

School System Dares To Lead Way, Says Hartman

By O.G. NIEMAN
Editor-Publisher

Pointing to what he termed "Unsubstantiated criticisms and accusations about the school", and pledging "no relapse in our attempts to build the strongest educational system anywhere," Supt. Roy Hartman addressed the Hereford Lions Club Wednesday and urged citizens to "continue to support this school system as we dare to be eagles in education."

Hartman, program speaker for the regular weekly luncheon meeting, said the motivation for having a strong educational program "comes from our greatest resource—your children and mine."

AT THE conclusion of his talk, the superintendent announced that Hereford was one of seven schools in its size category in the state to be selected by the Governor's office for a study of school districts which have "demonstrated outstanding educational services."

HARTMAN started his talk with a parable about an eagle that was raised with chickens. A naturalist saw the king of birds and attempted to have him soar away from the chicken pen. The eagle looked around at the chickens, however, and hopped back to feed with them.

After several tries, he finally took the bird away from the pen to the edge of Palo Duro Canyon. "You have the heart of an eagle; you belong to the sky; stretch forth your wings and fly," the naturalist told the bird.

FINALLY, with the screech of an eagle, the bird stretched and flopped its wings, then soared away, rose higher and higher, never to return again.

Hartman compared education with his story, claiming it has remained stagnant and dormant for many years—guided by tradition. "The Hereford school system has dared to be an eagle in the midst of a society where some would prefer us to be a chicken," he remarked.

THE EDUCATOR emphasized that innovations in the local system were not made without clear-cut evidence of their worth. Perhaps, he added, "we have strived to make this one of the best school systems in this part of Texas with too little fanfare with what has been the end result."

He pointed out that the accelerated programs have enabled students to enter college and receive credit for work in high school. "We have probably not explained often enough that our academic program for those who want to learn is superior."

Referring to the recent trustee election, Hartman said questions and accusations were in print and on the radio that "would have you believe the school board and the administration is incompetent and inefficient.

"IT HAS BEEN suggested that more and a greater variety of vocational programs should be offered; that the athletic program should be completely overhauled and guaranteed participation should be afforded for every student regardless of effort or ability; you have heard it suggested that we are not getting our monies' worth in the buildings we have built in the past few years."

HARTMAN told Lions that he could best respond to "the unsubstantiated criticisms" by quoting Will Rogers, when he said, "Everybody is ignorant, only on different subjects."

The superintendent said there seemed to be an increasing "disenchantment" among the general public with those who supposedly lead the masses, and a rash of demands for participation in the decision-making process.

"I do not want you to think for one minute that I reject the demand from the public in making decisions that affect the lives of their children, but I do declare there is danger if we educators abandon our educational background regarding education decisions."

"IT MAY SOUND undemocratic, but every man does not have an equal say on all matters. If a wounded man is taken to

THE HEREFORD Lions Club reports two tables missing from the Civic Club Center, and hopes someone will remember to return the borrowed items.

IF A MAN answers the phone as "The Brand" and identifies himself as Dan Baker, it's really Dan Welty. We welcomed Dan to our staff this week as sports editor and general news reporter.

While working as a tv newsman, Dan decided to adopt an "air name" that was easy to pronounce. It seems some people had a difficult time with "Welty," so he chose "Baker."

POLITICS have warmed up considerably the past few weeks, and the May 4 primary is fast approaching. While we have never believed in pushing voter turnouts just for the sake of numbers, we firmly believe in casting an informed vote. If a voter doesn't know why he's voting for something or someone, I'd just as soon he stay home.

Interest has really picked up on the county races — with the contested judge's seat and the two commissioner posts being actively pursued by a number of candidates. Hopefully, we'll have a good turnout in Deaf Smith County.

On the state level, the governor's race doesn't draw as much interest as the last time around. From all indications, we believe Gov. Dolph Briscoe will win re-election with relative ease, and we endorse his candidacy. For the interests of our area, as well as the entire state, we think Briscoe's record speaks loud and clear. He made good on his pledge of no new taxes and has provided progressive and economical leadership for the state.

Congratulations to the Hereford High Band on earning a No. 1 rating at the Buccaneer Festival in Corpus Christi! Word was received Friday afternoon of the band's superior performance in the huge band contest on the coast.

BEST WISHES for continued success also go to Ginger Newton and Joel Fuhrmann, senior members of the Hereford High math team who won regional UIL honors and will advance to the state meet in Austin.

ANOTHER reminder—the annual Children's Diagnostic Clinic, sponsored by Oasis Shrine, will not be held this year. The clinic was cancelled due to a conflict of schedules for the professional personnel involved.

Announcement that approval has been granted for a $2.4 million loan to finance system improvements highlighted the 36th annual meeting of Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative Thursday at the Bull Barn. The announcement was made by manager James Hull.

Hull made the announcement during the business session which followed a barbecued luncheon served by the Rotary Club to over 900 guests and members.

The Rural Electrification Administration approved a loan of $1,680,000—representing 70 per cent of the total loan application. The remaining $720,000 loan will come from the Co-Op Finance Corporation. The REA loan is to be repaid over a 35-year period at 5 per cent interest. The CFC loan is for 35 years at 7 per cent interest.

HULL REPORTED that about $1 million of the funds will be used on a 95-mile, 69,000-watt transmission line. The cooperative also plans to build two new sub-stations — both located in Parmer County. One will be in the Rhea community and the other near Bruegel's Gin.

The balance of the loan is estimated for serving 150 new consumers and providing some 95 miles of distribution lines. The co-op serves the counties of Deaf Smith, Castro, Parmer and Oldham. Hull said that 139 new meters were connected during the first three months of this year which was a record number. He continued, "the board thinks it more important to extend new service than to pay back capital credit, so this is what our access cash has gone for — to provide electric service in the area we serve."

When patronage checks totaling $80,000 were distributed last year, it was pointed out by A.W. Anthony, Jr., who gave the directors' report, that it would probably be the last year for patronage checks. He said most neighboring cooperatives had not paid refund checks in several years.

Pro Star Speaks at Free Luncheon

Athletic Ministry Program Slated In Hereford Monday

"The Pros Are Coming" . . . and Hereford residents have an opportunity to become involved in the program.

Athletes in Action, an inspiring program of athletic ministry, will present pro football star Ed Mooney as guest speaker for a free luncheon Monday at the Bull Barn. All interested citizens are invited to attend the free noon meeting.

THE PROGRAM here Monday, which also includes presentations at local schools, is slated in conjunction with the Athletes in Action Week (April 29-May 5) being held in Amarillo. Seven professional football players, several gymnasts, and six businessmen will visit Amarillo and surrounding communities.

Purpose of the week is to give the pros an opportunity to relate what a personal relationship with Jesus Christ has meant in their lives. Mooney, a member of the AIA gymnastics team, and a prominent businessman will address local students, with appearances set for 9:30 a.m. at La Plata, 10:30 at Hereford High and 1:30 p.m. at Station.

BUD EADES, local chairman of the crusade, terms Athletes in Action as "a vital element in the current Christian movement." He announced that a special presentation will also be made at the luncheon on the "National Day of Prayer", supporting a U.S. Senate call to prayer for Tuesday, April 30. Mayor Jim Sears has issued a proclamation for the "day of prayer" in Hereford.

Mooney, a 1968 graduate of Texas Tech, is in his seventh year in pro football, playing five years as a linebacker for the Detroit Lions. A shoulder injury sidelined him in 1972 and, after a trade, he played with Baltimore in 1973. He is now with the Washington Redskins following a post-season trade.

MOONEY was honorable mention All-American as a linebacker at Texas Tech, and was drafted No. 4 by the Lions in 1968. He is married and his wife's name is Sharen. They have one child and reside in Lubbock during off season.

About 20 businessmen in Amarillo decided to invite the pro players to their city. The players include Mooney, Norm Evans of the Miami Dolphins, Mike McCoy of Green Bay, Washington, Grey Maxx and Greg Brezina of Atlanta, Jim Sullivan of the Los Angeles WFL franchise, Don Bunce, former Canadian pro, and Dennis Pette, of the Florida WFL franchise.

Welty Joins Brand Staff

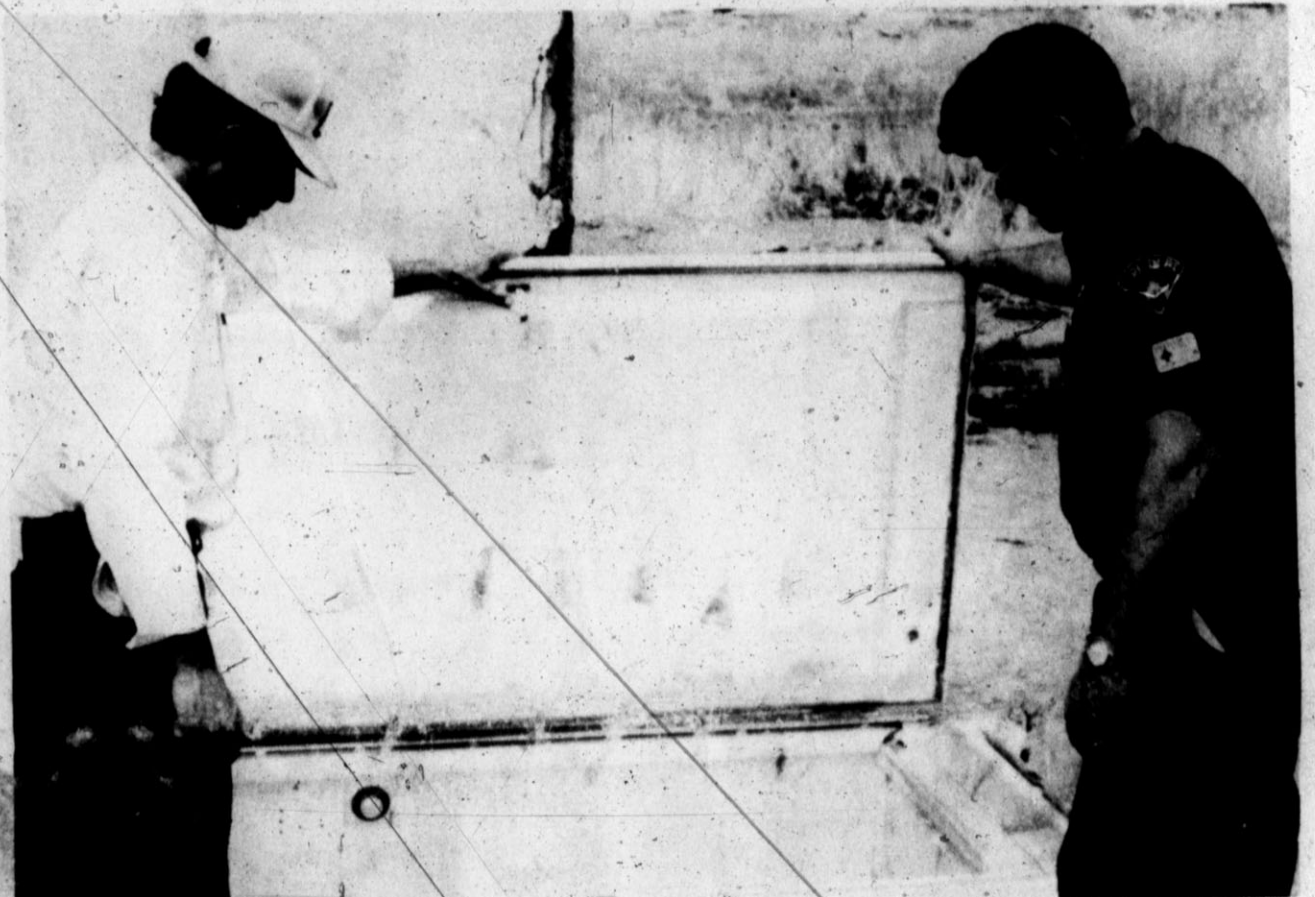

Dan Welty, former television newsman, has been named sports editor and general news reporter for The Hereford Brand, it was announced this week by publisher O.G. Nieman.

Welty, 22, is more familiarly known in this area to television audiences as Dan Baker. He was previously employed as assistant sports director for KVII-TV, Amarillo.

RECENTLY MARRIED to the former Miss Janet Frye, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Frye of Hereford, the couple plan to move from Amarillo to Hereford in the near future. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Welty of Amarillo.

A native of Amarillo, Welty is a graduate of Caprock High School, completed one year of study as journalism major at West Texas State University, and is a graduate of Career Academy School of Broadcasting in Houston.

Welty's special interests are sports, photography, and music. Mr. and Mrs. Welty are members of the First Baptist Church here.

Prayer Day

Is Proclaimed

THE UNITED STATES Senate has issued a rare call to prayer, and Hereford will hopefully join millions of Americans in praying for a moral and spiritual awakening when a National Day of Prayer is observed April 30.

HEREFORD Mayor Jim Sears this week endorsed Senate Joint Resolution 183, calling for a National Day of Prayer, and urged all citizens of the community to participate in the observance. He has proclaimed Tuesday as a "Day of Prayer" in Hereford.

Senate Joint Resolution 183 was passed by the Senate on Dec. 20, 1973, and was pending in the House of Representatives as of April 15.

THE U.S. Senate call to prayer proclaims "that April 30, 1974 be a National Day of Humiliation, Fasting and Prayer; and calls upon the people of our nation to humble ourselves as we see fit, before our Creator to acknowledge our final dependence upon Him and to repent of our national sins."

Civil Defense Reviewed

A review of civil defense plans in case of tornado was the topic of a meeting Thursday night at the Hereford Fire Department.

Civic Defense Coordinator Bill Bradley called the meeting to assure city officials were briefed on civil defense measures in light of the upcoming tornado season. KVII-TV weatherman Len Slesick spoke to the group and gave a slide presentation concerning tornadoes.

Herman and Wayne Sifford of Bridwell Ranch West were named this week as recipients of the "Outstanding Conservation Farmer-Rancher for 1974" as selected by the Tierra Blanca Soil & Water Conservation District.

Clint Homfeld, a district director, presented the men with a plaque at the weekly Hereford Lions Club luncheon Wednesday. The Lions provided the plaque each year.

Homfeld, in making the presentation, said the men were selected for the honor "because of the conservation programs they have carried on since the late 1930's." Herman is general manager of the Bridwell Ranches in the western part of the Panhandle, and Wayne is foreman of Bridwell Ranch West, located in the northwestern part of Deaf Smith County.

THE RANCH consists of approximately 34,800 acres and is the largest ranching operation in Deaf Smith County. J.C. Brown, soil conservationist, also reported the men have been named as area winners in the Texas Conservation Program, sponsored by the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce.

The Siffords' names were entered in the statewide contest by the Tierra Blanca district, and they were named as area winners of the "absentee ranch ownership award." This will be presented to the men in a Plainview ceremony May 7.

The presentation ceremony here Wednesday preceded a club program by Roy Hartman, superintendent of schools. Hartman outlined some of the special school programs and pledged the system would continue "to strive to build the best program possible for educating our children."

A SPECIAL GUEST at the meeting was State Rep. Bill Clayton, who visited Hereford to report on the progress of the Constitutional Convention in Austin. He appeared at several school classes and conducted an open meeting for interested citizens Wednesday afternoon at the Community Center.

the hospital and has to lie there several hours before receiving attention, we can rightly demand improvement without invading the physician's professional domain. But no one would tell the physician, "Look, here, this is a democratic county; give me the scalpel and let me take out that appendix."

"The point is," continued Hartman, "there is a graduation of responsibility in any profession. We do not determine the square root of three by taking a vote. Any individual is within his own rights in complaining about any kind of school deficiency. But it is the professional educator's job to translate demands for educational improvements into a program.

IN CONCLUSION, Hartman pointed out that each in his profession must produce. "As we evaluate our educational programs, we too must produce—not just for the mentally elite but for the average, the below average, and the handicapped as well.

"We will enter into public debate with politicians if necessary to argue for programs we are convinced will improve education. We have preferred to lead the way in offering programs to meet individual needs—knowing great accomplishments come only from great aspirations. We've aspired to soar with the eagle... we've really had no choice if we were to keep pace with the wishes of the majority of citizens of this community."

IN ADDITION, members of the AIA Gymnastics team will be speaking with the pros: Two All Americans, Russ Hoffman and Paul Tickenoff, will be with the team. One of the highlights will be a team performance at Amarillo College at 11 a.m. Friday.

On Saturday, five more pros will join those already in Amarillo to play a flag football game against a team of college all-stars composed primarily of West Texas State gridders. Game time is 7:30 p.m. Saturday in Buff Stadium.

THE IDEA OF such a week was first conceived a year ago by Athletes in Action, the athletic ministry of Campus Crusade for Christ, International. Last Spring, two pro football weeks were held—one in Austin and one in Atlanta.

This year four cities—Amarillo, Nashville, Birmingham and Indianapolis—were scheduled for pro-football weeks.

Commenting on Monday's program in Hereford, Eades said he felt that "Ed Mooney and the other speakers will have a message for every citizen of Hereford."

THE AIA program makes available top sports figures for informative programs dealing primarily with how Christ has influenced each of their lives.

tour to Washington, D.C. by Eldred Brown, director. Each gave their winning speech and were presented plaques.

Raymond Higginbotham gave the directors' report. He discussed the problems of shortages, inflation and the energy crisis. "Even with these inflated construction costs we have experienced, you have requested as many new services thus far this year as was connected the entire year of 1973", he said. "It is easy to see what phenomenal growth our cooperative has recently experienced and why additional capital is necessary", he continued.

HE SAID, "our engineers project our plant will have to double in the next 10 years to stay abreast of our projected growth. This would mean Deaf Smith REC's system will exceed $22 million by 1984."

"We see the future as a challenge; that with your (the members) help and understanding, can be met as in the past," he said in closing.

The meeting was called to order by Sloan H. Osborn, president of the board, with James W. Witherspoon, attorney, presiding. Tom Draper gave the secretary's report. The invocation was given by A.W. Anthony, Jr.

Entertainment was provided by Woodie McDermitt and his Country and Western Band, featuring the "Fiddling Doctor," Dr. Charles Overstreet. Kiddie movies were shown for the children. Approximately 25 door prizes were awarded to lucky winners.

Deadline Is Wednesday

Wednesday is the deadline for parents to make application to transfer children from one district into the Hereford School district for the 1974-75 school year.

This includes those transferring from Walcott schools and other areas.

The deadline request enables school districts to file summary reports with the Texas Education Agency before May 16, stated Roy Hartman, superintendent of schools.

The reports with the Texas Education Agency before May 16, stated Roy Hartman, superintendent of schools.

The reports will be reviewed by the agency so that any transfer violations can be found. Any transfer of students from one school district to another must not change the racial or ethnic balance in either the home or receiving district by more than one per cent. These restrictions are according to U.S. District Court Order 5281 issued by Judge Wayne Justice in Tyler on April 2, 1971.

Transfers will be denied if found in violation of this ruling.

Moving Tips Picking Realtor Makes Difference

(EDITORS NOTE: This is the fifth of a nine-part series relating to the problems involved in moving one's family from one town to another. This article pertains mainly to selecting and buying a new house in the town in which you are moving.

BY JANIS LOCKHART
Brand Staff Writer

Selecting a realtor should be done carefully. A realtor has credentials just as a doctor, dentist or banker. Check these out. The business he is in is probably the very thing that a family spends more money on than anything else in their lifetime.

Naturally a realtor is out to make a good commission on the house he is trying to sell, but make sure that the house is worth the price he is quoting. This measure is not only to protect the person selling a house, but the buyer as well.

A LOCAL REALTOR explains that if a couple starts to buy a house, one of the first things to consider is, "Is this realtor making his living by selling, or is this just a side-line for him?" If he provides for his family by these means, he will be more interested in getting a deal settled as soon as possible. Also, he will not be pricing a house too high due to the fact that he may have to re-sell that house if the buyer is transferred again.

"Repeat business is our way of staying in business," said the realtor. "Word of mouth is another way, however. If we have over-priced a house, or just protected the person selling, we will have defeated our purpose."

DON'T OVER-BUY. A house that is too large for the family can only be a burden. By making the house payments too large, the up-keep will be much higher than necessary. Also, with families being smaller than in the past, the house may be difficult to sell later.

Shop around and make sure of getting your money's worth before closing a deal with anyone. Sometimes the older homes are a much better buy than a new one and vice-versa depending on the town, city or area chosen in which to live.

A new home is great, but keep in mind that yards and plant shrubbery will have to be put in. A fence and other extras will probably be necessary in order for it to look like a home.

ON THE OTHER HAND, an older home would need to be checked for things such as plumbing, recent appraisal value and whether or not it will need carpeting and other major items.

It always helps if a new home is purchased before moving into the new town. This enables a family to move just the one time.

Also, this is usually taken care of by the husband since he is already working and can do some of the shopping around for a new home.

Christian Assembly Draws Local People

Representatives of the First Christian Church of Hereford attended the sixth annual Assembly of Christian Churches this weekend in Lubbock.

Those pre-registering for the two-day assembly were the Rev. and Mrs. Eugene Brink, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Ford, Carlos Vaughn and Gayle Grupp. Some other local church members were expected to attend without registering early.

The gathering was held this year at the First Christian Church of Lubbock, Broadway and Avenue X.

Some 1,000 representatives from 36 High Plains communities took part in the event, which featured Dr. James T. Clelland as principal speaker.

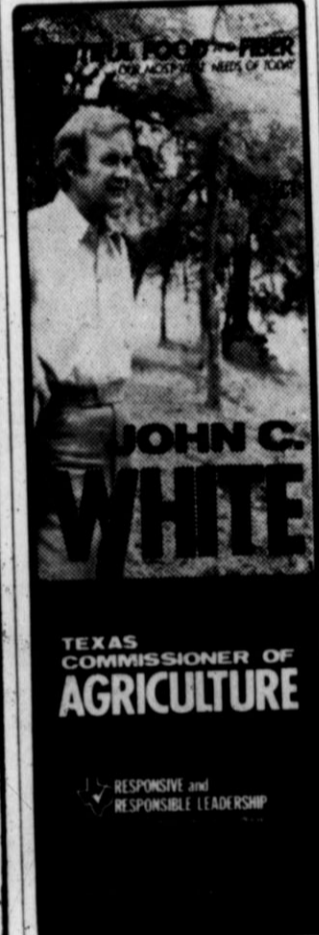

Dr. Clelland, who is noted as one of the outstanding teachers and preachers in the nation, is Dean of Chapel at Duke University in Massachusetts and is a former teaching fellow at Glasgow University in Scotland.

The long-time religious leader made three lectures during the High Plains assembly under the theme of "Ancient Truths... New Humanity."

Day Of National Repentance And Prayer Is Called

Calling attention to a joint congressional resolution setting aside April 30 as "a national day of humiliation, fasting and prayer," the Full Gospel Businessmen's Association of Hereford urges observance of the day here.

Both houses of Congress adopted the resolution after it was presented by Sen. Mark O. Hatfield, explains Garland Solomon, president of the local association. Sen. Hatfield cited the example of such congressional resolutions in the past, in times of national crisis.

"We have been living through days of turmoil and uncertainty; we witness a country torn apart and lacking the spiritual foundation that would restore its visions and purpose," the senator said.

"We tend to put our country beyond the reach of God's judgment... but however difficult it is to admit our sin, the evidence is all around us. Our nation is in need of repentance."

He quoted Abraham Lincoln in proclaiming a day of humiliation and prayer during dark days of the Civil War. "It behooves us to humble ourselves before God, to confess our national sins and to pray for clemency and forgiveness."

DE STUDENT OF THE WEEK — The Distributive Education Student of the Week is Kim Poarch, son of Mr. and Mrs. J.D. Poarch. A senior student at Hereford High School, Kim is employed at Carl McCaslin's Lumber Co. under the supervision of J.D. McCaslin. Kim plans to attend college after graduation.

Flash Cadillac To Appear At WT

Rolled bobbysocks, crew cuts and goin' to the hop all will be coming back to West Texas State University with the appearance of Flash Cadillac and The Continental Kids at the WT Fieldhouse, tonight at 8 p.m.

Also on the bill is Dr. Hook and the Medicine Show, whose funky, clean music "has got to be the most engaging, happiest, gap-bridging act to invade this tired city in quite some time."

Flash Cadillac jived its way back into public favor along with high school romance and jalopy-dragging in the hit movie, "American Graffiti." One look at their baggy suits, shades, white socks, and greased back hair, and years slip off to the sounds of their rejuvenated hits such as "At the Hop," "Rock Around the Clock," "Teen Angel" and "Johnny G. Goode."

Dr. Hook's first big hit, "Sylvia's Mother," has been followed by other Shel Silverstein blues tunes and "You Ain't Got the Right."

Tickets are $3 for WT students, and $5 for non-students, and can be picked up at the Activities Center Information Desk and Hastings Book Store, Western Plaza, Amarillo.

The event is being sponsored by the West Texas State University Activities Council.

He is able to be helped into his chair again as he slowly recovers from the fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Simpson of Wellington came Friday to visit a few days with his brother, John Simpson and Mrs. Simpson.

Pro Football Stars To Visit Area; Witness For Christ In City Schools And Churches

The week of April 29-May 5 has been designated as Athletes In Action Week in Amarillo, with a part of the program extending to Hereford.

Seven professional football players will visit the city to speak in high school, civic clubs and churches. The Hereford program includes a free luncheon in the Bull Barn Monday with Ed Mooney as speaker. Several appearances are also set in the school Monday. (See related story on front page).

Purpose of the week is to give the pros an opportunity to tell others what a personal relationship with Jesus Christ has meant in their lives.

A sample testimony is the following by Norm Evans of the Miami Dolphins:

"As an athlete a lot of interesting things have happened to me, opportunities that I thought were everything at one time in my life. As I contemplated which of these was the greatest experience, I remembered back to my high school days and the thrill of being an All-State football player. Yet as I thought of that experience, I realized that it was not my greatest. I thought about being drafted by the pros after a successful year at TCU, and yet that was not my greatest joy.

"Then last year, what more could happen to an individual being on a team that has won two straight Super Bowl victories and being selected All-Pro two consecutive times. Without a doubt this has to be the ultimate in my athletic career; but even as I consider it, I realize this success was not the greatest thrill of my life.

"My greatest experience happened 7 1/2 years ago, when one night I realized that Jesus Christ loved me as an individual so very much that He would have given His life for me, even if I were the only person alive on this earth. That night I knew that I had to make some kind of response to Him, either ask Him to come into my life and forgive me, or to tell Him that I was not interested in His love or His concern for me.

"Today I thank God because that night I did ask Christ to come into my life. That decision has been the greatest and most important discovery of my life. I say that because asking Christ into your life is a lasting experience.

"Next year there will be a new Super Bowl champion. It may be the team I'm on. It may not be. There may be another guy selected to the pro bowl, and this year all will be forgotten. It is all such a temporal thing.

"If we lose next year and end up down in the pack, then we'll be just another team. But knowing Christ personally puts me on God's forever team regardless of the battles that we win or lose. After it is all said and done, we can be victorious in the end because we have Christ in our lives and know Him as our Lord and Savior."

NORM EVANS

Local Man Eyes Stock Car Races

"It's about time to crank 'em up and let 'em go for the racing season." And that's what R.C. Bain does this time of the year.

Bain is an auto-paint and body man by trade, but in his spare time campaigns two stock cars, Number 23 and Number 24, a '57 model Chevrolet and a '66 model Pontiac GTO, run in the street stock and super sportsman classes.

No youngster to the sport, Bain has over 150 trophies from over the years. He first became interested in racing when a friend invited him to races in Amarillo. Since that time he's had the racing "bug."

The racing season began Saturday night in Plainview, and Bain was planning late in the week to compete on that quarter-mile dirt oval. Plans are for drivers Bobby Byers and Robert Muncey to race in Clovis, Lubbock, Plainview, and at a new asphalt track in Amarillo during the season.

Deadline For FCA Golf Tourney

Entry deadline for the golf tournament sponsored by the Hereford chapter of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes will be Friday, according to chapter advisor Fred Upshaw.

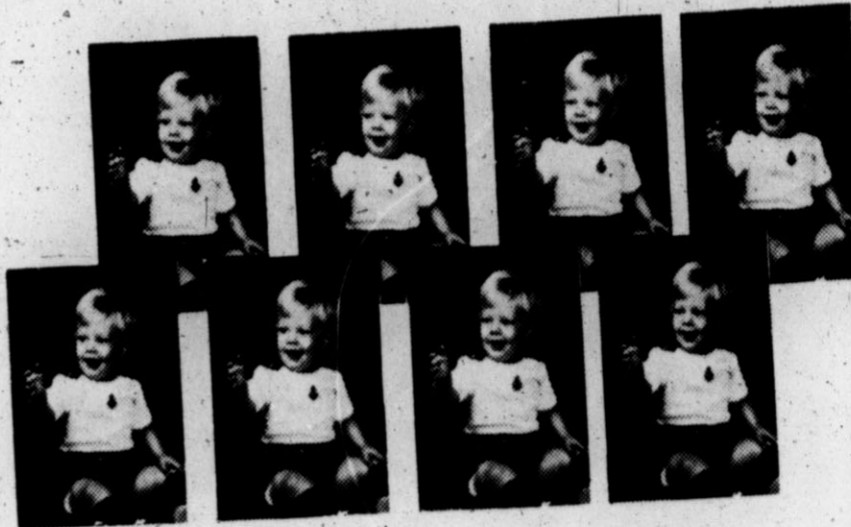

The tourney, to be held Friday, May 10, will be conducted as a team event, with foursomes playing with handicaps. Entry fee is $15 per person. Entries should be made to Coach Fred Upshaw at Hereford High School.

A Texan walked from Fort Worth, Texas to Istanbul, Turkey, backwards.

Herd Loses Two; Finish Ball Season Next Week

BY DAN WELTY
Brand Sports Editor

The Herford Whitefaces gave up two games to the Snyder Tigers Friday afternoon on the Herd diamond, losing the first 15-2 and the second 18-8.

The first game went only five innings under the 10-run rule. Herford got two runs on two hits early in the game and trailed 3-2 going into the fourth. Starter Mike Crim was relieved by Steve Loerwald in the top of the fourth and the Tigers scored six runs that inning and six more the next. Crim was tagged with the loss, Snyder's Doak Witherspoon was credited with the win.

In the second contest, the Herd got 8 runs on 12 hits, scoring one run in the first, three in the third, and four in the fifth. Snyder got six runs off starting pitcher Dave Loerwald in the fifth, he was relieved by Lynn Tarr in the sixth, and Snyder got seven runs in that inning. Loerwald and Tarr gave up 19 hits to the Tigers all together.

The Whitefaces travel to Lubbock for a doubleheader against Lubbock High Tuesday afternoon, and finish the season Friday with a game against Lubbock Monterey here in Hereford.

Boxing Tourney Set June 7-8

Plans for the Region 9 AAU Junior Olympics Boxing Tournament, to be hosted by Hereford June 7-8, were discussed when the sports committee of Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce held a monthly meeting Friday at Dickie's Restaurant.

Jake Webb, chairman of the group, called on Harold Wheeler to make a progress report on the tourney. Wheeler, leader of the Hereford boxing program, is heading up the arrangements committee.

Barney Wiegand, president of the West Texas AAU, was also present at the meeting. He explained the tourney will have intermediate (12-13) and senior (14-15) divisions, with only the senior winners advancing to the National AAU finals in Peoria, Ill. Winners in district junior matches do not compete in the region tourney. The intermediate division is matched at 5-pound weight intervals, from 80 to 125 pounds. The senior division has 12 weight breaks from 90 through 165 pounds. Region 9 includes boxing teams from Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi. Approximately 110 boxers are expected to participate here.

Wheeler told the group that Hereford is one of the smaller towns ever to host a regional tournament, adding that citizens were cooperating to make it a successful event. Tickets for the tourney will be available at the C of C office and banks, and are priced at $2 per night.

The sports group has also started making plans for a tennis tournament, which is scheduled for June 27-29.

Election Law Explained

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following article was written by Andy Shuval, district attorney, in response to several inquiries about the election law.)

BY ANDY SHUVAL
District Attorney

Numerous people have contacted my office with inquiries about the election law. Their two most commonly asked questions have been, "Is your vote a secret and what is undue influence of a voter?"

Let me assure each citizen that the District Attorney's Office considers nothing more important than the enforcement of the election law. The best hope for our country and our county is a free, informed, and unafraid electorate. Your vote is secret! No person or public official can tell you how to vote or can find out how you voted! When you vote you will receive a ballot which has a number on it. You will mark the ballot and sign a stub in the upper left hand corner of the ballot. You will then place the ballot in one box and the stub in another box which is called a stub box. The stub box is sealed personally by the District Clerk, Lola Fay Veazey, before the election and returned to her by each voting precinct, still sealed, immediately after the election. The box is kept in her vault under her personal supervision. This box can only be opened by an order of the District Judge, Archie S. McDonald.

No public official or private person may influence or attempt to influence how a person votes by illegal means.

It is an offense under our law for a person or a public servant to attempt to influence a voter by means of coercion. Coercion is defined by our law as any threat by any person to commit any offense against a voter, to ridicule a voter, to harm a voter's credit or business reputation. It is also against the law for any public servant to take or withhold action as a public servant as a means to influence or attempt to influence another person's vote.

If any citizen has any information about any coercion or improper influence of voters or of any other election violation, please let the District Attorney's Office know immediately. My assistant Roland Saul or myself are available to talk with any citizen in private about this matter. We will hold any communications received by the District Attorney's Office in the strictest confidence.

I urge each voter in Deaf Smith County, Texas to turn out and vote for the candidate of their choice on Saturday, May 4th. Let me again assure each voter that they can exercise their constitutional right to vote next Saturday in the full knowledge and confidence that their vote is secret here in Deaf Smith County, Texas.

No fuel shortage there; a church in England has a floor made out of coal!

H³ HUSTLE HUSTLE

By Bill Albright, Executive Vice President
Deaf Smith County Chamber Of Commerce

Well the growing season is here in full swing. You can tell by seeing the water running down the streets of Hereford; and by water in the ditches along the roads and highways. In town it comes from unattended lawn sprinklers and hoses.

In the country it comes from ruptured irrigation systems. In both cases it is a shameful waste of a precious resource. Nothing can substitute for water. It is essential to our existence.

As we know, our supply is not unlimited. We have got to use what we have more wisely. Waste of anything cannot be considered wise!

We Americans and especially Texans and even more especially West Texans hate to be regulated by governmental action. Why just this year when faced with almost certain gas rationing we tightened our belts—cut our highway speed to 55 miles per hour—used car pools—and reduced the waste of gasoline in sufficient quantity to avoid governmental rationing. Believe me, regulation can be applied to all things which we use and especially those things in short supply.

Let's regulate ourselves—help your neighbor and yourself. Let the other guy know that you are not wasting water and encourage him to conserve also.

OTHER AREA of concern to us in Deaf Smith County is the proposed Interstate Highway. More than a year ago the Chamber took a stand to support the Interstate "to pass thru or near Hereford", knowing full well the tremendous economic value of ready excess to such a transportation artery.

This Interstate is steadily materializing and even though the road itself is still several years away it is NOW, that we must act with "community unity" to acquire this facility. Some may feel that the future may take care of itself, but most of us realize that things don't just happen.

Ten to 12 years ago we weren't known as Beef Headquarters U.S.A.—neither did we have a meat packing plant or a sugar refinery.

Those years, have passed so rapidly that it is hard to believe that much time has gone by. Ten years from now, we hope to look back and say "we're really fortunate that those folks planned for this great Interstate Highway, which has helped Hereford and Deaf Smith County to acquire such a wonderful quality growth over these past few years."

So now is the time to bring our forces to bear in combining our energies and our resources to support the Interstate Highway. It will take a vast amount of planning, coordination, and plenty of Hustle Hustle Hustle.

Student Interests Paired With Activity Programs

BY KERRIE WOMBLE
Brand Staff Writer

Stanton Junior High School has adopted an activity program which enhances the 35-minute homeroom period each day for students and teachers alike.

This program, exclusive locally to Stanton, offers a wide variety of interests ranging from needlecrafts to square dances.

These projects, guided by members of the school's faculty, have been spaced throughout this school year and only four are currently in operation. These daily offerings have included journalism, reading for pleasure, arts and crafts, typing for improvement, group singing for pleasure, slide rule or number sense, contest speech, band, choir, drama, needlecrafts, conversational Spanish and table games.

Also available are Mystery Master (a course for boys only which consists of cooking and other house-keeping chores), cooking and sewing (for boys only), girls shop, model airplane and model car construction, property landscaping, whittling and carving, spirit leaders, square dancing and folk games, principles and maintenance of four-cycle engines and beginning guitar lessons.

According to assistant principal Rodney Laubhan, no student is required to participate in the organized activities. However, those pupils not involved must attend a study hall. "But as yet, we haven't had any sign up for this study period," Laubhan said.

LAUBHAN FOCUSED on two learning projects now in operation. Beginning guitar lessons, taught by Douglas Morris, involves 22 students. Each youth provides his own stringed instrument.

"Apparently they are quite receptive to this particular activity," he commented. "Enrollment filled up the first day it was offered."

Ronnie Wood directs the landscaping and property improvement course. Laubhan stated, "This is a popular interest among the students. Right now we have 23 boys doing such things as preparing the school grounds for flowers and shrubs, trimming trees and just generally keeping the area clean."

"We have definite plans for continuing this activity next year."

HOMEROOM PERIOD was altered because it was no longer achieving those goals which it had been designed to meet. Students are still categorized by homerooms in order to distribute grade report cards and so that each homeroom can have a representative on the Stanton Student Council.

"The new activity program has proved very successful," the assistant principal stated. "It pairs young individuals with their own particular interests."

"I think it has made some of the kids want to come to school and that in itself is refreshing."

"The program has also improved the student-teacher relationship. It takes both parties out of the straight academic atmosphere," he said. "Teacher and student get a chance to see a new side of each other."

"The situation is a bit more informal than the regular classroom scene. It more or less changes the pupil and teacher relationship into one where two human beings are sharing a common bond," Laubhan said.

"It's a sharing experience."

Safety In Home Is Club Subject

A program on home safety was presented for Messenger Extension Club Friday afternoon when members met in Messenger Community House. Mrs. Gene Bradley and Mrs. Bill Page gave information on flame-retardant fabrics for use in home furnishings and clothing.

Mrs. Leo Webb, hostess, opened the program with a solo. How Great Thou Art. Mrs. Page reported on the March meeting of the County Home Demonstration Council. She was winner of the game prize in the social period.

Hartman To Speak At Board Workshop

Dr. Roy Hartman will serve as chairman and speaker Wednesday at the Regional School Board Workshop from 12-5 p.m. in the East Cafeteria and Student Activities Center at West Texas State University.

Among the 300 educators expected at the forum will be the seven members of the local school board and administrators Jim Holmes, Bill Phillips, Larry Wartes and Mal Manchec.

Nine group discussions will be built around the theme "Accountability in Education". Dr. Hartman, the only superintendent who will lead a lecture, is to present a speech on "Boardsmanship". His topic will detail the responsibilities dealt to any school board member.

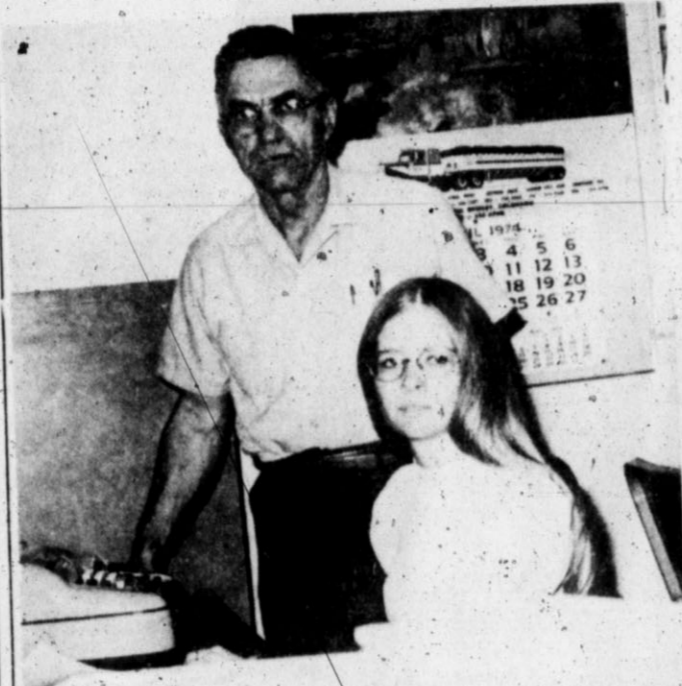

Dr. Leon Lessinger, Dean of the College of Education of the University of South Carolina and former Associate United States Commissioner for Education, will be the keynote speaker. Lessinger, author of four books, has served on the President's council and is a distinguished professor of the National Academy for School Executives.

The meeting will begin with a luncheon in the East Cafeteria with Dr. Lessinger as speaker. Afternoon group discussion sessions include "PPBS: Emphasis on Planning and Management by Objectives"; "Evaluation and Needs Assessment and Information Dissemination"; "Accountability and the Texas Constitution"; and "Legal Responsibilities of Board Members".

Other sessions are "Evaluation of School Personnel"; "Plan A Special Education"; "Innovations in Education and the Education Center"; "Workmen's Compensation Insurance," and Dr. Hartman's presentation.

Can you tell anything about the weather by watching the flight and migration of birds?

Here's an old weather omen one watched closely by the old timers, though today few of us have time to keep track on our feathered friends.

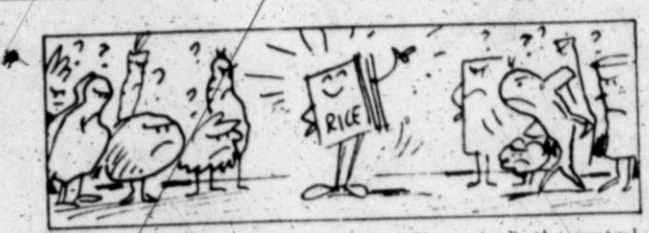

Just as birds have an uncanny sense of direction, they sometimes know more about the coming weather than we do. Newly-hatched birds, left by their parents, often fly a thousand miles or more to their summer habitat—joining their parents, even though they have never traveled the route before. Likewise, birds will return to the same yard year after year from thousands of miles away.

Similarly, if you see robins lingering longer in spring than usual or departing the northern climate early, it will often indicate the approach of unseasonal weather trends. Birds migrate at night as often as in the daylight.

You can observe what native birds are present in your location at various times and note a variance from year to year. Often their departures or arrival will give a clue to future weather. It's an interesting hobby in itself.

CAR COMPANION — A six-foot length bullsnake took refuge in a station wagon belonging to Cruz Ramirez of 605 Whittier Friday afternoon. Firemen spent two hours trying to expel the snake. The snake finally came out in the open under the barrage of a fire extinguisher and was himself extinguished.

In southern China, as in Burma and Siam, rice is the central food, and all else—soup, meat, fish, vegetables and condiments—are "garnish."

Trudeau presents a record spending program. Food prices found up 16 per cent in year. Italy urges Israeli pullout as peace price. Stocks of metals companies show declines.

Legion Post Gives Loan

A $1,500 loan fund designed to help the Veterans will be established during ceremonies Tuesday in Amarillo at the Mid-Continent of Texas State Technical Institute by representatives of Hanson Post 54 of the American Legion.

Presentation of the $1,500 check will be made by Post Commander Cliff Roberts and 1st Vice Commander Raymond Cliver during a noon luncheon to be held at the TSTI Student Center.

"Many Veterans are being denied the opportunity to further their education because they don't have the necessary funds to get enrolled at post secondary schools," said Roberts. "This Veterans Loan Fund will furnish them interest free money with which to pay tuition, fees, room and board and other necessary costs until their subsistence checks arrive."

Cliver said as far as he can determine "Hanson Post 54 is the first American Legion Post in the United States to provide such a loan fund for the Veteran." The loan fund at TSTI is set up to help all veterans obtain additional educational training," he said. The Veterans Loan Fund will be administered by the Financial Aid Office at TSTI, said Lovell A. Pillow, General Manager of the Mid-Continent Campus. "We are most grateful to the members of Hanson Post 54 for their generous contribution and feel this fund will be the answer to a lot of problems that have been recently encountered by our Veterans."

Happiness is in part the conclusion that you can't remake people or the world.

Open House At Kings Manor To Begin Senior Citizens Month

NATIONAL observance of May as Senior Citizens Month will be emphasized in Hereford, beginning with the annual open house at Kings Manor retirement home next Sunday afternoon, May 5, and closing May 31 with a Ninety-Plus Tea at the Manor honoring outstanding senior citizens to be chosen from three ethnic groups of the county. Mayor Jim Sears signed the proclamation of the observance, which he presents in top left photo to Mrs. Don R. Davidson and Mrs. Paul Corbett.

THEME of the month is Older Americans Are A National Resource. The two women present for signing of the proclamation are both concerned with community activities for older persons. Mrs. Corbett, left, is chairman of the Family Living Section of Deaf Smith County Planning Committee and Mrs. Davidson is director of diversional activities at Kings Manor, the Methodist Church's retirement home in Hereford.

HOSTESSES for the open house from 2 to 4 p.m. next Sunday will be members of Kings Manor Auxilliary, with the social committee in charge. Mrs. Alton Fraser, one in that committee, stands in the photo at right with Richard Snow, executive director of Kings Manor, and residents who are sisters. They are Mrs. Tom Lair, standing center, and Mrs. Jewel Davis, seated. The photograph was made in Lamar Garden Room at the Manor.

Clubs Win Citations In State

Awards were won by garden clubs of this city at the annual convention of Texas Garden Clubs Inc. at Houston last week. Mrs. O.G. Hill Sr., president of Hereford Garden Club, and Mrs. A.L. Manjeot, a member, represented their club. Both are chairmen of state committees, and attended the board meeting as well as general sessions. Both Hereford Garden Club and Bud To Blossom Club of Hereford won the rating of honor roll clubs. The former took second place among honor roll clubs for its scrapbook, and received a citation of appreciation for its work on the world garden project by contributing to the CARE program for providing seed and plants to underprivileged areas. Honorable mention was given Hereford Garden Club for horticultural excellence and also for its press and publicity book. Abilene was chosen as the site of next spring's convention, and the state board meeting next fall will be in Lubbock. Attending the convention were more than 400 members of garden clubs throughout the state.

JUNE BRIDE-TO-BE— Engagement of Miss Rebecca Jean Hickman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Robert Hickman of 814 Avenue K, to Eric James Boettcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Boettcher of Wellington, Kansas, is announced by the parents of the bride-elect. A wedding in First Christian Church June 14 is planned by the couple, both seniors in Oral Roberts University at Tulsa. Miss Hickman, a music major, studies piano under Andrey Waisowski and plans to teach private pupils after graduation. She has made several guest appearances with the Tulsa Philharmonic Symphony. In the class of 1971, she is a graduate of Hereford High School. Boettcher is employed by Shell Oil Co. and after receiving a BS degree in health and physical education he plans to coach football. He graduated from Conway Springs High School and Southwestern Kansas State College.

Unique Position Held

Pioneer Woman Teacher Was A Friendly Enigma

By SUE COLEMAN
 Women's Editor

THE MOST extraordinary fact that emerges from inquiries today about Miss Millicent Griffith, a prominent Hereford woman in early years of this century, is that no one in her time seems to have considered her career at all extraordinary. Yet she was a city dweller, a highly educated woman, member of a cultivated family, who came alone to the raw pioneer country which was the Plains region in 1902 and stayed nearly a quarter of a century. . . she had many friends in Hereford but apparently no intimates. . . she became high school principal and then superintendent of the Hereford school system at a time when a woman in either position was almost unheard of. . . she was part owner of the Hereford Brand when few women owned a business unless it was a boarding house or a millinery shop.

YET SHE was no feminist, or "suffragette" as women were called then when they advocated women's rights, specifically the right to vote. Nobody remembers that she ever expressed opinions on that issue.

Casual references to Miss Griffith by oldtimers of the city in giving information to The Hereford Brand for last summer's Golden Jubilee edition sparked a search for more details about a person who certainly had an impact on the community in her time.

People here who remember her were mostly her pupils. They agree that she was certainly a remarkable woman, but they referred to her personality rather than her accomplishments.

GIVEN that personality, perhaps the achievements were to be expected. After she taught here a while, residents thought of her simply as an excellent teacher who would be a good school superintendent.

And if anyone was surprised that she got the job they were not her pupils; she had earned their respect thoroughly.

Dignity, poise and assurance are words used to describe her. Nona Jowell, who was in the second HHS graduating class in 1907 when Miss Millicent was principal, says "she always dressed well and looked nice" and another pupil remembers "she stood straight and walked well" and wore simple suits with pretty blouses and frilly collars.

HELEN Patterson, who was first her seventh grade pupil and then taught when Miss Griffith was superintendent, describes her with red hair and big grey eyes. She had the somewhat florid complexion or sprinkling of freckles that often goes with red hair.

"She wore glasses, and we thought she could see us reflected in her glasses when her back was turned in the schoolroom," Mrs. Jowell laughs. Generously built, she was very trim and had small hands, Mrs. Patterson adds.

Those hands usually held a slim stick she used as a pointer, and for emphasis "she stood up straight and shook the pointer," says Horace Hershey, who says she was "especially good as a math teacher."

Mrs. Patterson, who worked with her as an adult after knowing her as a pupil, says Miss Griffith was "one of those rare teachers who simply inspired discipline without any appearance of enforcing discipline."

"TEACHERS whom she supervised felt they could depend on her if they needed help, and pupils liked her. They would draw cartoons of the other teachers, but not Miss Griffith. Even we girls liked her, but she was certainly partial to the boys!"

It is also Mrs. Patterson who says Miss Griffith was "high minded; she disliked common or ordinary things and inspired excellence in her pupils." From Chicago, she came to teach in several Plains towns in addition to Hereford. She was in Dimmitt in 1910 and 1911 when Lee Conklin was in school there, then in Clovis before returning to Hereford where she was superintendent from 1920 to 1923. Before she went back to Chicago to spend the remainder of her life, she taught at Hartley.

SHE WAS a partner of A.C. Elliott, former president of the college here who had been editor of the Hereford Brand two years when they bought the Brand late in 1909. She is not remembered as being active in management of the paper; in 1914 Elliott bought her interest.

Associates say she appeared to enjoy living in Hereford, was interested in the community, had many friends and "you never heard any criticism of her." She lived at the Cordova Hotel a customary style of residence for unmarried employed women then, and was active in the Methodist Church.

One of three sisters, she also had a brother who was living in Chicago when she went back there. Never married, Miss Griffith died in a rest home in that city in the 1950's.

PERHAPS her closest friend here was Mrs. E.B. Black, whose daughter, the late Mrs. Jesse Stanford, remembered the teacher as "an extraordinary person" but also had an amusing recollection of a time when Mrs. Black was in a hospital for a few days and Miss Griffith stayed in the Black home with the children.

"We thought it was funny that she wasn't too handy in managing the housework and was awkward in the kitchen when we compared her with our efficient mother," Mrs. Stanford said last summer.

But Mrs. Stanford added her impression that Miss Griffith would have been an outstanding woman at any time, and probably deserves the title of first woman educator in the pioneer Midplains areas.

On July 2, 1930,
The Hereford Brand
reported that wheat hit 72c!

At last,
the market
was up!

Wheat had been selling for a low of 65c. The Hereford Brand credited the increase to "the tenacious determination of the growers to refrain from entering the unsatisfactory market. . . In other words, the wheat producers had the intestinal fortitude to hold their wheat, feed it to cattle or do what was necessary to get a fair price.

It's not the first time that this kind of perseverance has saved Deaf Smith farmers. Drouths, blizzards, shortages, prices have all been threatened but never beaten them. We were there, too. We went into the grain business in 1930.

AN EXPERIENCED BUSINESSMAN FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER Pct. 2

WHY AM I RUNNING FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER?
At present, I am controlling my work hours, but still active with my own company, Griffin Industries, which includes oil well service, business consulting, and cattle feeding operations.

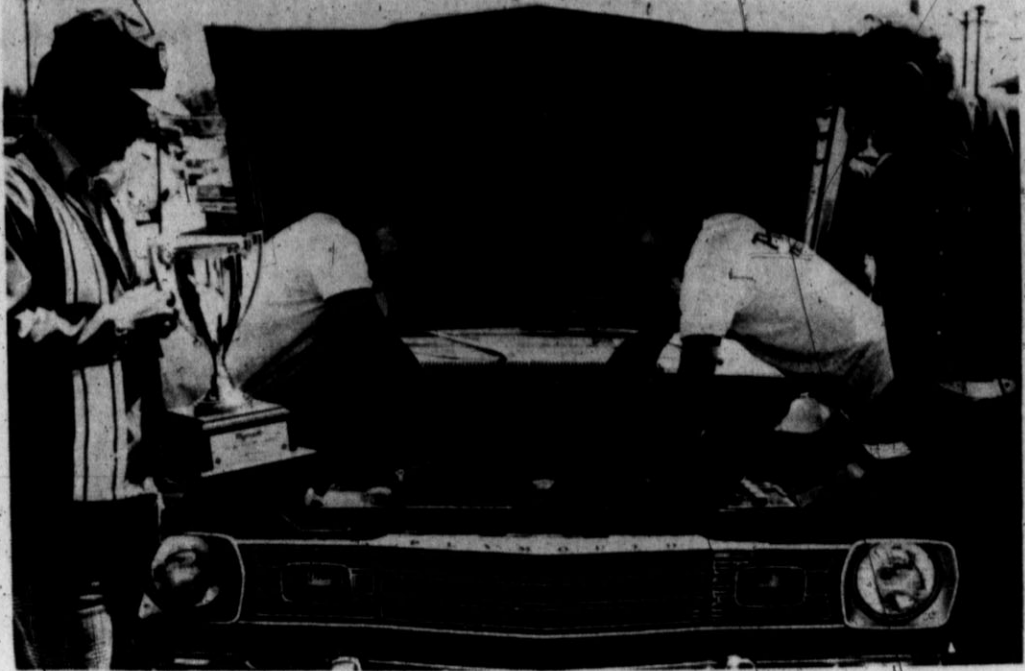

Now that I have the time, I would like to focus my experience and qualifications on serving the community in which I live. One of the most impressive characteristics of this area is the constant effort by everyone to prevent needless waste. People around here seem to get the most possible use out of everything. I think the county government should operate on the same principles, which are consistent with my experiences in the industrial, and oil industry. I sincerely feel that my professional training can be put to good use in helping the Deaf Smith County government operate as efficiently as possible.

WHAT ARE MY QUALIFICATIONS?
Although I have never been active in a government capacity, I have always felt, like most people, that government at any level is basically a business operation. With this view in mind, I can offer as qualifications my knowledge of finance, cost analysis, projected statements of operation, economic analysis, personnel relations and management. In addition, my extensive experience in maintenance and operation of all kinds of mobile heavy equipment can be applied effectively to the county's road building and maintenance operations.

In private enterprise, I have been able to use my knowledge and experience successfully, and feel certain that both will prove useful in providing sound, efficient government for the citizens of Deaf Smith County.

Each team member participating in the Lubbock contest earned an individual trophy as well as a sport shirt marked with contest identification.

The trouble shooting contest originated in 1949 as a local event in Los Angeles with 17 schools participating. As it has developed since then, the contest has been recognized as an outstanding example of cooperation between industry and education. The contest also has been credited with attracting many young men to automobile service jobs.

Trouble shooting is sponsored by Plymouth dealers in all parts of the United States to honor outstanding auto mechanics students and to encourage them to make careers as automobile service technicians.

Second place in the Lubbock contest was taken by the team from Amarillo High School. That team also took home the trophy for high score on the written examination.

Third place at Lubbock went to Larry Henson and Brent Schmidt, seniors from Hereford High School. Their instructor is Bill McDowell, Hereford. The team was sponsored by Jones Mothers, Hereford. Their scores on a written test were Mrs. Mile Reeves of Clayton, N.M. visited her grandmother, Mrs. Pearl Mapes.

Mrs. Don Davidson and Mrs. Pearl Mapes were business visitors in Amarillo last week.

Modern Study Club of Amarillo met recently in the home of Mrs. John Stevenson for a luncheon.

After the delicious salad lunch an informal time of fellowship was enjoyed. Mrs. Don Davidson, along with some Cottage residents, led in a discussion of life at Kings Manor. The group then visited Deaf Smith County Museum.

Those attending were Mmes. J.H. Ayers; L.W. Brown, F.K. Chapma, Tom Collins, John Dees, Eugene Harris, Gene Jordan, C.C. Kellogg; Onie Leeper, Gilbert Muddell, T.E. Reyman, G.R. Sutton, Beulah Carter, E.W. Cain.

Concert Set This Afternoon

An afternoon concert beginning at 3 p.m. today in the high school auditorium will present duo-harpists Joe Longstreth and John Escosa for Community Concert Association members.

Admission is by membership card only, but Hazen Woods, CCA president, reminds members that use of the cards is transferable, so those who cannot attend the concert may lend their cards to other music lovers.

This program will close the seventh season of Hereford CCA, and is the third concert presented by nationally known musicians in the past year.

The combination of two men playing special arrangements for two harps is an unusual one for the concert stage and these artists have won wide audience approval in cross-country tours, playing alone as they will in Hereford or with symphony orchestras.

Both were established performers and directors of musical productions before they began collaboration about 10 years ago. They have made several albums and appeared in numerous concerts including repeat performances in New York's Town Hall and Carnegie Hall.

If your right hand itches, according to folklore, you will receive money in it; if the left itches, a letter, probably asking you to send money!

REVUE SLATED BY HHS CHOIRS

Vaudeville may not be entirely dead; at least Hereford High School choral students will make a strong attempt to resurrect that lively facet of show biz with a variety show titled Another Openin' at 8 p.m. Thursday on the school auditorium stage.

Pretty songs from hit musicals will be a part of the program, and so will a streaker skit by Cameron Clements and rousing rhythm by the Gospel Singers. Brief comedy skits have titles like The Viper, The Undertaker's Friends, Door Prize and Contagious Diseases.

The Girls Choir will present a sequence of kid songs with Sara Ricketts, Donna Stroup, Debbie Smith, Barbie Last, Gene Ann Shipley, Debbie Moore, Ted Tietel, Donna Kendall, Mejlinda Watts and Danny Collins in solo and duet spots.

Jazz Babes will dance in Roaring Twenties style as part of the opening, but the finale will turn patriotic with American Folk Trilogy and God Bless America.

The entire program will be as varied, arranged to give singers, comedians and dancers in the department an opportunity to make solo appearances or be part of a small ensemble to show off individual talents.

A boys' barbershop chorus will harmonize When The Saints Go Marching In; Good Time Singers, Gospel Singers and the show chorus will each have a turn in the spotlight; Lilli Lyons and Kirk Pitman will sing a duet, Sweet Violets.

Solo singers are Isabel Pena, Donna Kendall, Amy Cox, Roy Salazar, Rhea Ann Wesson, Lisa Martin, Cindy Crider, Libbie Parten, Lesley Euler, Ray Lee, Sunny Hoyle, Kathy Fesmire and Gary Landers.

Fast movement is assured by a stage plan which uses three curtains and shifts action from center to both sides of the stage. Fred Ratliff, HHS choral director, is putting his students through a rapid pace in rehearsals of the tuneful revue, the first show of this type to be presented by the department.

Admission will be 75 cents for adults, 50 cents for students.

Small Talk

ANOTHER avenue of community service for Hereford women is being opened this week with a move to organize a Deaf Smith General Hospital Auxiliary. Anyone interested, or wishing more information, is invited to a coffee at 10 a.m. Friday in Pioneer Gas Elame Room.

Mmes. Danny Martin, Lowell Neumayer and Earl Lewis say they are "a sort of committee" taking the lead in plans in response to inquiries from a number of women about the feasibility of a Hospital Auxiliary in Hereford. They met recently with Ron Welty, hospital administrator, to discuss need for the organization.

Two members of St. Anthony's Hospital Auxiliary of Amarillo came over to give the benefit of their experience. The group decided an Auxiliary could start its services by manning an information desk, taking book and magazine carts to patients' rooms, helping patients by running errands, writing letters, etc., and operating a color TV rental.

More activities can be added, limited only by the number of volunteers. The aim of the coffee is to inform interested women how they may help (because a hospital auxiliary is strictly a working organization) and to sign up those who wish to volunteer now. Organization will be completed and officers elected later.

JUST returned from a visit in Germany, Regina and Bill Kester say that everybody who is complaining about high prices in the United States should go to Europe for a little while. They found steak selling at $3 a pound and gasoline at a level to break the pocketbook for a tankful — that's a compact car tank, too.

They and their small son went for a visit to Regina's family and of course they enjoyed that, and a spot of sightseeing, inflation or not.

THOSE ever-blooming bluebonnets out at the Peyton Rameys' on Sunset Street are at it again, right in season for bluebonnet time in Texas. But the Rameys take no stock in seasons for those blossoms. They've found that the state flower can be kept blooming all summer. Ramey just keeps the spent blooms nipped off so the plants don't go to seed, and as Mrs. Ramey says, "drowns them pretty often," meaning that they are well-watered. The crop is bigger this year than last, I notice.

FRIENDS from college days at WTSU, Merle Akins of Madill, Okla. and Bessie Patterson are enjoying the former's visit in the Patterson home here. Mrs. Akins came home with Bessie and Elmer Patterson when they returned last week from Tulsa and Fort Worth.

At Tulsa they visited their daughter, Mrs. Joe Coldwell, and her family. Bessie taught in a Church of Christ workshop for women in Fort Worth.

GIRLSTOWN is going to thank Mrs. B. Lee Cocanougher for taking the trouble to check up and find where to send those Betty Crocker coupons which are being collected to buy a pickup for the home for girls at Borger.

She said she was doing some cleaning and came across a bunch of them; wasn't quite sure what to do with them but knew they were needed. Of course she was referred to Viola Williams, who will always accept any gifts for Girlstown with no questions asked.

And Mrs. Cocanougher commented on my offer of iris when my plants are divided; said she has some extra iris, too, and will be happy to give them to a gardener who wants them.

Women Of Church Take Part On Retreat Program

Twelve women from Central Church of Christ here attended the annual retreat sponsored by women of Broadway Church of Christ of Lubbock in Ceta Glen Canyon Tuesday and Wednesday.

Glenda Ravanelli of Lubbock served as devotional chairman, with theme, Renewal. Betty Bailey and Joan Rigny were co-chairmen for the program. Kay Evans for games; Jane Evans, publicity; Mary Paul and Joan Rigny, reservations. All are from the sponsoring congregation.

Two original skits written by Mrs. Burke Inman were presented by the Hereford women during the talent hour Tuesday evening.

Depicting nightmares of one who has watched too many television commercials were Mmes. Stan Knox, Jim Ward, Izora McLaughlin, Bob Hicks, Lynn Jones, Clarence Behrends,

Coffee To Consider

LCC Chorus Will Appear Here Today

Lubbock Christian College A Cappella Chorus will present an hour-long concert of sacred music in Central Church of Christ auditorium, 148 Sunset Drive, beginning at 7 p.m. Sunday with the public invited to attend.

The concert will follow evening worship services in which the Rev. J. T. Marlin, pastor of the church, will speak on the Second Coming of Christ and the End of the World.

Fashion

Pastel suits of synthetic fabrics will be popular for spring wear. With short sleeves these may be worn through the summer months.

Directed by Dr. Wayne Hinds, coordinator of the LCC Music Department, the 42 member chorus group will sing hymns, spirituals and special concert numbers.

Included in the program will be a sermon in song, a regular feature of the LCC chorus since its organization in 1957. Also performing will be a men's quartet and a women's sextet.

BOOK DRIVE BEGINS — Collection of books for a sale to raise money for needed equipment in the new County Library has begun after members of the Ciboleros Chapter, Daughters of American Revolution, placed boxes in the banks and some other public places last week. Contributions are being made here by Sue James and Barbara Burkhalter, chapter members; others are invited from residents who have books they no longer care to keep. The chapter hopes to make enough money from the sale early in the summer, to buy a microfilm reader for the library. Not only books and magazines, but records of 33, 45 or 78 type are wanted for the sale.

Attending the meeting at the Hilton Inn were Mmes. Lynn Kester, Joe Henry, J.W. Robinson Jr., Waldo Baxter, Joel Newman, Hoover and Caviness.

Time To Pray

The United States Senate has called for a National Day of Prayer on April 30—the first time for the Senate to take such a historic step since confirming Abraham Lincoln's "Call to Prayer" in 1863.

Our country faces crisis. Our nation needs a moral and spiritual awakening. If ever we need to pray—it is now.

Mayor Jim Sears of Hereford, in conjunction with the Senate resolution, has proclaimed Tuesday, April 30 as a "Day of Prayer" in our community. We join with the mayor and other community leaders in urging all Deaf Smith County citizens to join together to pray for change.

Millions will be praying for a moral and spiritual awakening in our country and in the world. We can join them!

"If my people who are called by my name shall humble themselves and pray, and seek my face and turn from their wicked ways, then will I hear from heaven, will forgive their sins, and will heal their land." (11 Chronicles 7:14)

Health Care, Finally?

The Nixon Administration's new health care bill and the measure just introduced by Senator Ted Kennedy (D-Mass) and Congressman Wilbur Mills (D-Ark) are both commendable health care bills, which—if enacted—would bring this country into line with health care practices in most of the world's democracies.

Under the Kennedy-Mills bill, all Americans would be provided health care, not just the poor. (It would not be a voluntary thing, as in the Nixon bill.) There would be an annual maximum families would pay for health care, for all members—$1,000. (The Nixon bill also contains a maximum—$1,500.)

The cost of the Kennedy-Mills bill is estimated at $40,000,000,000. That would be obtained by a one per cent tax on incomes up to $20,000, plus additional taxes for each dependent. It's estimated a family earning $10,000, with one child, would pay about $200 in added taxes a year. Obviously, those making more, and with more children, would pay more. Because of this, some feel the Nixon voluntary program is preferable.

But Mills says because the Democratic bill requires all to pay it would cost no more, per family, than the voluntary plan. He feels there's a good chance the Democratic bill will be passed this year. If so, it would take effect in 1976.

Both the Nixon bill and the Kennedy-Mills bill are steps in the right direction; either would give the nation a better health care system than it now has. Both would protect families against catastrophic illnesses. The hope is that Congress will pass one of them at this session.

Nixon's Taxes

President Nixon recently agreed to pay $467,000 in back taxes for a four year period, primarily because of the finding that a gift of his papers came too late to qualify as a proper tax exemption. There were also other mistakes found in his returns over the four years.

This payment, which with interest will mean an outlay of over half a million dollars, is in line with the President's statement when the inquiry on his taxes—which he requested—was begun. At that time he said he would abide by the finding of the congressional committee.

This will satisfy most Americans. Moreover, it seems likely that most Americans would not go so far as to apply the rigid yardstick to the President that the joint committee staff recommended. The staff said, for instance, that the President should declare as income the value of flights in government planes taken by his family and friends, when business was not involved.

It's doubtful if the American people want the President to be that limited; surely a chief executive of the nation can be permitted to carry along family members or friends on flights in government planes. That's a bad practice for government officials in general, of course. But there is only one President, and he would seem entitled to that privilege, which other Presidents have enjoyed and which is probably in the nation's best interests.

While the Democratic-controlled committee might have been overly zealous in this and other small ways, the overall effect of the investigation and result is a good one and sets the standard which future chief executives will be inclined to live up to.

Crisis Labeled Real

By BERT MILLS

MANY PEOPLE refuse to believe there is an energy crisis, despite the evidence to the contrary, and this attitude on the part of a substantial minority is hampering the national effort to solve our problems.

William E. Simon, head of the Federal Energy Office, has said that one of his toughest problems is to convince the doubters that the energy crunch is real and that emergency efforts by everybody are necessary. One organization of small businessmen surveyed a sample of its members recently and found 29 per cent do not think there is an energy crisis.

Energy Czar Simon overlooks no opportunity to try to convert the skeptics. He appears on national television almost daily to spread the word, holds frequent press conferences, issues daily news releases, testifies before Congressional committees, and accommodates reporters with interviews. He has been America's most quoted man in recent weeks.

Repeatedly he says this nation is only 85 per cent self-sufficient in energy, leaving a 15 per cent shortfall. He breaks down national energy needs this way: petroleum 46 per cent, natural gas 32 per cent, coal 17 per cent, hydroelectric 4 per cent, nuclear 1 per cent.

The oil shortage is the big problem today, and everyone whose house is heated by oil or who drives a car ought to be convinced by both the short supply and the higher prices that there is indeed a shortage. There would have been an oil problem even without the Arab embargo. Remember that some areas were short of gasoline last summer.

DOMESTIC production of oil has declined a bit since 1970, for a variety of reasons, while demand has grown along with the economy. U.S. output was down 2.2 per cent last year while imports jumped a record 30 per cent. Our total oil supply was up in 1973 but we were vulnerable to the Arab embargo imposed in October.

Some skeptics who deny an oil shortage argue that we have plenty of oil underground. That is true but crude oil needs to be refined and we lack refinery capacity. Also, some hard-to-get oil has not been produced because it was uneconomic at former prices to do so. Today's higher prices give an incentive to bring up the expensive oil.

Simon has pointed out that it takes three to five years to bring in new sources of supply. A new discovery on the outer continental shelf, for example, would not mean any more gasoline for motorists or industry until at least 1977. The Alaskan pipeline is now getting started but it will be at least three more years before any oil flows through it.

Critics also say we waste as much as 40 per cent of our energy consumption, by the way we operate our factories, build our buildings and cars, and in other ways. That figure may be high but when energy was cheap, extravagance was natural. We can't tear down our skyscrapers or junk our luxury cars because hindsight shows they should not have been built in the first place.

What we can do is try to waste less energy, and share the shortage while efforts are made to eliminate it. Most Americans are cooperating but the dissenters are closing their eyes to the facts of life. The energy crisis is real.

HISTORIANS will decide later how we got in this pickle. No doubt our national energy policy was either faulty or non-existent. No doubt Congress and the Federal government were slow to act. Certainly the oil industry deserves censure on numerous grounds.

The important thing today is that we do have a problem. Simon says the problem is "manageable." Let's hope so, and that he is wise enough to do the managing. He deserves the benefit of the doubt and full cooperation by everybody.

Editors note: The Bootleg Philosopher on his Deaf Smith grass farm on Bootleg corner discusses gardening this week, more or less.

Everybody these days is trying to beat the high cost of living especially by, if he's in a position to do it, raising the price of what he has to sell and hollering to high heaven over the price of what he has to buy.

Since groceries are high on most people's budget, if you count cosmetics, hose, cigarettes, lawn fertilizer and other such staples, there is a widespread rush over the country to plant a garden this year.

RECOGNIZING this, and recognizing that a lot of big city dwellers don't have any ground for a garden, some smart guy, I read in the paper last night, has come up with a plan. He has leased a large tract of land just outside the city and is in turn sub-leasing small garden plots in it to city people trying to beat the high cost of food. Each plot leases for $160 a year and he tells his prospects it's possible to grow $1,500 worth of vegetables on it.

Now I don't want to discourage this it would do a lot of city people good to get out in the country and find out what fresh air tastes like, but I'd advise them not to bank on growing $1,500 worth of food!

A garden looks splendid in a seed catalog but it's hard to duplicate it on the ground. It's like a movie actress. She looks better on the screen than she does in broad daylight.

ENTHUSIASM when you first step onto your garden plot mounts steadily until you've finished breaking the first few square feet and your back is killing you. If you get it all spaded or plowed (you can get a garden tractor for $400 or $500), and planted there is another time of exhilaration when the plants first come up, dampened a little when you find out that for every vegetable there are 14 weeds. After you get it weeded you'll find there are more insects on this planet, Horatio, than man has dreamt of.

I could go on but I don't want to discourage the gardening movement. You can grow one if you work hard enough at it, but that's true, alas, of nearly any job. In the meantime, don't alienate your friendly groceryman.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Talk Of Texas

By Jack Maguire

FOOTNOTE TO HISTORY — Texas' last lynch mob stormed the Grayson County courthouse at Sherman 44 years ago this week, burned the building and hanged a prisoner accused of rape.

George Huges, a Negro, was to have gone on trial on May 9, 1930, for allegedly assaulting a white woman. On the morning of the trial an unruly crowd of spectators gathered and were removed from the courthouse by county officers.

The spectators then gathered on the square and somebody suggested that they take the prisoner from his cell in the courthouse and lynch him. An assault was made on the courthouse but was repelled by sheriff's deputies and Texas Rangers. The crowd continued to grow, however, and a company of National Guardsmen from Dallas was ordered to the scene by Governor Dan Moody. Before the troops could get to Sherman, the mob attacked the courthouse again. This time they broke through the line of law officers, burned the building and dragged Hughes from a records vault where he had been locked for safety. He was shot to death, then hanged.

This was the last incidence of lynching in the state.

TRAVELING TEXAS — Another hard-to-find roadside restaurant that serves up gourmet dishes is the King's Inn at Loyola Beach. It's on Farm Road 628 southeast of Kingsville in Kleberg County.

The King's Inn serves some of the best seafood to be had in Texas.

WHAT'S IN A NAME? — If historians wanted to be correct, the shrine of Texas liberty would never be referred to as the Alamo.

The real name of the famous San Antonio shrine is Mission of San Antonio de Valero. The original mission, built in 1718 by the Spanish, was located at San Pedro Springs at the headwaters of the San Antonio River. This mission, and its nearby presidio called San Antonio de Bexar, were the predecessors of the Alamo. The building known as the Alamo was never a mission itself but served as the chapel for San Antonio de Valero.

In 1793, when the mission was secularized and turned over to the military, it was garrisoned by Spanish troops sent from northern Mexico. They had been stationed at a post called Pueblo de San Carlos de Alamo de Parras, which they usually called "el Alamo."

Once they reached San Antonio de Valero, the troops were homesick for their old post and began calling their new station "Alamo." The name stuck and San Antonio de Valero has been all but forgotten by history.

THE GREEKS AMONG US — Houston might be called "The Athens of Texas." More than 5,000 people of Greek ancestry live there.

The first Greek to arrive in Texas came in 1817 with Jean Laffite, the pirate. Eighteen years later, in 1835, two brothers from Greece, Pedro and George Serates, were among the colonists who settled in Goliad County.

According to the Institute of Texan Cultures, whose staff has carefully researched the various ethnic groups, it was not until the last half of the 19th Century that Greeks migrated to Texas in large numbers. Today more than 10,000 Texans trace their heritage to Greece.

"Excellence in education is not so much teaching a child what to think, but how to think, so that he goes on seeking, choosing, and thinking, so developing the persistent habit of inquiry and reasoning, and if, years later, the knowledge he has acquired in school has become irrelevant to his purpose, dated or forgotten, he still has the ability to acquire new knowledge, to understand events more clearly and to adapt himself to new circumstances. Quality education is not just providing information, it is developing wiser minds." CENTREVILLE, ALA., PRESS

"... an American newsman who visited Red China... (has) noted that the workers there get no vacations, paid or otherwise. They do get a few days off for special holidays, and Sunday, but they never heard of three or four weeks, even one week off work. In our country there is a tendency to take off more and more days, give longer vacations. The Communists, whom our liberals so idolize, don't believe in paid vacations. How about that?" BASTROP, LA., DAILY ENTERPRISE

"There are problem people and there are people problems; and it is these problem people who regardless of race, creed, or national origin may be involved but are not interested in getting people problems solved, but rather are determined to create and escalate people problems. That's why they are our problem people. Why we have people problems." DUBLIN, GA., LAURENS COUNTY NEWS

"Those who maintain that punishment is no deterrent to crime might well observe a magical performance of law enforcement experienced in New York City. The angry blowing and blasting by horn-happy drivers, it is reported, has disappeared. Gone are the high decibels that polluted the air. Over the entire city of 365 square miles and 8 million souls there now abides the blessing of quietness. Why? Because the powers that be cracked down with a fine of $25 for every 'unnecessary toot!'" BLANCHESTER, OHIO, STAR-REPUBLICAN

FRIDAY, we had a real treat at Cultural Home Demonstration Club when Jo Ann Wagner gave her district-winning demonstration. The demonstration, Swing Into the Fashion Scene, is original and clever.

It is on recycling the wardrobe. It is well presented and has some very practical hints on making dresses look different and making them more enjoyable to wear.

We're hoping this is just one of the state winners at Round-Up. Plans are already being made for travel to Round-Up.

When we got to Channel VII Friday morning, Charlie Patterson was doing his usual efficient job keeping everything and everybody on schedule.

Charlie has some good ideas in management that could be carried over into household management as:

Keep only items that you are sure can be reused. Seasonal decorations that take a great deal of storage space, other keepsakes that take space should be condensed.

Charlie, I have a lot of respect for your judgment but I plan to keep all my souvenirs.

IN GOING to Hilton Inn in Amarillo, go east on I-40, take the Lakeside Exit. It's about five miles east so don't give up.

But on the other hand, when you get to Claude you've gone too far.

Also, park on the west side of Hilton Inn near the entrance with the canopy. This will save a few minutes. We'll see you in Amarillo at the Hilton Inn, I-40 East, 9:30 a.m.

THE FAMILY Living committee and Mrs. Don Davidson are getting things started on Senior Citizen's Month. We were lukewarm about it until after our first meeting.

There are several things planned that is hoped to appeal to the community. The awarding of the certificates to outstanding senior citizens will be made at a Ninety-Plus reception.

How many residents do we have who are 90 years and older? We'll see on May 31.

McAndrews On Coe Play

Jamie McAndrews, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. McAndrews, will appear in the dramatic theatre production of Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" at Coe College in Cedar Rapids, Iowa. Performances will be in the theatre of the Sutherland C. Dows Fine Arts Center, at 8 p.m. on Thursday, Friday and Saturday and on May 10 and 11.

The play will be presented in as traditional a Shakespeare form as possible, according to drama department chairman Gael Hammer, without getting lost in the language and manners of the times.

The plot revolves around Viola and her brother, Sebastian, who have been shipwrecked and separated during a violent storm off the coast of Illyria.

Viola is rescued by a sea captain who takes her to Orsino, the Duke of Illyria. Viola disguises herself as a eunuch while in the Duke's employe. She falls in love with the Duke, but is unable to reveal her identity. Meanwhile, the Duke has sent Viola to woo the Countess Olivia in his place.

Comedic complications arise when the countess falls in love with Viola instead of the Duke. Without her knowing it, Viola's brother has been saved by Antonio, who is at odds with the Duke. Olivia, mistaking Sebastian for the disguised Viola, marries him, which leaves Viola free to reveal her identity to the Duke, marry him and be reunited with her brother. Antonio's conflict with the Duke is settled by Olivia.

Historical Society Will Gather At WT

The 53rd annual meeting of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society will be Friday on the West Texas State University campus.

First on the agenda will be a business meeting at 3 p.m. in the upstairs art gallery of the Museum building. Among items to be considered will be the election of new officers. Society President Erwin Ochsner, Amarillo lawyer, is stepping down after one year of service.

The annual dinner begins at 7 p.m. in WT's East Dining Hall. Music will be provided by the WTSU String Quartet, with the presentation of new officers by Ochsner.

State Senator Max Sherman will then introduce WTSU President Lloyd I. Watkins, who will give the main address.

By The Garden Gate With Glad

By Mrs. Art Manjeot

IT'S OUR GARDEN . . . we like it . . . but you don't have to like it. This quote caught my eye the other day while I was reading and studying a lawn and garden book.

It is natural that one may feel that the "fruits of his labors" should be taken very literally. You see the harvest of tasty vegetables, the beautiful ripe fruits and the lovely flowers . . . this is your garden; bless you. For if your harvest includes both food for the table and food for the eye, these are blessings.

The poet really expressed it all when he wrote, "The Lord must have liked us, I say when I see the bloom of a rose, the green of the tree and grass and food for the hungry."

There are many many facets to gardening, and it takes a lifetime to learn and use them all. It takes real know-how to plant and grow a lush lawn. For the past three years I have been trying.

Lawns have bad enemies, one of which is the cut-worm. They can play havoc with a beautiful lawn in a very short time. After their attack there are patches to patch up.

Insects, dandelions, crab-grass, removal of dead tree or shrubs and washing can cause unsightly patches in a well established lawn. To correct these blemishes do the following:

Loosen the surface soil of the bad places with a scratcher; scratch in a bit of long-life fertilizer; leave surface to be re-seeded cloddy. Seed will nestle among soil chunks, this hides seed from birds.

Surface when finished should be leveled, watered or let staid to settle. Break up the soil again, leaving it a bit rough as before. Scatter seed or set plants. If seed use about two or three pounds to 1,000 sq. ft.

Water lightly with sprinkler, seeds will sift into chinks between soil lumps and will be in excellent position for sprouting. A mulch such as a scattering of clean straw or burlap netting will keep the soil from parching, thus sprouting of seed will be speeded. It is important that the soil be kept moist until seed has sprouted, and growth is shown.

When the grass is old-enough for mowing, do so, use care for the first two or three mowings, then the patched spot can be treated as the rest of the lawn. To promote proper development, fertilize, control weeds and irrigate as needed.

THE PEACE ROSE. When selecting roses to grow in your garden be sure and choose at least one peace rose. It is one of the best roses to grow in our area and it certainly adds beauty and interest to any place. The story of the peace rose is fascinating.

Francis Meilland of France was the hybridizer.

An old notebook in 1958 described the first pollen-charged brush-stroke which gave rise to the peace rose. "The object we had in view, with Joanna Hill plus Ch P. Kilham plus Margaret MacGredy cross was to produce a new rose of great hardiness, with very long shoots and with robust and decorative foliage . . ."

The Meilland family spent long hours and many years to produce a rose such as the peace. Their family has been noted for many roses they have produced, and in their research and trial plantings the father noticed the glossy foliage surmounted by large buds.

This was a great thrill and with more diligence they continued their work. The perfected plant proved the great revelation of the season and attracted the most attention among visitors.

That year, 1939, buds were set to Germany, Italy and the United States.

With brutal suddenness, war broke out Sept. 3, 1939, and all communications with Germany ceased. After the invasion in June, 1940, the same thing happened with Italy and then England. The result was that a German firm put the rose on sale under the name of Gloria Dei and an Italian firm sold it under the name of Gioia.

In France Mr. Meilland and his son decided to dedicate this rose to the memory of Mrs. Meilland, who died a few years before any real progress had been attained in the production of the rose.

Until June, 1945, there was no word as to what had become of the rose bud sent to the United States. Then the Conrad Pyle Co., told of successful experiments it had been making in cultivating the rose, and that in agreement with certain other rose growers of repute it had decided to call it peace, so symbolize the happy event to mark the end of the war's trials and suffering.

Later when the United Nations first met in San Francisco, each head of the 49 delegations received a single peace rose accompanied by this message from the American Rose Society. "This is the peace rose which was christened at the Pacific Rose Society exhibition in Pasadena the day Berlin fell. We hope the peace rose will influence men's thoughts for ever-lasting world peace."

Hereford has a peace rose garden honoring HHS students who paid the supreme price for their country. It was established and is maintained by the Hereford Garden Club. Throughout District 1 garden club area the peace rose was designated as the planting during Mrs. Arthur L. Manjeot's administration as district governor.

All roses should have been pruned, fed and watered by now. Soon they will be in full bloom, adding their beauty and fragrance to our gardens.

Join the ranks, help make Hereford clean, free from litter and pollution. United we can achieve: Divided we . . . go dirty.

Let never day nor night unhallow'd pass,
But still remember what the Lord hath done,
-Shakespeare.

The birds, animals & flowers are dying to tell us...
"Give a hoot, don't pollute."

Teaching Series Offered At WT

West Texas State University has received a $15,000 National Science Foundation grant for a Summer Institute in Minnemast materials and methods of teaching for area school personnel. Applications from elementary school teachers, supervisors and principals from throughout the Panhandle are now being accepted. Participants receive free tuition and fees, and six semester hours of credit at WTSU in Math 599-1, Math 599-2 or Ed 583-2.

An innovative, integrated program for teaching math and science simultaneously for grades 1 through 3, Minnemast was developed at the University of Minnesota. "It utilizes elementary experiments in science for motivation of a child's learning," explained WT professor Hollis Cook, the project director.

For example, he continued, you can introduce a student to coordinate geometry through a map of streets and avenues, comparing the intersections a street corners with the coordinate geometric pairs of 23 (avenue), 4 (street). "Such a thing lends motivation to learning geometry," Cook noted, "because it capitalizes on things which the student is acquainted with by virtue of his own experience."

The six-week session runs concurrently with the first WT summer term, June 3-July 12. The Institute will be conducted at Rex Reeves Elementary School, Canyon, and West Texas State.

Mrs. Virginia Stone, the recognized representative of the Minnemast Project in Texas, will do demonstration teaching and assist with the entire institute. She is recognized as the most outstanding elementary teacher in the San Antonio system.

Saturday Program Notes

The sweep and power of "QB VII," the best-selling Leon Uris novel, comes to television in its entirety as an unprecedented six-hour and fifteen-minute presentation, spread over two nights in its world premiere as an "ABC Movie Special" on the ABC Television Network Monday, April 29 (8:00-11:00 p.m.) and Tuesday, April 30 (7:00-10:45 p.m.).

Filmed in four countries—the U.S., Belgium, England and Israel—the film involved almost three years of writing, production and editing, with one of the largest budgets in television history and an international cast of stars headed by Ben Gazzara with co-stars Anthony Hopkins, Leslie Caron and Lee Remick as Lady Margaret.

Special guest stars are Juliet Mills, Dan O'Herlihy, Robert Stephens, Anthony Quayle, Milo O'Shea, Sir John Gielgud, Dame Edith Evans and Jack Hawkins.

Judy Carne, Kris Tabori, Joseph Wiseman, Anthony Andrews, Signe Hasso, Sam Jaffe and Alan Napier are also featured guest stars.

The story covers more than 25 years in the lives of Abe Cady (Ben Gazzara) and Dr. Adam Keino (Anthony Hopkins), beginning with Dr. Keino's arrival at an American Army hospital in Poland after he is liberated from a Nazi prison camp. There he meets, and later marries, a nurse (Leslie Caron).

writer Abe Cady meets and marries an English girl (Juliet Mills) after his fighter plane crashes over the English coast. After the war he goes to Hollywood where he becomes a very successful—and very unhappy—writer of cheap fiction.

After the breakup of his marriage, Abe goes to Israel to be with his dying father, and finally realizes what he must do to discover himself as a man. With the encouragement of his new love (Lee Remick), he settles in a kibbutz to write a novel about the World War II massacre of the Jews and the creation of the State of Israel.

One very small portion of the book names Dr. Keino as a collaborator and war criminal, and again Keino must face the charge, this time suing the writer for libel—in a case very similar to an actual occurrence in novelist Uris' life after the publication of "Exodus"—so that the question can be permanently settled in the courtroom of Queen's Bench VII (hence the title). Only one of the two men can leave the court with his honor intact.

Kung Fu

Caine witnesses a young army officer's cowardice, and as a result, becomes a hunted man, on the ABC Television Network's "Kung Fu," (Thursday, May 2 (8:00-9:00 p.m.). (Rebroadcast)

In "The Soldier," young Lt. Wyland runs scared when outlaws ambush and slaughter all the other members of his company. To appease his gnawing sense of guilt, he later wounds himself—an act which is witnessed by Caine. When a rescue party arrives, Wyland is terrified that his cowardice will be discovered, so he accuses Caine of being one of the attackers.

A One Man Army

Peter O'Toole stars in the television premiere of "Murphy's War," an action spectacular that critic Judith Crist called "a sort of latter-day African Queen...lets the tension build with electric filming" on the ABC Television Network's "ABC Sunday Night Movie," April 28 (7:30-9:30 p.m.).

Variety, the show business weekly, said "O'Toole, playing an Irishman for the first time, does so with a gleaming zest that brings nerve and style to this wartime anecdote...the kind of good solid entertainment needed these days."

"Murphy's War" is a private vendetta declared by Murphy (O'Toole), an Irish aviation mechanic who is the sole survivor of a British merchant ship that is sunk by a German U-boat near the end of World War II. All the other members of the crew are mercilessly machine-gunned by the submarine crew.

Murphy is rescued by Louis Brezan (Philippe Noiret), a French oil engineer, and placed in a Quaker mission under the care of a woman physician, Dr. Hayden (Sian Phillips, O'Toole's wife in real life).

When the U-boat commander (Horst Janson) intercepts a radio message saying that a survivor knows where the submarine is hidden, he raids the mission, but kills the wrong man.

Driven into a rage by this additional murder, Murphy patches up a seaplane and bombards the U-boat with giant Molotov cocktails, but he only succeeds in damaging the submarine, which then destroys both the mission and the plane.

Murphy again escapes and, even after the war is officially over, carries out a bizarre plan to blast his tormentors.

John Halliam and Ingo Mogendorff are featured in the

Robin Hood rides again

Detectives Stone and Keller battle against time to prevent an aging "Robin Hood" from blowing up buildings in their city, on the ABC Television Network's "The Streets of San Francisco," Thursday, May 2 (9:00-10:00 p.m.).

(Rerobroadcast)

In "Winterkill," the detectives' quarry is Wade Tillman, a strong and spry man in his seventies, who is all too familiar with the financial pinch oppressing many senior citizens. Tillman holds up a gas station to pay for his best friend's dental. Then, his late-blooming criminal career suddenly escalates after a rich friend, Carl Armstrong, turns down his demand for money to pay for another friend's desperately needed eye operation. Tillman hides bombs in Armstrong's buildings to force Armstrong to meet his demand.
