Texas Still Is Lagging Behind

AUSTIN — Texas, growing in population and school enrollment at a faster clip than the nation as a whole, trails behind in financial commitment to its crowded public school system. These are facts set forth in a new publication of Texas State Teachers Association, Where Texas Ranks: Vital Statistics About Our Standing In Public School Education.

The statistics, gathered from a variety of official sources, show Texas' population has grown by 12.5 per cent since 1960 compared to a national growth rate of 9.1 per cent. This boom in population placed Texas as the 16th fastest growing state in the nation in population and as the 9th most highly urbanized state.

And school enrollment in Texas has grown by 41.8 per cent over the last decade compared to a national enrollment growth of 37.5 per cent. Texas ranks today as the number three state in public school enrollment with more than 2.5 million pupils.

But while the state's population and school enrollment have zoomed upward the amount of money spent per each pupil in the state has failed to keep pace. Nationally, per pupil expenditures have increased in the last decade by 88 per cent while in Texas the increase has been only 72.7 per cent. Thirty-six other states have increased their per pupil expenditures at a greater rate than Texas in the last 10 years.

The foreword to the 16-page digest states that while statistics can tell only part of the story about education, they are nevertheless "about all the hard facts that we have to work with in attempting to furnish the resources with which we may build better schools and better men."

Other facts about the state revealed in the publication include the following:

Texas paid a lower percentage (5.1 per cent) of their personal income as state taxes in 1966 than the national average (5.8 per cent), for a ranking of 40th among the 50 states.

The average per capita local and state tax collection in Texas in 1964-65 was $207.05 — a ranking of 40th.

Texas exceeds the national average in federal school aid dollars as part of the school budget. Federal money in Texas accounts for 9.3 per cent of the budget while it averages only 8 per cent nationally.

The degree of uncrowded classrooms in the state is high — 30 other states have less crowded classrooms. The pupil-teacher ratio in Texas is 24.9 pupils per teacher compared to only 19 pupils per teacher in Kansas, the nation's leader in this category.

Teachers' salaries have improved in Texas in the last decade but to a far less degree than the rest of the country. The average salary of the schools' instructional staff in Texas has grown by only 54.8 per cent since 1956-57 while nationally the increase has been 63.7 per cent. Texas ranks below 38 other states in this category.

Texas ranks 33d in average teachers. In Texas the average classroom teacher makes $6,025 compared to a national average of $6,821. A beginning teacher in classroom career in many school districts at only $4,104.

The dropout rate of students in Texas schools is higher than the national average. Of the ninth graders in 1962 who were scheduled to graduate last May 27.9 per cent failed to do so. Nationally, the dropout rate was 22.7 per cent. Texas ranks 34th in this category.

An above average number of Texas draftees come from the better educated groups, apparently. Last year 23.3 per cent of the young Texans taking the pre induction and induction mental tests did not qualify for induction into the armed services. Draftees in 34 other states did better on these tests than draft potentials in Texas.

Wreck Causes Minor Injuries

Three persons received minor injuries late Wednesday afternoon when three cars collided on East Park Avenue and Blevins Street.

Treated and released from Deaf Smith County Hospital was Leslie Suzanne Shelton, 7, of 106 George, and Luna Mae Layman, 23, of Star Route. Gwyndolyn Faye Albracht, 18, of 321 Ave. B, did not go to the hospital.

Total damages as a result of the wreck was $850, with $250 damage being estimated on the Albracht car, $400 on the Shelton vehicle and $200 on the Layman car.

Officers said Miss Reva Shelton was driving east on Park and stopped to make a left turn at Blevins Street when her car was struck from the rear by the Albracht car, which also was going east. The impact knocked the Shelton into the path of the Layman vehicle.

A citation was issued for improper observation.

TAX MAN SAM SEZ:

If you filed your tax return at 11:58 P.M. on April 17, and have been perturbed that you haven't received your refund, it will pay you to calm down. The electronic machines can compute hundreds of items on thousands of taxpayers—returns before you can say "Send me my refund." But the machine can't work on the return until the humans open the mail, check the information on the return, prepare the punch cards, and give the electronic monster a crack at it. Internal Revenue reports excellent progress on sending out refunds, but advises patience.

Mrs. Ferguson, an employee of Harmon's at the mall, resides at 217 Ave. D. She is the mother of four children and has six grandchildren.

By MELVIN YOUNG
The newly remodeled Hereford post offices will be ready for occupancy about the middle of June, and plans now call for a re-dedication ceremony on Saturday, June 17th. And if you're one of those who have been worrying about the different color bricks in the building, we have been assured by those who are supposed to know that the old bricks will be cleaned and the building will look new all over.

Sandblasting is sometimes used to do this and we understand now that some contractors use a chemical solution to clean old brick. But whatever, they do plan to clean the old building.

We're sure the crew over at the post-office will be happy to get back into permanent quarters. The building on main has been somewhat less than desirable, particularly since it has no dock. Having to load and unload mail trucks from ground level is considerably slower, and a lot more work.

Hereford can well be proud of its public buildings. We have some of the finest school plants, a historic old courthouse constructed from genuine Georgia marble that probably couldn't be replaced today at 10 times its original cost, a city hall that has been completely remodeled within the last 2-3 years and a modern post office building second to none in the area.

Our thanks to the Oasis

Shrine Club, the doctors and the nurses who have participated in the annual Shrine Children's Clinic. It's great.

Times change. We look back along the years to a time when we paid no income tax, and neither did our friends. Now the Tax Foundation says Americans work 2 hours and 20 minutes of every eight-hour day just to meet federal, state, and local tax bills.

With war costs spiraling, the House Appropriations Committee has recommended major reductions in spending in Great Society programs. Apparently legislators are beginning to get the message from the folks back home.

Perhaps the congressmen will indeed, take an ax to some of the useless give-away programs that have cropped up in the past couple of years and get on with the job at hand in Vietnam.

We're thinking that a little less could be thrown away on the Job Corps and appropriate a little more to the Marine Corps and perhaps take care of both the war in Vietnam and unemployment.

There's no better place than the military service to learn a trade. And if this sounds like militant warmongering let me assure you that no one has a greater distaste for war, but the truth of the matter is, we're in the thick of it now and should get the job done. Wars are not won by piece-meal operations.

And by the same token, jobs have never been created by giving a man subsistence. The urban renewal program has done nothing but uproot families from dwellings that, although not in the ritzy class, have been home. And who gives a tinkers damn whether or not Philadelphia is a model city or not. All cities, large or small, have areas that are less desirable than others, and always will have even after the government funnels millions of dollars of your tax money into them.

We could however, sacrifice a little and bring the conflict in Southeast Asia to a victorious climax and get our men back home.

And the first lesson to remember in the art of self-defense is to keep your glasses on.

Basketball Camp For Summer Is Wayland Project

PLAINVIEW — Wayland College will sponsor three basketball camps this summer.

Camps for junior high boys are scheduled July 9-15 and July 23-29. A camp for out of state high school boys is set for Aug. 13-19. Cliff Ozmun, Wayland College basketball coach, will direct the camps.

It will be the 11th consecutive year in which the camps have been held on the Wayland campus and several hundred youths have attended, a number of whom have gone on to gain top recognition in the game for their schools.

"We challenge the good players to do better and encourage the less efficient to learn fundamentals on which the program concentrates, and to acquire a strong, competitive spirit," Ozmun said.

The usual daily routine devotes mornings to goal shooting, requiring each boy to shoot a specified number of lay-ups, set shots, free throws and jump-

State Of Mind Directs Players

New head football coach and athletic director for Hereford High School, Larry Wartes, was the guest speaker during the Kiwanis Club's regular noon luncheon meeting Thursday.

Wartes, who coached at Stanford prior to coming to Hereford, gave his philosophy about sports and what he believes makes a good player.

He very strongly emphasized that a player's ability is all in his state of mind and that if he has a positive attitude toward his goal, he will eventually succeed. "No athlete with a negative attitude will succeed in his goal because he does not have confidence in himself," Wartes pointed out.

Wartes further pointed out that a player's size does not have anything to do with his ability in sports. He read a story to the club in which a youngster succeeded in football even though he was a skinny, trouble-minded kid. His participation in football attributed to his success in life both during his school years and his business life.

Zack Pannell is the program chairman for this month and was responsible for acquiring Wartes as the speaker Thursday.

Short announcements were made by Dean Herring, president of the club, concerning information about the club members.

Announced was the fact that the Wheeler Kiwanis Club will be coming to Hereford to attend the inter-club Thursday with the local club.

Lynn Cook Receives Honors

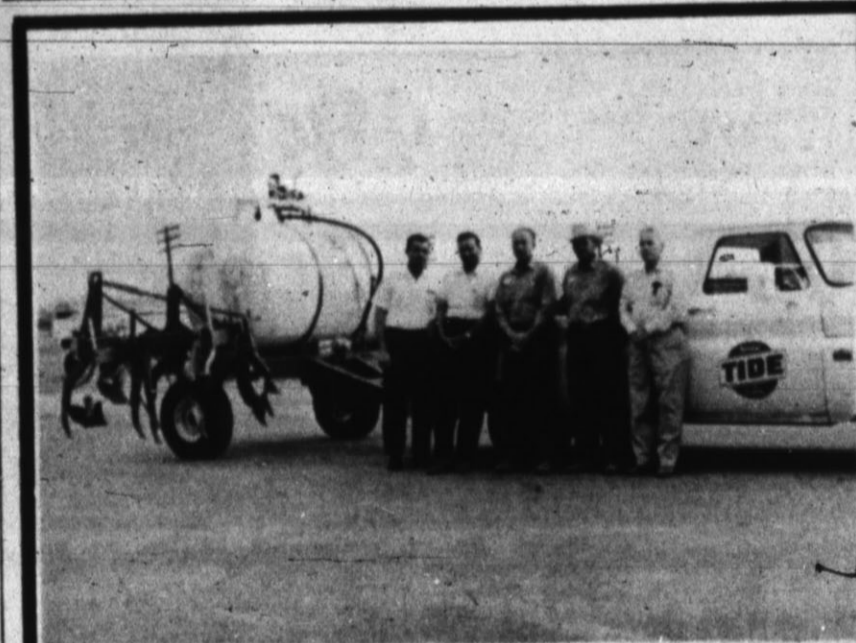

Lynn Cook, son of Mr. and Mrs. A.H. Cook of Hereford, was named "Outstanding Athlete" last week at Amarillo College.

Cook, who also recently was named the "Most Valuable Player" on the baseball team, had his name engraved on a large trophy, which is put on display at AC.

A 1965 graduate of Hereford High School, Cook plays catcher and the outfield for AC. He will graduate this month and plans to attend a senior college.

Coaches with the Kansas City Athletics are Cot Deal, Bobby Hoffman and Al Vincent.

Home Sewing Is High Quality

There is a big difference in clothes that have the "handmade" rather than the "homemade" look. And it is the distinctive "handmade" look that 4-H girls can perfect when they make their own clothes, say 4-H clothing leaders.

The national 4-H Clothing program annually enrolls about three-quarter million girls from 9 to 19 years of age. Many mothers of today's members learned to sew when they were enrolled in this program now in its 27th year.

What is so special about the clothing program? First of all it is flexible enough so even a 9-year-old miss can learn to operate a sewing machine and make easy things like a poncho or head scarf. Twelve-year-olds make skirts, blouses and straight line dresses.

Teenage girls who stay with the project wind up making the most important clothes in their wardrobe such as suits, coats, party dresses, sports attire and basic outfits for school.

But there is much more to the clothing program than cutting out a garment and running it up on the machine, extension clothing specialists point out. The young seamstresses study design, color, fabrics and finishes. They learn how to use time, energy and money wisely in planning and making their own clothes.

By participating in the clothing program over a period of years, the 4-H girl has an opportunity not only to have a fine wardrobe at low cost, but also to compete for valuable awards provided by the program sponsor, Coats & Clark Inc.

This year six of the nation's most outstanding clothing members will receive $500 scholarships. Fifty — one from each state — will win all-expense trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. Several thousand will earn the county

Group Honors Class Mother

A devotional program on Mother's Day honored the class mother, Mrs. Pearl Boyer when the Victory Sunday School class of the Avenue Baptist church met this week. Mrs. Clois Kemp and Mrs. Carlyle Sargeant presented the program and the group also gave Mrs. Boyer a money tree.

Hostess for the meeting was Mrs. Billy Wall assisted by Mrs. Charlie Riggan.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Carlyle Sargeant on June 8.

Others present included Meses Leroy Rickman, G. W. Duncan and Johnny Townsend.

Chinese emperors once imposed the "Great Kow-tow" on emissaries from foreign countries. The ritual called for three kneelings and nine prostrations before the emperor's throne.

The same awards are offered to 4-H girls in Puerto Rico. All winners are named by the Cooperative Extension Service which supervises the 4-H programs.

Smith, outgoing president; Mrs. Ray Don King, historian and Mrs. Ben Scott, vice president are shown at the installation dinner for new officers for La Madre Mia Study Club, held at the Cason House this week. La Madre Mia Mrs. Penner Is Installed

Mrs. Harvey Penner was installed Thursday night as president of La Madre Mia Study Club for the coming year.

Mrs. John Smith, outgoing president installed officers at an installation dinner held at the Cason House. She used symbols associated with sewing as being typical of the organization needed to make complete club-work possible. The blue book of measurement, pin cushion, etc. were the symbols of tools needed to construct the "garment."

Mrs. Ben Scott was installed as vice president; Mrs. Jon Cranford, secretary; Mrs. Travis Taylor, treasurer; Mrs. Rah Don King, historian; Mrs. James Gentry, parliamentarian; and Mrs. W. E. Sparks, reporter.

The incoming president named her standing committees and the club agreed to have at least one social and possibly two during the summer vacation. Names for secret pals were drawn for the summer.

Members present included Mmes. Scott, Cranford, Taylor, King, Smith, Wayne Lady, Charles Frye, Bill Lankford, Bobby Owen, David Honea and Sparks.

Tea Honors Bride-Elect

Miss Becky Maxwell, bride elect of John Michael Wolfe, was honored with an afternoon tea in the home of Mrs. Ted Higgins, 333 Stadium Drive, last Saturday. The couple plan to be married May 26.

The bride's chosen colors of tangerine and white were used accents in decorations throughout the house.

In the receiving line were Mrs. Ted Higgins, Mrs. Albert Maxwell, mother of the bride, Miss Maxwell, Mrs. Cecil Wolfe, Amarillo, mother of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Jerry Puckett, Canyon, sister of the bridegroom. Miss Patricia Maxwell, sister of the bride, presided at the guest book.

Serving punch from a silver bowl were college friends of the bride, Jorji Perkins and Nancy Boydston, students from West Texas.

Centerpiece on the serving table featured tones of orange shading into bronze iris arranged in a silver bowl.

Hostesses were: Mmes. S. T. Thornton, N. E. Gass, Ernest Wade, Kenny Wilson, L. W. Combs, Mary Carter, George Warner, J. W. Dickerson, W. T. Thompson, Dick Miller, O. Z. Golden, W. T. Carmichael, John Aikin, Edgar Vinson, John Selver, Wilbur Gibson, Ted Higgins, Misses, Edlana Vinson, Linda Sue Dillard, Jorji Perkins and Nancy Boydston.

Medical Center Has 'Hotline'

GALVESTON (AP) — Galveston has its own version of the "hot line" but it doesn't reach quite to the Kremlin.

The line ends with Harvey A. K. Whitney Jr., director of pharmacy at the University of Texas Medical Branch.

The telephone is reserved for physicians seeking aid for children who have swallowed poison.

"The problem is that chemists and manufacturers are making so many new products that the individual physician can't possibly stay current on all of them," Whitney said in an interview.

But the Medical Branch's Poison Control Center does keep up with the latest poisons and can cope with virtually all of them. Whitney and Dr. Armond S. Goldman are co-directors of the center.

"Your imagination can't dream up what kids will eat," Whitney said recently.

Across the nation, aspirin cause the most poisonings among children. About the age of 5, the risk of a child eating or drinking something he shouldn't diminish.

Only about one death in 100,000 occurs in child poisonings. But the agony to the child, and to his parents, is great at times. And sometimes considerable medical work is necessary to bring a recovery.

A detailed report on each case is sent to Washington authorities. The Hazardous Substance Act of 1961 requires manufacturers to label dangerous products as toxic and to list the ingredients and the recommended treatment.

This is one reason that the bottle or box involved in a poisoning should be preserved and shown the doctor.

A survey by the Galveston News' Brooks Keller was summed up in one rule: Be eternally vigilant with plenty of foresight. Most children eat or drink poisons while unsupervised.

A parent should start with the understanding that an under-5 child will eat almost anything. The parent should make a methodical search of house and grounds and remove any danger ous agent the child can reach — including reaching by climbing.

Never leave a child in a room with a poison.

Other precautions urged by the Texas State Department of Health include:

—Store household products only in their original containers. Some persons dangerously use cups, glasses and soft-drink bottles to store bleaches, kerosene, turpentine and other products the child should not have.

—Always store medicines separately from other household products and do not administer medicines in the dark.

—Be sure that all household products and medicines are properly labeled.

—Remove old medicines from the medicine cabinet, empty them down the drain, wash out the container and destroy it.

If the toddler does become poisoned, call the family physician or a hospital emergency room.

At the Poison Control Center here, about 50 antidotes are used to offset the effects of the several hundred poisons.

The authorities agree that a little more precaution could save the lives of about 800 poisoned children each year and prevent extensive suffering among others.

If you are using round steak for Beef Stroganoff, make sure that you simmer the beef until it is extremely tender. When Stroganoff is made from very tender beefsteak that is usually broiled, quick cooking is the rule.

 The beautiful islands of Hawaii influence fabric designs which reflect the blue of the sky and sea and the colors of their native flowers. The use of these designs reflect the many-cultured population which includes Chinese, Japanese, Filipinos, Polynesians, Europeans, and Americans.
 The sun-drenched colors of Mexico come to life in the Abbey of Cluny in France. The bobbi place is made of linen and cotton thread, characterized by wheat or wheel designs on a coarse mesh. Today the lace is machine made, but it retains its distinctive quality.
 African prints sport geometric patterns found in tribal robes throughout the continent. The highly woven intricate borders, some woven, are historical records woven into the fabric. As in primitive design everywhere, great attention is paid to detail. Here the environmental hues of soil and foliage influence color selection and motif.

black and white.
 The manufacturer makes these recommendations for sewing with "Dual Duty" thread.
 Don't break the thread when you take it from the spool; cut it on a slant for easy threading.
 Use a light touch when hand sewing and a loose tension when machine stitching.
 Use a short length of thread (about 18 inches) and an embroidery needle when hand sewing.
 Test the machine stitch on a double thickness of fabric until you have a smooth seam. A ripple at the end of a seam is caused by too much pressure on the pressure foot. To correct, loosen the pressure bar screw.
 Too, permanent press will be available in woollens this fall.

 Do you live in a home that has commercially built cabinets of standard height? If you aren't "standard" height, adjust the counters to your convenience if possible. Add height to counters by putting blocks under the cabinet or adding a platform on top.
 Sharing responsibilities with other family members gives more leisure time. Children can be encouraged to assist by letting them select the tasks they will perform when possible. Allow them to change tasks occasionally to prevent monotony.

 The environmental influences, the climate, and terrain are often portrayed in the designs of the fabric.

Six Flags Is Dinner Theme For Calliopian

Calliopian Club members entertained their husbands with their annual springsocial. Guests gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Irving Alexander. Other hostesses for the affair were Mrs. A. T. Mims, Mrs. Millard Nobles, Mrs. Wes Owen, Mrs. Gene Parsley, Mrs. George Warner and Mrs. Ansel McDowell.

Theme for the evening was six flags over Texas and decorations throughout the house and patio carried out this theme.

Olive green and gold predominated the color scheme. Tables for four were set with tiny copper bowls for roses and Texas flags. A large silver candelabra with votive glasses containing bouquets of red carnations surrounded six flags on a larger scale than the smaller tables. Transparent letters spelling out Six Flags surrounded the arrangement.

The menu for the evening pointed up the Six Flags theme, beginning with a Spanish entree and with French pastry tarts as a finale.

Following the dinner, the husbands retired to the patio and the ladies held a short business meeting. An expression of appreciation from the club members to Sue James, outgoing president, was given in the form of a red azalea plant, presented that evening. An informal installation of the new officers was conducted. Mrs. Sam Self was welcomed as a new member.

In the installation, Mrs. James shared with the members a verse that had been handed down from her mother containing the wishes of worthy attributes for office holding.

New president Audine Dettman made the appointments of committees for next year and announcement was made of a proposed visit to the Paul Munoz home, May 25. This home is decorated in the Spanish manner, touching on the decor of the great southwest. The group will meet at the James home and tour the Munoz home as a group.

Husbands rejoined the group and crazy bridge completed the evening. Ansel McDowell, Hazel Messick and Kitty Gault were awarded point prizes.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Cain, Mrs. Clyde Cave, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Coneway, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Crump, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Dettman, Mrs. Alton Fraser, Mr. and Mrs. Cameron

INDIA'S INCOME DOWN

NEW DELHI — India's per capital national income fell by $9 per cent in the 1965-66 fiscal year, planning minister Ashoka Mehta announced.

He said a major factor was the drought which cripples crop production and that there also was a decline in the growth of mining and manufacturing.

Casa de Amigos

By MARTIN WINCH TUTORING

Since early in March there has been an exchange of time, friendship, knowledge, and experience between twenty-six children from the St. Joseph's School and twenty-nine Hereford residents — most of them Hereford High School students. At the present, sixteen high school students are spending one or two late afternoons a week with a boy or girl from the Mission school. Two adults and one junior high student also participate in the program. Nine high school students who have been involved in the program, have all continue with it during the summer or to resume tutoring in the fall. Other young people, not yet involved in the program, have a ready volunteered for the summer and fall.

Currently meeting once or twice each week with a pupil from the St. Joseph's School are Martha Kate Alkin, Leigh Ann and Mrs. Jack Allen, Barbara Brook, Johnny Clark, Carole Clearman, Sidnye Davis, Sharon Garrison, Kay Golden, Patricia Hill, Renette Hubble, Kathy and Pam Miller, Mrs. Michael Moore, Margaret Phipps, Jean Roberson, Shelly Rush, Janice Turgentine, and Penny Young. The nine students who hope to resume tutoring in the summer or fall are: Bette Barrett, Levenie Benefield, Linda Brooks, Connie Bryant, Cindy Cavness, Patricia Hale, Ruth Koelzer, Teresa McAndrews, and Debbie Walden.

Guidelines for this tutoring project were available from similar projects already in operation in other communities throughout the nation. The YMCA in Dallas sponsors a large tutoring project, using mostly college students. The National Student Association publishes extensive materials on the theory and practice of volunteer tutoring. The first step in organizing a tutoring project in this community was to bring together the ideas of teachers, school administrators, ministers and other residents of Hereford. Preferences of the children and their families, and of the high school students and their families were also important considerations. A proposal was then drafted.

Armed with this proposal, the VISTA workers visited the High School and received the indispensable assistance of Robert Thompson. We also spoke with youth groups at several Hereford churches. On March 5th at the Casa de Amigo sixteen prospective tutors attended a meeting to discuss the tutoring project. At this time, the tutors also chose their pupils on the basis of capsule descriptions, and took turns acting out first meetings with their pupils and with their pupils' families. The first actual meetings between tutors and pupils took place the week of March 6-10. A second group of tutors attended an orientation meeting at the Casa on March 12, and began meeting with pupils during the days which followed. After one week of tutoring, the tutors met again at the Casa de Amigos to share their experiences and to profit by one another's observations.

At these meetings of the prospective tutors, two matters were discussed. First, there was the nature of the need for the program. We suggested that there is a great need for tutorial assistance for many Spanish-speaking children of elementary school age. The need results primarily from two factors. First, the children are far below grade level in English comprehension and usage. Second, they generally do not receive adequate encouragement or cultural nourishment at home. These factors impair studying at home and in school, and are reflected in erratic attendance. Tutoring assistance is needed in all elementary subjects, especially practice in the use of English.

Most important, everyone agreed, was the relationship which could develop between tutor and pupil. The pupil could find in his tutor someone who cares about him as an individual. Meeting with the tutor could be a human opportunity to use his mind enjoyably on new experiences in life and learning. The tutor, for his part, stood a good chance of learning more about his community and his fellow man, while also being a good big brother or sister.

The second matter discussed was what the details of the program should be: how often should a tutor meet with his pupil, and for how long each time; where should tutoring time be passed, and in doing what kinds of things? Everyone agreed that as many decisions and responsibilities as possible should be left to the individual tutor and his pupil. The VISTA workers should arrange the first meeting but each tutor should set future meetings. Advised of workers could help assure that tutor and pupil arrived at the right place at the right time.

WICHITA, Kan. — For a short time, John Zimmerman was all alone in a 10-story office building. He didn't like it.

It was 3 a. m. when he left his office, found that the elevator wasn't working and walked down 10 flights of stairs only to find both street floor doors locked.

He didn't have the necessary coins to operate the pay phone in the lobby and said he was starting to get jittery when someone shook a door. I was a merchant policeman who rescued him.

"I wanted crowds of people around me," Zimmerman said, "crowds of people. Everything in town was closed so I went home and woke my wife and kids."

When you look for the most room and the smoothest ride and the best value, you'll end up with a Chevrolet wagon everytime.

Chevrolet Impala, roomiest in its class. While extra roominess is perhaps the best reason for buying a Chevrolet wagon, consider, also, these bonuses: Body by Fisher, Chevrolet dependability, flush-and-dry rocker panels and Magic-Mirror finish. Chevelle Malibu, smoother, quieter ride. A Malibu not only gives you a Full Coil suspension ride, but the body mountings are double-cushioned. And Chevelle carries plenty. It opens wide, 54.6 inches, to be exact, 28.5 inches high. Flip the second seat down and you've got 86 cubic feet of cargo space for all your gear. Chevelle was built to take a lot. Chevy II Nova, best equipped for the money. All-vinyl upholstery is standard. Flush-and-dry rocker panels that clean themselves are standard. Separate panels beneath each fender to inhibit rust are standard.

Mono-Plate rear suspension to smooth the ride is standard. Price? Below standard.

Senator Tower Speaks

President Election Funds Need Understanding

For many, many days over the last month the Senate has been engaged in penetrating debate of something called the "Presidential-Election Campaign Fund Act."

Although this is a very complex legislative matter, I believe all Texans should understand it, because it is a threat to our free electoral system. It involves the Federal bureaucracy directly in the free, campaign process for the first time in our nation's history.

This Presidential election Campaign Fund Act is a mistake and should be repealed by Congress. The Senate took the first step in that direction this week.

The Act authorizes financing of presidential election campaigns not by political parties but with taxpayer funds taken from the U. S. Treasury. On their income-tax forms taxpayers would find a box to check which would allow the Secretary of the Treasury to deduct one dollar from their taxes and split it equally between the Republican and Democratic parties.

I have studied, taught and practiced the art of American politics for my entire adult life, and in my opinion this use of tax funds for political purposes does irreparable damage and violence to our free, independent political institutions. It revises the American political system which has served as the most responsive and stable in the entire world.

This potential taxpayer financing of political campaigns is objectionable for several key reasons:

It effectively prohibits use of taxpayer funds to support third party candidates. By limiting its benefits to Republicans and Democrats it, in effect, takes funds from all the citizenry and gives them back only to a part of the citizenry. Although I, personally do not believe third-party movements are beneficial to the American system, neither do I think it is constitutional to legislate against those parties.

Even more serious is the implication of this Campaign Act that political parties are arms of the Federal Government.

Political parties are not government agencies. In order to serve the best interests of the American people, parties must remain essentially private organizations, seeking wide voluntary membership.

Strong and independent political parties are necessary to check dangerous trends in the bureaucracy. Political parties are watchdogs, and the louder they bark the safer we are. They are private institutions seeking to influence public actions.

Those nations of this world in which government bureaucracy and the political party are essentially one and the same are not nations Americans have regarded as models of progress and liberty.

Another result of the Campaign Act would be an invitation to the taxpayer not to bother too much about political candidates and their qualifications.

This Act relieves the would-be political contributor of the responsibility of deciding which political party he wishes to support. It relieves him of the responsibility to review the issues of the day and to support the party which best represents his views. It relieves him of the responsibility of studying the candidates and of weighing and comparing their abilities and talents. It thus discourages the making of value judgments by contributors — it will lead to machine-picked candidates and will promote political mediocrity.

But, what I call the real Pandora's-box feature of this Campaign Act is its tendency to further engage the Federal bureaucracy in politics. No matter how concretely safeguards are written into the law, this Act can do nothing else than further entrench bureaucracy in politics.

With that assured result in mind, we need only look ahead to the inevitable future requests that the one-dollar limit be increased to five, then ten, then 50 dollars, until eventually political parties will be totally dependent on the bureaucracy rather than responsive to the people.

There is no doubt that political campaigning today is expensive. I do not, however think we should allow the federal government to take the lid off campaign spending the way it has taken the lid off its own governmental spending.

I see no social progress in encouraging bureaucracy-linked political parties to outsell, outshout and outspend each other from guaranteed financial sources. I believe private American citizens must retain the opportunity to withhold financing at the first sign that their elected officials are not living up to the standards expected of them.

In short — in our American system of liberty and government it is not the responsibility of the citizen to guarantee every party unearned solvency; rather it is the responsibility of the parties to make themselves worthy of citizen support.

avorful and wholesome as any product bought in a retail store.

First step in the process involves preparation of detailed purchase specifications. These specifications are designed by quality experts — C&MS personnel — who set forth the standards this product must meet.

Each step of preparation, from hoof to can, is checked by meat inspectors and trained food quality technicians for compliance with specifications.

Examination begins with the live animals. All slaughter must take place in federally inspected plants.

When the meat is cut and trimmed, it is checked to make sure undesirable material has been removed. The meat must be free from tough connective tissues, bruises and other undesirable characteristics.

During the grinding and mixing, canned chopped meat must meet rigid specifications on fineness of grind, temperature of meat and the kinds and amounts of curing ingredients added.

Curing and flavoring ingredients are the only materials which may be added to canned chopped meat — and they are carefully controlled.

USDA's canned chopped meat has a long shelf life because it is cooked at a high enough temperature to assure commercial sterilization. Unopened cans can be stored without refrigeration with no fear of spoilage. Naturally, they must be refrigerated once they've been opened.

The finished product is checked for quality and conformance with specifications before it leaves the plant and may be checked again when it reaches distribution points. The canned chopped meat is sampled and tested for color, appearance and taste. Cans also are checked to make sure they are not dented or damaged in any way that will affect the quality of the product.

To help homemakers make good use of the canned chopped meat, USDA tests recipes using the meat in different ways — per haps a barbecue or a flavorful casserole.

Around 643,770 pounds of this canned chopped meat were distributed to Texas welfare families during the first three months of this year, according to John J. Slaughter, Southwest Director of C&MS Consumer Food Programs, Dallas, Texas.

"From time to time, USDA prepares 'fact sheets' giving information on nutritive value, suggestions for use and — as soon as they have been tested and approved — new recipes," said Mr. Slaughter. "We make these fact sheets available to home economists and others who work with recipients of canned chopped meat."

Band Aid Club Meets Monday

NOT ONLY THE HOUSE LOUISVILLE — During the siege at Bastogne in World War II, Les Nichols was press officer with the 10th Armored Division.

A German attack forced the staff out of a farmhouse but before he left, Nichols wrote his name on a pad and left it on a table.

Recently, Nichols returned to Bastogne and made a special trip to see if the old farmhouse was still there.

It was. And an obliging housewife, learning Nichols' name, pulled out the pad he had left 22 years ago. His name was still there.

Canned, Chopped Meat Is Tasty

What do you want in the meat products you buy?

Naturally, just as any other homemaker, you want them wholesome, nutritious and flavorful. That's also what officials of the U. S. Department of Agriculture had in mind when they designed the specifications for their canned chopped meat purchase program.

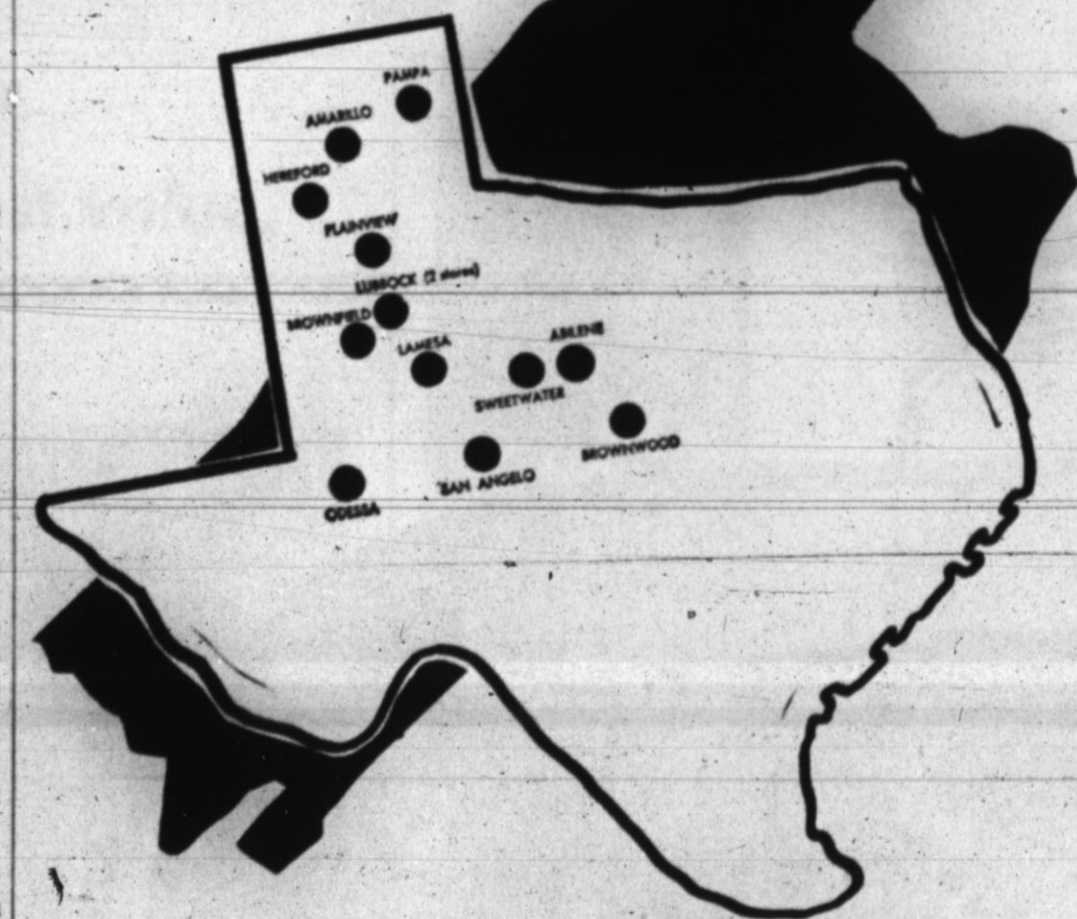

The 155,150 persons in Texas currently receiving this product would have to look hard to find a product which is more wholesome, nutritious and tasty.

Canned chopped meat — a mixture of beef, pork and lamb — is bought by USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service for distribution to needy families. The care which goes into the preparation and distribution of this product is reflected in its good eating quality.

People who use this canned chopped meat generally are faced with both budgetary and nutritional problems. They simply cannot afford to buy many necessary food items — meat in particular. That's why C&MS takes special steps to make certain the canned chopped meat it distributes is as nutritious, fla-

BLAZING BURWICK — Hereford Whiteface trackster Bobby Burwick, in white uniform, finished fourth in the 440-yard dash at the state track meet in Austin Saturday by running the distance in 49.1 second. Burwick was given the same time as a runner from Snyder, but officials designated his finish as fourth. Winning time was 48.4. Burwick, a junior, received the "H" award for being the outstanding member of the track team Monday during the Assembly Awards day program at the high school.

Washington Report

From Congressman
BOB PRICE 10TH DISTRICT, TEXAS

1222 LONGWORTH OFFICE BUILDING, WASHINGTON, D. C. • 205 3706

WASHINGTON — "The stage has again been set to make the American farmer the scapegoat of future rises in food prices," declared Congressman Bob Price, a member of the House Republican Task Force on Agriculture. Price referred to the latest Department of Agriculture Report that showed the farm parity ratio had dropped another two points between March 15 and April 15 to a depression-year low of only 72.

"The cost of living rose even though the cost of food actually dropped due to a coincident decline in the Index of Prices Received by Farmers and a rise in the Index of Prices Paid for Commodities and Services by our farmers. With living costs rising at a time when food prices are declining, we can only imagine the flood of complaints later on when and if farm prices reverse themselves and rise to the already-low levels of a year ago.

"It's strange that such a significant drop in parity can take place without any concern being expressed by the Secretary of Agriculture or anyone else in the Administration," Price continued. "It should have elicited a prompt call for immediate and coordinated action for dairy and other commodity import controls, beef import legislation, and emergency action by every appropriate agency of government to muster every available force to protect the farmers' income. But no such concern or request for action has been forthcoming, making earlier warnings by our Task Force even more pertinent and prophetic.

"We warned that American Agriculture could expect little help in the fight to share equitably in the Nation's economy," said Price, "and this latest drop in parity confirms our fears. As the Task Force pointed out, while estimated annual personal income from non-agricultural sources rose 8% from the March 1966, rate to the March, 1967, rate estimated annual personal income from farming dropped 16%.

"The tragedy of the situation," Price added, "is the strange silence when farm income keeps dropping, forcing more and more of our rural people into the overcrowded cities. But the cries of anguish will again be heard if and when the farmer even recaptures the level of income he had as recently as a year ago, which even then was far below the rest of the nation. His income could rise a great deal and still be tragically low, far below parity. But the temptation will be to blame the farmer rather than identify the real beneficiaries of the consumers' grocery dollars.

"This is why we on the Republican Task Force on Agriculture are renewing our determination to see that there is a more appropriate consideration for American Agriculture when the prices of food are tallied," the Panhandle Congressman concluded.

FROM OUR AUSTIN BUREAU

State Health Sees Money Bind As Funding Shifted

Funds haven't been appropriated and Texas hasn't been redistricted — and it's late. With only two weeks remaining in this legislative session, lawmakers in the Capitol City have plenty to accomplish if they are to finish without going into a special session.

Hopefully, it won't come to this. Lawmakers — including our own Bill Clayton of Springlake — are more than slightly anxious to get home. They will be back in Austin again next year, however, for a special session to appropriate funds for another fiscal year. The new method of appropriating funds set down by Governor Connally will require annual sessions.

Just getting money to the right places is a chore in the two houses now. The House of Representatives is working on its own appropriations bill, hopefully getting money to some of the State's agencies that appear to be needing more funds than the Senate wants to give them. A bill put together by the Senate raised the ire of Governor Connally, who lambasted the august body for slighting parts of the government whose needs are quite pressing. Governor Connally wasn't the only one to be upset over the Senate appropriations bill — the House of Representatives has its own retorts to be made, and they are being worked into the form of another appropriations bill at this moment.

Rep. Clayton explains that a central point in the hassle can be seen in the teacher pay raise which Senators were ready to ramrod through; unfortunately, according to the Senate version, the extra money for teachers might have to be taken out of the hands of state health agencies which are in bad shape as it is.

Teachers are not being forgotten, however — not by any means. If all goes as expected, Rep. Clayton foresees a surplus of $30 to $35 million which will go to teachers' salaries. But there are going to be a few other people considered first.

One of those agencies which needs more of the State's money includes the Austin State school for the Mentally Retarded. Its condition is what Rep. Glenn Vickery of Houston would call "shocking." The school, with its 2,500 patients crammed into old buildings, understaffed by employees who are underpaid, was "one of the most shocking experiences of my life," the Texas lawmaker said after making an unexpected visit to the premises.

The description of the school is "pretty realistic," says Superintendent Dr. Phillip Roos. "Our physical facilities are inadequate and overcrowded. There are not enough attendants and they do not get enough salaries." The people in the institutions are not forgotten, however Roos claims. "Our attendants, as underpaid as they are, are tremendously interested in trying to help our residents."

Describing his visit to the school, Rep. Vickery said, "The odor of human excretion was nauseating. . . My first encounter here was a blind-boy of about nine, feces covering his back and legs, stumbling along, bumping into walls and other children, helpless and forgotten."

The superintendent of the school said that special classes are being held for the blind and the deaf — but apparently funds are not enough to get the job done the way this legislator would like to see it.

Roos said that funds to completely renovate the school and build new facilities had been requested of the legislature but he had little hope of getting them.

Crowded conditions — and improper ones — were cited by Rep. Vickery. He reported seeing a student (who had once attempted an escape) "locked behind bars in a small cubicle with a cement floor and mattress." The only increase seen in funds immediately will be an upgrading of salaries, which may help the employment situation somewhat.

Citizens don't need to think, however, that Texas has completely turned its back on these unfortunate persons; new school have been proposed for Richmond, Lubbock and Corpus Christi, which may alleviate the situation.

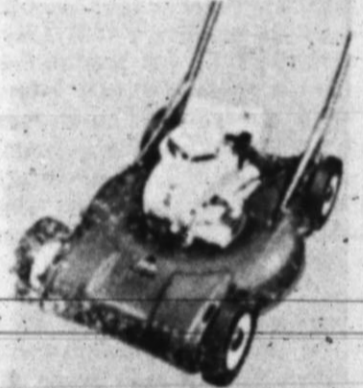

Getting the complexly structured agencies in the State of Texas satisfied is no easy job for a legislator; he just has to hope that citizens will take the time to find out why taxes sometimes have to be changed, why spending has to go up. A problem with voters was listed as an issue against the Governor's plan for making appropriations annually — people react when politics hits them right square in the pocketbook. The State has to spend just as much money — maybe more — despite the fact that elections may be just around the corner. This is when lawmakers may have to decide which is more important — getting reelected or going ahead with programs that just might take a bigger chunk in taxes. Your legislator not only has to represent you; sometimes he has to convince you that he knows what he's doing.

And speaking of getting reelected — Rep. Clayton will in all likelihood have a few changes made in his district again this year. The redistricting edict handed down by the courts has to be carried out right way throughout the State. The district is currently "out-of-bounds" in being over the 5 per cent tolerance; every district should have 65,000 population. Bailey County may be returned to the district, with Oldham being dropped, or perhaps Hartley County may be added to the present district.

Should Schools Change Student Working Plan?

The federal government's encroachment upon local governmental agencies is becoming more pronounced each day. Now the feds propose to pay student-workers $1.25 per hour to do chores for non-profit organizations such as the city and schools.

The Hereford Independent School District this week put their stamp of approval on the program by voting unanimously to participate in the Neighborhood Youth Corps.

On the surface the deal looks okay.

Volunteers Get Unique Reward

Whether it be through the church, the civic club or some other organization, every individual needs to contribute a little bit to the community in which he lives, and for the most part, we find that the citizens of Hereford are more than willing to do their part.

But one local organization has taken on a project that we feel stands head and shoulders above all others. To our knowledge, there is no other like it in the United States, and we feel that this group exemplifies the desire of the community to "do something" for those less fortunate.

We're speaking of course, of the local Oasis Shrine Club of Hereford and the volunteers who contribute to the annual children's clinic.

The Shriners have left no stone unturned to secure the services of specialists in all fields of medicine who donate their services for the one day clinic. Many have flown in from as far away as Houston, contributing their services to a clinic that is designed to concentrate the best medical minds of the country in Hereford for the sole purpose of assisting disabled children who could not possibly get to see such a concentration of specialists under any other circumstances.

The local doctors and nurses too, have contributed their time and talents to the clinic, closing their own offices for the day.

Certainly there is nothing that touches the heart quicker than the sight of a bright eyed youngster who's life is marred by a physical or mental defect. And it's heart-warming in this day of world strife to see busy business and professional men and women take time out to lend a helping hand with no thought of compensation other than the knowledge that they have done a little to brighten the life of a child.

And to these dedicated men and women, that's probably ample.

The federal government, working through PESO (Panhandle Educational Services Organization) pays students who sign up for the program, $1.25 per hour for work done at the schools. The student will work from 10 to 12 hours a week during school term and about 25 hours per week during the summer months. They must remain in school to qualify for the program, and proponents to the give-away point out that many of the students would be drop-outs otherwise. The bill will be paid of course by the taxpayers. Students participating in the program cannot work for a profit making organization they just pay the bills. But that doesn't bother the federal planners in the least.

For a number of years the Hereford school district has participated in the Distributive Education program, and for the past year has been involved in the ICT program. Both require participation by employers of the students, and both require that a reasonable salary be paid the students for the work done. We think both are excellent programs. The bills are being paid by the people who benefit, and the training received by these students is excellent. Not only do they receive classroom instruction, but have the added advantage of getting actual experience on-the-job while being paid a fair wage for their efforts. Many business executives today attribute their success to their training while under the DE program in high school.

The total cost to the schools in the above training programs is little more, if any, than any other classroom instructional program.

But now the federal government has become ambitious. The Distributive Education and the ICT (Industrial Cooperative Training) programs are not enough, and school districts are being asked to participate in the Neighborhood Youth Corps.

And what is this going to cost the taxpayer?

Plenty. Not only are the salaries for these youngsters (the city is now using six) being paid with taxpayers' money, but PESO has hired a full time administrator for the program. This in spite of the fact that our own city, and we hope others, insisted that they needed no assistance in administration. That's not the bureaucratic way.

Certainly we're not opposed to the idea of keeping potential drop-outs in school. It's a wonderful idea. But we wonder how many of the students participating would really drop out? It seems probably to us that the students who need to work to stay in school will find employment after school hours, or through the DE and ICT programs and let the employers pay the bill. We doubt seriously that a dole from the government will keep any youngster in school who is determined to drop out.

On the other hand, it is entirely possible that those who benefit the most from the bulk of PESO's programs are not the students but those who administer the programs. As in many such cases, those who cannot produce the private business, find the sailing smooth under the umbrella of "Uncle Sugar".

Common Sense Tried By Reagan

California's popular Republican Governor is beginning to make the professional politicians sit up and take notice. This novice in the political world has made some serious mistakes in protocol during his first few months in office, but for the most part, Ronald Reagan has displayed a brand of fiscal responsibility that has earned the respect of both the liberal and conservative elements of the nation's most populous state.

Apparently the governor is trying to take the common sense approach to the problems that beset the state, and neither throws away money nor does he slice the budget so short as to seriously threaten the effectiveness of the proposed programs. In other words, he's doing everything within his power to make every dollar count for the tax payers.

It's a big job, and if Ronald Reagan is successful in solving the problems of California, he's assured his political future. We wish him luck.

Politicians Are Collecting Tarnish On Their Images

By BERT MILLS
WASHINGTON D. C. — Image is the key to political success these days but there are a lot of successful politicians in Washington whose image is tarnished. Starting at the top, there is President Johnson. Less than three years ago, he received more votes for President than any other man in history. Today, all pollsters agree that if he were running against Governor George Romney of Michigan, he would be defeated for reelection.

THE BOOTLEG
—Philosopher

Editor's note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his bindweed farm northwest of Hereford does some house cleaning this week, he claims.

Dear editor: I was cleaning out a stack of old newspapers which had accumulated in a corner of my work room out here and while I was at it the thought occurred, why not clean out some of the old ideas which have stacked up in a corner of my mind, so I thought I would. I will send them to you and you can stack them in some corner somewhere around your office, or throw them out entirely. I'm through with them.

For example, here's one: man is taking the long way around to blow up cities. Instead of developing missiles that'll hurtle half-way around the earth and come down on top of a city, why not drill holes through the earth to fire rockets through and let them explode underneath? Avoid air pollution that way.

Or, why hasn't some insurance company come out with a policy to insure you against not being able to make enough money to pay for the policies you already have?

Los Angeles now has 7 million people and 4 million cars. It's predicted that in a couple of decades it'll have 14 million people and 28 million cars. Ought to be a fine place to find parts for a second-hand car.

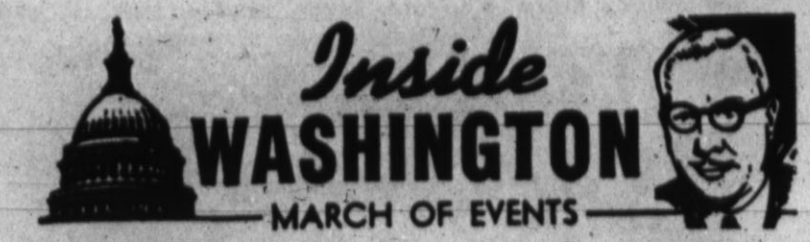

I heard a politician in Washington on "Meet The Press" say he was just a country boy trying to get along. Don't city boys ever try to get along?

Carus Clay says he'd rather farm than fight. I'd advise him to wait till his first crop is in before he decides permanently.

How do you get in touch with the company that makes phonograph records to pay off your debts with? Since every President nowadays has to have a Presidential Library erected when he retires, have you ever stopped to think how many libraries this country will have 10,000 years from now?

If we get two tax increases for every tax cut, how long will it take a frog to get out of a well? I could go on, but I'll finish my cleaning some other day.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

MARCH OF EVENTS
ECONOMISTS DIVIDED ON BUSINESS OUTLOOK
GOVERNMENT FORECAST FAR MORE OPTIMISTIC
By HENRY CATHCART
Central Press Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Economists who take the pulse of national business activity seem to be evenly divided about what lies ahead, whether business will resume its normal upward pace or decline further into a recession. As could be expected, most of the economists who believe in the upswing theory are employees of the federal government, while most figuring on a recession are employed by the business community.

To observers, the division is more than a little uncomfortable. As a general rule, when things look dim, government economists are the last to admit it. They fear that an honest assessment under these conditions could accelerate a downturn.

The fact that business economists look for a downturn is disturbing as well. Business executives make their decisions in part on the projections of their economists. Obviously, if these projections point to a downturn, business tends to trim its sails a bit. This, too, can accelerate a downturn.

In the current situation the differing views can be traced to a relatively few factors. The government economists place great stress on the outlook for federal spending, particularly on the Vietnam war. New reports in Washington forecast 1968 fiscal year spending on the war as running well ahead of present budget estimates. There are reports that, instead of stabilizing the force in Vietnam, President Johnson intends to increase the number by 50,000 troops. This, together with a further intensification of the fighting, is what is expected to run up federal spending.

Another factor concerns government estimates of the level of business activity. Government takes encouragement from what it believes is a leveling off of the recent decline in industrial activity. This is believed to foretell a resumption of an upturn, an event seemingly confirmed by continuing high employment.

● BACKLASH—We wrote recently about the hasty recruitment of government employes to provide a fitting "welcome home" for Vice President Hubert Humphrey at the White House.

At another White House welcoming ceremony—this one for the president of Turkey—a similar draft was undertaken. Government departments were asked to assign a number of employes to the White House ceremony.

In this case, however, all was not sweetness and light. One government employe, who was handed a ticket, did not attend on the grounds that she was not feeling well and didn't want to stand through a long ceremony.

Her acting supervisor was furious when she heard of the incident and went about preparing a written charge of insubordination, which would have been entered in the employe's permanent personnel file. Fortunately the head of the division returned just in time to learn of the incident, severely reprimanded the acting supervisor, and tore up the charge of insubordination.

Somehow, everyone but the head of the division had lost sight of the fact that attendance at the White House was supposed to be voluntary.

50 YEARS AGO
The uptown offices of the Hereford Electric Light and Power Company have been moved across Third Street from its former location into its own handsome new brick building. The front office is commodious and well arranged, there being all arrangements made to exhibit labor saving electric devices. The rear part has been set apart as a work room and storage.

The pride that Hereford feels in her public schools was manifested on Sunday when an audience that taxed the seating capacity of the Christian Church auditorium, assembled to hear the baccalaureate sermon and attend exercises. No sermon could have conveyed a surer message to the young men and women whom the occasion honored than was expressed in the magnificent assemblage of people that came to show their interest in this glad consummation of the public school life of twenty-two of Hereford's brightest and best young people.

They say that few men can submit gracefully to a joke when "it's on them," but if you get mixed up with the remnants of the Bench Congress, which now meets almost daily at the office of Ashbrook and Suggs, your bravery will be tested to the core. Bill West says that the crowd should go into the peanut business for they are such good "roasters". Of course, such men as Col. E. T. Woodburn, Capt. H. Trow and Maj. C. R. Moreman will not, for the love of Mike, carry a good joke too far even in war times. All they want is to have something to keep up their courage and to keep down the "fight" that is in them.

The Santa Fe depot at Dawn, Texas, a station about half way between Hereford and Canyon is being used as a public dance hall by a number of persons who delight in such pastime. In addition to the dancing, it has been reported that too much "booze" is being consumed and that these "events" occur sometimes every night during the week. Visitors from Friona and Amarillo, it is said, are there and often remain for two or three days. The good people of Dawn and community are complaining of the conduct of some of those who participated to these "events," and, no doubt, the grand jury will make a thorough investigation of the matter. The people further complain that these too-often dances interfere with the business of the station.

Glad's Garden

POTPOURRI

There is a mockingbird in our neighborhood that sings the sweetest notes in the Gardeners Spring Symphony. This is his second year to mate and raise the little birds in our neighbor's tree. I am sure that he likes the tall graceful trees with their heavy foliage, for safe hiding; the ever present water from the garden sprays to quench his thirst; the newly turned garden loam to hunt worms and insects in, and the beauty of the lovely flowers in the gardens. He is one of our favorite residents and even at night time when he awakens us from sleep with his beautiful songs, they are sweet to hear. What do you do to invite the feathered friends to your garden?

A feeder, a birdhouse, a watering station, trees to nest in. These are some of the mediums of CONSERVATION which are important and vital to the people today.

When we mention CONSERVATION, it reminds me of the theme of The Texas Garden Clubs, Inc., annual meeting which I attended in Houston this last week. The theme of the program, was conservation, creativity, consideration.

The following are excerpts gleaned from notes of the proceedings and the lectures heard.

CONSERVATION — Heritage of the Future — Beauty plus progress equals conservation.

The later marks the path of the future and keeps faith with the tomorrow. Harriet Beecher Stowe, once said "Love and Labor brings awareness of others".

IN MY GARDEN — WHAT? a topic discussed by Mrs. Charles Dean, first vice-president of National Council of Garden Clubs, stated that the upward look was necessary to successful gardening, that there must be work, knowledge and co-operation.

Mrs. Fred Mauntel, President of National Council of Garden Clubs, Inc., said in one of her addresses, that "One of the most popular Art Forms, in the world is that of Flower Arranging."

May is anti-litter month. Any one can be a nasty litterbug, but real gentlemen and ladies do not litter. Keep America, and your home-town beautiful and clean. Hereford needs to take notice of some very bad litter spots.

CONSIDERATION . . . must be shown to the on coming youth.

Mrs. David Buchanan, chairman of Turstee for Texas Headquarters, speaking from his platform said, "my daughter (our only child) has recently moved to Hereford Texas, a real friendly town, and a progressive one. She is now a member of The Hereford Garden Club."

Mrs. A. M. Aikens, president of T. G. C. Inc. said, of the grounds at the Governor's Anti-Bellum Mansion, (a state Garden Club Project) have now reached over eleven thousand dollars, and by the end of May it will be over fifteen thousand, which is the goal. Mrs. Connally has raised over ninety one thousand dollars in her tour throughout the state. When completed this will truly be something that all Texans can take great pride in. It is already drawing many tourists to our state. The grounds when completed will be outstanding, and will be something that we can point to with pride and satisfaction."

Dr. Eldon Pyle, "Grow roses for fragrance, not only are roses beautiful to look at but should lend their sweetness and fragrance in the garden. A good project for any Garden Club, is that of creating a garden of fragrance for the blind and or other handicapped people."

Mrs. E. F. Simpson of Nashville, a flower arranger, doing mostly Abstracts, speaking on Creative Response, said Einstein once said that to be creative was more important, than to be knowledgeable. She further said that the Flower Show of a Garden Club was the picture window through which the public looked to see beauty.

The theme of the new president Mrs. E. O. Barton of Houston of Texas Garden Clubs, is Gardening In A Changing World."

Springtime, in all its beauty can now be seen in almost all of Hereford. It is difficult to cite the beauty spots — there are so many. Color and beauty is rampant in the backyard of Mrs. O. G. Hill Sr., the Massey home on 6th St., is accented with lovely blossoms, the weeping willow at the Sam Nunnally home on Park Avenue is a symphony in green. The tree plantings at the Osborn home on Douglas are worth stopping to see and study. Grouping of pretty peonies at the corner of the Walsler home on Texas is effective. The alley back of Westhaven Drive, is clean, neat and attractive. In it one will find pretty iris in bloom waving ornamental grasses, roses, fruit trees and an attractive bed of fresh green onions.

DO SAVE, your old newspapers, cut them into shreds, use for mulching. This is good, the Continued From Page 10 the waters. He can and does charge that he is being persecuted for racial reasons. The charge is invalid but hard to disprove. Assuming the courts keep throwing the Powell ball back to Congress, Powell may or may not stage a comeback. Which ever way the vote goes on seating or ousting Powell, the image of Congress will suffer. It's a case of heads-you-lose, tails-you-lose.

Senate Has Problems Too While the House has been suffering with the Powell problem, the Senate has been forced by newspaper publicity to investigate the conduct of one of its members, Sen. Thomas Dodd (D., Conn.). He admitted he used funds collected at dinners in his honor for personal expenses and that he collected twice for the expenses of several trips.

A Senate committee recommended that Dodd be censured but a vote on the floor has been postponed. The censure resolution is expected to be adopted, but that may not be the end of the Dodd case. There are tax angles, just as with the Powell case, and the Internal Revenue Service can hardly be expected to remain silent indefinitely.

On top of the Dodd mess, the Senate has been tied up for months in a squabble between its Majority Leader and his assistant, with the White House siding with the second-in-command. Sen. Mike Mansfield (D., Mont.) has won three test votes but Sen. Russell Long (D., La.) refuses to concede defeat. The issue is a rider Long got through last year to earmark tax money to finance Presidential election campaigns.

Meanwhile all Senate business is delayed until this minor newsprint has a hormone called javabione, which is helpful to plants, both flowers and vegetables.

Give your roses extra care, some preventive treatments for black spot, mildew, and insects. Also a feeding when the blossoming spell is past.

Divide iris now and replant. By so doing you will know color, name and can use them to best advantage in your garden.

A BOOK FOR ALL AGES

Did you ever hear of a Hobbit? We never had until a friend told us of a book on the subject. J. R. R. Tolkien, a British professor wrote of the Hobbit first for his children.

It has caught on for young people from 12 to 20 but even older adults read the book for its adventure. Critics say it is strictly an "escape book." There was an article in the February, 1967, Ladies Home Journal and the author admits she enjoyed and even belonged to a club for the followers of the idea. She had a button in the desk drawer showing her membership.

Since it was recommended with so much enthusiasm (and referral to the above article) by this friend who has read it, as well as her college graduate daughter along with a little seven year old friend we decided she was right when she said it was an "in" sort of thing now.

We could not help comparing it for this generation to our past childhood escape reading of The Wizard of Oz books and the Generation before us of Grimm Brothers Fairy Tales, or those of Hans Christian Andersen.

We will admit too that once we began the story of the Hobbit and his adventure, it is so well written, that we read it with the same enjoyment.
