Summer Vegetable Harvest Getting Into Full Swing

Area Housewives Canning, Freezing

Friday morning, Bailey County Extension Agent Spencer Tanksley and Dr. Roland Roberts from the Texas Extension Service, were at the Lloyd Williams farm approximately eight miles northwest of Muleshoe on Highway 84.

After an outbreak of pepper mosaic in the area two years ago, when Williams lost several acres of peppers to the little known disease, he has grown test plots for the Extension Service in an attempt to find varieties resistant to mosaic, explained Tanksley.

Williams has grown the test plots for the past two years. He also has tomato test plots where the extension researchers can check for early varieties, added the county agent.

"We are trying to determine what vegetables will produce early, as well as vegetables that will keep producing to frost-time," said Tanksley.

Williams also has other acreages of vegetables. He has 60 acres of peppers, 10 acres of tomatoes, 30 acres of cucumbers, four acres of cantaloupe and seven to eight acres of okra, peas, beans and corn.

With his larger acreages of vegetables, he decided to not only truck out vegetables to Hereford, he has also opened the area's newest vegetable stand near his home.

Starting out with concrete slabs, Williams had an insulated metal building constructed. He added large garage or overhead doors, as well as standard entry doors.

He said that during the off-season for vegetables, he will possibly have fruits, nuts and Christmas trees around December. He also plans to utilize the new building as a workshop when it is not in use as a vegetable.

Long food coolers are inside the building along with a very modern ultra-sonic bug killer.

Duo Injured In Rollover

South On 214

Two local young men were taken to West Plains Medical Center early Saturday morning for treatment of injuries received in an accident around 4 a.m. south of Muleshoe on Highway 214.

Admitted to the hospital for treatment of back injuries was John C. Rodriguez, 20, who told investigating officer Larry King that he was the driver of the demolished pickup.

Injured and treated and released for multiple lacerations was Gary Ramage.

According to the initial reports of the accident, the Ramage pickup was traveling north on Highway 214 when it left the roadway on a curve. Apparently the driver attempted to correct the vehicle, over-corrected, causing the pickup to go into a broadside skid before overturning several times. Tools and debris from the accident were strewn over a wide area.

Both were brought to the hospital by W.B. Kitterell, who lives near where the accident occurred.

Pioneer Gas Explains Rate Increase Request As Filed

Pioneer Natural Gas Company this week provided the cities on its West Texas Distribution System a supplement to the rate application made by the company on June 30.

Included in the list of cities are Muleshoe, Earth, Amherst, Littlefield, Sudan and Friona, along with others.

In filing the original rate application, K.B. Watson, company president, had told the cities that a comprehensive study was being made of Pioneer's operations by H. Zinder and Associates, Inc., as well as company personnel. This study was to determine the amount of deficiency in the gas service revenues at Pioneer.

In his letter to the city officials, Watson said that study, as well as the company's related research, has now been completed and the company was submitting its formal Statement of

Sam Damron Adds Name To Campaign

Sam Damron of Muleshoe and Ron Awtry of Friona have added their names to a list of more than 200 citizens on the State-wide Committee of Democrats and Independents supporting Bill Clements for Governor of Texas.

In making the announcement, Clements said, "They see in me a proven businessman who will manage the state efficiently and in the best interests of all Texans, regardless of their traditional party ties."

David Dean, former campaign treasurer and legal counsel for Gov. Dolph Briscoe, is the director of Democrats and Independents for Clements.

Dean said, "The early groundswell of support Bill is finding among Democrats and Independents in this state is absolutely unprecedented for a Republican gubernatorial candidate in the history of Texas politics."

He also said, "It evidences the strong dissatisfaction and distrust that traditional Democrats and Independents sense in the Democratic gubernatorial nominee. In the past, many of these Democrats and Independents have locked arms and rallied behind the Democratic nominee. But this time, when they see a Democratic nominee, so out of step with their traditional conservative philosophy, they will vote for the best candidate on the ballot and this year that man is Bill Clements."

78 Football Season Tickets Go On Sale

Persons who held reserve seat tickets for the football season last year (1977) may pick up their options on these tickets at Western Drug starting Wednesday, August 16, and ending Friday, September 1.

Beginning September 5, all remaining tickets will go on sale on a first come, first serve basis, according to Neal B. Dillman, Muleshoe School Superintendent. Reserved tickets may be purchased at the School Business office during regular office hours from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The cost of a Reserve Season Ticket for five home games will be $15 each. Reserve seats after the football season starts will be $3.25 each for each home game. Large schedule placards with boxes to record scores may be picked up at the school business office or at the athletic office. The athletic department hopes that all businesses will pick up the free schedule placards, then buy season tickets with the $15 they would ordinarily pay for commercial football schedule placards, said Dillman.

Scholarship Is Presented '78' Graduate

Karen Jane Green, a 1978 graduate of Muleshoe High School, has received a Residence Hall scholarship from West Texas State University for the 1978-79 academic year.

Her scholarship will pay $400 of her school expenses, when she enters as a freshman this fall. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Gartin.

Residence Hall scholarships are awarded on a competitive basis with academic background and ability as important factors, said Judy Tolk of WTSU.

The scholarship, which ranges from $100 to the maximum of $400 per year is awarded by the Student Financial Aid and Scholarship Committee at West Texas State University. Students apply for the scholarship through the Student Financial Aid office at West Texas State University.

Intent to Change Rates. The proposed effective date of the rate increase is September 15, 1978, and will apply on a system-wide basis to all domestic and commercial type; small industrial; and large gas air-conditioning and/or electric generating gas service customers served by Pioneer.

As Watson pointed out in the original application on June 30, Pioneer's last base rate increase was effective in 1970. He said that since that time, in spite of the increased cost of gas to the consumer, the company's rate of return has decreased substantially due to many factors. He went on to point out that the increase in the customers cost of gas over the past several years has come about by the "cost-of-gas adjustment", an adjustment that is designed to pass the increased cost of gas in the field directly through to the consumer. "Pioneer does not retain any of the increased cost of gas, and, in fact, fails to recover much of the increase because of several cost items not recoverable in the cost-of-gas adjustment," Watson said.

Irrigation Gas Threatened

By Wade Mills

A high priority for natural gas used for irrigation pumping and crop drying is one of the subjects of the energy bill being considered before the Conference Committee this week in Congress.

The Board of Directors of Plains Irrigation Gas Users Association Thursday night, July 20, in Plainview, expressed alarm at the threat not only to priority, but to continued availability of natural gas at a price the farmers can afford to pay. Reports were made at the Board meeting of considerable work done and several trips to Washington by Board members to secure a priority and to secure a separate category and a special price for agricultural gas, but the Board members were gravely concerned about the drastic need for representation in Washington over the next few months in order to redouble the efforts already begun if natural gas for agriculture is to be protected.

It was stressed that financial support in the form of at least $5.00 per well from every irrigation farmer in the area was going to be absolutely essential if the work which needs to be done is accomplished during this most critical period. President Mills stressed that it will be too late and much harder to accomplish if the legislation becomes law because it would then have to be done by amendments to that law.

Vice President Jay Boston indicated that this was just as important and vital to every agriculture-related industry as it is to irrigation farmers, and that he hoped that every phase of the cattle industry and all agriculture-related industries would financially support the farmers in this effort if they knew how critical the threat to natural gas for irrigation has become.

Mr. Bruce Rigler, Executive Committee member from Plainview, stressed the fact that any businessman, whether in the cattle business or in the implement business, would be convinced by a trip to Pecos and a look at the empty business houses and a look at the sand dunes on formerly irrigated land where 75 percent of the natural gas for irrigation was cut off only two years ago, and the devastating effect upon the businesses in that area would convince any intelligent businessman that this could not be allowed to happen in the Panhandle and South Plains of Texas.

The Board directed that a letter be sent to the Secretary of Agriculture to try to protect the priority to be given natural gas used for irrigation pumping, and requested that county meetings be held in each county over the Panhandle and South Plains so that every irrigation farmer could be informed as to the current activities not only in Washington, but at the special session in Austin where Senator Kent Hance has proposed the introduction of a bill which would give the farmer a right of appeal to the Railroad Commission with regard to price of natural gas in the same fashion that cities and towns presently have to appeal from any rate.

As a result of the work already done, considerable support has been garnered for a special category for natural gas used for irrigation pumping and crop drying, as well as a special price, but much more work is needed and many, many more Congressmen must be convinced that this is absolutely essential if we are to continue to use natural gas for irrigation. Mr. Boston expressed the view that it would do no good at all to have all the natural gas in the world if the price skyrocketed to a point where farmers could not afford to pump their wells, and that that critical point in price had already been reached, and that unless a lot of groundwork was done and a lot of Congressmen educated on the amount of food and fiber production contributed to the nation's economy by this area, we would never be able to buy natural gas at a price we could afford to pay.

Comptroller Gives Result Of Survey

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Tuesday a recent study by the Wisconsin Department of Revenue proves once again that Texas' business climate is among the most favorable in the nation.

The study focused on the state and local tax burdens faced by six make-believe corporations in 16 states, including Texas.

For five of those six firms, Texas ranked second only to Alabama in having the lowest combined state and local tax liabilities, Bullock said.

"This is just another feather in that big Texas sombrero," the Comptroller said. "Study after study has proven that we're doing more than bragging when we say that Texas' business climate is tops in the nation."

The Wisconsin study is featured in the July issue of "Fiscal Notes", the monthly financial report published by the Comptroller's Office.

The financial report also shows that tax collections in Texas for the first nine months of the current fiscal year totaled $5.9 billion, up 13 percent over the same period a year ago.

State expenditures for that same period totaled $6 billion, up 19 percent from last year.

Califano asks new program of aid for pregnant teens.

Mr. Carl King, Executive Committee member from Dimmitt, has made many trips to Washington, and expressed the view that we could get a special category and we could get a special price for natural gas for agriculture, and told the Board he felt that this effort could be successful and would be successful if it received the right kind of support from everyone dependent upon agriculture production in the Panhandle and South Plains of Texas.

Bill Clements Asks Opponent For Debate

David Dean, deputy campaign manager for gubernatorial candidate Bill Clements today announced that Attorney General John Hill is refusing to meet Mr. Clements in a public debate, or even a joint appearance.

Dean received a letter dated Aug. 1 from Mr. Ernest Stromberger of Mr. Hill's campaign staff. The letter states that Mr. Hill's staff is awaiting adoption of the Republican Convention platform "to better gauge the potential for exploring issue differences in a joint appearance."

Mr. Clements first requested a public debate with Mr. Hill in a letter dated July 14. The request came in the wake of invitations by several non-partisan organizations wishing to sponsor a debate.

Mr. Clements today stated: "Despite whatever motives my opponent has for refusing to debate, I still believe that the people of Texas are entitled to hear the candidates express themselves in several public debates before the November election."

"The philosophical differences between my opponent and me are so broad that to deny the voters the opportunity to clearly differentiate between the two major gubernatorial candidates would be a gross injustice."

Mr. Clements also said, "I cannot understand Mr. Hill's reluctance to debate. He obviously understands the benefit to the voters of such a meeting as reflected by his numerous requests for a debate with Gov. Briscoe during the primary campaign."

"I realize that a public debate carries potential detrimental effects for any candidate. But, I am willing to take that risk to let the voters know my stand on the issues."

Mr. Clements said, "If my opponent will not debate me publicly, I will give him the opportunity to detail his stand on the issues in letters each week. Although this is a poor substitute for a public debate, it appears to be the only way the voters will have the opportunity to know where my opponent stands on the issues."

"Why wait until September? Crucial issues are now facing this state and the sooner the candidates discuss them publicly, the better understanding the voters will have when they cast their ballots in November."

CROSSTHE FENCE
 by Linda Mullin
 County Extension Agent

As the canning season gets into full swing this year, home canners should be alert to the causes and symptoms of the foodborne illness, botulism. This poisoning can cause serious illness and even death.

The outbreak of botulism in Clovis, N.M. just a few months ago was the second largest reported in the United States since recording began in 1899. Thirty-two people eating in a country club restaurant became ill and a death occurred as a result. This was hitting too close to home, folks! Botulism is "sneaky". You can't see it, smell it or taste it and it can cause you to be deathly ill before you realize what has happened.

Botulism is caused by a toxin produced in food by the microorganism Clostridium botulinum found in soil all over the world. The organism has the ability to form a spore very resistant to heat and chemicals. Its toxin is the most deadly known to man.

Several conditions are needed before an outbreak of botulism can occur.

1. The botulinum organism must be in the food.
2. The food must be canned or processed in some way.
3. Inadequate processing or heating must have occurred to permit spore survival and toxin formation.
4. Conditions after processing must permit spore growth and toxin formation.
5. The food is not heated enough

The Speaker Reports
 by Bill Clayton

AUSTIN--Though we undoubtedly live under the best form of government in the world, we must continually re-examine our laws in order to rectify or eliminate shortcomings that might have been overlooked. It is through this continual process of self-evaluation and gradual change that we are able to grow ever closer to the ideals upon which this great country was founded.

and concerns provisions in the Texas Code of Criminal Procedures providing indigent defendants with court appointed counsel.

The assigned counsel system used in Texas, a majority of the southern states, and in federal courts, provides for the trial judge to assign members of the local bar as counsel to indigent defendants.

This system is criticized for two main reasons: (1) it fails to adequately compensate counsel, and (2) counsel is often appointed too late in the course of proceedings to provide adequate defense.

To discover whether these and any other criticisms are valid or not, I have given the Criminal Jurisprudence Committee an interim assignment to study the laws and to research the effectiveness of appointed counsel versus retained counsel and the amount of fees paid to appointed attorneys.

Therefore, the incentive for counsel to put forth extra effort to convince the district attorney to drop charges and avoid a court hearing could be impaired.

Concern for the effectiveness of appointed counsel versus retained counsel for indigent defense stems from the basic right of all Americans, that of a fair trial by jury. HAND IN HAND
All the way to age we'll go
Hand in hand together;
All the way to brows of snow
Through every sort of weather.
Rain or shine, blue sky or gray,
Joy and sorrow sharing
Hand in hand along the way
We'll go bravely faring.

All the way to sunset land
We'll walk down together
Side by side and hand in hand
Held by Cupid's tether.
Once we danced in early May
Steps we'll long remember;
So we'll trip the miles away
Even to December.

Let the years go fleeting by!
Gray old age shall find us
Still recalling smile and sigh
Long since left behind us.
And though feeble we may grow,
Worn by wind and weather,
All the way to Age we'll go
Hand in hand together.

Texas Farmers Make Production Breakthrough

Texas cotton producers are leading the way in research that cut cotton production costs in half.

Twenty-three and 1/2 cents per pound is the low cost Bruce Gilbert, a cotton producer from Lyford Texas, managed to pull his production expenses down to. He achieved this reduction by using short season cotton varieties planted in narrow rows.

Gilbert's results and other similar reductions in production expenses were the outcome of a crop demonstration held on 150 acres in Willacy County, Texas. The demonstration plots were all planted with different varieties of short season cotton.

With cotton production costs presently hovering at around 60 cents per pound, the results gleaned from the short season cotton experiments in Willacy County may pave the roads towards a new era in cotton farming techniques.

According to Dr. Dale Pennington, an area extension agronomist in Weslaco, Texas, savings have been about $120 to $125 a bale using short season cotton.

L.N. Namken, a USDA soil scientist at the experiment station in Weslaco, described the difference between ordinary or "indeterminate" varieties of cotton and the new short season varieties. "The major difference between them is the short season varieties fruit so much faster," he said. "The fruiting rate is almost double that of the conventional cotton plant. In other words, we are blooming it twice as fast, so it greatly reduces the time to set a bale of cotton."

"We have produced a bale of cotton here in 120 days," Dr. Namken added. "With conventional varieties, cotton is 160 to 180 days. With short season cotton, we can get the cotton in and get it out before we get weather trouble."

Utah Dickerson, a cotton grower from Weslaco, Texas, has been well pleased with planting short season variety cotton because it has reduced the number of times he has had to spray insecticides. With short season cotton varieties, the length of the growing season is reduced. This means that insects are much less a crop hazard because there is less time for them to build up high populations and severely damage a crop.

"I've sprayed my cotton twice already (in early June)," said Mr. Dickerson. "I'll probably spray two or three times more. That will be five or six sprayings total. With long season cotton, we have usually had to spray for insects 10 to 12 times. So, when you talk about money, short season cotton saves me $50 to $60 per acre."

"If it weren't for Cotton Incorporated sponsoring these programs," added Mr. Dickerson, "no one would be carrying out this type of research. I think Cotton Incorporated has done a lot for farmers, not only in the Valley, but in other areas, too."

Cotton Inc. is the organization that conducts cotton research and promotion through programs financed by cotton producers. The Cotton Board is the administrative body that handles the finances for and approves cotton research programs.

"I would be out of business if it were not for short season cotton." That is the word from Ralph Hutchins of Raymondville, Texas, who has been very satisfied with his short season results. "Using short season cotton is the difference between profit and break even to me," he said. "That is about what it amounts to."

"One thing I like about the short season varieties," Mr. Hutchins added, "is that I save three to four insecticide sprayings. And my cotton gets to the gin earlier. It has definitely saved me money and increased my profits. It is fast, it is quick and you operate rapidly with it."

And how successful have Mr. Hutchins' yields been? "Last year I got a bale and 8/10. Straight across," was Mr. Hutchins' reply.

Curtis Roberts, a cotton grower from Raymondville, Texas, was able to reduce his costs to 36.4 cents per pound on salt affected land. Nearly three acres of the Roberts operation were lost due to the high level of salt in the soil. But, by using short season cotton varieties, he was still able to dramatically reduce his expenses.

"On this type land and under these conditions in Texas, I think short season varieties are very good," said Mr. Roberts. "It looks good on this block, because this block is very salty. Hopefully, we will get enough load on it, set, it strip it, and be through with it early. This is the third year that I have gone with the early season varieties."

Saving money on insecticide is one of the major reasons many growers are becoming interested in short season varieties. James Dyer of Weslaco, Texas, is one such grower. "One of the biggest advantages in using short season cotton is that I do not have as much worry with insects. Also, the sooner I can make this crop and be done with it, the more money I will be taking to the bank."

"The insecticide that we are using today runs approximately $10 an acre," Mr. Dyer added. "If I can save one spraying, I save $10, and right on down the line."

"This type of short season program never would have come about without the help of Cotton Incorporated," Mr. Dyer said. "I think a cotton producer is cutting off his nose to spite his face if he doesn't support Cotton Incorporated."

The cotton-growing demonstration with short season varieties were conducted under the direction of Willacy County Extension Agent, Kent Powell. The programs in Willacy County were developed to gather new information on yields, growth spacing for plant populations, and to look for new and better ways to produce cotton more efficiently.

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — The University of Texas has one of the largest undergraduate programs in astronomy in the nation.

About one-third of UT Austin's more than 30,000 undergraduates will take at least one astronomy course during their four years on campus. In 1977, a total of 4,200 registered for astronomy courses.

Additionally, over the next 10 years, the Astronomy Department will be a research participant in a NASA project to orbit and operate a 100-inch telescope in space. A vital element in the research will be UT's McDonald Observatory, located in the Davis Mountains of West Texas.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Southwestern Bell Telephone Company got only $124 million of the $214 million rate hike it requested through the Public Utility Commission.

PUC in a two-to-one decision cut the Bell request by $89.8 million following a lengthy hearing and consideration.

Some phone bills in homes actually may be decreased as a result of the final PUC order.

The agency's order set up an experimental residential measured rate or "lifeline" service for 15 cities on an optional basis. The service is supposed to be available within six months of implementation of the order.

On customers' request the new rating plan reportedly could lower basic $6.50 monthly bills to a bottom of $4.20 in the Austin area, for example. The minimum measured rate would vary from $3.30 for one rate group to $5 for the Houston metro area.

Commissioner Garrett Morris dissented from the final order, claiming Bell had been allowed unjustified tax revenues in the amount $5.6 million and depreciation benefits of $33 million. He said the rate boost should have been held to $42.4 million.

Installation and service charges will rise substantially. Maximum residential installations will increase from $30 to $40.25.

Bell officials said they will decide this week whether to appeal the order. Specialized services like PBX, Centrex, private lines and service charges will bear most of the increases to consumers.

Yantis Ousted

The State Senate, somewhat unhappily, rejected the appointment of Hugh Yantis as State Board of Insurance chairman.

Yantis was the most controversial appointee made by Gov. Dolph Briscoe since the 1977 legislative session. Sen. Lloyd Doggett of Austin invoked traditional "senatorial courtesy" which gives a senator effective veto power over appointment of a constituent. Senators voted 27-1 to turn down confirmation of Yantis, although several made clear they would have preferred to keep him on the job.

Sen. A.R. Schwartz of Galveston and Doggett also waged an effort to oust Texas Water Commission member Dorsey B. Hardeman, a former senator from San Angelo, but failed as Hardeman won confirmation 23-5.

Durwood Manford, who has served 17 years on the insurance board, was among a long list of appointees confirmed without opposition.

Conventions Set
Programs are shaping up for state conventions of Democrats and Republicans next month.

Republicans will meet first, September 9, in Dallas. Democrats will move into Fort Worth the following week, September 15-16.

Houston savings and loan executive Billy Goldberg is due to be named chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee as the selection of gubernatorial nominee John Hill.

Ray Barnhart of Houston is expected to be re-elected as the state Republican chairman.

AG Opinions

Attorney General John Hill held unconstitutional a law permitting only nominal tax assessments on property owned by non-profit associations for use of their members.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

—Lower Colorado River Authority may contract to permit use of a portion of its natural gas pipeline by a private entity. But the transaction would bring LCRA under regulation of the Railroad Commission as a natural gas utility.

—Bee County may spend Comprehensive Employment Training Act funds to contract with the County Community Action Agency for services that will carry out purposes of CETA. The county auditor is responsible for accounting for the funds and must follow procedures specified in the contract.

Transfer Approved

Gatesville State School for Boys will be transferred to the State Board of Corrections for use as an adult prison under a bill on Gov. Dolph Briscoe's desk.

The legislation was passed in the special session. Authorities said population at the youth correctional facility has dropped to only 400 from a peak of more than 1,000, while prisons are badly overcrowded.

Various units of the school will be turned over to the Texas Department of Corrections by Texas Youth Council within the next year.

More than $571,000 in TYC building funds also will go along with the switch, to finance renovation, remodeling and alteration of the buildings to care for adult offenders.

Heat Illness Stalks Sun, Sports Lovers

This is a time of year when we are all experiencing very hot weather. Occasionally, a sun-burn reminds some people how strong the sun really is. But infrequently a sports enthusiast is reminded of the sun's power through a more serious warning, heat illness.

Heat illness is an excessive rise in body temperature. Loss of body fluid through sweating and failure to replace water through drinking adequate amounts makes it difficult for the body to dissipate heat. The two forms of serious heat illnesses are heat exhaustion and heat stroke, the Texas Medical Association (TMA) says. Most persons can learn to recognize the progressive signs of heat illness such as profuse sweating, fatigue, and perhaps muscle cramps, and then heat exhaustion with its rapid pulse. Heat exhaustion can progress to heat stroke, the main sign being the cessation of sweating.

The most important considerations in avoiding serious heat illness are:

---Acclimate gradually to the heat with physical conditioning in the early morning or evening hours. Later on participate for brief periods in your sport or recreational activity during the hot part of the day to further acclimate the body;

---Avoid restrictive clothing and rubberized or non-porous material that does not permit heat to escape;

---Remember that a person who loses excessive amounts of weight in a before/after comparison of activity (five or more pounds, which is mainly water loss); is more susceptible to heat illness than an individual with a less drastic weight loss;

---Realize that high temperatures, high relative humidity, or a combination of these factors increase the risk of heat illness. TMA says that the most important general principle to keep in mind is that if the body receives adequate water, the possibility of heat illness is very unlikely. Frequent rest breaks to replenish the water lost through sweating should be a regular part of any summer recreation or sports program.

The most basic first aid tip in caring for heat illness (heat exhaustion or heat stroke); is to cool the person by the most expedient means, while having someone else summon emergency help.

The Calvary Christian School will begin testing August 14. Classes will begin August 28.

Congressman Praises Science Board Report

The Honorable George Mahon, U.S. representative from Texas, today congratulated the National Science Board on its tenth annual report on basic research. Rep. Mahon particularly cited the work of NSB vice chairman and report committee chairman Dr. Grover E. Murray, University Professor and past president of Texas Tech University, for his leadership in the report's preparation.

"Continued support of the vital research sponsored by the National Science Foundation is high on the list of this nation's priorities," Congressman Mahon said.

The report, "Basic Research in the Mission Agencies: Agency Perspectives on the Conduct and Support of Basic Research," emphasizes the following: ---Usefulness of basic research. Federally supported basic research has produced and continues to produce significant additions to scientific knowledge of high potential in addressing national problems and concerns.

---Considerable increase in basic research in universities, with much less increase in industry. Performance of basic research by universities increased 25 fold, in current dollars, during 1953-77, and only 5 fold by industry. (For example, Murray cited Texas Tech's research program, which has grown from a few hundred thousand dollars to more than $10 million in that same time frame.)

---Need for basic research in traditional scientific disciplines.

In listing priorities and gap areas in their research agendas, most agencies frequently cite this need. Therefore, many of the same disciplines occur repeatedly on priority lists of several agencies. These disciplines include materials sciences, environmental sciences, food and nutrition research, physics, chemistry, mathematical and computer sciences, and the life sciences.

In transmitting the report to President Jimmy Carter, Dr. Norman Hackerman, NSB chairman and Rice University president, commented, "We hope this report will serve as a source of information about federally supported basic research for the executive branch, the Congress, the scientific, educational and business communities, and others concerned with federally supported basic research.

"The report includes agency perspectives on how fundamental scientific inquiry assists the federal government to carry out its varied missions. The organization and management of this effort, which includes research performers in government, academia, industry and the nonprofit sector, also are described."

Murray added, "As a result of this review of the agencies and their activities, the board affirms its strong belief in the value of multiple support of scientific research by the federal government and in the key role of the mission agencies."

President Carter submitted the report to Congress on Aug. 2.
