Lawmaker proposes teacher salary hike

By PEGGY FIKAC
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN (AP) - Texas teacher salaries would be lifted closer to the national average under a state lawmaker's two-year, $1.24 billion proposal.

"Teachers deserve a raise. Let's do it this session," said Rep. Christine Hernandez, D-San Antonio. She said Monday that her goal is for Texas teachers' pay to be at the national average in four years. Texas ranks 35th nationally, with an average of $30,519 for a 10-month contract. The national average is $35,958. Under Ms. Hernandez's bill, the state would pay $742 million and local school districts the remainder of the $1.24 billion increase for Texas' 265,000 educators.

Salary plan outlined

AUSTIN (AP) - Here, at a glance, is the teacher salary increase proposed by Rep. Christine Hernandez, D-San Antonio:

- State-set minimum teacher salaries would increase by $6,000 for a 10-month contract. For example, the minimum starting salary would rise from $17,000 to $23,000. A teacher at the highest spot on the pay scale, which has 10 levels, would earn a minimum of $34,400 next school year.
- An 11th level would be added to the minimum pay scale in 1996-97, carrying a $35,540 salary.
- Pay raises would vary depending on what each educator currently makes.
- Those already earning above the proposed minimum would get a $500 raise. That would be about half of the state's educators.
- Only about 4,000 teachers - those who don't already earn more than the current state minimum - would get a $6,000 raise.
- The rest would be somewhere in between.
- As education spending increases, so would the state minimum salary schedule for teachers.
- The cost for the next two years would be about $1.24 billion for raises, plus about $96.6 million for associated Teacher Retirement System costs. The money would go to approximately 265,000 educators, who include about 230,000 classroom teachers, plus principals, librarians, counselors and others with teaching certificates.

Tending his hogs

Clint Robison works with his two hogs in temporary quarters built in November following a fire which destroyed the family's barn, which was located on the concrete slab in the background, killing three hogs he had purchased for show competitions. Robison won county champion honors at last week's stock show with one of the animals, purchased to replace the ones killed in the fire.

Clint Robison bounces back from fire to win hog honors

By GARRY WESNER
Managing Editor
The call came in to the Hereford Fire Department at 9:44 p.m. on Nov. 9 -- a structure fire at the intersection of County Roads GG and 13.

For brothers Clint and Trip Robison, watching their family's barn burn to the ground that night was the end of a dream -- that they could have success in the 1995 Hereford Young Farmers Junior Livestock Show hog competition.

Inside the 40-year-old wood frame barn were five show hogs purchased 1-1/2 months before. With the blaze apparently starting in the general area of their pens, nothing could be done to save the animals.

Just over two months later, however, Clint Robison reached the top -- claiming County Grand Champion honors in the HYF show with one of two hogs he bought to replace those killed in the fire.

On Monday, Robison recalled the days following the fire and the ensuing work that brought him to the show arena last Thursday for a date with destiny.

Robison's mother, Terry Robison, noticed the fire when she went to the kitchen that night. She immediately called 911 and volunteer firefighters headed for the scene.

The only electricity in use at the time of the fire, Robison said, was heat lamps keeping the five hogs warm in their stalls.

The morning after the fire, the HHS senior looked at the ruins of his project and wondered if it was too late to start over. Stock show rules required animals be purchased by Dec. 1, but Robison had owned his hogs since the first of October. Buying new animals would be possible, but he had lost 1-1/2 months in time working with them.

The day, he said, he spoke with ag teacher Kevin Kelley at school.

"I did want to get more," he said, but "only if I could get one that would be competitive."

Brother Trip, a sophomore at HHS, decided against pursuing new hogs, focusing instead on basketball.

Both Robison and his parents praised Kelley for his dedication to helping get the hog project back on line.

While Robison and a friend traveled to Chickasaw, Okla., the weekend after the fire, they were unable to find any hogs that suited his needs.

It was Kelley the next weekend who found a breeder in Duncan, Okla., who sold him two animals -- a Hampshire and a Spot.

Buying pigs was just the first step in Robison's attempt to come back from the fire.

His father, Steve, said the family lost everything relating to hog raising -- feed, pens, brushes, whips and stalls.

Neighbors pitched in with a new pen and hog house.

Others donated financially to help purchase the animals.

"It was just starting from scratch all over," Clint Robison said.

To help make up the lost time in working with the animals, Robison entered seven jackpot shows during December, traveling as far as Kerrville to show his two pigs and get them some experience in the show arena.

"We spent a lot more time than a lot of people do" working with the animals, he said, showing them and "just basically feeding, getting them where they look right."

Ironically, Robison said, the hog that won county champion honors here did not do as well as the other one did at the jackpot shows.

When they arrived at the Hereford show, the classifier determined both pigs would be shown in the Cross category rather than under their formal breeds.

While this meant Robison was competing against himself in the mediumweight Cross division, it also meant his county champion Hampshire hog avoided a run-in with ultimate Five-County Grand Champion Jessica Smith, who brought her winner through that breed.

In the hog show, Robison won first place in the mediumweight division with one hog and drove the other to a third place county (fifth in five-county) finish.

When the dust had cleared in the Cross breed championship, Robison had claimed five-county reserve breed champion and county breed champion honors, second only to Five-County Reserve Grand Champion Clint Patterson.

Before entering the show, Robison said his goal was simply to get his hogs into the sale.

Although he had been pessimistic about the quality of his second set of entries early on, working with them for two months showed him they were quality animals.

Still, he said, "I felt like we had a good chance to do well with them," but never dreamed he would do that well.

Robison said throughout the judging he never knew judge Jerry McLemore was focusing more attention on his hog than on any others.

"It surprised me to win the county and it surprised me to win reserve of the breed," he said.

Beef industry consolidation will focus work on problems

From Staff, Wire Reports

"We will be one voice focusing on the unified problems of the beef industry," Bob Josseland of AzTx Cattle Company said after the National Cattlemen's Association voted to consolidate four beef industry groups Saturday at the NCA convention at the Opryland Hotel in Nashville.

The convention drew a record attendance of more than 6,000 cattlemen. TCFA was represented by around 150 members, many of whom serve on the board and various committees that will shape industry policy for the coming year.

Josseland, Hereford Mayor and former NCA President, said the consolidated group will focus on one of the problems facing the cattle industry.

The National Cattlemen's

Association voted to consolidate the Beef Board, Beef Industry Council, Meat Export Federation and National Cattlemen's Association into one group.

The board approved the unification by an overwhelming 91% margin.

The Beef Industry Council voted against the merger in December, but the other groups had approved it.

"The leaders in TCFA wanted to do this for a number of years and have worked diligently for the last two years to get it passed. Like with any other industry, it just takes time to get something done," Josseland said.

It has been almost three years since efforts to concentrate industry resources around a unified plan began.

First, the Beef Industry Long Range Planning Committee identified goals in eight leverage points where the industry should focus their efforts.

Second, the Oversight Committee recommended that a consolidated structure was needed to accomplish these goals. Then in October 1994, the executive committees of the four organizations voted 68% to support the consolidated structure. At the same time, 79% of the state cattlemen's associations and 64% of the state beef councils also said yes.

TCFA's Board of Directors unanimously supported the proposed unification.

Transition teams will be named to create the new organization which has yet to be named. NCA president Bob Drake urged the Beef Industry Council to join in the effort.

Drake said there will be a place for all points of view in the transition process.

NCA said the consolidated agency will be the chief voice for beef interests, but the other groups would remain in name.

Consolidation is designed to recapture the beef's lost market share and keep beef competitive in the next century according to Drake.

Josseland said he hopes that ultimately the merger will help the demand side for beef.

Beef accounts for 48 cents of every dollar spent on meat in this country -- down from 60 cents in 1980, according to industry figures.

The future is not in the job, but in the person who holds the job.

It appears that Premium Standard Farms is going to be a great addition to the local business community. PSF picked Deaf Smith County as the site for a new pork processing plant and, even before the company has a representative here, they are making their presence known.

PSF purchased the grand champion county hog at the Hereford Young Farmers Livestock Show here Saturday. Previously, PSF had pledged $5,000 toward the construction of San Jose's new education building and community center.

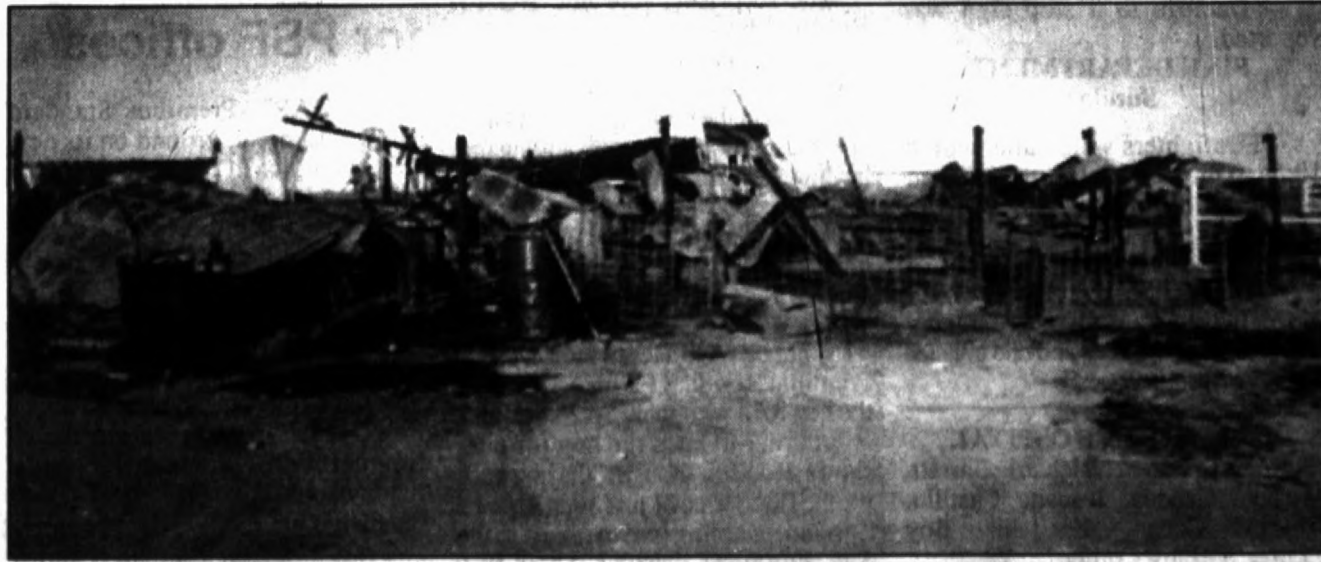

These are early indications that PSF intends to be involved in the community.

Citizens across the nation are clamoring for reforms in the welfare system, which is why the new Congress will be debating the issue. A clipping from the Abilene Reporter News gives yet another example of why people are unhappy.

A letter to the editor questioned a story in the Abilene paper about a police report, which read:

"A 32-year-old woman reported Monday her purse was stolen from her car while she was visiting a friend in south Abilene. The woman told officers her $85 gold checkbook cover and $190 black cel makeup bag were among the items stolen from the purse, which was later found along Interstate 20. Police said nearly $300 in food stamps was also missing."

The letter to the editor asked: "Does anybody notice anything peculiar about this? I wonder what kind of car does she drive?"

Fire aftermath

The photo, taken a few days after a fire last November that killed show hogs owned by Clint and Trip Robison, shows the south side of the barn, where the boys' hogs had lived. All five animals perished in the fire.

Top prices in stock sale announced

The Hereford Young Farmers 1995 - Junior Livestock Show ended on Saturday with the annual stock sale, held in the Bull Barn. Total sales at the auction were $125,000, with $10,000 in add-ons added to prices paid for individual animals.

The County Champion steer shown by Colby Christie of Hereford FFA, bought by the 4-H Booster Club for a total of $2.50 per pound, including add-ons, for a total of $3,500.

Christie's county champion lamb fetched $10.50 a pound, bought by Wall and Sons.

Clint Robison, who drove the County Champion hog, saw his mediumweight Cross entry go for $6.25 for Premium Standard Farms.

The top price overall was $25 per pound paid by Shirley Garrison for a lamb shown by Eddie Trotter.

AUSTIN - When the current school finance law was challenged by property-rich, poor and mid-wealth school districts, one lawyer for the state quipped that it must be constitutional because it made everyone unhappy. On Monday, her prediction was borne out: The Texas Supreme Court upheld the state's latest share-the-wealth school finance law.

State agency representing consumers calls for investigation of health care insurance

By CHIP BROWN
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN (AP) - The state agency representing consumers on insurance issues is calling for an investigation into the guidelines used by companies to determine who gets health insurance and at what cost.

The report, released by the Office of Public Insurance Counsel on Monday, said Texans are often rejected or charged higher rates because of their medical history, job, national origin, fluency in English and income level.

The study was developed after insurance companies in 1993 were required by the Legislature to reveal their underwriting guidelines.

"Some companies will decline an applicant based on peculiar beliefs about a person's lifestyle choices, work habits or reputation," said Mark

Kincaid, the state's public insurance counsel.

"More than 80 percent of companies will decline people who work in certain occupations, from bartenders to lawyers. Even whole employer groups can be rejected for insurance coverage if there are too many low-wage, seasonal or older employees," he said.

Kincaid called on the Texas Department of Insurance to "investigate health insurance underwriting practices to make sure they are fair, equitable and lawful."

Former state Rep. Elton Bomer, D-Montalpa, who has been chosen by Gov. George W. Bush as the state's insurance commissioner, said Monday he will study the report.

"I am concerned about discrimination of all kinds, and if there is a problem there, we will address it," Bomer said.

An insurance industry spokesman termed the report's allegations unfair and inaccurate.

"Underwriting guidelines create competition. They benefit consumers and create competitive prices within the industry," said Jerry Johns, spokesman for the Southwestern Insurance Information Service.

"To assume they unfairly discriminate is unfair, inaccurate and sends a message to the consumers of distrust."

The report said that people who work for big companies that provide health coverage have little trouble getting and keeping health insurance.

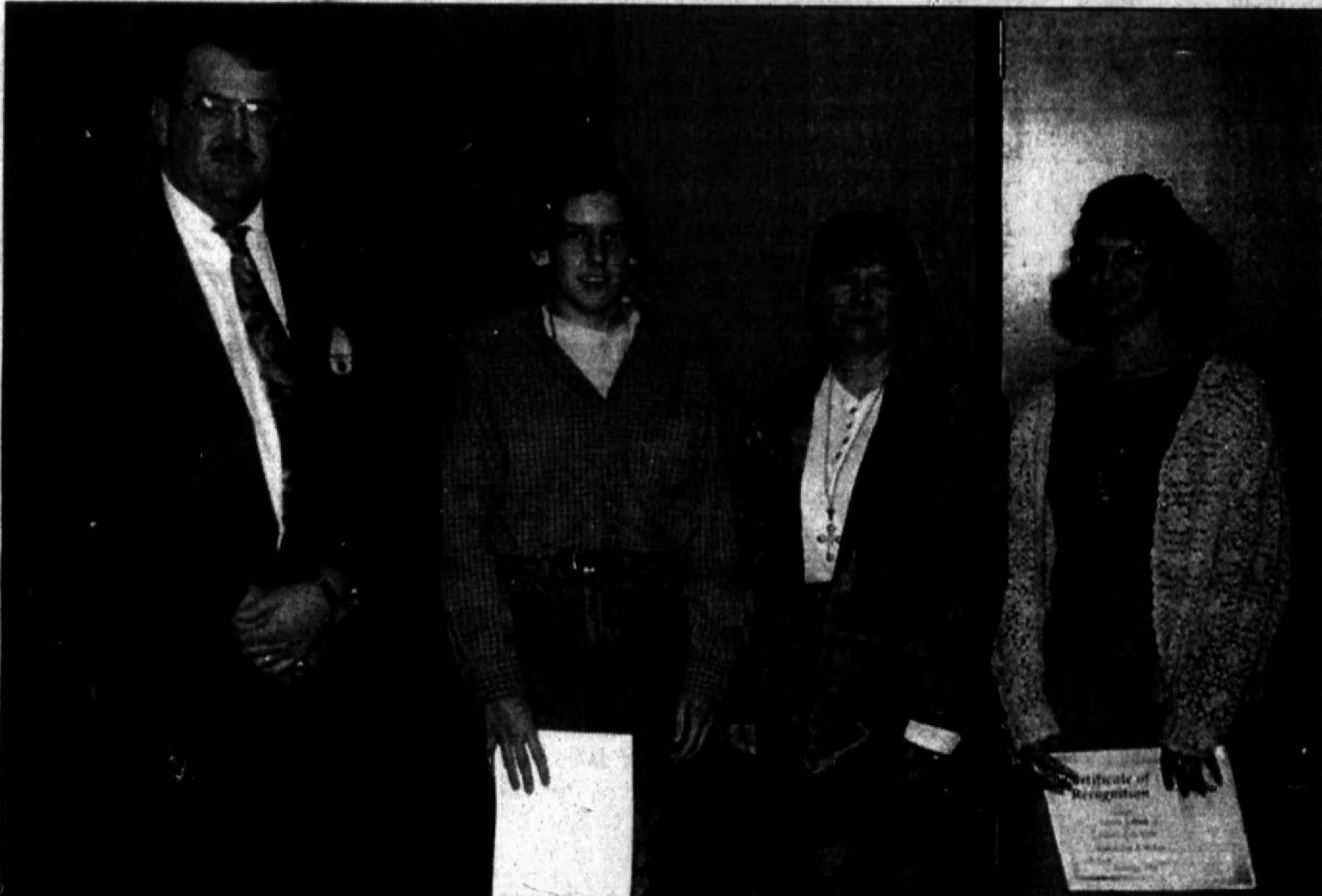

But people who are self-employed or work for small companies may have difficulty getting coverage if they have even the slightest health problem, the report said.

Kincaid said the report is based on a survey of 100 companies that provide 87 percent of the insurance written in Texas. Because the underwriting guidelines are considered trade secrets, the report doesn't identify any of the companies surveyed by name.

"These reports on underwriting guidelines provide examples of illegal and improper company activities and have shed light on the formerly obscure world of insurance company underwriting," said Robert Schneider of Consumers Union.

"Unfortunately, proposed cuts to the budget of the Office of the Public Insurance Counsel may eliminate the ability of Texas consumers' representative to present this kind of ground-breaking information to the public," Schneider said.

Kemp decision emphasizes strain of presidential fund-raising needs

By JOHN KING
AP Political Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) - Jack Kemp's decision not to enter the 1996 Republican presidential chase highlighted anew the enormous fund-raising demands caused by the race's early start and heavily front-loaded primary calendar.

Kemp, the former New York congressman and Reagan administration housing secretary, cited the grueling fund-raising requirements as he announced Monday that he would not seek the GOP nomination.

the class, maybe win the class."

Once he got to the county championship drive, Robison knew he was the winner when McLemore began describing the county winner.

During the breed championship drive, he said, McLemore specifically mentioned that his hog was a "fresh" looking pig, meaning one that had not been held off full feed rations to prepare for the show.

McLemore also said the animals was "a show barrow," meaning is "acted like he was showing off."

When those same phrases reappeared in the county champion drive, Robison knew he had a winner.

"That's when I knew which one he was going to pick," he said with a smile.

The surprises were not over for Robison, however.

On Saturday, his county champion hog was the first one in the show ring.

"I was in the ring and I didn't know who was bidding," he said, adding that he had left the ring before bidding ended.

After having considered past champions, Robison anticipated he would make about $4 a pound for his hog.

What he would learn later was the Premium Standard Farms had bought the hog for a whopping $6.25 a pound.

In order to keep the hog for later shows, Robison "bought" the hog back for the floor price of just over 30 cents a pound, enabling him to take it to the San Antonio Livestock Show next month, then on to Houston later.

Robison and his parents attributed a great deal of their success to Kelley, whom they said went above and beyond the call of duty to help Clint obtain new animals after the fire.

"Money raising is pure muscle and grit and tenacity, and I just want to talk about the peso and the flat tax," Kemp said, promising to stay active in the GOP issues debate from the sidelines of the presidential race.

At the 1992 Republican convention, Kemp was the favorite when delegates were polled on their preference for the 1996 nominee. Now the title of front-runner belongs to Senate Majority Leader Bob Dole of Kansas.

The GOP jockeying is under way unusually early, in part because President Clinton is considered highly vulnerable. But an even bigger reason is that so many states have moved up their primary dates that three-fourths of the convention delegates will be decided in a six-week stretch beginning with Iowa's February 1996 caucuses.

In addition to Dole, the active candidates include former Vice President Dan Quayle, Texas Sen. Phil Gramm, Pennsylvania Sen. Arlen Specter and former Tennessee Gov. Lamar Alexander. Commentator Patrick Buchanan, who challenged President Bush in the 1992 Republican primaries, also is considering the race, as are a few GOP governors.

"The contest for the Republican presidential nomination is wide open," GOP Chairman Haley Barbour said after Kemp bowed out.

"This creates a huge hole in the field," said Ralph Reed, executive director of Pat Robertson's Christian Coalition. "There is an awful lot of money and an awful lot of grassroots support that has been waiting to see what Jack would do."

Kemp said he was likely to endorse a candidate.

A program on the Hereford Big Brothers/Big Sisters was presented to the La Madre Mia Study Club at their meeting Jan. 26.

Alva Lee Peeler, executive director, gave an overview of the organization since it's beginning in 1973 and said it has grown and developed as money and volunteers became available.

Laura Walker told of the help and influence she and her grandson Eric have received from Big Brothers/Big Sisters. He entered the program when he was eight years old. He is now a college freshman, having received a scholarship from Big Brothers/Big Sisters which helped make college a reality.

The meeting was held at the home of Merle Clark, with Francyne Bromlow serving as co-hostess to Carolyn Baxter, Ruth Black, Bromlow, Cindy Cassels, Clark, Linda Cumpton, Mary Herring, Betty Lady, Barbara Manning, Glenda Marcum, Gladys Merritt, Bettye Owen, Nancy Pactzold, Lucy Rogers, Mysedia Smith, Georgia Sparks, Betty Taylor, Marline Watson, Nicky Walser, Mary Beth White and Judy Williams.

The next meeting will be a Valentine party for the husbands Feb. 16 at the Hereford State Bank.

Ann Landers

DEAR ANN LANDERS: You recently blasted the "once noble profession of law" for having sunk to a new low. Has it occurred to you that for every money-grubbing plaintiff attorney, there is also an attorney on the other side, trying to prevent such ludicrous jury awards as the one described in your column? These are the attorneys who are fighting hard to keep our insurance premiums down.

I am a nurse who is sick and tired of all the ambulance-chasing jokes about lawyers. I have seen far more greedy, self-serving behavior from physicians, particularly surgeons, who order unnecessary tests and therapy, frequently at facilities they own. Many even perform unneeded surgeries on unsuspecting patients. Yet you never comment on the "new low" that the medical profession has sunk to, although it is every bit as bad as what has gone on in the legal profession.

Well, I feel better after getting this off my chest, even though I'm sure you will not print my letter since you obviously have a prejudice against lawyers and a very special liking for doctors.--Wife of an Honorable Lawyer in Greensburg, Pa.

DEAR WIFE: I plead not guilty to favoring doctors over lawyers. In fact, most of the criticism I get is the other way around.

The truth is, there are good and bad lawyers as well as good and bad doctors, but the bad ones get more publicity because negative news make more interesting copy.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am responding to the woman who signed herself "Beam Me Up Anywhere, Scottie." She was fed up with the male population in her country. I take it she's from the United States.

I live in Canada and our males rank right up there, or should I say, right down there, with yours. You told Scottie, "There's got to be somebody somewhere for a woman who has your terrific sense of humor."

Excuse me? What planet are you from? Men don't want a woman with a terrific sense of humor. They want a bed mate, a doormat, a mother, a silent partner, a maid, a cook and a beer-bottle-picker-upper.

I have been separated from my husband for 10 years. I haven't met even one man who was interested in me, except for sex. I'm 36, have an excellent job, own my own car and am a single mother. And yes, I have a terrific sense of humor. The problem is I'm independent and have a brain.

I treat men with consideration and decency. What I get in return is verbal abuse, ignorance, rudeness and just plain disgusting behavior.--Single in Ontario

DEAR SINGLE IN ONTARIO: No one will ever convince me that the majority of men in either the United States or Canada prefer adle-brained, empty-headed women who will pick up their beer bottles and serve as doormats.

There has always been a shortage of desirable males on every continent, and it take some hunting to find them. The good men are out there. Trust me. But often they are not tall enough or thin enough or rich enough, and sometimes they wear work clothes instead of pinstripe suits. Get the picture? I hope so.

Gem of the Day: Advice to the Brand-new Bride: if you think marriage is a 50-50 proposition, you don't know the half of it.

When planning a wedding, who pays for what? Who stands where? "The Ann Landers Guide for Brides" has all the answers. Send a self-addressed, long, business-size envelope and a check or money order for $3.75 (this includes postage and handling) to: Brides, c/o Ann Landers, P.O. Box 11562, Chicago, Ill. 60611-0562.

How long before AFC contends?

By BARRY WILNER
AP Football Writer
MIAMI (AP) - How long can this go on?

How long before the AFC comes up with a worthy team to represent it in the Super Bowl? Another decade? Far into the next century? Never?

Each year, the tag "conference of losers" fits the AFC snugly. While the NFC comes up with overwhelming offenses such as the 49ers and Cowboys, or dominating defenses like the Giants, Redskins or Bears, what those teams face in the Super Bowl is, generally, an easy day. AFC teams can't compete.

Only twice in the 11-year NFC reign that shows no signs of slowing has the AFC club come close. Otherwise, the results are so similar it's scary.

Sunday's 49-26 romp over San Diego that made San Francisco the first team with five Super Bowl victories hardly was a surprise. The efficiency with which it was registered - and the unstoppable manner in which the 49ers performed in the postseason - made it clear this was a team for the ages.

When will the AFC come up with such a squad? Or, failing that, with a team strong enough to offer a challenge in the big game, and squeeze out a win or two?

"We know we have to get better," Chargers quarterback Stan Humphries said. "We have to get a lot better to be at their level."

Unfortunately, he was speaking for the entire AFC. Sure, the 49ers and Cowboys are a step or two beyond everyone. If they keep trading off Super Bowl appearances for a few more years, this incredible string figures to continue.

Pittsburgh seems to be building a challenger, but until it develops a balanced offense and some humility, a Super Bowl berth isn't likely. If these Steelers get there, they aren't likely to do much better than the Chargers.

For San Diego to improve on its first Super Bowl showing, its secondary must plug up all those holes the 49ers so easily found and penetrated. Then it has to go out and find more dangerous receivers and some depth.

New England has the look of a rising contender, and its coach, Bill Parcells, won two NFL crowns with the Giants. But does anyone think the Patriots are all that close? Are they ready to approach the realm of the NFC titans?

Sorry, AFC fans, but this is one streak that could reach 2000 and beyond. Especially if the 49ers continue to toy with opponents on the field and the salary cap off it; especially if they keep attracting the highest quality artisans of the NFL to their organization.

"I think (owner) Eddie DeBartolo brings something special, because he treats everybody with respect," said Jerry Rice, considered the greatest wide receiver in NFL history. "The players really respect him, because he's behind you 100 percent. He's not the type of owner that's going to go off on you if things are not going right. I respect him as an owner and also as a man."

To a man, the 49ers swear by the owner, by team president Carmen Policy - who found ways to satisfy all of them financially while adding enough talent to bring them a championship - by coach George Seifert and, most significantly, by each other. They see no reason why the NFC's Super Bowl supremacy shouldn't continue. Or why they shouldn't be the team to keep it going as they stake a claim to the title of best team ever.

Herd freshman girls take third in tourney

The Hereford freshman girls' basketball team captured third place in its district tournament with a 37-30 win over Dumas Saturday in Whiteface Gym. Canyon's freshman girls won the tournament, which was hosted by Hereford, by beating Randall 43-40 in overtime. Canyon held Randall scoreless in the overtime period. In the third-place game, Hereford took a 10-4 lead after one quarter. Dumas crept back into it, cutting Hereford's lead to 16-12 at the half and 23-21 after the third quarter.

Hereford pulled away in the fourth quarter, outscoring Dumas 14-9 in the period. Meredith Tabor led Hereford with 12 points, and Sarah Ramey added eight. Hereford lost to Randall in semifinals, 39-23. Jamie Marquez led Hereford with nine points in that game. Canyon beat Dumas, 54-43 in the other semifinal matchup. Borger won consolation, rolling over Pampa 57-27.

UMass extends win streak

By The Associated Press
Top-ranked Massachusetts extended the nation's longest winning streak, No. 10 Syracuse won a big one in the Big East, and No. 18 Missouri handed Iowa State its first home loss of the season. But the most memorable game Monday night involved two unranked teams. Towson State, a last-minute addition to Louisville's schedule, shocked the Cardinals 81-69. It was one of the biggest wins in the history of the Maryland school. "The kids maintained their intensity and they played to win as opposed to trying to keep from losing," coach Terry Truax said. "I think our kids weren't to be denied." Towson State (8-9) wasn't even on Louisville's schedule at the start of the season. The contest was arranged after Louisville learned that its games in the Great Alaska Shootout wouldn't apply toward its regular-season total. To fill out their schedule, the Cardinals added games against Dayton and Towson State. At the time, the Towson game seemed like an automatic victory. That kind of thinking proved costly for Louisville (12-8), which won 11 of its previous 15 games. "You have to play well to win. I don't care who you're playing,"

Louisville coach Denny Crum said. "I just couldn't convince them that Towson State could beat them, so they got beat." Ralph Blalock scored 26 points and DeRon Robinson had a career-high 20 for Towson State, including seven during a 15-4 run that gave the Tigers the lead for good. Samaki Walker scored 18 points for Louisville, playing its third game in five days. But Crum said overconfidence hurt his team more than fatigue. "Our guys didn't have an honest respect for Towson State," he said. "Once they finally figured that they could get beat, they couldn't make the shots when they had them." In Top 25 games, top-ranked Massachusetts beat St. Bonaventure 79-62, No. 10 Syracuse edged No. 13 Georgetown 76-75 and No. 18 Missouri downed No. 11 Iowa State 80-71. No. 1 Massachusetts 79, St. Bonaventure 62. At Amherst, Mass., Derek Kellogg hit two 3-pointers during a 10-0 run early in the second half that helped UMass win its 15th straight game. The Minutemen were leading by only two points when Kellogg started the streak with his first 3-pointer. He ended the run with another long-range shot that gave UMass a 43-31 lead, and the Minutemen led by at least nine points the rest of the way. Lou Roe scored 21 points for UMass (16-1, 8-0 Atlantic 10), while David Vanterpool had 21 for St. Bonaventure (11-8, 3-4). No. 10 Syracuse 76, No. 13 Georgetown 75. At Landover, Md., Lawrence Moten scored 19 points, John Wallace had 17 points and nine rebounds, and Syracuse took advantage of horrible free throw shooting by Georgetown. The Hoyas (14-4, 7-3 Big East) were only 9-for-26 from the line, compared to 18-for-24 by the Orangemen (16-2, 9-1). Freshman Allen Iverson led Georgetown with 25 points. Hoyas center Othella Harrington was held to two points on 1-for-7 shooting. No. 18 Missouri 80, No. 11 Iowa St. 71. At Ames, Iowa, Jason Sutherland and Kendrick Moore made key 3-pointers and Missouri overcame sensational long-range shooting by Fred Hoiberg. The shots by Sutherland and Kendrick capped a 14-2 run that gave Missouri (15-3 overall, 4-2 Big Eight) an 8-point lead with seven minutes left. Hoiberg made a school-record eight 3-pointers and scored 29 points for Iowa State (17-3, 3-2).

Agassi eyes No. 1 ranking

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—With punch and pizzazz, Andre Agassi is staking a claim on Pete Sampras' No. 1 ranking. Agassi brushed aside his opponent's aces and used his powerful ground game to capture the Australian Open on Sunday, giving him two consecutive Grand Slam tournament titles. The American right-hander, who came into 1995 ranked No. 2 in the world, concluded his Australian Open debut with a sparkling 4-6, 6-1, 7-6 (8-6), 6-4 victory over Sampras that narrowed the gap between the finalists and could well be the genesis of a long tennis rivalry. "I think it has to lift the game because the game has been missing a rivalry for the past couple of years," said Sampras. "That's great for the game; it can get more exposure. "Andre is one guy who puts tennis on the front page of the sports pages, and I think tennis needs that." This Australian Open featured, in its more spectacular moments, Agassi enthralling capacity crowds at the National Tennis Center; Sampras' stirring five-set quarterfinal with Jim Courier in which Sampras wept openly during the final set for his ailing coach, Tim Gullikson; and the emergence of the hard-hitting Mary Pierce, who won the women's title Saturday over Arantxa Sanchez Vicario. There was the Yarra River overflowing its banks in a flash flood Friday night and swamping the courts and corridors in ankle-deep water. Fans delighted in watching players splash each other and dance barefoot in the giant wading pool of center court.

There was Naoko Sawamatsu's rousing run to the women's semifinals after her family home in Kobe, Japan, was destroyed in an earthquake. And at the end, there was Agassi, his shorn scalp covered like a pirate with a kerchief, dominating Sampras nearly as easily as he had dominated his other opponents during the two weeks Down Under.

Nets' Morris shoots down Blazers

By The Associated Press
Charles Barkley is used to hitting big shots to help his team win. For New Jersey's Chris Morris, the experience is a bit more unfamiliar. But Morris came through in the clutch Monday night, hitting an 18-foot turnaround jumper with 4.7 seconds left to beat the Portland Trail Blazers 99-98. In Phoenix's game at Cleveland, Barkley merely did the usual, scoring 20 points and drilling a 3-pointer as the shot clock was winding down with 1:09 left. The shot sealed the Suns' 89-82 victory over the Cavaliers. "It was big. It was a great shot," Cleveland coach Mike Fratello said. "It's not as if he had an uncontested look. Our hand was up, and we were out there challenging the guy." In other games, it was Utah 115, Minnesota 80; Seattle 109, Philadelphia 104; Atlanta 95, Miami 92; and Detroit 102, the Los Angeles Clippers 95. Suns coach Paul Westphal used his 13th starting lineup of the season, putting super-subs Dan Majerle and Danny Manning in along with Barkley, Wayman Tisdale and Elliot Perry. "We've been winning games, but we haven't been playing exceptionally well," Majerle said. "So Coach wanted to change things a little and get a different look." Neither team ever had a big lead, and Phoenix didn't pull ahead for good until nine minutes remained in the game. Barkley's 3-pointer gave the Suns an insurmountable 7-point lead. Manning and Majerle each scored 14 for the Suns. Terrell Brandon, who missed the previous four games with a sprained right wrist, led Cleveland with 20 points. Danny Ferry had 17 and John Williams 16. During the game, the Cavs retired the No. 22 jersey of forward Larry Nance, who split his 13-year NBA career between Phoenix and Cleveland. When Nance retired in September, he was the NBA's career shot-blocking leader among forwards with 2,027.

Nets 99, Trail Blazers 98
Morris' shot gave the Nets just their seventh road victory of the season and broke a string of three consecutive road losses. Portland's Rod Strickland, who had a team-high 24 points, had a chance to tie the game again with 1.6 seconds left, but missed the second of two free throws. Derrick Coleman led New Jersey with 27 points. Jazz 115, Timberwolves 80
Utah stretched its winning streak to 13 games, and John Stockton had 14 assists to leave him 10 shy of Magic Johnson's career NBA assists mark. Karl Malone led the Jazz with 25 points. Isaiah Rider paced Minnesota with 19 points as the visiting Timberwolves lost for the seventh time in 11 games. Stockton, who scored 11 points, had 12 assists in the first half and gets a chance to match or break the former Lakers star's record of 9,921 Wednesday night against Denver. Sonics 109, 76ers 104
Philadelphia let another one slip away in the last minute, this time losing to Seattle. After trailing by 15 with 8:28 left, the visiting Sonics rallied to take the lead for good on Gary Payton's layup with 31 seconds left. The loss marked the fourth game in a row the 76ers have blown a game in the last minute. Sam Perkins scored a season-high 31 points for Seattle and Detlef Schrempf had 23. Dana Barros had 19 points to lead the 76ers, who have lost 15 of 17. Hawks 95, Heat 92
A big fourth-quarter run keyed by Steve Smith brought Atlanta back to beat Miami. Former Heat guard Steve Smith scored 19 of his 23 points in the final period and hit a key 3-pointer with 30 seconds remaining. Grant Long, who was traded along with Smith from Miami to Atlanta for Kevin Willis in November, added 20. Miami's seldom-used forward Keith Askins scored a career-high 19 points, and center Matt Geiger added 17 and 10 rebounds. Pistons 102, Clippers 95

Grant Hill had 27 points, one shy of his season best, to lead Detroit over Los Angeles. Joe Dumars scored 26 points and matched a career-high with 14 assists to help give the Pistons their first two-game winning streak since Nov. 15-17. Los Angeles got within three points with four minutes left, but Mark West tipped in a missed shot and the Pistons pulled away for the victory. The Clippers' Loy Vaught equalled his career high of 30 points and added 12 rebounds.

Improvisational pianist featured in upcoming Community Concert

Performs here Sunday

Pianist John Bayless will be featured in the next performance of the Hereford Community Concert Association. The third concert of the 1994-95 season will be at 3 p.m. Sunday in the Hereford High School auditorium.

Bayless made his recording debut in 1985 with an album entitled "Happy Birthday Bach", which was created in honor of the Bach tricentennial celebration. He has had several subsequent releases based on his improvisations of other composers and performers. Bayless' performance background includes appearances at Carnegie Hall, the "Mostly Mozart" festival at Avery Fisher Hall, programs with the New York Philharmonic and the Cleveland Orchestra. He has also appeared with orchestras throughout the United States and made two tours of Japan.

Born and raised in Texas, Bayless won a scholarship to the Aspen School of Music at fifteen years of age, and two years later moved to New York to study at Juilliard School of Music.

He combines versatility, mastery of classical music and technical ability which are highlighted by his gift of improvisation. His improvisational talents naturally progressed to composing and he has received commissions for a number of scores.

Screening 'Exploring the Ukraine' scheduled is topic for club program

The Women's Center of the Don and Sybil Harrington Cancer Center and High Plains Baptist Hospital will again conduct a breast cancer screening clinic in Hereford at South Plains Health Care Providers, 603 E. Park, on Feb. 3 from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Breast cancer affects one in 8 women. The key to boosting ones chances of winning the battle against cancer are early detection by having an annual breast exam, mammogram and performing breast self-exam each month.

Each participant at the screening will receive a breast exam and one-to-one instruction in breast self-examination by a registered nurse specially trained in breast cancer detection, and a mammogram by a mammography technician. The program is certified by the FDA, American College of Radiology and the State Health Departments of Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

"Exploring the Ukraine" was the featured topic when Xi Epsilon Alpha chapter of Beta Sigma Phi Sorority met in the home of Susan Shaw on Jan. 17.

Guest speaker Alice Eades showed a video and highlighted her July, 1994, visit to the Ukraine after she and her husband, Roger, had served as a host family for Julie Kanmehko, an exchange student, from October, 1993, until June, 1994.

Members in attendance were Shaw, Brenda Ramey, Ruby Lee, Peggy Hyer, Holly Bixler, Sharon Bodner, Kay Williams, Connie Matthews, Deann Harris, Dee Hamilton, Dianne Beavers, Carol Kelley, Linda Arellano, Melinda Henson and Ruby Sanders.

Following the program, a business meeting was held. Opening ritual was led by president Lee.

Williams told the chapter that the sweetheart brunch will be held at Hereford Country Club on Feb. 11. She also reported that the "Spring Fling" will be held April 1.

The chapter decided to honor their sweetheart, Melinda Whitfill, with dinner at the Outback Restaurant in Amarillo followed by a movie on Feb. 4.

The next chapter meeting will be Feb. 7. At that time video tapes will be collected for donation to the Deaf Smith County Library. The program, "To Understand is to Forgive, Even to Like," will be presented by Sanders and Bodner.

Following adjournment, Closing Ritual and Mizpah were repeated. Shaw and co-hostess Bodner served refreshments of chips and dip, nut bread, hot spiced tea and iced tea.
