Supreme Court to get redistricting appeal

Morales to contest boundary decision

By MICHAEL HOLMES
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN (AP) - The controversy over the state's congressional district lines is headed for the U.S. Supreme Court.

Attorney General Dan Morales said Thursday that Texas will appeal a federal court decision declaring three of the state's 30 congressional districts unconstitutional.

Morales said the state will ask the Supreme Court to overturn the ruling of a three-judge panel, which said the districts had been racially gerrymandered.

He said the state also wants the Nov. 8 elections to proceed as planned.

And if the current congressional districts aren't ultimately upheld, Morales said the 1995 Legislature should be given the first chance to draw new maps.

"We believe that the decision does not square ... with the Constitution," he said. "We believe the U.S. Supreme Court will overturn this (ruling)."

State officials said that since Republicans and Democrats already have selected their congressional nominees - and because early voting begins in just two months - there is no time to go back to the drawing board.

A spokesman for Democratic Gov. Ann Richards said she wants the November elections to proceed as scheduled under the old districts. "That would be the logical thing to do," said press secretary Bill Cryer.

Cryer said Richards doubts that a special legislative session could be called to draft new districts in time for the elections to proceed.

The panel of three federal judges on Wednesday struck down two districts in the Houston area and one in Dallas, saying they "bear the odious imprint of racial apartheid."

Ruling on a challenge brought by Republicans, the judges said the three districts "were conceived for the purpose of providing 'safe' seats in Congress for two African-American and an Hispanic representative."

Republican Party Chairman Tom Pauken said Thursday that failure to draw new districts before the fall elections flies in the face of the judges' findings.

"If the districts have been declared unconstitutional, why go ahead with an election that effectively doesn't count?" Pauken asked.

"I would hope that the judges would draw the lines themselves, based on communities of interest and neighborhood boundaries," he said.

Pauken said he sees no way the Legislature could be called into a special session and quickly draw new, constitutional districts.

Morales said drawing those districts is "a messy business" fraught with partisan and personal wrangling.

Morales pointed to last week's Supreme Court decision allowing Louisiana's congressional elections to proceed under a legislative-drawn plan, despite a similar lower court ruling that found racial gerrymandering there.

The Texas lawsuit was filed by six Republicans - four white, one Hispanic and one Asian - who claimed that 24 of the state's 30 districts were racially gerrymandered and should be redrawn.

Just paddlin' along

Ethan Waide, 4, finds he can get along just fine swimming with a little help from his big sister, Elisha Waide, 8, and his aunt, Sherrie Wear, during an outing this week at the Dameron Park pool. This weekend marks the final days of operation for the antiquated pool, which will close for the season after the Sunday session. The pool will be open from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Construction has begun on a new aquatic center on 15th Street that will open next year to replace the old pool.

Commission approves leasing new golf carts

Golfers will have new carts to drive on their rounds of John Pitman Municipal Golf Course.

During a single agenda item special meeting Friday morning, the Hereford City Commission approved a lease agreement with Textron Corporation to put 40 new carts into service at the city-owned course. Carts now in use will be returned to Textron.

City Manager Chester Nolen estimated the change in lease agreement will save the city as much as $10,000 annually.

The previous lease agreement called for $31,694 annual payments on carts, through 1995. If the city had decided to exercise the purchase agreement, the cost would have been about $30,000, plus maintenance costs of $10,000, said Nolen.

Under the new four-year agreement, Textron will provide 40 carts at an annual cost of $21,268. Nolen said the carts technically are used because they were in possession of another party for about two weeks. The company will provide warranty maintenance for two years.

The new lease is effective immediately, said Nolen.

Survey reveals trust in Pantex

By JEAN PAGEL
Associated Press Writer

High marks in a recent survey have confirmed the public's trust in the Pantex nuclear weapons plant, according to backers.

The survey, released Thursday, showed that Amarillo-area residents think Pantex is safe and economically vital.

And almost eight out of 10 respondents favored heavier bomb-dismantlement and plutonium duties for the plant 17 miles northeast of Amarillo.

"They're uninformed," retorted Dorothy Bell, who says her husband, a retired Pantex employee, suffers health problems caused by radioactive exposure. "A lot of it is political."

The survey was conducted by Shipley & Associates Inc. for Panhandle 2000, a group that advocates Pantex expansion. Four hundred residents of Armstrong, Carson, Potter and Randall counties were telephoned randomly from May 20-22. The survey had a 5 percent margin of error.

Its findings included:
-- 89 percent of respondents favored having Pantex in the Texas Panhandle;

-- 79 percent said they supported expansion;

-- 73 percent said Pantex was safe; and

-- 60 percent said Pantex didn't threaten the region's water supply.

"Pantex is overwhelmingly supported by the residents of the four-county region," the survey concluded.

Those findings could bolster the case of business leaders and politicians who want more work and more jobs at Pantex.

But Mrs. Bell said the survey's results aren't a surprise.

"We've been to the meetings where all the city officials are gung-ho to have the plutonium brought here and stored, where they don't realize it's the most hazardous chemical on earth," she said.

Plutonium is stored in bunkers at Pantex, a 16,000-acre site that sits on the Ogallala Aquifer. Farmers, environmentalists and pacifists have lobbied against Pantex during its years of nuclear work for the Department of Energy.

Ninety-three percent of respondents in the survey agreed that Pantex - employer of more than 3,200 people

- was vital to the Amarillo-area economy. Eighty-eight percent called Pantex a facility to be proud of.

One in five respondents told the survey-takers they would prefer seeing Pantex kept at its current level of operation. Seven percent wanted it closed.

Jerry Johnson, an attorney who serves as co-chairman of Panhandle 2000, said survey findings were sent to DOE officials.

"I think it's a healthy thing," Johnson said. "Pantex has been debated pro and con in the media here for the past few years. Speakers have come in and people have expressed themselves in various ways. The public has become more educated about Pantex."

Byrd wants partisan fighting to end, calls for bill passage

By CHRISTOPHER CONNELL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) - A veteran Democrat said the Senate debate over health reform has made the voters sick and left him discouraged. He pleaded with colleagues to stop the partisan warfare and pass a stripped-down bill.

"I can only hope that we will somehow come to our senses, take a reality check ... pare down this bill (and) salvage the essential reform elements in it," Sen. Robert Byrd, D-W.Va., said in a lecture on the Senate floor Thursday evening.

D.S. County grand jury issues 14 indictments

Fourteen persons were indicted Thursday during the August session of the Deaf Smith County Grand Jury.

Names of four defendants were withheld pending their arrest.

Gilbert Martinez, 17, of 508 Whittier, Apt. B, is named on three indictments, two for burglary of a building and one for forgery by making. He is confined to Deaf Smith County jail in lieu of bond.

Felony driving while intoxicated indictments were handed down on three men. Benigno Escamilla Rios Jr., 33, of 326 Avenue I, and Gilbert Blea Jr., 33, of 612 Irving, No. 25, are free after posting bond of $1,000 each. Michael Raymond Smith, 35, of Abilene, posted a $2,500 bond.

Indictments of two persons are related to drugs. Joe David Pinkerton,

Byrd called the debate "one of the most discouraging of my political career. ... I'm sure that the American people are very sick of it."

His call for moderation came as a bipartisan bloc of about 15 senators reached tentative agreement on a pared-down proposal they hope will form the basis for a compromise.

The "mainstream" group led by Sens. John Chafee, R-R.I., and John Breaux, D-La., nearly gave up after they got discouraging news Thursday from Congressional Budget Office Director Robert Reischauer on how much it would cost.

Reischauer reportedly told the senators they would either need to radically scale back subsidies they hoped to offer or find some way to bring in a lot of money to pay for them.

One senator said Reischauer estimated the type of subsidies they were proposing would cost about $900 billion over 10 years.

Keeping a close watch

Dameron Park pool lifeguard Tim Burkhalter stands at poolside during an afternoon session, watching the frolicking children jump, swim and play in the water. Local school children were taking advantage of the last days of summer vacation this year, splashing around before classes start in Hereford on Monday. The pool will close for the season on Sunday.

Coming in Sunday's Brand

Juvenile curfews are a volatile issue around Texas, and Hereford is no exception, as city officials are looking at enacting an ordinance that would require young people to be inside at night. To help gauge public opinion about such an ordinance, the city will hold a public hearing next week.

On Sunday, Staff Writer Georgia Tyler looks at the curfew and some reasons why the city is proposing such an ordinance.

Detective portrayed as racist in motion by Simpson lawyers

By LINDA DEUTSCH

AP Special Correspondent

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Despite promises that race would not be an issue in O.J. Simpson's trial, defense lawyers have filed a motion portraying a detective who found a bloody glove at Simpson's estate as a racist who tries to frame blacks.

Mark Fuhrman has "a propensity to create false information against African-American defendants," said the 23-page motion, which seeks the detective's police personnel records and psychiatric reports.

Thursday's motion included statements from a woman who said Fuhrman told her nearly a decade ago that he wanted to burn "niggers" and was disgusted by interracial couples, and from a man who claimed Fuhrman shot him six times and helped plant evidence against him.

The motion also seeks internal documents detailing any infractions by Fuhrman or three other detectives assigned to the Simpson case.

Superior Court Judge Lance A. Ito said he would respond to the motion on Aug. 31.

Simpson's lead attorney, Robert Shapiro, declared in court last week that race would play no part in the trial. He said the same thing after two magazines previewed the racial strategy on July 25.

"He stood up in court and said in front of the judge and the world that race was not going to be an issue in this case... then we see this motion," said Fuhrman's lawyer, Robert Tourtelot.

The motion is "a desperate act by a desperate attorney," Tourtelot said. "I think it's outrageous he is trying to poison the mind of the public."

The defense motion suggests that Fuhrman planted a bloody glove at Simpson's home after the bodies of Nicole Brown Simpson and Ronald Goldman were discovered.

That glove, and another at the crime scene, were key evidence in the decision to order Simpson to stand trial on murder charges. Simpson, 47, has pleaded innocent. The trial is to begin Sept. 19.

The defense claims that detectives Phillip Vannatter and Tom Lange lied and concealed facts to obtain a warrant to search Simpson's estate, and that Fuhrman's partner, Ronald Philips, violated police procedures.

The motion also claims that detectives used inappropriate interrogation techniques when they first questioned Simpson about the killings.

All of this is "highly relevant to Mr. Simpson's theory that he is an innocent man who is the victim of a scheme to incriminate him," said defense attorney Carl Douglas, who filed the motion.

Attached was a sworn declaration by Kathleen Bell, who said Fuhrman told her in the mid-1980s that he would stop any vehicle occupied by a black man and a white woman.

"I then asked Fuhrman, 'What if the two people are in love?'" Bell said. "Fuhrman then appeared to get disgusted with me and stated, 'If I had my way, they would take all the niggers, put them together in a big group and burn them.'"

Fuhrman denies ever meeting Bell, Tourtelot said.

Douglas also submitted a complaint from a robbery suspect in 1987 who said that after he surrendered peacefully, Fuhrman uttered a racial epithet, shot him six times and said, "Why don't you just die?"

The suspect, Joseph Britton, said Fuhrman helped plant a knife near him to justify the shooting. A mistrial was declared last fall in the civil rights case and a new trial was ordered.

The defense already had leaked to magazines that Fuhrman had tried unsuccessfully to retire on disability in 1983 by claiming that job stress made him violent towards minorities.

Tourtelot said he would sue over the articles after Simpson's trial.

Newspaper reports legislator expenses

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) - Texas legislators have run up $1.2 million in taxpayer-paid travel expenses over the past 11 months, the Amarillo Daily News reports.

A large portion of the expense covered lawmakers' costs for traveling to and from Austin, and the $95-per-day payment they can claim if legislative business requires them to spend a night away from home.

But some lawmakers also are billing taxpayers for cross-country trips to attend conferences.

Rep. Warren Chisum, D-Pampa, chairman of the Texas Conservative Coalition, leads the pack in travel expenses with about $22,775 paid through July.

About $5,100 of Chisum's total was for out-of-state travel, according to the state records.

Chisum said he attended the Western States Conference in Phoenix; the Southern Legislative Conference in Norfolk, Va.; and an Energy Council meeting in Alaska.

"I've had to do considerable traveling this year," Chisum said. Chisum, who also chairs the House Environmental Regulation Committee, said he attends meetings to learn how other states deal with environmental problems.

Rep. Pat Haggerty, R-El Paso, had the second highest travel expenses with $22,071.

Haggerty said his expenses are high because his district is so far from Austin. He spent $2,350 on out-of-state trips.

Sen. Bill Haley, D-Center, had the highest overall travel expenditures in the Senate with $17,763 reported. His out-of-state trips amounted to $974.

Rep. Layton Black, D-Goldthwaite, chairman of the House Administration Committee, said state representatives must get his approval for out-of-state trips. The travel costs come out of the $7,500 that lawmakers receive monthly to run offices in Austin and their home districts, he said.

Rep. Jim Rudd, D-Brownfield, who is not running for re-election, had expenses of $17,826, which included trips to three national conferences for state legislators.

"That's kind of my finale, saying good-bye to old friends," Rudd said. He said he spends less on office operations and always returns some money to the state.

Senate candidate labels Hutchison 'puppet' of PAC

By SCOTT ROTHSCILD

Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) - Texas' U.S. Senate candidates are dueling over the health-care debate in Congress.

Democratic U.S. Senate candidate Richard Fisher on Thursday called Republican incumbent Kay Bailey Hutchison a "puppet" of special interests trying to block health-care reform.

In response, Mrs. Hutchison's campaign accused Fisher of trying to mislead voters, and said she was working on reforms that would increase the availability of affordable insurance.

The two face each other in the Nov. 8 general election.

Fisher cited a study that shows Mrs. Hutchison is the top Senate recipient of campaign contributions from health and insurance industries.

"She is owned by the health-care insurance PAC. I owe them nothing," Fisher said. "She is the PAC puppet of this industry."

Citizen Action, which supports a single-payer health-care plan, says Mrs. Hutchison received $611,009 from health and insurance interests from Jan. 1, 1993 through May 31, 1994. That is more than twice the amount of the next Senate recipient.

But David Beckwith, a spokesman for the Hutchison campaign, said it was unfair to compare Mrs. Hutchison's contributions because she has run in three elections - a special election, a runoff and the GOP primary - while many of the others listed hadn't faced a campaign during that period.

He noted The New York Times, which published the list of top PAC recipients, ran a correction Thursday, which said Mrs. Hutchison's total was inflated by the multiple elections.

Beckwith said Mrs. Hutchison has raised more than $10 million in campaign funds over the past two years, and 16 percent of that total came from PACs. He said the campaign has received 55,000 individual contributions.

Fisher also criticized Mrs. Hutchison for her vote against a health reform amendment to expand coverage for pregnant women and children, statements she made last week on health care, and her support of a plan by Senate Minority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kansas.

On Tuesday, Mrs. Hutchison voted against an amendment that would require insurers to provide preventative care to pregnant women and children by July 1995 with no copayments.

Beckwith said Mrs. Hutchison opposed the amendment, which received two Republican votes, because it "assumed governmental bureaucratic control of health-care."

Last week, Mrs. Hutchison said she didn't know how many Texans had no health insurance, and that those without coverage could receive care at charity hospitals.

Those comments did not mean that Mrs. Hutchison opposed reforms, Beckwith said. "We obviously need to expand the availability of health insurance," he said.

Fisher said one in four Texans lack health insurance, and that depending on hospitals to provide primary health care is "the most expensive and least efficient" way to deliver such care.

In other developments:

Nearly 1 million voters have been purged from voter registration rolls, Secretary of State Ronald Kirk said.

"If you changed residence in the last year and have not registered to vote in your new precinct or county, it is most likely that you were removed from your county's voter registration roll," Kirk said.

He added, "I strongly urge all Texans to double-check and update their voter registration especially if they have moved."

Voters have until Oct. 9 to submit a new voter registration application in order to be eligible to vote in the Nov. 8 election.

Heat relief, some rainfall are expected

By The Associated Press

A break in the summer heat appears to be on the horizon.

Today brought another typically hot Texas summer afternoon, given a head start by overnight temperatures that never fell lower than 80 in many places.

But rain may be on the way. High pressure centered over the northern Gulf of Mexico and southeasterly winds of 5 to 10 mph scattered low clouds across the middle and lower coast and parts of South Texas.

However, scattered showers and thunderstorms that dotted the Panhandle and South Plains Thursday should expand to the south tonight and Saturday.

It should be mostly cloudy with a chance of thunderstorms tonight and Saturday.

Temperatures in North Texas should range from lows in the 70s to highs in the upper 80s to mid-90s.

West Texas temperatures should range from lows in the 60s and 70s to highs in the 80s over the Panhandle and 90s and 100s elsewhere.

In South Texas, temperatures should range from lows in the 70s inland to 80 along the coast to highs from near 90 along the coast to 100 in the Rio Grande plains and South Central Texas.

Somewhat milder weather is on the horizon, the National Weather Service said.

Netters armed with experienced youth

By JAY PEDEN
Sports Editor

The Hereford High School tennis team will start the fall season Saturday in Lubbock with a young but relatively experienced group of players.

After more than two weeks of practice, the Herd will play two team matches Saturday: at Monterey at 9 a.m. and at Lubbock High at 2 p.m.

"We've had a lot of competition," coach Ed Coplen said, referring to the team's practices. "We started two-a-days when football started (Aug. 3), and we've had two-a-days up until this Monday."

"We've been having challenge matches between all the boys and all the girls to see who's going to play one through six this weekend."

The lineups that came out of those challenge matches look like this (in order of No. 1-No. 6): Natalie McWhorter, Paige Robbins, Holly Weishaar, Taylor Sublett, Nicole McWhorter and Annie Hoffman for the girls; Tom Jarecki, B.J.

Lockmiller, Rob Reinauer, Pete Vargas, Tyler Merrick and Andrew Carr.

Sublett and Jarecki, the only seniors among the top 12, are the team captains. Lockmiller, Vargas, Merrick, Robbins and Natalie McWhorter are juniors; Reinauer and Hoffman are sophomores; and Carr, Weishaar and Nicole McWhorter are freshmen.

With the high number of underclassmen, it looks like a young group, but Coplen points out that eight of them return from last year's top 12.

The object of high school tennis in the fall is for the team to win, as opposed to the spring when singles and doubles are stressed.

The top two teams from each district advance to the regional tournament. Last fall, Hereford's team finished second to Borger in District 1-4A and advanced to the second round of the Region 1-4A tournament. Hereford has a chance to go to regionals again this year.

In recent years, the battle for the two top spots in District 1-4A has been between three teams: Hereford, Pampa and Borger. The district is getting tougher, though.

"Borger will be favored to win," Coplen said. "There'll probably be four of us that could be second."

Coplen adds to the old top three teams newcomer Canyon, up from Class 3A, and Randall, which has been in District 1-4A all along but keeps improving its tennis program.

"I think they'll (Randall) be a contender. They'll beat some people," Coplen said. "Canyon has always been a real strong tennis team. They'll be strong this year."

Borger is the favorite because the Bulldogs return most of their players from last year's district champions, including Dawna Denny, the top girl in the district last year.

Pampa could be in for an off year. The Harvesters lost most of their boys, Coplen said, as well as their top girl, Jamie Barker, who transferred to Amarillo Tascosa.

Dumas and Caprock round out the district. Neither have been a factor in team tennis in recent years.

As part of their preparation for the season, members of the team played in a tournament last weekend in Hereford which included players from other towns.

The Hereford players did well, winning in five brackets and also taking second in four of them: Vargas and Reinauer won 16-18-year-old boys' doubles; Vargas won 16-18 boys' singles and Lockmiller took second; Robbins and Natalie McWhorter won 16-18 girls' doubles and Holly Weishaar and Nicole McWhorter took second; Robbins won 16-18 girls' singles and Natalie McWhorter was second; and Tamara Diller won 14 girls' singles, with Amanda Kriegshauser second.

In a regular season game in 1940, the Chicago Bears lost to Washington, 7-3, but in the NFL title game, the Bears beat the Skins, 73-0.

Spikers sweep two matches in Lubbock, split to start tourney

The Hereford volleyball team ran its record to 3-0 by winning both parts of a dual match Thursday in Lubbock, but followed that up with a bad split in their first pool-play match of the Lubbock Invitational Tournament this morning.

In the tournament today at Monterey High School, Hereford won the first game with Lubbock Coronado, 16-14, but dropped the second game, 15-11. Both were to play pool matches against Perryton and Canyon later today. If Hereford and Coronado both win out, Coronado would get the top seed out of the pool because it scored more points against Hereford. The Herd could still make the championship bracket with wins over Perryton and Canyon.

In Thursday's dual match, Hereford had no trouble with Andrews in the first match, winning 15-2, 15-1. In the second match, against Coronado at home, the Lady Whitefaces overcame an 11-15 loss in the first game to win the next two games, 15-9 and 15-4.

"They (Coronado) were hitting a lot of soft stuff, and it was dropping," Hereford coach Brenda Reeh said of the first-game loss Thursday. "In the second game, we played better defense and didn't give them as many points as we did in the first game."

Danielle Cornelius had 13 kills against Coronado and five against Andrews. Heather Hodges had 10 kills against Coronado and four against Andrews. Crystal Kelley had eight kills against Coronado.

Kriegshauser, Holly Weishaar, Tamara Diller, Taylor Sublett, Paige Robbins and Nicole McWhorter. Not pictured are Rachel Bezner, Katrina Malouf, Natalie McWhorter, Jami Parker, Rob Reinauer and Traci Reiter. The tennis team starts the fall season Saturday in Lubbock.

31 wins Scramble

The foursome of N.D. Kelso, Robert Kubacak, Jeff Shelton and A. Clark shot a 29 to win the Thursday Scramble at Pitman Municipal Golf Course.

Four other teams shot 31 and tied for second place.

As a high school football player in Wheaton, Ill., Red Grange scored 74 touchdowns.

Rockets forward in car wreck

HOUSTON (AP) - Houston Rockets forward Robert Horry escaped serious injury when his car collided with a tractor-trailer and struck a tree, police say.

Police spokesman Joe Gamino said Horry, 23, was cited for failure to control his speed in the early Thursday accident.

Three companions who were with Horry also escaped serious injury but all four men were treated at Ben Taub Hospital for minor bumps and bruises and released.

The companions were identified as Robert Hatter, 35, Floy Johnson, 33, and Danielle O'Donald, 18.

Horry, of Sugar Land, was the Rockets' 1992 first-round draft choice out of the University of Alabama. He was an NBA All-Rookie second-team member during the 1992-1993 season. He became a starter on the Rockets team in 1993-1994.

During the last regular season, Horry became one of the Rocket's more prolific scorers. He scored in double figures 39 times, including more than 20 points three times and 30 points once.

Horry missed a practice session just before the NBA playoffs after he was involved in another minor accident.

Musgrave rallies 49ers to win

By The Associated Press

Bill Musgrave is one of the backups to Steve Young on the San Francisco 49ers. He isn't taking a backseat to the No. 1 quarterback in the exhibition season, however.

Musgrave, a third-stringer, threw a 5-yard touchdown pass to Darrick Owens with 1:40 left to rally the 49ers to a 30-24 victory over the San Diego Chargers in one of two NFL preseason games Thursday night.

In the other, New England beat Washington 27-17.

"Even though it's the preseason, it's a good feeling to come back and win the game like that," Musgrave said. "It was just a timing play and Darrick and I were in tune on the play."

The NFL preseason schedule continues tonight with Arizona at Detroit, Atlanta at Cleveland and Green Bay at New Orleans.

With Musgrave at quarterback, the 49ers (2-1) scored 14 points in the last 15:05, including two field goals by rookie Doug Brien.

Musgrave led the 49ers on a dramatic nine-play, 54-yard drive in the closing minutes. On third-and-2, Musgrave rolled right and found Owens in the end zone.

"Everything was timed perfectly," Owens said. "Bill made a perfect pass and made it easy for me. It makes me feel good to contribute, especially to win the game."

Musgrave, who completed seven of 12 passes for 70 yards, threw a two-point conversion pass to Owens for the final margin. Young, meanwhile, was impressive, completing nine of 12 passes for 123 yards and two touchdowns in the only two series he worked.

The Chargers (0-4) played well early despite having just three days to prepare. They returned home Sunday night from a 10-day trip that included a 31-3 loss to Houston in San Antonio and a 28-20 loss to the New York Giants in Berlin, Germany.

Stan Humphries threw two touchdown passes and Gale Gilbert another as the Chargers built a 24-16 lead.

Patriots 27, Redskins 17

The Patriots, continuing to turn turnovers into touchdowns, scored 24 points in the fourth quarter to beat the Redskins.

The Patriots turned a pair of fumbles into two fourth-quarter touchdowns, the first a 15-yard run by Corey Croom and the second a 22-yard pass from backup Jay Walker to Steve Hawkins, to take a 24-10 lead.

New England tied the game 10-10 early in the fourth on a 5-yard pass from Drew Bledsoe to Hawkins, a free safety in college who was making his NFL debut.

Matt Bahr added field goals of 32 and 28 yards for the Patriots, 3-0 in the preseason for the first time since 1986. The Redskins, 0-3 in the preseason under new coach Norv Turner, scored on a 48-yard fumble return by linebacker Ken Harvey, a 15-yard pass from Gus Frerotte to William Bell and a 33-yard field goal by Chip Lohmiller.

Trev Alberts, the fifth overall pick in April's NFL draft, was declared out for the season by Indianapolis on Thursday because surgery is needed to repair his dislocated elbow.

The Colts, who took running back Marshall Faulk with the second overall pick, expected Alberts, an outside linebacker from Nebraska, to be an immediate starter.

Oilers Houston running back Gary Brown sprained his left ankle for the second time this week during Thursday's practice and may not return until the season opener Sept. 4 at Indianapolis.

Oilers sideline Brown

SAN ANTONIO (AP) - The Houston Oilers may hold running back Gary Brown out of the rest of the exhibition season to let him rest his left ankle, which has been sprained twice this week.

Brown on Thursday re-injured the sprain he suffered in Monday's exhibition game. When he limped off the field shoeless, he took with him any chance of playing in Saturday night's exhibition game against Buffalo in the Alamodome.

"We don't think it's serious, but my mindset now is that he won't play Saturday and if we don't see some improvement we'll hold him out next week against the Raiders, too," said

Bears

Chicago on Thursday released safety Dennis Collier, a seventh-round draft pick, and five other players.

Collier did not play in the Bears' first two preseason games. The 5-9, 187-pound Colorado product was listed as Jeremy Lincoln's backup at right cornerback on the team's depth chart.

First-year players cut by the Bears were kicker-punter Daron Alcorn and linebacker Reggie Givens.

The Bears also released three undrafted free agents: running back Mike Hightower, defensive tackle David Hollie and offensive tackle Shane Brinton of Western Illinois University.

Steelers With Gary Anderson still holding out, Pittsburgh signed David Treadwell, the former Denver and New York Giants kicker with the same range and reputation as Anderson; great on mid-length field goals, not as good on kickoffs.

Jets The New York Jets cut six free agents, reducing their roster to 74.

Released were defensive linemen Jeff Cooke of East Carolina and Paul Yatkowski of Tennessee, center Dan Schmidt of Kansas, receiver Chauncey Hogan of Southern, tackle Jackie Crisp of Colorado School of Mines, and punter Chris Shale of Bowling Green.

Only Shale spent previous time with an NFL club, with a two-year stint on Washington's injured reserve list.

Kevin Gilbride, assistant head coach for offense. "We just want to make sure it gets well."

Coach Jack Pardee said Brown should not have been on the field for the goal-line play that resulted in his injury.

"But that shows just how much he wants to play," Pardee said. "Right now our thoughts are that we just have to get him to get well and not aggravate it again."

Brown apparently aggravated a slight sprain he suffered against Dallas in Mexico City. He returned to rush 10 times for 58 yards in the first half on the muddy turf.

Baseball owners, players plan talks

By RONALD BLUM
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - Baseball owners and players will speak to each other next week. They're wondering if they have something constructive to say.

"Hopefully there won't have to be a lot of discussion next week about the size of the table," union head Donald Fehr said Thursday after federal mediators announced that talks to end the strike will resume.

Fehr was referring to the Paris peace talks that took years to end the war in Vietnam. Negotiators then spent months arguing who would sit where and how the table would be shaped.

His quip was revealing. Just because owners finally agreed to come to the bargaining table doesn't mean they'll budge off their demand for a salary cap.

"It's a positive sign," Fehr said. "I don't know if anyone should be optimistic. It depends on whether there's a change of substance along with it."

A five-man delegation of owners, including some from large, medium and small markets, will go the table along with Richard Ravitch, management's negotiator since bargaining began 19 months ago. It will be the first appearance of owners at negotiations since the night in March 1990 that the spring training lockout was settled after 32 days.

"I think it's a healthy sign and one which will advance the negotiations at this point," Ravitch said.

The strike, baseball's second-longest in terms of canceled games, completed its first week Thursday. With 14 more games wiped out today, the total rose to 100.

"The fact that owners are participating doesn't make it easy to reach a solution," Fehr said. "It makes it less difficult."

Some in management speculated that Colorado Rockies owner Jerry McMorris may be included on the negotiating team. They said executive council chairman Bud Selig probably would not.

The sides haven't met formally since last Friday, when baseball's eighth work stoppage since 1972 began. Fehr said the union wanted to resume talks this week, but said management told the union it wouldn't be ready until next Tuesday or Wednesday.

"I detect no sense of urgency on the part of Dick Ravitch. None. Zero," he said.

Canyon, Texas Largest Used Car Dealer is Over-stocked and is forced to Sell Cars & Trucks As Low As $5 this Saturday during one day sales event.

Canyon, Texas - Greg Lair Buick - Olds - Pontiac - GMC 8 miles south of Amarillo largest used car dealer has just announced plans to hold the largest one day sales event in their history. The event will take place Saturday, August 20th.

According to Dave Taylor, General Manager of the dealership, record sales in the last few months have resulted in the need to carry an increased number of used vehicles in order to satisfy the demand.

"In the last year we've increased our sales rate from 20 retail used vehicles a month to over 48 the last 3 months,"

Dave Taylor said, "In order to accomplish this we've had to stock more used vehicles than last year. We used to carry 50 now we've got over 90 on our lot." Dave Taylor added, "We've just bought 15 additional factory program cars and if I don't sell 10 immediately, I'll have to wholesale these vehicles at a great loss, because we don't have any room left."

Rather than lose money wholesaling these vehicles, plus carrying cost, Greg Lair, management decided to slash prices on their entire used inventory in an attempt to sell 30 vehicles in one day. "I've been given orders to sell $1000 cars for $5 just to make room," said Lee Flinn Used Car Manager. Flinn went on to say, the average sale price will be $1000 - $3000 less than our normal low retail price. The savings will be incredible."

The dealership will have all the vehicles on display at the front south side of Greg Lair Buick-Olds-Pontiac-GMC at least one hour early, before 8:00 a.m. Saturday, to give people time to look at all the vehicles before prices are put on at 10:00 a.m. All the vehicles will be unlocked and whoever is sitting behind the wheel at 10 am when prices are put on the windshield, will be given 1st opportunity to purchase the vehicle at that sale price. Dave Taylor said that this innovative approach to selling used vehicles should make it easy and quick for anybody in the market for a used vehicle to get a great vehicle at a very low price and with no hassle.

"Pick it out, drive it if you like. You already know the price - What could be easier?"

Bruce Smith, Business Manager was quoted as saying, "no price will be negotiated and I can help you arrange financing if needed."

Greg Lair Buick-Olds-Pontiac-GMC have been inspected by their car care centers and most qualify for extended service contracts. "Word of mouth is the best form of advertising and if you sell someone a good car at a good price, he's sure to tell others where he bought it. Dave Taylor said, expressing Greg Lair's Buick-Olds-Pontiac-GMC store philosophy.

Automobiles and Trucks are located at the front south side of Canyon E-Way & Buffalo Stadium Rd. across from West Texas A&M Stadium.

Rice QB LaRocca should get to pass under Hatfield

By MICHAEL A. LUTZ
AP Sports Writer
HOUSTON (AP) - Josh LaRocca never thought he'd be one to shave his head and he was beginning to think he wouldn't be able to use his drop back passing skills to lead the Rice Owls offense.

Yet, there he was on Thursday with a shiny new shaved head, sitting down to discuss the upcoming season as the starting quarterback for the Owls, who are seeking their third winning season in a row.

There was a brief moment of panic when LaRocca learned late last year that Ken Hatfield had replaced Fred Goldsmith as head coach.

After waiting his turn to be the starting quarterback, LaRocca, a model drop back passer, was faced with being tutored by the master of triple option football.

"I was scared, apprehensive," LaRocca said. "I didn't know what to expect except that all I'd ever heard about him was the triple option. But I came in and talked to the coaches and they assured me we weren't going to run the wishbone."

It wouldn't have been the first time LaRocca fared that way against Hatfield during his college career.

He was the starter for the first two games of the 1992 season before being lost for the year with a broken collarbone. When he came back last season, it was as the backup for Bert Emanuel, billed as the fastest quarterback in America with 4.2 clockings in the 40-yard dash.

But this time, there was no way LaRocca would be denied his opportunity to guide the Owls offense, even if he had to learn the triple option.

"I was going to be the starting quarterback on this team, no matter what offense we ran," LaRocca said. "I wasn't going to leave. Coach Hatfield is one of the best coaches in the country. I've heard of him forever and now it's an honor to play under him."

LaRocca doesn't have outstanding speed when he has to select the keep option.

"This is definitely my team and I've got great confidence in my abilities in this offense," LaRocca said. "I can run with the ball but maybe I'm not a 4.2 or 4.3 (40-yard dash)."

"Coach Hatfield realizes I throw better than I run. He'll do what's best for the team."

Running back Yoncy Edmonds had a different reaction to Hatfield's arrival. He had visions of 100-yard rushing performances.

"It was a shock when Coach Goldsmith left but when they said Coach Hatfield was coming in, I thought it would be great," Edmonds said. "I like the offense. We've got some good running backs here at Rice and it's going to give a lot of them a chance to run the football."

Edmonds is recovering from ankle surgery that forced him to miss spring practice but he went through his first practice on Thursday and expects to be able to be ready to play.

Edmonds gained 941 last season but missed the final two games because of his injury.

"I believe with this offense, I can come back and get that 1,000 yards," Edmonds said. "But I've got to get a position first. I don't feel it will be hard to learn the system, I just have to work my way back."

Hatfield expects both players to contribute to the Owls' success this season.

"We are building our offense around Josh," Hatfield said. "He's got as strong of an arm as I've ever been around."

Edmonds must overcome playing with pain, Hatfield said.

"If he gets through the next few days, we think he'll be able to make a contribution," Hatfield said.

Hatfield also forecasts the Owls to be in the SWC title race.

"I think we have a chance to win the conference title and I believe we can win the Western Athletic Conference title when we get over there," Hatfield said. "I think this is a good time to be at Rice University."

And LaRocca's new hair-less style?

"A couple of players (Chris Cooley, Bobby Gray) made this bet with Eric Ober (who keeps his head shaved)," LaRocca said. "If he came back with a full head of hair, then they would shave theirs."

"We started shaving the freshmen's heads and then some of the veterans did it too and it kind of got out of hand. There are some guys on this team I never thought would shave their heads and I'm one of them."

DETROIT (AP) - Michigan State Fair officials denied there had been a "Mercy" killing after Mitch Ryder decided not to perform if he couldn't sing his ode to suicide doctor Jack Kevorkian.

Ryder said fair officials asked him not to perform "Mercy," which is on his latest album "Rite of Passage."

But John Hertel, the fair's general manager, said Ryder was simply asked to sing his old material, which includes the hit "Devil in a Blue Dress."

Ryder said it was his first problem with the state fair.

"Prior to this, of course, I never had a song about Dr. Kevorkian either," Ryder told television station WJBK.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: It looks as if "A Buff in Fort Dodge" hooked you in with the origin of the word "hooker." The American Heritage Dictionary, computer version, makes it clear that the word was already in use to mean "prostitute" well before Gen. Hooker's time and that it therefore could not have originated as the reader described. This is the gist of the world's history:

The word "hooker," meaning "prostitute," is in fact older than the Civil War. It appeared in the second edition of John Russell Bartlett's "Dictionary of Americanisms," published in 1856. Bartlett defined hooker as "a strumpet, a sailor's trull." He also guessed that the word was derived from Corlear's Hook, a district in New York City, but there is no evidence that the term originated in New York.

Norman Ellsworth Eliason traced this use of "hooker" back to 1845 in North Carolina. He reported the usage in "Tarheel Talk, an Historical Study of the English Language in North Carolina to 1860," published in 1956. The fact that we have no earlier written evidence does not mean that "hooker" was never used to mean "prostitute" before 1845. The history of "hooker" is, quite simply, murky; we do not know when or where it was first used, but we can be very certain that it did not begin with Joseph Hooker.

However, the late Bruce Catton, Civil War historian, didn't completely exonerate Gen. Hooker. Catton said the term became popular during the Civil War—probably because there was a well-known red-light district in Washington which became known as Hooker's Division in tribute to the proclivities of the lusty general.

If the term "hooker" was derived neither from Joseph Hooker nor from Corlear's Hook, what then is its derivation? It is most likely, etymologically, simply "one who hooks." The term portrays a prostitute as a person who hooks, or snares, clients. No wonder it wasn't taught in school.—Frank in San Diego more than life. The dog sleeps with him and goes everywhere George goes. I can't blame him for being attached to a pet that has been his constant companion for five years. After all, I have a cat that sleeps with me.

However, this dog barks constantly while riding in the car and jumps all over me. I dread going anywhere with George because of the jumping and highpitched barking. I'm afraid to say anything for fear George will quit seeing me.

Is there a future for this relationship? If so, what would be the best approach for me to let George know I'd like to focus more attention on him and less on the dog?—Oregon Dilemma

DEAR DILEMMA: Don't compete with the dog. You'll lose. Use earplugs when you ride with George, and when you put them in, make a big point of how much the barking bothers your ears.

Pants are the look for the fall fashions

By FRANCINE PARNES
For AP Special Features
Get a leg up on summer fashion by pulling on a pair of pants.

Los Angeles designer David Dart says three basic styles cover most fashion needs: soft, loose pajamas; narrow pull-on pants; and fly-front constructed trousers.

"For us, they sell and sell and sell better than any long or short skirt because they're really easier for everyone," he says, adding that the narrow pull-on pants are doing particularly well this season.

"There's been a move from full to narrow because everything's been so oversized," Dart says.

Interest isn't just in width. There's the waist, too. Some styles rise far above it. Others, such as multi-buttoned sailor pants, fall on the hip.

And length? "Almost anything goes, from short, above-the-knee pants to above the ankle and longer," says LaVelle Olexa, fashion director for Lord & Taylor in New York. "So there is no one length that is the one to wear."

Olexa, like Dart, sees a move toward a narrower leg.

"However," she says, "for summer there are an awful lot of pants that are wider, fuller, softer, in lighter-weight fabrics such as cotton gauze, soft silks and rayons."

Richard Tyler, designing for Anne Klein Collection, offers women a full range of styles, including a wide pant in four-ply silk, "which I always do because it's very glamorous. It works every season. It's a style that certainly worked for Marlene Dietrich."

For the working woman, Tyler says the key to pants is a coordinating jacket. As for versatility, invariably, he says, pants are a safe bet.

"With a crisp white cotton shirt or a little T-shirt, a pair of three-pleated loose pants always looks right," he says.

Adrienne Vittadini says women love the ease of trousers because hemlines are befuddling.

"Skirt lengths can be ambiguous, and if a woman doesn't know what length to wear, she always has the wonderful option of pants," the designer says. "They're modern and they simplify dressing."

Comfort is key, too, particularly in summer, according to Olexa.

"A drawstring or elasticized waist in a soft fabric lends that comfort," she says. "A fuller pant worn with espadrilles or rope-bottom canvas shoes is this summer's look."

Just add a tank suit, crop top or tiny T-shirt.

DEAR FRANK: Thanks for the history lesson. I didn't realize there were so many scholars who were interested in hookers. Some of the letters were very funny. Thanks to all who wrote.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am 76. After 16 years of living alone, I have finally met a man I can care for. I believe "George" is quite fond of me, but here is the problem.

George has a little dog he loves

NEW YORK (AP)—Reality: Who needs it? Aaron Spelling is after glamour and beauty with his new TV series "Models Inc."

"I guess if I looked like Tom Cruise, I wouldn't be so fascinated with beauty," the producer says in the July 22 issue of Entertainment Weekly. "But I love beautiful people, and I think audiences want to see beautiful people."

Spelling, whose "Beverly Hills, 90210" and "Melrose Place" has viewers glued to their sets, says there's a modeling craze out there and it's marketable.

"Television is moving more toward reality-based shows, with people killing their parents and all that jazz," he said. "With 'Models Inc.,' we can do a show with some glamour."

More Americans are now high school graduates—78 percent—than at any other time in history.

Here's An Idea That Can Strengthen Your Family

Tonight at the dinner table, read something out loud to your family. Tomorrow night, let another member read something. A news story. A Bible verse. A Robert Frost poem. A cereal box panel. History. Humor. Anything. Each night a different family member can read a selection. Imagine the wide range of subjects your family will read in 365 days. What a stimulating way to have your children develop good reading habits. We have 23 million illiterate adults in America. We wouldn't have one, if each of them had been served reading as part of their nightly diet. It's non-fattening, but enriching. And it doesn't cost a dime.

Facts About The BIBLE BY JOHN LEHTI

THE SPITEFUL KING!

KING NAHASH OF THE AMMONITES, SHORTLY AFTER SAUL HAD BEEN MADE KING OVER ISRAEL, CAME UP AND BESIEGED THE TOWN OF JABESH-GILEAD. THE MEN OF JABESH, WANTING NO WAR, OFFERED TO SURRENDER THE TOWN TO NAHASH AND SERVE THIS AMMONITE KING! (1 SAM. 11:1) OBVIOUSLY, NAHASH WAS A SPITEFUL MAN, FOR HE WOULD NOT ACCEPT THIS PROPOSAL UNLESS EVERY MAN IN TOWN CONSENTED TO LOSE HIS RIGHT EYE! PROBABLY KING NAHASH WANTED TO INSULT THE ISRAELITES IN THIS MANNER, BECAUSE IN THE DAYS OF MOSES THE AMMONITES WERE FORBIDDEN BY LAW TO EVER ENTER INTO THE CONGREGATION OF THE LORD! THE ELDERS OF JABESH RECEIVED A WEEK'S RESPIRE IN WHICH TO SEEK HELP. WHEN THE MESSENGERS OF THE TOWN REACHED GIBEAH, WHERE KING SAUL LIVED, THE PEOPLE WERE HORRIFIED AT THE NEWS! KING SAUL WAS SO ANGERED THAT HE KILLED A YOKE OF OXEN AND SENT PIECES OF THE SLAIN ANIMALS THROUGHOUT ISRAEL WITH THE MESSAGE THAT ANY MAN WHO DID NOT JOIN HIM TO FIGHT KING NAHASH WOULD LOSE HIS OWN OXEN IN THE SAME WAY! (1 SAM. 11:7) NATURALLY THE RESPONSE WAS TREMENDOUS--THREE HUNDRED THOUSAND MEN ANSWERED THE CALL! SO SPITEFUL KING NAHASH DIDN'T HAVE HIS WAY WITH THE MEN OF JABESH-GILEAD, FOR KING SAUL AND THE ARMY OF ISRAELITES ROUNDLY DEFEATED THE AMMONITES!
