1996: It was best of times, worst of times

Parched county land makes impact on area economy

Perspective varies as year draws to close

To quote a noted author of another era, "it was the best of times, it was the worst of times" in Hereford and Deaf Smith County in 1996.

The community got a shot in the arm and pride fairly burst out the seams when the Hereford Whiteface volleyball team went to Austin and came home with the state championship trophy.

On the other side of the coin, though, there were some economic woes as the discount house, Gibson's, closed its doors and some small businesses found tough sledding.

Controversy, thy name was Hereford school trustees. Almost from the beginning of the year, the school board was embroiled in disputes, some centered around the superintendent, Charles Greenawalt.

At one time, a board member claimed that Greenawalt's resignation had been requested.

The storm finally faded and the board settled down to tend to education of Hereford's children.

Late in the year, though, in December, Greenawalt announced he would leave, to accept the job of superintendent in the South Texas city of Kingsville, on March 1.

Loss of two of Hereford's leading citizens came in January.

James W. Witherspoon, civic leader and former judge, died at the age of 89.

And, Margaret Schroeter, longtime businesswoman and Deaf Smith native, died. She was 86.

Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce faced a changing of the guard when F. Michael Carr, executive for 18 years, announced his resignation.

Weather, as always, took top billing for much of the year, first when moisture was in such short supply that fireworks were banned, then when rains came, bearing destruction.

Fire Marshal Jay Spain advised the Commissioners' Court that dry conditions made even a spark a fire-producing hazard.

The annual community-wide July Fourth celebration was moved to Aquatic Center Park and offered plenty of activities, but no nighttime fireworks display.

In an election year, there was plenty to think about. From the national level to the school board, candidates were beating the bushes for votes.

In Deaf Smith County, one upset was recorded in the General Election, when a county precinct commissioner was defeated by a challenger.

Voters here took the general election seriously, joining other Texans in giving their support to the Republican ticket. The Democrats prevailed nationally, though.

On direction of an appellate court, Deaf Smith County was required to try, for the second time, Tanya Thaxton Reid, convicted once already of murder in the death of her baby daughter.

Judge, district attorney and support personnel went to Lubbock where a jury there returned a guilty verdict, and sentenced the defendant to 40 years in prison.

A committee of community leaders answered the call of the City Commission to help "build on the dream" by raising funds for improvements at Hereford Aquatic Center Park.

When the drive ended, some $40,000 had been raised by all elements of the community, from school children to senior citizens, had joined to create a new park.

The annual Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce banquet gave the community an opportunity to honor a longtime resident and veteran Lions Club member, Dr. Milton Adams was the Citizen of the Year, but could not attend because of illness.

A drive to recruit additional acres for sugar beet production apparently was successful, at least in part, when Holly Sugar announce in mid-December that the Hereford plan would operate next year. The company had sought 25,000 acres of beets, compared with the 14,000 acres harvested this year.

Whatever 1996 was, it was a year for news. Here are synopses of some of the articles in the Hereford Brand, listed by the date in which they appeared.

- Here are some of the top stories of 1996 in Hereford, not listed in any particular order of importance:
1. Volleyball state championship
  2. School controversy through much of year.
  3. Resignation of Charles Greenawalt as school superintendent.
  4. Drought.
  5. Resignation of F. Michael Carr as chamber executive/appointment of Don Cumpton to fill vacancy.
  6. Elections.
  7. Community drive for improvements in Aquatic Center Park.
  8. Trial/conviction of Tanya Thaxton Reid for murder.
  9. Holly Sugar drive to enlist more beet growers to keep plant operating.
  10. Deaths of two civic leaders, James Witherspoon and Margaret Schroeter.

JANUARY

3 -- An election year began shaping up as county and state slates were finished. Incumbents seeking new terms in Deaf Smith County offices were Democrats, Sheriff Joe Brown; Margaret Del Toro, tax assessor-collector; Tony Castillo, Precinct 1 commissioner, and Troy Don Moore, Precinct 3 commissioner. Challenging Castillo was Wayne Betzen, Republican, and Moore was opposed by another Republican, Dan Hall. The sheriff's race drew another Democratic candidate, Fidel Reyna, as well as a GOP candidate, Mike Morrison.

5 -- Hereford Fire Department experienced less activity in 1995 than in the previous year, a report from the city revealed. And, by vote of his peers, Robert Murray was honored as John Bob Drake Fireman of the Year for 1995.

7 -- Federal employees in Deaf Smith County were glad to hear that Congress would provide paycheck through Jan. 26.

9 -- An audit of Deaf Smith County's finances for the previous year was accepted by Commissioners' Court. Spending exceeded revenue by $27,317, the audit showed.

9 -- One of Hereford's leading citizens for many years, James W. Witherspoon, died at the age of 89. He was an attorney, onetime judge and community leader.

10 -- A report from the City of Hereford brought smiles as the value of building permits for 1995, $4.2 million, was the best recorded since 1987.

11 -- A new murder indictment was returned by the Deaf Smith County Grand Jury against Tanya Thaxton Reid, whose earlier conviction in the death of her daughter was overturned by the Seventh Court of Appeals.

16 -- Eugene Condarco was appointed to fill and unexpired term on the Hereford City Commission. Hereford Independent School District board of trustees heard words of support for Supt. Charles Greenawalt from teachers and patrons at a meeting.

17 -- First of several to come swept across 100 acres of grassland east of Hereford and destroyed a vehicle. Officials warned that extreme dry conditions were prevalent in the county.

21 -- The 1995 United Way campaign was completed with an announcement that the goal of $130,000 had been met.

23 -- Death claimed another of Hereford's leading citizens. A lifelong resident, Margaret Schroeter, died at age 86.

23 -- Sugar Beet Growers selected one of their own, Dale Artho, for the honor of "Ag Man of the Year," after hearing assurances from Holly Sugar President Roger Hill that the company had no plans to shut down the Hereford plant.

24 -- Controversy swirled around the HISD board after the president,

Automakers may get green light on less forceful air bags

WASHINGTON (AP) - The government is set to give automakers the green light to install less forceful air bags in new cars while making it easier for worried consumers to have the devices disconnected.

Responding to pressure from motorists, safety advocates and the auto industry, widely anticipated new federal air bag rules will be formally proposed Monday, a Transportation Department official said Friday.

Air bags have saved more than 1,600 lives, officials say. But they also have killed 32 children and infants and 20 adults - mostly smaller women - in low-speed accidents that the victims would have otherwise survived.

"Today I'm pleased to announce we are moving forward three additional proposals to protect our children," President Clinton said today in his weekly radio address.

"This much is clear," he said, "air bags do save lives."

But, he added: "At the same time, air bags inflate with considerable force and can pose risks to children sitting unbuckled in the front passenger seat instead of buckled up in the back seat where they belong."

Clinton predicted the rules could take effect by this spring.

The proposed rules, which have been in the works at the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, will be open for public comment during an expedited 30-day period. Regulators expect to make a final decision in "early 1997," said the Transportation official, who spoke on condition of anonymity.

Advocates of the new rules have said they must have permission by mid-February to guarantee that the less forceful air bags are installed in 1998 model automobiles.

Under the proposal:

-Air bags, which now deploy at speeds of up to 200 mph, could be installed in new cars with 20 to 35 percent less force. Even at the slower speed, passengers wearing seat belts would be protected in a crash.

-Owners could ask mechanics to disconnect their air bags after being told the risks. Under current law, owners must petition the government for permission, something some 800 people have done. Only about 10 percent of the requests have been granted, all for people who cited medical problems.

-A temporary rule allowing automakers to install cutoff switches for cars without back seats or room for child safety seats would be extended. That allows those who have only a front seat to carry a child to switch off the air bag when the child rides in front.

These changes are viewed by government and auto industry officials as an interim solution to a growing safety problem that has caused widespread confusion among motorists over the safety value of air bags.

Ultimately, automakers and regulators are looking to more advanced technology, which will sense a passenger's weight or position and deploy the air bag accordingly. The government wants this technology installed beginning with the 1999 model year.

In his radio speech, Clinton mentioned air bags in the broader context of calling for responsible driving over New Year's.

"Especially at this time of year, too many people pose a threat to themselves and to others by drinking and driving," he said.

Federal officials said more than 41,000 Americans died in highway crashes last year and 40 percent of the accidents were alcohol-related.

CSF brought holidays to many local families

As the Christmas Stocking Fund draws to a close for 1996, the committee has reported it was able to provide assistance to 152 families in Hereford.

Contributions to the charity to help the less fortunate of the community during the Christmas holidays totaled $18,393, just short of the 1995 total of $18,435.

Assistance was provided in the form of turkeys delivered in time for Christmas, as well as vouchers for clothing and help in paying utility and medical bills.

Applications for assistance were screened by a committee composed of a wide cross-section of volunteers.

The cash donations total for 1996 was also a few dollars short of the 1994 sum of $18,414. The record was reached in 1993 when a total of $21,451 was recorded.

6-year-old found dead

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) - JonBenet Ramsey, a 6-year-old blond beauty queen, went to bed Christmas night after receiving a new bicycle. The next day, the little girl's father found her strangled in the basement, just hours after receiving a ransom note.

The note said JonBenet, last year's Little Miss Colorado, had been kidnapped. Authorities and police were attempting to comply with the note's instructions when JonBenet's father found her body hidden in the basement of the family's large Tudor home Thursday afternoon.

Police said they had no suspects. "This is a beautiful young girl, as you can see," John Eller, commander of the police detective division, said at a news conference Friday with a picture of the smiling child behind him. "Very vibrant, and from all reports that we have at this time, very precocious and a wonderful child."

Autopsy results indicate the girl was strangled sometime after she was put to bed Christmas night.

Chamber president reviews past year

BY TOMMIE WEEMES
President
D.S.C. Chamber of Commerce
This has been an interesting year for Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce. Mike Carr resigned as manager and executive vice president to become a partner in Stagner-Carr Motors.

Don Cumpston was then selected as the new executive vice president, although he could not take the position until Jan. 1, 1997.

Chamber officers volunteered to help the Chamber staff - Carolyn Jones and Leticia Nieto - keep the Chamber operating during the eight-month interim period. We managed to "keep the wheels on the buggy," and Don will begin his new job on Jan. 2.

WELCOME ABOARD, DON!
This past year saw some weather-related problems that impacted a couple of Chamber projects. A lack of rain caused cancellation of the July 4th Fireworks Display. However, moving the celebration to Hereford Aquatic Center was successful.

Too much rain and a wet Dameron Park caused the Jubilee in the Park to be moved to the east parking lot. Although it was not as much space as the regular location, the Jubilee continued to a satisfactory conclusion.

During October, the Chamber sponsored a survey regarding retail business in Hereford. The Chamber was joined by the City of Hereford, Hereford Economic Development Corporation and Deaf Smith County in conducting the survey.

The returned surveys contained information indicating there were some problems in the retail sector. Limited selection, high prices and poor service were listed as some of the perceived problems. Let me emphasize that not all businesses were criticized. Many local firms drew compliments.

The survey also indicated that the public may not be aware of the duties and responsibilities of both the HEDC and the Chamber of Commerce. HEDC by-laws contain retail business recruitment guidelines that must be followed. The Chamber technically represents dues-paying members, however, we feel the Chamber also has a responsibility to the community to work all leads that might increase and enhance retail business in Hereford.

A steering committee has been formed with representatives from the city, county and HEDC, to respond to community concerns regarding retail business recruitment.

The citizens of Hereford and Deaf Smith County are an important part of any successful endeavor. If you are not involved at this time, please assume responsibility and become an active part of the community by joining the Chamber, or volunteering to serve on one of the many Chamber committees.

I would like to thank this opportunity to thank the 1996 Chamber Board of Directors for their willingness to work and to do what needed to be done this year. The 1997 directors are looking forward to their tenure. They will consider all suggestions and ideas from the community and, where possible, implement changes as needed.

Happy New Year and remember to promote Hereford!!

New aquatic center park facilities fully realized

YEAREND

Jim Marsh, announced there was no action on the contract of Charles Greenawalt. The superintendent's attorney claimed the board asked for Greenawalt's resignation but there was no confirmation from the board.

9 -- Hereford school trustees and members of the county tax abatement board met jointly to discuss mutual concerns, although there was no consensus reached on abatement issues.

18 -- Nominations were being sought for the Citizen of the Year honor, to be conferred at the annual banquet of the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce on March 7.

20 -- Hereford Fire Marshal Jay Spain reiterated warnings about extremely dry conditions in the area, and asked residents to be cautious with outdoor fires.

21 -- A new format for electing trustees in Hereford ISD was announced. Seven districts were drawn for electing the seven board members.

22 -- Filing period for school board and city commission opened. Two city incumbents, Roger Eades and Carey Black, filed their papers for re-election.

23 -- Longtime chamber of commerce executive, F. Michael Carr, announced his resignation. Carr said he would enter private business after an 18-year career with the chamber.

27 -- Deaf Smith County Commissioners' Court enacted a no-bum policy in view of a continuing drought. Recommended by City Fire Marshal Jay Spain, the ban limited outdoor burning and set guidelines for certain kinds of fires.

28 -- HISD trustees received an opinion on its records policy from its retained attorney, who attached a letter of resignation to his letter.

MARCH
1 -- A Bluebonnet School fourth grader claimed the junior spelling championship in competition.

Runner-up was another fourth grader, Sara Porras.

3 -- Brigham Brown, a Hereford Junior High seventh grader, won the 1996 spelling championship, earning the right to advance to the regional bee in Canyon in April. Runner-up was Erin Louder, a Community Christian School seventh grader.

5 -- A contest for Place 2 on the Hereford City Commission developed when Joe Soliz Jr., filed for a place on the ballot, opposing Eugene Condarco, an appointee. Three other candidates, Roger Eades, Place 6; Wayne Winget, Place 4, and Carey Black, Place 5, filed previously.

5 -- The Hereford City Commission may have set a record for brevity when, from the invocation to public comments, only three minutes were required to finish a meeting agenda.

8 -- Dr. Milton Adams, a Hereford resident almost 50 years and a longtime member of the Lions Club, was honored, in absentia, at the annual Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce banquet. Larry Alley presented the Citizen of the Year to Dr. Adams, who was ill and could not attend the event.

8 -- F. Michael Carr, who announced his resignation as chamber executive earlier, was recognized for his 18 years of service to the community.

10 -- Hereford Whiteface head coach Danny Haney announced his resignation from the post he had held for five seasons, saying he was considering "other employment opportunities."

10 -- An announcement was made that the Cowgirl Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center would close on March 27, to prepare for moving to Fort Worth.

13 -- In the only contested race on either Democratic or Republican primary ballots in Deaf Smith County, Sheriff Joe Brown defeated a former deputy, Fidel Reyna, for the Democratic nomination.

15 -- The U.S. Census Bureau reported that Deaf Smith County gained 269 residents between 1990 and 1995.

19 -- The City of Hereford is looking at a $1.5 million price tag to repair decaying infrastructure of the city, City Manager Chester Nolen told the City Commission.

21 -- Last day filings for city and school elections to be held in May resulted in contests for some seats. Seeking election to the District 2 seat on the school board are Raul Valdez and Charlie Arellano; District 4, Angie M. Alonzo, Dave Charest and Leroy Lucero; District 5, Lloyd Ames, Tracy Straughan and Glenn Boozer; District 7, Jeff Torbert. Missing from the school slate was Jim Marsh, board president, who decided not to seek re-election.

City contests were assured, also. Running for the two at-large seats were Carey Black and Roger Eades, incumbents, as well as a challenger, Frank Maes. Squaring off for the Place 2 seat were Eugene Condarco and Joe Soliz Jr.

24 -- Publisher of The Brand, O.G. "Speedy" Nieman, was one of four persons inducted into the Panhandle Press Association Hall of Fame. The induction took place at the annual PPA meeting. The newspaper also garnered awards for advertising, lifestyles, page layout and photography.

31 -- After several years of independent management, King's Manor was scheduled to revert to local management, effective April 1.

APRIL
5 -- As the filing deadline passed for candidates for the board of Deaf Smith Hospital District, the slate included four incumbents, Steve Cortez, Dean Crofford, Boyd Foster and Larry Watts, and two challengers, Mark Collier and Henry C. Reid. Voters would elect four to the board.

9 -- An affiliation agreement between Deaf Smith Hospital District and Baptist St. Anthony's Health System was approved by directors of the district. The affiliation is a no-cost opportunity for Hereford Regional Medical Center to be connected with a larger institution.

10 -- Deaf Smith voters were few, 73, for the Democratic runoff between newcomer Victor Morales and Cong. John Bryant for the right to face GOP Senator Phil Gramm in the November general election. Although Bryant received the nod here, Morales won statewide.

12 -- Deaf Smith Commissioners' Court on a split vote bought a piece of property, located north of Hereford, for slightly more than $9,000, the amount of taxes due all entities, except the county.

16 -- Thirteen miles of water lines should be replaced in Hereford, City Manager Chester Nolen advised the City Commission. He estimated a price tag of more than $1 million.

18 -- A new trial for a woman convicted in 1993 of murder was set to begin in June, in Lubbock, on a change of venue, ordered by an appellate court. The Seventh Court of Appeals mandate was issued in favor of Tanya Thaxton Reid.

23 -- Status of Cherry McWhorter on the HISD board of trustees became a controversial issue because she moved from a home where she lived when elected, to a different address. The board did not resolve the issue.

24 -- The school board reversed an earlier decision to not make salary schedule changes during a year and voted raises to several groups of professional staff, including counselors, diagnosticians, nurses and speech therapists.

24 -- Higher scores were posted by 10th graders at Hereford High School

16 -- Paul Hamilton, a "community hero," was preparing for his run with the Olympic Torch, meeting sponsors in Arlington for a one-kilometer run.

21 -- Members of the Deaf Smith Hospital District board re-elected Mal Manchee president after recently-elected directors were sworn in.

22 -- New trustees of Hereford ISD were given the oath of office, then the board elected Dave Charest to serve as president.

23 -- In a surprise announcement at a Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce Fun Breakfast, Don Cumpston was introduced as the new chamber of executive, replacing F. Michael Carr, who resigned. Cumpston said he would take the job, beginning Jan. 1.

26 -- Diplomas were awarded 225 graduates in commencement of Hereford High School. The honor of "highest honor graduate" was conferred on Bao Nguyen. HHS faculty selected award-winner.

28 -- A twister swept through an area of Deaf Smith County, destroying property, but causing no injuries.

28 -- Deaf Smith County Commissioners' Court put a damper on Independence Day celebrations by ordering a ban on use of all fireworks because of extreme dry conditions, but stopped short of banning sale.

30 -- Although not a drought-breaker, a shower dampened streets in Hereford and failed to have much effect on parched yards.

30 -- A Hereford teacher, Mike McManigal, announced he would begin a new "greeter service" in Hereford to welcome newcomers to the city.

JUNE

4 -- Rains came, but brought some bad news as hail piled up in some areas. The accumulation of rain did not put a dent in the dry weather, officials said.

4 -- Energas filed a rate increase application that would raise minimum charges by about 65 percent.

11 -- County commissioners decided to petition Governor George W. Bush to forbid sale of fireworks, based on a 1975 disaster law.

11 -- The annual Independence Day celebration in Veterans Park fell victim to the drought. Because of a ban by the city and county on use of fireworks and the extreme dry condition, sponsors elected to cancel the fireworks display and other activities this year.

12 -- No sooner were plans canceled for the July Fourth celebration than the rains came, in more quantity than in months. Rain gauges picked up .67-inch.

14 -- Electronic mail sorting came to the Hereford post office in a big way. Postmaster Charles Britten said the sorter could work 29,000 pieces of mail in an hour.

16 -- Trial was scheduled to start on June 17 in Lubbock, on the murder charge against Tanya Thaxton Reid, previously convicted in the death of her daughter. The conviction overturned by the appellate court which ordered the new trial.

19 -- A management contract between Hereford Regional Medical Center and Lubbock Methodist Hospital was dissolved and Jim Robinson was hired as an HRMC employee to continue as administrator of the hospital.

20 -- Commissioners' Court ratified an order from the governor, banning sale of aerial fireworks in the county.

23 -- The number of cattle fed in Deaf Smith County topped the 900,000 mark for the second time in history, according to a Southwestern Public Service survey.

23 -- To compensate for the loss of fireworks display and other activities on July Fourth, residents were invited to join in a celebration to be held at the Hereford Aquatic Center and adjoining park.

25 -- Rain - the lack of it - was a continuing story in Deaf Smith County. In Hereford, only 2.5 inches of rain had been recorded since the first of the year.

26 -- A school board member whose status was a question being asked by many in the community, Cherry McWhorter, announced her resignation. She said she planned to move from the community.

27 -- Hereford ISD had a mixed review on performance of students on the annual TAAS tests administered students. Some higher scores were reported, while some lower were recorded.

28 -- A trickle of rain dampened Hereford -- the official report was .38-inch.

30 -- Plans for a festive July Fourth celebration at Hereford Aquatic Center Park were completed with watermelon, music and food booths on the books, although no fireworks display would be provided.

JULY

2 -- Approval of the Hereford City Commission was given to close a portion of Union St. during the school hours.

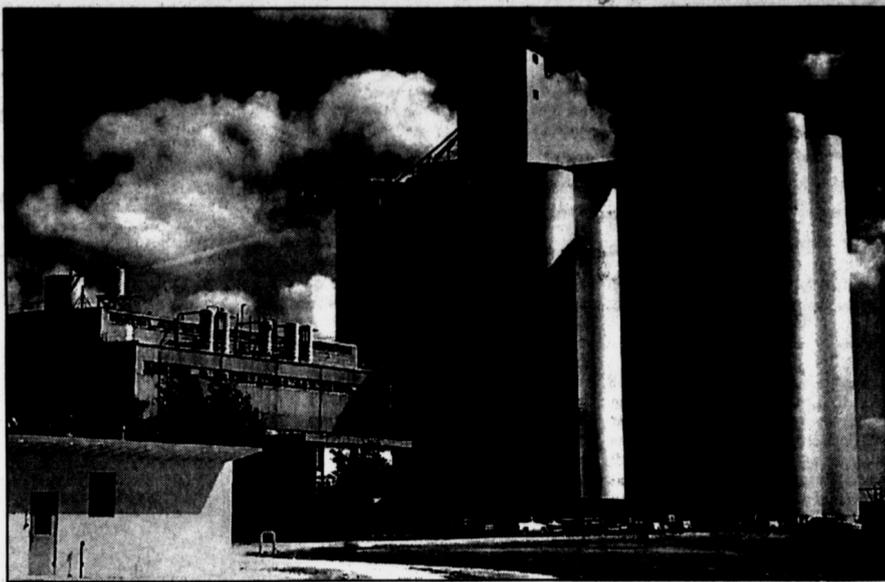

2 -- Commissioners' Court hired a new assistant extension agent for Deaf Smith County. Coming here to work in the county office is Alan Patranello.

2 -- An "excellent start" for the area's sugar beet crop was good news for growers.

3-4 -- An announcement that Premium Standard Farms, a pig production company, had filed Chapter 11 bankruptcy apparently put an end to any hope of the firm building a pork processing plant in Deaf Smith County. PSF a year earlier put the local plant on "hold."

5 -- A jury in Lubbock spent only three hours in deliberations before returning a guilty verdict in the trial of Tanya Reid Thaxton, 38, charged with murder in the 1984 death of her daughter. Then, the jury set punishment at 40 years in prison.

9 -- A committee assigned to prepare a health curriculum recommended to HISD trustees that a state-adopted textbook be adopted but the board delayed action until a later meeting.

10 -- A cold front moving through the area set off a series of storms, resulting in an inch of rain for Hereford. Measurements in other parts of Deaf Smith County were as high as five inches.

10 -- HISD Supt. Charles Greenawalt reported he and administrators were working to reduce the budget requests for the next year. The $19.5 million budget was approximately $878,000 more than the previous year.

11 -- An engraved silver plate was presented at a Lions Club meeting to Dr. Milton Adams in recognition of his selection as Citizen of the Year, announced several months earlier at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet. Dr. Adams was unable to attend the event in March.

12 -- Two recent graduates of Hereford High School, John Messer and Bao Nguyen, participated in the National Forensic League competition in Fayetteville, N.C., and Messer was selected to participate in a Super Congress.

16 -- The old saw, "when it rains, it pours," seemed appropriate in Hereford as Mother Nature tried to make up the shortfall in moisture during the first few months of the year with downpours when 1.89 inches fell, officially, in Hereford.

17 -- Quick action by members of the Hereford Regional Medical Center staff was hailed by the facility's administrator, Jim Robinson. The electrical fire that broke out necessitated moving several patients and the job was accomplished efficiently, said Robinson.

23 -- An increase in the tax levy, by about $163,000, was good news for the Hereford school board, which was wrestling with preparation of a budget for the next school year.

24 -- A health text adopted by the State Board of Education was turned down by Hereford school trustees. They sent a committee back to the drawing board to prepare a health curriculum for students.

24 -- HISD trustees announced a replacement for Cherry McWhorter, who resigned from the board, would be sought. Interest from the community was solicited.

26 -- A Hereford physician for 30 years, Dr. Howard Johnson, agreed to assume duties as medical director of a second rural health clinic for Hereford Regional Medical Center.

28 -- Building permits issued by the City of Hereford for the first half of 1996 were slightly higher in number than in the same period in 1995. Sixty-one permits, valued at approximately $824,000, compared with 51 a year earlier. The value in 1995 was higher though, approximately $2 million.

30 -- Deaf Smith's Commissioners' Court looked at alternatives to a tax increase to fund the budget for the next fiscal year. A shortfall of approximately $218,000 was forecast by County Auditor Alex Schroeter.

30 -- A two-year-old, Tell Lockmiller Northcutt, died after he fell off a tractor and was struck by a mower, in far west Deaf Smith County. 31 -- A boy who was found floating in the Hereford Aquatic Center pool was being treated in an Amarillo hospital. His father reported Danny Coronado, was improving.

AUGUST

1 -- A pair of Hereford High School cheerleaders, Kari Barrett and Cassie Abney, were named to the All-American team during a workshop in Portales, N.M., for cheerleaders.

4 -- The schedule for the annual Town and Country Jubilee offered something for everyone, from the seventh annual fajita cookoff to a giant parade.

6 -- Two schools, Aikman in Hereford ISD, and Walcott received special attention with "recognized" awards from the Texas Education Agency.

7 -- A tax increase of up to six one-half cents was being considered by Hereford school trustees to fund operations of the district in the next school year.

9 -- A soggy Dameron Park forced the chamber of commerce to relocate Jubilee Junction to the east side of the park. The parade was scheduled to proceed as planned.

The great thrill of Christmas for us at this time of life is sharing it with children and grandchildren.

Our granddaughter, Stephanie, asked for a real kitten for Christmas and, naturally, Santa brought it. The kitten was black with white paws, so she followed her brother's suggestion and named it "Chicago." You know...Chicago White Sox.

In her letter to Santa, Stephanie said what she wanted most was for Bubba to fall in love. Bubba is her 12-year-old brother, Ross. Her reason? "So he'll be in a better mood, like he was before he broke up with his last girl friend!"

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — There was room under the Christmas tree for property tax relief, but there was no way to squeeze a fully formed plan through the chimney.

Scurrying Capitol elves drafted a proposal that would cut school property taxes by about $3 billion a year — buy left some important questions unanswered. Such as, how can the cuts:

- Be made permanent?
- Be kept from creeping higher? (Gov. George W. Bush has said he will reject any bill that does not promise taxes won't creep back up, either through hiking tax rates or higher property tax appraisals.)
- Be made so as to not disrupt school funding formulas?
- Be made without picking a political fight with business interests?

"We're looking at all these issues. There are still a lot of things to figure out," state Rep. Tom Craddick, chairman of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, told the Austin American-Statesman.

Though Craddick thinks there is a way to shift more of the $10 billion school property tax burden from property owners to the state government, there is no consensus on whether cuts can be made without making a mess of the painstakingly devised school funding formulas.

Rep. Paul Sadler, chairman of the House Public Education Committee, told the American-Statesman it's impossible to shift the burden without affecting school funding formulas.

"It's an exercise in futility because you are looking for short-term answers to fix long-term problems," he said.

Bomer Opposes Settlement

Texas Insurance Commissioner Elton Bomer last week filed a formal objection to a proposed nationwide class-action settlement of consumer complaints against the Prudential Insurance Company of America for unfair life insurance sales practices.

A settlement could affect 10 million Americans — including 300,000 Texans — who bought Prudential whole life policies between 1982 and 1995.

Bomer was one of five insurance commissioners who declined to join Prudential's agreement because it did not provide adequate redress for consumers.

He said the proposed settlement places an almost impossible burden on consumers who want compensation beyond the token "basic claim relief" that the class-action attorneys worked out with Prudential.

"These consumers have been shortchanged once; they should not be shortchanged again," he said.

Bomer also urged the New Jersey federal court to enforce a Texas Department of Insurance subpoena for Prudential's records of Texas agents who have been targets of at least three sales-related complaints. Prudential has refused to honor the subpoena.

The Department of Insurance had sought the information because it could be useful to consumers who need evidence of misrepresentation for use in the "alternative dispute resolution" process, in which they would seek relief through an out-of-court claim settlement.

The class action suit accuses Prudential of "churning" and misrepresentation in the sale of cash-value life insurance products. Churning occurs when an agent persuades a consumer to borrow against an existing policy to pay the premium on a new one.

Names of Nursing Homes Secret

The Texas Attorney General's Office has ruled that state officials can keep secret the names of 10 publicly financed Texas nursing homes that spent $614,374 on such items as a Cadillac, baseball tickets and jobs for relatives who did no work.

The names had been sought by the media and other groups through the Texas Public Information Act.

The attorney general said the names are not open to the public because the documents that name the facilities are the state auditor's working papers.

"It's not mandatory that (the

Final Exam Exemptions Drop

More Texas students were hitting the books for final exams last week because of a new state policy that has prompted school districts to quit exempting students from finals.

The new policy by Education Commissioner Mike Moses ended all funding for students who are not at school because of exemptions from final exams.

In the past, school districts would let students with good grades skip finals and still receive the same amount of money. School funding in Texas is based on student attendance.

The policy became effective this semester and is now affecting students for the first time.

"You can no longer get paid for kids being absent," Dr. Moses told the Dallas Morning News. "I have this personal feeling that if you exempt kids from final exams all the way through high school, they may have trouble when they wind up at a state university and have to take a semester exam for the first time," he said.

Editorials from around the State

By The Associated Press

A sampling of editorial comment from Texas newspapers:

The Dallas Morning News on Elmo scalping:

So you couldn't find a Tickle Me Elmo doll - you and about 100 million other parents. Don't worry, a lively secondary market in furry red dolls has started.

Wednesday's classified ad section contained 99 ads offering Tickle Me Elmos. One owner wants $1,000. Other request $350 or best offer. Soon there may be Elmo kidnappings and ransoms instead of classifieds and prices.

What the heck is Elmo?

The doll began as a character on public television's educational program "Sesame Street." It's a cousin to Bert and Ernie and Big Bird. It is the Cabbage Patch Kid of Christmas 1996.

Because of its educational TV origins, bystanders have to wonder whether the whole Elmo stampede was a subterfuge to teach Capitalism 101. It is a perfect example of a market system: inelastic supply, inexhaustible demand and a price curve that rises steeply until Christmas, after which it plummets. Adam Smith would be proud.

Elmos' creators haven't truly exhausted the product-line possibilities. They need to introduce a Barbie doll-like array of Elmo products. Tickle Me Newt would be a doll that giggles when you tell a joke about Democrats. A doll with a haunted expression and wearing designer cotton underwear would be Tickle Me Calvin. It wouldn't laugh no matter how hard you tickled it.

This toy fad says more about parents, marketing and media than it does about a child's dreams for Christmas. However hard it is to find an Elmo, it's easier than giving kids what they need most - nurturing parents, stable homes, consistent discipline and boundless love 365 days a year.

Tickle Me Elmo will be fodder for garage sales within a year. Tickle your kids. Their laughter lasts longer and never needs batteries.

Waco Herald-Tribune on "ebonics":

What is the purpose of education? Is it to hone minds so they can accomplish great things? Or is it to assure young people that, "Never you mind, just get by with what you've got"? On the subject of giving children skills they need to succeed, the Oakland, Calif., school board seems intent on telling them not to bother.

The school board has voted to recognize so-called Black English, or "ebonics," as a second language. So doing, it not only promotes a lie, it also promotes a cancerous attitude about education. The lie is that ebonics is a language. Absolutely false. Black English is slang that incorporates English. It is a dialect.

There's nothing unusual about slang, and no reason to be judgmental about it unless one is trying to instruct on the proper way to use English. In a classroom, that judgment must be persistent and consistent.

We don't teach that two plus two equals five. Similarly, we don't teach that "Don't have no lunch money" is a correct sentence, or even a sentence.

Spanish is a language. It has many dialects. French is a language with many dialects as well. Black English is no language. It is a version of a language: English.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

At the end of "The Christmas Carol," we learn that the miser Ebenezer Scrooge became a man who knew how to honor and keep Christmas well.

Each year, the generous people of our community show that they, too, honor Christmas in their hearts by supporting the Christmas Stocking Fund. This year's campaign to help the needy is drawing to a successful close, thanks to the united efforts of many who cared and shared with the less fortunate.

The 1996 committee was able to provide assistance to 152 families in Hereford. This aid included 45 turkeys delivered in time for Christmas. Clothing vouchers for children and the elderly were granted to 76 households.

Fifteen elderly and invalid residents of a nursing home were given vouchers for clothing and personal items. Nineteen people received help with medical needs. A total of 49 utility bills were paid. Sixty additional families were referred to churches, civic clubs and individuals for help.

These numbers are more than statistics; they represent coats and shoes for young children who would have gone without them, a warm Christmas dinner, medicine for the elderly, heat on a winter's night.

There are many people who made this year's fund drive a success. First and foremost are those generous individuals, businesses and organizations who made cash contributions to CSF. We thank all of those who entrusted the committee with these gifts so that we could make the holiday a happier one. The committee is very diligent in our effort to spend those gifts wisely.

The Hereford Brand has been a faithful sponsor of the CSF since its inception and works as a liaison to the community while protecting the identity of committee members. The newspaper staff provides free publicity and lists donors throughout the month-long funding drive. In spite of illness and staff shortages, The Brand continued to give full coverage to this year's campaign.

We also wish to recognize Chip Formby and the news staff at KPAN Radio for their dependable coverage and immediate responsiveness.

Other businesses and their employees who helped with this year's campaign are Southwestern Public Service Co., West Texas Rural Telephone, Hereford Janitor Supply, Hereford Meat Market, Taylor's Food-Mart, Gebbo's and Anthony's. We could not have managed without the support of these wonderful companies.

We appreciate the Deaf Smith County trustees, who were of great help during the delivery of food and toys. And, special thanks to also go to Betty Henson and Sally Walker at the Red Cross for their unflinching support and guidance.

With sincere gratitude,
The Christmas Stocking Fund committee

1996 roundup continued

13 -- On a split vote of commissioners, a tax rate hike of three percent was adopted for Deaf Smith County property owners. The rate, 53.5 cents, compared with the rate of 52 cents in effect in the current year.

13 -- A four percent pay raise was voted by school trustees for the superintendent, administrators and paraprofessionals, with a price tag of about $74,000.

13 -- Karen Sherrod was appointed by the school board to take the District 1 seat on the board, filling a vacancy caused by the resignation of Cherry McWhorter.

18 -- As Hereford school children packed their backpacks for the new school year, the HISD board of trustees was looking at a tax hike of about seven cents, a move being criticized by some citizens.

20 -- A theatre owner from Dumas was poised to bring motion pictures back to Hereford. Randy Nies told the City Commission that construction could begin in the fall.

21 -- The Deaf Smith County Hospital District board set a tax rate of 22.4 cents, the same as the current year, even though a shortfall of $18,000 was predicted.

21 -- Walcott ISD maintained its tax rate at 97.57 cents for property in the district and adopted a budget of $685,000.

22 -- Negotiators, including Hereford City Manager Chester Nolen, reached a tentative agreement with Energas on rates. The agreement allows increase in rates but not as high as the company asked.

27 -- Achievement by Deaf Smith County youth was recognized at the annual 4-H Awards banquet. Gold Star winners were Cindy Harder and Erin Auckerman. The I Dare You awards went to Amber Brumley and Brent Carlson.

28 -- HISD trustees voted to make a $50,000 payment to the City of Hereford to fulfill a contract on the aquatic center.

28 -- A 5.25 percent rate increase by Energas was announced for Nov. 1.

28 -- A weekend of gang activity was under investigation by Hereford police. Eleven arrests had been made.

29 -- Owners of the McDonald's restaurant in Hereford announced that the building would be razed and a new structure erected on site. Expanded service and amenities were in the plans for the new building.

30 -- A building permit for $700,000 was issued by the City of Hereford for remodeling of a building for a new St. Mary Family HealthCare Center on West Park Avenue.

SEPTEMBER

1 -- In a special meeting, the Hereford ISD board of trustees adopted a budget of $22.6 million and set a tax rate of $1.279 per $100 of value.

3 -- Hereford got a double whammy from the GOP when both U.S. senators from Texas paid a visit. Kay Bailey Hutchison and Phil Gramm came to town on a tour of the area.

5 -- First Baptist Church of Hereford began an improvement program with a price tag of $289,000.

6 -- The Region XVI secondary teacher of the year is a Hereford English teacher in SOAR, Linda McClain. She is qualified, also, for the state title.

6 -- Another fast food restaurant in Hereford announced plans to replace its building with a new structure. Sonic Drive-in's new home will be adjacent to the present building.

8 -- A Hereford police officer and former Deaf Smith sheriff's deputy, Robin Ruland, announced as a write-in candidate for county sheriff in the November general election. He filed required documents in the county clerk's office.

10 -- Building permits issued by the City of Hereford soared to $2.1 million in the first nine months of the year, including more than $1 million issued in August.

12 -- A highlight of the annual Fiestas Patrias celebration in Hereford was announcement of the queen, Crystal Zepeda.

15 -- Kickoff of the annual United Way campaign was set for Hereford. Theme for the drive for $132,000 was "Angels Among Us."

17 -- A budget of $4.4 million and a tax rate of 42 cents per $100 valuation were adopted by the Hereford City Commission for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1.

17 -- A 75-cent boost in the monthly charge for residential trash collection was voted by the City Commission. The hike raised the rate from $9.25 to $10 per month.

20 -- Deaf Smith County Hospital District board adopted a budget for the new fiscal year with revenue expected to exceed expenditures by $254,000. The tax rate remains at 22.4 cents per $100 of value.

25 -- Hereford ISD trustees rejected a request that the four percent salary increases voted some personnel be invalidated because of an illegal executive session.

29 -- Renovation and improvements in the Bluewater Gardens apartment complex will be financed by a federal grant of $125,000.

OCTOBER

2 -- Replacement of carpet in the Deaf Smith County Library is on hold while officials sort out the possibilities of re-bidding or negotiating on the only bid received.

2 -- Three seniors, Cassie Abney, Kari Barrett and Stephanie Bixler, were candidates for the Football Queen honor at Hereford High School.

3 -- Doug and Barbara Manning, Hereford residents for 23 years, announced they would move to Oklahoma City. The Mannings came to Hereford in 1973 when he assumed the pastorate of First Baptist Church.

4 -- Cassie Abney was crowned football queen at a pep rally at HHS.

6 -- United Way workers had reached 25 percent of the $132,000 goal.

9 -- A ribbon-cutting ceremony by Hereford Hustlers marked the opening of the Hereford Women and Children's Clinic, a facility of Hereford Regional Medical Center.

11 -- The family of a youngster found floating in the aquatic center pool has filed a lawsuit against the City of Hereford, charging negligence. The boy, Danny Coronado Jr., was treated in an Amarillo hospital after the incident.

15 -- Support personnel of Hereford ISD were given salary increases during a meeting of the board of trustees. The resignation of Don Cumpston, as assistant superintendent, was accepted.

15 -- Deaf Smith County Commissioners' Court agreed to seek new bids for carpet for the library.

15 -- "Tom Simons Day" was declared by Hereford Mayor Bob Josserand in a proclamation. The community-wide recognition of Simons, the voice of Whiteface sports for many years, included plans to recognize him at the Homecoming Football game.

16 -- A year-old boy apparently fell into a bucket of water and cleaning materials and drowned.

20 -- Crowned Homecoming queen and king were Josh Alvarado and Andrea Scott.

22 -- The Hereford High School "Mighty Maroon" band kept its division one rating in marching streak intact in performance in Borger.

23 -- A medical "mall" was being discussed by Deaf Smith Hospital District directors. The facility would group doctors in a building for convenience of patients.

24 -- Northwest Texas Hospital filed suit against Deaf Smith Hospital District to collect payment of bill incurred by the Amarillo hospital in treatment of Deaf Smith patients. Amount asked by NWTX was $47,927.

24 -- Hereford Church of the Nazarene initiated a stewardship campaign to fund expansion of the church. The goal of the drive was $500,000.

27 -- Four Hereford elementary schools -- West Central, Aikman, Tierra Blanca and Shirley -- received high marks in a rating system. Aikman received a four-star honor.

29 -- Department of Public Safety troopers found more than $300,000 in a vehicle tire and claimed the money represented proceeds of illegal drug trade.

30 -- The Lady Whiteface volleyball team began a march to the state tournament with a victory over the Dumas Demonettes to earn a bye in the first round playoffs.

NOVEMBER

1 -- United Way workers were edging toward the $132,000 goal as the latest report showed pledges amounting to $82,500.

3 -- Early voters totaled 2,001 as Deaf Smith County and the entire country prepared to go to the polls in the general election.

3 -- An annual event, the "Eat-Your-Heart-Out-Neiman-Marcus Preview Night and Fun Breakfast," was set to open the holiday season in Hereford. Sponsoring the event was the chamber of commerce.

6 -- Deaf Smith voters bucked the national trend by casting their ballots for Robert Dole for president in the General Election.

6 -- In races in the county, Sheriff Joe Brown and County Commissioner Troy Don Moore of Precinct 3 were re-elected. Commissioner Tony Castillo of Precinct 1 was upset by a Republican challenger, Wayne Betzen.

6 -- The Lady Whitefaces moved forward in their quest for a state volleyball title by beating Andrews. Next on the slate - Bowie.

7 -- A Bull Chip was presented Karen Sherrod at the chamber fun breakfast. Tom Simons introduced her.

12 -- Hereford ISD trustees named Terry Russell, high school principal, to replace Don Cumpston as assistant superintendent for support services.

12 -- New bids on carpet for the Deaf Smith County Library were opened by Commissioners' Court and a bid of $19,880 from Amarillo Wholesale Carpet was accepted.

12 -- United Way solicitors inched higher with a 76 percent of goal report.

12 -- After victories over Bowie and Sherman, the Lady Whiteface volleyball team was geared to face Dumas, again, for the right to advance to Austin.

19 -- And, the Lady Whitefaces reached part of their goal by laying waste to the Demonette game and advancing to Austin and the state tournament.

22 -- The annual Festival of Trees, sponsored by Hereford Senior Citizens, attracted buyers of decorated trees. The total amount of bids reached $19,820.

24 -- Big news in Hereford - the Lady Whitefaces won their game with Red Oak in the semi-final round of the state volleyball tournament.

26 -- The celebration ran through Hereford after the volleyball team captured the state Class 4A crown with a victory over Magnolia.

26 -- A resignation from a school board member, Roy Dale Messer, was accepted by trustees but no replacement was named.

DECEMBER

3 -- The north end of Main Street took on a new look with holiday lighting in Mother's Park. Santa Claus arrived to turn on colored lights on a giant red cedar community Christmas tree.

3 -- Four directors were elected to the board of Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce. New board members are Chris Leonard, Andra Schlabs, David McDonald and Mark Collier.

4 -- Charles Greenawalt, Hereford school superintendent since 1987, announced he would leave to assume the same position in Kingsville, on March 1.

10 -- In a Town Hall in Hereford, State Senator Teel Bivins of the 31st District, outlined his goals in the 75th Legislature which begins in January. The Amarillo Republican also heard concerns of residents.

10 -- An audit of the financial affairs of Deaf Smith County revealed that the unencumbered fund balance was reduced by $121,000 during the last fiscal year. The county ended the year with a balance of $933,000.

10 -- Two women who originally were indicted on felony charges for making false entries on voter registration applications entered guilty pleas in County Court on misdemeanor charges of making a false statement. Grace Gonzales and Delia Griego were fined $1,500 each and sentenced to 180 days in jail, probated one year.

12 -- Pheasants were looking for hiding places as the city and county braced for the arrival of hunters, come to track down the colorful cocks.

13 -- Holly Sugar and Sugar Beet Growers Association officials were keeping a tight lip on prospects for increased production acreage in 1997. The company had announced that 25,000 acres should be committed for the plant in Hereford to be operated.

15 -- The "Angels Among Us" United Way drive stood at 93 percent of the goal of $132,000, as volunteers worked to tie up all the loose ends and finish the campaign.

17 -- Improvement of the appearance of the Main Street business district drew attention of the City Commission. Hereford Beautification Alliance asked for help from the city in making improvements and Mayor Bob Josserand suggested that downtown merchants join in the effort.

18 -- Holly Sugar officials announced that the Hereford processing plant would be open for another year, ending several weeks of speculation about status of the facility. A drive to enlist more producers was undertaken by the growers' association and the company. Although no precise figure was released, it appeared that about 20,000 acres had been committed. The company asked for 25,000 acres.

18 -- HISD trustees ended several months of controversy when they adopted a health book to be used with the curriculum prepared by a committee.

18 -- Deaf Smith County Hospital District directors established a policy to put the rural health clinic on a better financial footing and set a schedule for re-payment of start-up expenses to Hereford Regional Medical Center.

19 -- December sales tax rebates to the City of Hereford and Deaf Smith County were higher than the amounts received in 1995. The city's payment was $79,949, an increase of 17.57 percent, and the county received $29,219, a 19.77 percent rise over the same period a year ago.

20 -- Organizing for a new year of the Deaf Smith County Chamber of Commerce, the board of directors elected Wade Easley to serve as president and chose Sid Shaw to fill the vice president's position.

27 -- Olympic gold-medalist swimmer Josh Davis of Austin conducted a swimming clinic at the Hereford Aquatic Center. He is the husband of Shantel Cornelius, a former Hereford resident.

BIBLE BAPTIST CHURCH

(Acts 2:38) Then Peter said unto them, Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Ghost. Does a person have to be baptized to go to Heaven? See what Peter says later (Acts 15:7-11). Acts, is a progressive book, no one knew anything about a "Holy Ghost" (Acts 19:2). Acts 10:44-47 notice this man received the Holy Ghost then he was baptized. (Rom 8:9). Some were baptized and didn't receive the Holy Ghost. Acts 8:1-17, John 8:38, Acts 1:5, Jh 4:1-2, Cor. 1:17. All apostles except Paul, were baptized by John's Baptism, and didn't receive the Holy Ghost till years later (Jh 20:22). Other Verse's Acts 16:30, 1 Pet 3:21. There isn't one verse that says you have to be baptized to go to Heaven.

Volleyball squad nets first state championship

Lady Whitefaces earn top billing in '96

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

In 1996, Hereford earned the title "City of Champions."

The Hereford High School volleyball team - a perennial power throughout the decade - finally broke through with a state championship in November.

The Lady Whitefaces gave coach Brenda Reeh the Class 4A title on her third trip to the state tournament. In the semifinals, Hereford beat Red Oak - the defending champions after beating Hereford in the finals in 1995 - then outlasted Magnolia for a 13-15, 15-9, 15-5 victory in the championship match.

Danielle Cornelius was named the Most Valuable Player of the 4A tournament, and Kari Barrett and Julie Rampley also were named to the all-tournament team.

The team finished with a 34-1 record, the best in the program's history. The one loss came against arch-rival Dumas, although Hereford beat Dumas in the other five meetings. The loss came in a District 1-4A match, with the ironic result that the Lady Whitefaces were state champions but co-champions in district.

Lady Whitefaces dominated the all-district lists: Cornelius was MVP; Reeh was Coach of the Year; Barrett, Rampley and Cassie Abney made the first team; Katie Betzen made the second team; and Kendra Wright and Meredith Tabor earned honorable mention.

The Lady Whitefaces weren't the only champions Hereford produced in 1996.

Team roper Steve Purcella used a hot week in December in Las Vegas to win a world championship. Purcella, a header, and heeling partner Steve Northcott of Odessa won the team roping average at the National Finals Rodeo, roping all ten head of cattle in a total time of 70.9 seconds. They beat the second-place finishers by an amazing 15 seconds. The $18,209 bonus for winning the average boosted Purcella and Northcott from third to first on the year-long money-winning list. Each man's total winnings of $91,069 gave them the world championship of team roping.

As if Purcella and the Lady Whitefaces weren't enough, a third champion had Hereford ties.

Josh Davis, husband of former Hereford resident Shantel (Cornelius) Davis, won three gold medals at the Olympics in July in Atlanta. Davis won as a member of three USA men's relay swimming teams: the 400-meter freestyle, the 800 freestyle and the 400 medley.

He's the son-in-law of Donnie and Darlene Cornelius, who also happen to be the parents of Danielle Cornelius. A UIL state championship medal, an MVP plaque and three Olympic gold medals - that's a lot of hardware for one family.

The 1996 football season marked the start of the Craig Yenzler era for Herd football. Danny Haney resigned March 8 as head football coach after five years, during which he compiled a 27-23-1 record and won a district title in 1992.

Yenzler, an assistant in Hereford for 10 years, was hired less than three weeks later. He led the Herd to a 3-6 record - only nine games were scheduled - and a fifth place finish in district with a 2-4 mark.

The highlight of the football season was a 26-21 Homecoming victory over district rival Randall.

Herd receiver C.J. Kubacak caught 42 passes in those nine games and finished tied for 10th in Class 4A. He made first-team all-district, and cornerback Navarro Mariscal made the second team. Honorable mention went to quarterback Joseph Artho, running back Stephen Cloud, lineman Josh Alvarado and defensive end Zack Wall.

Here's a rundown of the performances of Hereford High School's other varsity sports:

--The boys' golf team won the Fort Stockton tournament early in the season and finished second in district, led by Justin Griffith's fifth place performance in district play. The team advanced to the regional tournament for the first time in three years and came in fifth.

--The girls' golf team kept up its string of regional tourney appearances, finishing fifth after taking second in district. The golfers were led by Jami Bell, who took fifth in district play.

--In the spring, the tennis team sent two doubles teams to the regional tourney - girls Paige Robbins and Natalie McWhorter and boys B.J. Lockmiller and Andrew Carr. Robbins and McWhorter, both seniors, earned their second straight trip to the state tournament in Austin, but they lost there in the first round.

In the fall, the Hereford team suffered from the loss of several seniors who had carried the Herd to a team

Advance in consolation bracket

Herd boys win two games

The Hereford Whitefaces edged Odessa Permian by a 54-49 score Friday night, after rolling by Floydada, 63-42, in two consolation bracket games at the Caprock Holiday Basketball Tournament.

Hereford was to play Snyder just before noon Saturday. The winner of that game goes to the consolation finals at 5 p.m. against the Dimmitt-Canyon winner.

Bryant McNutt scored 19 points to lead the way in the win over Permian. No other Whiteface reached double figures, but Cory Schumacher chipped in 9 points; C.J. Kubacak had 7 and Curt Sherrod added 5.

Hereford hit eight shots from the three-point range, with Schumacher connecting on three treys and McNutt two. Jonathan Keenan, Ike Walker and Jason Myers had one each.

Hereford took a one-point lead, 17-16 in the first quarter and led by 33-24 at halftime. The Whitefaces stopped a Permian rally in the final period to claim the win.

The Whitefaces used a strong defensive first half to take a 32-13 lead over Floydada's Whirlwinds, then rolled to the 63-42 victory Friday afternoon.

Walker scored 22 points to lead the attack against Floydada. Kubacak chipped in 10 points in the triumph. Schumacher hit three treys in the win.

Lady Whitefaces win in "Cooper Classic"

The Lady Whitefaces rolled to a 77-35 win over Lubbock Roosevelt, then knocked off Muleshoe, 66-43, Friday to move into the championship finals of the Cooper Christmas Classic.

Hereford will face the host Cooper Pirate team in the 6 p.m. championship game Saturday.

Julie Rampley and Katie Betzen tallied 15 and 12 points, respectively, and eight other players made the scoring column in the one-sided triumph over Roosevelt.

Hereford jumped to a 17-6 lead in the first period and held a big 37-14 advantage at halftime. Makesha Rives hit a pair of treys, while Rampley, Kendra Wright and Tori Walker also connected from three-point range.

Wright finished with eight and Walker with seven, while Sarah Ramey, Rives, and Misti Davis each had six points.

In the championship semifinals, against Muleshoe, Hereford's Rampley led all scorers with 23 points, and Katie Betzen contributed 13 in the 66-43 victory.

The Lady Whitefaces took a 15-11 lead after one period, then led by 25-18 at halftime. Hereford pulled away by outscoring Muleshoe 25-11 in the third period.

Hurricanes blast Virginia, 31-21

MIAMI (AP) - With a pregame scuffle and a bowl-game victory, the Miami Hurricanes looked like the team that once dominated college football.

Virginia battled Miami to a draw in a shoving match during warmup drills Friday, but the Hurricanes took charge when the game began and won the Carquest Bowl 31-21.

Tremain Mack scored twice on turnovers and blocked a kick Friday to help Miami claim its first bowl victory in five years.

"We seem to play well with that intimidating style," said Ryan Clement, who threw for a career-high 274 yards.

The 19th-ranked Hurricanes (9-3) took the field with an attitude reminiscent of their ill-mannered national championship teams. As they came out of the stadium tunnel 45 minutes before the game and made their way through the Virginia team conducting drills, players began pushing and shoving.

At least one Virginia player was knocked to the ground, and witnesses along the sideline said punches were thrown before coaches quickly separated the sides.

"We told them we'd beat them in boxing or on the field at the same time," Miami cornerback Earl Little said. "I guess they're 0-2 tonight."

"We were saying, 'This is no joke bowl,'" Mack said. "We came out to win this game, and we did."

The victory also included vintage showboating by the Hurricanes. After scoring to go ahead 24-7, the kickoff team began dancing in the huddle as the partisan crowd roared.

"They definitely tried to intimidate us," Virginia's Tiki

Barber said. "They had a lot of enthusiasm."

Barber, the Atlantic Coast Conference player of the year, bruised his left hip in the first quarter and was limited to 14 yards in seven carries.

"It's frustrating," said Barber, a senior. "It's not how I envisioned going out of the sport of college football."

Unranked Virginia finished 7-5.

"It's like any other loss; it's tough to take," Cavaliers coach George Welsh said. "A lot of work is put into these bowl games."

Mack's 79-yard fumble return and 42-yard interception return built that lead, and he blocked Rafael Garcia's 29-yard field goal attempt to protect a 10-point edge in the third quarter.

"This is the way I expect to play all the time," said Mack, a unanimous choice as the most valuable player.

"Tremain was truly terrific," Miami coach Butch Davis said. "I don't think I've ever been around a guy who can make so many big plays in so many different areas."

Clement completed 16 of 26 attempts, including a 70-yard touchdown pass to Yatil Green.

"We basically intimidated them," Clement said. "Their heads were down at halftime."

The game took place just 20 miles from Miami's campus but drew only 46,418 fans in 74,916 Pro Player Stadium. Clement, a junior, said the Hurricanes will shoot for a better record and bigger crowds next season.

"I hope the city of Miami can get behind us," he said. "I want to plead with Hurricane fans to come out and support us next year and bring 65,000 of your friends. We won't let you down. Don't let us down."

Syracuse rips Houston

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) - Malcolm Thomas rushed for a career-high 201 yards and a touchdown and Donovan McNabb added two TDs as No. 23 Syracuse ran over Houston 30-17 on Friday in the Liberty Bowl.

Syracuse (9-4) won its ninth straight bowl game by playing keep-away from Houston (7-5). The Orangemen piled up 396 yards rushing and 472 yards total offense.

Thomas provided most of Syracuse's offense in the first half, rushing 11 times for 128 yards.

Thomas easily topped his regular-season best of 168 yards against Minnesota this season.

When Houston did get the ball, the Cougars didn't keep it long. The Orangemen, ranked 10th nationally in defense, allowed Houston 341 yards but held the Cougars well below their 31.3-point scoring average.

Thomas set the tone on Syracuse's opening drive, carrying three times for 79 yards. McNabb capped the four-play drive with his first TD, a 1-yard keeper.

Houston tied it 7-7 when Chuck

Clements who found Antowain Smith in the end zone on a 21-yard TD toss to end the Cougars' opening drive.

Syracuse took control by holding onto the ball for more than 11 minutes of the second quarter and for 9:20 in the third.

Thomas picked up 38 yards in a 13-play drive, all on the ground, as Syracuse went ahead to stay. Rob Konrad scored from 2 yards out.

Antowain Smith, who finished with 19 carries for 119 yards, pulled Houston to 16-14.

TOP STORIES

tennis district title and the brink of a state tourney berth in 1995. The team went 1-5 in district this year, beating only Caprock. Rob Reinauer and Tamara Diller, however, were perfect in district singles play, and both earned all-district status.

--The girls' track team sent three girls to the regional meet, and they narrowly missed earning trips to the state meet. Jamie Harrison in the 3,200-meter run and Jessica Mejia in the 800 run both took third at regionals and earned alternate status for state. Kristin Fangman took fourth in the 100-meter hurdles and Harrison also was fifth in the 1,600 run. Fangman and Mejia won district titles in the their events, while the team finished third.

--Joseph Martinez won the shot put at a meet in San Angelo, and he was the only member of the boys' track team to represent the school at the regional meet, where he finished fifth. The team was third at the district meet.

--The Herd baseball team suffered through a 1-11 district season and finished 5-21 overall, although it ended the year with a win over Caprock. Outfielder Wade McPherson was named second team all-district.

--The boys' cross country pulled off a rare upset of Canyon at the early-season Berger meet, and Herd went on to also win meets at Dumas and Sundown. The team finished second (to Canyon) at the district meet, led by Tommy Mather's sixth-place finish. Herd was sixth at the regional meet.

--The girls' cross country team fell short of a return trip to the state meet, finishing third in the insanely tough District 1-4A. Jamie Harrison took fourth in district and advanced individually to the regional meet, where she finished 18th.

How tough was the district in girls' cross country? Pampa, the runners-up to Canyon at the district meet, won the state championship.

In all, District 1-4A claimed four Class 4A championships in 1996: Herd in volleyball, Canyon in girls' basketball and Pampa in girls' cross country and in boys' basketball.

The Canyon Lady Eagles ripped through all competition and finished a perfect season with a rout in the state championship game. The Pampa boys' basketball team wasn't quite that good - they lost three whole games - but guard Rayford Young surprised and impressed big-city sportswriters and walked off with a state title, an MVP award and, eventually, a scholarship to play at Texas Tech.

Which brings us to Herd basketball. Both Herd teams - boys and girls - finished third in a district where the champions won state titles and the runners-up - Randall boys and girls - lost in the regional semifinals.

Naturally, Herd boys' coach Randy Dean and girls' coach Eddie Fortenberry both welcomed the UIL rule change that will allow three teams from each district in the playoffs.

The Lady Whitefaces finished the 1995-96 season 22-5, but they were 8-4 in district with two losses each to Canyon and Randall. The other loss was to Nazareth, the eventual Class 1A champ. Herd finished ranked 18th by the Texas Association of Basketball Coaches.

Ramley was named first-team all-district, and Misti Davis earned a second-team spot.

The boys' team finished 19-11 and 8-4 in district. Michael High and Isaac Walker both made first-team all-district.

There's lots of hope for the future of the Hereford basketball programs. A total of 20 Hereford youngsters helped qualify seven different teams for national Amateur Athletic Association (AAU) tournaments during the summer.

The Metro Stars, including Hereford's Sarah Griffin, took seventh place at the 11-under girls national tourney in Ogden, Utah. The Texas Trojans, led by the Hereford trio of Chayse Rives, Cody Hodges and Slade Hodges, finished 10th in the 13-under boys tourney in Memphis, Tenn.

Isaac Walker's Lubbock Warriors qualified for AAU nationals, but they didn't go. Instead they entered and won a large non-AAU tournament: the Nike Great American Shootout, held in Dallas in July. Walker is now a senior player for the Whitefaces.

A number of other significant events made the sports pages of the Hereford Brand in 1996:

--Jan. 13: The Hereford Wrestling Club hosted a tournament at Hereford Junior High, and Hereford's Johnny Zamarrilla took second in his division.

--Jan. 10: Purcella and Northcott got the rodeo season off to a good start by winning team roping at the National Western Stock Show Rodeo in Denver.

Another rodeo note needs to be added here: Hereford's Wade Lewis was among the leading money winners in calf roping for much of the first half of the year.

--Feb. 4: Reeh was honored by the Panhandle Sports Hall of Fame as the area's volleyball coach of the year.

--March 30: Hereford hosted an area Special Olympics, but rain forced cancellation of many events.

--April 6: Four Hereford senior basketball players competed in the Texas Golden Spread High School All-Star Game in Amarillo. Michael High helped his team to the championship. Brian Torres, Brittney Binder and Mindi Davis also competed.

--April 12: Former Hereford resident Brienna Townsend ran in the Boston Marathon, completing it in four hours, six minutes.

--April 14: A Tri-State High School Rodeo Association event was held at the B-Bar-S Arena west of Hereford. Shay Henderson won the goat tying average.

--April 25-28: The fifth annual Cuby Kitchens Classic inundated Hereford with 80 AAU basketball teams and nearly 1,000 kids. About 90 Hereford youngsters competed, and Walker's Lubbock Warriors and the Texas Trojans with Rives and the Hodges twins both won divisions.

--April 29: Former Herd volleyball star Brek Binder was honored for her college playing career at the Angelo State University All-Sports Banquet.

--May 1: Red Raider Day in Hereford brought Texas Tech athletic officials together with local fans for golf and dinner. The key speakers were assistant coaches John Goodner (football), Linden Weese (women's basketball) and Robert Brashear (men's basketball). The scramble was won by former Tech Athletic Director T. Jones and Hereford's Bob Beville, Cuby Kitchens and Cecil Maddox.

--May 13: The All-Sports Banquet was held at the Bull Barn, honoring all Herd athletes. Heather Hodges and Ronald Torres were named Athletes of the Year; Fighting Heart awards went to Brittney Binder, Todd Dudley and Michael Kriegshauser; Tarabeth Holmes and Tanner Murphey received the Casey Smith Memorial Award; and L.B. "Scat" Russell was honored as Fan of the Year.

--May 16: Loy Triana took a position as head girls' basketball coach at Sunray after four years as a Hereford assistant.

--June 2: Clay Cantrell and Justin Griffith teamed up to win the United Way/June Partnership at Pitman Municipal Golf Course in Hereford.

--June 2: Monty Lewis earned reserve rookie of the year honors after the Tri-State High School Rodeo Association Finals.

--June 6: Danielle Cornelius was honored as the Panhandle area volleyball player of the year by the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce.

--June 24: The Haverty's Northern Texas Professional Golfers Association (PGA) Junior Tour made a stop at Pitman, and Hereford's Jeremiah Baros and Daniel Edwards won their divisions.

--July 7: James Salinas won the Hereford Open, a three-day golf tournament at Pitman, edging Jeff Yates by one stroke.

--July 10: Heather Hodges had three kills and an ace to help her team to victory in the Texas Girls Coaches Association All-Star Volleyball Game, held in Grand Prairie.

--July 12: Eddie Trotter won his division at the Texas State Trap Shoot in Amarillo.

--July 13: Richard Martinez won the Founders Day 5-K race and Denise Clarke of Austin won the women's division.

--July 20: The Deaf Smith County 4-H Trap Shoot was won by the Deaf Smith team, led by Trotter, Cody Marsh, Peyton Ward, Drew Denison and Jerry Baird.

--July 21: The Oldsmobile Scramble was held at Pitman. The foursome of Kelly Kelso, Keith Kelso, Cory Newton and Clay Cantrell won the gross, and Loy Triana, Joe Potts, Ed Sanders and Denny Gibson won the net.

--July 27: Monty Lewis finished the High Plains Junior Rodeo Association season as the ribbon roping champion in his age group (13-15) and won third in the all-around competition.

--July 28: Trotter won American trap at the State 4-H Trap Shoot in San Antonio.

--July 29: Hereford boys' basketball coach Randy Dean coached the North team to a 127-95 win in the McDonalds All-Star Game in Houston.

--Aug. 4: Craig Nieman and former Hereford resident Jeff Yates won the VFW/Hospice golf tournament at Pitman.

--Aug. 10: Dennis Dockery of Amarillo won the Greg Black Memorial 10-K race, while Hereford's Richard Martinez won the two-mile race.

--Aug. 20: Former Hereford football star Mark Kuper, a member of the University of Texas football team, announced that his college playing career was over after surgery on both knees.

--Sept. 1: Roy Riley and his son Keith Riley won the Hereford Country Club Member-Guest golf tournament at Pitman.

--Dec. 2: Bobby Baker won the $1,000 grand prize in the Brand football contest.

--Dec. 8: Lady Whitefaces knock off highly-ranked Plainview team, 47-37, then lose to San Angelo Central, 55-4, in finals of Concho River Tourney at San Angelo.

--C.J. Kubacak, Hereford wide receiver, was named to the 1-4A All District first team. Defensive back Navarro Mariscal was selected on the second team as a defensive back. They were the only two Whitefaces honored.

Dec. 17: Hereford's Steve Purcella and his team roping partner, Steve Northcutt of Odessa, finished as world champions after a strong weekend at the National Finals Rodeo.

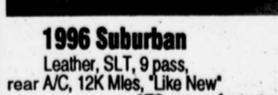

--Dec. 24: State champion Hereford placed three players on the first team of the Texas Sports Writers Volleyball All-State team. Seniors Danielle Cornelius and Kari Barrett and junior Julie Rampley were honored. Hereford also landed junior Catie Betzen on the honorable mention team.

--Dec. 27: Olympic gold-medalist swimmer Josh Davis of Austin returned to his "second home" of Hereford to hold a swimming clinic at Hereford Aquatic Center. Mayor Bob Josserrand proclaimed "Josh Davis Day" in honor of Davis, who won three gold medals at Atlanta. He also was presented the "key to the City." Davis is the husband of Shantel Cornelius, former Hereford resident.

San Jose St. clips Alabama in overtime

By The Associated Press
Olivier Saint-Jean played in some big games in his one season at Michigan. Now he's winning big games for San Jose State.

The native of France played as a freshman with the Wolverines in 1993-94 then transferred West. Last season, he led the Spartans into the NCAA tournament for the first time in 16 years. On Friday night, he led San Jose State to a 60-59 overtime victory over No. 19 Alabama in the opening round of the Cable Car Classic.

It was the Crimson Tide's first loss of the season and the Spartans' first win over a ranked team since Dec. 21, 1979, against Ralph Sampson and Virginia.

"I'm so happy for the team," said Saint-Jean, who finished with 18 points despite having the flu. "People tend to forget San Jose State has a basketball program. Now people will have to think about us as a serious basketball program."

Alabama (10-1) certainly will.

"I feel like something ran over me. In fact, something did," Alabama coach David Hobbs said. "It takes more than one or two guys. We didn't do the things we did to get ourselves in this position."

San Jose State will play Detroit-Mercy in the championship.

In other games involving ranked teams on Friday night, it was: No. 13 Indiana 63, Colgate 48; No. 14 New Mexico 67, Bucknell 57; New Mexico State 122, No. 20 Texas Tech 105; No. 21 Maryland 66, Pittsburgh 63; No. 24 Oregon 82, Temple 62; and No. 25 Boston College 63, Central Connecticut State 53.

Thomas Lowery, a 27-year-old ex-Marine who had never scored more than eight points in a college game, had 16 for the Spartans (7-2), including two free throws with 33 seconds left in regulation that forced the overtime.

Saint-Jean's layup with 1:40 left gave the Spartans a 60-57 lead. Brian Williams hit a short jumper 25 seconds later to pull the Crimson Tide within a point, and Alabama got the ball back with 35 seconds left and one last chance to win.

After a timeout, the Crimson Tide had trouble controlling the ball and Keith Booth scored 25 points and grabbed seven rebounds to lead the Terrapins (10-0) in the opening round of the Rainbow Classic.

Booth, who was 6-of-7 from the field and had 16 points in the second half, scored 11 points in a 16-5 run at the start of the second half that gave Maryland a 48-43 lead.

Jason Maile was 7-for-9 from 3-point range and had 29 points for the Panthers (5-6), who had a chance to tie the game in the final seconds but didn't even get off a decent shot. Maryland will play Hawaii, a 79-62 winner over Northwestern, in Sunday's semifinals.

No. 24 Oregon 82, Temple 62
Jamar Curry scored 18 of his season-high 23 points in the second half when the Ducks (8-0) outscored the Owls (4-3) 55-27.

Oregon, off to its best start since going 10-0 in 1974-75, had a 38-13 lead to settle for a long 3-point attempt by Williams. Alabama's Demetrius Alexander got the rebound in the corner and threw up an off-balance shot that missed as the clock ran out.

"I'm really proud of the team," San Jose State coach Stan Morrison said. "It was a wonderful win for San Jose State."

Eric Washington had 23 points for Alabama, while Williams had 20

No. 13 Indiana 63, Colgate 48
Andrae Patterson had 16 points and 13 rebounds to lead the Hoosiers (12-1) in the opening round of the Hoosier Classic at Indianapolis. Colgate (0-7) was within six points with 5:11 to play, but Neil Reed hit a 3-pointer and freshman Jason Collier hit a hook shot to end the threat.

Adonal Foyle, who leads the nation in rebounding and blocked shots, had 16 points, 13 rebounds and five blocks. Indiana plays Valparaiso, an 88-48 winner over Army, in tonight's championship game.

No. 14 New Mexico 67, Bucknell 57
Clayton Shields scored 18 points and Charles Smith had a career-high 14 rebounds to lead the Lobos (10-1) in the opening round of the Lobo Invitational.

Gordon Mboya had 17 points to lead the Bison (5-4), who missed their first 11 shots and were 9-of-38 in the first half as they fell behind 35-21. New Mexico will play Mississippi, a 75-63 winner over Appalachian State, for the championship tonight. New Mexico St. 122, No. 20 Texas Tech 105

Antoine Hubbard scored 30 points and Enoch Davis added 26 to lead the Aggies (5-3) in a wild opening-round game in the Cowboy Shootout at Casper, Wyo.

The lead changed hands 10 times in the opening nine minutes of the second half before New Mexico State took control. Cory Carr had 31 points to lead the Red Raiders (7-2) but was held scoreless over the nine minutes.

Tony Battie had 29 points and 14 rebounds for Texas Tech.

New Mexico State will play Southern Illinois, which beat Wyoming 92-87, for the championship tonight.

No. 21 Maryland 66, Pittsburgh 63

run over the closing 8 1/2 minutes at the Far West Classic in Portland, Ore.

Mark Jackson was 9-for-12 from the field and scored 22 points for Temple. Oregon will play Oregon State, which beat Bradley 72-60, for the tournament title tonight. No. 25 Boston College 63, Cent. Connecticut St. 53

Danya Abrams had 17 points and 12 rebounds and was 8-of-10 from the foul line over the final eight minutes to lead the Eagles (6-1), who scored the game's final eight points after the visiting Blue Devils (4-4) closed within 55-53 with 3 1/2 minutes to play.

Kincy Wallace led the Blue Devils with 12 points.

Wisconsin dominates Utah in Copper Bowl

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) - Wisconsin freshman Ron Dayne generated Heisman talk with his performance in the Copper Bowl.

That is welcome conjecture to coach Barry Alvarez. What he'd like to dodge is NFL talk.

"They keep talking about him as a Heisman candidate," Alvarez said Friday night after Dayne rushed for 246 yards and three touchdowns in 30 carries during a 38-10 win over Utah. "I think he is. He's special, and he can only get better."

Others wonder how long Dayne, who has breakaway speed despite his 260 pounds, will stay in college if he continues to put up the numbers he did this year. He broke Herschel Walker's 16-year-old freshman record by more than 200 yards with 1,863 before this postseason date with the Utes.

Dayne wasn't thinking along those lines, though.

"We went out with a win," he said. "The seniors got a win, and the young guys got a win."

It was a kind of redemption for the Badgers (8-5), who had an 0-4 start in their Big Ten Conference schedule, including tough losses to Penn State, Ohio State and Northwestern, before they recovered with five victories in their last six games.

"We overcame what happened in October. That's in the past, and this was the best way to finish it," said Tarek Saleh, who deflected a pass by Utah's Mike Fouts that Cyril Weems turned into an 82-yard interception return for a game-turning TD. It was one of four that set a Copper Bowl record, doubling the previous standard held by three teams.

Alvarez praised his seniors, probably thinking of the defense. Saleh and Neil Miklusak, who deflected another pass into the hands of a teammate, are seniors, along with Weems, Pete Monty and Pete Diatelevi, who got the first three picks.

Quarterback Mike Samuel ran 38 yards for Wisconsin's first TD. Dayne scored on runs of 40, 3 and 1 yards, and John Hall kicked a 38-yard field goal.

Utah (8-4) got its points on a 24-yard field goal by Daniel Pulsipher and 1-yard run by Juan Johnson.

The game was decided before halftime, when the Badgers led 31-3 after blunting both ends of Utah's attack.

The Utes ran 55 percent of the time this year, but weren't able to do that after 275-pound running back Chris Fuamatu-Ma'afala sprained his left ankle 9:02 into the game and had to watch the second half on crutches.

After the injury, Fouts kept a 16-play drive going for Pulsipher's field goal, cutting Wisconsin's lead to 7-3 with 3:53 left in the quarter.

But after the ensuing kickoff, Dayne covered 77 yards in two carries, sprinting outside to his right for 37 yards on the first and bursting up the middle for the score on the next.

"Ron Dayne is a great football player," Utah coach Ron McBride said. "He's just what they advertised."

The Badgers scored 17 points in the second quarter, starting the rout when they began turning Fouts' passes into turnovers.

The Utes reached the Wisconsin 14 before Saleh batted a swing pass to Weems, who outran everyone to the far end zone, sending the Badgers to a 21-3 lead 1:32 into the second quarter.

Monty returned the second interception 24 yards to the Utah 12 with 1:28 left in the half. Dayne covered the distance in three carries, scoring from 3 yards with 42 seconds remaining.

Fouts, who finished with 327 yards on 27-of-49 passing but had two more interceptions in the second half, didn't use Fuamatu-Ma'afala as an excuse.

Miami within three games of NBA record for road victories

By The Associated Press
Within three victories of matching the NBA record of 16 consecutive road victories by the 1971-72 Los Angeles Lakers, the Miami Heat are more concerned about their aching backs.

Miami overcame the loss of center Alonzo Mourning to back spasms and extended the league's top road winning streak to 13 games with a 101-86 victory over the Charlotte Hornets on Friday night.

Dan Majerle and Tony Farmer are already on the injured list because of back problems, and Gary Grant didn't make the trip to Charlotte after sustaining back spasms in a victory over Orlando on Thursday night.

"It's perplexing," coach Pat Riley said, shaking his head. "We work hard, stretch, do a lot of things. I don't know."

In other games Friday night, it was the Los Angeles Lakers 109, Boston 102; Portland 102, the Los Angeles Clippers 98; Cleveland 94, Milwaukee 86; Washington 100, Toronto 82; and New Jersey 105, Indiana 94.

Mourning, who leads the team in scoring and rebounding, had 12 points and seven rebounds before leaving with 10:30 left in the third quarter.

Tim Hardaway had 15 of his 26 points in the final 20 minutes. Voshon Lenard added 19 points and Isaac Austin had 14 points and 12 rebounds.

"Guys just reached way down and did a great job," Riley said. "Everybody has shown great respect for the game and in preparing for the games. I'm pleased with the performances we're getting out of the younger players who are stepping up to fill in when needed."

Dell Curry had 23 points and Glen Rice and Anthony Mason added 18 apiece for the Hornets, who struggled in their first game in five days.

"I thought we had a little rust in the beginning," Charlotte coach Dave Cowens said. "We were missing a lot of easy shots. We weren't hitting our free throws. Miami's a good team defensively and they execute their plays well. Against a team like that, you've got to make your easy shots."

Lakers 109, Celtics 102

At Inglewood, Calif., Shaquille O'Neal had 25 points and 11 rebounds as Los Angeles extended Boston's season-opening road losing streak to 11 games.

Eddie Jones added 17 points and Elden Campbell had 14 points and 11 rebounds for the Lakers, tied for the Pacific Division lead with Seattle. The Lakers have won 11 of their last 14 games and seven straight at home.

David Wesley, Rick Fox and Antoine Walker each had 17 points for the Celtics, who have lost six straight and 12 of 13.

Trail Blazers 102, Clippers 98

At Los Angeles, Kenny Anderson scored 25 points, including the winning layup and free throw with 27 seconds left, as Portland beat Los Angeles.

Isaiah Rider had 12 of his 20 points in the final 6:46, and Clifford Robinson added 19 points for the Trail Blazers, who snapped a three-game losing streak and sent the Clippers to their fifth straight loss.

Rodney Rogers led Los Angeles with 25 points.

Cavaliers 94, Bucks 86

At Cleveland, Terrell Brandon scored 30 points and had four of his 11 assists during Cleveland's game-ending 16-2 run.

Brandon missed his first free throw of the game, ending his streak at 56. Chris Mills added 21 points for the Cavs, 6-1 in their last seven games and 11-1 in their last 12 against Milwaukee. Vin Baker led the Bucks with 23 points.

Bullets 100, Raptors 82

At Landover, Md., Chris Webber had 25 points and 13 rebounds as Washington climbed over the .500 mark for the first time since Nov. 25.

Juwan Howard had 21 points and 11 rebounds for the Bullets, who have won seven of nine to improve to 14-13. Doug Christie led Toronto with 20 points.

Nets 105, Pacers 94

At East Rutherford, N.J., Kendall Gill made eight of nine free throws in the final 1:43, capping a 31-point performance for New Jersey.

Robert Pack added 22 points and 13 assists for the Nets, while Shawn Bradley just missed a triple double with 19 points, 10 rebounds and nine blocks. Antonio Davis led Indiana with 22 points.

McCaffree, Baxter united in marriage

Shelly D'Ann McCaffree and William Rex Baxter were united in marriage Saturday evening in the First Baptist Church of Amarillo.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCaffree of Amarillo. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Baxter of Hereford.

Rev. Doug Manning of Oklahoma City officiated at the ceremony.

The church was decorated with five 15-fan candelabra which were flanked by two spiral candelabra accented with silk ivy garland.

Matron of honor was Shanna Brister, sister of the bride. Best man was Rex Young.

Bridesmaids were Michele Butler of Sherwood, Ark., Hollie Carlson of Plano, Melissa Epler of Bentonville, Ark., Suzy Michel of Houston and Lisa Watson of Augusta, Ga.

Serving as groomsmen were Brad Allred of Edmond, Okla., Randal Dement of Lubbock, Steve Frow of Amarillo, Wes Holcomb of Amarillo and Mark Leiferman of Pierre, S.D., brother-in-law of the groom.

Guests were seated by Kyle Adams of Amarillo, Reese Beddingfield of Panhandle, Ben Brister of Amarillo, brother-in-law of the bride, Dale Snyder of Amarillo and Bryan Tak of Austin.

Flower girl was Bradyn Brister, niece of the bride and daughter of Mr.

and Mrs. Ben Brister.

Bearing the rings, on a pillow made by the mother of the groom, was Andrew Leiferman, nephew of the groom of son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Leiferman.

Music was provided by David Lowe and Janice Davis who accompanied vocalists Eunabeth Williamson and Ernie Boyd.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of silk shantung featuring a bodice of hand-beaded pearls and sequins on Alencon lace with a sabrina neckline, scooping low at the back. A graceful scallop trimmed the short sleeves and the natural waist.

The semi-cathedral train was caught up by a bustle of silky loops and a beaded lace rose.

She wore a three-tiered fingertip length veil of tulle and carried a compact bouquet of white roses, fresh gardenias, stephanotis with exposed stems and accents of greenery, tied with a two-loop sheer white bow.

Bridal attendants wore floor length champagne duchess satin suits with elbow length French cuffs accented with rhinestone buttons. They carried compact burgundy vega roses with exposed stems accented with greenery and tied with sheer champagne ribbon.

The couple was honored with a reception at the Amarillo Garden Center.

Servers were Alyssa Butler; Carla Leiferman, sister of the groom; Angela Maupin and Julie Young.

The bride's three-tiered cake featured a basket weave design and was topped with fresh white flowers and greenery.

The couple will be at home in Derby, Conn.

The bride is a 1992 graduate of Texas A&M University with a Bachelor of Science in interdisciplinary studies. She is a teacher for Amarillo Independent School District at Wolfen Elementary School. She is a Kappa Alpha Theta alumnae and a member of Amarillo Junior League.

The groom graduated from Hereford High School in 1986 and from West Texas State University in 1991 with a Bachelor of Business Administration in marketing. He is a national accounts program manager for Market Growth Resources in Wilton, Conn.

Burnside to be speaker at Fellowship meeting

Ginger Burnside of Lubbock will be the guest speaker at the Hereford Flame Fellowship's January meeting.

The meeting will be at 7 p.m. on Jan. 2 in the Hereford Community Center.

Burnside was born May 19, 1931 in Gonzales. She was born again on Jan. 14, 1950 in college at San Marcos.

She was blessed with a Christian mother who filled her with scriptures every morning and evening. She became interested in missions at four years of age in a children's organization at church.

After college, she served as a summer missionary to Mexico.

She completed a master's degree in religious education in 1952.

Burnside worked in mission vacation Bible School and served on the educational staffs of Baptist churches and has been a pastor's wife.

Her family moved to Lubbock in 1973. She started attending Trinity Fellowship and has been a member for 23 years. She has been a full-time missionary since 1980 and has taught in 17 nations.

Burnside has two sons, Cliff and Paul; a daughter, Mandi Michelle; and three grandchildren. Her favorite hobbies are reading, cooking and entertaining.

The public is invited to come hear her testimony.

Becky's Camp Site

By Becky Camp

Another Christmas has come and gone -- all too fast. The whirlwind time of shopping, wrapping, parties and visits with friends almost makes the actual event anti-climatic.

The amount of time devoted to shopping for the perfect gift and wrapping it just so hardly seems worth it when the package is unceremoniously ripped open in seconds, the gift momentarily admired and then the recipient moves on to yet another package.

But we found a kind of temporary reprieve from this routine at our house this year.

We decided that one special gift required more time and attention than just opening a package. So...

The event started with a package under the Christmas tree. But there was no gift inside, just a note directing the recipient to look elsewhere, which happened to be outside. (And it was cold at 6:30 a.m. Christmas morning.)

The result of this search was another note with directions to look somewhere else, which led to a note with directions to look somewhere else, which led to another note. Well, you get the picture.

The complete routine led to nine such notes before the final directive which said to look on the Christmas tree, where the gift had been placed, unwrapped and in plain sight.

The search took several minutes and provided us with some humorous moments to remember.

Military Muster

Marine Lance Cpl. Chadd E. Jackson, son of Thomas L. and Deborah K. Jackson of Hereford, recently returned from a six-month deployment to Okinawa, Japan, with the 3rd Light Armored Reconnaissance Battalion.

Jackson returned to his home base of Twentynine Palms, Calif., after participating in the high operational tempo deployment.

Live fire exercises during the deployment enabled Jackson to practice his reaction times and marksmanship skills. In addition, field exercises were conducted to improve basic patrolling skills, land navigation in rugged terrain, and endurance.

Jackson also participated in exercise "Cooperation from the Sea '96," where they practiced embark and debark operations, and cross-trained with Russian troops.

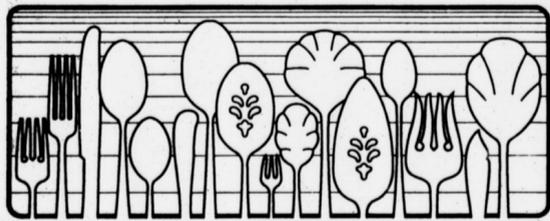

Jackson was also able to visit Vladivostok, Russia.

The 1991 graduate of Waco High School joined the Marine Corps in April 1993.

HJH Roundup

By CAROLYN WATERS

"There is nothing more influential in a child's life than the moral power of quiet example. For children to take morality seriously they must see adults take morality seriously."

How delightful was the treat that Adrienne Morris and her speech class presented to HJH and many guests on Thursday - especially to those of us who remember two junior highs and high school having all-school plays annually, plus each campus presenting a musical each year!

The play, "Hollywood Hillbillies," centered around "hill people" having visitors that included show-biz types and snobby relatives from Hollywood, clever crooks and all the neighbors and kinfolks dropping in. The cast included Holly Coneway, Aaron Brock, Sehrena Davis, Lacy Avery, Carol Stringham, Ryan McCabe, Amy Crox, Laci Black, Taylor Charest, Eddie Trotter, Tyler Nielson, April Rocha, Erik Gallardo, Cristina Aguilon, Elizabeth Guerra, Jennifer Gavina, Holly Schilling, Amanda Schumacher, and Melinda Landin. Crew members were James Williams, Danny Gaitan, Justin White and Monica Murillo. To the cast and their sponsor/director-BRAVO!!!

The Green Team teachers were as busy as Santa's elves just before the holidays! They filled personalized jars with popcorn and M&Ms, which they presented to 45 students who had been chosen by the teachers as Students of the Week during the first semester.

The Ag Club and their sponsor, Wesley Rudd, visited the Panhandle Milling Flour Mill, Bushland Ag Research Center and the Farm Show at the Amarillo Civic Center recently. Those who made this trip were Chad Christie, J.P. Holman, Slade Hodges, Joe Mac Bogeman, Peyton Ward, Kane Wilt, Jared Johnson, Joseph Valdez, Rafael Flores, Lane Arnold, Jason Jesko and Nathan Horrell.

Blue Team Students of the Week for Dec. 9th were Trey Bezner and Priscilla Ortiz and for the week of the 16th, Nathan Horrell and Maria Rivera received the honor.

Seventh grade science classes have been studying forensic science during the last week of the semester and will continue the study after the holidays. The students will be learning how to use the scientific method in such activities as chemical analysis, fingerprinting, chromatography and the observations of crime scenes.

Ending the year and the first semester of this column would be impossible without the help of the staff at HJH. Thank you to all who are so faithful to provide the news from your team, club or organization.

We at HJH wish each of you a Very Happy New Year filled with much joy and good things!!!

There are always people in whose presence it is unsuitable to be over-modest, they would be only too pleased to take you at your word.

Dear Ann Landers: I met "Earl" when we were in kindergarten. We grew up and went our separate ways. We each married other people and raised large families. My husband passed away in 1991, and Earl's wife died four years ago.

I met Earl again in a senior center in Florida. We are both 80 years old now and in good health. We enjoy one another's company a great deal, have many mutual interests and have decided we would like to be married. Both his family and mine are very supportive and think it's a wonderful idea.

Here's the problem: If I marry Earl, I would forfeit not only a pension but all the health benefits my wonderful husband set up for me with a great deal of sacrifice on his part. Earl and I want to spend our last years together, but we don't know how to get around the financial problems.

We are not the type of people who can just live together. Is there a clergyman somewhere who would perform a meaningful ceremony to add sanctity and dignity to our union without involving the state? Please respond in the paper and don't print my name. Thank you. -- Florida Jill

Dear Jill: The clergy are sometimes asked to respond to unusual situations, and yours is certainly one. Most members of the clergy honor the age-old tradition of offering prayers and blessings for specific occasions, irrespective of the circumstances. Hopefully, your pastor will accommodate you. I send my very best wishes and hope you and Earl have many happy, healthy years together.

Teen moms juggling school, jobs with help

BY LINDA HICKS

Arkansas Democrat-Gazette ROGERS, Ark. (AP) - With a little help, teen-age moms are juggling homework and part-time jobs with diapering and potty training.

Ten teen-agers were talking quietly as they filled their plates with food in preparation for a "Just About Moms" (JAMS) support group meeting. They are bonded by

New Arrivals

Mark and Terri Lomenick of Bitburg, Germany, announce the arrival of a daughter, Taryn Amber, born Dec. 12.

She weighed 6 pounds, 1 ounce and was 19 inches long.

She was welcomed home by her sister, Sarah Ashton, 2-1/2.

Grandparents Melvin and Margaret Lomenick are in Bitburg visiting their son and family for the Christmas holidays.

Sarah and Taryn's other grandparents are Bob and Karin Reynolds. Great-grandmothers are Nell Reynolds of Albuquerque, N.M. and Judy Reynolds of Dallas.

common threads of having children or being pregnant and attending Rogers High School.

A 17-year-old junior is referred to as a "veteran" by the other teens - she has been a mother since age 13. Pausing to look first, she displays the latest photograph of her 4-year-old child.

"When I first got pregnant, I thought it was going to be like having a baby doll," she said. "I thought it would be fun having a baby. I didn't know. I thought I would have someone to love and someone to always love me - someone to dress up."

"I didn't think about the potty training, the throwing up, the diapers, the diarrhea, the fevers, the not getting to go out. I thought, 'Cool, I'm going to have a baby.' It was more of a bragful thing for me. Once it hit reality, it was a big change."

The teen-ager said she sank into a deep depression. "I felt very uncomfortable being in school," she said. "I was depressed and suicidal at one point. The pressure was too hard on me and I dropped out."

"I quit school and I didn't have anything going for me at the time," she continued. "I got taken away from my mother and I entered foster

YOUR EYES

About Color Blindness

Dogs are color-blind; they see things in black and white. But most people we call color-blind are really only color deficient less able to distinguish between certain shades. Males are more likely to be color-deficient, and the most common deficiency is an inability to tell the difference between red and green.

A child who had difficulty learning colors should be tested early. Color deficiencies can cause problems in lower grades of elementary school, when so many materials are color-coded. The simple test usually consists of multi-colored dots in which numbers or letter in red dots are hidden among green ones.

There is not cure for color deficiencies, but most people can adapt to them once they are alerted. In some cases, some improvement in color differentiation can be achieved by wearing a red-tinted contact lens in one eye and using color filters.

Extension News

By BEVERLY K. HARDER
County Extension Agent-FSC

As you face year-end expenses of holiday, property taxes and the thought of income taxes, reflect over your spending habits. Consider how many of the top 10 money mistakes that distract young adults from reaching their financial potential that you have avoided. Ask yourself which ones you will resolve to avoid in the future.

Thomas Garman and Raymond Forgue, authors of the financial education text Personal Finance, have identified the 10 ways people mess up their personal finances most easily:

10. Failing to pay self first by saving on a regular basis.
9. Taking a five-year new car loan instead of buying a more affordable used car, thus always driving a car worth less than the amount owed.
8. Buying life insurance prior to the birth of your first child.
7. Failing to telephone and comparison shop for the best insurance rates. In Texas, the Texas Department of Insurance published lists comparing rates for every type of insurance for each region of the state. Call for the list you need.
6. Using high-interest credit card debt instead of paying bills in the full each month with savings that are repaid as quickly as possible to the savings account.

5. Getting too deep in debt for too many years, often by paying only the minimum required payment for as long as credit terms will allow, and thinking you can afford more credit because you can afford more monthly payments at a lower payment rate.

4. Not joining a credit union, which pays high interest on savings and charges less for loans.

3. Buying overpriced credit life insurance when taking out a loan. Shop for the lowest term life available if insurance is required.

2. Not contributing to a tax-deductible retirement plan with money that otherwise goes to the IRS for taxes.

1. Not borrowing money to finish college when the best jobs of the future will require high technology expertise.

Anniversary celebrated by repeating honeymoon trip

Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Gilbert Jr. recently returned from a trip to Colorado to celebrate their golden wedding anniversary.

Gilbert and the former Betty Jane Everts were married June 23, 1946, in the First Baptist Church of Artesia, N.M.

Gilbert had served with the U.S. Marine Corps in World War II, returning on March 26.

Following their wedding, the couple made a honeymoon trip to Colorado Springs, Denver, Glenwood Springs and Snow Mass. They made plans to repeat this trip for their 50th anniversary, but because Gilbert farms they were not able to make the trip on the date of their anniversary.

There are 5,776 stars visible to the naked eye.

care. I was in foster care for awhile and I was in foster care when I had my son."

While in the state's custody, she said she worried she would be separated from her child. While attending court-appointed parenting classes, she met a family who took her and her son in.

"The court gave the family custody of me and gave me custody of my son," she said.

After being out of school for 18 months, she returned to classes.

"I was scared and nervous to come back because I had been out for a long time," she said. "I'm glad I did. I'm the only one in my whole family that has ever graduated" from high school.

She shared tales of her struggles to juggle school, a part-time job and motherhood with the other newcomers at the meeting.

"I have to schedule my time and if I don't stick to my schedule, I am in trouble," she said. "I never can just wing it."

Upon her return to school, she said she found comfort in attending the Just About Moms meetings. Sponsored by the Rogers-Bentonville Junior Auxiliary, the program began in 1986. Organizers said the focus is to encourage students to continue their education and to acquire parenting skills and proper medical care for themselves and their children.

Sheryll Harbaugh, a licensed counselor, directs the meetings. Auxiliary members interact with the students and are often asked to share tips on child care.

The students discussed subjects to be addressed at future meetings including domestic abuse, adoption options, nutrition and dealing with their in-laws.

Currently, there are 35 pregnant teen-agers attending Rogers High School, according to Patsy Roycroft, the school's social worker. She said the school's primary goal is to keep those students in school and the program is a tool to reach that goal.

"What I see a lot of is denial," Ms. Roycroft said. "Some girls are far into their pregnancy before they will acknowledge that they are even pregnant. They may not have anyone they feel like they can confide in."

JAMS may serve as one of their only outlets and a place where they can receive information. They can go to the meetings and no one will judge them."

Words of Wisdom XVII

It is nearly the end of another year. A year that is passing quickly as we move toward the end of not only a century, but also a millennium. What wisdom will the next thousand years bring? Perhaps, less than you might suppose.

Many of the words of wisdom we use to guide us and improve our quality of life have actually been around a millennium or two. Though many of the quotes in this column are attributed to more recent philosophers and wordsmiths, I believe you'll find that most of this week's wisdom predates the more recent usage.

Timeless wisdom

- God gives every bird its food, but he does not throw it into the nest. - J.G. Holland
- Far and away the best prize that life offers is the chance to work hard at work worth doing. - Theodore Roosevelt

- No one know what he can do till he tries. - Publilius Syrus (first century B.C.)
  - I long to accomplish a great and noble task, but it is my chief duty to accomplish humble tasks as though they were great and noble. The world is moved along, not only by the mighty shoves of its heroes, but also the aggregate of the tiny pushes of each honest worker. - Helen Keller
  - He who neglects to drink of the spring of experience is likely to die of thirst in the desert of ignorance. - Ling Po
  - Whatever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might. - Ecclesiastes 9:10
  - The hero is no braver than an ordinary man, but he is brave five minutes longer. - Ralph Waldo Emerson
  - It is not the going out of port, but the coming in, that determines the success of a voyage. - Henry Ward Beecher
  - I am still learning. - Michelangelo (his favorite saying)
  - Learn to unlearn. - Benjamin Disraeli
  - Learning is a treasure which will follow its owner everywhere. - Chinese proverb

Between the Covers

By REBECCA WALLS

Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to each and every one of you. The response we have received from each of you coming into the library has been great. Your response to the library's new look has helped each of us on the staff to find the energy to keep going. I didn't realize how tired I was until it was all over. Now I'm having a hard time finding the energy needed to keep going. Thanks for noticing and appreciating all of our hard work.

The weather seems to have everyone stumped, so to be on the safe side, I recommend you come in and get something to read just in case it turns bad. For all of you commuters, truck drivers or persons having to spend a lot of time in your cars, remember the selection we have of books on tape.

One of the new books coming out this week is Best Boss, Worst Boss by James B. Miller. This is "lessons and laughs from the international 'Best Boss/Worst Boss' contest."

Ron Zemke writes in the foreword "At a time when good leadership is more important to the business world than ever, it is sad to learn of the seven-to-one ratio of bad bosses to good...entered in the contest." While this may not reflect the actual ratio in the working world, it is clear there are too many bad bosses.

I'm not real sure in which category my staff places me, but it was a staff member that gave this book to me to review for this column. Could it be a hint?

Jim says his main reason for writing this book was to reemphasize what it takes for employees and their bosses to work together over the long term. It takes honesty, trust, fairness and respect to make a successful work place.

"We all want to be treated with respect and dignity no matter who's the boss," says Jim, and I agree. Looking through the table of contents the chapter titles may give an indication of some of the examples illustrated in the book. It begins with chapter 1, Scrooges and Santas, then goes on to Big Brothers and Believers, Gross Guesses and Dapper Daps, Buffoons and Crackerjacks and so on.

This may be a good book to read before making those New Year resolutions.

For those of us who are at the end of the month and year and have no money to spare the Wall Street Money Machine by Wade B. Cook offers "new and incredible strategies for cash flow and wealth enhancement." Believe me my wealth can sure stand to be enhanced. The book promises to be powerful and easy to understand as well as teach you how to plan and implement an investment strategy.

I am ready for something entertaining, relaxing and mind occupying. That means I don't want to have to think too much to follow the plot. One title that caught my eye was Say You Love Me by Johanna Lindsey. That is another thing each of us likes to hear. This story returns to Regency, England, and the Malory family.

Kelsey Langton is left penniless and in charge of her younger sister when her parents are killed. Kelsey sees only one way to rescue Jean's home and future, and that is by allowing herself to be sold at auction. Who should be the highest bidder but Lord Derek Malory, a "dashing rakehell from a family of charming London rogues." Malory has no idea that the dark haired beauty is an intelligent, highborn lady blessed with grace and wit. What a pleasant surprise.

Dirt by Stuart Woods is another title that caught my eye. Maybe it is because I have been so intent on cleaning everything lately.

Stone Barrington is back in another fast paced thriller. Gossip columnist Amanda Dart gets a taste of her own medicine when an anonymous faxer sends an outrageous scandal sheet, that reveals the detail of her indiscretions, to all the tabloids.

Amanda hires Barrington to find the faxer. Before long Barrington has more leads than he can handle and an employer who is ready to take matters into her own hands. It becomes clear that even the most respected members of the social scene are capable of murder when it comes to clearing their names.

Len Deighton has a new Bernard Samson novel entitled Charity. This is the third in the trilogy. The first two in the series are Faith and Hope.

The story begins in January 1988, the Moscow Paris express travels through the Russian night carrying Bernard Samson and his companion Jim Prettyman who is gravely ill. The communists still rule Russia, the Polish soldiers have taken control of the Warsaw palaces, and the Eastern Bloc is crumbling.

Samson is still searching for the truth surrounding his sister-in-law's murder. Tessa Kosinski was killed the night Samson's wife Fiona returned. Fiona is back at work, but far from stable and Samson's father-in-law still has total custody of his children.

Werner Volkmann, Samson's childhood friend has many of the answers, but refuses to get involved and thus is saying nothing.

Program helps parents guide their children through divorce

By ANUPAMA VARMA

San Angelo Standard-Times
SAN ANGELO, Texas - On a cold, dark evening, 25 or so people seated themselves in the cafeteria at Carver Learning Center, waiting for class to begin.

While some introduced themselves to fellow students and chatted quietly, others stared down at their papers sullenly, their demeanor indicating resentment at being there.

Most of them had never met before, but all had at least two things in common: all were parents and all were either divorced or seeking a divorce.

Armed with compassion, a no-nonsense brisk attitude and years of experience in her private counseling practice, facilitator Debbie Frick welcomed her "class" to the ninth session of For Kids' Sake.

"We're not here to decide custody," she said firmly. "Our focus is on the mental health of children."

Sherri Balentine, chairperson of the Junior League of San Angelo's For Kids' Sake committee, said the program is designed to give parents the skills to nurture children through divorce.

Parents are court-ordered to attend if they file for a divorce, she said.

The class is open not only to divorcing parents, but also to those who already are divorced but are back in court for child-related issues, or even those contemplating divorce, said Ann Stringer, director of Parents Assisting Children's Education (PACE), co-sponsor of the program.

Statistics indicate a need for such a class: In the last 30 years, the nation's divorce rate has increased from 17 percent to almost 50 percent, said Dale Kennemer, the class' co-facilitator.

Twenty-five percent of children today live in single-parent homes, and at least 70 percent will live in a single-parent household for at least part of their lives while growing up, he said.

For many of the parents, the statistics seemed to hit home; several sat up and even began taking notes in their For Kids' Sake parents' handbooks.

Heads nodded as Ms. Frick and Kennemer pointed out the manifestations of children's anger, hurt, sadness and feelings of rejection and a sense of being uprooted.

"Some children are like a sponge," Ms. Frick said, soaking a sponge in a beaker of water to demonstrate. "They may soak up all the stress around them and hold it inside and periodically wring it all out."

"Some are like Alka Seltzer, they fizz, fizz and fizz, bubble, bubble bubble; it's very obvious that they're reacting.

LIBBY KOSUB, HUNTER PINNELL

Plano chosen as site for Kosub, Pinnell wedding

Vernon and Terry Kosub of Stephenville, formerly of Hereford, announce the engagement of their daughter, Libby, to Hunter Pinnell. Parents of the prospective bridegroom are Jim and Nancy Pinnell of Dallas.

The couple plans to be married April 5 in Plano.

The bride-elect graduated from Hereford High School in 1990. She played on two NCAA National Championship Volleyball teams for West Texas A&M University and graduated from WTAMU with a BBA in marketing in 1994. She currently sells pharmaceuticals for Wyeth-Ayerst Laboratories in Dallas.

Pinnell graduated from Lake Highlands High School in 1985 and from Texas Tech University with BBA in marketing in 1989. While at Tech he was a member of the golf team and Phi Delta Theta fraternity. He works for D.G.I. Technologies in Dallas.

Use leftover turkey for low-fat cooking

By The Associated Press
In most households, the day after Christmas means leftover turkey. Seasoned nuggets, made with shredded dark turkey meat, are quick and easy to fix. Plus, they're low in fat. Each serving has 7 grams of fat and 227 calories. Dip the nuggets in homemade honey-mustard sauce. Serve with steamed carrots and green beans.

Turkey leftovers can also be used to create Turkey Quesadillas, made with purchased fat-free flour tortillas, fat-free sour cream and reduced-fat cheese. Each serving has 9 grams of fat and 411 calories. The recipe is quick and easy to prepare in a microwave oven.

Turkey Nuggets with Honey-Mustard Sauce
For the Honey-Mustard Sauce:
1 tablespoon mustard pickle relish
1 tablespoon apricot preserves
1 tablespoon honey
For the Seasoning Mixture:
3/4 teaspoon fresh ground black pepper

1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
1/2 teaspoon dry thyme
1/2 teaspoon paprika
1/2 teaspoon dry oregano
1/4 teaspoon cayenne pepper
1/8 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon instant blending flour
1 tablespoon fresh chopped parsley

For the nuggets:
1/4 cup minced white onion
2 tablespoons water
2 cups leftover cooked, shredded dark turkey meat
1 cup dry bread crumbs
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon fresh ground black pepper

1/4 teaspoon paprika
2 eggs
1 tablespoon skim milk
1 egg white beaten with 1 tablespoon water
Combine sauce ingredients and chill.

Combine seasoning mixture ingredients; set aside.
To prepare turkey nuggets, cook onion over medium heat with water for 2 minutes until softened and water has evaporated. Set aside.

In a bowl, combine turkey, cooked onion, bread crumbs, salt, pepper, paprika, eggs and milk. Blend with fingertips until mixture holds together. Using a teaspoon, form mixture into 2-inch nuggets. Place nuggets on a tray and then refrigerate for 10 minutes before proceeding.

One piece at a time, dip nuggets first into egg white mixture, then coat with dry seasoning. Set on a tray until all of the nuggets are coated.

Spray a 10-inch skillet with nonstick cooking spray. Cook turkey nuggets over medium-high heat, about 6 to 8 minutes, reducing heat if they brown too quickly. Turn nuggets and cook until well browned. Serve turkey nuggets with honey-mustard sauce on the side. Makes 6 servings.

Recipe from: Shady Brook Farms Turkey Quesadillas (Recipe by cookbook author Sarah Leah Chase)

Eight 6- to 8-inch fat-free flour tortillas

3/4 cup reduced-fat or fat-free sour cream

1 cup finely chopped cooked turkey

1/2 cup prepared salsa

1 cup (4 ounces) shredded reduced-fat cheese

2 tablespoons minced fresh cilantro

Spread one side of each tortilla with 1-1/2 tablespoons sour cream. Top half of the tortillas with a thin layer of turkey. Dot each evenly with the salsa, cheese and cilantro. Top with remaining flour tortilla, sour cream side down, to make a sandwich.

Place each quesadilla on a microwave-safe plate and cook on high (100 percent power) for about 1 minute, or until the cheese is thoroughly melted and the quesadilla is hot throughout. Repeat process with each quesadilla. Cut the quesadillas into 4 to 6 wedges and serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

Nutrition facts per serving: 411 cal., 26 g pro., 9 g fat, 56 g carbo., 1,271 mg sodium, 52 mg chol.

Extension Agent's Notes

By DENNIS NEWTON
County Extension Agent-AG
I always hate to write the last column of the year. As I look back at the year, I always think about how many things I did wrong that I should have done right and how many opportunities I missed during the year.

I know that farmers and cattlemen also have the "hind sight blues" this time of year. They are thinking, if I had only sold my grain earlier, or if I had only waited two weeks to sell that pen of cattle. If I had just gotten another good rain, things would have been so much better.

One good thing about agricultural production, you don't have much time to dwell on what could have been, because it is time to begin worrying about next year. I should not have used the word "worry," planning is a more positive word.

In today's agricultural economy, those producers that have a plan are the ones that are going to continue to make it in this tough business.

This last week I had the opportunity to participate in a farm and ranch risk management training program for two days. The training provided hands-on training in developing farm plans, doing enterprise analysis and developing marketing strategies.

It was an excellent program, using many variables that producers face every day. In our planning, we had to deal with fluctuating markets, varying yields and other unforeseen circumstances that affect producers each year. It refocused us on just how difficult it is to plan when producers face so much variability in their operations. However, with the changes in the Farm Program, producers are going to have to do more planning. More detail has to be given to not only producing, but to marketing the products produced. One key to marketing is knowing what price you must have to break even. Producers need to be even more aware of what it is costing to produce.

To assist producers with analyzing their operations and determining their break even points, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service has developed a computer program called "Bud Pro." This program is an excellent tool for producers to use in making farm plans and analyzing cost.

A series of "Bud Pro" short courses are being offered throughout the Panhandle area. Producers interested in taking one of these short courses in the next two months can contact the Deaf Smith County Office of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service for brochures and enrollment forms. It would be well worth your time to take one of these short courses.

We hope to begin meetings of marketing clubs in the month of January to assist producers in developing marketing plans and developing strategies for marketing next year's production. Watch for information on these meetings in the next few weeks. Think rain! See you next week.

We recycle these locally.

When money circulates, it acts as the lifeblood nourishing our local economy. For example, when you deposit your paycheck at a bank, it flows out in the form of a loan.

But to whom? And where? To us, these are very important questions because the dollar you deposit at Hereford State Bank is loaned to a person or business right here in the area. Not to someone halfway across the country.

That loan could be the seed money for a business that employs the person - who buys the vacant house on your street - which boosts the value of your house and makes your street safer.

Think about it. Any bank can say it cares about the community. Don't you want to bank with one that's really doing it?

Writing Want Ads that really sell!

Unsure how to write a Classified Ad that will get results? Follow these pointers and you'll soon have an empty space in your storage room and cash in your pocket.
 For starters, look at ads which offer the same item/products. Get a sense of going rates and ideas for how to make your ad stand out. Once you're ready to write, begin with exactly what you're selling: "Dining room set, maple, six chairs." Then, remember these hints:
 --Give the price. A newspaper consultant says 70 percent of classified readers won't respond to an ad with no price.
 --Use key words to describe what you're selling. The key words for a car are make, model, year, body style, color, mileage and price. If it's a house, key words are location, type of construction, number of bedrooms and baths, and condition.
 --Don't use abbreviations. It's tempting to abbreviate and save money if ads are billed by the line. Brand ads are billed by the words, so spell them out so readers won't be confused trying to figure out abbreviations.
 -- Don't be misleading. Think accurate and factual when you write. Be sure to include a phone number and the best times to reach you.

To Your Good Health

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am studying to be a nurse. I have a technical question. Why is the heart unaffected by cancer cells? Why does cancer not spread to it, as it does to other organs? — M.S.

ANSWER: Good question. I guess we can begin by discussing how cancer cells get around — metastasize — in the first place. They are transported by blood and lymph circulation far and wide from their home site to set up new satellites.

How and why the cancer cells select one new site over another remains a matter of speculation. Perhaps certain conditions at the metastasized point favor the process. Beyond that we are stymied.

True enough, the heart hardly ever harbors metastatic cancer cells from other focal points. However, myxoma and carcinoid tumors arise in the heart on their own.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I've been hearing about vitamin E to protect against Alzheimer's disease. I am 61. I have no symptoms, but my dad had Alzheimer's. Should I start taking vitamin E? What is the normal dosage? — S.P.

ANSWER: Vitamin therapy has adherents for treatment of just about any ailment you can mention, involving most of the known vitamins. Vitamin E seems to get more than its share of such attention, and the Alzheimer's connection is well-known. There have been no documented claims of effectiveness in prevention, however.

The rationale goes to vitamin E's role as a scavenger of free radicals, chemicals loosely involved in aging of body cells.

I am not saying the idea is totally without merit, but I am among doubters.

To stay within recommended safe daily totals, vitamin E should stay at 12 international units for women, 15 for men.

I know that some true believers go far beyond those numbers. So will I, if I get verifiable data as to safety and effectiveness.

For vitamin dosages, see my report on vitamins. Write: Dr. Donohue — No. 35, Box 5539, Riverton, NJ 08077-5539. Enclose $3 and a self-addressed, stamped (55 cents) No. 10 envelope.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I have what is called "trigger finger" on one hand. Both my hands are achy, and they say I have tendonitis. In the trigger-finger hand, there is a thickening in the palm of the hand and in the second joint of the ring finger. Surgery has been suggested. Can you give me some information and advice? I am trying hard to avoid surgery. What else can I do? Do you know of any exercise that might improve things? — S.R.

ANSWER: With trigger finger, there occurs a snapping sound as you bend and straighten the digit. Usually it occurs in the middle or ring finger.

The problem begins with inflammation of the tendon covering. That leads to a hanging up and then sudden release. The normal easy sliding tendon movement has been lost.

The idea is to remove the inflammation or otherwise free the stuck tendon. Aside from surgery, which is almost always successful, injection of steroids into the area might be tried.

I know of no exercise that might help.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: By dissolving aspirin in water, does it lose any of its effectiveness or lessen stomach irritation? — L.G.

ANSWER: Dissolving aspirin in water does not make it lose effectiveness or lessen its irritative potential.

The aspirin would lose potency the longer it is allowed to sit in an open glass of water, however.

Dr. Donohue regrets that he is unable to answer individual letters, but he will incorporate them in his column whenever possible. Readers may write him at P.O. Box 5539, Riverton, NJ 08077-5539.

Hints from Heloise

Dear Heloise: My little puppy dislikes cold weather and he shivers when walking outside with me. I looked around some pet stores for a warm sweater, but all were too large.

I came up with the idea of using one of my son's old, warm knit caps. I put it over the dog to measure where to cut holes for his head and front legs. After cutting the holes, I stitched around the openings with thread to prevent unraveling.

Buttons loves it and delights in taking walks even on the cold days. — Linda Skolnik, Lakewood, Colo.

STOVETOP WARNING

Dear Heloise: I want to share with you and your readers a warning about setting things on your stovetop that don't belong there.

I recently turned on the wrong burner on which I had placed a glass baking dish. Fortunately for me, I had my back to the stove when the baking dish exploded into a million slivers and chunks of glass. Some were so hot they melted my new vinyl floor, which had to be replaced.

I shudder to think of the damage that could have been done had I been facing the stove. A hard lesson learned. — Margaret Wilch, Zephyrhills, Fla.

CAKE FROSTING

Dear Heloise: I've always had problems with plastic wrap sticking to the frosting on cakes that I bring to family gatherings and potluck suppers at church.

Here's my hint: Take the little plastic inserts that they put in pizza boxes to keep the cheese from sticking to the top, wash them off and keep on hand, as they work great, keeping the plastic wrap high enough not to mess up the cake. — Angie O'Neil, Mechanicsville, Va.

Send a money- or time-saving hint to Heloise, PO Box 795000, San Antonio TX 78279-5000.

The House of the Week

Grand yet Practical

G-34

STATELY COLUMNS and transomed dormers give the facade a distinguished look, while a wrap-around porch and a wood deck provide space for outdoor activities.

By BRUCE A. NATHAN
AP Newsfeatures

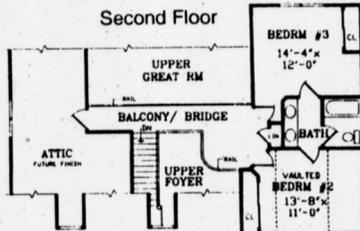

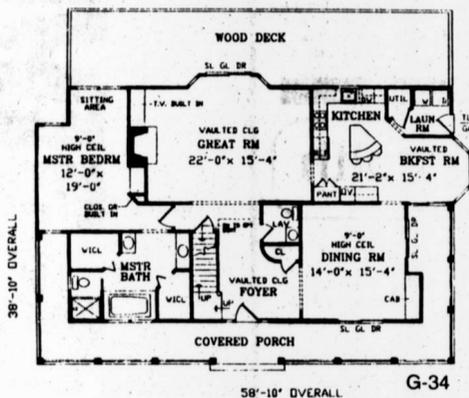

With its 2,253 square feet, Plan G-34, by HomeStyles Designers Network, combines luxury with practicality.

A wrap-around porch, stately columns and transomed dormers give the facade a polished appearance.

The floor plan provides soaring formal spaces and roomy living areas. Vaulted ceilings accent the foyer, great room, and bayed breakfast nook.

The sprawling kitchen features a wedge-shaped work/eating bar, and provides access to the great room, dining room, and laundry facilities.

The main floor master suite is located in its own wing for privacy, and features a boxed-out sitting area. Its adjoining master bath has walk-in closets, a compartmentalized toilet and shower, dual vanities and a whirlpool bath. Two additional bedrooms and a full bath are located on the second floor, and a balcony/bridge overlooks the great room and foyer.

G-34 STATISTICS

Design G-34 has a foyer, dining room, kitchen and breakfast nook, great room, three bedrooms, two and one-half baths and a laundry room, totaling 2,253 square feet of living space. This plan includes a standard basement, crawlspace or slab foundation, and 2x4 exterior wall framing.

A vaulted, two-story foyer greets guests and ushers them into either the high-ceilinged dining room or the two-story great room with a fireplace. A spacious L-shaped kitchen serves the great room, dining room and bayed breakfast nook, while providing a serving alternative in the form of a wedge-shaped work/eating bar. Isolated for privacy in its own wing, the master suite is a splendid retreat; a boxed-out sitting area offers an ideal place to read, and the bath has all the amenities — a whirlpool bath, his-and-hers walk-in closets, dual vanities and a compartmentalized shower/toilet combination. Upstairs, a balcony bridges attic space with the sleeping wing, which overlooks the foyer and great room. With two bedrooms and a full bath, this floor is ideal for children or guests.

HINTS FOR HOMEOWNERS

Commonly Asked Bathroom And Shower Questions

(NAPS)—Do you have a question about bathroom sink, shower and tub faucets? Here are some of the most commonly asked, answered by expert builders, plumbers and homeowners alike.

Q. Do all faucets fit all bathroom sinks and tub/showers?

A. Yes. Standard-size sink openings and faucet dimensions are used throughout the plumbing industry, and flexible hook-ups allow for variability. However, since there are a few exceptions, it is a good idea to check sizes first. For single-handle tub/shower faucets, the existing opening must be smaller than the faceplate of the new unit.

Q. Can I replace a two- or three-handle faucet with a single-handle model?

A. Single-handle bathroom sink faucets use 4-inch centers, which is the distance between the centers of the hot and cold inlets or mounting bolts. Some two-handle faucets also use 4-inch centers and can, therefore, be replaced by a single-handle model. However, wider spreads are common so be sure to check your size before purchasing a new faucet.

Two- and three-handle tub and shower faucets can be replaced with a single-handle faucet but pipe changes are necessary. The wall opening will have to be enlarged slightly for this but can be covered by special plates, such as the Moen Remodel Cover Plate, that allow you to keep your existing tile or wall covering intact.

Q. Can a new tub/shower faucet be connected to my existing shower and tub spouts?

A. Yes. And this can have a safety benefit as modern shower valves, are pressure balancing. That means they control water within +/- 2 degrees Fahrenheit to help prevent hot or cold water surges such as when a toilet was flushed.

Q. Can I use my existing drain assembly when installing a new faucet?

A. In most cases, yes. But if you're changing finishes, e.g. chrome to brass, you'll probably want to change the drain assembly.

WASTE WATER AND YOU COULD GET SOAKED.

About 75% of a typical household's indoor water use takes place in the bathroom. Saving water saves you money. Especially hot water, since it takes energy to heat water. So Be Water Smart and...

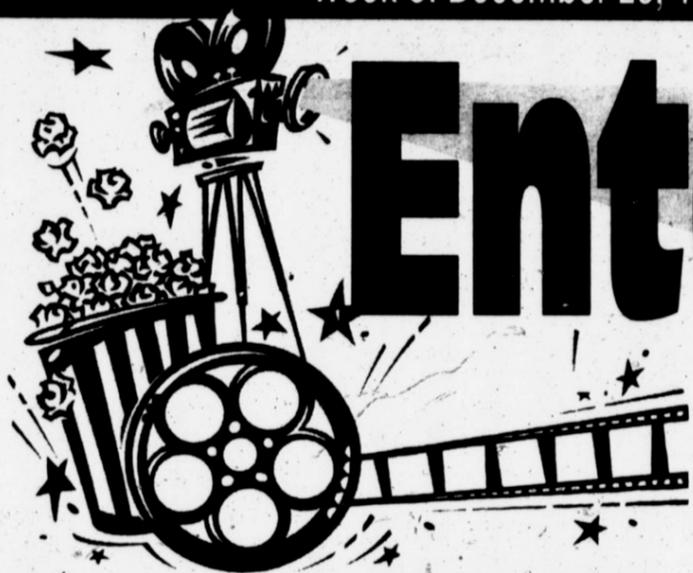

- Reduce volume of water in toilet tank by placing a plastic bottle full of water in tank (do not use bricks - they crumble);
- Do not use toilet as a trash can;
- When brushing teeth or shaving, turn water off until it's time to rinse;
- Take short showers instead of baths; and
- Install low-flow showerheads and low-flow toilets.

The average shower uses 42 gallons of water. A low-flow showerhead can save a family of four almost 35,000 gallons a year. A low-flow toilet can cut indoor water use by an additional 20%.

Practice saving water and Be Water Smart!

Every Drop Makes a Difference.

JAG makes a course correction and flies to CBS

Catherine Bell joins David James Elliott for the second season of JAG. After a disappointing freshman season on NBC, the crime drama makes its CBS debut Friday. Elliott returns as Navy lawyer Lt. Cmdr. Harmon "Harm" Rabb, with Bell as his new partner, Marine Maj. Sarah MacKenzie.

By Suzanne Gill
©TVData Features Syndicate

Donald Bellisario is a happy man. The veteran producer's latest series, JAG, which founded last year on NBC, has been given a new lease on life — this time on CBS.

Bellisario may not be a household name the way Steven Bochco and Aaron Spelling are, but he has created some of the most popular action series of the past two decades, including Magnum, P.I.; Airwolf and Quantum Leap. His lead characters are independent operators, smart, charming and single. In a Bellisario series, good triumphs over evil, and the details keep it interesting.

JAG makes its CBS debut Friday, Jan. 3. The military adventure/crime drama features David James Elliott as Lt. Cmdr. Harmon "Harm" Rabb, a fighter pilot-turned-Judge Advocate General (that's Navy for lawyer). A solidly built hour in its first season, JAG has been tuned up and trimmed out for its second inaugural.

"The kind of show NBC was looking for was a little off of the kind of show I wanted to make," Bellisario explains. "They wanted an action show."

"I was interested in doing a show that had a lot of action, but that had interesting courtroom scenes, too, and characters that were more like Magnum, where you have a strong lead and then a lot of supporting characters around him that are humorous and help build a family."

In Friday's episode, Bellisario deftly introduces his retooled supporting cast. First he gets viewers' attention with a masterfully cut scene of a White House Rose Garden ceremony, complete with the commander in chief (in his first cameo in a prime-time drama) apparently pinning a medal on Harm.

A few steps away, the lieutenant commander meets his new partner.

Catherine Bell plays Marine Maj. Sarah MacKenzie, replacing Tracey Needham as Harm's opposite number. Equal in rank but from another branch of the service, "Mac" can take the lead on a case as easily as he.

John M. Jackson and Patrick Labyorteaux, both part of the series pilot, had prior acting commitments for last season that kept them from joining the regular cast then. Now Jackson returns as Rabb's boss, Adm. Chegwidden, a role similar to one he played in the theatrical film A Few Good Men. Labyorteaux, formerly in Fox's failed The Last Frontier, plays Lt. J.G. Roberts, a junior officer studying law.

To this foursome Bellisario adds Steven Culp as State Department liaison Clayton Webb. A frequent antagonist of Mac and Harm, Webb is a whiz with security clearances. He also has a fondness for tea dancing with his mother.

A former Marine, Bellisario insists on authenticity in aircraft and protocol, and accurate use of military vocabulary, from Angels (altitude in thousands of feet) to Zulu (Greenwich Mean Time). Concerned by the somewhat tarnished image of the military of late, the producer has deliberately found villains outside the armed forces for several shows this season.

Last year's ratings demographics showed older viewers readily tuned in to JAG, making it a good fit at older-skewing CBS.

Conventional wisdom says Friday is a date night, when young adult viewers aren't available — but that didn't stop The X-Files from becoming a hit. And given the way so many dates turn out, viewers may prefer to place themselves in Harm's way.

HOROSCOPES

★ December 29-January 4 ★

ARIES - March 21/April 20

Cruel to be kind isn't a nice way to play, Aries. It's best to get right to the point. Wise up. Jealousy on the romantic front has had the best of you for weeks. Simmer down. Talk to your mate, and open the doors of communication — especially if it means opening your heart.

TAURUS - April 21/May 21

Thinking of taking a trip? Do it. Plan the vacation you've always dreamed of. See things you've read about in books up close. Ask a Capricorn friend to join you. Patience at work really pays off on Wednesday. Take a troubled co-worker out to lunch, just to relieve his or her stress.

GEMINI - May 22/June 21

Never felt at home in the kitchen, Gemini? This week, spend as much time there as you can baking and experimenting on new dishes. Make up some new entrées, and copy some winter recipes from magazines and books. Want to test your skills? Invite that special Libra over for a rare culinary experience.

CANCER - June 22/July 22

Exercise is all you need this week, Cancer. When it gets tough at work, schedule time at the gym after hours. When things get hairy at home, don't fight it out; burn off steam in a good aerobic workout. Can't take time away from the kids? Pick up an exercise video, and work out at home.

LEO - July 23/August 23

Home is where the heart is for you this week, Leo. But, you'll probably need more patience than usual. A Gemini family member asks for financial help on Tuesday. Your generous nature makes it hard for you to turn him or her away. But, don't shell out the dough unless you can really afford to.

VIRGO - Aug 24/Sept 22

Thinking of buying a car? Fine. But, don't forget the planning stages. Shop, shop, shop. Read, read, read. Smart consumers know their market. Make a list of your must-haves, and make sure you meet every one before you hand over a check. A Libra offers sound advice.

LIBRA - Sept 23/Oct 23

Romance needs some nurturing. Start throwing some efforts (and understanding) your partner's way. Are you taking too much? Prove that you're not by making this week about him or her. Stop off at a store on a whim to buy him or her an appreciation gift. Write love notes, and make special efforts to show you care.

SCORPIO - Oct 24/Nov 22

It's time to get motivated, Scorpio. If you can't make time for exercise on your own, join a team, and let others do the motivating for you. Family needs you to take on a little more than your share of domestic chores this week. Do them happily without a negative attitude.

SAGITTARIUS - Nov 23/Dec 21

Have you been feeling up to par lately? It's a good time to check things out. Make an appointment for a checkup with your doctor just to make sure things are OK. Remember what they say about an ounce of prevention. Celebrate with a road trip over the weekend.

CAPRICORN - Dec 22/Jan 20

Don't let your priorities get mixed up this week, Capricorn. Stick to your schedule. Work takes most of your time early in the week, but don't let it get you down. An old friend invites you to a party Saturday. Accept. Check your calendar carefully for family birthdays this week, or you could hurt someone who's sensitive.

AQUARIUS - Jan 21/Feb 18

Don't let work get you down this week. Put 100 percent into your job, but remember that's not all there is to living. Don't let career-hungry work mates sidetrack your positive thinking. A Leo calls on your problem-solving nature Tuesday. Give him or her your utmost patience.

PISCES - Feb 19/March 20

It's a good week to concentrate on making some extra cash. Forget about overtime at the office, and start finding ways to make your hobbies lead you to financial gain. An old flame calls you on Wednesday and is looking to get back in your good graces. Proceed with caution.

TV PIPELINE

By Taylor Michaels
OTVData Features Syndicate

Q: John Lithgow's oddball personality intrigues me. What can you tell me about him? What else has he done besides 3rd Rock From the Sun, A Fish Called Wanda and Ricochet? -A Lithgow fan in Hawaii.

A: Lithgow, 51, plays an oddball very convincingly on TV - he recently won an Emmy for playing the hilariously pompous Dick Solomon on 3rd Rock - but in real life he is one of the most respected and well-liked actors in Hollywood.

Born into a theatrical family in Rochester, N.Y., Lithgow made his acting debut at age 6 in a Shakespeare play. After graduating from Harvard, he studied in London before moving to New York, where he won a Tony Award for his Broadway debut in The Changing Room. Other stage credits include Requiem for a Heavyweight and M. Butterfly.

Lithgow first received national attention with his Oscar-nominated portrayal of transsexual Roberta Muldoon in The World According to Garp; he was nominated again as Debra Winger's lover in Terms of Endearment.

His many other films include Footloose, Blow Out, Twilight Zone: The Movie, Harry and the Hendersons and Cliffhanger. (By the way, that was John Cleese, not Lithgow, in A Fish Called Wanda).

He received his first Emmy for "The Doll," one of Stephen Spielberg's Amazing Stories. TV movies include The Day After, Resting Place (Emmy nominations for both), The Last Elephant and My Brother's Keeper.

Lithgow's son from his first marriage, Ian, plays the hapless Leon in Dick Solomon's class.

Q: You were wrong when you recently reported that Mike Hammer never met "The Face." He did meet and interact with her - she was named Laura - in an episode called "A Face in the Night." She went to bed with him, then disappeared. This episode aired Oct. 18, 1996, on A&E. -Melvyn M. Fox, Charlotte, N.C.

A: My thanks to the half dozen of you who wrote to point this out. I am forwarding this information to the usually reliable TV authors and archivists Tim Brooks and Earle Marsh, who gave me the original information.

Q: Recently, I thought I recognized the actress who plays the snooty British neighbor on Mad About You. Did this actress play Pamela in To Sir, With Love many years ago? -Kathy Atwater, Vermilion, Ohio.

A: Yes, Judy Geeson, who plays Paul and Jamie Buchman's aloof neighbor on Mad About You, lit up the screen in 1967 as Pamela, the student smitten with Sidney Poitier in To Sir, With Love.

Die Hard 2 *** (1990) (PA) Bruce Willis, Bonnie Bedelia. An L.A. cop embarks on a single-handed race against time after terrorists seize control of a Washington airport. (In Stereo) (CC) 2:30. December 29 8pm.

The Disappearance of Christina ** (1993) John Stamos, Robert Carradine. A wealthy businessman discovers signs that his presumed-dead wife may be alive while a homicide detective tails him. (In Stereo) (CC) 2:00. January 4 12pm.

D.O.A. *** (1950) Edmond O'Brien, Pamela Britton. The recipient of a dose of time-released poison sets out to locate his killer before time -- and his life -- run out. 2:00. January 3 3am.

Dodge City *** (1939) Errol Flynn, Olivia de Havilland. A cattleman appoints himself sheriff and sets out to dispense law and order to a rough-and-tumble frontier town. 2:00. January 3 5pm.

The Dogs of War *** (1980) Christopher Walken, Tom Berenger. After being tortured and deported by an African dictator, a mercenary returns to lead a revolution. 2:15. January 3 1:05am.

Don't Talk to Strangers ** (1994) Shanna Reed, Terry O'Quinn. A woman realizes that her ex-husband is stalking her as she and her young son drive cross-country to their new home. (In Stereo) (CC) 2:00. December 31 10pm.

Double Wedding **½ (1937) William Powell, Myrna Loy. An unwed dress designer pushes her younger sister into matrimony, only to find herself altar-bound as well. 2:00. December 30 3pm.

The Fly *** (1986) Jeff Goldblum, Geena Davis. David Cronenberg's remake of the 1958 classic about a botched experiment that transmutes a man into a monstrous insect. 2:25. January 3 10pm; 4 8pm.

Flying Tigers *** (1942) John Wayne, John Carroll. American pilots in WWII China wrestle with brush recruits, airstrip romances and the threat of the Japanese air force. 2:00. December 29 1am.

MONDAY

Jack Nicholson cracks a smile as the devilishly corrupt villain the Joker, who gives the Caped Crusader a run for his money, in Batman, airing Monday on NBC.

HIGHLIGHTS

Tim Conlon (left) and Victor Togunde have their hands full with a group of dysfunctional aliens who take on the appearance of life-size puppets in Lost on Earth. The series premieres Saturday on USA.

Laughs are nothing alien to USA's Lost on Earth

By John Crook
©TVData Features Syndicate

When aspiring anchorman David Rudy finds himself busted to playing host on a local TV puppet show, he figures there's no way his life could get any crazier.

He is terribly wrong. That's the basic premise of Lost on Earth, a USA Network sitcom premiering Saturday, Jan. 4, in which hapless David (Tim Conlon) makes a startling discovery: The life-size puppets he's supposed to work with aren't puppets at all.

In fact, they're a group of dysfunctional aliens who have traveled through time and space from a distant, unpronounceable planet to study Earth's culture.

Their current physical appearance is the unfortunate result of an accident, explains their leader, Phillippe.

"Just before we morphed, we were watching television to see what form to take, and those hideous Muppets were on," Phillippe says.

Besides Phillippe, who easily could be mistaken for Groucho Marx in a dark room, the alien team consists of the sultry Angela, who quickly develops a crush on David; Ahab, who lost his arms during the transfer to Earth ("I wouldn't be so bitter, but I was wearing a Rolex at the time," he says.); Bram, who is insanely jealous of David and whose solution to any problem invariably involves castration; Cubby, the cheerful (and corpulent) medical officer; and Raleigh, a sweet-natured being whose mission is to breed with an Earth woman.

Developed by comic David Steinberg, Lost on Earth clearly is tilling the same field as 3rd Rock From the Sun. While it isn't quite in the same league as that blockbuster sitcom -- it doesn't have John Lithgow, for one thing -- Lost on Earth is pleasant and frequently laugh-out-loud funny.

Those laughs, please note, happen more often in the second episode, after the puppets have established their quirky personalities. But, thanks to the caustically charming Conlon and co-star Victor Togunde, even the premiere of Lost on Earth scores.

Throw Cal a story line on *As The World Turns

By Candace Havens
©TVData Features Syndicate

Dear Candace: I love As the World Turns. I especially enjoy the scenes with Cal (Patrick Tovatt). He is an extraordinary actor. I hope they expand his role soon. Lately he seems to be on the sidelines. He needs a good romance and I would like to see him get involved with Susan (Marie Masters). -Kathy Summerhill, on the Internet.

Dear Reader: Tovatt most likely has been spending a great deal of time at his home in western New York state — but things could heat up for Cal in the near future.

Dear Candace: I was watching The Bold and the Beautiful the other day and there was a country singer on whom I really liked. Could you please tell me who he was and the song he sang? -R.J., Oklahoma City, Okla.
Dear Reader: Bryan White sang his hit song So Much for Pretending.
Dear Candace: I would like to know what happened to the actor who played Carl Williams (Brett Hadley) on The Young and the Restless. (Carl was Paul's father.) -J. Greene.

Dear Reader: Hadley was written off the show. It happens a lot with Y&R characters: One day they are there and the next they are gone.
Dear Candace: Why did the guy who used to play Alan-Michael on Guiding Light leave? We hate the new guy. -Two disgusted watchers in Texas.
Dear Readers: It was Rick Hearst's (ex-Alan-Michael) decision to leave to pursue other interests. Give Michael Dietz a chance; he's holding his own as Alan-Michael.

THE ROADS OF TEXAS

Now newly revised and better than ever!

Shearer Publishing is pleased to announce its new edition of THE ROADS OF TEXAS. We have added dozens of country roads, lanes, cowtrails, and put new names or numbers on hundreds of others, names like Good Luck Road (Guadalupe County), Seven Sisters Drive (Kendall County), and Lone Star Alley (Menard County). Altogether, the new edition identifies more than 25,000 state and county highways and byways, and the bright new cover features current scenic photographs from around the state. THE ROADS OF TEXAS is different from any other road atlas, with more detail, more historical travel information, more heart. It has proven especially popular with the curious traveler inclined toward a little adventure, who doesn't mind getting to Aunt Martha's house just a bit late.

Margie's Notes

By Margie Daniels, HSCA Executive Director

It is hard to believe another year is beginning. We want to wish everyone a happy New Year and a wonderful 1997! There will be a New Year's Eve party at the center. You can have a wonderful time playing games or dancing to the music of Bill Case and his Combo Band. There will be refreshments all evening and blackeyed peas at midnight! There will be New Year's Eve party favors, hugs at midnight and prayer for a good year. Come and enjoy the evening. There will be a fee of $7.50 for the dance and $2.50 for those who play games. Come on out and see the new Year in with us! Time: 9 p.m. to 12:30 a.m.

The Braschler Music Show will be here March 7. Get your tickets soon. They are going fast!

We had a great time on our tour to Branson. There were 45 of us and beside the beautiful shows, we had wonderful fellowship and a safe trip. As much illness as there was in our town for several weeks before we left, I was afraid some would get what ever was going around. One got sick with a severe bronchial infection about 10 days before time to leave and had to cancel, but we had no illness until we started home.

Of course when we leave we pray for the Lord to protect us all so we were confident we would have no severe illness or accidents during the four nights we were going to be away from home. One got sick the night before we started home and four or five more after they got home.

I understand some of our doctors said that's what senior citizens trips are good for and everyone who was on the bus would get ill. Of course that started rumors that we were all very ill which was untrue. I was just wondering why so many of our Hereford people were ill before we left and why so many are still getting sick?

Last year we were accused of causing one of our seniors to have high cholesterol. I decided to do some calculations. The average person, senior or otherwise, eats 1,095 meals per year. The Senior Citizens nutrition program serves 250 meal per year. (I do wish we could serve our homebound 365 meals a year. That's in the future.)

The person in question ate two months out of 12 months - that was from Oct. 1, 1993, to Sept. 30, 1994. I have all the records. I don't think 42 meals out of 1,095 could effect the senior's cholesterol count very much. Also from Oct. 1, 1994, to Feb. 28, 1995, the person ate 39 meals at the center. So for a total of 81 meals of a total of 1,551.25 meals we are supposed to be able to control your cholesterol?

Really friends we do try to be of service and help to our people. I would not do anything to harm any of you and want the best for each of you. We have cooked with canola oil and no cholesterol oleo and served 1/2 percent milk for years and when we have fried meat we always have a steamed for baked item for substitution, of course some don't like that so we cannot force them to eat what they should. We can not watch over what people eat the other at least 845 meals plus snacks per year.

Doctors, you need to ask your patients what they eat the rest of the time. The meals served as part of the nutrition program at the center have to be analyzed for fat content and vitamins. Special meals and pot-lucks are different, you eat what you bring, the same as you do at a church social. We do appreciate our physicians and health care providers but please check us out or look at the over all picture before being too critical of our program or activities.

As for our senior trips, we take people who would never get to go otherwise. This last trip we had three people who had to have wheelchairs and all got to travel with friends. That's what we're here for, to help our seniors have a more independent, productive and happy life!

Thanks to all of our wonderful community for the support you have given our program. We have had visitors from New York and a magazine in Amarillo lately and they could not believe what we have. There were very impressed. They said you could really tell we had great community support!

We pray for God to bless us all together during the year 1997!
See you at the Center!

Braschler Music Show

The Braschler Music Show, featuring comedian "Homer Lee," the Braschler Quartet and ladies' trio "Sweet Harmony" will perform at Hereford Senior Center on March 7. Their repertoire includes country, bluegrass and gospel tunes.

Braschler Music Show to entertain March 7 at Hereford Senior Center

The Braschler Music Show will be at the Hereford Senior Center on March 7.

In the past 13 years, the Braschler Music Show has become well known in the Ozarks for its wholesome, family entertainment. Their repertoire includes country, bluegrass and gospel tunes featuring solos from ever vocalist. In addition, the show features the renowned Braschler Quartet and a ladies' trio called "Sweet Harmony."

Terry Sanders, a.k.a. "Homer Lee," the show's resident comedian, has appeared on television's nationally syndicated "Hee Haw." Bumbling yet lovable, Homer Lee delivers a pre-show monologue guaranteed to get you giggling. The various characters he portrays throughout the show not only amuse and entertain audiences of all ages, but keep the Braschler cast guessing as well.

Patriarch Cliff Braschler sings tenor in the Braschler Quartet and plays straight man for Homer Lee. Others in the famous quartet include lead singer Johnny Walters, who plays piano; baritone Justin Bertoldie, a versatile young entertainer, plays fiddle, mandolin and trumpet; Brad Bacon rounds out the quartet with his deep, rich bass voice and appears as a sometimes-sidekick for Homer Lee. Other band members include drummer Gil Stockebrand, Joy Sneed on bass guitar, and Tim Brooks on banjo and lead and acoustic guitars.

Three lovely ladies add their own talent to balance out the Braschler band, but also comprise the "Sweet Harmony" trio. Sherri Braschler Weiss sings lead and plays guitar; Jannee Sutterfield sings alto and plays piano; last, but not least, Susie Sims sings soprano and plays keyboard as well. Susie and her husband, Jeff, are avid songwriters and have contributed their efforts to the group's patriotic finale. Don't miss the show if you're looking for non-stop harmony, laughs, and some great music.

For more information on the music show or tickets, call the Hereford Senior Center at 364-5681 or go by the center at 426 Ranger. Get your tickets soon, they are going fast!

HSCA Activities

By Peggy Maxwell, Activities Director

Another New Year -- Will it be a year full of getting or giving, fretting or living? You will have to choose what you will have in the year 1997.

You can bring in the New Year with a party at the Senior Center. There will be a dance in the auditorium with Bill Case and the Combo Band from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. The dining area will be open for a Game Party. Those that enjoy table games will have an evening of fun. We will have plenty of refreshments plus blackeyed peas and cornbread after midnight.

To celebrate the January birthdays we will have our Birthday Social at noon on Jan. 22. If you have a January birthday, mark your calendar and come to the center for a special birthday treat.

The Alzheimer's Support Group has been canceled. We feel we can better serve your needs by having a one-on-one session at your convenience. Please call the group leader, Kathy Acton at 364-6560 after 6 p.m. She will be happy to help you with anything relating to Alzheimers or the care-givers.

The Diabetic Support Group will meet the third Tuesday of the month. This month the meeting will be at 1 p.m. at the Center. Anyone interested in the management of diabetes please come to the meeting.

Check the activity calendar for the regular scheduled activities. We are always happy to see new people in our activities. We also need more volunteers at the Thrift Shop. If you would be able to give one or more hours a week in helping the center please let me know, I would be very pleased to have you helping at the Thrift Shop.

We at the Center wish everyone A VERY HAPPY NEW YEAR!!!

"Assistant District Manager"

SOCIAL SECURITY QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q: When is the enrollment period to sign up for Medicare medial insurance? I didn't sign up when I was first eligible and I want to make sure I don't miss the open enrollment period.

A: This is a great time to ask since the annual enrollment period for Medicare Part B is from January 1 to March 31. If you sign up during this enrollment period, your coverage will be effective July 1, 1997. To sign up, call Social Security's toll-free number, 1-800-772-1213, between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. any business day. The best times to call to avoid peak telephone traffic is later during the week and later during the month.

Q: I have an elderly neighbor who doesn't have enough to live on. Could she be eligible for Supplement Security Income (SSI)?

A: SSI provides monthly payments to people who are age 65 or older, or blind, or have a disability and who don't own much or have a lot of income. Since your neighbor is elderly and doesn't have enough to live on, she may be eligible for monthly SSI benefits. For more information or to apply for benefits, she can call Social Security's toll-free number, 1-800-772-1213.

Q: My daughter recently died in a car accident at the age of 43. I lived with her and her 13-year-old son. She paid all the household expenses with the income she earned as an engineer. I am 64 years old and have no income of my own. Can my grandson get Social Security benefits? What about me?

A: You both may be entitled to benefits. Social Security pays survivors benefits to children as well as to dependent parents who were dependent on their son/daughter for at least half of their support. The dependent parent must be over the age of 62, not remarried, and not entitled to a higher Social Security benefit of their own. Call Social Security at 1-800-772-1213 to make an appointment to file a claim on your daughter's record.

Q: How are survivors benefits computed? Is the monthly benefit the same for all people?

A: The amount of your survivors benefit is based on the earnings of the person who died. Basically, the more he or she paid into Social Security, the higher the survivors benefit will be. The amount you will get is a percentage of the benefit the worker would have received.

A widow or widower age 65 or older would be eligible for 100 percent of the deceased worker's benefit and a widow or widower age 60-64 would be eligible for about 71-94 percent. A widow or widower any age with a child under 16 receiving benefits would be eligible for 75 percent. There is a family maximum at which benefits are prorated among the eligible family members. The limit varies but is generally equal to about 150 to 180 percent of the deceased worker's benefits.

For more information about survivors benefits, call Social Security's toll-free number, 1-800-772-1213, and ask for the booklet "Survivors".

Q: Will my monthly Social Security benefit increase in January 1997? If so, how much?

A: Yes, Social Security and Supplement Security Income (SSI) benefits will increase 2.9 percent, beginning with the payments that Social Security beneficiaries receive January 3, and SSI recipients receive on December 31.

If you wish to have your questions answered in this column, please write to: Byron Sansom, District Manager, Senior Scene, Social Security Administration, 3501 W. 45th, Suite E., Amarillo, Texas 79106.

Nutrition Notes

RD/LD

Choosing Legumes: A healthful and versatile food

Eaten around the world for over 10,000 years, legumes are a popular, healthful, and versatile food. Legumes come from plants with seed pods that split on two sides when ripe. The most common legume crop in the world is a soybean. Other legumes include blackeyed peas, chickpea (garbanzo beans), lentils, and black, red, white, navy, and kidney beans.

There are a myriad of legumes with a variety of colors, shapes and flavors. Soybeans can be made into many foods, such as milk and oil, and ingredients, such as protein and flour. Blackeyed peas are used in many Southern dishes, usually with rice and ham. Kidney beans are used in chili, and black beans add texture, flavor and nutrients to Brazilian and Cuban soups and stews.

Add legumes to your eating plan! They fit the meat, poultry, fish, dry beans, nuts and eggs group of the Food Guide Pyramid. Two to three servings a day of nutrient-rich foods from this group are recommended. Generally, a half-cup of cooked, dry beans counts as one ounce of meat. One-half cup legumes can also count as a serving of vegetable.

Legumes provide many of the nutrients your body needs, such as protein, fat and carbohydrates. These foods serve as the best plant source of protein. The soybean is the only legume that contains all the building blocks of protein necessary for good health. The iron, folic acid, calcium, magnesium, potassium and B vitamins in these foods help meet vitamin and mineral requirements. Legumes are high in dietary fiber, low in saturated fat and cholesterol free.

Legumes are easy to prepare and versatile. They can be eaten alone, combined with other foods or enjoyed as a snack. Because they can pick up the taste of foods and spices they are cooked with, legumes are great "flavor sponges."

The traditional and basic method for cooking dry beans is to soak them in water overnight and cook them in two to three hours. Lentils, however, cook quickly and do not require soaking. Like rice, these foods increase in volume when cooked. One pound of dry legumes measures about two cups dry or five cups cooked. Legumes can be the main ingredient in a dish or liven up dishes like soup and casseroles.

Chickpeas can be enjoyed as a roasted snack or used in salads and dips. Navy beans are used in Boston Baked Beans. Soybean curd, known as tofu, can be enjoyed in smoothie beverages, stir-fry dishes and soups, and in burgers. For those with a cow's milk allergy, soy milk can serve as a substitute. Soybean oil can be used in baked products and in stir-frying. Textured soy protein is used as a meat substitute, extender and flavor enhancer.

Legumes are found in the international, natural food, freezer or bulk sections of supermarkets. You can find them cooked and ready-to-eat in cans, or frozen or dried in packages. Whole food, health food, and ethnic markets are likely to carry a wider variety of legumes and foods prepared with them.

Tasty Apricot Muffins

4 cups all-purpose flour
1-1/4 cups soy flour
3/4 cup sugar
2 tablespoons plus 1-1/2 teaspoons baking powder
2-1/2 teaspoons ground cinnamon
3/4 teaspoon ground nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon salt
3 eggs

1-1/4 cups soy milk
1-1/4 cups water
2 tablespoons plus 1-1/2 teaspoons soybean oil
1-1/4 cups crushed, canned pineapple with juice
1-1/4 cups dried apricots, diced
Combine flours, sugar baking powder spices and salt; mix well. Make a well in center of dry ingredient mixture and add eggs, soy milk, water, oil, pineapple and apricots; mix only until moist.

Spoon mixture into lined or oiled muffin tins. Bake at 400 degrees 12 to 15 minutes or until inserted wooden pick comes out clean. Makes 24 muffins.

Nutrition information per serving: 161 calories, 6 grams protein, 4 grams fat, 18 milligrams cholesterol, 1.5 grams fiber, 153 milligrams sodium.

Christmas parties keep month active for care center residents

By CARMAN DOTSON

The residents of Hereford Care Center enjoyed five parties during the month of December.

We would like to thank everyone that helped make this a wonderful Christmas for the residents.

The first Friday of each month there is a birthday party for all residents who have a birthday that month. For December, 12 residents celebrated birthdays.

There was lots of pretty Christmas music from different groups. The children are always a hit for everyone likes to see a smiling child and most of all enjoy the big hugs that come after the programs.

The Southern Baptist Churches of Deaf Smith County had their annual Nursing Home Christmas Gift Shop on Dec. 14. It was enjoyed by all for the residents got to select two gifts for themselves or to give as gifts to others.

Santa came to Hereford Care Center, visited with the residents and handed out gifts. His visit was followed by a Christmas party and the day concluded with family night when cookies and punch were served and everyone sang Christmas carols accompanied by lovely piano music.

But the parties weren't over. On Christmas Eve the residents had punch and cookies and listened to tapes.

The residents will have a New Year's Eve Party on Dec. 31 at 2:30 p.m. to bring in the new year.

Woman finds unique uses for recycled materials

By LOUISE POPPLEWELL
The Victoria Advocate

SEADRIFT, Texas - Hettie Mae Walker was recycling long before it became fashionable.

The 88-year-old Seadrift resident has been making toys, games, jewelry, trinkets and all kinds of fun stuff from things that might have ended up in the trash for years.

"I don't throw anything away," says the woman who is known as Aunt Mae to everyone in town, and a multitude of others who came under her rule during the 32 years she taught school.

From rolled newspapers, she makes batons and picture frames; dryer lint becomes the stuffing for soft balls; juice cans become attractive foot stools and the list goes on and on and on.

Colored paper is a prized commodity. Rolled tight and strung with tiny nuts it becomes a necklace.

"I started making things when I was 6, sitting in front of my grandmother's fireplace," Mrs. Walker said. "I had a rocking chair."

"No. I don't throw away anything. You can tell by looking at my house."

It is neat and orderly. There are boxes upon boxes, each carefully labeled with its contents. Brown paper bags are ironed and stored for future use. Clean plastic jugs of all shapes and sizes hang from the back porch.

In one corner, there is a tall stack of mattresses made from cotton samples Mrs. Walker gleaned through the years. They're great for slumber parties, she said.

But that's not all. There are two houses behind hers that are crammed full of things Mrs. Walker plans to use someday, says her great-nephew Ken Finster.

"You don't take a can of Coke in her house. She'll take it away from you."

Mrs. Walker's friend Nancy Henson nods in the direction of four antique ironing boards. "We don't have trash," she said. "Nothing is thrown away."

But what does one do with burned out light bulbs and cigarette lighters? That's a complex problem. And until an idea strikes Mrs. Walker's fancy, they'll remain in storage.

But Mrs. Walker doesn't keep everything. Each Halloween, she opens her sprawling screened-in porch overlooking San Antonio Bay to the kids of the town. They are invited to pick and choose from tables loaded with the handmade geegaws. Last Oct. 31, 500 of them came. Each was allowed to take home eight items.

That's 4,000 things ... all made from something that might have ended up in a landfill.

Mrs. Walker and her husband, the late Doc Walker, had no children. "We loved children. We wanted them, they just never got here," she says.

Her hands are never idle. When she gets too tired to continue to work evenings, she turns to crocheting - something that does not require keen eyesight. Hundreds of potholders and pillows are the result. They too are labeled and stored in boxes for Christmas gift-giving.

One passion she no longer pursues is oil painting, but her work is displayed on every wall of her home. There are portraits of family and friends and landscapes and seascapes.

On a chest in a bedroom, dozens more are in a tall stack. And what do you suppose they are painted on? Canvas or art board? No way. Mrs.

Walker uses the backs of cereal boxes and the like.

On Nov. 12, during the national recognition day for recycling, Mrs. Walker was honored by the city of Seadrift as the ultimate recycler.

On the occasion, she said, "I've had a good life. All my life has been good."

Man in Tokyo keeps storytelling tradition alive

TOKYO (AP) - In the park near his cramped home, Sadayoshi Morishita rides in on a rickety bicycle, opens up a wooden picture frame and practices the art he's known for decades: telling stories.

One by one, he displays the pictures in the frame, giving voice to the characters in the tale. Children listen quietly and chew on the candy and salty crackers he sells.

But instead of the dozens of kids that flocked around him in the old days - the days before TV and computer games and extra tutoring in cram schools - only a handful of skeptical children gather.

In a half-hour, Morishita is on his way home.

"It has its own charm, but kids these days have so many diversions," the 80-year-old "kamishibai-san," or "picture-theater man," said later in his ramshackle home in an old quarter of Tokyo.

Kamishibai's heyday came in the hardscrabble years after Japan's crushing defeat in World War II, when millions of young men scoured the devastated country looking for work.

It was in those days of little entertainment and big families that jobless men like Morishita turned a bicycle, a stack of tattered paintings and some talent into a meager income selling candy and a tale.

"You have to create an atmosphere," said Morishita, who claims to be one of only three old-time storytellers left from the 3,000 that once roamed Tokyo. "If I am performing a samurai kamishibai, I really have to sound like a samurai."

Kamishibai, which evolved from street theater using painted fans, recalls for many Japanese the simpler days of the 1940s and 1950s, when a defeated people pulled together to rebuild their shattered nation.

The picture theater also fostered a generation of artists and writers who honed their skills on the streets and then moved into the booming comic book industry when Japan's economy took off in the 1960s.

But while the old-style picture theater that Morishita performs - and the world in which it flourished - all but petered out by 1970, the art form lives on.

Instead of street and park performances, nowadays the illustrated tales are told in libraries, nursery schools and nursing homes. Cultural institutes and child recreation centers - which house floors of games and toys - also feature occasional shows.

"It's still around," said Kenji Horiuchi, editor at a children's publishing company, Doshinsha. "If you go to the children's corner in any library, you'll see kamishibai."

Horiuchi is doing his part to keep the tradition alive. His company publishes kamishibai prints and the stories to go along with them, and once a month he holds a workshop for aspiring kamishibai writers.

The newer form is worlds away from Morishita's art, which was almost exclusively practiced by men. At a recent evening workshop, most of the artists were women, and more traditional tales have given way to contemporary themes like school bullying or parent-child relationships.

Even an old-timer like Morishita, who made a name for himself in the 1950s, is catching on to the new ways. He appears in a CD recording of children's tales, and can make $175 every now and then for a day of performances at an arts center.

Though he brushes off any suggestion that he's nostalgic for the tough years after the war, Morishita still talks wistfully about how 80 children used to gather around him for sweets and a story.

"Then kids started watching cartoons on TV," he said. "And in the meantime, the birthrate fell, and parents got obsessed with education and started sending their children to cram schools."

He fears he's the last of a breed. "When I'm gone, then I'm afraid kamishibai will disappear too," he said.

He paused for a moment, then amused a visitor with yet another well-told tale.

To Your Good Health

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I developed back pain after playing tennis. My doctor ran tests that included one of the new MRI scans. He finally concluded that my pain is coming on because my left leg is shorter than my right. Have you ever run across this problem? — M.T.

ANSWER: Yes. Most of us have slight variances in leg length, but if the difference is an eighth of an inch or less, we seldom notice because it causes no problem.

If the difference gets up into the half-inch level, it can lead to pain. The pain usually occurs in the back itself or in the longer leg, which takes an inordinate pounding when you run.

Usually, a shoe insert for the shorter leg can relieve the problem.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am a 35-year-old woman. I have been a devoted runner for the past five years. Last year, my periods slackened considerably. My gynecologist straightened this out, but said at the time that had I gone on with my running without treatment I could have developed osteoporosis. She also said women like me should get extra calcium daily. She said I should drink milk every day. I cannot stand milk. I hated it even as a kid. What's my answer? — Mrs. K.F.

ANSWER: Because milk is a prime source of calcium in our society, women who have a history of avoiding milk in the important childhood and young adult years often end up on the calcium-endangered list.

Milk is a handy calcium source. Can't you stand even an 8-ounce glass once in a while? Skim milk provides 250 milligrams of calcium per 8 ounces. You can boost that content by adding a half-cup of skim powder, which adds 750 milligrams of calcium. That would get you a long way toward the recommended 1,000-1,500 milligrams.

You could make the milk a bit more enticing with chocolate flavoring. Have you tried chocolate milk?

In any case, you still can't get away scot-free. Other available calcium sources include broccoli, collard greens and sardines with bones. I could learn to love skim milk.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Now that it's winter, I have come up with a problem I have never experienced in the summer. My feet hurt. I use the very same shoes I wore in the summer. What's going on? — L.L.

ANSWER: It might be nothing more than the simple fact that shoes get stiffer in cold weather. Try a softer shoe and see if that doesn't make a difference.

The report I'm sending you discusses foot care. Others can order a copy of the report by writing: Dr. Donohue—No. 11, Box 5539, Riverton, NJ 08077-5539. Enclose $3 and a self-addressed, stamped (55 cents) No. 10 envelope.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I exercise 30 minutes a day, six days a week. Because I start work early in the morning, I have to exercise in the evening when I get home. I've heard that you should exercise in the morning to burn fat quicker. Is that true? — S.

ANSWER: I can't buy that. I see no reason why it should be true. If anyone can prove the idea rationally, I'll see that the confirmation gets in print.

Dr. Donohue regrets that he is unable to answer individual letters, but he will incorporate them in his column whenever possible. Readers may write him at P.O. Box 5539, Riverton, NJ 08077-5539.
