City Budget Hearing Held Tomorrow Night

Work Proposed on Streets, Highway Will Face Dads

City Commissioners have been assured of having more than one visitor attending the city budget hearing Monday evening in the City Hall, according to manager Dudley Bayne. Seventeen members of the St. Anthony eighth grade civics class will be on hand for the hearing. Last year the commission had one visitor for budget hearing — a government student from West Texas State College. No figures have been released on the proposed budget by manager Bayne. The budget must first be read in a public hearing, according to state law, and passed on at a later meeting of the commission and officially adopted.

TOP CONSERVATIONISTS—Ed and Adolph Jacobs, bachelor brothers, who farm eight and a half miles northeast of Hereford, were named "Most Outstanding Soil Conservationists of the District" this week by the Tierra Blanca SCD committee. The brothers moved to Deaf Smith County in 1948. They have been considered for the honor the past three years. (Staff Photo)

BIGGEST UNDERTAKING of the evening will be a decision by the commission on the highway expansion and city street improvement financing. Cost of the projects can be met either by a bond issue or from the general fund. Bayne said he would propose to the commission that every deep intersection in the city where water was doing so much damage to the pavement should be made of concrete, eliminating pavement damage everytime there is a snow or rain.

City finance participation in the Highway 60 expansion will be only for storm sewers, according to Bayne. No property will have to be procured for the expansion, as the highway department already owns the required space. Widening of the highway by 13 feet will be necessary for four-lane traffic through town. It is proposed that the expansion will be seven and a half feet to the south and five and a half feet to the north.

3 Criminal Cases For Petit Jurors

A 25-member petit jury panel has been summoned to report to County Judge Homer Henslee at 10 a.m. Wednesday. The 12 jurors who are selected will consider three criminal cases.

Scheduled for trial Wednesday are Vincente Torres, charged with aggravated assault, and Joe Ramirez, charged with possession of liquor for sale. Thursday Brian Tomlinson will be tried for possession of liquor for sale.

Members of the jury panel are Earnest Kendall, Henry M. Batenhorst, Mrs. Bruce Carter, John Robinson, N. D. Bartlett, Mrs. Jim Loving, T. W. Robertson, Sam Nunnally, Mrs. Grady Rogers, Daniel J. Larsen, Frank A. Gyles Jr., Mrs. F. J. Knabe, Mont E. Baker, A. J. Erdman, Mrs. L. J. Dirks, Buddie Evans, Bill Darnon, Mrs. O. E. Easley, Alton Kemp, Jessie B. Odum, Mrs. Bessie Patterson, A. J. 'Outstanding Conservationist' Title Given Jacobs Brothers

ONLY NINE YEARS after having moved to Deaf Smith County to take up farming, limited with the restricted knowledge of dry-land farming, the Jacobs brothers, Adolph and Ed, this week were honored by being named the "Most Outstanding Soil Conservationists in the District."

The announcement was made by Luther Lesly, chairman of the Tierra Blanca Soil Conservation District.

The Jacobs brothers moved here from Winters, in Runtells County, during the winter of 1948. They purchased a small farm, 292 acres, eight and a half miles northeast of Hereford. Located half a mile north of the Progressive School building.

FARMING WAS far from new to the pair, having been raised on a small farm near Winters where cotton was the main money crop. There was plenty of help to do the picking when the time came, too, with 10 children in the family. "The boys had to learn irrigation farming the hard way," said one Soil Conservation Service field man, "but they have made the most out of what they have."

The Jacobs' farm has three different kinds of soil within its 292 acre confines. On the south part, close to their home, is Portales clay loam. Pullman silty loam makes up the richer, more productive portion of their plot, on the north side, and to the west, sloping downhill, is Drake clay loam, with a high lime content.

LAST SUMMER the two brothers produced 30 acres of soybeans, grain sorghum, wheat, cotton and 40 acres of alfalfa. All yielding "remarkably" well, considering the weather.

1957 was the first season the Jacobs had attempted to grow alfalfa, and some experimenting was done. They think now they have found the right combination for the concerning season by the use of a certain fertilizer which helped produce three times as much, three to one tons per acre. They plan to grow more alfalfa next year than the last.

Seek Clothes For Central School Pupils

Central School Parent-Teacher Assn. has issued a call for used children's clothing to be given to needy students at the school.

Mrs. Travis Caraway, Central P.T.A. president, said all types of winter clothing are needed, especially shoes.

"Some students are being forced to attend school without coats and shoes and some are wearing only rags," Mrs. Caraway said Friday.

Principal L. C. Thomas said the situation "is getting pretty desperate." He said some students have been coming to school barefoot and without underwear. Mrs. Caraway said persons wishing to donate clothing should take it to the principal's office. The clothing will be distributed as needed.

Board of Realtors To Hear Speaker

Harold Clingerman, field executive of the National Assn. of Real Estate Boards, will be in Hereford Monday to "speak to members of the Hereford Board of Realtors at a noon luncheon in the Hotel Jim Hill.

Clingerman also will meet individually with members of the local board. He travels from the association's headquarters office in Chicago. He has been a real estate man for 30 years.

Around Town

No hits, no runs, no errors. That's the total sum of law violations in Hereford from Wednesday through Saturday noon. There were no traffic accidents, no criminal arrests and no criminal trials. "No news is good news," said Chief of Police Henry Aycock. The sheriff's department also reported "nothing going on."

Shirley Elementary School Parent-Teacher Assn. will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the school gym. New officers will be elected. The program will be on "Meeting the educational needs of youth." The school choir will sing.

Formal opening of the new Giffland Funeral Home at 411 E. Sixth will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday with open house to follow until 9 p.m.

A nominating committee was selected to help choose new officers for the Hereford High School Parent-Teachers Assn. at the regular meeting Tuesday afternoon. Chief of Police Henry Aycock spoke to the group on juvenile delinquency. Next meeting will be March 6 instead of March 13 as originally scheduled.

Sweethearts for the two Hereford Beta Sigma Phi chapters were named Friday night at the organization's annual ball in the Jim Hill Hotel. Sweetheart for the Xi Epsilon Alpha chapter was Mrs. Lloyd Warren, and Mrs. Norman Moore was named her princess. Mrs. Harold Beauchamp was crowned sweetheart of the Kappa Iota chapter and Mrs. L. E. Ballard her princess.

Steve Clements was named as representative of the Farm Bureau for the deep test well committee Thursday evening.

Fourth annual Grain Drying and Storage conference will be held Thursday and Friday in the ball room of the Texas Tech Student Union Building.

Rites Today for Mrs. Casillas

Final rites for Mrs. Embira M. Casillas, 37, will be held at 2 p.m. today at San Jose Mission at the Labor Camp with Father Raymond Gillis officiating.

Mrs. Casillas died at 4 a.m. Friday at her home in the Labor Camp. She had been ill a short time. She moved to Hereford in March, 1957, from Petersburg. Surviving are her husband, Adolph, nine sons and two daughters. Burial will be in West Park Cemetery.

Deep Test Well Location Awaits Committee Action

Another step closer to naming the farmer who will have the deep test well drilled on his land was taken Friday afternoon at a meeting held in the Jim Hill Hotel.

Of more than 27 farmers present to the meeting, six said they were definitely interested in having the well drilled on their farm. During the latter part of the meeting, after all the explanations were made by Lubbock hydrologist Bill Broadhurst, each of the farmers were questioned for information which will be used by the board in deciding which will get the well.

THE SIX WERE Edgar Telchik, Herbert Freeman, C. F. Newsom, Wilbur Axe, W. A. Bunch and C. B. Norton.

During his talk, Broadhurst told the farmers the well, if made good, would mean an "additional source of future income for this county."

Telchik's farm is located five miles northeast of Hereford. Bunch is located 20 miles north on the old Jim Hill Ranch headquarters. Freeman is three miles north of Dawn, Newsom is five miles southeast of Hereford and Axe 10 miles southeast.

The farmers were told the deep test well committee, composed of county merchants, businessmen and farmers, had made a ruling that the landowner would have to pay the expense of drilling to the red bed, if high-level water was found.

FURTHER QUESTIONING was aimed at whether the farmers would agree to paying for the entire well, should good water be found at the deep level, and if they pay the expense of drilling to the Church of Christ Dedication Today

RUSSELL INGALLS, minister of the Central Church of Christ, has announced formal opening services for the new $185,000 Church of Christ building on Knight Street will be held today at 3 p.m. Those who plan to attend the program for the Church of Christ dedication are asked to be there shortly before 3 p.m. as the program will be broadcast over KPAN. The services are expected to last 30 minutes.

Bob Wear, minister of the Central Church of Christ, Canyon, will be main speaker. He ministered in Hereford for nine years, going to Canyon in June, 1955. Plans were made for the new building and the site for the new church purchased while he was here.

The opening song will be lead by Stanford Knox. Ingalls will make announcements and acknowledgements and Chris Clark of KPAN will be master of ceremonies.

Following the program will be informal visiting with church officials and Bible school teachers acting as hosts.

IN 1919, on the location from which the congregation is moving to the new building, the first Hereford Church of Christ was built. The small frame building was torn down during the depression and the first part of the present building was constructed. The auditorium was enlarged and the structure remodeled at the cost of $30,000 in 1948. An educational wing was added in 1951.

DUMAS HERE TUESDAY

Herd Clinches First Place Tie by Whipping Levelland

Clinching a tie for first place in District 1-AAA, the Hereford Whitefaces overwhipped the Levelland Lobos, 90-61, here Friday night. The 90 points was high mark for the season for Hereford.

In taking their seventh straight win, the Whitefaces ran their conference record to six wins against one loss and their season record to 15-6.

Phillips wound up its season Friday night by pounding Littlefield, 77-45, at Phillips. The Blackhawks also dropped Dumas, 65-59, at Dumas Thursday. The Hawks completed the season with a 6-2 mark and still have a chance at the title, should Dumas defeat Hereford here Tuesday night.

DISTRICT 1-AAA STANDINGS table with columns for Team, Won, Lost.

Results: Hereford 90, Levelland 61; Phillips 68, Dumas 59; Phillips 77, Littlefield 45. Tuesday's Schedule: Dumas at Hereford; Littlefield at Levelland.

A DUMAS WIN would throw the district into a tie and a playoff between Hereford and Phillips would be necessary. A Hereford victory would give the Whitefaces outright possession of the district championship.

Phillips eliminated Dumas from the title race Thursday. A slashing second-half attack broke up what had been a fairly close ball game Friday night. Hereford lead Levelland by only 10 points, 32-22, at the intermission.

The Herd got off to a stumbling start, hitting only 13 points in the first quarter while the Lobos notched nine. Levelland almost took the lead twice in the second quarter, closing the distance to 19-18 and then 21-20, before Hereford pulled away in the last two minutes.

In the third quarter the Herd swished in 27 points and took a commanding 59-44 margin. Increasing the attack's speed even more, the Hereford piled in 31 points in the final quarter to make a complete rout of the game.

REMEMBER WHEN?
By CHARLIE SEEDS

Any man will tell you that women have always had a lot to say about everything. Including politics. But there was a time when women didn't vote... and not so long ago.

The year women finally won their right to obtain suffrage was the year another great experiment began... when 13 representatives of the world's nations met at Geneva to form the ill-fated League of Nations. But here in America as many headlines were reserved for the passage of the 19th Amendment to the Constitution... extending to women the right to vote. Now women could have their political say... officially!

The great hue and cry, the threats of calamity, that preceded this great political step soon died down. It turned out that women knew what they were doing in a voting booth after all. America's fair sex soon proved their right to be solid voting citizens!

Remember the year? That same year Americans continued to buy more cars than ever before... and the American way of shopping for savings made good sense, as it always has.

The year was 1920. Well, this year it makes better sense than ever for the new car buyer to get the best deal he can... and that's what we can offer you on our new 1958 FORDS. You'll find we're easy to do business with... and we'll save you money! CHARLIE SEEDS MOTOR CO., INC. 146 E. Second. Phone EM 4-2727.

Research Raises Boll Weevils Without Cotton

COLLEGE STATION — A Texas A&M College scientist has sold the cotton boll weevil on life without cotton.

The discovery by Dr. Erna Vanderzant assures a steady supply of the pest to research. It also offers a better research medium.

Recently Dr. Vanderzant developed a diet on which boll weevils could be grown from egg to maturity without cotton. Now she has eliminated cotton entirely from the insect pest's life cycle.

The need for live cotton plants both for nutrition and as a stimulus to the laying of eggs has been a knotty problem for entomologists in the past.

Dr. Vanderzant, a member of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's research service, is now growing fifth generation laboratory weevils.

More precise knowledge of insecticide cause-and-effect is expected. Weevils several generations removed from cotton fields can be selectively controlled for such factors as uniformity in age, nutritional background and insecticidal resistance.

Basic diet fed by Dr. Vanderzant to growing weevils includes soy bean protein, sucrose, cholesterol, fat, B-complex vitamins, minerals in the form of salts, agar, water and stabilizers.

Egg laying young adults are switched to a more complex diet which also includes protein hydrolyzate, sugar, additional vitamins, would allow the water to be used for a length of time required for testing the find.

Each of the six agreed to pay to the red bed. Telchik said his land was 270 feet above red bed. Newsom said he was 180 to 235, Axe 180, Bunch 200, Freeman 275 and Norton 90-130 to red bed.

Virgil Dodson, acting chairman of the committee, said later the committee was going to be required to decide whether the farmer would have to pay an additional amount of money for the drilling, should his red bed surface be closer to the ground than the others, making the community cost of the well greater.

As it stands now, the landowner will be required to pay only for the drilling and casing to red bed. No other rules have yet been laid down by the committee.

Each of the farmers, it was disclosed during the questioning, has a good amount of high-level water, making each of them good prospects as applicants, according to committee representatives.

Scoring was well distributed among the Whitefaces with Jim Curtsinger tallying 20, Steve Slagle, 19; Clearman, 16, and Bobby Shelton, 14.

Doug Cannon of Levelland was high man of the night, counting 31 points for his team. Cannon hit 10 field goals and 11 free shots.

Hereford sank 34 of 69 field goal attempts for a 46 per cent average. The Whitefaces also counted 22 of 36 free shots.

Curtsinger was the leading rebound man of the night, grabbing 11 while Terry Higgins pulled in eight and Slagle six.

SLAGLE AND Curtsinger paced the last-half splurge with 12 points each while Shelton hit 11 and Clearman got 10. Slagle scored frequently by breaking in for lay-up shots.

The score might have been even higher, but coach Cuby Kitchens put his reserves in the game with 5:20 left and the Herd leading, 70-47.

TWO WELLS, both 8 inch, are now located on the farm, one new and another drilled before they purchased the land, 900 feet of underground concrete pipe was laid for the old well, making a total of 3,625 feet of irrigation pipe on the farm.

On the sloping land portion of their farm, the brothers plan to seed it in grass, because of the tendency of erosion by southwest winds and rain water run-off.

Strong believers in soil fertilizers, the Jacobs brothers have been applying amounts varying from 75 to 100 pounds of nitrogen per acre on sorghum stubble and also when planting.

WHILE MOST of their time and profits have been going to land improvements and payments, the Jacobs have made one very important improvement on their farm, a 40x60 quanset shed, complete with concrete flooring. The usual improvements inside the shed were made, including a well-equipped tool room.

Little time is ever had for caring for livestock, so Adolph and Ed have limited their animal stock to four chickens, a cat and a dog, Ike.

When asked how they happened to move to Deaf Smith, both spoke at once, "Irrigation water."

New Styles Show the Legs

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

This is the year for legs, if you plan to wear the new fashions. And don't forget that the backs of your knees will be featured in this new look. Horrible? Worse than that. The only way to fight it is to improve your knees. If they don't measure up, and that's a tall order for any girl.

front. Slide the right heel toward the body until the knee is a bit bent. Let heels remain on the floor as you straighten your knees sharply, slapping your calf against the floor.

If you'd keep your calves slim, wear shoes with heels. Ballet slippers and flat shoes increase the development of leg calves because of the stress put on that area when you wear low-heeled shoes. Alternate from low to high heels as often as possible.

Since eyes will be on your legs, they will also be on your feet. Those little pump bumps that bulge above your shoes, for instance, need careful attention, particularly as we go into spring and summer.

A little petroleum jelly rubbed into the backs of heels before you wear the offending shoes may help to minimize the effects of friction. And you don't want to have the "bobbles" from scabbing feet, so make sure those callouses are taken care of now.

Callouses may be eliminated by following this routine: Fill a pan with hot, sudsy water. Douse well with bath salts or other softeners. Immerse feet for 15 to 20 minutes.

How do you stack up? Below the knees? At the knees? Calves? The surest treatment for fat legs is a general reducing program, unless the legs are out of proportion to the rest of the body. Exercise will help in spot reduction, if fat knees or bulging calves mar an otherwise pretty leg.

Help reduce your knees this way: Stand with your feet together, knee caps touching. Pull knee caps toward. Relax. Repeat as often as you can.

Sit down, spreading the knees apart, and deliberately slap them together. The bulges should meet, but do it gently.

Calves may be reduced with this exercise: Sit on the floor with the legs straight out in PUMP BUMPS—Rid yourself of them by massaging feet with petroleum jelly.

After soaking, scrub the calloused areas with a brush. If all dead skin isn't removed, use an abrasive such as pumice or grainy meal.

Rinse feet under cold water tap, the icier the water, the more invigorating. After drying well, attend to your cuticle with an orangewood stick and cotton. It will be soft after all the soaking, and easy to handle. Massage the feet with a petroleum jelly. Grasp the ball of the foot and firmly move hand back to heel.

If you do this routine at night, wear an old pair of socks to bed. You'll feel like dancing in the morning after sleeping off this treatment.

How Can I?

- Q. How can I dry the hair quickly after a shampoo?
A. If the hair is very heavy, and drying it takes a long time, the following method may be used: Light the oven, turn the gas low, lower the oven door, and then place the electric fan on the lowered door. The warmed air will quickly dry the hair.
- Q. How can I relieve a bad head cold?
A. Place a piece of camphor in an old saucer, set it on the fire and after burning for a few minutes, blow it out and inhale the camphor fumes. This has often proved effective.
- Q. How can I remove varnish stains from fabrics?
A. By saturating with turpentine, rubbing between the hands, and then sponging with alcohol.
- Q. How can I prevent the smell of tobacco smoke in a room?
A. Place a lump of crystal ammonia in a jar, with three or four drops of oil of lavender. Add a few tablespoons of boiling water and let the jar stand uncovered in the room.
- Q. How can I prevent cake icing from hardening if interrupted by the doorbell or telephone while applying the icing?
A. Place a damp cloth over the bowl containing the frosting and it will prevent hardening.
- Q. How can I soften finger nails that are hard and brittle?
A. By immersing the nails in warm olive oil every night. Or, try rubbing a little petroleum jelly on them every evening.

Young Rocketeers Set Safety Code

MIDLAND (AP)—Sixteen youthful Midland rocketeers have just agreed to abide at all times by a strict 22-point safety code—thanks to an explosive expert and a physics teacher who made them realize possible danger in their new hobby.

The youths form the active membership of the Midland Rocket Research Society at Midland High School.

Need for stringent safety regulations became apparent during the last three months in the society's organizational meetings.

Prospective members told stories of rocketeering which concerned Dr. Rush Elkins, physics teacher, and High School Principal E. F. Bittick.

James Ash, head of a munitions laboratory in World War II, joined Dr. Elkins as society sponsor.

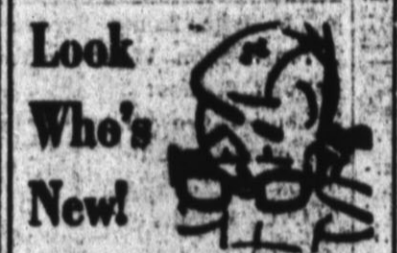

One Midland boy mixed powdered chemicals with an electric food mixer. Others used metal surface and instruments, leaving themselves open to sparks which could have set off the mixed explosive.

Some rocketeers stored dangerous mixed fuels in their homes. Others tested small amounts of fuel in their back yards. Still others carried loaded rockets in their cars to launching areas.

"The real shortcomings in their approach was in thinking only of firing," Ash pointed out.

"They seemed to have respect for the firing but they were treating the explosives beforehand very casually."

The new safety pledge assumes that members of the MRS-sponsored society will take all necessary precautions. They must promise to obey the safety regulations privately as well as when working with the society.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ruiz are the parents of a boy, Andres, who was born at 4:40 a.m. on Feb. 13 and who weighed 7 pounds at birth. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Andres Rodriguez of Brownfield and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ruiz of Hereford.

A boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Jose Canalez at 4:50 a.m. on Feb. 14 and he weighed 8 pounds and 14 ounces.

Patricia Anne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Headstream, was born at 5:07 p.m. on Feb. 14. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Akros of Anson and paternal grandmother is Mrs. C. E. Headstream of Roby.

Beauty At Home

Q. What steps can I take to induce more gloss and sheen in my hair?
A. This is largely dependent upon regular shampooing and thorough rinsing. But daily brushing preserves this sheen. Choose a good brush with long, flexible bristles, set widely apart. Such a brush not only does the best job of brushing, but is easier to keep clean, too.

Q. How can I keep my oily skin smoother and less moist?
A. Try an astringent lotion chilled with ice. This should help firm any flabby muscles and stimulate lazy pore action through which too much oil is creeping. After removing your cleansing cream, or after washing, apply the lotion with some cotton, and then slap your face dry.

Q. What can I do about the skin on my throat, which has become a bit crepey?
A. Treat it with a bit of warm oil each night after the skin has been cleaned. Once a week, a cream mask also helps to give the skin a more bleached and youthful look.

Q. What can I do about abnormal perspiration of the face?
A. This is usually the sign of underper health, and you should consult your doctor. Likely, he will prescribe plenty of rest, lots of sunshine and fresh air, freedom from constipation, and cold-water swims — as many of them as you can get. Witch hazel in your rinsing water helps somewhat.

Q. Can you suggest an approved method of brushing the hair?
A. Lay the side of your brush close to the scalp, roll it out the length of the hair in sort of vibration jerks. Don't pull it through your hair stiffly. Take a thick strand of the hair at a time until the entire head has been thoroughly brushed. Then you may comb your hair back into place, and feel that you have done a good job.

Q. What is a good weight-gainer "cocktail" I can mix myself?
A. Several times a day (between meals) mix one fresh egg yolk with a glass of orange juice. Add a tablespoon of honey. Beat until foamy. It's effective and it's tasty.

Q. How can I make a professional-looking job of applying my fingernail polish?
A. For a nice, smooth, glossy finish, be sure that not only your hand, but each individual nail is

It's a long time before harvest, but I still insist that we are going to make a wheat crop in this country. It will be a help to everyone, especially to the dry land boys in the great northwest portion of Deaf Smith County.

The recent snow did create a lot of trouble, though. This was especially true of women who insist on wearing those "toeless" shoes — and who doesn't these days? The dry goods boys tell me that it resulted in quite a run on plastic overshoes. My father-in-law says they should pass a federal law against selling the things. He says anyone crazy enough to buy shoes without toes ought to have to wear them in all kinds of weather.

"I worked hard all my life so my daughter wouldn't have to wear shoes with holes in them," he declared. "And what happens? She wears them by choice!"

Now its getting worse. I notice where they have come out with some ladies' shoes which have no tops at all. They stick to the bottom of the feet with 2-way tape. Personally, I doubt if the fad will last too long but, if it does, there will be an opening for a livewire pedicurist in the area.

CENTRAL SCHOOL leaders sent out an S-O-S for used clothing Friday. This is the second time during the week. I checked with L. C. Thomas, principal, and he says the situation is really desperate in some instances. Some of the children get so cold that they cry. Underwear and shoes are two of the items most needed, although some of the dresses, shirts, pants, coats and other apparel are threadbare. They also have an urgent need for socks. Any type of durable clothing in all sizes will be appreciated, according to Mrs. Travis Caraway, Central PTA president. The items should be left at the principal's office — and they will be carefully distributed where they will do the most good.

Some of the other schools are probably faced with the same problem. Check with the principal if you have some clothing your children have out-grown or discarded. It isn't so much a matter of appearance as of sheer comfort, according to Mr. Thomas.

We had a telephone call the other day wanting to know about the city election for 1958. The date is early in April, according to City Manager Dudley Bayne. Two commissioners will be named to fill the expiring terms of R. R. Willis and Troy Moore. Don't know if they will be candidates for re-election or not. The election will probably be officially scheduled at the next commission meeting. A school election will also probably be ordered this month or next.

A lot of people have been accusing Jimmie Allred of manipulating the basketball scores these days. The final score in the Phillips-Dumas game Thursday night read: Phillips 66 — Dumas 59.

Marriage Licenses
Herman McDonald Wray and Ouida Stayton, Feb. 13.

by the comment following the sketch on The Brand this week. We have had quite a few letters from over the Southwest, including a nice one from Herman Ford, former Hereford High School principal. Herman is now a vice president with Southland Life and probably has one of those massive mahogany desks and a brown leather ovan. A lot of folks will remember Herman back then, and most of them will agree, "it couldn't happen to a nicer guy."

Everyone says I didn't look natural, chiefly because I HAD ON A TIE. I guess they are right but, after all, everyone has a little "ham" in their blood and I wasn't about to go on TV without a tie. The photographer made me take off my coat — or if would probably have been a lot worse. Mrs. Luther Lesly sent word that she thought it was real fine — as was! So far, Jackie Allmon hasn't accepted any Hollywood offers, but I notice that he is usually waiting around 15 or 20 minutes before time for the mail man to show up. Jack says when he gets to Hollywood he is going to get a purple Cadillac and use nothing but Humble gasoline.

Maybe the film will slow down those Toastmaster boys. They are still referring to The Brand as the "fastest growing newspaper in Deaf Smith County." Someday one of them will slip up and call me the "fastest growing newspaper publisher in Texas" and things will get serious.

VEGETABLE GROWERS in this area will find stiff competition in the years to come. I notice in the exchange papers where they are holding meetings and making plans at Littlefield, Farwell, Muleshoe, Dumas, Dalhart and a dozen South Plains areas. I figure this is a bad year to jump into the vegetable business, due to all of the natural moisture. However, some of them will stick and marketing will ultimately become more of a problem than it has been in the past.

Gov. Price Daniel probably lost some friends when he suggested the possibility of doing away with our precinct conventions. Very few people turn out for these conventions, and they are seldom representative of the thinking of the majority, but they are still a level from which the average citizen can get upon his hind legs and voice his complaints — if he desires. Instead of getting away from "grass roots" thinking, we need to move back toward it. What we really need to do is develop more interest in the precinct meetings, not drop them. Lethargy and lack of interest is the greatest threat to our democratic form of government today. It is far more serious than the Russian Sputnik or the hydrogen bomb. As it is, too many people with too many axes to grind are running the show. The old time statesman has too frequently been replaced by the modern politician.

The Tulla paper reports rumors of possible location of a "missile corridor" from near Hobart, Okla., to El Paso and says it may pass between Tulla and Lubbock. They also indicate possible condemnation of land in Palo Duro Canyon for a missile landing field. The Tulla paper further reports that a lot of Oklahoma people, especially in the Ft. Sill area, are perturbed.

Things are chiefly in the rumor and alarmist stage, but they have set a lot of folks to thinking seriously about such possibilities. When it all winds up, they will probably keep right on firing missiles on the practically worthless areas they now use. Most people can find enough to worry about without looking too hard and, in case such tests should develop, it is logical that previous arrangements will be made. Such, at least, has been the method pursued in other areas.

VALENTINE'S PARTY—Members of the Nateena Camp Fire group serve punch and a cupcake to a member of the Special Education Class at Shirley School during a Valentine's Day party given the class by the Camp Fire girls. Nateena Camp Fire Group Advances 10 Girls in Rank

A candlelight ceremonial held before a blazing fire was staged in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Carl M. Stapp Thursday evening, when members of the Nateena Camp Fire group noted the advancement of the 10 girls to the rank of Trail Seekers.

Carrying lighted candles, the girls entered the room singing the "Camp Fire Law." Sharon Seay, Ann Cunningham and Sharon Tinnin served as candle lighters, igniting the hearth candles of "work," "health," and "love," with the candles being extinguished by Cheryl Edmonson, Susan Stapp and Barbara Langley. The girls joined in responses outlining the work of Camp Fire.

At the conclusion of the ceremonial, each girl received her certificate of Trail Seeker rank, as well as her honor beads earned in the seven crafts outlined by Camp Fire.

Special guests at the affair were Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Sharp, who are sponsoring members of the Kiwanis Club, the official Nateena sponsor for the current year.

Refreshments were served from a table featuring the Valentine motif, with an arrow-pierced red heart being lighted by tall white tapers. Centering the table was a miniature Camp Fire girl, dressed in the official costume of the organization.

Attending the social were Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Langley, Mr. and Mrs. James Edmonson, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Boyer, Mr. and Mrs. James Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Tinnin, Rev. and Mrs. Bernard Seay, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Vance Crume, Dr. and Mrs. Stapp; Mrs. W. H. Graham Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Graham Jr., of Farwell; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Sharp.

Girls in the group include Barbara Langley, Cheryl Edmonson, Nancy Boyer, Beverly Roberts, Sharon Tinnin, Sharon Seay, Ann Cunningham, Donna Williams, Judy Crume and Susan Stapp. Adult leaders are Mrs. Stapp and Mrs. Crume.

Surprise Birthday Coffee Is Given

Mrs. Glenn Hopson entertained Friday morning at a surprise coffee given to compliment Mrs. Steve Clement on her birthday.

The informal hour was enjoyed by Mesdames J. R. Allison, O. Z. Golden, M. W. Nobles, Les Combs, the honoree and the hostess. Valentine remembrances were presented to the honoree.

MERRY WIVES
GUNTHORPE, England — The club for women in this Nottinghamshire village is changing its name from "The Merry Wives of Gunthorpe" to the "Ladies Social Group."

"We are merry, all right, but unmarried women want to join," explained an official.

Federated Women's Clubs Elect Officers at Meet

New officers were elected at the Deaf Smith County Federation of Women's Clubs third quarterly session held Friday at the First Christian Church. Hosts for the luncheon which preceded the business session and program were Westway and West Hereford Home Demonstration Clubs and L. A. E. Study Club.

Officers who will be installed at the final meeting of the season in May include: Mrs. M. T. Rutter, president; Mrs. A. J. Schroeter, first vice-president; Mrs. Ray Johnson, second vice-president; Mrs. Alice Steen, recording secretary; Mrs. L. H. Lookingbill Sr., corresponding secretary; Mrs. E. A. Reddell, treasurer; Mrs. John Jacobsen Jr., reporter; Mrs. P. B. Sowell, parliamentarian; and Mrs. O. G. Hill Sr., historian.

The program chairman, Mrs. Clinton Jackson, introduced the speaker, Dr. L. B. Barnett, who explained the need for a Shrine Hospital for Crippled Children in this area and told how it would work hand in hand with the Research Foundation laboratories which have been planned for Hereford.

He said the hospital would be open to all regardless of race, creed or color and told of the work done during the past 10 years to secure such a hospital here. He said the chances for the hospital to be built here seem very good but that it will be very good before a definite decision will be made.

A GAME OF HEARTS—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hill, center, and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lyons enjoy a game of hearts at the L'Allegra Study Club sweetheart party given in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Robinson. Mrs. Hill is the club president and Mrs. Lyons serves the club as treasurer.

St. Valentine's Day Remembrances

Love, sincere affection and tender remembrances are found in Valentines for 1958 as Americans exchanged Valentines by the millions to mark Feb. 14 as the feast day of the patron saint of lovers.

The first was sent in 270 A. D. by St. Valentine himself, on the eve of his execution for refusing to renounce Christianity. Signed "From Your Valentine" it was a note of appreciation from the young priest to his jailer's blind daughter.

One of the oldest and most historic valentines was written by the Duke of Orleans to his wife when he was imprisoned in the Tower of London.

It is now in the British Museum.

It was not until the Middle Ages that the love element was introduced into the celebration of St. Valentine's Day. The first valentines in the United States were issued in 1855 and later in the century some elaborate valentines appeared. From that time the custom of remembering favored persons on Valentine's Day has extended to valuable remembrances, and to some the love theme is exemplified in plans for others and in giving gifts where they will do the most good, not only on Feb. 14, but throughout the year.

L'Allegra Club Fetes Husbands, Sponsors Love-Gifts for Others

THE VALENTINE motif prevailed recently when members of L'Allegra Study Club entertained their husbands in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Robinson Jr. White candles and an array of red hearts provided decorations for the annual event which took the form of an old fashioned box supper, with cleverly decorated boxes adding both beauty and color to the scene.

When the boxes were judged by popular vote, Mrs. Bill Dameron was the first place winner, and in games of hearts which followed the supper, Bill Dameron took home the award for the men, while Mrs. James E. Higgins won the ladies prize.

Those attending were Messrs. and Mesdames Ronald Babione, Tommy Carnathan, Bill Dameron, Bill Hardwick, James E. Higgins, Hilton Higgins, Charlie Hill, Francis Hill, Walter London Jr., Joe Lyons, Charlie Seeds, Stanley Slagle, Wayne Thomas and the Robinsons.

SINCE ITS organization in 1946, L'Allegra Study Club has offered planned study programs for members and gives them opportunities to aid charitable causes. Mrs. Walter London Jr. was its first president.

In the beginning the social side of life was stressed but as the membership grew a broader scope was visualized and members form a civic minded group contributing materially to community interests.

The programs, designed to inform and broaden the thinking of members, have included special speakers on politics, law, medicine and other subjects of importance to young mothers. A guest-day tea is an annual event.

The group sponsors a Bluebird group each year, assists with funds for Hereford's exchange student each year, arranges baskets for the needy at Thanksgiving time and at Christmas, and contributes money to the Labor Camp.

EACH YEAR members of the club busy themselves with one major project to raise funds for a specific purpose. Funds from the 1951 project went to "Girlstown" and in 1952 funds were provided for the heating system at the Labor Camp. In 1953 the new children's wing at Deaf Smith County received a check and in 1956 the local athletic club received project money.

The 1957 project, which was the biggest project undertaken by the club, netted $600, which amount was presented to Dr. L. B. Barnett for the Deaf Smith County Research Foundation.

The club's roster with twenty members, is now more than double its initial number and members feel that the many projects for others sponsored by the group, has contributed largely to the growing interest.

The general committees for the project this year, which was the compiling and selling "Club Calendars," included Mesdames James J. Higgins, chairman, Stanley Slagle, J. W. Robinson, Bill Dameron, John D. Pitman, H. A. Cavness, Donald Shipley, Bill Hardwick and Oliver Streu.

VALENTINE BOX—There was a special excitement in the air when guests began to open the fancy and festive valentine boxes which were filled to the brim with delicious food.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Seeds stand at the left with Mr. and Mrs. Walter London Jr. Mrs. Seeds is the club reporter and Mrs. London is parliamentarian.

MUCH OF THE WORK which went into the 1957-58 project, benefitted the Deaf Smith County Research Foundation, was directed by the committee headed by Mrs. James E. Higgins, standing center. Shown with her are Mrs. J. W. Robinson, left, Mrs. Bill Hardwick, Mrs. Bill Dameron and Mrs. Stanley Slagle. Others on the committee were Mrs. John D. Pitman, Mrs. H. A. Cavness, Mrs. Donald Shipley and Mrs. Oliver Streu. (Staff Photos)

Littlefield Hires New Grid Coach

Littlefield High School, a member of District 1-AAA, has a new football coach. He is Don Williams, now line coach at Andrews.

Williams replaces Gene Mayfield, Littlefield coach for the past four years, who accepted a job as head football coach at Borger this week.

Mayfield, a former West Texas State star, guided Littlefield to 32 wins, 12 losses and two ties. Williams was line coach under Mayfield in 1954 and 1955.

Williams signed a two-year contract Wednesday. He will report in April.

Other members of District 1-AAA are Hereford, Levelland, Phillips and Dumas.

Any of You Ladies Care To Be a Ball?

IT'S: HER POINT OF VIEW

By BETTY BABIONE

WELL, HAVE you seen the latest? . . . in women's fashions, that is. If you are having a hard time adjusting to the idea of the simple chemise (commonly called the "sack dress"), then you may really flip over a variation of the chemise which is being introduced by designers in their previews for spring.

You may have noticed a sample illustration in last week's Life magazine — the dress has a panel in the back which, when the wearer moves about, billows out. Life describes the produced effect as "making the wearer look a little like a beach ball on legs." Now may I ask you, who desires to look like a beach ball?

It does appear, what with the trend toward the sack dress, the barrel dress, and the "beach ball," that someone is conspiring against any appearance of normalcy in the feminine figure. My, my! And another thing — if skirts get any shorter, there are some of us who will be forced to either stay at home, or stay out of style.

Something else new for milady's attire — topless shoes, and how about that? Again, Life is the first publication to call attention to this latest idea in footwear — the Feb. 17, issue pictures a model's lovely tootsies in ("on") would be better worn in this instance) a pair of these topless shoes. Really, all they amount to (the shoes, not the tootsies) are soles with heels. They are held to the foot by means of special adhesive tape. Well, I guess they might become popular among people who like to show off their feet. Since her figure is being hidden in sacks and barrels, I suppose a gal has to have SOMETHING to show off.

With these extreme fashion designs, the clothing industry manages to stay in the limelight news-wise. And there isn't much telling what we can expect next! So far, it appears that women of Hereford have not gone overboard for the sack dress idea. But I imagine there'll be more of them seen around town as the Easter season approaches. I can hardly wait to see what happens.

WELL, I IMAGINE that there have been more than a few mama's who have been up to their ears in valentines this week. And school parties always mean arranging for assorted games and goodies. Having something special at school to celebrate a holiday may involve a little trouble on the part of teacher and parent, but it's always worth it.

When you stop to think that these happy events at school are the only kind of parties some children ever know.

On Friday, Mrs. Ralph Packard and Mrs. Townsend Douglas were seen picking up interesting looking (and luscious smelling) parcels at the bakery. Mrs. Arthur Dean and Mrs. Gerald Hale were scurrying in the direction of Alkman School, as was Mrs. Glenn Edwards, who had two parties on her afternoon's agenda.

You could easily spot a child as being one of Mrs. D. C. Martin's pupils as the throng of children paraded down the street toward home. The little sweethearts in her room all made head bands of paper hearts, and each seemed so proud to wear his that you'd think it was the crown jewels, no less.

CLINT FORMBY is urging KP AN listeners to drop a card to the chairman of the Federal Communications Board on behalf of our local station in request of extended and fixed broadcasting time.

According to the present ruling, KP AN can be on the air only between sunrise and sundown and has to change its sign-on time each month. Now I can see how that is a great inconvenience for the folks at the station, and confusing for the listeners — particularly those who keep time by the radio during the morning hours. If all it takes to correct the situation is a minute of my time and a postage stamp, then I, for one, will be glad to drop a line to: Chairman, Federal Communications Committee, Washington 25, D. C. Why not join me?

HUBBY AND I trudged through the snow to witness a meeting of the Hereford School Board the other night — first time we've ever been to one.

I can understand how a mob of visitors would sorta disrupt things, but the board meetings are open to the public, as you know. And it is highly interesting to see the school board in action. It is also a time that you can more fully realize what a fine job our school administrators are doing in Hereford, and you get a better insight as to some of the problems which these people have to face. And the men on the board are sincere and conscientious in their work with the school administrators, in constantly trying to better our local system.

One thing for sure — nobody envies those 4½ and 5-hour long sessions that are often necessary in order to transact and oversee school business. I was glad to find that there is usually coffee and cake on hand to, at least, add a little pleasure to the long hours.

WELL, THERE just hasn't been a thing much to gossip about. Guess, I'd better sign off anyway.

Oh! I do want to pass this story on to ya. Stop me if you've heard it: There was this Texas woman who decided to dye some old curtains blue. While she was hanging them on the line, a little white lamb, gamboling by, fell into the vat. He was fished out, unhurt, and went scurrying off.

A passing motorist saw the bright blue lamb, thought he'd discovered a new species, and offered a fancy price for it. The woman decided she had a pretty good thing going and the next day she dyed a second lamb. It, too, sold at a ridiculously high price.

From this start the woman developed quite a business, buying, dyeing and selling lambs. In fact, she turned out to be the biggest lamb dyer in Texas.

LOST TITLE
CASPER, Wyo. (AP)—Casper no longer can claim the title of bachelor capital of the United States. Two years ago, Casper let it be known it had more single men per single woman than any other city in the nation. Census officials say the 1957 male population is 17,612 compared with 17,947 females.

SUMMERFIELD NEWS

Valentine's Day Is Noted by Residents

BETTY WALSER

The word filled the air in this community last week as several different social affairs such as banquets and parties were held.

On Friday evening the Brotherhood of the Summerfield Church had its annual Valentine banquet. Brotherhood president, Reese Dawson, served as emcee of the ceremony. Carl Lee introduced the speaker, which was Rev. Merle Westers.

Those who attended the banquet were Messrs. and Mesdames Carl Chayle Sargeant, Jack Struen, Lawrence, J. B. Noland, Reese Dawson, Merle Weather, J. C. Gant, Kenneth Nell, J. M. Smith, Earl Lance Sr., Jim Lookingbill, C. J. Lance, O. B. Robertson, Clifford Galley, W. C. Beene, Gene Cotton, Donald Robertson and Guy Walser.

The Summerfield Study Club had a Valentine supper at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lance Thursday night. The dinner table was centered with a bouquet of red and white sweet peas, white carnations and red carnations. Mrs. Lisa Wilson of Hereford showed pictures that she and her husband had taken in Europe last March. Present were Messrs. and Mesdames R. E. Euler, K. W. Niell, Lee Curran, Ky Lawrence, J. B. Noland, Guy Walser, Mack Noland, Henry Kuper, Nav Johnson, Charlie Noland, Guy Walser, L. H. Lookingbill, Earl Lance and Mrs. Lisa Wilson of Hereford, Mrs. Billie Harrington and Jerry and Ann Lance.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Bollinger and Kathy returned last Saturday after taking a tour and visiting relatives in the western part of the United States.

They began their trip in Pueblo, Colo., with Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bollinger who accompanied them on the trip. From Pueblo they went northward to Rim Junction, Colo., Reno, Nev., and Redding, Calif. While in this part of California they toured through the Redwood Forest. From there the group went to San Francisco, Calif., where they did some sight-seeing. Bollinger said they saw the Golden Gate Bridge even though the weather was foggy. They visited in the L. M. Miller home while in Los Angeles, Calif. From there they went to Phoenix, Ariz., where they visited in the Jessie Bollinger home. In Stratford, Ariz., last stop before returning to Pueblo, Colo., they visited in the W. F. Bollinger home.

Alvita Reeves of Happy visited in the home of Ann Lookingbill and her parents last weekend. Both girls are students at West Texas. Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Lookingbill.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Galley and Kara moved to the old teachers in our community. Mr. and Mrs. Richard McGowan and family lived there, but moved to Hereford recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Lookingbill and Debbie of Amarillo visited in the L. B. Lookingbill home, over the weekend.

Guest in the Henry Kuper home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Kuper and family, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kuper and family, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Duprich of Hereford and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Elliston and family of Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Fields and Craig of Spade are visiting with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Wright and Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Fields of Hereford, this week.

Mrs. R. S. Cummins, mother of Mrs. A. H. Cook, died recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Walser, Ken and Betty visited in the home of the Walser's daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Purcell and family of Hardesty, Okla., last weekend. Richard Mac and Becky Purcell returned with them for a short visit with their grandparents.

Looking at the weather this week it seems the ground hog must have seen his shadow. The snow that fell this week will probably keep most of the farmers in this area out of the fields for about two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Evans are visiting in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bunyon Evans of Ft. Wadsworth and Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Diggs of Snyder this week.

Mrs. R. B. Baker and Durven were in Lubbock last Saturday on business. They also visited in Cotton Center with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Howell of Dimmitt are visiting in the Carl Lee home this week.

Virginia McDonald and Anette Gould of Hereford spent Saturday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Lookingbill.

Mr. and Mrs. Ansel Jackson and family of Hereford visited in the Frank Huckert home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Roberson attended the funeral of Mrs. B. S. Cummins of Levelland last Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Wright and Joe were in Amarillo Sunday to visit with Mrs. Wright's brother, Abe Winkle, who is in the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kuper and family were in Nazareth Sunday evening. They visited with Mrs. Kuper's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Acker. The Kupers were honored with a wedding anniversary party given by their relatives.

L. B. Lookingbill attended the funeral of Mrs. Harold Jackson in Hereford last week.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. White of Coleman, Okla., visited in the O. B. Roberson home recently.

Durven Baker visited in the L. D. Reeves home Monday and Tuesday in Cotton Center.

Mrs. George DeLozier is visiting

Program on Mendelssohn Is Featured by Music Study Club

A program on Mendelssohn was featured at the scheduled meeting of the Music Study Club Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Norman Moore. Mrs. B. Y. Crosthwait was assistant hostess.

Mrs. Steve Clement, program leader, gave a brief history of the life and works of Mendelssohn who was born at Hamburg, Germany in 1809 and displayed extraordinary musical talent at a very early age.

"At the age of 22 he went to England. His first symphony and the 'Midsummer-Night's Dream' overture was received enthusiastically by the English. In 1835 he completed his great oratorio of 'St. Paul' for Leipzig, and the next year he received his title of Doctor of Philosophy and Fine Arts.

"Mendelssohn was one of the most intelligent and scholarly composers of the century. Not only his great oratorios, 'St. Paul' and 'Elijah,' but his music for the piano including 'The Song Without Words,' sonatas, and many other pieces, won him a high place in the world of music. He died while at the zenith of his powers but the music he left entitles him to a place among the Titans of music," she concluded.

Mendelssohn's compositions presented on the program included "Consolation, Op 30 No. 3" played by Mrs. Clements; "O Rest in the Lord" from Elijah, played by Mrs. Ellis Coombes; and "The Hymn of the month 'Breathe on Me, Breath of God" sung in conclusion by the club chorus under the direction of Mrs. A. J. Schroeter. Mrs. Coombes served as accompanist.

During the business session Mrs. W. J. Stanford, president; named Mesdames R. P. Conaway, J. C. McCracken, and W. T. Carmichael to a committee to study and recommend constitutional revisions. Mrs. Joe Hacker was welcomed as a new member.

Lovely refreshments, carrying out the valentine motif, were served and the group adjourned to the rumpus room where they were entertained by music from an antique music box more than 100 years old, that played large disc metal records.

Those attending were Mesdames J. E. Beyer, Steve Clements, Ellis Coombes, R. P. Conaway, B. Y. Crosthwait, Homer Fox, C. J. Mountz, T. W. Roberson, A. J. Schroeter, W. J. Stanford, John Sims, Wayne Thomas, A. O. Thompson, S. O. Wilson, Bill Stanford, Howard Scott and Joe Hacker.

Farm & Ranch Club Fetes Husbands

Farm and Ranch Club members entertained husbands at a sweetheart and beaux supper party held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Minck Friday evening.

The valentine theme was featured in appointments. The table from which the supper was served was laid with a white linen cloth and centered by a heart-shaped valentine cake decorated with sugar spun red blossoms as a background for a sunburst of red carnations flanked by red tapers. Small tables for four were laid with red cloths and centered with festive valentines. Games of 42 and yacchi provided the diversion for the remainder of the evening.

Those attending were Messrs. and Mesdames Richard Boyd, Charles Hoover and Debby, Bobby Northcutt, Waldron Melton and daughters, Garland Solomon and sons, N. E. Tyler and children, Duell Monroe and children and the hosts.

Black H. D. Club Chooses Delegate

Maxine Price was elected the T. H. D. A. delegate nominee by the Black Home Demonstration Club at its meeting in the home of Mrs. Tom Presley Thursday.

Other business discussed during the regular business meeting was the club goal for the coming year. The goal is to help the girls 4-H club.

Christian Braxton and Altha Presley gave a demonstration on pruning shrubs.

Present were Mesdames Lois Whitaker, Emma Elmore, Mildred Barnett, Lucille Rockey, Helen Fangman, Carrie Tatum, Opal Cobb, Maxine Price, Anna Mae Hays, Ann Cartell, Ann Lee Sims and Sis Marrs, guest.

Black Death was the name given to the plagues which swept 14th century Europe, taking some 25 million lives.

Shoe Business Is Mechanized

ST. JO, Tex. (AP) — Robert H. Carlton, a shoe store owner in this Montague County town, says he has developed a shoe vending machine which will make it possible to run a shoe supermarket with three persons.

Carlton said a store manager, a cashier and a stock boy would be able to run a full-scale shoe supermarket.

Each machine would carry a line of shoe in all sizes. The customer would select the machine carrying a line he needed, press a button and hold it until his size came to the front on a rotating conveyor.

then he would take them out and try them on.

The customer would then take his shoes to the cashier and pay for them. The stock boy would keep the machines filled and the manager would oversee the operation.

Carlton said a properly equipped shoe automat would have about 200 machines to give customers a full range of styles. He said he thinks the vendors would retail for less than $100 when mass produced.

He has built a working model and has a patent pending, Carlton said.

He said shoe salesmen draw commissions of from 7 to 12 per cent on their sales and feel that the machines would pay for themselves in about one year.

Vital Statistics On Satellite Team

AP Newsfeatures

Here are thumbnail sketches of the key men in the Army satellite team, now working to top their achievement in putting the Explorer in orbit on their first try. Many came to the United States from Germany and most work at the Army Ordnance Agency in Huntsville, Ala.

DR. WERNER VON BRAUN

DR. WERNER VON BRAUN, German-born scientist who masterminded the U. S. satellite program, probably ranks as the nation's top missile man. He is 45. Von Braun in his earlier years directed development of the German V1 and V2 rockets which blasted the heart of England and nearly turned the tide of World War II. He came to the United States in 1945, under a contract with the U. S. Ordnance Corps. He has been at Redstone Arsenal since 1950 as technical director for guided missile development.

MAJ. GEN. JOHN BRUCE MEDARIS commands the Army Ballistic Missile Agency at Redstone. Born in Mildred, Ohio, May 12, 1902, he enlisted in the Marine Corps in 1918. He served in France during World War I, later studying mechanical engineering at Ohio State University. He was commissioned as a second lieutenant in the regular Army (infantry) in 1921. He served widely in the European theater during World War II and was promoted to major general in 1955. He was designated commanding general of ABMA in November, 1955.

WALCOTT NEWS

Volleyball Teams Win

By MRS. T. B. THOMAS

Coch A. L. Shelton took his upper grades' volleyball teams to Hereford Wednesday afternoon to play Stanton Junior High. Both of Walcott's teams defeated their opponents.

Assembly programs Wednesday at Walcott were in the form of educational films. They were Sports of the Southwest and Southern California Holiday. Scripture was read by Betty Sue Lockhart and James Burrus.

Friday night at Walcott School several women met for the first meeting of hobby night. This is to give each person the opportunity to share his interest with others. Young people of the community are invited to participate with their own hobbies.

Mrs. M. C. Davis, Pat, Margaret and Mary of Cotton Center visited over the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rader.

Another new family moved into the Walcott community from Hereford. They are Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Jackson, Dwayne, Barbara, Peggy, Charles Lee and Debra Lynn.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Perrin and boys Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Mac McWhorter, Steve, Dan and Ted of Hereford, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Perrin, Bob, Joe and Carol Sue of Adrian.

Walcott P-TA will hold its next meeting Friday at 7:30 p.m. The third and fourth grades will have the program. Mothers are asked to bring cupcakes for refreshments.

Summerfield Club Group Entertains

A valentine dinner party entertained members of the Summerfield Study Club and their husbands at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Lance.

The buffet table from which the dinner was served was covered with a white cloth and centered with an arrangement of red and white sweet peas, red carnations and white stock. Quartet tables were centered with white sweet peas and red carnations.

Entertainment for the evening was provided by Mrs. Liston Wilson who showed color slides of a recent trip to Europe. Descriptive

Jean Gililand Is Texas Tech Yearbook Beauty

Miss Jean Gililand, daughter of Newt Gililand of Dallas, and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Gililand and Mrs. Henry Hastings of Hereford, has been selected as one of 10 beauties from a field of 20 finalists for the 1958 LaVentana yearbook at Texas Technological College.

Twenty-five finalists were chosen out of more than 100 last December by a panel of five judges from the Lubbock area. The beauties pictures were then sent to Jeff Chandler, screen star, who selected the 10 finalists.

Jean, who spends most of the summers here with her grandparents, is a sophomore home economics student at Texas Tech. She is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma and takes part in various Texas Tech activities.

Vows Exchanged Tuesday in Adrian Baptist Church

Flowers decorated the altar of the First Baptist Church of Adrian Tuesday evening when Julia Taylor became the bride of Joe Killion of Amarillo. The ceremony was conducted by the Rev. Bill Lewis.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Taylor, was escorted to the altar by her father. The bridegroom's father is O. G. Killion of Amarillo.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of pale blue embroidered nylon fashioned in ballerina style. Her veil of illusion was attached to a crown embroidered with seed pearls, and she carried an arm bouquet of white carnations.

Attending the bride were her sisters, Glenda and Janie, who wore identically made dresses of pink and blue nylon.

Jimmy Briggs was best man and ring bearers were Trina and David Taylor, sister and brother of the bride.

Following a short wedding trip the couple will reside in Las Cruces, N. M., where he is employed by a telephone company. He was recently released from Army service, having served in Fairbanks, Alaska. Since returning home he has received the Army's highest award for non-combat duty while in Alaska.

Out of town guests were the bridegroom's father and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Killion of Amarillo.

Lone Star Study Club Has Annual Guest Day Tea Affair

Lone Star Study Club held its annual guest day tea in the home of Mrs. G. W. Newsom Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Leroy Aven, guest speaker, told of her trip to Cuba last summer and showed color slides made on the trip.

She described Cuba as a delightful place, full of beautiful women and beautiful scenery. She noted sharp contrasts in the architecture of old and elaborate buildings and the new and modern constructions. "There is great wealth and great poverty, there is the slow and old method of transportation and fast and new travel facilities, and there are old factories alongside new and modern industrial plants," she said.

Mrs. Aven went to Cuba with the group sponsored by the geography department of West Texas State College last summer.

Mrs. C. D. Kelton, president, and Mrs. John Jacobsen Jr. presided at the beautifully decorated refreshment table where the Valentine motif was used in appointments.

Special guests included Mesdames Leroy Aven, Jack Brown, L. H.

Shore, S. S. Williams, Tom Alderson, Hall Beavers, J. J. Durham, Nolen Grady, Edward Roberson, O. H. Herring, Norman Moore, Jeff Roberson, E. E. Fridley and Miss Sylvana Felizia, exchange student from Italy, and Miss Dolly Paetzold.

Members present were Mesdames Roger Corbett, W. S. Fluit, Leo Forrest, H. E. Henslee, John Jacobsen Jr., C. D. Kelton, Joe Kendall, Vivian Major, W. C. Mehar, Coy Phillips, Charlie Sowell, Robert Thompson, V. E. Dodson, E. W. Hobson, Jack Grady and the hostess.

Young Mothers Discuss Problems

"Children Problems" were discussed when members of the Young Mothers Study Club held a meeting Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Hugh Trimble. In answer to roll call members listed their greatest problems with their own children and in the round table type program the individual problems were discussed. Some of the problems discussed were eating habits, sleeping habits, selfishness and jealousy.

Members in attendance were Mesdames Jess Robinson, Arthur Dean, Hugh Clearman, Jimmy Bownds, Clinton Massie, Labry Ballard, Jay Hammond, L. J. Jones, Gid Brown, Stanley Slagle, Bill Brady, Gerald McCaskill, Wendell Burdine and the hostess.

Post Office Improvements Are In Order, But How Far Should We Extend Them?

These days you hear a lot of talk about the post office deficits and, true enough, postal service is costing the people of this country something like $2 million a day. Meanwhile, it is probably the largest service of its kind in the world and it offers services which surpass those of most other nations anything like the size of the United States.

Much of the talk about post office deficits has been aimed at magazines and newspapers in retaliation to statements regarding farm subsidies and, once again, there are scores of situations which do need to be corrected. At the same time, we are prone to wonder just how far most people would want to carry these reforms.

Rural free delivery, now common across the nation, constituted a deficit of $205 millions in 1956, and accounted for a large portion of the annual loss. On the other hand, RFD is truly a public service without which the average rural resident would face considerable hardship and additional personal expense. The printing department of the post office is another money losing phase, along with free mailing services for the blind, which amounts to some 20 million pounds each year.

Empty Beer Cans

You hear frequent oratory concerning the evils of alcohol but, in their enthusiasm, the opponents of demon rum have somehow overlooked the container which is most frequently an empty beer can.

It is also a safe bet that few people, including the highway department, realize how much it costs tax payers to remove the empty cans along the roadsides in this area. The problem also exists within the city limits and is possibly even greater along the shores of Buffalo Lake and other Panhandle resorts, including the "dry" as well as the "wet" counties.

Associated Press recently reported a survey in the Odessa area, covering 20 miles along U. S. Highway 80. During a six month period, highway workers picked up 246,240 empty beer cans. The cost was figured at $1,216.45 and the district office estimated that the cans represented 23,473 gallons of beer. The conclusion was $121 a mile for clean-up on the busy route each year.

Around Odessa, just as in Deaf Smith County and other territories in Texas, it is unlawful to throw empty cans along the right-of-way. The fine is $1 to $100, but the law is hard to enforce because a highway patrolman must file specifically on the person who threw the can.

One solution seen by highway officials would be for the legislature to outlaw the sale of cold beer for off-premises drinking. This move, they feel, would cut down on a lot of "drinking while driving" and, at the same time, would do much to eliminate the "litter-bug" problem which now exists on Texas highways. General enforcement will definitely be impossible under present circumstances.

Empty beer cans serve one good purpose, though. Nowdays when a hunter penetrates the wilderness to the point where he no longer encounters them, he knows for sure that he is treading on virgin territory.

THE GOLDEN YEARS

George Brumleys Spent Early Days Traveling

By MRS. R. L. CRISWELL
Mr. and Mrs. George Brumley of 109 Texas Ave. were born and reared in Missouri. Brumley rode horse back 50 miles to do his courting.

"I helped her mount a horse the first time I ever saw her," said Brumley, "and I guess I lost my heart right there!"
"We had a quiet wedding on Oct. 24, 1901, at Ozark, Mo., and all the money I had was a 20 dollar gold piece. We began housekeeping with a homemade bedstead and one chair and I bought a stove for 75 cents. We used boxes to sit on and had the chair for company. We thought we had a pretty nice set-up."

"I FARMED there for one year, but my father had bought and sold cattle all over the Southwest part of Missouri and Arkansas and I had a hankering to do the same. Checks were of no value at all at this time and if you wanted to do any business you had to have cash. I have seen my father carry several thousand dollars in cash in his saddle bags and never consider the danger. It was just an item of the days work then."

"We left Missouri in September of 1902. We traveled in wagons for seven days to Choska, Okla. We stayed there for about a month and I worked for my wife's cousin during that time. He was a doctor and had several farms and a mercantile store. He wanted me to care for one of the farms, which I did, but the situation landed me more bosses than a hen has chicks."

"I was not particularly happy with my job there so we again loaded the wagon and this time headed for Pawnee, Okla. I had a small amount of food, some horse feed and 30 cents in my pocket when we arrived."

"This was corn country and corn husking was in full blast. An Indian gave me a job and when my hands got sore I hauled the corn for a dollar-fifty a load. The men worked with a husking hook. This was buckled around the wrist and an expert could have the husk off and the ear in his hand in one stroke."

"We had an Indian woman for a boss and she was very strict. She kept us piling the corn into piles. We hated to do this because in that time the hogs ran wild and during the night they would scatter what we had piled."

"WE STAYED there for two years. I worked on the farms in the summer and fed cattle in the winter. I was paid $35 a month for the use of my team and wagon and doing the work."

"Mary boarded two men for three dollars a week and this paid all our expenses and I was able to save my money. When we settled up a few days before Christmas I had $110 in cash. In that time that meant you were rich."

"We went to Ponca City and spent our first night in a hotel. We really lived it up!"

"Again we were on the move. We started for Bearden, Okla., on a lonely road where you could ride for maybe a hundred miles and not see another person. We reached our destination without trouble."

"Near Pawnee I bought a lease from a Negro woman. I bought two cows and got busy on my crop. After I had it up and growing the woman filed suit to beat me out of my hard work and crop. I borrowed money at 36 per cent interest to pay a lawyer from Wewauke, Okla. We bluffed them out and won the case."

"However, we were to hear more from the woman. She sent an Indian policeman to order me off the property. Luckily my lawyer had eaten dinner with us that day and he told the policeman he would kill the first nigger that came on the place. That was the end of our trouble with the woman."

"I LEASED ANOTHER farm and made a good crop the next year. I cleared $1400 that year."

"Close to the end of that year I had gone to Missouri on business when I received a call that Mary was very sick. I rushed home and got the doctor to come out in a buggy from Wewauke, Okla. He told me that her appendix had burst and that the only chance for her was an operation."

"He showed me a large strychnine tablet and explained to me that if he gave her a small amount, say about 1/4 of the tablet, it would kill her almost instantly, but an over dose like he would give her would keep her heart beating while he did the operation."

"Two other doctors were sent for and they then set in to do the operation in our shedroom kitchen. In six minutes he had finished. I was amazed at the speed and the sureness of his hands as he finished the surgery."

"Three days later the doctor stopped by to see how she was. He told me that she had to be taken to town where he could care for her properly or she would not live. We borrowed a spring wagon from a neighbor and started the long trip to town. We made it, but I had to run the horses the last half mile to get Mary out of a hailstorm."

"HER LIFE WAS hanging by a thread, but she refused to give up. There were no nurses so I stayed with her and cared for her the best I could. The women of the town took the children and fed and clothed them."

"Mary became worse and the doctor told us that she must be put in a hospital. The nearest one was 200 miles away at Springfield, Mo. We took her there on the train. The children and I stayed at the hospital as much as possible, but the children had to be quiet as mice or they would be unable to visit their mother."

"When Mary was well enough to move we went back to our home and put it up for sale. Along with the farm we sold everything we owned and paid our debts. Eighty dollars was all we had left, so I went to work in a grocery store for five dollars a week."

"I bought a small grocery store and at our grand opening we sold everything in the house. We did pretty well for a while, but after a few years decided to sell out and move to Tucumcari, N. M., and file on some land. We also wanted to see if the higher climate would help my wife regain her health. She was an invalid when we moved there but she began to improve and soon was her smiling self."

"Our claim was seven miles southwest of San Jon and we still have it today. We lived in a half dugout on the claim and hauled water for all our needs on a sled made of mesquite limbs. We did not have too much trouble with snakes but the centipedes made us miserable. They seemed to be everywhere, but luckily we were never bitten by one."

"I HIRED A man to plow six acres of land; I planted it all by hand and made a good crop. I planted every third row with maize corn and cane, but the biggest job of all was harvesting it."

"I am not a very tall man and the regular grain cradles were too large for me to handle very well, so I had one made. I cut crop, bound it into bundles and got a good price for it. I would give anything if I had that cradle today."

"I had bought some cows and my wife made a lot of butter that summer. She put it down in brine so we could use it in

WOOD TAKES CHAMBER REINS

Olton's Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture was off to a fine start this week under the management of Joe Wood, who assumed his duties as Chamber manager last Saturday. Already the Chamber has two big projects in the mill. One is the promotion of vegetable production in this area. The other is the widening of Highway 70. George Elle, assistant-dean of agriculture at Texas Tech, spoke to the membership on vegetable production Friday night of last week. VEGETABLE MEN SET UP AREA PANEL

Vegetable growers from a five-county area met here Friday to discuss an area vegetable association. They set up an advisory organization to help develop production and markets in the five counties. The group dropped any immediate move to form an area association, but approved a plan to work with growers. Counties represented were Lamb, Hale, Floyd, Castro and Bailey. The next meeting was set for March 6 at Dimmitt. About 30 growers attended Friday's session.—COUNTY WIDE NEWS

SOIL FERTILITY MEETING

Three speakers, each outstanding in his field of agriculture, discussed with Collingsworth farmers and business men Friday night, Feb. 14, the outlook for both this year and the longer range, along with irrigation practices pertinent to that type of farming here. This was the annual Soil Fertility Day meeting, sponsored by the Burlington railroad, in co-operation with the Extension Service and other agricultural agencies. The speakers were Charlie Scruggs, associate editor of Progressive Farmer who discussed "The Future of American Farming;" John McHoney, agricultural economist with the Extension Service, College Station, discussed "Agricultural Outlook for 1958," and D. W. Sherrill, irrigation agent with the Extension Service, Lubbock, spoke on "Irrigation Practices."—WELLINGTON LEADER

The BOOTLEG —Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm adds his two bits worth to the discussion of the satellite, although that may be pricing it a little high.

Dear editor:

I don't know about you, but I'm certainly glad we got that satellite up and maybe now we can stop some of this talk about everybody putting his shoulder to the wheel.

Understand, I was willing to put my shoulder to the wheel, if that was the way to conquer space, but frankly Washington never did convince me the way to help this country launch a satellite was for me to get on my tractor and work longer hours. I ain't a scientist, but I never could see the connection.

Also, I never was really worried. Impatient, maybe, but not worried. I figured any country smart enough to produce a self-defrosting refrigerator, a machine gun that could fire through the propellers of an airplane, a hydrogen bomb, an electric razor, a tubeless tire, and an atomic submarine, could figure out how to launch a satellite.

The fact Russia got ahead of us only emphasizes my contention that scientific secrets, like the secret of the bicycle, can't be held exclusively very long by any one country.

But now we've got that satellite going around the earth, I would like to point out that there are still other problems, and if man thinks the only way to be happy is to get out in that drafty, sun-blistered and sub-zero void called space, he's in for a let-down. I figure a man can be just as miserable gliding through space as he can fighting traffic on a highway, just as he can be happy sitting on his own farm.

I read just the other day where airplanes have become so smooth you can't feel the motion, it's as if you were sitting at home in an easy chair while you travel aloft above the clouds, but my contention is that that sure is going to a lot of trouble to get what I've had for years—the pleasures of sitting still in a chair, without near the gasoline consumption.

At any rate, now that Explorer is circling the globe on schedule, I'd appreciate it if you'd find out from our Congressman if it's all right for me to go on with my loafing and fishing with a clear conscience. Can I take my shoulder off the wheel now? After all, it was just resting there anyway, I actually wasn't heaving.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

About Our Schools High School Principal Makes Annual Report

Editor's note: This is the first in a series of school progress reports and recommendations written by the principals of Hereford public schools to Superintendent Fred Cunningham. The articles will be published Sundays and Thursdays until all have been printed. In the Sunday Brand they will appear on the Editorial Page and on Thursdays on the Neighbors' Page.

By BILL STANFORD
Principal, Hereford High School

THE GENERAL ATTITUDE of the faculty and student body of the Hereford High School is exceptionally good. Although we have made many mistakes we feel they will of definite value to us in future years.

The curriculum of the Hereford High School has been enlarged during the 1957-58 school year to include Latin I, and Distributive Education II. We plan to offer Latin II and possible some additional foreign language next year.

In the Language Arts Department we are studying the possibility of providing one additional English course, which would be offered to Freshmen to strengthen their foundation in English before enrolling in ninth grade English.

Our Speech Department may be enlarged by offering the different topics available in the speech curriculum on a semester basis. These could be distributed over four years of high school work.

WE HAVE a strong social studies department and plan during the years to include other history or social studies in the curriculum.

The Science Department is exceptionally good. New items of equipment have been added during the year and we plan continued growth to meet the increased demand. Our desire is to give the best science training possible. Additional space is needed at this time.

The Commercial Department has had an increase in enrollment. With the addition of new items of equipment, boys and girls are receiving additional training to better equip them for the business world.

The Music Department library has increased and some new band equipment added.

The Mathematics Department has strong teachers who are giving excellent training to the weak learners, also to those capable of doing advanced mathematics. One class in advanced mathematics has been studying solid geometry and trigonometry with information about other advanced mathematics courses.

THE ARTS and Crafts Department has been doing a good job and we have been especially pleased with the quality of work which they have turned out. One of the largest departments is our vocational homemaker, agriculture, and distributive education. A large percentage of the freshman and sophomore girls are enrolled in vocational homemaker. This department is desperately needing two more rooms.

Our entire school program has made good strides during the year and through inservice programs this year the entire curriculum of the school should be improved,

The Library is used by many of our students and the addition of a large number of books will provide continued improvement. The Visual Education Department is under the supervision of the Librarian and several film strips, a new projector, and screen have been added.

IN OUR PHYSICAL Education, Health, Safety, and Driver Education Department, we have attempted to do something a little different. Our driver education students were enrolled for the first six weeks in class instruction, to fulfill the partial requirements for the driver education certificate. In the remaining five 6 week periods the class was divided into five parts giving each part behind-the-wheel driving and observance time in the driver education car. After the first six weeks those students, when not involved in the driving processes, are enrolled in physical education, health, and safety instruction. This meets two needs of the students during the year, driver education and physical, health and safety education. Our freshmen and sophomore boys and girls with few exceptions are required to take physical education. This has been a difficult process because of the large number of students involved and the limited facilities we have; however, we arranged half time physical education classes and half time study halls. We have tried to eliminate our study halls in the school by providing study time in the classroom for the students. The different classes make arrangements to meet in the Library to fulfill their Library reading requirements.

During the past year the teachers worked on an inservice reading program to improve the reading habits of the students. This year we are striving to improve the curriculum, compile course descriptions, and work on other items selected by the teachers to further study and improvement. A testing program has been utilized by our school personnel this year. These tests have been given to each class in the school. This program will be covered more fully in the report by Mr. Bill Phillips.

During the first nine weeks period forty-six privilege cards were issued, with seventy-six issued during the second nine weeks. These students had a minimum grade of B in all their courses. Our school is affiliated with the National Honor Society and we are attempting to take advantage of the scholarship program offered by this society.

LAST SPRING was the first year of pre-registration of our student body. This has been very successful in helping students select the courses in advance so they will be able to start school the following

Solons' Secretaries Appear in Newspaper

By TEX EASLEY
AP Special Washington Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — Evidence appears that Texas turns out some currying contributions to the ranks of congressional secretaries is to be seen in two recent and consecutive issues of Roll Call — the newspaper of Capitol Hill.

The weekly publication, which is read avidly by the legislators and thousands of Capitol Hill employes, each issue features the "Hill Pinup" girl. Here's what it had to say about those two Texas lassies:

"Dazzling, demure and delightful are only three adjectives of a possible dozen that may be chosen to describe today's Pinup, 24-year-old Jean Matouirk. (Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Matouirk of Chudress.)

"Jean was born Jan. 4 in Childress, Tex. She has been with rep. (Walter) Rogers for three years, enjoys The Hill and Washington tremendously."

IN THE OTHER issue, Roll Call had this to say under a picture showing a pretty two-gun tottin', cowboy-hatted young lady:

"Regardless of what impression might be created by the picture above, brown-haired, blue-eyed Texan Sally Davis is really quite mild-mannered and wouldn't even shoot a thief walking off with her coveted golf clubs.

"Sally's 24 and is on the staff of Sen. Lyndon Johnson (Tex.), her first job on Capitol Hill.

"The five foot four and one-half inch bundle of vivacity is a native of Austin, Tex., a graduate of the University of Kentucky, where she majored in music. (Her mother is Manor Davis, a widow, and her sister, Beverly Davis, teaches art at the University of Texas.

"She was formerly employed by State Sen. Bonham in the Texas Legislature, a gentleman endowed with the same surname as the name of Speaker Rayburn's hometown.

"She worked her way through college, did secretarial work and taught dancing. Sally's crazy about horses, and incidentally those two shootin' irons aren't just props. She knows how to use them, and well."

AROUND THE CAPITOL:

Frank Moore of Pallinview, testifying before the House Agriculture Committee for the National Grain Sorghum Producers Assn., caught close attention of congressmen when he told them of one of the uses Texans make of corn — processing it into starch for use with drillers mud in oil well operations.

The tall, sandy-haired Texan was introduced to the committee by Rep. George Mahon of Lubbock, who left his own Appropriations Committee hearing to sit in on the farm problem hearing.

Mrs. Moore accompanied her husband to Washington and sat with spectators as he discussed grain feed price supports with the legislators.

THOMAS W. SHEPPARD, formerly of Tyler, recently was presented the Navy Meritorious Public Service Citation for his outstanding contributions in the guided missile field.

Rep. Lindley Bockworth of Gladewater, placing a copy of the citation in the Congressional Record, noted that Sheppard's folks live in Smith County.

"Mr. Sheppard has been closely associated from the beginning with the development by the John Hopkins University applied physics laboratory of the Terrier guided missile from an experimental test vehicle to a factual weapon now in service use on board fully operational units of the fleet," said Bockworth.

Sheppard is a graduate of Tyler High School and attended Tyler Junior College.

the winter time. She wrapped it in paper and put it in a strong brine in a large stone jar and it was as sweet and fresh as if it had just been churned. She always soaked it in sweet milk to take out the brine taste.

"We decided we would go into the chicken business so we would have eggs for our needs. We had nothing to build a house for them so we made one of wire and bear grass. I set posts in the ground and strung barbed wire around the posts, both inside and out. Then we packed the beargrass spines inside the wires.

"We had it all finished but making a door. I had gotten the chickens that day, six hens and a rooster. We put them on top of the stack of feed which I had enclosed with pickets. We just didn't dream that the coyotes would get over those pickets, but the next morning when we went out to get the chickens there were only feathers. We found the rooster about a quarter of a mile. He had lost all of his tail feathers and was a sad looking specimen after his scrap with the coyotes.

"AFTER SEVERAL crop failures I had to get a job. We came to Hereford to look for work and a place to live. The first job I got was hauling tin cans away from the hotel. I had never in my life seen such a mountain of tin cans. I thought it would take two or three days to get them hauled away but I did it in a day and a half.

"I was to get $1.25 a day, but the man paid me $5. He told me he had another job lined up.

"A circus had come into town and I sold tickets for a side show. During the sack race I got someone to work in my place. I entered the race and won. The prize was $5.

"I worked in Hereford doing most anything that came along. There must have been at least 700 windmills in the town at that time and I think I greased them all. I did not mind the job unless the day was windy and then it was a mite dangerous.

"Now 700 windmills may sound like a lot of windmills but at that time every house had its own water supply. Hereford was called the city of windmills. I do not remember what year the city put in the water system.

"WE PAID $2.50 house rent when we first moved there, but later I bought the house and a few acres just south of Highway 60 and the Moore Filling Station. Later I sold it and bought what is now the Calvert farm east of town. It was the second irrigated farm in Deaf Smith County.

"I built a two-story house on this place, but when we moved back to town my son tore it down and built a large room on the west side of the house.

"I must tell you about an automobile trip my family and I took. We rigged up a camping outfit and I had an extra large trunk built on my studebaker car. Each child had a certain job to do when we started to camp at night and before the trip was over we could make fall knowing the courses that they are to take. Plans are being made to continue the pre-registration this spring for the 1958-59 school year.

The student handbook developed and first used last year has been continued in its usage during the current year. We plan some revisions in this handbook and will have this printed and available in September, 1958. This handbook helps in interpreting the school program to the students and through the homeroom programs discussions are conducted on various phases.

We plan to develop a teachers' handbook for this use in line with School Board policies and to explain and interpret the high school methods of operation, and the proper use of the high school facilities. We feel this is a necessity and will be of value to our entire faculty, particularly those new faculty members which join our school during the years.

THE DISCIPLINE of our student body this year has been very and break camp in a very short while. We toured nine states and had the time of our lives.

"I had always bought and sold cattle and hogs, but later I narrowed it down to hogs. I guess I shipped more hogs out of Hereford than any one would believe and I bought them from other states and shipped them in all directions. That was 25 years ago. I turned the business over to my son, but he didn't enjoy it as much as I did so he gave it up."

MRS. BRUMLEY sat there very quietly nodding to her husband now and then or asking a question that refreshed his memory of the things that had happened so long ago.

I asked her what she had done during all this time and she told me, "I cared for the children and did the usual things of keeping house and sewing. We had seven children and I sewed for them all on my fingers. I made the little girls dresses of blue and white checked gingham and piped them in white.

"I made back stitches which looked just like a sewing machine stitch on the outside of the garment and of course I tried to make them all even and tiny. I was always very proud of my sewing and loved doing it.

"I love to visit the children and grandchildren now. We have 15 grandchildren.

good. We have had a very small percentage of disciplinary cases; however, a few cases have resulted in several students quitting school and going to work which is tragic. We have counseled each case and done all possible to retain these students in school, but they had no desire to further their education and with their parents' permission have withdrawn from school. As to the student insurance program, it has been satisfactory as far as the student body is concerned; however, we feel that the true value of our athletic insurance has not been determined at the present time.

We have our fourth exchange student in the Hereford Public Schools this year and have enjoyed this young lady's visit a great deal. We are hoping that we may continue our exchange student program each year. The Future homemaker chapters under the direction of the chapter sponsors have done a commendable job in financing and securing our exchange student. This summer we plan to send one of our students to Europe and have submitted the names of four applicants for the reciprocal program which is called Americans Abroad.

I should like to commend the work of our Secondary Supervisor, Mr. Bill Phillips, without whose help, counsel, guidance, and assistance during this year would have resulted in a great deal more difficulty than we have encountered. Mr. Phillips is very dependable, very conscientious and accurate in his work. His help has been of tremendous value to the high school program.

Mrs. Springer, our school nurse, has been working with us during the year and has checked the hearing and vision of our students. She will continue and complete this during the spring semester. We appreciate her work and activities in many phases of our school program.

MRS. AVEN in her work has been of tremendous help in two or three cases in our high school this year. We appreciate her counsel, guidance, knowledge and understanding and feel that several obstacles would have been more difficult without her help.

During the coming school year it is the feeling of many members of our faculty and administrators that an Attendance Officer would be of tremendous value to our school system. We hope this suggestion will become a reality during the 1958-59 year.

As to the enrollment in our high school we have maintained a steady number of students during the year. The drop outs have not exceeded the enrollees, as we have more enrolled now than on September 1.

The activity funds of the high school have been maintained in a satisfactory manner during the year. There is a tremendous amount of work required in maintaining our activity funds. This job has been done exceptionally well by our bookkeeper and secretary who has done an exceptionally good job in maintaining the office records and keeping up the activities in our office. Anyone accepting the position as secretary in a school naturally will have to overcome certain difficulties and certain new methods which are peculiar to the school. Mrs. Hickey has done an exceptionally good job and we would like to commend her for the work.

As to our athletic funds this report will be given in detail in a supplemental report from the Athletic Director, Mr. Jack Harris.

OUR CUSTODIAL STAFF has maintained our building fairly satisfactorily during the year. It has been necessary to give them supervision to bring our building up to the very best of standards. There is improvement that can be made and we hope this will be accomplished in the very near future.

The main problem we seem to have in our high school building this year is space. Our classrooms are utilized almost to the maximum, with few periods in which each room is not used. A number of teachers have expressed their confidence in the School Board in their efforts to work out the problem of additional space for our school. They have expressed, also, their regrets that the proposed bond issue failed. They are confident in the work that is to be done and feel that with their support and that of the school authorities another bond issue, when it is called, will receive a great deal more community support than in the past.

I would like to commend the teachers of the high school for their excellent work and professional attitudes. The cooperative attitudes, loyalty, and willingness to work are evidenced by the few problems encountered.

There are a few areas in which personal improvement can be made and we plan to work together in this personal council and supervision. I feel we can solve the minor problems together.

REP. WALTER ROGERS WRITES.

Subcommittee Creates A Hot Time on the Hill

To the people of the 18th District:

The hottest thing on Capitol Hill last week was the investigation being conducted by the Legislative Oversight Subcommittee. This is a subcommittee of the Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce doing some investigating of federal agencies. I am not a member of the subcommittee but am a member of the parent committee. In the final analysis, the Subcommittee will make a report of its activities to the parent committee.

The Subcommittee is headed by Honorable Morgan Moulder, a Member of Congress from the State of Missouri. Moulder is a very able lawyer and has been a hard working Member of the Congress. He has a tough job on his hands and one that will require him to step on some pretty sensitive toes. The Legislative Oversight Subcommittee was set up originally to make a thorough investigation of the activities of the several agencies of the federal government such as the Federal Communications Commission, the Federal Power Commission, the Federal Trade Commission, the Civil Aeronautics Board and others.

THESE COMMISSIONS and agencies were originally set up as arms of the Congress to handle licensing and investigative work in matters concerning the public interests which required treatment of a quasi or semijudicial nature. It was anticipated that these agencies would continually remain under the control of the representatives of the people, to wit, the Congress of the United States.

However, during the late years, the agencies have gradually slipped out from under the wing of Congress and have apparently considered themselves answerable to the Executive Branch of the government. Many people became disturbed about this trend because of the political overtones with which some of the decisions seemed to be clothed.

There were charges that these agencies were overstepping their jurisdictional authority and were being used to further the political ambitions, as well as the financial ambitions, of a few favorite sons. There were many other charges involving the agencies. The truth or falsity of all the charges had to be determined, because these several agencies involved have jurisdiction over matters which affect the daily lives of every single individual living in the United States, such as railroads, buses, trucks, airplanes, radio, television, telephones, telegraphy, securities, trade practices, electricity, gas and many other things.

THE SUBCOMMITTEE was formed about 11 months ago but got off to a slow start because of the difficulty in being able to find a qualified staff. Once the staff had been selected, work was commenced in gathering data. Among the first data gotten together was information indicating that some of the members of these commissions might have accepted numerous gifts, honorariums and presents from the firms and individuals in industry and businesses which the commissions are supposed to be regulating. This immediately brought forth serious suspicion that such gifts and presents were intended to influence the decision of these members of the commissions on behalf of the donors.

The report containing this information was supposedly a confidential report but was leaked by someone and portions of the report appeared in the newspapers. This, of course, caused a political explosion which brought forth more charges and countercharges, excuses and explanations that will, no doubt, consume all of the time of the subcommittee for several weeks to come. This means that the Moulder Subcommittee will be front page news during most of this session of the Congress.

There are already accusations being made on the floor of Congress that this subcommittee is intended to cast reflections on the Republican Party for political reasons. These charges will undoubtedly grow more heated. As the matter now stands, the people of this country are entitled to have all of the facts regarding the activities of the members of these commissions, as well as the policies pursued by them.

If the interest of the public is not being served properly by these agencies, either in the individual capacities of the members or the agencies as a whole, then the Congress is duty bound to make such changes as will carry out the in-

CRIME IN THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA

The District of Columbia has been plagued for some time with a crime wave which was dangerously close to getting out of hand. In recent weeks there has been an upturn in the crimes involving personal attacks. These have not been confined to nighttime activities. Older people have been accosted on the streets in broad daylight and viciously and unmercifully beaten.

The motive for all of these crimes seems to be robbery. The streets in a great many sections of the nation's capital are considered extremely dangerous after dark to foot travelers — especially women. There has been a wave of purse snatching, both during daylight and after dark. In many instances people are set upon from behind by small gangs employing what the newspapers term, "the yoke method" of robbery. That is, the gangs sneak up behind an intended victim, and the first the victim knows about being in danger is when he or she feels a small cord or rope around their neck. This is held very tightly by the robber, and the victim is told not to move while he or she is being searched. By using this method, the criminals prevent the victim from seeing them for identification purposes.

The police in the District have worked most diligently in an effort to stem this criminal tide. However, it seems to be growing worse, insofar as the personal attack types of crime are involved. One District resident has suggested in a letter to one of the local newspapers that the President remove the troops from Little Rock and bring them to the District of Columbia to cope with the situation.

APPROPRIATE TITLE

Rev. E. L. Naugle Nominated 'Rural Pastor of the Year'

By BESSIE PATTERSON

The Bippus Home Demonstration Club is presenting the name of Rev. E. L. Naugle, pastor of the Bippus and Westway Community Churches, as a candidate for the title "Rural Pastor of the Year" in the Progressive Farmer contest.

Officially retired from the Northwest Texas Annual Conference, the Methodist minister now serves as regular pastor for the two rural communities. The past two years have been nothing new to him, however, for most of his 46 years of preaching have been in rural communities or small towns. His only assignments in urban congregations, during his 36 years with the conference, have been for one year atampa and since he came to Hereford in 1914 to serve the first Methodist church as pastor for two years then to help organize the Wesley Methodist church, which he served for three years. Mrs. Jim Ferrin, club president, and Mrs. Charlie Burk, chairman, report that the club members endorse Rev. Naugle's candidacy unanimously and are enthusiastic in their praise of his work in their community.

"HE VISITS not only members of the church but everybody in the community, and he is the only preacher we ever had who got out and visited," comments a resident of the Bippus Community for some 30 years.

"We feel that he is someone we can call when we need him," adds another.

"He is the only preacher who has ever eaten with us," adds a third.

She recalls that she was nervous about having to feed the preacher, but her neighbor assured her that he would be there only for Sunday dinner, since he always spent Sunday afternoon visiting in the community. The dinner went well enough, but the preacher and the man of the house became so interested in discussing mutual acquaintances in Dimmitt, where they both had lived, that the hostess had to interrupt their conversation to serve a nasty supper before the preacher was due at the community building for the evening service.

Members of the Bippus Community recall that Rev. Naugle was the only preacher who visited a woman 45 miles from town during her lengthy illness preceding her death. Someone called him to tell of her illness, and he visited her before the day was over and again before she died.

OTHERS TELL of community members who never had attended church but now are there every Sunday. They point out results of the pastor's simple, understandable preaching in the lives of their relatives and neighbors. They cite examples of at least two men who have quit using profanity since starting to church there.

There had been Sunday School services at the Bippus Community house years ago, but they had died out and no services had been held regularly for ten years before the home demonstration club sponsored the revival of community church services in June of 1956. It was then that the services of Rev. Naugle were secured. He spends two Sundays a month at Bippus and two at Westway.

Two Sunday School classes were organized in the beginning, but the crowds have grown enough to justify the organization of two more classes, making a total of four at the present time. There is no denominational organization, and members of all faiths attend the rural church. Members report that Rev. Naugle presents Bible lessons acceptable to all who attend.

At the time the congregation was re-established, the community building was being used to house farm workers and was terribly run down. With the resumption of services, residents took new interest in their building, which they have re-roofed. They have given the interior a new coat of paint and have added attractive curtains and a piano. Butane has been installed for heat. Rev. Naugle hastily disclaims any credit for the improvements, but the members quickly contradict him.

"WE HAVE wanted to improve the building because we have something to go there for," they declare.

Services from the rural church have been broadcast twice since Rev. Naugle has been there. They never had been broadcast before.

The rural preacher's interest in them does not stop with the spiritual, either, his members point out. Recently he mailed cards to each of them urging them to pay their poll taxes. He is always available for speeches at PTA meetings and other community gatherings.

Rev. Naugle recalls that throughout his 31 years in the ministry he has loved rural work and has participated in every phase of life in the communities where he has served. Many times during the lean years of his early ministry when in the depression, he worked overalls and worked along with such names, helping with plowing, harvesting, or with any task which needed to be done.

When money was scarce during the depression, much of his pay came in the form of produce and even livestock. At one time he had more than 20 pigs scattered over the rural area he was serving. Members raised them for him and brought him the meat at slaughtering time or the money if the pigs were sold.

He now rides his circuit in a comfortable enclosed sedan, but his first years of circuit riding were accompanied on a team hitched to an open buggy.

From the Modesto days comes the memory of one of his most touching experiences. He was serving a four-point circuit in northeastern New Mexico. He was called to preach funeral services for a young mother. The family was very poor and their home was 25 miles from the nearest town. There were few embalmers in those days; so the body was kept in the barn until time for services at 10 o'clock. The ground was covered with 12 inches of snow.

AT 9 O'CLOCK word came that the grave diggers had struck solid rock and could not proceed until dynamite arrived from town. A second delay was reported, but services finally were held at 2:30. Then a third delay made it necessary for the funeral party to wait at the church. The body already had been held without embalming for three days; so no fire could be built in the church, and the windows had to be left open. The crowd waited outside in the snow. Finally the little group made its way to the cemetery, and the final words were said just as the sun was setting in the west.

Rev. Naugle was five miles from home in his 1922 Model-T touring car, but he felt he should go home, since his wife had been expecting him since noon. He made it over the narrow road through a canyon, but when he reached the house he was too cold to put the car in the garage and rushed inside to warm. When he went to care for the car within a few minutes, the tires were frozen to the ground. The car could not be moved until the next morning, when the wheels were cut out of the ground with an ax.

MANY HUMOROUS incidents crowd the pastor's memory along with those that are touching and rewarding. At midnight one Saturday night while he was living in a small West Texas town, a knock sounded on the door.

"Would you marry me?" a timid voice queried when the preacher opened the door.

Recognizing the voice, Rev. Naugle said, "Why, no, I wouldn't want to marry you."

"I mean would you say a marriage ceremony," came the hesitant reply.

"Would you want to marry you?" the preacher teased. "Marion would," was the prompt and somewhat colder answer.

THE PREACHER and his wife dressed; the couple was invited in; and the ceremony was performed.

"How much do I owe you?" asked the bashful bridegroom.

"How much do you think she is worth?" demanded the preacher.

"About 30 cents," came the quick reply.

Rev. Naugle recalls that the couple has had a successful marriage and has reared a fine family. He still likes to laugh with them about their wedding.

EUGENE NAUGLE was born in Collin County, Tex., on July 16, 1891. Both his parents were pioneer school teachers. He attended Denton High School, North Texas State Normal at Denton, Polytechnic College (now Texas Wesleyan) at Fort Worth and Southern Methodist University at Dallas.

He was working at the post office in Denton and doing college work at the same time when he met Miss Griffith, daughter of J. L. Griffith, a Denton barber and preacher who was known as the "Marryin' Parson." His barber shop was on the same side of the square as the clerk's office; so he was called on quite often to perform weddings.

Young Naugle usually spent a part of his two-hour lunch period on the courthouse lawn, helping Miss Griffith, with her math. He has continued to help her with her problems, since they were married at Denton on Sept. 23, 1914.

It was also during his college days in Denton, in 1913, that he was licensed to preach. He filled preaching appointments during his years in college, as a school teacher and farmer, and in government work during World War I.

His first regular appointment was in Swisher, Castro, and Hale Counties, where he served a four-point circuit, in 1921-22. He preached at Lakeview, Arney, Hart and Running Water, driving to his appointments in a buggy.

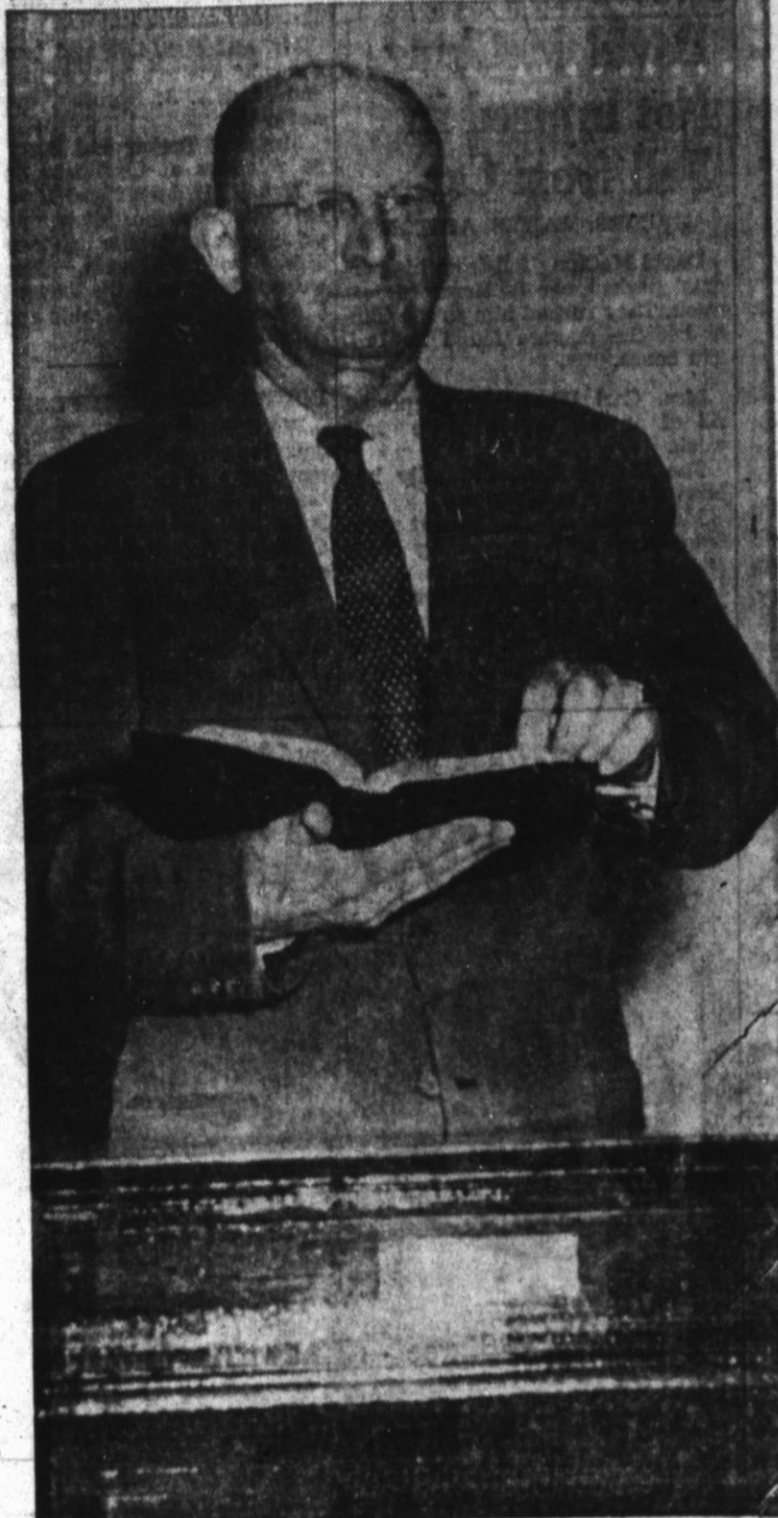

Rev. Naugle joined the Northwest Texas Annual Conference in 1922 and was a member of the conference for 36 years. During his two years on a four-point circuit in New Mexico, one point was 75 miles from his home. His work has extended from Union County, N. M., on the West to Baylor County, Texas, on the east; and from the Texas and Pacific Railroad on the south to the Panhandle of Oklahoma on the north. He has served in 21 Texas counties and two counties in New Mexico.

IN ADDITION to his church work, he has served as a rural school teacher and as substitute teacher at various times as the need arose. He is a Master Mason and in the past has been a member of the Lions and Kiwanis Clubs.

Because there was no bank in Plains while he was living there, Rev. Naugle took the lead in organizing the Yoakum County Federal Credit Union. He still is a strong believer in the credit union as a promoter of thrift. Recently he added to their account the $5 door prize his wife had won at the annual credit union meeting. She explained that he had promised to buy for her the oil paints she had planned to buy with her prize money.

The Naugles have one daughter, Cathryn, who is now Mrs. Richard Batson of Oklahoma City. She followed in her father's footsteps by attending Texas Wesleyan in Fort Worth. Mr. and Mrs. Naugle are very proud of their 10-year-old grand-son, Doug Batson. Mr. Batson is employed as assistant district manager for Goodyear Rubber Co. Rev. Naugle has one sister, Mrs. A. E. Wheeler of Capulin, N. M.

Despite the fact that he retired from his conference officially more than a year ago, Rev. Naugle continues without interruption his service to his church, community, and area. That is why members of the Bippus Home Demonstration Club think he deserves to be known as the "Rural Pastor of the Year."

Fill 'Special Place,' Woman Novelist Says

BUFFALO, N. Y. — "We all have our special place," said Taylor Caldwell. "No one of us is average."

She frowned as she spoke. On the other side of the sitting room table her husband watched her over his glasses, approving quietly.

"I have a place that no one else can fill and so do you," she went on. "That's what I try to tell in my stories."

The world seems to think she tells them well. Her 18 published novels have sold millions of copies.

The novels of Taylor Caldwell are joint productions of husband and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Reback.

"My husband does all the research," she explained. "We talk over the plots, of course."

"My wife's writing is inspirational," Reback said. "The plots are mostly hers and she does the writing. I do the background. Most of our books are about business and industry. These require a great deal of study to get the details."

Probably their best known novel is "This Side of Innocence" published in 1945. It has reportedly earned them a half million dollars from the film rights alone.

Only one of their books, "Time No Longer," failed to make the bestseller lists. This was published in 1941 under the name of Max Reiner — their only book not signed Taylor Caldwell.

Taylor Caldwell was a long time winning her present surefire reputation.

Although she had been writing steadily from early youth, she was 37 when her first sale, "Dynasty of Death," was made. It was a tale of family conflict for control of a munitions firm.

Janet Taylor Caldwell Reback was born in Manchester, England, 56 years ago. Her family moved to Buffalo when she was 6.

She met Reback while both were working in the U. S. Immigration and Naturalization Service office in Buffalo. They were married in 1931.

It was shortly after their marriage — her second — that the team of Reback and Caldwell went to work turning out novel after novel.

Reback's work took him frequently to New York. With his suitcase packed with manuscripts instead of clothes, he would spend his spare time making rounds of publishing firms. After several unsuccessful years, "Dynasty of Death" was sold in 1939.

Since then, the publishers have come to them.

"I start out with a handful of characters and a vague idea," Mrs. Reback said. "As I write, other characters pop into the story and often characters who were minor to start with begin to dominate the story."

"I go to work about midnight and write until five or six in the morning. I can't stand the bright daylight — it's so depressing. My husband goes to bed at midnight."

"We're working on a biography of St. Luke right now. I've wanted to write about him since I was a little girl. It's only half on paper but the rest is all filed away in my mind so I don't have to worry about it."

"I've been called everything from a 'female Balzac' to the 'housewives' scribbler.' Actually, more of my readers are men. They like books about business and industry. We get a lot of mail from businessmen. They want to know how I know so much about those things."

She smiled at her husband. "Of course, I don't know anything about them myself," she said.

"Why is it that her books are so popular?"

"Well," she answered, "there's a lot of warmth and action in them. And the characters are ones that people can easily identify themselves with."

"Every person that ever lived has been different, special and unique. Everyone sends out 'ripples' that affect others. That's why it's so important never to hurt anyone."

With another novel, "The Sound of Thunder," due at the bookstores in October, the half-completed biography of St. Luke on the way and a projected story based on the life of financier Hetty Green, Taylor Caldwell promises to be sending out 'ripples' for a long time to come.

Background Music Gives Soft Touch to Hereford Businesses

Music has its powers, but can it soothe the savage heart of a customer in pain or in a hurry? Maybe not, but it helps, say seven Hereford businesses which play recorded music throughout business hours.

The Hotel Jim Hill, the Hereford State Bank, Piggly Wiggly, Cooper's, Robinson-Decker Insurance, the Hereford Medical and Surgical Clinic and the offices of Drs. J. B. Barnett and Weslie B. Owen all are musically equipped, in one way or another.

The Western Wheel Inn did have a hi-fi set in use, but J. D. Casson removed it because it and the records were being damaged. He installed a TV set.

Dr. Milton Adams is thinking about installing a record player in his office, but hasn't quite decided just what type to buy. Dr. Adams has his own record collection.

FIVE OF THE businesses rent their sounds from Sully Gleaton, local Seeburg Music Corp. representative. Seeburg owns both the machines and records. The hotel, bank, Cooper's and Robinson-Decker all get their music that way. The Clinic and Barnett-Owen own their own players and records.

The Clinic has had its $600 machine for almost a year, and has spent about $250 on records, says Grant Fuller, manager. "The doctors just decided they wanted it and it helps soothe the patients," Fuller remarked. Most of the records are classical and their sounds flow from four speakers throughout the building. The machine itself is in a small storage room.

Dentists Barnett and Owen have an Admiral player in one central room at their offices at 907 Park Ave. Dr. Barnett is currently on a two-year leave of absence to do graduate work.

Dr. Owen says "Our employees are mad about and I don't think they could operate without it. The patients often remark that it's pleasant. Then it helps those who have to wait a long time." Dr. Barnett owns a Bell and Howell hi-fi set but took it with him to Houston. The Admiral furnishes about three hours of music without changing records. Mostly popular numbers and classics are played on it.

THE HOTEL Jim Hill is the center for piped music at the Third and Sampson intersection. Music is piped from it to the Hereford State Bank and to Robinson-Decker. When the new First National Bank building is completed it will be supplied from the same source.

In the hotel proper, 56 speakers are in use, 46 of them in the rooms. Residents in the rooms can turn the music off if they wish or switch to two different radio stations, all coming through the same speaker.

Dick Ross, hotel manager, favors the use of the constant music. "It brings people in here and they enjoy it," he says. The parent machine in the hotel has 100 records with three selections on each side. There are no vocals on any of the records. The records vary in content and the contrast helps keep them from becoming monotonous.

The two grocery stores agree on the value of background music. Again Seeburg has made the selections and supplies the machines.

"It creates a nicer atmosphere. It's one of the trends nice stores are going to," says Gaylord Newell of Piggly Wiggly. "Before we got it we had radios blaring all the time," he adds. Piggly Wiggly uses 12 speakers in various parts of the store.

Neil Cooper of Cooper's says it's hard to tell the music's effects of

EUGENIA ALEXANDER

Will Present Recital Sunday Afternoon at 3

Eugenia Alexander will be presented in a piano recital by Mrs. Glenn Snyder and Robert Hoffman on Sunday, Feb. 16, at 3 p.m. in the First Christian Church. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Alexander, 700 E. Third, and is a junior in Hereford High School.

This will be the second solo recital since she began her studies with Mrs. Snyder. During this time she has attended classes of artist teachers, including Purvis, Smith and Dr. Leo Podolsky when they have held seminars and has had private lessons with Dr. Podolsky.

She has received superior ratings in district music festivals on five different occasions. She serves as accompanist for the mixed chorus of the Hereford High School and is organist at the St. Thomas Episcopal Church.

Interested friends are invited to hear the program which will include selections from Bach-Von Bulow, Paderewski, Rachmaninoff, Debussy, and Chopin.

Assisting as ushers and at the guest book will be Jamie Bookout, Judy Patterson, Dollie Prowell, Bette Noland and Carol Ann Newell.

customers and employees until the soft noise is turned off.

"It's subtle and we keep the volume so low it's hardly noticeable. When something happens to it, then you really miss it," he said.

Ted Clancy Receives Boy Scout Citation

Ted Clancy, a protege of Mrs. J. F. Ward and a former Hereford resident, has been cited for 20 years of outstanding Boy Scout work.

The Silver Beaver Award was presented to the scoutmaster who now resides in Cleburne, in recognition of his services in unit and district offices and the good influence exerted by him in the lives of all boys who have had the benefit of his leadership. His painstaking care of the individual boy, his counsel and spirit of self sacrifice for the welfare of the youth were also noted.

"In 20 years his scouting activities have been interrupted only once and that for a tour of duty with the armed forces, during which time he received commendation for his care of the wounded aboard ship. He is admired and respected for his strong religious convictions and is a member of the Baptist Church. For more than 20 years he has served as a class teacher of junior boys and is known for his services to others throughout his own and surrounding counties," the citation said.

Ted Clancy who had no home of his own, came to Hereford to see his sister Dollie Ward who had been adopted by Mrs. Ward and the late J. F. Ward, when he was 12 or 14 years old. The visit lengthened into several years with Dollie and Mrs. Ward helping him earn enough money to stay in school and graduate from Hereford High School.

It was during the depression years and both little and big jobs were hard to get but Ted never gave up. He sold newspapers and helped in Mrs. Ward's nursery on Saturdays to help pay room and board and for school clothes and supplies.

One day while on his way to school during a wind storm, a one dollar bill literally blew into his hands. Ted knew he had to make that dollar count, so he spent it all for candy which he concealed in Mom Ward's linen closet until he could divide it into small packages and peddle it to the road grader crews after school.

Each day he'd spend his profits on more candy and when warm weather came he added ice cream and cold drinks to his store. Mrs. Ward helped him buy a second hand bicycle and in that way and by doing any odd jobs he could find, he got through high school.

Clancy is deeply religious, a dyed-in-the-wool Baptist, and try as she would Mrs. Ward couldn't make a Methodist out of him. He wanted to become a preacher so Mom Ward, who can still preach a good sermon herself, helped him prepare his sermons and went with him when he delivered his first sermon in the Frio Baptist Church.

He returned to his former home in Cleburne and secured a job in the Sante Fe Railroad shops. Later he was called into service where he served as a chaplain in the South Pacific. After the war he went back to Cleburne, still hoping to become a preacher. Those plans did not materialize and he again went to work for the Sante Fe. He and his family now live in Cleburne where all work together in the Baptist Church.

"ALL I KNOW IS WHAT I READ IN THE PAPERS"

America's best-loved humorist also was one of the best-informed persons in his time. Nothing, it seemed, escaped his notice. His comments on the passing scene were applauded and repeated by millions the world over. "All I know is what I read in the papers" became his trade-mark. Will Rogers recognized that newspapers, more than any other media, are the common source of information of all the people. The simple fact that everyone knew immediately what he was talking about provided an important basis for his fabulous popularity.
