HIGHWAY CONTRACT EXTENDED TO FAR CORNER OF PUBLIC SQUARE

SPLINTERS

If the paper seems loosely constructed and disjointed in spots this week, we will have to ask that our readers kindly overlook these faults and we will attempt to do better in the future, but the fact that the first of the month came right at the time when we were in the midst of the publication of the weekly headache may have something to do with the general make up of the sheet, for with dodging bill collectors on every corner and trying to assemble the news at the same time, we found ourselves in the position of the barefooted man hunting a collar button in the bathroom.

R. S. Brannin, Jr. goes in for pets in a big way. At the present he is taming a couple of wildcats which he captured in the canyons on the big Croton last week. Bro. Holcombe the Baptist minister, who teaches school on the side, also obtained a wildcat which he will tame while resting his mind of the cares of the school room.

The Fireboys came out second best in the hose races at Seymour at a meeting of the West Texas Firemens Association the first of the week which resulted in their losing the beautiful engraved nozzle to their sister department at Monday. The loss is not as keenly felt as might be expected, for, as one of the boys said, it wouldn't fit our hose anyway. All we got to do now is to go to Olney next May and get it back in about twenty seconds.

With all the Mexicans going back to Mexico, we hope that they will at least leave the recipe for those good hot tamales. It would be a shame for the country to become overrun with jackrabbits and tom cats all for the lack of a recipe to make one of the most savory of all chile dishes, the tamale.

They say that armadillos are a rare tidbit too, but as this country boasts of but few armadillos, we have not yet had the pleasure of eating one, unless a stray got in that batch of tamales. We thought that they tasted a little different.

Carl McGlothlin and J. L. Galloway eat nothing in the way of fish that have scales on them. They prefer alligator gar and cat fish.

We didn't know that there were as many different varieties of derby hats in existence until the Knox County teachers held institute here last week. A feather touches one off just right giving it that feminine charm which is so adorable, don't you think.

Mexicans Leave To Colonize Land Below Juarez

Vera School To Open Monday With Extra Teachers And Improved Building Facilities

District Court to Meet Monday

REGULAR FALL SESSION WILL BE ROUTINE AFFAIR UNLESS GRAND JURY MAKES SEVERAL INDICTMENTS

District Court will open here Monday for the regular fall term. There are several criminal and civil cases to be tried but unless the Grand Jury turns in several indictments, it is not likely that the docket will be crowded. Mr. Temple Dickson, of Seymour the new court stenographer will be with the Court here for the first time. Mr. Dickson was appointed to fill the place of the former stenographer, Mr. Redder, who has gone to East Texas.

Band Meet to Be Held Here

The band boys of the county meet tonight for the organization of a county band. All musicians and others interested in the promotion of an organization of this kind are urged to be out. No collection will be taken up so come ahead and show your interest in band work. Forty or fifty musicians from over the county are expected to be in attendance. Rehearsals are planned for every two weeks after the organization gets under way. The meeting is scheduled for eight o'clock at the courthouse.

TAX ROLLS ARE BEING MADE THIS WEEK. CITIZENS CAN PAY TAXES

Tax Assessor Earl Sams is busy this week making up the tax rolls and tells us that any one wishing to pay this year's taxes now can do so. As many as can pay their taxes now should do so as the school funds and other public funds need replanting.

SOROSIS CLUB HOLDS REGULAR MEETING

The Sorosis Club met Thursday afternoon. After a short business session, Mrs. S. G. West conducted a lesson on Humorists of Today. Mrs. West was assisted on the program by Mrs. O. D. Propps, who gave a paper on George Ade and Mrs. J. C. Coffey who made a talk personality of Irwin S. Cobb.

NEW BUS IS PROVIDED FOR CONVENIENCE OF OUT OF TOWN SCHOLASTICS

The Vera Public School will open Monday with a larger enrollment and improved facilities for a better school. The Red Creek district consolidated with the Vera district this year and the Red Creek school building was moved to Vera and made into a science laboratory and a primary room. For the convenience of out of town scholastics, the school board has procured a new school bus. The faculty is composed of Supt. Sam Billingsley, Principal Collins Moorhouse, Misses Hanna, Collier, Hollough, Hughes and Brown. For the present the school will take up at eight o'clock in the forenoon and turn out an hour earlier in the afternoon in order to give the children some time to help gather the cotton crop.

Vera and Gilliland folks, especially, will be interested in reading the advertisement of the Femster Bros. store. They are offering the people of this trade territory some excellent buys in first class groceries for Saturday, and in these times it pays the thrifty housewife to read the advertisements, for the fellow that has the goods and has them priced right is telling the world about them. We are calling especial attention to the Femster Bros. ad because they have recently started an advertising program with the Post. The local merchants have some nice grocery specials for this week also.

HOW ABOUT IT FOLKS? WE NEED THE DOLLAR

Folks, the Post is still a dollar a year and we need the Dollar. If you haven't a dollar to spare, we are still in the market for wheat, hens, butter, eggs, maize or any farm product, when applied on subscriptions. Next year is another political year with the county, state and national candidates getting ready for the race, you will want to keep up with what is going on. The Post also offers you more local news, news of the county and district courts, and the legal notices, besides a lot of nonsense that you will find in any other county paper. It is not the biggest paper, nor the best printed but you dollar will help to make it better. How about it? We can sure use that two bushels of wheat, or a couple of hens.

TENANT FARMERS ARE RETURNING TO NATIVE COUNTRY TO BUY IRRIGATED LAND

Many of the tenant Mexican farmers of this section are taking advantages of the offer of their native government and are buying land in an irrigated section below Juarez, Mexico. The colony is located about seventy five miles south of the international border. Colonists are furnished food, shelter, implements and teams with which to make a crop and thirty per cent of the gross receipts of the income from the crop is used to pay back this money. The land is being sold to the colonists on forty year time. Many Mexican families around Benjamin have already left for Old Mexico and more are planning to go in the near future. It is our understanding that only citizens of Mexico are allowed to buy the land in the irrigated section to which these families are migrating. Many of the families who have been here for years are returning to Mexico and with the advantages of American schools and American methods, they should prove very successful on the farms in Mexico, where countless acres of very fertile soil may be obtained at a very nominal price.

Gulf Station to Be Built Here

Arrangements are being completed this week by the Gulf Company with Mr. W. C. Glenn for the erection of a service station at the intersection of Highway 51 and Highway 24 at the Northeast corner of the square. The building is to be of brick construction and to follow the specifications of the Gulf Company. A local contracting firm, Thompson and Qualls, is to do the work. It is expected that the work will start immediately and completion will be in the near future.

Institute Held Here Last Week

The Knox County Teachers Institute for 1931-1932 was held at Benjamin during the past week, opening with a banquet on Friday night which was attended by 114 teachers, board members and patrons. At the general session Saturday morning the speakers were Mrs. Kincaid of Crowell, representing the P. T. A. organization, Mr. Rogers of Lamesa representing the T. S. T. A., Bro. Caudle of Benjamin, and Mrs. Ethie Lee P'Pool, County Superintendent. At the close of the general session, the Interscholastic League of Knox County was organized.

BENJAMIN MAY SOON BE ABLE TO BOAST OF PAVED STREETS. WORK TO START IMMEDIATELY

Working orders were received the early part of this week for the extension of the contract on Highway 24 from the city limits of Benjamin to the Northwest corner of the public square. The work will be done by the McClung Construction Company of Fort Worth. It is the policy of the Highway to let all contracts with a 20 percent increase or decrease provision and in this case they increased the original contract to take care of this extension. Work will start immediately. The drag line is already busy opening a pit north of town and it is expected that hauling will start in the very near future. The city is to furnish the water to settle the road bed so the work will be completed in the shortest possible time. At the present part of the work on the original contract is being held up waiting for a rain to settle the road bed. The county tractor has been busy a part of this week tearing the old concrete walks that cross the streets in different places and getting the way clear for the construction work to progress. The extension to the contract includes the paving of three sides of the public square giving Benjamin its first paved streets. The curb and gutter work was completed early last summer, at which time the city installed copper leads to the water mains in anticipation of the surfacing of the streets.

Poultry Feeding

Some of the Knox County Demonstrators are feeding their flock a home mixed laying mash, which has the following proportion:

- 100 lbs ground maize or corn
- 200 lbs ground wheat.
- 100 lbs ground oats.

100 lbs meat scraps, if it is desirable 60 lbs of cottonseed meal can be substituted for 50 lbs of the meat scraps making the mixture more economical, however use the c.s meal only thru the winter.

The cost of this 500 pounds mixture equals to about the same cost of 100 pounds of commercial mash.

All cases where the Worm pills have been given to the flock show that worms present The best cure for a disease is to prevent it; rid your flock of worms as these parasites saps the vitality of the birds making them susceptible to most any disease. You will find by worming the flock now for they will be more resistant to colds and roup this fall. The round worms breed in mud holes. this can easily be remedied by eliminating these places. The tape worm spends part of his life cycle in the fly therefore making it more difficult to control but controlling the flies and using the worm pills will practically do the work. In giving worm pills be sure the pill or capsule is for both Tape and Round worm.

Plenty of Pork

Guinn Hickman of Truscott had two gilts to farrow around the fifth of this month. Incidentally he also has a few both gilts totaling nineteen hundred young pullets about ready to begin laying.

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE, $1.50 A YEAR

AFTER COTTON, THEN WHAT?

The recent law enacted by the Legislature at the present special session, which curtails the acreage that may be planted in cotton next year, necessitates the farmer finding some other crop which will profitably take the place of the above mentioned commodity. The natural assumption would be that the most desirable substitute for cotton next year would be some money crop such as wheat, oats or other small grain, this section being more or less adapted to the growing of such crops. However, let us decide first if it is a money crop which we wish to substitute for cotton. We shall still be allowed to raise enough cotton next year with the curtailed acreage, to bring in enough cash revenue for taxes, clothing and the other necessary expenses for things which cannot be produced on the farm, provided, however that the things that can be produced are produced at home. The greatest expense of living is for food, and in case of the farmer, food for his family and food for the livestock with which to operate his farm. If his farm will not produce feed for the livestock and some of the fruits and vegetables consumed by his family, then neither will it produce cotton profitably and he has no chance of making a successful crop in the beginning. However much land in this territory will produce and the thing to produce next year is the thing that can be used at home. Cows, chickens and hogs are inexpensive to keep and if a man has his milk, eggs, butter, lard and meat provided for, his grocery bill is diminished almost to the vanishing point. A garden which will provide fresh vegetables through the summer and canned vegetables through the winter further lessens the amount of cash that need be expended by the farmer. What difference does it make whether chickens are worth a dime or a dollar, do they not have the same capacity for satisfying hunger regardless the price. A bushel of wheat may bring only 25 cents on the market but it will still make flour which tastes just as good as if the wheat were worth $2.20 a bushel. The farmer that has been in the habit of raising his living at home instead of using his money crop to buy his living at the store is not worried about the acreage reduction for his has always been reduced. The acreage reduction will hurt no one, but the man that idles his time away on the village streets next summer complaining that he cannot make a living because the state will not allow him to plant enough cotton.

THE MOFFETT BILL WOULD AID NOT ONLY THE PRODUCER OF COTTON BUT OTHERS ALSO

A bill introduced by the Hon. George Moffett of this district before the Legislature in session, concerning the establishment of a cotton research laboratory, has considerable merit in it. In regard to his bill, Mr. Moffett says "My sincere belief is that the underconsumption of cotton is more to blame than overproduction, and that we have in the past few weeks got into a hysterical condition concerning the reduction of acreage planted in cotton. The most common sense solution, it seems to me, is to increase consumption in every possible way. A farmer producing forty bales of cotton is not in a position to find new uses for cotton. That is a service that the state should perform for its citizens."

As Mr. Moffett states, it is not the overproduction of cotton that has caused the price of that commodity to be what it is today. Our foreign buyers are not taking their usual amounts of cotton this year for he reason that they have no the money with which to pay for it. As long as the American cotton grower has to depend on the foreign markets to take his product, then that long is he going to have to be content with any price that they see fit to give him for his cotton. When the American cotton grower begins to produce for the American market he can then hope to have some control over the price of his commodity, in the same way that the manufacturers of automobiles, shoes or woolen goods control the price of their products. Thus if more uses are found for cotton in the United States, the grower is that much nearer his goal in producing for the home market. Like all good Democrats we believe that the government is made to serve the people and the establishment of a cotton research laboratory would certainly be one way of the government serving the people. All the South and the entire nation is either directly or indirectly affected by the prosperity of the cotton producer and any way in which their condition may be helped will be of benefit to more than just the producer.
