestal City."

All hands—the officers and the men—live at sea in a constant world of clamor of noise and hurrying that would mean sleeplessness for any but those hardened to the life.

Except for the Forrestal's experienced crew and airmen, a night operation is a nightmare.

Elevators rumble up to the flight deck, carrying aircraft. The night is pitch black until the eye adjusts and can detect black shapes moving about against a blacker background.

Here and there the glowing red eye of an electric torch flashes briefly. Air crews come topside, swathed in immersion suits, helmeted, life jackets buckled on, carrying notebook knee pad boards. They climb up into cockpits. From high aloft, the "bullhorn" bellows commands into the dark. Jet engines start. They whine first, then scream as the planes taxi to position over the steam-powered launching catapults. Flight deck men, with the eyes and nimbleness of cats, scurry in the black night, dodging jet blasts, crawling under fuselages, hooking up the plane to the catapult.

Whoever else is sad, those who believe in woman suffrage are highly pleased at the results of the election. In five states the people voted on the question whether the ballot should be given to women, and in four the answer was yes. The four new suffrage states are Arizona, Kansas, Michigan and Oregon. These new additions make the whole number 10, the other states being Washington, California, Wyoming, Colorado, Utah and Idaho. These states have an electoral vote of 70 altogether.

F. M. Wagon of Sipe Springs, a relative of Mrs. F. H. Oberthier, was here this week and was shown the eighth wonder of the world, the biggest irrigation wells on the Plains. He likes 'em fine. D. F. Word has been received that Mrs. Bernard Seed has been acclaimed the queen of Simmons University in Abilene. There were five other candidates for the honor. Beauty and popularity were the points considered. She was elected by popular vote of the students. She is the second married woman to be thus honored.

By KENT SNARE

After peering at Oklahoma's offensive impotency over television last Saturday, I was reminded of a story attributed to Red Sanders which, no doubt, would express Mr. Wilkinson's feeling as of now. UCLA was having a very bad time, this given day of the aforesaid tale, not being able to go anywhere, particularly when they had the pigskin. Mr. Sanders turned his back on the play to look at his hole card or mashap to see if he had a h-card and during the interim, the striped jacket man assessed the UCLA's yards which they could sorely spare. "What's that for?" queried Red. "For backfield in motion," answered the referee. "Good," enthused Sanders. "That's the first motion anybody's been able to detect in our backfield all afternoon." Rice inched up the SWC situation more than somewhat by one spotting the Aggies. The Aggies are 4-1 in conference scuffling and Texas is 3-1-1, with their annual head butting on the 28th Instant still to transpire. "Course Rice could take it all from their present 3-1 standing if they can get by TCU at Fort Worth and Baylor at Houston. If nothing else in the way of emolument, they ought to reap some shekels from the final home game. For the next to the last 1957 Brand listing, here we go, with last year's tab and then the consensus pick: Phillips at Hereford. Miss. So. at Alabama. 13-13. Ala. #### IMPARTIALITY

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Patrolman Ernest Greenleaf takes the Charleston statute against litterbugs literally. He chased one all the way to the city incinerator. The litterbug turned out to be a city employe. Greenleaf booked him on charges of operating a trash truck without a cover and told the court:

"It makes no difference to me who he works for. I told him he can't let trash blow off his truck onto city streets."

The judge placed the case on the "open docket" after warning that a second arrest would mean a stiff fine.

NOISY KITCHEN

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Mrs. Leidon Backes, almost totally deaf for the whole of her married life, has just had an operation to restore her hearing. And she's found her kitchen is a pretty noisy place.

"I never knew things sizzled so when I fried them," she said. "They make a terrible racket."

HUNGRY VICTIM

MCALESTER, Okla. (AP)—Dick Gossett isn't angry at the person who took his dog, he feels sorry for the abductor.

The dog is a 150-pound Great Dane and Gossett noted: "He'll eat them out of house and home."

Up near the top of the "island" structure, the men in the control room watch, give the signal. The minute for launching is at hand. Down on the right hand side of the waiting jet an officer waves an electrically illuminated wand in a tight circle, telling the pilot to run up his engine to full power. The jet's scream grows deafening. The aircraft, still held in leash, shakes even the stout steel flight deck. Hot, blue flame streaks from the tailpipe. Suddenly, the officer crouches, points his wand to the end of the flight deck. The catapult snaps the multi-ton plane into flying speed in three hundred feet of run, hurling it out beyond the end of the deck. Almost instantly, the aircraft flashes from sight into the night. And another follows hard on its heels. The mission is off.

The HARVEST

IT WAS SAID in the long ago that we brought nothing into this world and that we shall take nothing out. That is true for all material goods. It is false in the realm of the spirit. You and I are writing day by day the story that must forever be our history. We are garnering the harvests of the years and storing them in the granaries of heaven. As women and men come to the closing hours of life on the earth, they gather up the "fruit of the spirit." Love and joy and peace and longsuffering are not material. They are eternal goods.

HOW RICH ARE WE? When we stand before the heavenly cashier and ask for a statement, what will the little card carry as our record? Shall we hold in our hands a blank white card, with a dark background? Will the servant of the Most High say that our account stands at zero? How dreadful, when we discover we have been working and living for naught! But why wait? Most of us can guess what the bank account really is. Let's face that question now, for tomorrow we must know the final statement. Shall I make sure of my holdings in the divine treasure house? What is my harvest?

You In The Church... The Church In You
 Form a combination for good. We should attend church regularly. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the CHURCH. Be faithful. Be a Churchman!

SAME COURT, DIFFERENT JOB

PRESTONBURG, Ky. — Judge Edward P. Hill, about to charge a newly impaneled grand jury, paused to reflect that the face of one member seemed familiar.
 Then the judge summoned Deputy Sheriff Frank Blackburn and asked him, under oath, if he hadn't raided the juror's premises and if his case hadn't been considered by the previous grand jury.
 Blackburn replied that he had raided and volunteered that he also found liquor.
 The juror was dismissed.

LAST LAUGH

SILVER SPRING, Md. — Five years ago Sydney Mendelsohn ordered some fruit trees from an Illinois firm later convicted of mail fraud.
 He got five trees right away — all about eight inches tall — marked plum, apricot, pear, cherry and apple. The plum seedling didn't grow, and the apple tree was barren.
 But Mendelsohn figures he got the last laugh.
 His 9-year-old son took some peaches from what was supposed to be the apricot tree the other day — and won first prize at the Montgomery County fair.

TROOPS GUARD HARVEST

SANTIAGO DE CUBA. — A record coffee harvest in Cuba's easternmost Oriente province is progressing rapidly. All of the crop is expected to be garnered by the end of November.
 The harvesting is proceeding under the watchful eyes of Cuban troops. But there has been no interference with the work by supporters of rebel leader Fidel Castro, who is hiding out in the Sierra Maestra mountains bordering the coffee-growing lands.

Salvage Those Worn Linens

AP Newsfeatures

In every housewife's life there comes the time when she is faced with a depressing pile of worn-out sheets, pillow cases, towels and blankets. Sheets and pillow cases split down the middle, towels get torn, blankets are frayed around the edges. But usually there is plenty of usable fabric in all these things, and the woman who is handy with the sewing machine can turn out many attractive and practical items from the worn linens.

Here are a few tips from experts at your local sewing center on how to stretch the budget by reclaiming worn linens.

Towels, for example offer many possibilities. A worn towel is softer than a new one, and the worn parts may be trimmed away to make towels or washcloths for a new baby. To finish raw edges, use a zigzag stitch. Towels also may be cut into baby bibs, edged with bias tape. The good parts of several bath towels may be stitched together to make an absorbent terry cloth apron, invaluable at baby's bath time. Make a big pocket in the apron to hold such essentials as soap, oil and talcum.

A makeup cape is a useful item which may be cut from an old bath towel, and lined with vinyl plastic, which may be salvaged from a worn shower curtain. If your towels are too far gone for these makeover tricks, they can still be used for stuffing rag dolls or for padding under the ironing board cover.

Most women know the trick of tearing a ripped sheet down the middle and stitching the selvages together to extend the life of the sheet. However there are many other things you can do with them. A worn sheet can be cut down to make a crib sheet or pillow cases. Or the good sections of the fabric can be used to make aprons, which may be brightened up with colored rickrack braid or bias binding trim.

Worn blankets also may be cut down to fit a smaller bed, or to make a bunting for a baby. A bedspread of suitable fabric can be turned into a set of closet accessories, with garment bag and matching shoe bag.

Worn tablecloths can easily be made into place mats or napkins, attractively trimmed with decorative stitching. Worn draperies can be cut down to make café curtains, salvaging the unfaded parts of the fabric. Or good sections of draperies can be used to cover pillows or small chairs.

Almost any worn linen may be saved for padding in quilted seat covers, bridge table covers and such.
 It's a good idea to keep your linen supply replenished by buying one or two sheets and pillow cases at the twice-yearly white sales, so that you never have to buy a full set all at once.

Dayton Grandmothers' Drill Team Happily Outstepping Father Time

FIVE MEMBERS of the Dayton Grandmothers' Club drill team parade for the photographer. Their director says her hardest job was to keep them from talking during drills, which require utmost concentration. Concentration was less than perfect here, where grandmother on the far right was caught out of step.

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Twenty-eight Dayton grandmothers aren't letting Father Time get the jump on them. They're marching right along with him and enjoying every minute.

The 28 are members of a Grandmothers' Club drill team whose marching, 100 steps per minute, has charmed audiences and amazed husbands, children and grandchildren.

Mrs. Ruth Broedling, who groomed the team from its stumbling beginning to its current machine-like efficiency, had one big problem to overcome: how to keep 28 women quiet during practices and performances. "Sometimes I wish I had adhesive tape," she observed. "My biggest job is to keep them quiet. In this work feet and mouth just can't be going at the same time."

Apparently this crisis has been solved at least during performances. The marching grandmothers,

It Pays To Start Christmas Early

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.

Christmas has a way of pouncing out of the fall. It always seems to come before you are ready. When you wake up to the fact that the big day is just around the corner there is a mad dash to get everything ready. Tempers are likely to snap during mad dashes.

This year get going early and make some leisurely preparations with the children. When you start early you'll have time to talk to the children about what Christmas means. It's a wonderful season and children need to be part of all of it — not just receivers of gifts.

About the first of December begin to plan your Christmas decorations. It is of course too early who range in ages from 42 to 80, can put on quite a show. They form a human wheel, a waving flag, a figure eight or a cross at cues from piano music. All of their marching routines are by memory. The drill team marched into existence Feb. 19, 1931. After six months of training the marching matrons faced their first audience in Cincinnati.

"The Old Grey Mare," their theme, found them on that opening night shaking in their calico bonnets and skirts. But they were a hit. Mrs. Broedling said. Since that night they have gone on to conquer audiences all over the Miami Valley area and at Grandmothers' conventions from Seattle to St. Petersburg.

to set up a tree, but you could plan a crèche or nativity scene. Talk about the Christmas story and let the children make animals and figures, trees and houses to represent the nativity. As you work up a little scene your children begin to feel the spirit of Him whose birthday we celebrate. Perhaps you want to buy a few figures, but don't buy too many. A home-made scene with figures moulded out of clay, with pine cones for trees, will mean more to the children. Your home-made Story of Christ will be worked over and played with for weeks before Christmas.

Plan some other decorations for the house and put them up as the children work on them. Try to add a few new items every day or so.

Make a big batch of Christmas cookies. Cut them in interesting shapes and decorate them with bright colored sugar. These can be stored until needed, and make wonderful gifts for visiting children during Christmas week, or even before. Perhaps some of the children would like to send a fancy decorated cookie as a Christmas card to a special friend.

Christmas cards can be planned well before Christmas. As much as you can, interest the children in making their own cards. If you have kept those that were sent to you last year many of them will supply pictures which the children can cut out and paste on cards or colored paper.

When children buy their cards let them make their own selections.

Summer Reading Clears Path Back to School

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.

Reading comes easier to some children than to others. It is pretty safe to say that all children want to read if for no other reason than to be like other children.

If you have a poor reader and if you also have time, patience and enthusiasm, you may be able to use the long summer holiday to interest your child in the pleasures to be found between the covers of a book.

There are many reasons why a child wanders through the first or second or even the third grade without acquiring the basic skill of reading. Some children are poor readers because of a physical handicap. They don't see well or they cannot hear as much as the others. Sometimes lack of interest in reading is a reflection of a home where no one reads. The child has never had stories read to him. He has never seen anyone pick up a book for pleasure. Many reading problems are due to emotional conflicts in the home.

BUT WHATEVER the cause, the non-reader needs expert help, first to find out why he doesn't read and second to remedy the cause and get him started on the right path to learn this basic and most important skill. If he is in a remedial reading class at school, if his problems, physical or emotional, are being taken care of through the school, he may need no formal help during the summer.

At the same time a little subtle help might be most useful. If he could be given a few truly interesting books that fired his interest and imagination — he might find it fun to discover their contents.

It's hard to find the right books — books that are easy to read but more mature than the primers used for beginning readers. Such books do exist and if you search hard enough you can find them. The books for any particular child should take his special interests into consideration. For some children "how to do it" books are really intriguing; for others adventure stories or imaginative tales are better.

WHATEVER the subject matter the reading must be simple — short sentences, plenty of pictures and the type arranged so that it doesn't look like a discouraging amount of reading. But above all there must be pleasure ahead when the words are deciphered. Your enthusiasm for his special interests will help a lot. Genuine enthusiasm is contagious.

If you need help in finding just tions, deciding which card goes to which person. Let them sign their own names and stamp the envelopes.

Keep the children interested in doing things for Christmas, doing things for the family, for their friends and taking part in community plans. Their interest in others helps to keep down the pitch of excitement in what is being done for them and it also helps to give them a real feeling of love and concern for others. This, much more than receiving, is what we want our youngsters to feel about Christmas.

the right books for your child get a new book by Phyllis Fenner called "The Proof of the Pudding" published by the John Day Company. Phyllis Fenner has been a librarian for 32 years. She knows what appeals to children and how to approach a child to stimulate his interest in books. Her volume includes lists of books for all manner of children, those with problems, those without.

Whether you have a problem reader or a book worm you will enjoy this book and absorb some of the author's enthusiasm for books and children.
