Iranians Say Observers To See Hostages

Separate Juvenile Officer Requested

BY PAUL SIMS
Managing Editor

Deaf Smith County Commissioner James Voyles, a member of the juvenile probation board, said Monday that the county should not replace assistant probation officer Luis Rangel but instead set up a separate office to deal with young offenders.

Voyles told the county commission that a juvenile peace officer was a more-needed position than an assistant probation officer. He added that using a peace officer was the recommendation of the juvenile probation board.

Probation officer Roger Bowers still would handle cases involving probated jail sentences, Voyles said.

"We felt that he (Bowers) could handle the office and that the peace officer's position was important. He does a good job, but he works strictly with kids on probation," Voyles said.

The peace officer would work particularly with schools, according to Voyles. Offenders not on probation and law-enforcement problems in school would be handled separately from the probation office.

A controversy over Bowers' duties evolved earlier this year when the city commission and school officials became concerned over the fact that the juvenile officer refused to handle non-probation cases.

Hereford police had also complained that Bowers would not take calls after hours.

The juvenile probation board then devised a job description for Bowers while stating that a peace officer also should be employed.

The city, county and Hereford school district each pay one-third of the salaries in the juvenile probation office. The county pays for additional office expenses.

Commissioners voted Monday to participate in the establishment of the new position. The probation board also will approach the city commission and school board concerning the proposal, Voyles said.

In another item, commissioners were told by Bull Barn employee Barbara Hardin that youngsters participating in a boxing tournament over the weekend, vandalized the plumbing at the county-owned facility.

"Everything's backed up out there," Mrs. Hardin said.

According to Mrs. Hardin, the sewer system at the Bull Barn was damaged after five or six rolls of tissue, a coat hanger, athletic tape and gauze and paper were stuffed into toilets and sinks.

Commissioners authorized County Treasurer Vesta Mae Nunley to keep a $200 deposit which had been put up for the use of the barn during the tournament by the Hereford Boxing Club. The deposit will be used to pay for the plumbing bill when the damage is repaired.

"If the $200 won't cover it, their privileges to use the Bull Barn should be suspended until the balance is paid," Commissioner Bruce Coleman said.

Mrs. Hardin said she did not believe that Hereford youngsters were involved in the vandalism. "We had several out-of-town teams there," she said.

"With the privilege, goes responsibility, so our group was responsible," Coleman said.

Commissioner hired Louise Walker, Oldham County extension agent, as the home economist for Deaf Smith County's extension service.

Mrs. Walker, who is married and has three children, has nine years experience, two in Oldham County, as an extension agent. She replaces Joyce Shipp, who has moved to Tyler.

County Surveyor Major Schroeter told the court that two historical markers had been removed from W. Highway 60 by the state highway department, which had

Congressman Speaks

U.S. Rep. Kent Hance held another "Town Hall Meeting" in Hereford Saturday, expressing his views on a wide range of topics and discussing pending legislation in the Congress. Approximately 75 people attended the session, held in the Medallion Room at Deaf Smith REC. Congressman Hance held a brief question-and-answer period following his talk. He told farmers to expect another tough fight on the farm bill next year. Rep. Hance discussed the SALT treaty, the guaranteed loan to Chrysler, environmental problems, the energy situation, and gave an update on the Iranian crisis.

Chances of 50-Cent Gas Tax Not Seen as Good in Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders are telling the White House that chances of enacting a suggested 50-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax range from slim to nonexistent.

Top administration economic officials, in a closed-door meeting Monday with House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, reportedly listed the tax as one of the options the president has under serious consideration as he prepares his 1980 agenda, sources said.

Administration economic officials see the tax as a way of forcing conservation of gasoline by making the fuel much more expensive at the pump.

But O'Neill, according to a participant at the meeting who declined to be identified, immediately threw cold water on the idea, telling the officials there was "little enthusiasm for a gas tax" on Capitol Hill.

Other sources said White House officials got much the same signal in a recent meeting with Senate Energy Committee Chairman Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., and other Senate leaders.

O'Neill reportedly told the administration officials he didn't see much support in the House for either a 50-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax or a strengthened gas-rationing plan also being considered by the administration.

Rationing and the gas tax, according to the sources, were two of many items discussed at Monday's session with O'Neill. Treasury Secretary G. William Miller, White House domestic adviser Stuart E. Eizenstat and Charles L. Schultz, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers.

At the meeting, the administration officials outlined a series of energy and economic proposals Carter is considering for possible inclusion in his 1980 budget and in his State of the Union address, the sources said.

"We made no commitments," Miller told reporters after the meeting. Miller and the other officials declined to publicly discuss details of what went on at the session with O'Neill.

But one source said the administration officials "laid out all the options and asked for advice."

O'Neill voiced particular pessimism about prospects for a gasoline tax passing — especially in light of the rejection of a similar tax proposal by the House in 1977, the same source said.

Carter submitted a proposed 50-cent-a-gallon gasoline tax to Congress in 1977 as part of his "moral equivalent of war" energy program.

Retail Sales Up in November As Economy Battles Recession

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's economy demonstrated further resilience in November, further confounding predictions of a downturn.

Total sales at the nation's retail stores rose 1.8 percent to $77 billion in November, wiping out the 1.7 percent drop in the previous month, the Commerce Department said Monday.

The data on retail sales — an important component of the economy — came on the heels of a Labor Department report showing that the nation's unemployment rate fell from October's 6 percent to 5.8 percent last month.

"You certainly don't get a picture of an economy that is folding up around us," said William Cox, a senior Commerce Department economist. "It seems as though this business expansion has nine lives, and I am not sure which one we are on."

The nation's output fell sharply in the period from April through June, leading many economists in and out of government to conclude that a recession had begun. Then the economy rebounded strongly from July through September.

Despite the latest good news, many analysts still predict the economy will

Attorney Hopes To Show Bilingual Ed Adequate

TYLER, Texas (AP) — Attorneys defending the state of Texas in a federal lawsuit today planned to show a color videotape to demonstrate techniques used in bilingual classrooms.

Susan Dasher, attorney for the state, said the tape, made in Brownsville public schools, shows the state's bilingual programs are adequate, and said experts in the field of bilingual education will substantiate that claim.

The federal government is prosecuting the lawsuit, which seeks to force Texas to expand its bilingual programs to all grades of public school.

State law currently requires bilingual education in grades kindergarten through 3, if there are enough students who need it, and provides for voluntary programs in grades four and five.

Monday, a Washington official who helped set up bilingual education guidelines for the nation's schools criticized the Texas Education Agency for inadequate monitoring of the program's progress.

"No standards and no precise requirements were listed by TEA. No remedial action nor aggressive technical assistance was offered," he said.

Martin H. Gerry, a former official with the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, testified on the sixth day of hearings in a federal suit that challenges Texas' bilingual educational efforts.

Gerry was a member of HEW's civil rights task force that established policies requiring Texas to provide classes in Spanish for grades kindergarten through 3 when there is sufficient student need.

Gerry, now an attorney and head of a consulting firm, also criticized the small number of bilingual teachers. He urged the Texas Education to undertake "a vigorous teacher recruiting program in other states."

He cited New York as a state where bilingual teachers have been laid off.

"Salaries attract teachers. When local districts cannot provide incentive pay, the state has a responsibility to step in," Gerry said.

Embassy Captive Interviewed by Network

DENVER (AP) — A 21-year-old Marine, one of 50 Americans being held hostage in Iran at the embassy he once guarded, says he has "no idea" where 20 of the hostages are being held or how they are faring.

His own treatment has been good, said Cpl. Billy Gallegos in an NBC-TV interview Monday, but he said he does not believe the deposed Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi is worth dying for.

"We're not ready to hold out here forever," he said.

Gallegos, of Pueblo, Colo., and the other Americans have been held hostage since Nov. 4, when students stormed the U.S. Embassy in Tehran. The students say that all the hostages will be tried as spies unless the shah is returned for trial in Iran.

"I don't know what would happen then," Gallegos said.

NBC said Gallegos' 22-minute interview, beamed by satellite from Tehran for prime-time network viewing, was the first on-camera report from inside the embassy since it was stormed five weeks ago.

The network said it was allowed to interview the hostage on the condition that the entire interview — and a statement from an Iranian student — be telecast. The statement, read by a woman identified only as "Mary," vilified the shah for "the largest thefts and exploitations of history" and repeated the "Iranians' insistence that the shah must be returned before the hostages will be released.

CBS News had turned down the opportunity for a similar "so-called" interview, said anchorman Walter Cronkite on the CBS Evening News. ABC had no comment Monday night.

At KOA-TV in Denver, Dick and Theresa Gallegos watched anxiously Monday night as Billy, the oldest of their four children, answered questions. They said he seemed nervous and looked pale and thin.

"I'd give my life for any American," the corporal said as he sat in front of a huge poster of Iranian leader Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini. "I can't see it now. In some ways, I don't see this as a good cause."

"The students here have been really good to us," Gallegos said of his captors.

"It's hard to believe, I know, but we haven't been asked any questions about what really our job was."

Asked whether he was worried, the corporal at first replied, "I imagine we'll be OK...Nobody's been mistreated."

Later, he acknowledged that only 30 of the hostages are kept together in "little cubicles" where they could see one another. The other 20 hostages, including senior embassy officials, were separated from the others a week after the embassy was captured, he said.

As a Marine, Gallegos said, he would "have to" accept whatever action President Carter decides to take toward the hostages.

"We're relying on his decision," the young American said. "No matter what.

Pioneer Elliston Dies

Raymond W. Elliston, a member of a local pioneer family and a longtime farmer-stockman in this area, died Saturday in the Veterans Hospital in Amarillo after a lengthy illness. He resided at 905 Lafayette and was 84 years old.

Services will be held tomorrow at 10 a.m. in Pioneer Chapel of Smith & Co. Funeral Home with the Rev. Don Fortner, pastor of the Hereford Church of God, officiating. Interment will be in West Park Cemetery under direction of Smith & Co. Funeral Home.

Born April 3, 1895 in Farmersville, to R.L. Elliston, he came to Deaf Smith County with his family in 1911. He raised quarter horses up until 1964 when he disposed of his horses. He married Jewel E. Elliston and was a member of the TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Foreign Minister Sadegh Ghotbzadeh said today international observers will see the American hostages in the occupied U.S. Embassy "in the very near future."

"We are going to have independent international observers to go and visit the prisoners in, I hope, a very short time and afterwards I hope that visits will be (made) regularly," Ghotbzadeh told a news conference.

The news conference was for newspaper and magazine reporters, not wire services, but The Associated Press obtained a tape recording of the questions and answers.

"One visit certainly is agreed upon, and it will be done I hope in the very near future," Ghotbzadeh said. "I hope that visits will be regularly (allowed). I can't guarantee that now."

Among the international intermediaries in Tehran is Harold Schmidt Degrueneck of the International Red Cross, who saw 15 of the hostages earlier in the five-week-old siege.

U.N. emissary Zuhair Yamin arrived in Tehran Monday and Sri Lankan Foreign Minister Shalul Hameed, who already has acted as an intermediary, is reportedly back in Tehran.

Ghotbzadeh said attempts were being made by Iranian officials to assemble an international grand jury as soon as possible to investigate Iran's grievances, including crimes charged against the deposed shah.

Meanwhile, the official Pars news agency reported today that a revolutionary guard was shot dead behind the embassy last Sunday morning and said the "martyred" guard was buried in his home town in the Sennan central province. Pars said only that the man was killed by "an unknown person" during a change of guard.

ABC News reported the Carter administration had "signaled" that if the hostages were not released within seven to 10 days, the United States would launch an economic campaign to bring down Iranian strongman Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini. But a spokesman for the State Department's task force on Iran

HISD May Conduct Poll In Community

Hereford Independent School District may participate in a community survey to determine public opinion towards local schools, Superintendent Harrell Holder said today.

Holder will recommend to school trustees during their regular monthly meeting this afternoon that HISD conducts the survey "to see what the public attitude is toward our schools," he said.

Holder also will recommend that HISD participates in a study to determine whether the district complies with the federal Title IX act, which deals with equal rights for female students.

The school district also might participate in a study to see how the content of lithium in the local water supply affects the teeth of students. Holder will recommend that the district conducts a local study.

Trustees Mack Tubbs, Clark Andrews and James Gentry—members of a special insurance committee—will report to the board concerning their recommendations on the purchase of a liability policy for the district.

Consideration of state-mandated policy changes, personnel hirings and resignations and routine reports also are on the agenda for the meeting, which starts at 5 p.m. in the HISD administration board room.

Anti-Busing Parents

Walk Out of Meeting

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — About 600 anti-busing parents walked out of a public meeting Monday night while the school board explained desegregation plans that involve cross-town busing of up to 15,000 students.

The group that left the school board session, which attracted some 2,000 persons, reconvened at a Catholic Church in Northwest Austin to discuss ways to combat busing.

"We will use political force, we will use economic force, we will not resort to violence," Dr. Peter Werner, a leader of the protest, told the protesters, who call themselves "Concerned Parents of Austin."

"We are not opposed to integration. We are for quality education, for preservation of the family, preservation of the community," said Werner, a physician.

The school board, under court order to eliminate one-race schools, published its plans Friday, for implementation in January at the elementary and junior high level and in March for high school students.

Plans will be made final later this month after another public hearing and possible adjustments.

Opposition thus far has turned largely on plans to bus about 600 students from Anderson High School in the well-heeled northwest quadrant of the city to Johnston High in a poor East Austin neighborhood. Johnston would become about 65 percent Anglo.

Students from a largely Anglo section of Southwest Austin also would be bused to Johnston.

Christina Onassis

Files for Divorce

ATHENS Greece (AP) — Christina

Onassis' lawyer said today the shipping heiress is planning to begin divorce proceedings against her Soviet husband Sergei Kauzov on grounds of irreconcilable differences. Informed sources said the settlement includes a 60,000-ton ship for him.

The lawyer, Stelios Papadimitriou, said that the country where the divorce suit is to be filed "is the matter of certain considerations," and that it will be several weeks before a decision is made public.

Christina, 28-year-old daughter of the late shipping magnate Aristotle Onassis, married Kauzov in a civil ceremony in Moscow 16 months ago. It was her third marriage and his second.

Papadimitriou said that as yet he was unaware what the divorce settlement would be.

Informed sources, however, said that besides the 18,000-ton bulk carrier Danila, which Christina gave Kauzov to mark their first wedding anniversary four months ago, negotiations are also proceeding for the purchase of a 60,000-ton vessel for him.

The sources said that Christina "wants Sergei to be well taken care of."

$15 Million Worth

Of Marijuana Seized

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — When customs officials boarded what they termed a "suspicious-looking" fishing vessel, they said, they found bales of marijuana stashed in the gun hold, the forward hole and the pilot house.

The illegal cargo, apparently bound for somewhere along the Texas coast, was seized about 5 p.m. Monday by customs officials who were on a routine patrol in the Gulf, about 16 miles southeast of Freeport on a 41-foot Coast Guard utility boat.

The estimated 15 to 20 tons of marijuana seized would be worth more than $15 million on the street, said Coast Guard Lt. Gabriel Kinney of Freeport.

Four men, all said to be U.S. citizens, were arrested, and their 58-foot boat was seized. They were taken to Galveston to face state and federal charges.

"It looked suspicious and we had other reason to believe once we spotted it that it might be involved in a smuggling operation," Kinney said.

The suspects made no effort to resist the boarding attempt, Kinney said. The boat was home ported in Miami, "and the destination was probably somewhere along the Texas coast. We don't know where."

Sioux Indian Claim

Goes to Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — A legal controversy sparked by Custer's last stand at the Little Big Horn 103 years ago will be settled by the Supreme Court.

The justices agreed Monday to decide whether the Sioux Indian Nation is owned more than $100 million for land taken from it in 1877 by a Congress angered by Custer's defeat and death the year before.

The U.S. Court of Claims, in awarding its largest judgment ever on June 13, said the Sioux are entitled to the money for 7.3 million acres of South Dakota's Black Hills country.

Lawyers said at that time that the award would benefit about 60,000 Sioux.

Government lawyers argue, however, that the Indian nation is entitled to only $17.5 million.

At issue is whether the federal government must pay 102 years worth of interest at 5 percent a year on top of the $17.5 million value of the taken land. As of June, the still-growing interest was nearly $90 million.

The case likely will be argued next spring and decided before the end of the current court term in June.

In an 1868 treaty, the United States promised that huge portion of South Dakota lands, including the 7.3 million Black Hills acres, would be for the "absolute and undisturbed use and occupation of the Indians."

Commissioners agreed to look into the proposal and suggested that the marker, which commemorates old ghost towns in the county, be placed on N. Highway 385.

1980 holidays for county employees were set Monday as follows: New Year's Day, Tuesday Jan. 1; Memorial Day, Monday, May 26; Independence Day, Friday, July 4; Labor Day, Monday Sept. 1; Thanksgiving, Thursday and Friday, Nov. 27-28; Christmas 12 noon Wednesday and Thursday and Friday, Dec. 24-26.

Commissioners tabled the payment of $837 to Panhandle Emergency Medical Services System for local ambulance calls in the first half of 1980.

The county will be billed for ambulance calls since the PEMSS communication network is utilized in Hereford. However, commissioners said that the billing should be done on an actual number of calls, instead of an estimate.

County Judge Glen Nelson said he would investigate the matter.

In addition to the embassy hostages, the Iranians are holding L. Bruce Laing, the U.S. charge d'affaires, and two other embassy officials at the Foreign Ministry. All are being threatened with spy trials and possible death sentences unless Carter hands over deposed Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi for trial in Iran.

The shah underwent cancer and gallbladder treatment in New York last month and is now convalescing at an Air Force base in Texas.

The United States went to the International Court of Justice in The Hague Monday and charged that the seizure of its embassy and the members of the embassy staff violated four international treaties and agreements signed by Iran and the United States. U.S. Attorney-General Benjamin R. Civiletti asked the court to order the hostages freed, but Iran refused to recognize the court's jurisdiction and boycotted the hearing.

Secretary of State Cyrus Vance was visiting London, Paris, Bonn and Rome, seeking the cooperation of Washington's major allies in the campaign of economic pressure on Iran. Vance also met with the Japanese foreign minister in Paris, and a high-ranking American official accused the Japanese of undercutting the United States by buying Iranian oil diverted from the American market and of helping Iran to ease the freeze on Iranian assets in American banks.

Two envoys from U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim, U.N. official Zuhair Yamin of Lebanon and Foreign Minister Shahul Hameed of Sri Lanka, arrived in Tehran to intercede for the hostages. But Iranian Foreign Minister Sadeq Ghotbzadeh told ABC and CBS there would be no negotiations until the shah was returned.

Parmesan Hot Item

PARMA, Italy (AP) — It's been a rough season for Parmesan cheese makers. Competitors are marketing a successful imitation, consumers are rebelling because of rising prices and the "Cheese Gang" steals regularly from the cavernous cheese storerooms.

Scarcely a week goes by without a nighttime raid by trucks driven out of the fog-shrouded plains surrounding Parma, police say.

The prize is Parmigiano Reggiano, commonly called Parmesan, the costly cheese which has tickled people's palates since Roman Days.

Because of the insatiable appetite of most Italians for grated cheese on their spaghetti, Parmesan — fetching as much as $8 a pound — has developed into a billion-dollar business in Italy.

Banking on that appetite, speculators buy up stocks of the cheese while it's still maturing. Then, after the mandatory maturation period of 18-24 months, the speculators cash in for huge profits.

Trying to beat the middlemen, imitators outside the circumscribed production area of Parma, Modena, Reggio Emilia and Mantua have created an inexpensive look-alike cheese called Grana Padana. It matures faster than Parmesan by using chemicals rather than the enzymes from the linings of calves' stomachs.

In the past two years, converted cheese factories in 27 provinces up and down the Italian boot have been churning out the new Grana.

But thieves are also after a piece of the curd, hijacking trailer trucks or rolling the wheels of cheese out of the depositories with the complicity of "insiders," police say.

One typical night raid occurred last month, at the end of the April-November Parmesan production season, when thieves stole a big milk rig as driver Bruno Grassi ducked into a roadside men's room.

They dumped the load of milk cartons, drove the truck past electronic surveillance into the Consorzio Agrario storeroom and loaded more than 300 wheels of Parmesan, each weighing 77 pounds, in a couple of hours.

Their haul was worth more than $100,000.

Clerk Hugger Sought by Police

Hereford police are seeking a man who walked up behind a clerk at a convenience store at 15th and Ave. H Sunday and gave her a bear hug before she frightened him away with a bat.

According to police, the clerk kicked the man in the groin, pulled a baseball bat out from behind the counter and told him he had 10 seconds to leave the premises. He promptly obliged, police said.

Police had a busy weekend, investigating a stabbing, two bicycle thefts, a house burglary and numerous incidental reports.

Officers received a call concerning a domestic quarrel in the 400 block of Blevins. When they arrived, they found a man had been stabbed in the back by his wife. He agreed not to file charges after he was taken to Deaf Smith General Hospital.

Emily Sustaita, 340 W. 4th, reported that someone stole a bicycle and tricycle from her residence sometime over the weekend.

Pedro Baribriesca, 326 Ave. E, told police that someone broke into his residence Sunday afternoon and went through several drawers. Nothing was reported missing, however.

Mrs. E.W. Cawthon, 803 Knight, reported that someone stole a large antique washpot from her front yard over the weekend.

Entrance and exit signs were stolen from Bluebonnet School during the weekend. The theft was reported by assistant principal Robert Stewart.

Tami Verschelde, 524 Ave. G, reported that her car was egged while it was parked in the 200 block of Ranger Sunday.

Vicki Mandeloa, 417 Ave. D, told officers that an object was thrown into the back window on her car, shattering the glass, while she was driving in the 600 block of N. Main Sunday evening.

"The next day it probably was already on the grocery shelves, retailing at high prices," lamented Lorenzo Catlabiani, secretary of the Parmigiano Reggiano Association. "The product is as good as gold, and thieves always find fences for their loot."

More damaging than the weekly robberies has been a recent consumer rebellion against escalating Parmesan prices. Since 1974, retail prices have tripled from about $2.40 a pound to almost $8.

Many Italians switched from Parmesan to Grana, and as a result 45 percent of the 1978 production — maturing for retail in 1980 — lies unsold in the storerooms. Parmesan thus earned the distinction of being one of the only food staples to drop in price.

The concern of the Parmese these days is how to get Italians and foreigners munching on Parmesan again.

Producers have started an advertising campaign urging new ways to eat the cheese, such as with pre-dinner drinks or for dessert rather than always grating it over spaghetti. They have also stepped up security at cheese depositories and are trying to eliminate the expensive middlemen by selling directly to large supermarket chains.

The production method for Parmesan is precise and lengthy. Once the cheeses — made of milk from cows fed on special forage — are in the storerooms, the "maturers" and financiers take over.

Throughout its maturation, each cheese is tasted, and tested with a needle to gauge its acidity and a hammer to measure hollowiness. Every two weeks the huge cheeses are turned over.

While the technicians work, banks and businessmen buy and sell lots of the cheeses in a system reminiscent of commodities futures trading.

Finally, the Parmigiano Reggiano Association stamps the cheese with its seal of approval, and the wheels are shouldered to waiting trucks.

"Sure our product is anachronistic," concedes Giampaolo Mora, president of the Parmesan association, "and it has its problems."

"Workers develop a sort of tennis elbow from turning the cheeses while they mature. Their wives complain of the cheese smell when they come home. We get ripped off by thieves and speculators.

"Still," he said, "it gives work to a quarter million people. And the packed protein it contains makes millions of others happy."

Tapes Introduced As Trial Evidence

KERRVILLE, Texas (AP) — Prosecutors unveiled the key evidence in a capital murder trial — "foolproof" tapes of conversations between the defendant and an undercover investigator — then indicated they probably would rest their case today.

The defendant is 19-year-old Donald Edward Smith, of Tampa, Fla., charged with two Aug. 2 murders near Brady. The victims were Molly Farr, 55, and her daughter, Tandy Bennett, 25, shot to death in their mobile home.

A 40-year-old man, Robert Shirl Gandy, was also killed in the mobile home that night, but no charges have been filed in his death.

The state introduced Monday three tape recordings of conversations between Smith and Hillsborough County, Fla., deputy Al Luis.

"They're foolproof," prosecutor Ron Sutton said of the tapes. "It's the defendant describing how three people were killed in Brady, Texas, on Aug. 2."

Five days before the killing, Smith talked to Luis on the secretly-recorded tape of going to Texas "to waste a dude" for pay.

Luis talked to Smith several times after the murders, and recorded two of those conversations.

In a tape made Aug. 7, Smith recounted several details of the mobile home's interior, including a fireplace, some decorative swords on the wall and a small white dog that nipped at his heels.

The description was consistent with what Texas Ranger Bob Favor testified he found when he investigated the killings, although Smith described the night of Aug. 2 as clear when, in fact, it had been raining, according to witnesses.

In an Aug. 15 conversation, Smith told Luis he liked shotguns and used a double-barreled shotgun in Texas.

"Did you do the ladies?" Luis asked on the tape.

Smith replied he shot the women while "Rocky" killed Gandy.

"I opened the door and she (Mrs. Farr) looked up at me," Smith said on the tape. "Just as she got up I let off a shot and she leaned over this way. I let go with both barrels and it took a chunk out of her."

"The other one (Ms. Bennett) never seen it coming. Everything went right through her."

Defense attorney Richard Mosty said the tapes were "not terribly convincing."

"It's obvious they have their best impact when the state first plays them before the jury," Mosty said. "When we have a chance to explain, I think the contrast will be clear."

Mosty, on cross examination, accused Luis of "flashing big sums of money and trying to be a hot shot," in trying to coerce Smith into confessing to a crime he did not commit.

Mosty implied Luis claimed to be connected to organized crime and promised Smith a job as a "hit man" if Smith could convince him he did the Brady killings.

Mosty contended Smith could have learned many details of the crime from newspaper accounts while he stayed with his aunt and uncle in the Dallas area.

Grand Jury Indicts 3

Deaf Smith County grand jurors Monday indicted three persons, two for theft, and took no action after investigating last spring's automobile accident which resulted in serious injuries to a local youth.

Brent Allen, then a high school senior, is confined to a wheelchair as a result of the accident, which occurred east of Hereford on U.S. Highway 60. Allen was a passenger in the car.

Indicted Monday were James Lee, theft; Billy Venable, sexual abuse of a child; and James Loman Huff, theft. The grand jury issued one at-large indictment.

show little or no growth in the fourth quarter and that output will continue to weaken into 1980.

"There are some signs of strength, but I don't want to try to call the (fourth) quarter at this stage," Cox said.

One sign of weakness showed up in government figures Monday on the sales of new one-family houses, which fell 1.8 percent in October to an annual rate of 724,000 units.

The latest figure was nearly 20 percent below the 900,000-unit rate of October 1978, the report said.

Versatile Cheese Ball Suggested for Holidays

The holiday season calls for at least a few special treats from the kitchen, even if one is not planning on entertaining with a party. It's so nice to have decorated butter cookies, fruit-cake, or cheese snacks on hand for special friends who may drop by, or for gifts that say "love from our house to yours."

Dairy Council, Inc. home economists offer this recipe for Versatile Cheese Ball as the answer to all such occasions. The mixture may be shaped into small balls and rolled in sesame seeds, finely chopped parsley or finely chopped smoked sliced beef. The bite-sized balls make perfect snacks or appetizers. The mixture is a good stuffing for celery, making that vegetable a nutritious snack, or dinner accompaniment. Or, best of all, it makes into an attractive and festive holiday treat.

At Wits End

BY ERMA BOMBECK

We got to talking the other day about optimism and it occurred to me that the only ones in the world who are actively practicing optimism today are dogs.

In fact, I'll go one step further and suggest that dogs probably invented optimism.

We have a small Yorkshire terrier (who should be owned by a good trial lawyer) who has sat by my chair at the dinner table every night for nine years waiting for something to drop.

He knows we have a family history of never feeding a dog at the table.

He knows we have children who have the agility to grab for a cookie in mid-air and catch it in their teeth a good three seconds before it hits the floor.

He knows I've never been decorated for cooking.

Yet, meal after meal, Murray keeps his vigil...his body rigid and poised to spring...his eyes shiny and darting...his every muscle quivering.

The dog lives on hope. Take the case of Murray and my mother. She has never made a secret of how she feels about dogs. To her dogs are mobile germ machines with rapier toenails used to shred nylons who cannot keep their uncivil tongues in their heads. ("You never know where that tongue has been!")

For eight years my mother has knocked on the door, then yelled, "Put the beast in the utility room or I'm not coming in." Yet for eight years Murray has greeted her happily at the door like she was covered with chicken fat.

Personally, I don't know how Murray does it.

He runs to the door with an enthusiasm reserved only for a victory at the polls at least 30 times a day. There's never anyone at the door for him.

When you put him in the car to take him for a ride, he goes crazy with anticipation. Yet he has never gone anywhere but to the vet for shots.

I have watched him in the yard chasing lizards. For nine years he has stalked and pounced until dehydration and exhaustion set in. Yet he has never admitted that the last time a dog caught a lizard, the lizard was on a leash.

Last night a sad thing happened: I dropped one of my cheese biscuits to the floor. Murray had been waiting all of his life for such a moment. He pounced on it, sniffed it, and then walked away from it.

My husband said, "Welcome to the real world, Murray."

Ann Landers

Sins of Masturbation

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I don't know if you can print a letter like this in the paper, but I sure hope so because I can't ask anyone else. It's too personal. I need help, and so do a lot of other teenagers.

At what age does a boy stop masturbating? Is it true that a person can get VD from masturbation? Does it cause acne or dark circles under the eyes? Do girls do it, too? Is it a sin? Is masturbation harmful? Please don't throw this letter in the wastebasket. I am--Worried But Now Grateful

DEAR W. BUT G.: (1) Some boys never stop. They masturbate all their lives, even after their marry.

(2) No. A person cannot get VD from masturbating.

(3) No. It does not cause pimples or dark circles under the eyes.

(4) Yes, girls do it, too.

(5) Masturbation is not a sin according to my religion it may be, according to yours, however. If such is the case, you'll have to come to terms with it on your own. Most young people who are told masturbation is sinful tell me it doesn't stop them. But it does make them feel guilty.

All the experts with whom I consult say masturbation is nature's way of awakening a person to the knowledge that he (or she) has sex drives. In other words, it is normal and natural.

The only way masturbation can be harmful is if a person becomes so obsessed with it that he or she performs the act several times a day and can think of little else.

DEAR READERS: I've done myself in! Recently a reader who signed himself "Billiard Ball Bennie" asked if those advertisements for hair-restorers were any good. I replied, "If you think that gunk will grow hair on your head, I have a nice swamp in Louisiana I'd like to sell you."

To date, I've received dozens of letters from people who are interested in that "real estate." Please folks, I was trying to be funny. I have NO swamp to sell. From now on, I won't be so cute with my answers.

DEAR ANN: Some time ago I read in your column a letter written by a school teacher describing the unwelcome Christmas gifts she receives from her students.

Her suggestion was that parents instruct their children to buy practical gifts, such as pencils, erasers, paper clips, etc.

I am a teacher who gets many "especially-for-you" gifts every year, and I love them. I've received poppy-seed bread, bubble bath, stuffed animals and a hand-painted ceramic bullfighter inscribed "To my best teacher."

I can toss a package of erasers and a box of paper clips into my grocery cart and never miss the pennies, but I'd miss the happy face of a child as I open a carefully wrapped piece of dime-store jewelry and allow him or her to put it on me as I "ooh and aah" over it.

Can you picture the same reaction to a gift of transparent tape? Guess I'm just not practical, but the way I see it, the other lady might as well just pass the hat for nickels and dimes--Sentimental Me good one. You'll get no argument out of me.

DEAR YOU: Your point is a

4-H Firsthand

By AGNES TAYLOR
Assistant County Extension Agent

The 4-H program in Deaf Smith County is expanding. We have over 350 4-H club members working in areas of livestock, clothing, crafts, small engines, photography, method demonstrations and foods & nutrition.

Participating in the District Food Show in Amarillo on December 8th are Glenna West, Becky Hughes, Kathy Morrison, Cynthia Lady, Polly West, Robin Conkright, Karen Friemel and Heather Gee. Printed below are several of these prize winning recipes which might be used for the upcoming holiday season!

MINI FRUIT CAKES

Becky Hughes
4 eggs
1 cup sugar
1 cup flour
1 tsp. baking powder
1/4 tsp. salt
4 cups nuts
1/2 lb. candied cherries
1/2 lb. candied pineapple
8 oz. pkg. dates

Preheat oven to 325 degrees. Beat eggs and add sugar gradually; mix well. Sift flour, baking powder and salt. Dredge cut up fruit and nuts. Mix well with egg mixture. Bake in small greased and floured muffin tins for 15 minutes. Serve warm or at room temperature with hot wassail. Yield: 4 dozen muffins.

HOT WASSAIL

Becky Hughes
1/2 cup packed brown sugar
1 tsp. whole allspice
1 tsp. whole cloves
1/4 tsp. ground nutmeg
1/4 tsp. salt
3 inches stick cinnamon
2 quarts apple cider or juice

In large sauce pan combine brown sugar, allspice, cloves, salt, nutmeg, cinnamon and cider. Slowly bring to boil; cover and simmer 20 minutes. Strain and serve warm over clove-studded orange wedges in mugs. Yield: 8 servings.

OLD FASHIONED APPLE DUMPLINGS WITH SAUCE

Karen Friemel
1 recipe for pie crust
3 T. butter or margarine, softened

3 T. granulated sugar
1 T. dark raisins
2 T. chopped walnuts
1/4 t. ground cinnamon
6 large baking apples
2 T. lemon juice
Whole cloves

1 egg yolk for basting
Form pastry into 6 to 8 inch round flat portions. Refrigerate between pieces of waxed paper. In small bowl, combine butter, sugar, raisins, walnuts, cinnamon and blend with fork. Core and pare apples and brush them with lemon juice. Preheat oven to 425 degrees. Grease well a shallow baking pan. Center each apple on an 8 inch round of pastry, spoon in cinnamon mixture, bring pastry up each side to top of apple; pinch edges to cover completely. Baste. Arrange in pan. Bake, brushing once with juices in pan, 40 minutes. Serve warm, topped with sauce made of 1/2 cup butter, whipped; 1 t. vanilla and 1 1/4 cups confectioners sugar.

LEMON GLAZED TURNOVERS

Polly West
Pastry:
2 cups unsifted flour
1/4 tsp. salt
1/2 cup ice water
1/2 cup chopped nuts
2 T. grated lemon peel
In large bowl, combine flour and salt; cut in 1/4 cup margarine with pastry blender or two knives until mixture resembles coarse meal. Add ice water; toss lightly until mixture clings together. Chill 10 minutes. Roll out on lightly floured board to 1/4 inch thickness into a 15x10 inch rectangle. Cut remaining 1/4 cup margarine into small pieces and sprinkle over middle third of pastry. Fold 1/2 pastry over middle; cover with remaining third. Give pastry a quarter turn; roll to 15x10 inch rectangle; fold as above. Cover with wax paper and chill 10 minutes. Repeat procedure of two rollings, foldings and turnings. Chill 10 minutes. Cut pastry in half; return half to refrigerator. Roll to 9x12 inch rectangle. Cut into 3 squares. Place 1/2 tsp. of filling in center of each square. Fold to form triangles; seal edges. Remove remaining half of dough from refrigerator and repeat procedure. Place on a baking sheet which has been covered with heavy brown paper. Chill 5 minutes. Bake in hot oven, 425 degrees for 12 to 15 minutes. Remove from paper immediately.

GLAZE

1/2 cup sugar
1/4 cup margarine
1/2 cup dairy sour cream
2 T. frozen lemonade concentrate, thawed
In a small pan, bring sugar, sour cream, margarine and lemonade concentrate to a boil. Boil 3 minutes, stirring occasionally. Pour over turnovers, sprinkle with additional chopped nuts, if desired. Makes 24 pastries.

Receives Award

Left Earline Jewett, Director of Texas Department of Community Affairs Housing Division, recently presented awards to participants from Texas and neighboring states who completed a special one-week housing course in Austin. Receiving one of the awards was right Inez Flores of Hereford. The TDCA Rural Housing Coordinator Training Course gives participants experience in counseling and problem-solving related to such things as foreclosure prevention, home repair, home purchase, and community involvement. The course also provides them with loan packaging training for the three major federal rural housing loan programs, directed primarily at moderate and low income families and individuals.

Man Wins Lighthouse

CHICAGO (AP) — For years, Stirling Bemis was in love with a lighthouse off a breakwater near Navy Pier.

He gazed down at the Lake Michigan sentinel from his 23rd floor apartment, cruised by it on his sailboat and dreamed of making the nine-story tower his home.

Now he's preparing to move in.

A year and a half ago, Bemis, a salesman for Good Housekeeping Magazine, learned the lighthouse was being automated and the four coast guardsmen assigned there were pulling out.

So he hired a lawyer, and started negotiations that lasted more than nine months. At first, the Coast Guard's attitude was, "Go away kid," Bemis, 37, recalled.

Then, Bemis's lawyer quit, saying there was nothing more he could do and that he would be wasting his money.

"But I continued," Bemis said.

The breakthrough came when he argued that his presence would prevent both deterioration and vandalism at the lighthouse. Two weeks ago he signed a lease with the Coast Guard, but he declined to disclose the terms.

The lighthouse, standing since 1920 and accessible only by boat, rests on a concrete base 28 feet above water level. Inside, a spiral staircase winds its way to the top where a beacon flashes a red light every five seconds and is visible for 23 miles. There are several living areas, a new kitchen, storage rooms and an office.

"During the winter, weather permitting, I'll be going out there and getting the south room ready for insulating," said Bemis. "This is where I'll live at first. There are nine levels from the water level to the lantern deck on top.

"I'll have to do some insulating for noise, too, from the foghorn," he said. "It's 113 decibels and that could be harmful to my hearing. Any improvements I make become Coast Guard property. I'll work my way up from the south room as time and money permit."

Bemis will have no responsibility for, or access to, the foghorn, the light and a radio transmitter. That section will be maintained by the Coast Guard and kept locked.

While he negotiated for the lighthouse, his friends thought of him as a Chicagoan Don Quixote, chasing a waterbound windmill.

"Half of my friends thought it was the best idea they ever heard of. The other half thought I should be fitted for a strait-jacket," Bemis said.

Why live in the cold, military, gray atmosphere of an aging, isolated building that bleats loudly to sailors in foul weather?

"From there (the lighthouse) I'll get one of the most beautiful views of the city. And I'm a view freak. Besides, I just love that lake," he said.

The cosmetics industry thrived in Egypt thousands of years ago. According to the National Geographic, ladies painted their eyelids with green malachite or gray galena, their toenails and fingernails with henna and their lips and cheeks with red ochre.

Iron ore and rubber are the main products of the African nation of Liberia.

General Motors Boss Says Good Times Ahead

NEW YORK (AP) — In the year's final days the economic assessment of the General Motors chairman is awaited by those who seek reassurance about the months ahead.

They are seldom disappointed; he rarely fails them. Once again Thomas A. Murphy sees the sunshine behind the shadowing clouds, the vision of big sales and economic success in spite of oil, Iran, and inflation.

Despite the "continuing problems of inflation and some current signs of sluggishness," says Murphy the optimist, "the United States' economy remains fundamentally strong."

Barring more "adverse developments in the Middle East, and assuming continued responsible price action by the OPEC countries," he states, car sales should "stabilize and strengthen as the year progresses."

Murphy, and his predecessors, accentuate the positive. Over and over again.

While the automotive year might not begin strongly "deliveries for the year as a whole cold approximate the 1979 total, with the selling rate in the latter part of the year at substantially higher levels."

An advance in electric battery technology, announced last September, "is only one of the developments that hold promise for the future in our efforts to improve the utilization of petroleum resources."

A drop in housing starts will to some extent "be cushioned by recent innovations that have made it easier for savings institutions to compete for funds in periods of high interest rates."

Why does GM so consistently stress the positive?

Interpreted cynically, some claim GM can take no other approach to an economy in which its view plays so big a role. It must be upbeat, they say, or see sales suffer.

Why, then, is so much attention focused on GM's forecasts? For several reasons, among them:

1. Some of those optimistic assessments have been rather accurate in recent years.

2. GM puts its money on the line, a practice that impresses hardnosed investors. This year its worldwide capital expenditures will total $5.3 billion, "and well over $6 billion annually in the early 1980s."

Murphy concludes GM's forecast for 1980 with the acknowledgement that "more than the usual amount of risk is associated with the outlook, given the uncertainties surrounding energy availability and price."

Conditions in the Middle East, particularly in Iran, "must moderate before the full potential of the U.S. economy can be realized," Murphy concedes.

"However," he says in the fashion of GM yearend statements, "based on the currently discernible economic factors in the outlook for 1980, there is reason for cautious optimism."

Mangled Man Found

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — The FBI has received an autopsy report that may help determine if the mangled remains of a man found on the beach at Padre Island National Seashore are those of a missing San Antonio realtor.

Joseph Paul Rupp, medical examiner for Kleberg County, declined to comment on the autopsy except to say that the death was "unnatural."

The body found Saturday by a pair of beachcombers was badly disfigured by animals, and Kleberg County officials said from the appearance of the remains, they could have been there anywhere from 48 hours to two weeks.

An FBI spokesman confirmed the agency was looking into the disappearance last Tuesday of Julius A. Dess, 73.

The day he disappeared, he was believed to be showing a man and woman a piece of ranch property near Poteet, in Atascosa County about 30 miles south of San Antonio and about 140 miles northwest of where the body was found.

Dess' blood-stained automobile "was found" last Tuesday night at San Antonio International Airport. Police found sand in the car and said the seat belts were cut, indicating they might have been used to tie up someone or something.

Remains of a fire and "what appeared to be a notebook containing real estate material" was found 150 yards from the grisly remains, said Max Hancock, a Padre Island ranger.

Scattered in the vicinity of the body were a number of personal and "business type" items, including a case, Hancock said. The remains had not been positively identified by fingerprints or dental records, an FBI spokesman said, Monday night.

The San Antonio Board of Realtors recently issued a warning to real estate agents about a man and a woman who have recently approached real estate agents about "very expensive, secluded property" without buying anything.

The NATIONAL BIBLE CONTEST

wants you to win a share of $16,500!

It's not a sweepstakes. Not a drawing. But a Bible contest based on your answers to questions taken directly from the Bible. How much you win doesn't depend on how lucky you are—but on how well you know your Bible.

Three chances to win

The contest is divided into three parts. Part one asks you three questions about the Old Testament. Part two asks three questions about the New Testament. And part three asks three general Bible questions that require knowledge of both Old and New Testaments. You may enter any parts of the contest you wish—first, second, third—or even all three.

54 cash winners! $16,500 in prizes!

Prizes are as follows:
Part One: First Place: $2,500; Second Place: 1,000; Third Place: 500.
Part Two: First Place: $2,500; Second Place: 1,000; Third Place: 500.
Part Three: First Place: $2,500; Second Place: 1,000; Third Place: 500.
Plus 45 Fourth Place prizes of $100 each (15 for each part). That means you could win up to $7,500 cash money, depending on how many parts of the contest you enter and win.

Easy to enter

To participate, all you need do is answer the three questions to each part of the contest you wish to enter. Then merely fill out the rest of the entry blank and mail this whole ad, along with your free will contribution of $1 for one part, $2 for any two parts and $3 for all three parts. (Free will entry contributions are tax deductible.) Mail to:

Christian Church Union
Dept. C1508 • Box 750 • Independence, MO 64052

Entries will be judged—and winners selected—by a panel of judges selected by the Christian Church Union. The King James version of the Bible will be considered the standard authority for judging entries. Judges' decisions are final.

Proceeds to fight world hunger and spread the Christian message

All after-expense proceeds derived from free will entry contributions go toward research leading to the development, production, and international distribution of fish protein concentrate for infants and children suffering from malnourishment and protein starvation—and toward production of Christian films designed to carry God's message to mankind. Any additional contribution you wish to make over and above your $1, $2, or $3 entry contribution will be greatly appreciated. Send cash, check, or money order. Please make checks and money orders payable to: Christian Church Union.

National Bible Contest, Part One, Old Testament:

$1 entry contribution requested
1. Name the man God used to deliver Israel from Egypt.
2. Who killed Goliath?
3. What prophet was kept safe in the lion's den?

National Bible Contest, Part Two, New Testament:

$1 entry contribution requested
1. What did the Wise Men follow to find Jesus?
2. Who was sent to prepare the way for Jesus?
3. Which disciple was famous for doubting?

National Bible Contest, Part Three, General Bible Questions:

$1 entry contribution requested
1. Name the first book in the Bible.
2. What is the longest book in the Bible?
3. Which two books of the Bible are named after women? _____ and _____

Girls Bow to Amarillo Monday Herd Wins Consolation, 7th Place in Tourneys

Hereford's varsity basketball teams had a busy tournament weekend, with the girls taking consolation honors at Clovis and the boys winning seventh place at Amarillo, and the Whiteface girls played again Monday night at Amarillo.

La Plata Girls Win Two In Overtime

The La Plata Junior High girls won two games in overtime here Monday over Plainview Red, but lost the 9th grade game by 48-34.

La Plata won the 8th grade game in overtime, 22-20, with Christy Lytal hitting the winning basket. Terese Phibbs led the scoring with 10 points.

The 7th graders beat Plainview in a thrilling double overtime game, 25-23. Diana Devers tallied 9 points and Connie Zinser had 8 in the winning game. Marizelda Soliz got the game-winning basket for La Plata.

The 9th graders were not as fortunate, losing by 13 points to the visiting Plainview team. Tori Self and Sherry Ellis each scored 7 points in the game for La Plata.

The junior high girls start play in the Clovis Tourney Thursday.

illo jumped to a 19-10 advantage in the first period and led by 13 points, 36-23 at halftime. However, Hereford came back strong in the second half and closed the gap to 47-43 after three periods.

Louise Mays led the Whitefaces in the losing cause as she scored 20 points. "Louise has put together two very strong games," commented Coach Larry Sowers. Mays tallied 22 points Saturday in the consolation game against Pampa in the Clovis Tourney.

In other scoring last night, Lori Albracht had 11 points and Kathy Lane 8. The JV girls won a 35-30 decision in the preliminary game at Amarillo Monday. Joe Libby tallied 10 points for Hereford and Danette Vigil also tallied 10. The girls go to Amarillo again tonight for varsity and JV games against Caprock.

Hereford won the consolation title at Clovis Saturday with a 58-37 victory over Pampa. Mays led the way with her 22 points, while Kathy Lane and Beverly Nixon added 15 and 12 points, respectively. The girls are now 6-6 on the season.

The Herd played Amarillo Caprock in the seventh-place game of the Amarillo Tourney Saturday, and won the contest by a 56-43 score. Darrell Polk paced the Whiteface boys with 19 points and Joe Walker chipped in with 15.

Hereford took a 16-8 lead in the first period, but led by only 25-22 at halftime, and 38-32 after three quarters. The Herd blew the game open in the fourth period, outscoring Caprock by 18-11.

Lubbock Coronado won the Amarillo Tourney, defeating El Paso Bowie in the finals. Plainview took third place with a 58-50 triumph over Amarillo Tascosa.

The Herd travels to Amarillo again tonight for a non-conference game against the Palo Duro Dons.

Stanton Boys Win Title; Fems Win Consolation

Stanton's 9th grade boys captured the championship in the Boys Ranch Basketball Tournament over the weekend, scoring a 49-43 over Dalhart in the finals.

The Stanton 8th graders captured the third-place trophy in their division of the same tournament. The 8th graders from Stanton faced La Plata in the third-place contest and won a 38-38 decision.

The 9th graders opened with a 64-33 victory over Dumas in the tourney, then downed both Boys Ranch by 58-26. Jay Hodge and Charles McDowell tallied 13 points each in the opener, while Jessie Moreno scored 11. Robert Abalos 10, and Alfred Ball and Rick Valdez 9 each in the second game. McDowell hit 16 in the championship game, while Valdez chipped in 10 and Ball 9.

The 8th graders lost to Dumas, 32-23, in the first round then bounced back to beat Dalhart by 30-28, and defeat La Plata in the third-place contest. Jeff Steun hit 12 points and Craig Jones chipped in with 9 in the game against La Plata.

Stanton's Junior High girls played at Borger Monday, winning the 9th grade game but losing the other two.

The 9th graders scored a close 42-38 win as Rosie Garza and Tiffi Dirks led the way with 16 and 11 points, respectively. The team is 5-2 on the season and 1-1 in district action.

The 8th and 7th graders both lost by identical 46-18 scores. Angela Walker led Stanton's 8th grade team with 7 points. Kristin Walterscheid and Linda Gonzales each scored 6 points in the 7th grade contest. Both teams are 1-1 in district. The 8th graders are 4-3 on the season, while the 7th graders are 1-3.

Stanton's girls were in the Canyon Girls Tourney over the weekend and came home with two consolation trophies. The 9th graders lost to Olton, 52-39, in the opener then bounced back to beat Canyon White by 50-34, and then downed La Plata in the consolation finals by 51-34.

Rosie Garza had 10 points and Angie White 9 in the first game, while Garza tallied 10 again in the second game and White and Barbara Brown hit 8 points each. In the consolation finals, White led the way, with 20 points. The 9th grade girls have a 4-2 won-lost record for the season.

The 8th grade girls lost to River Road in the opener, 28-17, then came back to defeat Canyon White, 35-27, and they, too, faced La Plata in the consolation finals. Stanton scored a 28-21 win over La Plata as Angela Walker paced the scoring with 12 points, Michelle Connally hit 10 points in the win over Canyon, while Amy Noyes had 9 in the loss to River Road. The 8th graders are also 4-2 on the season. Both teams play in the Clovis Junior High Girls Tourney Thursday.

Sports Editor Resigns; Montgomery Is Named

Hereford Brand sports editor Rick Grossman has resigned from the newspaper staff in order to return to college studies in Oklahoma, it was announced today by publisher O.G. Nieman.

Grossman's resignation was effective last Thursday.

Nieman announced that Mauri Montgomery, a Hereford High graduate, will be the new sports editor and will join the staff on Dec. 26. Montgomery will graduate from Texas Tech University this month with a major in journalism. He has been employed part-time with the Lubbock Avalanche Journal and has been sports editor for the University Daily.

Members of The Brand news staff will handle sports reports in the interim period. Results of all boys' and girls' basketball games will be published if coaches report on the games. Since it is difficult to contact coaches at the schools, The Brand relies on the coaches to call in reports on their games.

Indiana, Duke Still Atop Poll

Indiana, which drubbed Xavier of Ohio and Texas El-Paso in winning the Hoosier Classic last weekend, maintained the top spot in The Associated Press college basketball poll although its lead over runnerup Duke dwindled some.

The Hoosiers, 3-0, received 29 first-place votes and 1,146 points out of a possible 1,200 in the balloting by the poll's 60 sports writers and broadcasters. The Blue Devils, 5-0 following easy triumphs over Princeton and East Carolina, collected 20 first-place votes and 1,132 points.

Just a week ago, Indiana held a 28-18 advantage over Duke in first-place votes and a 20-point edge in total points.

The remainder of the Top 10 is a carbon copy of last week's poll with the exception of the No. 9 and 10 positions, which are now occupied by Purdue and Syracuse respectively.

Ohio State, with seven first-place votes and 1,051 points, remained in the No. 3 position, followed by Notre Dame, which picked up two No. 1 votes and 942 points. Kentucky grabbed the final two first-place votes and 902 points while staying in the No. 5 position.

Louisiana State, which edged intrastate rival Tulane 80-79, was sixth with 848 points followed by UCLA, 777 points, and North Carolina, 723.

Purdue, No. 12 last week, garnered 663 points after posting three lopsided victories last week. The Boiler makers took over the No. 9 spot from St. John's, which fell to No. 15 in this week's poll after being upset by Tennessee 97-80 last week.

Syracuse, coming off a thrilling 72-70 overtime victory over Illinois State in the Carrier Classic final last weekend, slipped into the No. 10 position. The Orangeman collected 613 points, 11 more than DePaul, which was 10th last week and now tops the Second 10.

Louisville remained in 12th position, followed by Virginia, Oregon State, St. John's, Georgetown, Iowa, Brigham Young, Missouri and Arkansas.

Missouri and Arkansas are the only newcomers to the Top 20, replacing Marquette and Kansas. No. 16 and 19 respectively last week. Marquette dropped a 63-60 decision to Michigan last weekend, while Oral Roberts and Southern Methodist each stunned Kansas.

Kentucky Rips South Carolina

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Frank McGuire spent 16 years building up the South Carolina basketball program... and Joe Hall's Kentucky team tried to shoot it down in one night.

"That's the highest score ever made against one of my teams and the worst defeat I've ever experienced," said McGuire, a bit stunned after Monday night's 126-81 rout by fifth-ranked Kentucky.

"We tried everything, but you can't use a zone against Kentucky," McGuire added. "Kyle Macy (who scored 24 points for Kentucky) is just too good a shooter. He couldn't miss. Joe used everybody, and those guys coming off the bench are good."

The 126 points is the most ever scored by Kentucky in a home game and it exceeded only by the 143 rung up by the Wildcats in a 1956 romp over Georgia. Included among Kentucky's fancy figures Monday night was a brilliant 28-of-34 shooting from the free-throw line.

Third-ranked Ohio State and No. 11 DePaul were the only other ranked teams in action Monday night, and both were successful, as the Buckeyes beat West Virginia 72-55 and the Blue Demons defeated Texas 66-60.

Forward Jim Smith scored 17 points as Ohio State whipped West Virginia in a rough game marked by 49 fouls. The Buckeyes jumped out to an early lead and were never threatened.

The Buckeyes led 33-23 at halftime, but it would have been closer had the Mountaineers shot better than their pathetic 17.6 percent.

"We just couldn't get a good shot," said Mountaineer Coach Gale Catlett. "Our shot selection was bad. We also missed too many foul shots and easy layups. We lost the game in the first half."

Mark Aguirre scored 15 of his 20 points in the second half and Teddy Grubbs added two clutch baskets down the stretch as DePaul held off Texas for Ray Meyer's 599th career coaching victory. The Blue Demons twice froze the ball in the final five minutes to protect slim leads.

Meyer said: "Texas knew that if they tried to run with us, we would bury them. So consequently, they slowed the game down to a walk and even when they trailed in the final minutes, refused to take a bad shot or lose their poise.

"What bothers me is that we are such a terrible free-throw shooting team, the worst in the last six years here. I was scared to death that if we got into the one-and-one at the end of the game, we would wind up blowing it all."

Elsewhere, Kansas trounced California State-Bakersfield 93-53 as Darnell Valentine scored 24 points and Chester Giles collected 13 rebounds. Tom Siemkiewicz scored 14 points, including two free throws with two seconds left, to lead Villanova to a 57-55 triumph over Princeton.

Bruce Collins scored 20 points and Richard Smith 17 to lead Weber State over Rhode Island 82-60. Missouri defeated Southern Cal 78-75 behind a 23-point, 11-rebound performance by Curtis Berry. Michael Burns' two free throws with 2:01 left helped Nevada-Las Vegas edge Tulsa 73-70. Kevin McKenna led a late Creighton rally as the Blue Jays whipped Seattle 69-59.

Rynn Wright and Vernon Smith combined for 31 points to lead Texas A&M past Sam Houston State 71-47. Smith, suspended in three early-season games for unauthorized participation in a summer league, scored 14 points while Wright had 17.

Rolando Blackman's 14 points led Kansas State over South Dakota 91-59; Tulane stopped Rice 56-53 as Joe Holston hit three free throws in the final 45 seconds; James Griffin's 19 points powered Illinois past TCU 79-64; Michigan State developed Portland State 88-54 as Ron Charles, Jay Vincent and Mike Brkovich scored 14 points apiece; Ron Jones scored 20 points to pace Illinois State over Indiana State 66-58; Dean Hunger poured in 24 points to lead Utah State over Nevada-Reno 113-95; Ken Labanowski's 16 points triggered Marshall over Ohio University 76-61 and Earl Belcher scored a career-high 38 points to pace St. Bonaventure over Clarion State 105-92.

Aggies, Raiders, Hogs Score Wins

By The Associated Press

When the Texas Aggies lost to tiny Iona and cross-state rival Lamar in a basketball tournament in Alaska, people were beginning to wonder what was wrong with the Aggies, the preseason favorite to win the Southwest Conference basketball crown.

Vernon Smith, who was suspended for three games because of participating in an unauthorized summer league and was not in the lineup for the two tournament losses, is back and no one's wondering about the Aggies. Just ask Sam Houston State's basketball team.

Smith and teammate Rynn Wright combined for 31 points to lead the Aggies to an easy 71-47 non-conference victory over the Bearcats Monday night. It was the first loss for the Lone Star Conference team after six victories and boosted the Aggies, who were once 0-2, to 5-2.

Overall, the conference wound up the night Monday with a 3-3 record against non-conference foes.

Texas Tech beat Air Force, 58-54, and Arkansas beat Athletes in Action, 68-67, in overtime for the other victories.

Texas dropped a 66-60 decision to DePaul, Tulane edged Rice, 56-53, and Illinois beat Texas Christian, 79-64, to account for the three losses.

Two games are to be played tonight. McMurry takes on Baylor at Waco and Houston hosts Texas Lutheran. Ben Hill had 15 points, including a go-ahead slam dunk with five seconds remaining at Texas Tech beat the Air Force, 58-54. Kent Williams had 12 points each to help the Red Raiders. Rick Harris had 15 for Air Force.

U.S. Reed had 19 points, Scott Hastings pitched in 14 and Alan Zahn had 10 as Arkansas beat Athletes in Action, 68-67, in overtime.

It was Zahn's heroics in the last 10 seconds of overtime that boosted the Razorbacks to the victory. With AIA leading, 67-66, he blocked a shot by former Razorback Jim Counce, rebounded the ball and was fouled. Zahn then made two free throws to ice the victory.

Texas managed to keep close to DePaul in the first half, going to the dressing room trailing by a single point, 37-36. But DePaul's Mark Aguirre went on a scoring tear early in the second half, winding up the night with 20 points for the Blue Demons.

Ron Baxter led all scorers with 21 points and freshman George Turner had 12 for the Longhorns.

Sophomore guard Joe Holston scored 12 points, including three on free throws in the last 45 seconds as Tulane edged Rice, 56-53.

Freshman Kenny Austin had 20 points for Rice, including 15 in the first half.

Sophomore center James Griffin scored 19 points to celebrate his return to Fort Worth and helped Illinois beat Texas Christian, 79-64.

Junior High Squads Win

Stanton Junior High managed a sweep in basketball action against Borger Red Monday, winning all three boys' contests. Stanton's freshmen downed Borger, 45-39, behind Jay Hodge with 19 points. Stanton is 5-0 going into the Hereford junior high tournament Thursday through Saturday.

In the eighth-grade game, Jeff Steun scored 11 points to lead Stanton to a 31-24 victory. In seventh-grade action, Kevin Redus poured in 12 points and Lee Brockman eight as Stanton won, 29-16.

Rams Rebound, Win Title Again

By BERT ROSENTHAL
AP Sports Writer

A month ago, the once-proud Los Angeles Rams were struggling. Their record had slipped to 5-6, they had fallen out of first place and their chances of winning the National Football Conference West Division title for the seventh consecutive year appeared dim.

What a difference a month can make.

Now, after four consecutive victories, including Sunday's 34-13 romp over the Atlanta Falcons, the Rams again are kings of the NFC West for a record seventh time.

Three other teams in National Football League history — Minnesota, Dallas and Cleveland — had won six division crowns in a row. No team ever had won seven.

"I always felt somehow we'd get it," said Rams Coach Ray Malavasi. "Right now, we have momentum and this is when you like to have it — at the end of the season."

Although the Rams have dominated the division in recent years, they never have won pro football's biggest prize — the Super Bowl.

While the Rams were dreaming about Super Bowl miracles, five other teams joined them and Philadelphia — which clinched last week — in the playoffs.

The Miami Dolphins, the Cinderella team of 1972 when they finished 17-0 including a 14-7 victory over Washington in the Super Bowl, clinched the American Football Conference East title with a 28-10 victory over the Detroit Lions, while the second-place New England Patriots were losing to the New York Jets 27-26.

The San Diego Chargers, the AFC West leaders, clinched at least a wild card playoff position by walloping the New Orleans Saints 35-0.

The Pittsburgh Steelers, 11-3, and the Houston Oilers, 10-4, who play in tonight's nationally televised game at the Astrodome, moved into the playoffs when the Cleveland Browns, behind them in the AFC Central, were beaten by Oakland 19-14 as the Raiders kept alive their playoff hopes.

Denver has a 10-5 record and Cleveland and Oakland each are 9-6 in the battle for the final playoff spot in the AFC. The Broncos finish their season at San Diego Dec. 17 in a showdown for the AFC West title. Cleveland winds up Sunday at Cincinnati and Oakland entertains Seattle Sunday.

In the NFC, the Washington Redskins joined Dallas and Philadelphia atop the East Division at 10-5 apiece, defeating Cincinnati 28-14. Dallas clinched at least a wild card berth Saturday with a 24-17 triumph over Philadelphia.

Chicago tied Tampa Bay for first place in the Central Division at 9-6 by edging the Green Bay Packers 15-14 Sunday while the Buccaneers were upset by the San Francisco 49ers 23-7.

Chicago, Tampa Bay and Washington have shots at the two remaining playoff spots in the NFC. In their final games, Chicago entertains St. Louis, Tampa Bay is home against Kansas City, and Washington plays at Dallas.

WASHINGTON (AP) — An organization designed to tone up the muscles of older citizens has been formed in Washington. The National Senior Sports Association will serve the competitive and recreational sports interests of Americans in the 50-plus age group.

NSSA plans to conduct regional and national tournaments for its members in golf, tennis, bowling and fishing. Plans call for many other sports to be added to the program, including swimming, boating, skiing, shuffleboard, camping, hiking, running and jogging.

Showdown Game Pleases Pardee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Coach Jack Pardee likes the idea of having the NFC East title decided on the final weekend of the season in a game between arch-rivals Washington and Dallas.

Asked for his thoughts on the game Monday, the Redskins coach replied: "Before the season no one had any reason to think that the 16th week of the season would determine our divisional winner, whether ourselves or Dallas."

"I thought we would have a good shot at making the playoffs but I really didn't think anybody could beat them (for the division title) with Dallas being a Super Bowl team last year. I thought they would have the division wrapped up by now."

"But the way it's falling, with them having problems, and us playing a little better than most people thought, it makes it a little bigger and better."

"We still have our destiny in our hands," he said. "It's ours if we're good enough."

The Redskins, Cowboys and Philadelphia, each with 10-5 records, are in a three-way tie for National Football Conference East Division title but only

Texas Sports Briefs

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Longhorns got back to work on the football practice field Monday, preparing for their Dec. 22 date in El Paso against Washington in the Sun Bowl.

"We're not as rusty as I thought we'd be," said coach Fred Akers after the 90-minute drill. "They (the players) didn't forget everything."

Two players are still nursing injuries suffered in Texas' 13-7 upset by Texas A&M at the end of the regular season. Defensive tackle Steve Massey has a sprained ankle and linebacker Conny Hatch a hamstring pull.

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Tornado on Monday drafted high school student David James, 16, the youngest U.S. athlete ever drafted by a U.S. professional sports team, according to Tornado officials.

James, of Richardson, a Dallas suburb, was eligible for the North American Soccer League draft since he participated in an accelerated scholastic program and is to graduate from high school this spring, said Tornado public relations director Thom Meredith.

NASL rules, however, prohibit the Tornado from

Oilers Knock Off Steelers, 20-17

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers, following sage advice, declined to spit into the wind or step on Superman's cape Monday night.

Having come within one second of defeating the world champion Pittsburgh Steelers, Oiler quarterback Dan Pastorini politely fell on the ball for the final play of the game at the Steeler one-yard line and the Oilers trotted into the dressing room with a 20-17 victory.

The Oilers had better sense and sportsmanship than to rub the Steelers noses in the Astrodome.

"Pittsburgh is too good a team to rub their noses in a loss," Oiler Coach Bum Phillips said.

"If the touchdown would have made a difference in the division championship, we could have scored," Pastorini said. "We weren't trying to rub their faces in it."

The Oilers had accomplished their goal. They kept the Steelers from clinching their sixth straight American Football Conference Central Division championship and kept alive their own chances of claiming a title for the first time since 1967.

"After the way we lost to them the first time we played this year we had to be a little psyched up," Pastorini said. "So we just went out and got a little sweet revenge."

The Oilers, who lost to the Steelers 34-5 in last season's AFC championship game and 38-7 in their first meeting this season, clearly were ready for the challenge this game.

Houston held the Steelers to four first downs and took a 7-0 halftime lead on a 25-yard pass from Pastorini to Ken Burrough. They went ahead 13-3 on field goals of 24 yards and 34 yards by Toni Fritsch in the third and fourth quarters.

The record crowd of 55,293 in the Astrodome and a national television audience kept waiting for the sleeping giant Steelers to wake up and they finally did.

Matt Bahr kicked a 37 yard field goal in the third quarter and Lynn Swann ran nine yards for a touchdown on an end around play that narrowed the Oiler lead to 13-10.

But the Oilers didn't fold. Rob Carpenter ran four yards with 2:10 to play to boost the lead to 20-10 for what proved to be the winning margin.

Pittsburgh quarterback Terry Bradshaw whipped the Steelers to the game's final touchdown with a 34-yard bomb to John Stallworth with 1:18 left in the game. But the Steelers tried an on-sides kick that found its way to Oiler tight end Mike Barber.

"They took that damn football and ran it down our throats for five minutes and scored a touchdown," Steeler defensive tackle Joe Greene said of Carpenter's touchdown. "That was as disappointing as anything that happened and

It was suggested to Brazile that Bradshaw, recovering from a sprained wrist, was not throwing as well as usual.

"I don't know," Brazile quipped. "He threw me a perfect strike."

Monterey Claims Football Statistics

District 4-4A football champion Lubbock Monterey led much of the statistical departments for the 1979 season, according to conference figures released this week.

Monterey, 9-1 for the season and 4-0 in district, was both the total offense and defense leader. The Plainsmen recorded an average 345.5 yards per game over the season while yielded only an average of 124.8 yards per game. Plainview was second in both departments.

Hereford was third in the offensive stats, averaging 203 yards per contest. The Herd ranked next to last on defense, however, giving up an average of 240.6 yards per game.

Monterey's Willie Johnson romped off with the individual rushing title, gaining 1,384 yards and a 6.2 average per rush. Hereford's Joe Mitchem was third in this category, racking up 510 yards and a 3.7 average per carry. Joe Walker gained 359 yards and was ranked seventh in rushing.

Monterey's Keith Pots led the passers with 835 yards while hitting on 38 of 74. Hereford's Derek Dirks was ranked second with 709 yards on 52 of 107 tosses. Hereford had the top passing offense in the league with 900 yards, as Alan Wartes also passed for almost 200 yards.

Walker of Lubbock and Gallardo of Plainview tied for the punting honors, as each averaged 36.9 yards a punt during the season. Hereford's Don Delozier averaged 33.9 a kick while Dirks averaged 28.9.

Hereford's Felix Soliz ranked fourth in pass receiving with 196 yards on 16 receptions. He averaged 12.3 yards per catch. Scott Daniels nabbed 14 passes for 145 yards.

Monterey's Johnson was also the total offense leader as well as the scoring champion with 96 points. Hereford's Walker was sixth in scoring with 30 points. Hereford's Walker was sixth in scoring with 30 points. Aubrey Richburg, Hereford's all-district defensive end, ranked second in individual tackles with 112.

Barrera of Lubbock High was listed first in tackles made with 169.

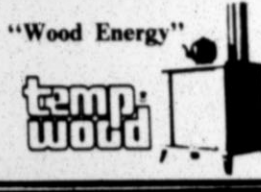

Hereford was 5-5 on the season, but was tied with Lubbock at 1-3 in district play.

Names in the News

CLEVELAND (AP) - Former Mayor Dennis J. Kucinich was to be the target of an assassination plot, according to a Cleveland television station report quoting a convicted killer who said he was approached about the killing.

WKYC-TV on Monday quoted an unidentified man as saying he had been contacted by organized crime figures about killing Kucinich in October 1977, but was arrested in another case before he could plan the slaying.

In the report, the man, who is in the federal protective custody program for witnesses, said he would tell only police who offered him the job. No attempts on Kucinich's life were ever reported, but Edwin Nagorski, Cleveland's acting police chief, told the station that police had indications in the fall of 1978 "that there would be a professional attempt on the mayor's life. And we started taking immediate steps to ensure that could not happen."

The television station quoted the man as saying the reason for the plot was: "We can't buy Kucinich, that is what I was told. He was cut from a different cloth."

Kucinich, elected mayor in November 1977, was defeated last month in his bid for reelection.

NEW YORK (AP) - Liza Minnelli, recently married to long-time beau Mark Gero, was rushed to New York Hospital-Cornell Medical Center, the New York Daily News reported today.

Sources close to the singer-actress, who is two months pregnant, said she was in danger of losing her baby, the News said.

"She has been having trouble for more than a week," a source

Texas Briefs

By The Associated Press
AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The Texas Public Utility Commission began hearings Monday on Central Power & Light Co.'s request for rate increases totaling $95 million a year.

CP&L serves 44 counties covering 44,000 square miles in the southern one-sixth of the state. It has approximately 410,000 customers in 215 communities and surrounding areas. Commission staffers have recommended revenue increases totaling $71 million.

No witnesses were heard Monday, as all sides wanted time for negotiations that might narrow the issues for the commission to consider.

One major question - which the PUC staff has not addressed yet - is how to divide CP&L's revenue requirements among its various classes of customers.

"We don't want to hold out hope we can solve all our problems, but we can at least try," said PUC general counsel John Bell.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - "Wake Up, America" - a song written by John Connally's daughter, Sharon Ammann, has been selected by Connally as his presidential campaign song.

Mrs. Ammann said she wrote the words and guitarist Judy Barber, also of Floresville, Texas, wrote the music "over a cup of coffee while the kids were tumbling around under our feet."

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The Texas Railroad Commission gave itself an extra 30 days Monday to review a $40.9 million rate increase request by Lone Star Gas Co.

The commission said hearing examiner Glenn Johnson of the Gas Utilities Division recommended the additional time because of the size of the record and the complexity of the issues.

The commission now has until Feb. 2 to act on Lone Star's request.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The Texas Railroad Commission approved Monday a request by Entex, Inc., to raise rates for 40 industrial customers near 11 cities and towns in the Beaumont district.

The commission said all the customers have consented to the new rates.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Jerry Johns, a spokesman for the insurance industry, said Monday that Texas state and local police are not energetic enough in enforcing the 55 mph speed limit.

"A 1979 survey by the federal government revealed that Texas has the highest average speed of any state in the nation with 59.6 mph," said a statement from Johns, president of the State Insurance Information Service Inc.

"Thus far this year 3,525 people have been killed in traffic accidents in Texas. Texas law enforcement officials could help reduce this tragic loss of life if only they would stop and ticket every driver exceeding the speed limit rather than selectively ticketing motorists at the discretion of the officer."

He said the governor of an adjoining state ordered his state troopers to stop and ticket drivers exceeding the speed limit by even one mile per hour.

"Department of Public Safety officials should publicly announce their intention to stop every driver exceeding the speed limit by as much as one mile per hour," he said. "Why should any motorist be excluded from the law just because he or she may only violate it a little?"

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Speaker Bill Clayton named a Select House Committee on Junior College Funding Monday to prepare recommendations for the 1981 Legislature.

He said the 10-member committee was being asked specifically to determine how current funding formulas need to be adjusted to meet costs, the problems of small taxing districts and small enrollments and how to deal with declining as well as fast-growing enrollments.

Rep. Ron Wilson, D-Houston, was named chairman. House members on the committee include Reps. Jerry Donaldson, D-Gatesville; Tom Uher, D-Bay City; Billy Hall, D-Laredo, and Erwin Barton, D-Pasadena.

Private citizens named to the committee were Marvin Baker, Levelland; Tony Bonilla, Corpus Christi; H.J. Shands Jr., Lufkin; Dr. Jerome Weynard, San Antonio, and Dr. Al G. Langford, Midland.

HOUSTON (AP) - Five weekend murders raised Houston's 1979 total to 596.

There had been 416 adult murders the same period last year, when Houston recorded a record 464 for the year.

DALLAS (AP) - After five weeks of testimony a federal court jury Monday found John H. Murfin guilty of failing to file tax returns for three years, a month after his wife was convicted and sentenced for the same offense.

Murfin of Richardson, had claimed he was not required to file returns for 1974, 1975 and 1976 because his income for those years was in the form of Federal Reserve Notes, which he said were not money for tax purposes.

U.S. District Judge Sarah T. Hughes will pronounce formal sentence Jan. 11. Maximum penalty is one year in jail and a $10,000 fine on each count, plus the cost of prosecution.

Murfin's wife, Jean, was convicted in November of failing to file tax returns for the same three years and was sentenced to six months in prison, plus three years probation.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - Gov. Bill Clements announced the reappointment Monday of Louis Pearce Jr. of Houston as chairman of the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission.

Pearce, 62, is chairman of the board of Waukesha-Pearce Industries, Inc., and Texas Iron Works.

Other appointments by Clements Monday included: -Ted Bowen, president of Methodist Hospital in Houston, as a regent at Stephen F. Austin University.

-Dr. Louis Gibson of Corsicana to the Statewide Health Coordinating Council.

-James Chambers Jr., chairman of the board and chief executive officer of the Dallas Times Herald, to the Texas War on Drugs Committee.

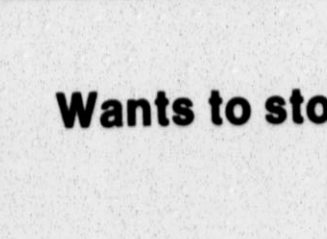

-William Harris of San Antonio, a retired major general, to the Governor's Task Force for Handicapped Citizens.

-Jack McGlothlin of Abilene, chairman of the board of LaJet, Inc. crude refining firm, to the board of directors of the Brazos River Authority.

EL PASO, Texas (AP) - Rep. Luther Jones, D-El Paso, announced Monday he would not seek re-election to a fifth term in 1980.

"Jones said, "... eight years is enough. Serving in the Legislature has taken just too much time from my family ..."

Jones told a news conference, however, he would consider running for chairman of the Texas Democratic Party if chairman Billy Goldberg of Houston does not seek re-election next year.

Wants to stop laxatives

HEALTH

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I must have what is called spastic colon as I have been trying for the past two years to get away from laxatives with little results.

I'm 71 years old, in excellent health, swim a half a mile every day, walk and bicycle and occasionally jog.

I drink at least 10 to 12 glasses of water a day and eat about a half a cup of raw bran from the health food store each morning. I practically live on fruits and vegetables, eating all of the skins of not only my own but also my husband's.

In spite of this, I will go for four or five days and then I begin to feel uncomfortable and get headaches and then resort to a laxative. Oh yes, I forgot to tell you that in addition to bran, I drink water with a heaping teaspoon of Metamucil three times a day.

Several years ago I had a barium enema which showed no difficulty except diverticula. We do a lot of traveling and in spite of carrying bran and Metamucil on trips, I have even more difficulty with elimination. I would appreciate any suggestions.

DEAR READER - You're doing most of the things that we usually suggest for people with irritable or spastic colon problems. I can't see that adding any additional bulk to your diet, other than what you're already getting, will really help a great deal.

You might benefit by attempting to train yourself to have a regular habit. I'm sending you The Health Letter number 2-1, Irritable Or Spastic Colon And Constipation. There is a natural reflex that occurs after eating. It's called the gastrocolic reflex. When the stomach is filled, there is a reflex for contractions of the colon. By training and developing this reflex, it helps to promote regular elimination.

The natural reflex is discussed in The Health Letter I'm sending you. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. I'm also sending you The Health Letter number 12-8.

POLLY'S POINTERS

Polly Cramer
Oven won't clean itself

DEAR POLLY - Attach sturdy cup hooks along your roof overhang or wherever you usually hang Christmas tree lights out of doors. Leave these hooks year round. When the weather is cold hanging up the lights takes only a short time.

Also, I would like to know how to clean a self-cleaning oven that will not clean itself. - MRS. H.H.

DEAR MRS. H.H. - If an oven does not clean itself as it should it may mean that the cycle was set for too short a period of time and should be lengthened, or that it is not being self-cleaned often enough. Never use oven cleaner on a self-cleaning oven. Before using the self-cleaning cycle thoroughly wipe out the oven interior with a damp cloth. Excess grease and spillovers need to be removed to avoid overloading the smoke eliminator. - POLLY

DEAR POLLY - Keep medicine bottles in their original boxes when storing them away in the medicine cabinet. If they slip out of the hand accidentally and fall into the basin a glass container will not shatter all over but be contained in the box. Clean your plastic tablecloths with sudsy water and a plastic bristle brush. The print and coloring will not be harmed as they are by scouring powder. They come out looking like new. - MRS. C.W.

Laxatives, Enemas And Suppositories. You're very wise to avoid taking chemical laxatives. The bulk laxative that you're taking doesn't present the same problems. People do get hooked on the laxative habit.

While you're training your natural gastrocolic reflex, rather than using a chemical laxative, you might resort to using a small tap water enema every three days if needed. It won't have the same chemical effects you might get from a laxative.

Following this routine and in the course of time you may develop a regular reflex pattern and be able to avoid being hooked on laxatives. Your doctor may wish to give you an antispasmodic if your condition indicates any degree of spasm as part of your problem. Also some people benefit from stool softeners.

DEAR DR. LAMB - My 17-year-old blond daughter has a dark mustache. I don't want her to start plucking it. What should she do? It detracts from her lovely smile.

DEAR READER - She could bleach it. Very blond facial hair is far less obvious than dark hair. She might also see a dermatologist for some recommendations about local facilities for removal of unwanted hair.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I'm a 65-year-old woman, weigh 144 pounds, am 5 foot 3 and in good health. I get plenty of exercise and my regular diet includes whole wheat cereals, broiled meat, fish, fowl and plenty of fruit and milk. Imagine my exasperation on receiving a form letter from my gynecologist saying that my cholesterol level was elevated and that I should eliminate fried foods and fats from my diet.

Just how seriously should I take this report? I could further eliminate one boiled egg a day, occasional cheese and switch to skim milk but is that really necessary or advisable? I read recently that elevated levels after 50 are perhaps desirable.

DEAR READER - There is a tendency for cholesterol levels to increase with age but that doesn't mean that it's desirable. And although you've apparently made considerable effort toward controlling your diet, you're correct in saying there could be some improvement.

If you have any degree of fat around your waist, you might be well advised to cut back on your calories or increase your exercise enough to eliminate the fat. You should decrease the cholesterol in your diet. Even though your body does manufacture cholesterol, the cholesterol in your diet is simply mixed with your own and adds to the problem.

One egg a day gives you around 225 milligrams of cholesterol, not counting the cholesterol in the rest of the food you eat. Uncreamed cottage cheese is low in fat and low in cholesterol, but most of the processed cheeses are high in saturated fat and high in cholesterol. Switching to skim milk and uncreamed cottage cheese is an excellent idea.

Yes, I think you should take the test seriously. There are variations in techniques in how the test is done and also fluctuations in cholesterol from one day to the next. That's why it's often recommended that a person have at least three blood tests of his cholesterol level before deciding what the actual level usually is.

As far as a high cholesterol being advantageous after age 50, it's not quite that simple. It's better stated that if the cholesterol is in small fat particles, it's less likely to be harmful and the number of small particles may provide some help but I think that's still questionable.

The discussion here is really about lipoproteins. Cholesterol is carried in the bloodstream in combination with a blood protein and fat. The combination of fat, blood protein and cholesterol is called a lipoprotein. The small particles of these are considered to be O.K., but if the cholesterol is in larger particles that is thought to be more likely to cause fatty-cholesterol deposits in the arteries.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 1-2, Cholesterol, Triglycerides, Blood Fats, Atherosclerosis. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

When you read this Health Letter, keep in mind that the small lipoproteins are the same thing as high density cholesterol or HD cholesterol. The knowledge about cholesterol occurring in small fat particles versus large fat particles is hardly new.

RCA Satellite Lost On Company's Screen

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Satcom III, a one-ton, $20 million RCA Corp. communications satellite, is lost in space after technicians fired an engine meant to send the craft into permanent orbit.

"We lost the satellite and haven't found it yet," said John Williamson, a spokesman for Americom, an RCA subsidiary, in New Jersey.

The television relay satellite disappeared from Americom's New Jersey tracking screens shortly after a kick motor switched on Monday afternoon, Williamson said.

"We don't know what happened to it," he said. "We hope it will come out OK. But there is certainly cause for dismay."

Williamson said if the satellite were to fall to earth, it would burn up in the atmosphere before reaching the ground.

Sources close to the RCA project told the newspaper TODAY in Cocoa, Fla., "either it blew up or it's flying somewhere out in the universe." One source said the satellite probably blew up because it would have remained on tracking screens longer had it been propelled into outer space, the newspaper reported.

Satcom III was launched from Cape CANAVERAL Thursday night by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration under a contract with RCA. James Lacy, public information officer at a NASA tracking station in Maryland, said the craft went into a temporary looping orbit, and NASA tracked it for two hours before turning the job over to RCA.

"I don't remember ever losing a satellite under these conditions," said Lacy.

Williamson said the kick motor was to have sent the satellite into a permanent orbit 22,300 miles above the Pacific, midway between Hawaii and California.

The North American Air Defense Command in Colorado Springs joined in the search for the box-like satellite measuring about 5 feet by 4 feet by 4 feet. Capt. Mary Noeller, public information officer for NORAD, said the search was being conducted by the agency's World-wide Space Detection and Tracking system.

RCA also has asked NASA, Western Union, Comsat General Corp. and Telesat of Canada for help.

Williamson said the total cost of the mission was $50 million, including the space craft itself, insurance and launching costs.

Before the launch, RCA officials said they paid $5.3 million for a 90-day insurance policy on the mission. The satellite's 24 channels were to be leased for $800,000 a year to uninsured users and $1.2 million a year for insured users, officials said.

"For the protected user, we would have to go out and lease space from another satellite corporation if we failed," Americom president Andrew Inglis said at a briefing last week. There was no similar guarantee for uninsured users.

CBS Turns Down Captive Interview

NEW YORK (AP) — While NBC News broadcast a question-and-answer session with a hostage at the U.S. Embassy in Iran, CBS News said it had turned down the opportunity for a similar "so-called interview."

"Two of the three U.S. networks, including this one, flatly rejected the proposition," said anchorman Walter Cronkite on the CBS Evening News.

ABC had no comment Monday night. It was not known whether CBS had rejected the exact conditions accepted by NBC. NBC said it did not have to submit its questions in advance. CBS said "questions would have to be cleared by a student censor."

"The students holding the embassy are stepping up the use of the hostages to promote their cause," Cronkite said.

"Over the weekend, they offered to the American networks a so-called interview with one of the hostages with some stringent conditions assuring their control of the presentation."

"The questions would have to be cleared by a student censor, a statement by one of the students must precede the interview, the broadcast would be packaged entirely by the Iranian television station," Cronkite said, describing the conditions rejected by CBS. "It could not be edited by the network and the recording had to be in prime time."

In a news release about the broadcast from Iran, NBC said "arrangements for this interview were concluded over the weekend in discussions between NBC News and the students at the embassy."

Your Kickback is Going Up

Politicians and labor leaders and prosperity—all conspired to encourage Americans to demand more pay for less work. They got it.

Now they are getting paid off in stage money.

This will help explain two things—our shrinking dollars and our international trade imbalance.

The Labor Department confirms that American workers' wages increased the third quarter—but productivity declined.

Workers are paid more for producing less—what they produce has to cost more.

Wages per man-hour in the United States increased 8.8 percent.

Work output per man-hour decreased 7 percent.

No wonder cars made in America cost so much more than Americans are buying foreign cars instead.

There is yet another cruel backlash resulting from this quest for more pay for less work.

The more pay is taxed more. One of the most selfish sleight-of-hand devices which politicians employ is to espouse higher wages for workers—knowing full well that the higher wages will push workers into higher tax brackets.

That way government gets more tax revenue without the politicians having to raise taxes.

Taxpayers in 1964 returned to government in taxes 12 percent of their earnings; this year they will have to kick back 18 percent!

And this increase has come, mind you, while the politicians were boasting to you that they were "reducing taxes."

Federal income tax rates were reduced in 1964 and again in 1965—some 25 percent.

While the politicians were boasting, "Look what we did for you!" they knew that your annual higher wages were shoving you into higher tax brackets—so that you would be sending to Washington more, not less, of your income.

The official tax rate goes down but actually you pay more taxes.

Your income has been keeping pace with inflation.

During the past five years prices have increased 137 percent.

But so has your income increased about 137 percent.

The pinch comes because your higher income has put you in a higher tax bracket.

So the money your average family of four has left over for spending this year is $1,056 less than five years ago.

Project this ahead and next year looks worse.

Next year prices will increase eight percent plus.

Your wages will increase eight percent plus.

But because of higher taxes you will have $505 less spendable income than this year!

Here is the rule of thumb: A 10 percent increase in income will increase a family's federal income taxes by 16 percent.

That's right—you and I can't win unless we do two things: demand of ourselves increased output to match increased income, and demand of our government less spending, less taxes.

We'll not get ahead until we do.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — The Iranian hostage crisis was brought closer to Texans last week when the Shah moved to Lackland AFB in San Antonio to recuperate from his medical problems.

His temporary residence here brought strong reactions from several groups, as one might expect.

Iranians living in San Antonio immediately applied for a demonstration permit in that city—they wanted to protest the Shah's asylum in the U.S. by marching around the gates of Lackland. San Antonio officials denied the permit.

Gov. Clements also stirred up a bit of controversy with his welcome statement to the Shah. The governor said the state wouldn't tolerate any demonstrations, pro or con. "Out-of-state agitators will not be tolerated, and I have already so directed the DPS."

Following reactions by some citizens that the governor's ban might be an infringement on the Bill of Rights, Clements clarified his statement, saying the state wouldn't tolerate any violent demonstrations.

His warning may have deterred several Ku Klux Klan groups who had planned to meet the Iranians outside Lackland. As of last week, no violence was reported in connection with the Shah's residency.

The Texas Republican Executive Committee officially passed a resolution endorsing the deportation of Iranian students who endorse "actions of an enemy of this country."

Carter Visit Cancelled

President Jimmy Carter did not come to his Austin fundraiser because of the Iranian situation, but he sent several Texans in his administration. In attendance were Robert Strauss, chairman of the Carter-Mondale campaign; Energy Secretary Charles Duncan; Labor Secretary Ray Marshall; U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen; and Sarah Weddington, assistant to the president.

Also on hand were Special Mexico Ambassador Bob Krueger, Lady Bird Johnson, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, House Speaker Bill Clayton, Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong and Treasurer Warren C. Harding.

Oil Spill Bigger

The runaway oil spill in the Gulf of Mexico still has not been capped, witnesses told a U.S. Senate hearing last week.

Texas officials now fear that the oil tar which blackened Texas beaches last summer will return this spring with prevailing Gulf of Mexico currents.

The Ixtoc I well that blew out June 3 has been gushing between 30,000 to 100,000 barrels of oil daily, the Senate committee was told.

State Surplus Dispute

Clements and State Comptroller Bob Bullock have different versions of the amount of money available in the state surplus.

Clements said last week there is a "several hundred million dollar surplus" which will be available for his plans for tax relief in two years.

Bullock contradicted his optimism, saying he sees no windfall surplus over the next biennium.

"We're going to be lucky to fill our own clip," Bullock said.

Bullock said a $300 million surplus would be his top dollar guess, and that two-thirds of that is dedicated by the appropriations bill.

Texas Nuclear Waste

House Speaker Bill Clayton came out in opposition to storing nuclear wastes in Texas and said the issue may be one of the "hottest potatoes tossed into the hands" of the officials who may select such a dump site.

Clayton said he didn't think much of State Sen. Babe Schwartz' recent idea of building a nuclear waste dump somewhere in West Texas.

He also said last week the 1981 Legislature will take a hard look at tenure for college and university professors in Texas.

Tenure gives professors, in effect, a lifetime contract if they satisfactorily complete a trial period. Opponents of tenure believe such guarantees stifle academic competition and allows teachers to become complacent and lazy.

AG Briefs

In a legal opinion last week Attorney General Mark White ruled a county must include any supplement it pays district judges for service on a juvenile board in any determination of minimum pay due district attorneys under the Professional Prosecutors Act. House Judiciary Committee Chairman Ben Grant requested the opinion.
